This was followed by another Morton TD called back on a penalty and then Gary McClendon connected with Jerry Joyce for a 12 yarder, with the PAT blocked.

Morton's final TD came on an interception of a Mike Holt pass, latched onto by Gary McClendon, who ran it into the end zone.

TEAMS Test Preliminary Study Slated

"In order to review junior students for the math portion of the TEAMS test which every student must pass in order to graduate from a Texas High School Muleshoe High School will offer four sessions of review," said Wayland Ethridge, principal of MHS.

"Gaylord Latham and Britt Gregory will conduct the four sessions. These review sessions will be offered on the following evenings before students take the TEAMS test on October 1-2, 1985."

Tuesday, September 17, 5-7 p.m.; Thursday, September 19, 5-7 p.m.; Tuesday, September 24, 5-7 p.m. and Thursday, September 26, 5-7 p.m.

Ethridge explained that the first session will be used to let students take a "sample" test in order to identify the group's major weaknesses. The other three remaining sessions will be used to review the areas that the pretest indicates need reviewing.

According to the principal, all juniors, whether enrolled in a math class this year or not, are encouraged to attend the sessions. They are being offered to review students in general math skills that will be required on the TEAMS test. In order for a student needing this review to get the maximum benefit, that student should plan to attend all four evenings of the review.

Juniors will take the test on October 1 and 2 of this year. They will have three other opportunities to take the test before graduation: May, 1986; October, 1986 and May, 1987.

SACK LUNCH ECONOMY--For both economy and good nutrition, the best food buy for school children is probably the lunch served at school, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist Marilyn Haggard. But if parents carry sack lunches too, it may be just as convenient to pack them for the whole family at once. A variety of lunch meats, prepared spreads, snack foods and even sandwiches are available for instant lunch packing. But because pre-packaged individual servings of foods are more expensive, it can sometimes cost more to pack a sack lunch than to eat in a restaurant, notes the specialist.

ACR Neglect Gets

Warning From ASCS

For the month of September, 1985, several vital bits of information for farmers and ranchers have been released by Danny M. Noble, County Executive Director of the ASCS office.

Included are the following:
MEASURING SERVICE
 "We have finished flying the remainder of Bailey County for aerial photography, and are in the process of completing the measurement requests," said Noble. "As soon as we get your farm measured, you will be notified of the measured acreage and you have only five workdays in which to adjust (if any) and certify your acres to this office. Failure to certify timely will cause the farm to be ineligible for all program benefits and liquidated damages will be assessed."

Seven fumbles also hurt the Muleshoe Mules during the game, although Morton lost the ball three times on fumbles. Muleshoe managed to control the penalties that hurt them in the Portales game, with a total of 25 yards in penalties to exactly one hundred yards in penalties for the Indians.

Mule quarterback Mike Holt completed four of 11 pass attempts for 41 yards and Gary McClendon completed five of 13 passes for 109 yards.

Muleshoe punted six times to two times for the Indians.

MAKE SURE YOUR FARM HAS A GOOD TRACK RECORD...

FOR SAFETY

Make sure all your farm equipment is in top operating form. Safety features in today's farm equipment make them almost accident-proof. But, they do require competent, alert, trained operators. To keep limbs out of harm's way make sure you and your farm workers have complete working knowledge of the machines they operate.

an added burden of loss that would result from a serious accident or illness. Employing appropriate safety and health measures could help them avoid such losses and enhance their chances of financial success."

Despite technological advances, farming and ranching is still one of the most hazardous occupations in the nation. That's why the week of September 15-21 has been set aside to call special attention to farm and ranch safety, says Spencer Tanksley, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

In a proclamation designating September 15-21 as Farm and Ranch Safety Week in Texas, Gov. Mark White noted: "While new technology has brought advances in safety, the quantity and severity of remaining risks require daily attention to avoid mishap.

Incidents of accidental death, injury and job-related illnesses are still tragically numerous on farms and ranches and in the homes and on the roads of rural Texas. But with increased safety education and continued improvement in product design, there is hope that further progress in preventing accidents can be made."

The Extension Service, along with the Texas Safety Association, Texas Farm Bureau, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers, and the Young Farmers of Texas are encouraging all who farm and ranch and live in rural areas to make a special effort to practice safety in their day-to-day operations.

Among safety and health measures to reduce losses from serious accidents and illnesses are the following:

--Manage to prevent accidents. Make safety an integral part of every farming operation. Train workers. Buy quality products and take care of them as directed by manufacturers.

--Strive for good health to accomplish as much as possible

Jeff Combs is among 30 top fine arts students of Texas Christian University holding Nordan Fine Arts Scholarships for the 1985-86 school year.

The scholarships were made possible by Mrs. L.A. Nordan of San Antonio and her late husband.

Nordan Young Artist Awards are open to entering freshmen of superior talent in art, ballet, modern dance, music or theatre, and selection is by audition or art portfolio. Awards range in amount from $2,000 to $3,000 per academic year.

Nordan Scholar Awards, also ranging from $2,000 to $3,000 annually, are open without further audition to holders of the Young Artist Awards who maintain satisfactory grades and pass faculty jury examinations in the areas of their awards.

Combs, a junior theatre arts major, is a transfer student from Western Texas College, Snyder. A 1983 graduate of Muleshoe High School, he is the son of Larry and Berta Combs.

In high school, he received three best actor awards, five all-star cast awards and three honorable mention all-star cast awards in one-act play competitions. In his senior year, the one-act play "The Royal Hunt of the Sun" in which he portrayed Francisco Pizarro, won first place in state AAA competition.

In a Western Texas College production last year, he was an American College Theatre Festival Irene Ryan nominee.

Public Utility Commission of Texas

Consumer Update

Public utilities occupy a dual position in today's society. On the one hand, they must provide service at a reasonable price to everyone in their service areas. On the other hand, these businesses must generate profits in order to acquire capital, to make improvements, and to attract stockholders. The utilities which serve you today must also serve you and your children tomorrow.

Unlike other businesses, however, utilities are monopolies not subject to competition and other forces of our free-market system. Consumers have to use the only phone company or the only light company in town. In most cases, they can't shop for better service or a lower-priced service.

Why are utilities monopolies? Why isn't competition allowed in most cases? The answer lies in the nature of utility service. Picture, for example, the prospect of two or three complete electric systems operating in your town. The duplication of lines, cable and other equipment would be extremely wasteful and expensive.

Many years ago, when utilities were created, it was determined that a single company could provide better and cheaper service in a given area than several competing companies could. While this no longer is always the case, regulation has been devised as a substitute for the constraints and controls of competition in utility service.

Until the mid-1970s, the state of Texas offered consumers little assistance in regulating utilities. Our utilities were regulated either by the utilities themselves or by individual cities, without much guidance from the state government.

Self-regulation by the utilities often resulted in abuses of their monopoly status. At the same time, further regulation by the cities became very difficult because of rising costs and rapid utility growth.

In 1975, the Texas Legislature, responding to intense public pressure, passed the Public Utility Regulatory Act (PURA) and created the Public Utility Commission (PUC). Texas was the last state to enact such a law. The PURA and other statutes establish a comprehensive regulatory system through the PUC, the Railroad Commission, the Water Commission and individual cities.

The PUC sets rates and service standards for all telephone utilities and for private or investor-owned electric utilities operating in unincorporated areas. The PUC also regulates electric cooperatives.

kindergarten; 162 first graders and 127 second graders.

"Also, the general school spirit and teacher morale seems to be exceptionally high this fall," according to Fuller.

He attributes much of this to the smaller class sizes and the improvements made to the physical plants, including insulation, ceiling fans, and air conditioning to the high school.

He said there are still several improvements to be made, and it is anticipated that the increase in enrollment will help in generating additional state funds.

Also, several adjustments still be made, according to the superintendent, to be in complete compliance with H.B. 72 regarding minimum enrollment of 22 per class in K-2, and other regulation, but "This can only make it even better," concluded Fuller.

Board Accepts Trustee Resignation

Trustees of the Muleshoe ISD conducted a lot of business during their meeting conducted last Monday night.

Informational reports were given by H. John Fuller, superintendent of schools, on the 1984-85 Annual Performance Report and on the 1985-86 Discipline Management Program. According to Fuller, the Annual Performance Report for the 1984-85 school year will be given to the trustees and the community in November of this year. The report will include information regarding student academic progress, student-teacher ratios, teacher turn-over, and discipline action taken during the year, as well as a complete financial statement.

He said requirements for the Discipline Management Program were also outlined for the trustees. Trustees were informed they must submit a written plan to the Texas Education Agency no later than February 1, 1986.

Under business, the trustees approved the administrative recommendation to assist the Athletic Booster Club with a project to provide all High School athletes with special knee braces. The superintendent explained that this is a preventive program aimed at helping reduce knee injuries in high school and college athletes. Several schools are using knee braces, he said, but Muleshoe will be one of the first schools to have all its athletes equipped with knee braces. The administrators and trustees of Muleshoe ISD expressed their appreciation to the athletic booster club for helping make this possible.

A hardship transfer was approved for the children of Connie Kenmore while another hardship transfer was denied at the recommendation of the adjoining school district.

Trustees approved the designation of the week of March 21 as Patriotic Week. This week will include the Texas Sesquicentennial Celebration.

Career ladder procedures were tabled with instructions that the administration have written recommendations ready for the October meeting.

The tutoring program was approved by the Trustees. Dillman elementary students will be required to attend tutoring between 2:55 and 3:25. Town students will be dismissed at 2:55 and students remaining at school, but not involved in tutoring sessions, will be provided with enrichment programs to include music, P.E. and other academic programs including the opportunity to use computers.

At DeShazo elementary, the tutoring sessions will be provided Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 3:30-4 p.m. Tutoring will not be required at DeShazo, but will be strongly encouraged for all students having academic difficulty. Secondary school students will be tutored at 7:45-8:15 in the mornings or at 3:45-4:15 in the afternoon. He added that there are also plans to develop evening tutoring sessions during the year. The time and place for the evening sessions will be announced at a later date.

According to the school administration, the tutoring sessions have been completely examined with the majority of teachers tutoring their own students. It is anticipated that the tutoring program will be better and students will benefit greatly from this system. Parents are encouraged to see that students attend the tutoring sessions if they are having problems or if they need additional study time.

Also, Superintendent Fuller explained that the law allows schools to dismiss early up to six times a year for reasons approved by the trustees. Other interruptions to the school days are limited to academic related programs and special needs related to academic programs. In accordance with this law, the trustees approved four district-wide early dismissal dates: Thursday, September 26, 1985; Friday, October 18, 1985; Wednesday, November 27, 1985 and Thursday, March 27, 1986.

On these days, the schools will be dismissed at the Elementary schools at 1:30 p.m. and at the Secondary schools at 1:40 p.m. Buses will leave the high school parking lot at 1:45 these days.

Two other dates were approved for the individual campuses to dismiss classes early. These dates will vary for the individual campuses. On these dates buses will run at the regular time.

Another report informed trustees that the administration had worked out a plan whereby five minutes has been taken off the high school students' lunch period and buses will be delayed 10 minutes on eight Fridays during this fall in order for high school students to have pep rallies after school and still be able to ride the buses and meet all academic classes during the school day.

In other business action, bids were rejected on the school buses offered for sale. Plans were made to cannibalize the two buses with the determination being made by the district that the parts were worth more than the top bid.

The Board of Trustees also reluctantly accepted the resignation of Sam Harlan. Superintendent Fuller explained that Texas has a nepotism law which does not allow employment of a relative of a trustee. Sam's resignation was made in order for the district to employ Connie Kenmore, who is Harlan's sister.

Harlan's resignation read: "Due to the opportunity for my sister, Connie, to be employed by Muleshoe ISD as a counselor, I respectfully submit my resignation. According to the nepotism laws in Texas, I understand that it will be one year from this date before I am eligible to return to the board. At this time it is my desire to return if given the opportunity."

"I've enjoyed serving the school district over the past several months. If I can be of further service, please contact me."

After accepting the resignation, the board approved the following resolution: "Be it resolved that the trustees of Muleshoe I.S.D. recognize and acknowledge the accomplishments Sam Harlan has made in his position as a trustee of the Muleshoe Independent School District."

"Be it further resolved that we as trustees further extend a thank you to Sam for his time and dedication made to the district and further encourage him to seek re-election as soon as he is eligible by law."

"Resolved and approved this 9th day of September, 1985."

trustees accepted Harlan's resignation. However, they expressed their excitement over the opportunity to employ an experienced highly qualified school counselor, Connie Kenmore.

He also said the trustees may operate with six trustees during the next few months and Harlan's position will be filled by election of the people in April or they may appoint someone to fill the position until April. This will be decided in the October regular meeting.

The Board approved a resolution to require a staggered election term for the central appraisal tax board.

In personnel action, the trustees approved contracts for four aides and a teaching contract for Neva Gray and Nan Pool. Aides contracts were offered to Christie Whitt, Tori Bruton, Mary Garza, and Peggy Dent. Trustees also accepted a request for a leave of absence for Jan King and employed Diane Skipworth to replace her for 30 days. The trustees also offered a contract to Connie Kenmore as counselor for Muleshoe ISD.

The meeting concluded with the superintendent's report of school activities.

BROWN BAG NUTRITION--For economy and convenience, it's hard to beat the humble sack lunch. But unless the sack lunch provides at least one-third of your daily food needs, it may not do much for you nutritionally, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service specialist. According to nutritionist Marilyn Haggard, a sack lunch should contain two to three ounces of meat or other protein food; a cup of milk or plain yogurt or two thin slices of cheese; one or two slices of bread or a serving of cereal and a serving of fruit or vegetables to meet this nutritional requirement.

Illegal coupon cashing costs manufacturers $500 million annually

COLLEGE STATION — Shoppers who cash in coupons without buying the product are costing manufacturers an estimated $500 million a year in lost revenues, says a Texas A&M University marketing professor.

Dr. Rajan Varadarajan of Texas A&M's College of Business Administration says retailer apathy and reluctance to strictly enforce coupon redemption terms contribute to much of the loss.

Strict enforcement of coupon redemption practices poses a delicate problem to retailers who may want to avoid the risk of alienating customers and, hence, overlook coupon misredemption. Yet, a study by the Super Market Institute reveals that 11 percent of the shoppers polled were prepared to cash in coupons for products they hadn't bought, or were actually doing it.

Varadarajan said an even greater concern to manufacturers is the involvement of organized crime which acquires unsold copies of newspapers and magazines, clips the coupons and sells them in bulk to cooperating retailers. Groups or individuals also have engaged in printing counterfeit coupons and running phony supermarket operations at home addresses, or in remote locations that would make verification an expensive proposition for manufacturers, he said.

Pollution Control Guidelines Given

Livestock and poultry feeding operations must now conform to design standards spelled out in a technical guideline for controlling water pollution.

The guideline adopted by the Texas Water Commission became effective Sept. 1. It states "that there shall be no discharge of manure or wastewater from feedlot operations (including concentrated livestock and poultry production facilities), but rather that these materials shall be retained, used or disposed of on agricultural lands."

Included in the guideline are standards for feedlot water pollution control and the regulating method, points out Dr. John Sweeten, agricultural engineer in waste management with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The guideline was developed by the staff of the Texas Water Commission (formerly the Texas Department of Water Resources in consultation with several livestock and poultry producer associations, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Soil Conservation Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Feedlot size categories are specified as to the need for a permit. Smaller operations also can be regulated by permit on a case-by-case basis. Existing permits remain intact, notes Sweeten.

He adds that design standards in the new guideline are essentially the same as provisions of individual permits that have previously been issued to larger livestock and poultry feeding operations. Now, however, these standards will be applied to all feedlot operations whether or not a permit is required.

The guideline specifies that owners of managers of feeding operations with capacities greater than the following number of animals in buildings or open lots are to be regulated by permit: dairy cattle--250 head; beef cattle--1,000 head; swine--1,500 head; sheep and goats--6,000 head; chickens--30,000 birds with a liquid manure system; and turkeys--35,000 birds in open lots or 9,000 birds with a liquid manure management system.

Poultry operations that have both dry manure handling and a continuous overflow water system must have more than 100,000 chickens or 32,000 turkeys to be regulated by permit.

According to Sweeten, the guideline requires waste control facilities to do the following:

- Divert off-site drainage around the feeding area.
- Collect and temporarily

Energas Files

For $23.7 Million

Nestar Refund

Energas Company (OTC) late yesterday filed with the Railroad Commission of Texas a request for interim relief and a refund of approximately $23.7 million plus interest from Westar Transmission Company based on overcharges by Westar for gas purchased by Energas between October, 1984 and June, 1985. Any amount refunded to Energas based on this filing would be passed on to our customers in a manner to be determined by the Railroad Commission. This request stems from a complaint case filed by Energas against Westar and its parent, Cabot Corporation, in December of 1984 before the Railroad Commission. The case is still pending.

In the complaint, Energas alleged that higher priced gas purchased from affiliated producers or suppliers of Cabot or Westar was delivered to the utility company instead of lower priced gas supplies that may have been available. Information Energas obtained in the discovery phase of the Railroad Commission proceedings substantiates the allegations. Therefore, the company has asked for the immediate refund of the overcharges for those months. Yesterday's filing addresses only the cost of the gas issue in the complaint and the refund would include only those overcharges related to the cost of gas charged to Energas between October, 1984 and June, 1985.

Also alleged in the complaint was that Westar and Cabot may have transferred certain utility property and gas supply contracts from Westar to an affiliate. Any refunds based on this charge will be addressed at a later time.

A pre-hearing conference in this case has been scheduled for Friday, September 13, 1985, at the Railroad Commission offices in Austin.

store feedlot runoff, manure or process-generated wastewater (water used in manure removal, cleanup, spray cooling or overflow watering system).

--Dispose of or use collected runoff by evaporation or irrigation to restore system capacity.

--Apply manure, wastewater or collected runoff to land at rates that will not adversely affect either water quality or crop growth.

Wastewater holding facilities must have a minimum design capacity to store runoff from a 24-hour storm with an average rainfall of 3.5 to 10.3 inches across the state, from west to east.

Sweeten points out that the guideline also specifies that waste holding facilities must have enough capacity to store manure and process-generated wastewater. Minimum design capacities range from less than nine days in the Trans-Pecos region to 24 days at Stephenville to 60 days east of Nacogdoches.

In addition, the guideline provides for seepage control for groundwater protection, specifying that earthen waste holding facilities be constructed in clay soils or be lined with the equivalent of 12 inches of compacted clay.

"These design standards have been applied to several hundred feeding operations in Texas for as long as 15 years through individual permits," Sweeten points out. "The new guideline will be used by the Texas Water Commission in maintaining consistent technical requirements for livestock and poultry feeding operations in controlling water pollution."

RAINY EVENING WRECK--Ambulance personnel, dripping wet in a downpour Wednesday evening, are working to release 51 year old Gordon Sanburn from his overturned truck some four miles east of Muleshoe. The driver lost control of his truck on a rainslick highway, crossed the median and overturned, sliding to within five feet of the railroad track. He received shoulder and rib injuries.

Telephone ADAD Solicitors

Must Now Be Licensed

According to rules adopted on an emergency basis in an open meeting of the Public Utility Commission of Texas on Thursday, persons using an automatic dialing and announcing device (ADAD) for telephone solicitation or collection of information must obtain a license from the PUC.

ADAD's include any automatic dialing equipment that can store numbers to be called or has a random number generator that can produce numbers to be called, and is capable of conveying a prerecorded or synthesized voice message alone or in conjunction with other equipment.

Persons applying for the required permit will be responsible for a fee of $500 for each permit issued. Permit applications may be obtained through the PUC Central Records Division.

The requirement that ADAD users obtain a license in order to operate their equipment was outlined in the recent Legislature's House Bill 659. The bill calls for the PUC to incorporate the licensing requirement and additional ADAD guidelines in the Commission's Substantive Rules. It also establishes failure to obtain a permit for ADAD use as a Class C misdemeanor.

Other requirements outlined in Substantive Rule 23.32 include:

*The user must give written notice of the type of ADAD to each company over whose system the equipment will be used.

*The ADAD must disconnect from the person's line no later than 10 seconds after the person hangs up.

*The ADAD is not to be used for solicitation on a Sunday before 1:30 p.m. or after 9 p.m., or before 9 a.m. or after 9 p.m. during the remainder of the week.

The rules are scheduled to appear in the Texas Register next week, after which time there will be a thirty day comment period. They will be considered for adoption on a permanent basis once the comment period has concluded and any revisions based on comments received have been made.

PUBLIC NOTICE

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS GENERAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 5, 1985

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Sections 1 and 2 of House Joint Resolution 6 propose a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Texas Water Development Board to issue an additional $980 million of Texas Water Development bonds.

The additional bonds to be issued will be dedicated for deposit in the Texas Water Development Fund, with $190 million of those bond proceeds to be used for water supply loans and facilities acquisition and with $400 million of those bond proceeds to be used for state participation in the acquisition and development of facilities for storage, transmission, transportation, and treatment of water and wastewater. Of the remaining bonds authorized, $190 million will be dedicated for use in water quality enhancement projects, and $200 million will be dedicated exclusively for flood control projects.

The amendment would also allow the legislature to provide for the creation, administration, and implementation of a bond insurance program to which the state pledges up to $250 million of its general credit to insure payment of the principal of and interest on bonds or other obligations issued by political subdivisions of the state for water conservation, water development, water quality enhancement, flood control, drainage, recharge, chloride control or desalinization. Unless authorized to continue by a two-thirds vote of the members of each house of the Legislature, the bond insurance program will expire on the sixth anniversary of the date on which this section becomes a part of the constitution. Bond insurance issued before expiration of the program will not be affected by such expiration.

The amendment would authorize the legislature to create and appropriate money to special funds in the state treasury to make grants, loans, and other financial assistance available to governmental entities for certain enumerated water planning purposes. Also, the legislature would be permitted to extend the benefits of constitutionally approved water projects to nonprofit water supply corporations.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize the issuance of an additional $980 million of Texas Water Development Bonds, to create special water funds for water conservation, water development, water quality enhancement, flood control, drainage, subsidence control, recharge, chloride control, agricultural soil and water conservation, and desalinization, to authorize a bond insurance program, and to clarify the purposes for which Texas Water Development Bonds may be issued."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

Section 3 of House Joint Resolution 6 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the Texas Water Development Board to issue and sell Texas agricultural water conservation bonds in an amount not to exceed $200 million, if authorized to do so by a two-thirds vote of the members of each house of the legislature. The Texas agricultural water conservation bonds would be general obligations of the State of Texas, and would be paid from the first money coming into the state treasury in each fiscal year. The amendment would allow Texas agricultural water conservation bonds to be issued and sold only for four years after the date on which this Act becomes a part of the constitution.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 54 proposes a constitutional amendment that would permit the legislature to authorize a city or town to spend public funds and levy assessments for the relocation or replacement of water laterals on private property if such relocation or replacement is done in conjunction with or immediately following the relocation or replacement of water mains serving the property. Any legislative enactment permitting the expenditure of funds for such purposes would authorize the city or town to fix a lien on the property, with the owners' consent, for the cost of relocating or replacing the water laterals, and would provide that such cost shall be assessed against the property, with repayment by the property owner to be amortized over a period not to exceed five years at the rate of interest set by law. Such liens could not be enforced until after five years from the date the liens were affixed.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to enact laws permitting a city or town to spend public funds and levy assessments for the relocation or replacement of water laterals on private property."

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 21 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the use of the proceeds from the sale of permanent school fund land to acquire other land for the permanent school fund. Currently, the constitution requires that proceeds from the sale of such land be invested in certain bonds and other securities.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing proceeds from the sale of land dedicated to the permanent school fund to be used to acquire other land for that fund."

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 89 proposes a constitutional amendment that would enable the legislature to regulate the provision of health care by hospital districts by determining the services the district must provide, by setting requirements a resident must meet in order to qualify for services, and by determining any other relevant provisions necessary for providing health care to residents.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 6 proposes a constitutional amendment that would enable the State of Texas to enter into an agreement with another state to confine inmates from the state of Texas in penal or correctional facilities of the other state.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to permit state prisoners to be placed in penal facilities of another state pursuant to an interstate agreement."

PROPOSITION NO. 7 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 27 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the commissioners court of Chambers County to divide Chambers County into not less than two and not more than six justice precincts. Under current constitutional law, Chambers County may be divided into not less than two and not more than five justice precincts.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing Chambers County to be divided into two to six precincts."

PROPOSITION NO. 8 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 9 proposes a constitutional amendment that would grant an additional $500 million in bonding authority to the Veterans' Land Board for the veterans' housing assistance program. Under the current constitution, the Veterans' Land Board is authorized by Article III, Section 49-b-1 to issue and sell not more than $800 million in bonds, $500 million of which may be used for the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund. This amendment would increase that authorization to permit the issuance and sale of up to $1.3 billion in bonds, $1 billion of which would be used for the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund. In addition, the amendment would remove the current definition of "veteran" from the constitution and permit the legislature to redefine "veteran" as the changing times and circumstances require.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing $500 million in additional bonding authority for the veterans' housing assistance program and changing the definition of those veterans eligible to participate in the veterans' land program and the veterans' housing program by authorizing the legislature by law to define an eligible veteran for the purposes of those programs."

PROPOSITION NO. 9 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 72 proposes a constitutional amendment that would permit the legislature either to enact a statute or to attach a rider to the General Ap-

Combust Gives Report On Congress Activity

Congress returned from its August recess on September 4 facing a crowded legislative agenda and a host of unfinished business. With the new fiscal year less than a month away, budgetary issues remain a top priority as lawmakers attempt to enact fiscal '86 spending bills. Congress also faces numerous policy issues on the legislative calendar this fall.

BUDGET
Although Congress adopted a 1986 budget resolution, much of the work has yet to be completed. As of August 1, the House passed only eight of 13 appropriations bills, the Senate only two. The spending measures will have to be finalized within budget guidelines in order to be adopted and reduce the massive federal deficit.

FARM BILL
Members of the House and Senate Agriculture committees resume drafting the 1985 Farm Bill package. Proposed farm provisions will be reevaluated in an attempt to meet budget constraints.

TAXES
Congress will also spend some time working on tax reform proposals but final action before the end of the year is uncertain. In September, the administration intends to send Congress revisions designed to bring in 25 billion dollars more over five years than the original plan.

FOREIGN POLICY
Leading the list of foreign policy issues is a bill to impose U.S. economic sanctions on South Africa. The bill is ultimately expected to pass, however President Reagan has indicated he may veto the bill.

TRADE

Pressure is mounting for legislation to protect U.S. businesses from unfair trade practices. The administration will reveal a new trade strategy during September. Congress may nonetheless seriously consider textile and shoe restrictions.

DOMESTIC ISSUES
Congress faces an October 1 deadline to pass legislation releasing money to the states for interstate highway construction projects. Additionally, Superfund loses its taxing authority on October 1 and support seems likely for continuing the program.

OTHER
Several additional issues I would like to see addressed by Congress during the fall session include school prayer, a constitutional amendment requiring a balanced federal budget. At this time, it is uncertain whether legislation action will be taken on these issues.

propositions Act to require prior approval of the expenditure or emergency transfer of any funds appropriated by the legislature to state governmental agencies.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

PROPOSITION NO. 10 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 19 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the legislature to provide for the issuance of general obligation bonds, the proceeds of which would be deposited in a fund to be known as the farm and ranch finance program fund. The fund would be administered by the Veterans' Land Board and would be used to make loans and provide other financial assistance for the purchase of farm and ranch land. The amount of bonds outstanding at any one time would be limited to $500 million. The principal and interest that becomes due on such bonds in each fiscal year would be paid from amounts remaining in the interest and sinking fund at the close of the prior fiscal year, with the balance due to be appropriated from treasury revenues in the fiscal year when such amounts become due.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of general obligation bonds to provide financing assistance for the purchase of farm and ranch land."

PROPOSITION NO. 11 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 16 proposes a constitutional amendment that would define indictments and informations as instruments charging a person with the commission of an offense, and would delete certain technical requirements as to the form of writs and processes.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment relating to the manner in which a person is charged with a criminal offense and to certain requirements applicable to state writs and processes."

PROPOSITION NO. 12 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 10 proposes a constitutional amendment that would grant the Texas Supreme Court and the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals jurisdiction to answer questions of state law certified from federal appellate courts. In addition, the two courts would promulgate rules of procedure relating to the review of those questions.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment granting the Supreme Court of Texas and the Court of Criminal Appeals of Texas jurisdiction to answer questions of state law certified from a federal appellate court."

PROPOSITION NO. 13 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 14 proposes a constitutional amendment that would create a board with responsibility for the reapportionment of judicial districts, subject to legislative approval. The amendment would provide for the continued power of the legislature to provide for judicial reapportionment, and would provide that reapportionment will be the responsibility of the Legislative Redistricting Board if the Judicial Districts Board fails to make a timely reapportionment. The amendment would provide for the creation of judicial districts smaller than a county in counties where the creation of such districts has been approved by the voters at a general election. The amendment would provide for more than one judge for a judicial district. The amendment would rename supreme judicial districts as courts of appeals districts. The amendment would provide that the jurisdiction and terms of court of district and county courts may be as provided by law. The amendment would provide for the jurisdiction of justice courts, which may have additional jurisdiction as provided by law. The amendment would provide for rules of judicial administration and civil procedure to be promulgated by the Supreme Court, and would provide that the legislature may delegate additional rule making power to the Supreme Court or to the Court of Criminal Appeals. The amendment would provide that courts and judges in existence at the time of its adoption remain in existence until otherwise provided by law.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing for the reapportionment of the judicial districts of the state by the Judicial Districts Board or by the Legislative Redistricting Board, and providing for the administration and jurisdiction of constitutional courts."

PROPOSITION NO. 14 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 27 proposes a constitutional amendment that would abolish the office of County Treasurer in Andrews County and transfer the powers and duties of that office to the County Auditor. The amendment would also abolish the office of County Treasurer in El Paso County if, at the statewide election at which this amendment is submitted to the voters, a majority of the voters who vote in El Paso County favor the amendment. The functions of the office of El Paso County Treasurer will be performed by a person employed or designated by the El Paso County Commissioners Court. The amendment also provides for the abolition of the office of County Surveyor in Denton, Randall, Collin, Dallas, El Paso, and Henderson Counties upon approval of such abolition by a majority of the voters who vote on the question at an election called by the commissioners court of the county. If the office of County Surveyor is abolished in any county, the commissioners court may employ or contract with any qualified person to perform the duties of the office.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to provide for:

- (1) the abolition of the office of county treasurer in Andrews County and El Paso County;
- (2) the abolition of the office of county surveyor in Collin, Dallas, Denton, El Paso, Henderson, and Randall Counties."

SANDHILLS PHILOSOPHER

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Acres has become at least partly aware of the South African situation, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

I don't know anything about South Africa except that there appears to be a good market there for whips, but I did learn something about its government's head banker the other day.

The South African government has a debt crisis, which in itself is not unheard-of among governments of the world. Isn't that right, Washington? London? Paris? Rome? Etc.?

The South African government has a debt crisis, which in itself is not unheard-of among governments of the world. Isn't that right, Washington? London? Paris? Rome? Etc.?

But the head of the South African government's central bank has come up with a new idea for placing the blame for the debt crisis and what to do about it.

He says the crisis can be blamed on a bunch of banks in the United States because they refused to renew some loans now due. Therefore he has government to stop paying on any and all of its loans, which come to over 12 billion dollars. Can't be using money to pay your debts when you need it to buy whips.

This is a new principle in international banking, but it may come too late for many big-city U.S. banks. They've already loaned big money to nearly every country in the world willing to promise to pay a higher interest rate than the banks could get at home.

So many foreign countries are in hock to big-city U.S. banks you get the impression the bigger the bank the more incompetent the banker.

I'll bet you won't find any banks around here making loans to foreign countries.

By the way, would you say that South African banker is trying to whip American banks into line? If it works on kids, why not on bankers?

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

A&M press publishes essays on Vietnam war

COLLEGE STATION — Ten years after the last American helicopter thumped its way off a Saigon apartment house rooftop, Americans are undergoing a flood of self-examination about United States involvement in the war in Vietnam.

The covers of national news magazines, network specials and hundreds of first-person recollections are testimony to the curse. The Vietnam experience still haunts us.

The Texas A&M University Press has published a book that attempts to face and make sense out of the trauma. "Vietnam in Remission," is a series of essays that originated at the symposium "Understanding Vietnam," held in Salado, Texas, in 1982.

The power of the book lies with the subject and the authors: an antiwar poet, a journalist who covered the war, a historian and general who fought in it, an adviser to President Lyndon Johnson and a psychoanalyst who has studied the nightmares of Vietnam veterans.

The book explores the historic and military setting of the war, how we got into it, what it was like and its long-term cultural and personal consequences.

"Vietnam in Remission" (Texas A&M University Press; $14.95) is edited by James Veninga, executive director of the Texas Committee for the Humanities, and Harry Wilmer, professor of psychiatry at the University of Texas Health Science Center in San Antonio.

Mrs. Barbara Finney, principal of Neal B. Dillman Elementary School (Grades K-2), will have tutorial and enrichment sessions from 2:55 P.M.-3:25 P.M.

Mrs. Finney reports that she and her staff are organizing enrichment sessions in the areas of computers, fine arts, library, P.E., phonics, "I Can" Program and extra sessions in math and reading. If students do not need remediation in the basic areas, enrichment sessions are available for all students. The enrichment program has not been finalized but will be available in the near future. Buses will run at 3:30 P.M. for Dillman so that these sessions are during the school day.

Fuller observes that the availability of the tutorial program both in remediation and enrichment for students of Muleshoe I.S.D. provides an increase in time on task, the provision of intensive student-teacher interaction, and more active student participation in small learning groups.

Setting Up A Business In Your Home—A Guide To Success

With the increased use of personal computers, setting up a business in your home can be easier than ever. Microcomputers such as the IBM Personal Computer can help control inventory, computerize accounting procedures, help control costs and maintain planned profit margins. Electronic worksheet programs can even be used as valuable planning tools.

Your chances for success, however, can depend on how well you answer these questions:

- Have you worked in a business like the one you're going to start? Are you prepared to work long hours without knowing how much money you'll earn?
- Do you know how much money you'll need to get your business started?

- Do you know how much credit you can get initially from suppliers?
- Have you made an educated estimate of the net yearly income you can expect to get from the enterprise? (Count your salary and your profit on the money you put into the business.)
- Do you know the good and bad points about going it alone, having a partner, or incorporating your business?
- Have you tried to find out whether businesses like the one you want to open are doing well in your area and elsewhere?
- Are you a good, sensible planner — financially and otherwise — since profits will depend largely on your capacity for advance planning and timing?

The Area I Young Homemakers of Texas met September 7 in Plainview for their annual Conference and Awards Luncheon. The theme for the meeting was "Young Homemakers Care". The Springlake-Earth YHT Chapter decorated the auditorium with life-size posters of Care Bears, using a rainbow as the background to display the theme. The Hereford YHT Chapter decorated the table for the door prizes that each chapter brought.

Registration was handled by the Whitharrel YHT Chapter. The meeting began with a patriotic presentation by five of the Region I FHA/HERO Officers. Area I YHT business was then presented, followed by the morning speaker, Peggy Eversol of the Plainview Rape Crisis Center.

A noon Awards Luncheon was held for the YHT members plus special guests attending. Twenty-two chapters were eligible to enter applications for each award.
