Let's Talk Livestock

By Ted Gouddy

Forth Worth—Heavy receipts again featured livestock marketing at Fort Worth and other points around the market circle. Prices of cows and bulls on Monday were 50 cents and spots $1 lower, and grass steers and yearlings suffered a similar decline.

Values were uneven, however, with prices steady on good and choice fed cattle, and steady on good and choice fat calves. The medium and lower grade calves eased off 50 cents or more per hundred. High grade stocker cattle and calves ruled steady but the plainer quality was weak to lower.

The Monday reports from 12 major markets showed the biggest cattle run of the season, over 127,000 head, 28,000 above a week earlier and 54,000 ahead of a year ago on the same day.

Hogs topped at Fort Worth at $21.50, around 25c lower. Sows were steady at $15 to $18.

Sheep and lambs were steady, except some of the lighterweight feeder lambs recovered some of last week's losses.

A few good and choice fed steers and yearlings brought $26 to $32, a package weighing 904 pounds from H. M. Erwin, Ladonia, at $32. Common, plain and medium kinds drew $15 to $25. Fat cows drew $15.50 to $18, odds higher, canners and cutters got $9 to $15.50. Bulls sold at $14 to $22.50.

Good and choice fat calves $25 to $28, plain and medium sorts $15 to $24, culls $12 to $15.

Good and choice stocker and feeder calves and yearlings sold at $25 to $31, a load from L. L. Edwards, Jack County, at 518 pounds at $31, and a load from W. M. and R. E. Shutts, Clay County, averaged 465 pounds at $30. Common, plain and medium sorts sold from $17 to $24. Stocker cows drew $14 to $20.

Older stocker steers sold largely at $24.50 down.

Good and choice fat Spring lambs sold for $25 to $28, and medium to good kinds sold for $20 to $25, with culls down from $10 to $15. Stocker and feeder Spring lambs brought $10 to $19. Fat yearling wethers cashed at $15 to $18, and stocker and feeder kinds drew $10 to $15.

Slaughter ewes sold from $6.50 to $8.50, the canner ewes at the best price at Fort Worth in several weeks. Two-year-old wethers sold at $15 down. Old bucks cashed around $6.50.

Teach Safety Rules

It's School Time again in Texas and today W. Carloss Morris, Jr., President of the Texas Safety Association issued an appeal to all Texans to redouble their efforts toward the saving of life and limb in this great state.

"This year probably more Texas boys and girls than ever before will be attending school for the first time. It will be a many will be sent out to go to, and to come from, school alone," he said. Motorists must keep this in mind. A youngster, thinking about baseball or football will often not see your car and may step off the curb in your path. Be watchful, Mr. and Mrs. Motorist—give the kids a brake!

For you who travel the highways, here is a point of interest to you. By Texas law, motor vehicles must stop for a stopped school bus—whether you are following or approaching. Don't run down an innocent child—and there will be over one third million youngsters traveling in Texas school buses this year.

And here is a final word to mothers and fathers: Teach your youngsters these Safety Rules:

1. Where there are sidewalks

use them.

2. If they must walk in the street, walk facing oncoming traffic.

3. Cross only at intersections.

4. If riding a bicycle, ride it on the right side of the street and use hand signals.

5. Obey the safety patrols when and where safety patrols are used.

Youngsters, today, have the opportunity for a wonderful education. Send them from home to learn—not to die.

Farmers Home Administration To Make Disaster Loans

As a result of serious drouth conditions in many areas of Texas, many farmers are faced with an emergency need for credit not available through local sources to buy feed for their livestock, and seed and fertilizer for the planting of Fall grain and pasture crops, according to L. J. Cappleman, State Director of the Farmers Home Administration, who has received reports from every section of the State on conditions as they exist at this time. Cappleman has been told that if such assistance is not provided, it will be necessary for farmers in these drouth stricken areas to reduce sharply, or in many instances to liquidate entirely their livestock enterprises, because of the lack of feed stuff and pastures for grazing. In the interest of the farmers concerned, the agricultural economy of the areas affected and the welfare of the farming interests of Texas, the Farmers Home Administration is taking every reasonable step to prevent the liquidation of desirable productive livestock by drouth stricken farmers.

Mr. Cappleman pointed out that, in order to accomplish this purpose and to help farmers continue in business, county offices of the Farmers Home Administration are in a position to immediately make disaster loans in any county in the State of Texas to qualified applicants in accordance with published instructions and revised policies outlined at a meeting of State Field Representatives in Dallas last week. At this meeting, held in Dallas, Cappleman received reports of serious crop losses through drouth, and that farmers and ranchers are in urgent need of funds to buy feed, seed and other supplies to continue their operations for the remainder of this year. In many instances, it was pointed out that these farmers will require emergency credit to put in their 1933 crops, and funds are available through the local Farmers Home Administration County Office now for the purposes indicated. The funds are available at 3 percent interest for crop production needs, under the provisions of Public Law 38.

The purpose of the disaster loan program authorized by Public Law 38 is to provide a source of temporary or emergency credit to assist farmers in designated areas who have suffered serious production losses as a result of drouth or other natural causes, and who are unable to obtain from other established local sources the credit needed to continue their farming or ranching operations.

The County Office of the Farmers Home Administration for Dimit, Kinney, Maverick and Zavala Counties is located on the second floor of the Zavala County Bank Building in Crystal City, Texas. Applicants may contact this office to discuss their needs.

Dialing Big Government

WASHINGTON—All you have to do to measure the growth of big government in the United States is look in your telephone book.

A glance at the special sections allotted to the Federal and state governments will show the spread of government by Washington into the nooks and crannies of America.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States checked the telephone directories of the nation's 10 largest cities, outside Washington, and found 3,375 listings for Federal bureaus, departments, agencies, units, offices, and installations. The state governments, on the other hand, had only 1,738 listings in the same cities—barely half as many.

The directory for the city of Boston, State Capital of Massachusetts, lists 403 phone numbers for Federal agencies, and only 294 for the State government.

A check on phone books elsewhere showed the following results: New York City (Manhattan only), 546 Federal listings, 239 State; Chicago, 415 Federal, 158 State; Philadelphia, 356 Federal, 220 State; Los Angeles (Central Directory), 336 Federal, 198 State; Detroit, 230 Federal, 112 State; Baltimore, 216 Federal, 146 State; Cleveland, 207 Federal, 72 State; St. Louis, 330 Federal, 113 State, and San Francisco, 336 Federal, and 186 State.

Defense installations and post offices, as might be expected, accounted for a large part of the Federal Government total, but numerous listings also were found for the Commerce, Agriculture and Treasury Departments, and for other agencies with headquarters in Washington.

The telephone book study illustrates the growth of huge centralized government and its consequent overshadowing of state governments. But there is more to the story. In many of the cities, the Federal government not only dominates the phone directory, but is also the largest single employer. And its personnel policies and pay scales are beginning to set the pattern for state, local government and private employment. Of the 2,603,000 civilians now on the Federal payroll in all parts of the country and overseas, 610,363 are employed in the 10 largest cities.

"Death Sentence" Results In "Cure"

Sanatorium care for tuberculosis was established by a young American physician, Dr. Edward Livingston Trudeau, who at 24 was told he had the disease, which was still accepted as a death sentence in 1872.

The young doctor, who had watched a beloved brother die of the "white plague," went to the Adirondack mountains to meet his own death in surroundings he loved. Instead, after a year of critical illness he found his health improving.

An ardent sportsman, he noted the exertion of a fox-hunt caused his fever to rise and aggravated the agony in his chest. Rest, he found, alleviated his illness. From his observation of his own successful fight against the dread disease, Dr. Trudeau opened the way to a general acceptance of the "rest cure" as the first major advance against TB.

MENTAL

MEANDERINGS

The Chamber of Commerce the past week gave another helping hand to the avowed purpose of improving and maintaining the standard of good health in the community. This was by the purchase of new insecticide and dusting machines, which, under the supervision of Mr. Hess of the Public Health Service, started a campaign of dusting outdoors where most needed and where disease as a rule begins through breeding of insects and pests. This dusting assisted in the elimination of much of the source of possible infestation and disease, and is a good measure and an effective one in this direction. The Chamber of Commerce started a cleanup campaign quite a spell back, and in some ways this has done much good. That it has not done better or accomplished more is due to the fact that not all of those who have vacant lots and health hazards have joined in this health effort. There are some who have given their assistance and are continuing to cleanup but there are a good many others who have not been so active nor aided in this movement, so that the best results have not been as expected. The Chamber of Commerce is an ally on the side of our good community health; it demonstrated it when it sought to enroll all in a cleanup campaign, and now in this dusting program, all designed to keep dreaded polio away from our community, and other dreaded diseases as well.

The massacre of Labor Day, so one newspaper puts it. But it was only that because the week end lasted through Monday that brought the toll of those who paid with their lives for this holiday period to such a high total. It seems virtually impossible to lower the total of fatalities during such a period as this. On the highways, it is nearly always the same old story—wrecks, fatalities, caused by speed, carelessness, and a variety of other causes, including liquor, but with so many other automobiles travelling the highways, it is certain to result in some sort of tragedy, especially when irresponsibility appears to rule the wheel. For the one that is careful, there seems to be one and sometimes two who is not.

The School term has begun again, and the children are once more taking up their task of securing an education. We occasionally hear some older person wish aloud that he were able to go back to school again. But, we think that what one means is that he wishes that he was at that age when he was carefree, with no troubles and a secure world—to a large extent. Indeed childhood is an age when there are the fewest troubles—real ones—for us humans to contend with; others aid us in taking care of that. It is but a preparation for the real struggle with life which comes later on. Well, we often wished we were back in school again, too, but when we realized that doing so would cause us to lose lots of good memories and experiences—and we would have to study besides—we gave up and decided to take what we have. And being as we have no other choice, that was the best thing to do.

We will probably be hearing quite a bit from now on until General Election Day about "Gooble-duck", that use of high-sounding and meaningless phrases in everyday talk. If a politician wants to walk the fence, and there are many who will try it, we will have to keep stuffing cotton in the ears for the next few weeks, that is if we won't want to cut off the radio.

Scientists tell us that in spite of new developments and the acquisition of new methods and means of fighting these pests, that insects seem to be gaining in their fight to control the world. When man has to feed these adversaries and to fight them, too, he has, in effect, two strikes on him. Besides fighting each other, mankind has to also battle against almost everything else for survival—insects, the elements, Nature herself, and as said his greatest enemy of all, humans. Maybe something will turn up one of these days. And we were not referring to human toes, either.

The political pot continues to boil, and if the start is mild we feel it in our bones that the end will be a rather wild and woolly sort of affair. However, it is nothing compared to what it would have been if President Truman had decided to run for the third time. There is sure to be plenty of fireworks on both sides and if the fracas towards the climax doesn't bust a few ether waves in the transmission, it won't be because some of the candidates or their fellow-travelers are not trying.

New remedies and preventatives are being tried out constantly in man's fight against polio. Some seem to be lending a restraining hand on the outbreak and others seem encouraging. But we need something more encouraging, something really helpful, as the toll continues to rise each year. We hadn't thought about it, but it was suggested that after each great war something new in epidemics and afflictions seems to fasten of the human race. Last great war, No. 1 that is, we had the Flu. This time, it seems, we have polio. Whether it is a coincidence or just an after-effect, we haven't heard anyone explain.

It's a strange world, it is. Just taking Ripley's word for it seems would be sufficient. But we run across strange things day after day. Some of them are humorous, some strange, some unexplainable. Like the time we had an assortment of monetary dodads from various sources, and a guy came up and wanted to borrow the exact amount we had accumulated, and which we had not up to them counted in our pocket. But leaving all levity aside, there are many things that, like Shakespeare's character, we have no ken about. You think about someone, and they appear in person. You feel like writing a letter and get one in the next mail. You write concerning a matter and get an answer practically by the same mail you sent one. Duke U. which investigates these things, believes there is some sort of telepathy. Perhaps And until explained better otherwise, we can leave it at that.

10 Point Buck Is Too Timid

AUSTIN, Aug. — Somebody's tame deer has been agitating the folks in the Rocky Hollow and Briggs neighborhoods, according to Game Warden Aubrey J. Shaw of Georgetown.

The "pet" which has a mere ten points and weighs just over 150 pounds, first appeared at the W. R. Weese farm, 12 miles northwest of Georgetown.

Weese investigated a noise in his barn lot at milking time one morning to find his horses chasing the buck deer. His dogs were also trying to get into the melee.

When Weese appeared, the deer ran toward him and before he knew it, the big buck had stuck its rack under the astounded man's arm.

As Warden Shaw reports it, Weese regained his own equilibrium, restored order in the barnyard and called the game warden for reinforcements.

When the warden arrived, the deer was temporarily out of sight. He opened the back door of his car to get a rope and just then the deer reappeared and stepped right into the back seat.

There was a slight hassle because the tonneau of the car was small for the animal's big rack.

Later, the buck was kept in a pasture near Briggs while a small leg infection was treated. The deer, at first, seemed content with the farm animals. But one evening when someone opened the kitchen screen door, the buck stuck his rack into the opening and went on inside to begin munching on a piece of watermelon on a table.

The game warden emphasized that summertime docility of tame male deer usually turns into dangerous hostility by fall.

He suggested it might be well for all concerned that this buck begin showing wariness before the big game hunting season. "I shudder to think what might happen," said Warden Shaw, "if some buck-fever victim should wake up in his tent some November night and find this 10 point rack in his sack."

TB Often Unrecognized

New York. — Tuberculosis of the lungs may assume so many different clinical forms that it must be considered in the differential diagnosis of practically every lung disease, warns Dr. James M. Blake, writing in the New York State Journal of Medicine. The symptoms may manifest themselves first in some other organ without any clinical indication of lung involvement, or they may appear abruptly as an acute pneumonia.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Narrow Town—
Broad Outlook

The wife's cousin Ben, and Belle his bride are back from honeymooning in the Rockies. Took them to dinner last night at the Garden Tavern. Ben told about the trip:

"Went through a town in Idaho that was only 100 feet wide. No kidding! Built into a long, narrow canyon. And it shares those 100 feet with a railroad track that runs right through the hotel!"

"To get gas there we had to park right on the tracks. Suddenly Belle screams—'there's a train coming!' But the gas fellow just laughs and says we were there first. Blamed if the engineer didn't stop the train and wait, too!"

From where I sit, it's a good illustration of how people can learn to "think of the other fellow" so that the community benefits. Railroaders and townspeople, Democrats and Republicans, malted milk fanciers and those who prefer a temperate glass of beer—we all have to share the same space. Let's maintain our neighbor's "right of way."

New Lending Law

Nearly 100 per cent of the San Antonians answering a recent mail poll, involving thousands of small loan borrowers, said that the charges for personal loans obtained under the conditions provided by Senate Bill 339, the new Texas lending law, were satisfactory, according to Leo Brewer, San Antonio attorney.

"Nearly all the borrowers reported that the charge for personal loans under the new Act, which is the discount, or flat dollar charge method, is satisfactory," Brewer said. "Nearly all of the borrowers stated they would continue to borrow in the future, if and when necessary, with lenders who offer the services provided by the new Texas discount lending law," he declared.

"The new lending law," Brewer explained, "became effective in September 1951. Since then, state-wide inquiries to tens of thousands of small loan borrowers have revealed that Texans overwhelmingly favor this new Act which provides for examination of all lenders by the State Department of Banking."

Chest X-Rays Gain Popularity

Austin. — Ten years ago, a chest X-ray for the apparently well person was almost unknown, says the Texas Tuberculosis Association, but in 1951, at least 746,536 Texans were X-rayed in surveys conducted by the State Health Department and by TB associations.

Pitluk Advertising Co. To Handle Advertising For Livestock Exposition

The San Antonio Livestock Exposition announced this week the appointment of the Pitluk Advertising Company, San Antonio to handle advertising and public relations for the 1953 stock show and rodeo.

According to Dr. Harold Vagtborg, chairman of the stock show's advertising and publicity committee, the Pitluk agency will supervise the complete promotion of the Feb. 20-March 1 show as a packaged unit.

In announcing the appointment Vagtborg stated, "This move of appointing a single agency to handle both advertising and public relations will bring about a closer correlation of organized effort."

The Pitluk agency handled the advertising for the first two years of the stock show and all advertising including newspaper, radio, television, outdoor, souvenir program and other media will be supervised by account executive Jack Pitluk, Jr. in cooperation with stock show officials.

Jim Battersby, public relations director of Pitluk, will direct all publicity for the '53 stock shows and rodeo. He handled a similar position the first two years of the show.

O.P.S. News

Fees covering services and repairs for television sets, radios and record players remain under government pricing regulations, district OPS officials said today.

Officials explained that the commodities themselves were exempt by OPS from price control on Aug. 29, but the servicing and repairing charges still are under provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation No. 34.

Also exempt on Aug. 29 were such commodities as carpets and bedding, but ceilings on fees for cleaning and repairing these items also remain in effect, OPS said.

Meanwhile, businessmen or other interested persons desiring information about government pricing regulations are invited to contact OPS price operations branch personnel. San Antonio district office is at 229 West Nueva Street, the Houston branch office, 2309 Austin Street.
