To Raise USO Funds

DALLAS, Texas, June—Randal R. Gilbert, president of the Federal Reserve Bank for the 11th District, today was named campaign chairman of the forthcoming $740,896 fund appeal for the USO in Texas.

Selection of Gilbert to head the state-wide campaign was announced by Ben H. Wooten, chairman of the Texas United Defense Fund Committee. The committee is made up of Community Chest executives of the state and prominent volunteer leaders.

The Texas goal of $740,896 is this state's pro rata share of the national goal of $17,244,585, the bulk of which goes to maintain the USO's morale services to the Armed Forces around the globe, Gilbert said.

"As long as Texas boys and girls in growing numbers serve their country in the Armed Forces, there will be a need for the wonderful home-tie services of the USO," Gilbert said. "The Military can go only so far in looking after the needs of these youngsters, and they do a splendid job, but it is up to us, the civilians at home, to keep alive the bonds between the boy and the girl in uniform and his home community. Realizing this, I think every citizen of Texas will want to contribute his share to this campaign to maintain the services of the USO."

Gilbert reported that a major portion of the fund last year was provided through local Community Chest campaigns, and that the Community Chests of the state this year will be asked again to assume their proportionate part of the goal.

For every death from tuberculosis, of which there were 2,028 in Texas last year, national statistics indicate 10 active cases of the disease.

A Few Years Ago

A few years ago you did not believe in the X-ray. If anyone had suggested that there was a light that would make the body transparent so that you could see the bones in your hand, and a needle broken off in your flesh, you would have laughed.

A few years ago you did not believe in radium; could not conceive of a flame that would not consume, a substance that would not burn itself up by its own shining.

A few years ago you did not believe that a man's voice could be carried through the ether, and heard around the world.

A few years ago you did not believe that immense passenger planes could fly over the sea and land from continent to continent.

What are some of the things you do not believe today?—Firemen's Fund.

John Quincy Adams was the only President of the United States who was bald headed.

Our Washington Newsletter

By Congressman O. C. Fisher
LAST OCTOBER the House passed a bill to clarify the law against dumping of foreign products in this country where such exports adversely affect a domestic industry. Since 1921 we have had an anti-dumping law, but it has been so interpreted that its effect has been useless.

The amendment to that law, which we passed in the House, has been pending in the Senate Finance committee since last October 16. It requires the Secretary of Treasury to impose a countervailing duty on merchandise brought in "by reason of a payment or bestowal of a bounty or grant" by the government of the exporting country. This is an attempt to cope with the subsidized practices of Argentina and Uruguay with respect to wool and wool tops. Those countries have been giving exporters of wool tops (raw wool which has been processed) a special exchange advantage when they ship to the United States.

But the Secretary of Treasury (who handles customs) held that the 1921 anti-dumping law did not contemplate subsidies brought about by preferred exchange manipulations. Our amendment of last October expressly stated that such bounty or grant would include such subsidies brought about "through multiple official rates of its exchange in terms of United States dollars, or otherwise."

The Senate committee has held some hearings on our bill but up to this time has taken no action. This is regrettable because the South American wool tops that have been dumped in our country have played havoc with a substantial part of our domestic wool market during the past few months.

THE HOUSE PASSED a House-Senate conference report on a Foreign Aid bill last week. The House had previously trimmed the President's aid bill from $7.9 billion down to $6.1 billion, but the conference committee upped the figure to $6.4 billion—increasing economic assistance (as distinguished from military aid) to $1.8 billion. Since much of this is for the purpose of bolstering the economies and to provide public works in so-called depressed areas around the world, I voted against the conference report. The deeper we get into this international WPA business, the more difficult it will be to stop it. Our taxpayers are in no condition to pay such bills for other people.

Between the mosquitos and heat and talking about both, we are all having a pretty hard time of it right now. But we might as well get adjusted to it all—its here to stay, until Fall anyways.

Texas Tuberculosis Association

In Texas, one person dies every four hours from tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis resulted in deaths to 20 persons for each 500,000 population in the United States in 1951, according to figures released by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Tuberculosis kills more persons between 15 and 34 years of age in Texas than any other disease.

One person with active TB and not under hospital care can infect 10 or more well persons with the disease, says the Texas Tuberculosis Association.

Forty-one states have more TB beds in proportion to deaths than Texas has, a University of Texas survey reveals.

The Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools reports 551 tuberculosis patients approved for admission and awaiting bed space in state-operated sanatoriums.

Under normal operation, state-operated hospitals in Texas can provide beds for 10,147 mentally ill persons, according to the state hospital board which reported 16,644 mental patients under treatment in May.

OPS Suspends White Potatoes

White potatoes have been suspended from price control, the Office of Price Stabilization has announced.

OPS regulations governing the sale of the potatoes were revoked June 5 as a result of the vote in the Senate to discontinue controls of fresh fruits and vegetables, OPS said.

OPS officials said action of the Senate rendered effective enforcement of the potato pricing regulations virtually impossible.

They considered that distribution of the potato crop would have been complicated through inducement to shippers to withhold supplies in the expectation that controls on potatoes would be terminated by Congressional action on July 1.

Ice Cream Is Good For Reducing Lunch

Nutrition studies at Cornell University recently show that plain ice cream makes a first-rate reducer's lunch says the Dairy Products Institute of Texas.

Dr. A. C. Dahlberg of the Cornell Experiment Station revealed that the ice cream meal gives top-notch nutritional quality in protein and important minerals and vitamins.

"A dish of ice cream gives between 200 and 400 calories, varying with size of scoop and richness of the cream," says George Clarke, Institute vice president.

"This is well within the lunch-time allowance of a slimming diet. However, it must be a dish of plain ice cream. No chocolate sauce, no nuts or whipped cream or syrups.

"Since ice cream can be obtained at any restaurant or soda fountain, it's an easy answer for reducers whose lunchtime is limited and who don't want to scan a long menu in search of non-fattening foods."

MENTAL

MEANDERINGS

What ever became of the Congressional investigating committees? No one has yet said out loud why they were soft pedaled. Because it might have a devastating effect on the party in power during an election year? Because it was getting pretty close to many of the big boys? Because there is a desire on the part of those higher up to gloss over anything tending to show how corrupt government is? Because . . .? Maybe one of these, or some other still more sinister purpose in withholding from the people the real "low" to which those who should set public example have sunk. Many things are done in the name of politics, but very few people care to own up to them.

Why we remember way back around the time of the first world war, a pal of us who was in a service often told us that about once a week they would have a "pep talk" from their company commander, who more than often came up with advice like this: "It's not what you can do that always gets you to the top, it's what you can do and get by with."

If anything, a good vocabulary is one of the best acquisitions any young man—or any person for that matter—can have. It enables him to more adequately express his ideas, to make known his learning. Wish someone would have given us advice like this years ago. But then, we probably would have thought that individual a fuddy-duddy, too.

One thing that strikes up as being in our favor over in Korea is the new attitude of the American truce envoys, now since Admiral Joy has went. The Communists are being told, and in blunt language, to put up or shut up, and quit stalling. Which is something new, and not understandable to these heathen Chinese and his blood brother, the godless Russian.

The maneuvering around of the Republican candidates, and especially the efforts being made to corner the delegates for Senator Taft and of those in favor of General Ike to stall these efforts is making the whole issue rather confusing to the Republican minded people. However, the Democratic folks are in somewhat of a stew also, not exactly knowing what to expect, although there is very little doubt that President Truman and some of his close friends and advisors will have a big hand in the choosing of the Democratic candidate. Confusion here we come!

The fact that the President has been sidestepping the use of the Taft-Hartley Act on the ground of a number of excuses, that is until the Congress asked him, will probably not be taken altogether mean that the President didn't want to try and enforce a law which the Congress passed and which he, as Chief Executive, is perforce asked to enforce. It is probably his way of attempting to hold the labor vote, even if it puts him in the position of refusing to enforce a law he swore to uphold.

Some so-called witty columnist says we should be let alone by the Communists to kill ourselves off and each other too, on the highways and by the multitude of ways which a fast, modern and machine-aged life affords. We agree with him it is tragic American is so wasteful of precious lives, when she has shown she can be very merciful and sentimental about one little life. Of the many others who daily are hurriedly forced from this world, little is said. And not much progress in saving lives is being done.

One thing Ike found out, and quick, was that all's fair in politics too. At least that is the supposition of the opposition.

The extension of the wage and control act just left us about where we were. For a few fast seconds we thought the whole thing might be scrapped and we be let to go on our own, but someone slammed the lid down on our fingers. Guess we will have to forego trying to saving any more.

Lifting the ceiling on potatoes produced at first a trickle of spuds, pretty high priced, too, back on the market. We never thought the humble potato, friend of all, would climb up into the company of the high priced and the haughty, but there it was. The only consolation we found was that it tasted about as good as ever.

In a large city, a real estate man took some prospective customers to look over a house and found a stranger taking a bath in the tub. Probably thought he went with the house, too.

The increase in crime, especially in embezzlement, is said to be growing. When we find that bit had gotten into the higher brackets, and that many of those in high places did not think their acts immoral—even though it was taxpayers money they were entrusted with and were using—its a pretty hard indictment of these times. But then, those in the higher standing did things like this, and more, too, way back, even in the time of the old Romans. Remember how even the Emperorship was sold?

We all like a broadminded person, if he is in our favor and doing that to everyone else. Anyways, such a person is a rarity, we are told. The kind we usually meet are not broadminded, just cautious.

This is Centennial Year for Brackettville. One hundred years old, is what this little city of ours is this year of 1962. So, let's show a little more pride, a more solemn resolve to help her regain her feet and progress. Let's be in on the party, too!

Plenty of pecans falls fall, we are told. Which, should be right good news to those who like the nuts, the squirrels and a good many of us odd-and-enders who like em just because they taste so fine.

We clipped out an item the other day on the amount of hidden taxes which we pay—in addition to those the government and subdivisions are not so secret about. Cigarettes and liquors are about the hardest hit of the common purchases, with gasoline a close third. We didn't finish reading it, as we had to stop and revive our poor pocket-book.

Grows Good Tomatoes

The News-Mail office the past week end was recipient of a gift of several large, luscious tomatoes, a product of the home garden of W. E. Carlisle.

The tomatoes were large, firm and of fine texture and were a revelation of what can be grown here with good soil, proper care and better plants. Mr. Carlisle grew a number of these good tomatoes and other garden items. It shows that we can have good gardens here in Brackettville and should set a good example for those who do or are planning home gardens.

Let's Not Risk Polio

With polio reaching epidemic proportions in several larger cities in the state and isolated cases being found in some towns in our own neighborhood, it behooves the citizens of this community to keep up their health work, their safeguards. Keeping up general health means that we must keep up our clean up campaign, getting rid of weeds, cans, garbage and other items which might not be conducive of good health. We don't want polio so let's get busy.

Veterans Questions And Their Answers

Q—I understand I need my original discharge papers to apply for a GI home loan, but I have lost them. What can I do?

A—Ask your branch of service for authenticated substitute evidence in place of your original discharge papers.

Q—I've been taking a correspondence course under the GI Bill, and now I'd like to switch to a classroom course in the same subject. May I do so, even though the July 1951, cut-off date has passed?

A—No. Under VA regulations, you are not permitted to change from correspondence to classroom training after the cut-off date. But you may take advanced training in the same subject by correspondence, if you have enough entitlement and file a proper application.

Q—I know a veterans who broke two appointments in a row for VA outpatient treatment. He didn't give any advance notice; just failed to show up. Is it possible for him to get a third appointment?

A—If he had no reasonable excuse for breaking the appointments without notice, VA deems that he has refused Government treatment. No further treatment will be given, unless he makes a formal application and satisfactorily evinces a willingness to cooperate by keeping his appointments.

Q—I'm training under Public Law 1*, and I've just had some large medical expenses, which my subsistence payments won't cover. Is there any source where I can borrow money for a short time?

A—Yes. Under the law, VA may lend you up to $100 from a revolving fund. No interest will be charged. But the money must be paid back.

In county court room Wednesday afternoon of the past week, County Attorney Robert Nelson lectured a group of teenagers and their parents following an incident at the school building, in which the teenagers present were alleged to have taken part. While there was nothing of a very serious nature developed, it was pointed out that lack of facilities enabling the youth of the community to divert and entertain themselves, such as a park or swimming pool could give opportunity for other incidents of this kind. The young people of the community need a place or places as we have pointed out, and they should be provided without delay.

Mosquitos Plentiful

Another reason for continuing and making the cleanup more complete and effective is the presence of a multitude of mosquitos. These pests are not only a nuisance, but a health menace. Flies seems to be on the increase, too. When cleaning up, all discarded cans, bottles or other receptacles should be sent to the dumps and open cess pools closed or oiled. But those who have vacant lots should likewise add their effort to the cleanup.

The trees, because of the favorable growing weather and rains, have been flowering considerable, and judging from the looks of them, they should be loaded with nuts this fall. Of course, if the crops of bugs get big too, which up to now hasn't materialized, the crop might be cut down some.

Mary McMeekin's Rice Topped With Creole Cabbage Practices Economy in a Delicious Way

Satisfying rice compliments the crispness of the delicious green cabbage in this irresistible dish of rice and creole cabbage. The tomatoes add wonderful color and flavor, and the seasonings are "just right." All told, this superbly delicious main dish, with chewy cubes of browned pork, is a sure bet to silence the table conversation until second helpings are demanded.

INGREDIENTS:
3 cups hot cooked rice
2 pork chops, cut in 1/2-inch cubes (or 1/2 cup cooked meat)
1 cup onions, chopped
1 No. 2 1/2 can tomatoes
4 cups green cabbage, shredded
1/2 cup canned mushrooms, sliced
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon chili powder

PREPARING THE FLUFFY WHITE RICE: To make 3 liberal cups of fluffy rice, put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt into a two-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover saucepan with lid and leave over this low heat for 14 minutes. Do not remove lid nor stir rice while it is cooking. Turn off the heat. It is then ready—perfectly cooked—with all the grains separate and fluffy. Leave the lid on until time to serve the rice. When ready to serve, remove lid, and use a fork to help transfer the rice into the serving dish. It is never necessary to rinse packaged rice cooked by this method. Washing clean packaged rice either before or after it is cooked wastes valuable food nutrients as well as time. Use exact measurements of uncooked rice and water. Time the cooking accurately. To reheat cooked rice, put the rice and a small amount of water in a covered saucepan or double boiler and place over a low heat until the rice is thoroughly hot and the water has been completely absorbed.

METHOD: Brown meat in a skillet. Continue cooking until meat is done. Enough fat should cook out of the meat so that it is not necessary to add additional fat to the skillet. Add onions and some of the juice from the tomatoes and cook until onions are tender. Add tomatoes, cabbage, mushrooms, salt, pepper, and chili powder. Cover skillet and cook only until cabbage is tender. Do not overcook. Cabbage should retain its green color. If there is not enough juice from the tomatoes to prevent the mixture from sticking add a small amount of water. Spread cooked rice on a platter. Serve cabbage over the rice. Deviled eggs are an ideal accompaniment to be served with the rice and creole cabbage. This recipe will make 8 servings.

PREPARING THE FLUFFY WHITE RICE: To make 3 liberal cups of fluffy rice; put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt in a two-quart saucepan and cover with a tight-fitting lid. Bring to a vigorous boil and then turn the heat as low as possible—leave over this low heat for 14 minutes. Turn off the heat. This cooking time results in firm grains of cooked rice. For extra tender grains, allow the rice to steam—with heat off—for an additional 5 minutes before removing the lid.

Never remove the lid nor stir rice while it is cooking. After rice is cooked, remove lid, lift rice gently with fork to allow rice to steam dry to the desired consistency. It is then ready—perfectly cooked—with all the grains separate and fluffy. This method allows all the water to be absorbed and the full nutritional value of the rice to be retained.

Keep left-over cooked rice in the refrigerator in a covered container. You will find it convenient for making many quick, easy and delicious dishes.

METHOD: Fry the bulk sausage (loose—not formed into patties) until brown. Drain off fat to save or discard. Combine sausage, soup, rice and water in skillet. Mix well. Bake in a greased casserole or in individual casseroles in a 350° F. oven for 20 minutes.

If you want to add a decorative touch, fry some sausage in small balls and use these with some of the peas and carrots out of the soup as a top garnish. Add this garnish during the final minutes of cooking period. This recipe makes six servings.

Social Security

Lump-sum payments as well as monthly benefits are paid to survivors of workers who die insured under the Social Security Law, according to John K. Shelton, manager of the social security office.

Shelton explained that under the old law, a lump-sum payment was made only when there were no monthly benefits payable. However, under the recent changes, the lump-sum payment is made in addition to the monthly benefits. Usually this payment is made to the surviving widow or widower. If there is no surviving widow or widower to qualify for the payment, it may be made to the person or persons who paid the burial expenses. He explained that the minimum lump-sum payment is $60.00 and the maximum at the present time is $205.50.

Shelton pointed out that in every case where benefits are payable, an application must be filed before payments can be made. Survivors of workers who had been employed under social security should contact the social security office for possible insurance benefits.

Started looking up in a dictionary, and a fellow nearby asked us how we would look up words which we did not know how to spell. After due and matured deliberation, we still admit we have no answer.

In connection with the above we remember a sly but rather grim warning: "You can still get a drink for a dime, an autopsy shows."
