BHS UIL Academic Teams Seeking Yet Another Consecutive District

Championship

The past seven years have provided much success at the district, regional, and state levels for the UIL Academic program at Borden County High School. This Friday, March $28^{\text {th }}$, the squad will be in search of its eighth consecutive district championship at the District 9-A UIL Academic District Meet at Water Valley High School.

Winning that championship will not be easy, however, because BHS happens to find itself currently in one of the arguably toughest 1A academic districts in the state.

In fact, Last year, three schools from the district (Garden City, Water Valley, and BHS) finished in the top six overall at the State Meet. Last year's district meet came down to the end before BHS was named as champion.

The BHS teams are ready for the challenge, though; following successful invitational practice meets in Andrews, Idalou, Lubbock: Monterey, and Post.

Lady Coyote Softball Update New Deal Takes District Opener

By Sue Jane Mayes

Once again, the final score lead of BHS's softball game masked the fact that the team showed signs of breaking out of a losing streak. However, costly errors in two innings made the difference as the Lady Coyotes fell 26-6 to New Deal.
In the top half of the first, New Deal capitalized on four errors, scoring four runs. Shortstop Sharelle Gass scooped up a grounder to throw to first baseman Taylor Richey who made a great stretch to record an out to slow the rally.

Batting the bottom half of the first inning, BHS came alive with consecutive hits by D'Nae Johnson and Olivia Key who ripped singles up the middle. Richey, batting third, also got a hit scoring Johnson. Key, however, was thrown out at the plate for the first out.

A walk by Bailey Anderson led to Gass's sacrifice, moving both Anderson and Richey around in scoring position. Lacey Roberts then took care of business with a hit, scoring both Anderson and Richey. Her two RBI single made it a 4-3 game as the Lady Coyotes trailed by one after one inning

Ten errors, three hits, and two walks cost the Coyotes 14 runs in the top half of the second inning. The inning actually began with a quick out as Key fielded a grounder and threw to Richey at first for the out. Like so many times this season, though, little things went wrong as the final two outs weren't recorded until New Deal held a sizeable 17-3

$\square \square$  TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION  MEMBER 2008

[^0]The third inning was the polar opposite as BHS recorded a double play as, ending the inning without New Deal crossing the plate. Bailey Anderson caught a line drive and threw back to Richey to double up the runner coming from first.

The Coyotes answered with two more runs in the bottom of the third. Johnson got on base again with an infield hit, beating out a throw. Key reached based on an error as did Richey. Johnson and Key both scored in the inning, cutting the deficit to 17-5
Despite some good fielding by Key and Richey in the top half of the fourth, the Lady Lions were still able to score six runs. Two triples highlighted the offensive production for New Deal.

BHS turned another double play in the top of the fifth when third-baseman Krystal Hobson snagged a line drive and then tagged a runner. New Deal scored three more runs, however, in the inning. Leading 26-5, the Coyotes would have oo score several runs to prevent the ten-run rule.

After two quick outs Richey tripled to give the Lady Coyotes something to cheer about. Shylo Rinehart, in her first at-bat of the game, walked to keep the rally alive. Before the final out was recorded Richey did score to make it a 26-5 final.

BHS has a doubleheader Saturday in Snyder against Seagraves. Both games are district contests

Coyote Sluggers Tame Lions Borden County Wins 9-8 Nailbiter

Lamesa Press-Reporter

Apparently, the Borden County Coyotes are quick learners when it comes to high school baseball.
The Coyote sluggers are off to a 10-5 start, including 4-1 in District 3-1A, following Wednesday evening's $9-8$ win over Roby at Spikes Field.
"Right now, the thing which we're probably the proudest of is the fact that we're not an easy out for people. They've got to come ready to play us," BC Coach Trey Richey said of his Coyotes, who have won four straight after their leagueopening loss.

At the same time, it's hard to get too excited knowing that we've been playing the bottom third of our district, as far as records are concerned. We can't get too high about anything yet, but a least we're seeing that we've got an opportunity."

With that, Richey is still proud of what he has been seeing in only the Coyotes' third year of high school baseball.
"For being in only our third year and to be 10-5 it 's pretty good, especially for some guys who don't even have their own baseball field We're talking about a lot of guys who haven't played anything since Little League, if any at all," Richey said of his Coyotes
"Being able to already win 10 games this year is a good accomplishment. It says a lot about our kids, especially as young as we are. Our two seniors have been stepping up, but outside of that we've been playing a lot of freshman and sophomores."
The Coyotes were originally scheduled to play Wednesday's game a t Roby, but due to wet grounds the two schools agreed to go ahead and play right here at Lamesa's Spikes Field.
"The last time we played there (Spike's) it was against Ira last year and that wasn't a good experience for us, so we're just glad that things went much better for us there this time," Richey said of Spikes Field.

A two-run sixth inning ended up being the difference for the Coyotes here at Spikes.
"Coming in, we felt like this was one of those games which we had to have. We know coming in that they (the Lions) were 0-3 (in district) but, at the same time, we also know that they were also much better than that," Richey said. "They've already played Hamlin twice and probably everybody in our district's going to end up getting beat by those guys.
"We feel like that third (play off) spot's wide open, so being able to get this one tonight helped us creep a little closer toward our dream of being in the playoffs."

Borden County also scored two runs in the second, one more in the fourth and four runs in the fifth

Roby scored two runs in the second, one more in both the third and fourth innings, three a good job of keeping batters in the fifth and one in the sixth. Coyote senior Quentin Shafer continues to be a force on the mound for the Coyotes. By striking out 11 batters here on Wednesday compared to walking only one and scattering five hits, Shafer is now 7-1 on the year.

Only two of Roby's eight runs on Wednesday were earned.
"Out of the 100 pitches which Quentin threw Wednesday, 70 were strikes," Richey said. "We really don't know a lot about this game yet, but one thing we do know is that you've got to be able to throw strikes. Quentin's been doing a good job for us in that area."
Shafer has been a fixture on the mound since day one the Coyotes' baseball program.
"He's pretty toughminded," Richey said of Shafer. "He's pitched for us for three years now. In fact, in our very first game that we played as a high school baseball team he was out on the mound for us back as a sophomore.
"He's not all that over-powering, but he knows how to spot his pitches. He also does ff balance."
Designated hitter Tony Soto led the Coyotes' attack at the plate here on Wednesday by going three-for-four with one RBI.
"You've got to feel pretty good when eight out of the 10 guys who swing a bat for you in a game get a hit," Richey said.

Miles Valentine went three-for-five with a double and also scored two runs.
Flynn Chapman continues to swing a hot bat in the Coy otes' line-up. Chapman, who's been a red-hot .700 on the year with already 33 RBIs, went two-for-three with a double one RBI and scored two runs.

Miller Valentine, Clay Harding and Michael Cooley each went two-for-four. Both of Miller's hits were doubles. He also drove in two RBIs and scored one run. One of Harding's hits was a double. He also drove in two RBIs. Cooley drove in one RBI and also scored one run.

Karl Lamming went two-for-five on the day with one double, scored two runs and also drove in one RBI

Quentin Shafer had one hit, scored on run and had one RBI.

The Coyotes continue their quest for one of 3-1A's three playoff spots at 6 p.m. Wednesday when they will take on the Ira Bulldogs at Snyder's Moffett Field.
"We're probably talking about the second best team in our district, so if we could steal one off these guys it could end up going a long ways in a lot of ways," Richey said.

The Coyote baseballers will turn around and take on Roby again next Saturday in a game scheduled for 6 p.m. at Snyder's Moffett Field.

Spring Must-Dos

Spring Must- Dos

Ready to tackle this year's big spring clean? By breaking down tasks day-by-day, in a week's time your home will be sparkling top-to-bottom.

Conquer your kitchen vertically. Chances are you've been cleaning your kitchen "horizontally" (the counters, that is) on a daily basis. Spring cleaning is the time to tackle the "vertica!!" You'll be surprised at how much cooking grease and grime have made it onto your walls. To get started, remove everything from the walls. If the paint is waterproof, spray an all purpose cleaner on the spots on the walls and wipe off with a slightly damp sponge or cloth. To reach high places, lightly apply the cleaner to a damp sponge mop. (If you are not sure about your wall finish, test the cleanser in an inconspicuous place first.) Include moldings, light-switch plates, doorknobs, backsplashes, etc. as part of your cleaning, and also look behind appliances, like the hand mixer and blender, to clean off goop that may have splashed on the wall. Non-waterproof walls may be dusted or vacuumed. To remove spot from nonwashable wallpaper, try a commercial putty cleaner, available at hardware stores. Follow the directions on the package, which usually suggest testing it in an inconspicuous place first Freshen up bedding. Start by imagining how cozy it would feel to sink into freshly washed linens. Strip your beds and launder all washables, including sheets, mattress pads, blankets and pillowcases. Pack and store your laundered heavy winter quilts in large resealable bags or storage bags. Pillows can be freshened up as well but check the label first. Some need to be dry-cleaned; others can be tossed in the dryer and tumble-dried on the air cycle. It's a good time to vacuum your mattresses and turn them if you have the type that should be turned annually.

Deep-clean carpets and rugs. Now's a great time to deep-clean carpets (do this at least once a year; more often if you suffer from allergies). Consider renting or buying a deep-cleaning machine (found at hardware or do-it-yourself stores), or hire a professional carpet cleaner. You can launder washable throw rugs (especially entryway rugs and bathroom rugs).

Prep those windows for sunshine. If your storm windows are removable, now's the time to remove them, but clean them before storing. To reduce streaking when cleaning windows, choose to tackle the job on a cloudy day or in a spot where the sun's rays aren't hitting the panes. Remember to rinse your screens and give them a good scrub before installing them. Check here for more detailed ways to clean your window panes without stressing out.
Rejuvenate draperies and blinds. Many of us used to take down my blinds to clean, but now you can save so much time by leaving them up and using multi-surface wipes, which you can just wrap around your hand. To reach the top slats, sometimes you have to stand on a secure ladder. Toss washable draperies into the washing machine or just tumble-dry on the air-dry cycle to freshen them.

Brush up on your reading. How long has it been since you actually looked at the books on your bookshelves? Surely there are plenty you don't plan on reading again. Take all the books off the shelves and fill a box to give away to a local literacy organization, school or library. And take this opportunity to give those bookshelves a good dusting and polishing.

Buff your floors. You may be cleaning your floors every week, but spring is the time to buff and shine them. Whether your floors are wood or ceramic tile, linoleum or sealed flagstone, properly cleaning your floors will extend their

The Girvin Social Club

Several years ago I inter- around. The huge Satellite TV viewed a man in Girvin who had a donkey that could do tricks. He could lie down, turn over, smile and nod his head.
The donkey was extremely talented. The man who owned the animal, Paul Zeitner, actually lived in Old Girvin, a nearby ghost town. He would play his harmonica and the donkey brayed in accompaniment. It was amazing.
Some years later I visited with Mildred Helmers, who owned the Girvin Social Club. It's a beer joint that serves ranchers, oil field workers and folks who erect wind turbines. Girvin is near the Pecos River between McCamey and Fort Stockton.

The Girvin Social Club is the only going business there since the post office closed some time ago. The beer joint was closed for a while. Jason Jones bought it two years ago. He says he got it primarily for his bride to be. He is in the electrical business.

You would not believe how busy that place gets. It is in a remote location, to say the least. Some people would say it is the middle of nowhere because there's not much within miles of it. But it's on US highway 385 , which carries a lot of traffic.

The Girvin Social Club is rustic. If it didn't have cars and pickups around it, you would swear the place had been abandoned. Inside, patrons put their names and clever sayings on the rafters and wall studs. There is a lot of old stuff looks out of place.
This is a drinking establishment. There is no food for sale. Occasionally Jason or some of his customers will broil steaks outside on a cooker. People make donations to cover the cost. The place has a jukebox and a pool table.

When a good danceable song comes on, people get up and dance and the pool game has to wait until the song finishes. It is a small place. Some folks play dominoes or cards. You can relax there.

Nobody is stressed out at the Girvin Social Club. It's open seven days a week.Jason sometimes entertains his customers with his singing and guitar playing. Occasionally a visiting DJ will drop in and play for a dance.

Saturday night it's standing room only. A few dogs, goats and donkeys roam the premises just outside the door.

The place has lots of character. "We get all kinds of folks in here," says Jason."The first timers always say they'll come back because they feel so comfortable here. Most of them do, if they live within a reasonable distance." Every once in awhile someone will drink too much.

If they live in McCamey, 11miles away, or on a nearby ranch, Jason or somebody from the club will take them home."We're wanting to build an RV Park so people can stay overnight," says Jason. "We might even make a resort out of this place.'

"It will," she answered, "ifyou get the first one right."
He did, and all was well.
Do you want to succeed in life? Start right with these two buttons. Our Lord said, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like unto it. Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."
Fasten these two buttons correctly, and you'll go from victory to victory.

Get Together and Enjoy the Food, Fun and Festivities

Spring is a time for celebration and the season stars one of the Lone Star State's biggest bashes-Fiesta San Antonio.

This grand 117-year-old event offers more than 100 activities during 10 days, April 18-27, in a citywide celebration of the wide diversity and multicultural history of San Antonio. Prepare to feast on a variety of foods and enjoy the parades, pageantry, parties, and, even, pin atas. Consider picking up some cascarones and joining in the fun.

The festivities don't end there because more than 1,400 events are scheduled this spring. There are plenty festivals, parades, birding events, rodeos, cook-offs, market days, theatrical performances, museum exhibitions and more where visitors can experience the enjoyment this stat has to offer. The season also brings St. Patrick's Day, Easter, Earth Day and Cinco de Mayo. The Spring 2008 Texas Event s Calendar provides a guide to what is happening in March, April and May.

This celebratory season kicks off on the first weekend of March with a salute to the state for Texas Independence Day. Travelers can learn some history, listen to fabulous music, enjoy a cook-off along with a car show and motorcycle rally, and step back in time to see what life was like in the early 1800s at respective events in Edna, Luckenbach, San Angelo and Washington. Huntsville combines its freedom celebration with General Sam Houston's Birthday.

And, the revelry continues. Visitors to Granbury can enjoy General

Granbury's $30^{\text {th }}$ Annual Birthday Celebration March 29-30 with a cook-off, parade, carnival, Outrageous Outhouse Race, children's games and more. And, the fun continues on through Memorial Day and into the last weekend of May with the $77^{\text {th }}$ Old Fiddlers Reunion \& Contest in Athens and the $15^{\text {th }}$ Annual Dog Days of Denton.
