BRACKETTVILLE TEXAS, FRIDAY FEBRUARY 13 1953

NO. 45

Internal Revenue Service

AUSTIN, TEXAS, February 2, 1953. — Director of Internal Revenue R. L. Phinney today supplied the following information to help self-employed persons in preparing their 1952 income tax returns.

person subject to self-employment tax is one who derives income during the taxable year from a trade or business carried on by him, or from a partnership of which he is a member. Self-employment tax is computed and reported on the annual income tax return.

Phinney explained further that net earnings from self-employment are taxed at the rate of 2 1/4 per cent, provided such earnings amount to as much as $400 or more, and only a maximum of $3600 of such earnings are annually subject to the tax for any individual.

If an individual works for an employer who is required to make payments under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act, and also has a small business on the side, his salary is used first to build toward the $3600 maximum and only enough of his self-employment income is used to complete the $3600.

Phinney pointed out that although no specific class of individuals is exempt — as they may be engaged in taxable enterprises aside from their regular professions — it can be said that income from performance of services in their professions by farmers, ministers, or public officials and employees is exempt from self-employment tax.

In addition, income from operation of rooming houses, tourist courts, boarding houses, etc., where maid service is rendered in space occupied by the tenant, constitutes self-employment income. However, rent income from single-family dwellings, duplexes, and apartment houses is not considered self-employment income unless the person is a real estate dealer. Furnishing utilities, janitor service for entrances, stairways, halls, etc., is not considered as being furnished in the space occupied by the tenant.

Phinney also stressed the treatment of net earnings from self-employment under the Community Property Laws of Texas. For income tax purposes, the total income of husband and wife is divided equally and so taxed to each spouse. However, for self-employment tax, if a husband and wife operate separate businesses, each prepares a Schedule C and computes his self-employment tax on his own earnings. If both husband and wife work in and operate the same business, unless it can be shown that the wife exercises substantially all the management and control of the business, then the husband only is subject to self-employment tax.

For additional information, taxpayers are invited to call at the local Internal Revenue Office, where individual attention can be given their problems.

News Briefs

Pocket money currency and coin adds up to only about one-fifth of our total money supply. Checkbook money, represented by demand deposits in commercial banks, constitutes the major portion, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Steady employment can save up to $41 per $1,000 of payroll in some States, while layoff of a single employee may cost from $900 to $1200 in unemployment compensation, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States reports. The Chamber supports steady jobs and steady production.

New Highway Map Released

Austin, Texas, Feb. 3.—Texas chalked up another "first" today when the 1953 Texas Official Highway Map was released, D. C. Greer, State Highway Engineer, announced.

The new map, featuring "A Look at Texas" theme, is a 100 per cent Texas product. Wood pulp for the paper was grown in East Texas. The paper was made near Houston and the plates and printing were done in Austin.

An encyclopedia of Texas information in itself, the map side provides current and accurate highway information, while the back side has pictures and information on points of interest.

Locations of roadside parks, national and state parks, national forests, mountainous areas, lakes and streams, along with other information that will add to the safety, comfort, and pleasure of the traveling public are shown. There are 1,304 cities and towns listed with a cross-section of altitudes given. Thirteen enlarged city insets are provided for the convenience of motorists traveling through these major metropolitan areas. Distances are indicated between all points and a special mileage index chart reflects the accumulated official mileage between principal points.

For "A Look at Texas," the back side offers in color some of the outstanding vacation spots. Fishing, horseback riding, picnicking, sailing, and cattle branding scenes suggest places to "go."

Greer announced that the new map is available to the general public for the asking. For the convenience of the public, a special addressed card is available in the County Tax Collector's office upon the registration of your automobile. These map cards are also available free of charge at any Texas Highway Department District office, Travel Information Bureau, or by writing direct to the Texas Highway Department, Austin 14, Texas, Greer concluded.

Heavy Fines Mark Report

AUSTIN, Jan. 29.—The Director of Law Enforcement for the Game and Fish Commission said the monthly arrest report includes several cases where courts severely punished game law violators.

He cited the cases of a San Antonio man who was fined $200 for headlighting and $200 for killing an illegal buck, plus costs.

A Dallas man was fined $100 for killing a wild turkey hen, and $50 for killing a wild turkey during closed season and $50 for hunting from an automobile, all plus costs.

A San Saba man was fined $100 for hunting at night and $200 for hunting after forfeiture of his license, plus costs.

Most of the 99 trespassing cases listed brought light fines, many being $1, but where trespassing involved game law violations, penalties were higher.

For example, according to the Director, an Abilene man was fined $100 for hunting from an automobile and $100 for trespassing. A San Angelo man was fined $100 for shooting a female deer and $100 for trespassing.

The report covered the last phase of the big game and waterfowl seasons and included such as: 29 cases for killing spike buck deer, 28 for killing doe deer and four for killing fawn deer. It included 50 cases of killing ducks after hours, 20 cases of killing geese after hours, 16 cases of exceeding bag limit on ducks and 11 for exceeding the bag limit on geese.

The Director said a flagrant case involving shooting mourning doves out of season cost a San Angelo man $200 plus costs, while a Houston man paid $100 and costs for buying quail.

The 563 cases netted $18,532 in fines and costs compared with $14,068.45 for December, 1951, and $11,581.44 for last month.

Scribe Fears No Platoons

AUSTIN, Jan. 29. — An Austin sports writer suggested a new angle to the furor over recent football rule changes voted by the NCAA.

In his sports page column, Buster Haas wrote in the Austin American under the heading: "NO PLATOON SYSTEM?"

"The prolonged hubbub about the long lost two-platoon system might yield to some haranguing about the grim spectre of the no-platoon system.

"While the two-platoon proponents point to the surplus of burly boys somebody ought to speak up for the deadly trend in manpower loss because of polio.

"This sinister disease has surged into the adult ranks in recent years. Football players have become prime targets. As Texans know, entire teams have been exposed, as were the North Carolina Tarheels the week after they played the Longhorns last fall.

"If the 1952 penetration should spread, the blow to athletics could be calamitous. We do know that the strong are vulnerable to this crippling ailment. We also know that the only hope is research into cure and prevention.

"These studies require great sums of money. This money has not been available from Texas which for years has exhausted all available funds for polio patient care alone.

"So, you sports, before we run head on into a no-platoon crisis, let's dig deep for the 1953 March of Dimes. Run this paralyzing deadhead clear off the field of play."

Statement From O. P. S.

Pressures for higher ceiling prices are strong in many consumer fields, San Antonio district O.P.S. officials said today.

This is especially true in a number of retail services, O.P.S. said.

In addition, major food products are selling at or near ceiling prices, a recent survey by O.P.S. disclosed.

In the industrial field, prices for machinery and related materials are pressing ceilings, officials said.

Meanwhile, several more items have been removed from price controls because they were selling substantially below maximum legal prices.

These suspended items include toys and games, and soft-surface floor coverings. Their removal from price control became effective January 29, 1953.

For detailed information about government pricing regulations, businessmen and others are invited to contact the San Antonio district O.P.S. office, 229 West Nueva Street.

MENTAL

MEANDERINGS

There seems to be some reason for optimism that General or rather President Eisenhower might have some scheme up his sleeve that might, even if it didn't stop, change the aspects of the Korean war to such an extent that the Reds, Chinese and otherwise, might not have it all their own way. That the Reds might be placed in an unenviable position that could possibly ease their pressure and interest in Korea itself and make them grow weary of war. Calling off the U. S. fleet from raids on the mainland, possibly a partial blockade, a more stern attitude toward those so-called friendly allies and neutrals, and other ideas and methods which, calling for sterner measures, will bring pressure on the Chinese Reds and their masters, the Russians. They only know and fear power and could be given quite a lot of this sort of lesson.

Valentine day, February 14th. This is the day of sweethearts, or so it has been decreed for ages. From the fanciful and methodical customs of yesterday, to the fancy, lacy items of the gay nineties, and the more modern romancing, Valentine da yhas kept going; probably will as long as there are young couples in it. The Valentine card has changed a lot since our early days; from frills, and lace, and sentiment, to so-called humorous and semi-sentimental gadgets and cards and cadies of today. We recall one of our own gang who used to be a whiz at conking up items like this. His own creations, sometimes startling, humorous, tender (maybe that's an error of judgment), they really were works of art. Just like his bouquet of sweetheart geraniums (a tiny flower of white with a red heart in it), flowers with names on them, etc. Hot ziggidy zog — remember those old stamp, eye, glove, parasol, etc. flirtations, those hollow oak notes—well, begorra, we nearly got goin' again.

The sniping has already started. The new President having just begun his first few days at the helm of the ship of state, is being beset by those who might fancy themselves as constructionists in their criticism of the ones in power, but who, for having begun their target practice before there was anything really to criticize, are to be seen merely as obstructionists. There are many who like to criticize, not merely because of an impelled duty, but from a sense of inferiority which leads them to try to tear down what others are trying to build. But we are all glad that we have plenty more men and women in this America who are sporting enough and like fair play so much that they are willing to give a guy a chance to see what he can do.

The blunder, either in reporting or in planning, which took place in Korea wherein UN forces were sent against the Red enemy and driven back with losses while correspondents and others viewed from box seats and had programs, kids fair to stick around for a while. It is possible that militarily it has been done before and that the brass hats considered it OK so far as strategy is concerned. But for some to have watched in a safe, grandstand seat while others were sent into battle did not stick well with many of the American people. The one who let the story out might not have done wrong, but he certainly stirred up a hornet's nest back home.

Spring is coming, and soon will be here. At least we all hope so, and we noticed that many of our neighbors in the community also have the same idea. We see signs of planting, of watering lawns, of grass greening, of cleaning up yards, hauling black dirt, new garden tools, etc. So far as we are concerned, we like spring but can't go all out and say we like our "hot" summers altogether. But "then" we are not one of those who likes to tell Nature what to do.

While on the subject of taxes, and don't think there aren't any of us who are not thinking, or mulling over this subject, along with our troubles and the income tax which is now soon due on us all, it was a bit heartening to even hear that anyone was interested in cutting them. All we had heard, up to now was just promises that "one of these days" the taxes would be cut and "maybe" taxes cut some. But as long as we have the big federal payroll, here and abroad, huge government expenditures for non-defense work, and such, there would and will be little likelihood that we will ever get out of the red. We are all trying to get along, even if we can't any longer get ahead, and will certainly appreciate in a highly material way any such favor thrown our way. Especially after what we are all—most of us at any rate—going through before March 15th.

We are now well into February, the second, and shortest, month of the year. It has two big holidays in it, too, which helps break the monotony and, perhaps ironically, swell the traffic fatalities. But somehow, with January and its December bills out of the way, we all sort of feel that we have finally got rid of 1942, even if its effects are still with us.

The flu has just about spent its course, though there are still a number of cases. A very fortunate few did not get a full touch of the intruder, but many were felled for a while by its attack. Never did try to figure out how much was spent for pills, aspirin, lemons, etc. during the attack but it was plenty.

Reading the other night on how to stimulate "flying saucers" right in your own home. Well, we figured we'd give 'em a whirl, and danged if we didn't come up with an illusion that might have been one of them things if we hadn't been expecting something like it. But there is still a question as to what many persons have seen out in the open and under different conditions and that which is seen under exact conditions in the home. We have never as yet seen a flying saucer, nor talked with one who has, but we always keep our fingers crossed. If we saw one we'd probably be like the pup which was chasing a train, and whose action a native wondered at: "Now," that person asked aloud, "what would that pup do with the train if he had a caught it?"

Less Poll Taxes Paid

The total number of paid poll taxes for 1953 which were paid up to the end of January, 1953; was 482.

This number does not include the exemptions and covers and under, the total of which is not complete as yet.

This being an off election year there is very little to attract the attention of the voter though as usual we have a school and city election. There may be some amendments to the state constitution to be voted upon later.

Don't Interfer With Fire Trucks

Something must, and will, be done soon to discourage the persons who follow the fire trucks to fires in their cars and impede the work of the firemen in fighting fires. This was the general attitude of the firemen at their recent meeting Tuesday of last week.

At a recent alarm, when the trucks went to fight a grass fire they were followed as usual by a large number of people in cars and trucks and were prevented at one time and place from turning around the truck because of the cars parked around the area. Included in the group was one large gasoline truck from Del Rio which likewise was in the middle of the congestion of the fire.

It is against the law to chase or follow the fire trucks, obstruct their work, run over the fire hose or in any way endanger life and property. So, a warning is being given to all concerned.

From State Health Officer

AUSTIN, TEXAS, JAN. 15—To assure good health for children, special attention should be paid to the school lunch, declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. If good nutrition is obtained the diet must include meat, milk, butter, fruit, vegetables, and whole grain and enriched cereals in proper quantities.

Inadequate lunches can deprive children of the nutrition necessary for good health and intelligent work at school. A sandwich and a soft drink are not sufficient even though the child may have a good breakfast and evening meal.

A child's lunch should provide at least one third of the daily food requirements. Whether eaten at home or at school, it should include one half pint of milk, a substantial protein food as meat, egg, cheese or peanut butter sandwich, a vegetable for fruit or both and whole grain or enriched bread with butter. While some hot food is desirable, well planned cold lunches can be both appetizing and nutritious.

In addition to being nutritious and palatable, food should be safe. Food from unsafe sources or prepared under insanitary conditions may result in illness. Milk should be pasteurized. Attention should be paid to the selection of wholesome meat, poultry, vegetables and other foods. It is also important that perishable foods prepared and stored in school kitchens be properly refrigerated.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Just a Little "Outdated"

Back in December we sent out our yearly calendar. It listed the last date for renewing drivers' licenses, and things like the dates for registering to vote, when the hunting and fishing seasons open—even suggested you note down the wife's birthday, too.

I figured dates like these were important to keep in mind—and this was a good way to do it. Unfortunately, it now turns out I never really paid close attention to my own calendar!

Not 'til today that is—so here I am not able to drive the car this weekend until I get my driver's license renewed on Monday!

From where I sit, I guess good advice, like charity, should begin at home. I'm always advising all of you to worry less about your neighbors (what they do, or say, and whether or not they should enjoy a temperate glass of beer) and pay more attention to whether you yourself are doing the right thing. Guess I'll "make a note" to follow my own formula!

Thousands of other South Texas homemakers are cooking the modern, easy way with electricity. Ask your dealer to show you an automatic electric range for your kitchen. Whatever make you choose, make sure it's electric.

"The time clock I punch is on my electric range. Every minute counts when you work in an office and keep house for a husband and son. And my electric range really helps me do both jobs. I go home at noon, put our whole evening meal in my electric range oven, set the time and temperature clock, then I'm off to work again. Our dinner is cooked and ready when we all get home in the evening. My electric range is working for me twenty-four hours a day. At night, I plug the percolator in the timed outlet on the range; in the morning electricity starts it perking and has it ready for our breakfast. I also do a lot of baking at night and on week-ends. Besides saving so much time, my electric range helps me to have better meals, and I've found my kitchen stays cool in hot weather. We've only had our electric range nine months, but I know right now, I couldn't do without it."

Col. Sam White Named District Cancer Director

AUSTIN (Special) — Colonel Samuel White of San Antonio, retired Army man and transplanted Virginian, has been named a lay director for District 5 of the Texas Division, American Cancer Society.

His selection was announced by Travis T. Wallace of Dallas, president of the Texas Division of the Society.

Col. White will assume the leadership of the April Cancer Crusade in the 23 counties surrounding San Antonio, comprising District 5. His appointment is also for year-round direction of ACS activity in this area, working with Dr. Joel L. Cochran of San Antonio, district medical director.

Commenting on the organizational work to be done before the Cancer Crusade begins, April 1, Col. White said the greatest single need is more people who are willing to give time and effort to ACS activities.

"Organization is the 1953 challenge of our Society," he said. "We must enlist more people to solicit funds and carry on the educational and service work that can save lives.

"In 1951, the last year figures are available, 8,405 Texas citizens died of cancer. In the counties of our own District 5, 876 persons died of the disease. We must do more than we have in the past to reduce these appalling totals," he added.

Col. White urged persons wishing to volunteer their services to contact the American Cancer Society committee in their county. Where vacancies exist, appointment of additional committee members will be made shortly, he said.

Veterans Questions And Their Answers

Q.—I have a chance to get an Atomic Energy Commission fellowship at a university. Would I also be eligible for monthly education allowances under the Korean GI Bill?

A.—No. The law prohibits VA from paying the allowances to veterans whose education is paid for completely by the U. S. Government. Your AEC fellowship would come under this category.

Q.—I'm a World War II veteran and I've just finished training as an accountant under the old GI Bill. Now I'd like to take CPA coaching course, since I have some GI entitlement remaining. Could I do it?

A.—No. VA's post-cut-off-date regulations allow you to take advanced training only when it's a normal progression from your basic course. Review or coaching courses — such as the CPA coaching course — do not represent an advancement to a higher level of knowledge, and therefore may not be taken after you've completed your basic course.

A good idea or ideas are of no value to anyone if they are not put to use or made public so some one who can, might use it.

Our propagandists missed a good bet there, by not blaming the flu epidemic on "germ warfare" by the bloomin' Reds.
