Trying to be cool fails

A man sought in a Longview, Wash., bank robbery apparently tried to play it cool by kicking back and sipping a cold one. It didn't work.

Shortly after hearing that the bank, less than 100 yards from the Longview Police Station, had been robbed, Sgt. Ed Jones looked out his second-story window.

He saw a man matching the description of the suspect sitting on a bench and drinking a beer he had purchased at a nearby convenience store after the robbery.

Jones walked across the street and arrested him. "He was pretty blasé about the whole thing," Jones said of Edmond Alexander.

Got laptop?

Denver International Airport is milking this one for all it's worth.

Travelers passing through security at the airport have forgotten so many laptops in the rush to make their flights that officials have borrowed a page from the catchy "Got milk?" ad campaign.

Passengers now are being greeted with "Got laptop?" signs as they pass through metal detectors on the way to the airport's three concourses.

"If you don't understand the sign, it doesn't relate to you," airport spokesman Steve Snyder said.

Up to a dozen laptop computers have been left behind each day since Sept. 11, as passengers scurry to make their flights after waiting up to three hours to clear security.

Tovar and company dismantle Dimmitt

By DELTON WILHITE
Journal correspondent

DIMMITT — The Mules went to Dimmitt on Friday night to clinch their third playoff berth in three years, and were not disappointed.

They outscored the Bobcats 43-20, with Jesús Tovar carrying .18 times for 188 yards and Lincoln Riley throwing three touchdown passes to Kyle Atwood and a fourth to Daniel Campolla.

The biggest Mule of all, David Burciaga, got in on the scoring act when Tovar was stripped of the ball on the Dimmitt one-yard line and Burciaga recovered in the end zone to put the Mules up 16-0 in the first period.

About his first touchdown, Burciaga said, "It feels great. I've been dreaming about this a lot. It was like a first date!"

Muleshoe rushed 34 times for 239 yards and completed 10 of 20 passes for 180 yards, for a total of 419 yards.

Dimmitt gained 198 yards on 38 rushes and were eight of 23 passes for 142 yards, giving them a total of 340 yards of total offense. Much of the Bobcat offense came in the second half.

Riley, on the fourth play of the game, went 22 yards for the Mules' first tally and Atwood connected with Campolla on the two-point conversion. Atwood caught his first touchdown pass late in the first period and grabbed two more in the third quarter.

Campolla's touchdown came with three minutes remaining in the first half when Riley rolled right and hit Campolla in stride on the Bobcat 20. The Mules led at half 30-12.

"They (Dimmitt) are very athletic kids," Mule defensive coordinator Eddie Kilmer said. "We just felt like our kids would be more excited and be more ready to play and had something to play for."

"We worked the JV kids all week preparing them for getting in this game. We were thrilled with those kids — the way they concentrated and you could tell when they came in the game, they were ready to play."

Coach David Wood left immediately after the game to arrange the Mules' first playoff game. Lubbock Cooper defeated Littlefield to do away with the three-way tie for the district championship, so the first playoff round will not follow the expected scenario.

Cheerleaders Suzanne Messenger, Summer Daniel and Ashley May chant during Friday afternoon's Mule sendoff before the team left for Dimmitt.

Bailey County voters dump three amendments

JOURNAL STAFF REPORT

Bailey County voters favored most of the 19 proposed constitutional amendments on the ballot Tuesday but turned thumbs down on propositions 2, 3 and 8, according to figures from County Clerk Sherri Harrison's office.

Two of those measures are aimed at improving the state's infrastructure and the third allows an ad valorem tax exemption for certain business interests, similar to what already exists for similar businesses.

All the amendments were approved in statewide totals.

No. 8, which passed overwhelmingly across the state, authorizes the issuance of up to $850 million in bonds payable from the state's general revenues for construction and repair projects.

The measure failed in Bailey County by the thinnest of margins, 99-98. The state total was 507,956 for and 304,868 against — or a 62.5 percent approval.

The county's biggest margin of defeat went to Prop. 2, which will fund the building of roads in communities along the state's Mexican border. That failed 110-89 in Bailey County but was approved statewide by 61.4 percent to 38.6 percent.

The other local defeat was handed to a proposition that exempts from ad valorem taxes the raw cocoa and green coffee held temporarily in Harris County ports.

The usually pro-business county voters vetoed that idea 100 to 90. Statewide, the margin on Prop. 3 was smaller than that on most of the measures, 51.9 to 48.1 percent.

The biggest winning margin in Bailey County went to Prop. 13, which allows historical school properties to be donated to preservation groups.

That measure passed locally by 150-47, more than 3-to-1.

The second-biggest local margin favored uniformity in the processing of civil and criminal fees (Prop. 18), which was approved in the county by a 142-50 vote, nearly 3-to-1.

Both 13 and 18 passed statewide by 4-to-1 margins.

Other big local votes for approval supported Prop. 9 (cancelling elections for vacant legislative seats if only one person is running) by 131-65, Prop. 4 (allowing a four-year term for the firefighters' pension commissioner) by 134-62, Prop. 7 (allowing the sale of bonds for veterans' cemeteries) by 129-67 and Prop. 1 (resolving land ownership disputes in Bastrop County) by 133-63.

Harrison said 202 Bailey County voters cast ballots this time, compared to 244 the last time the state voted on constitutional amendments.

Christmas events taking shape in Muleshoe

Plans are being made to continue two local Christmas traditions — the parade sponsored by the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and the Old-Fashioned Christmas Open House at the Heritage Center.

The events are scheduled for Dec. 8, with the open house (6:30 p.m.) after the parade.

Three Way poll favors Sudan

JOURNAL STAFF REPORT

The Three Way School Board met Thursday night and reviewed results of the mail-in straw poll on which district voters prefer to absorb Three Way.

Superintendent Thomas Alvis said 140 questionnaires were sent to the district's voters and parents, with 93 percent of them being returned.

Fifty-seven percent of the total indicated they prefer Sudan, while 59 percent of the district's parents picked Sudan.

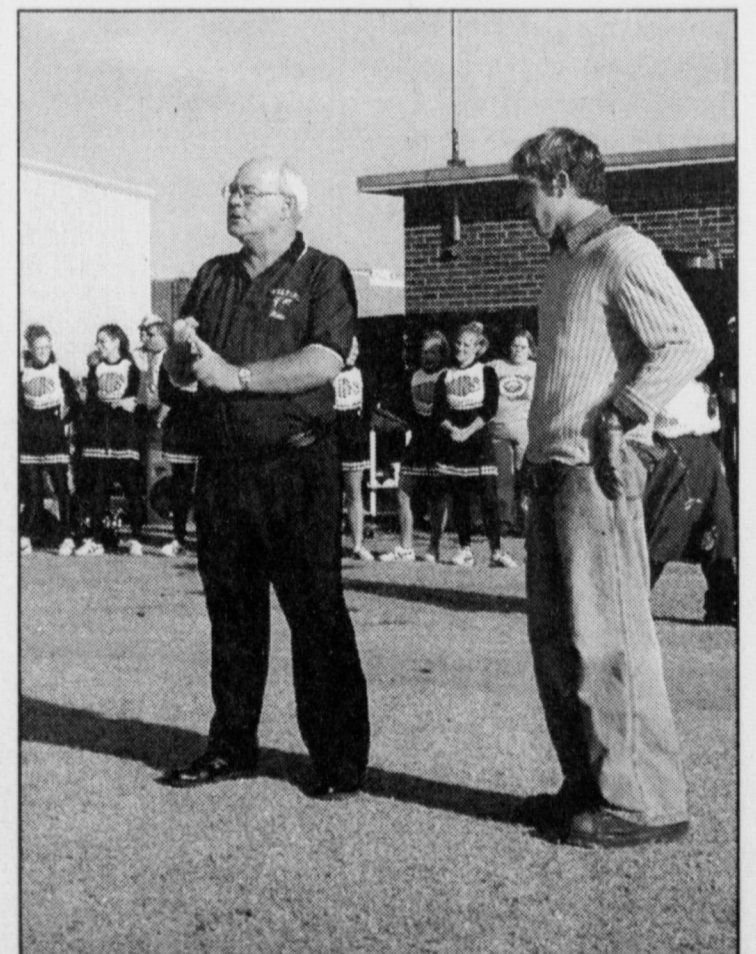

This was not an unexpected result, given the much lower tax assessments in the Lamb County Assessment District as aired at a recent public meeting at Three Way.

The Three Way board will meet again with the Sudan board, probably within the next two weeks, to work out details of transportation, valedictorian selection and building upkeep, Alvis said.

After that, an election date will be scheduled so that voters in both districts can vote yes or no on consolidation.

Other than those respondents who voted for Sudan, Alvis said the remaining responses were about evenly divided between Muleshoe and Morton.

The Three Way board previously met with all three boards to discuss the possibility of consolidation.

bipartisan leadership in advancing the cause of a new farm bill this year," the Texans said in a press release.

"Senators have obviously been listening to America's farmers and ranchers because the bill they introduce today is what the farmers and ranchers from every region of the country have been asking for," they said.

"Like the House-passed Farm Security Act, the Lincoln-Hutchinson bill not only provides for a strong safety net, but it maintains planting flexibility and avoids harmful market distortions — two important considerations sacrificed under other farm bill proposals.

"Also like the House-passed bill, the Lincoln-Hutchinson bill complies with our World Trade Organization commitments and with the budget resolution passed by Congress while increasing investment in conservation programs to the highest levels ever."

For Christians, Forgiving Is Never Optional

The Apostle Peter once came to Jesus with a question: "Lord, how often do I have to forgive?" (Luke 18:21).

"Lord," he seems to be saying, "I'm a reasonable man. I want to do the right thing. If my brother keeps sinning against me, how many times do I let it go by? Maybe, say, seven times?"

It seemed reasonable. It seemed fair to Peter. To be honest, it seems fair to most of us. But you know how Jesus answered: "No, not seven times, but seventy times seven." There is no limit to forgiveness, Christ is saying. You must forgive your brother times without number!

Remember the king's reaction to this injustice? He is absolutely furious. He immediately reinstates the wicked man's debt and sends him to prison until he can pay the entire amount.

Jesus makes the point clearly: "That is how my Father in heaven will treat every one of you unless you forgive your brother from your heart" (Luke 18:35).

Our Lord's words are as true today as they were when he first spoke them. Forgiveness is not an optional item in Christianity. To say, "Dear Lord, I need your help to even want to try to forgive" may be absolutely honest and realistic. To say, "Lord, I'll forgive when that person acknowledges wrong, asks for it, deserves it," is just another way of saying, "Lord, I refuse to forgive."

If we would receive forgiveness, we must be forgiving people.

Curis Shelburne is minister of the 16th & D Church of Christ in Muleshoe.

But still Jesus speaks clearly: "Forgive." He never says that it's easy or simple. He just says that it is absolutely necessary.

To help us understand, Jesus does what he does so well. He tells a story. You may remember the tale. It's honest, it seems fair to most of us. But you know how Jesus answered: "No, not seven times, but seventy times seven." There is no limit to forgiveness, Christ is saying. You must forgive your brother times without number!

Remember the king's reaction to this injustice? He is absolutely furious. He immediately reinstates the wicked man's debt and sends him to prison until he can pay the entire amount.

Freshmen squash Dimmitt 31-8

By DELTON WILHITE
Journal correspondent

The freshman Mules all but shut down Dimmitt's offense Thursday night. The Mules allowed the Bobcats only seven first downs — two in the first half and five in the second — as Muleshoe won 31-8.

The second-half first downs came on Dimmitt's only scoring drive of the game, culminating with only 36 seconds left in the third period and cutting the Mule lead to 18-8.

The Mules kicked off to start the game, and Dimmitt returned the ball to its own 32. Juan Nuñez, Josh Shelburne and Jorge Mendoza made stops on the first three downs to leave the 'Cat a yard short and facing fourth down. The Dimmitt running back slammed into the center of the line, but the Mule defense did not budge. The Mules took over on downs on the Dimmitt 42.

Muleshoe marched from the Dimmitt 42 to the nine-yard line. After almost stalling, Danny Bonilla went the final nine yards on a draw play with less than three minutes left in the first period. The Mules led 6-0.

The Mules stopped Dimmitt's next series on the Bobcat 46, but the Mules fumbled on their first play. Again the defense held their opponents to almost no yardage. Francisco Vidaña, Raul Muñiz and Kory Atwood provided key stops. In four plays, Bonilla and Muñiz moved the Mules from their 17 to Dimmitt's 47. Bonilla, on a delay draw, scrambled 47 yards for his second TD to give the Mules a 12-0 halftime lead.

Dimmitt kicked off to start the second half and Erik Newton returned the kick from the Mule 20 to the 39. Bonilla and Muñiz moved the Mules across midfield to the Bobcat 40. Bonilla went the final 40 yards on the hammer for an 18-0 Mule lead.

Dimmitt's only score came on a one-yard plunge that capped a 15-play, 63-yard drive. The two-point conversion trimmed the Mule lead to 18-8.

Three plays into the third frame, Vidaña went 32 yards on the hammer. Tyler Wood and Joel Salcido had connected to move the Mules to the Bobcat 32 and set the table for Vidaña. Derek Purdy split the up-rights on the conversion kick and gave the Mules a 25-8 advantage.

Wood scored the Mules' final TD on a two-yard quarterback draw midway through the third period.

The freshmen compiled their best record since starting football in the seventh grade, finishing 7-3 overall and 3-1 in district.

Their only district loss was to Lubbock Cooper. (Lubbock Roosevelt did not have a freshman team.)

Nasal flu vaccine being tested in Texas

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL
HOUSTON — A nasal spray flu vaccine has shown to be a safe and effective means of protecting against the influenza virus in children, according to an ongoing study.

Researchers have begun the fourth year of a six-year nasal-flu vaccine study in Temple, Texas, that will immunize 15,000 children.

After vaccination, the illness rates are compared to those in surrounding areas, including Bryan-College Station, Austin and Waco. Findings show vaccine recipients had no increased risk for getting any acute respiratory illness in the first two weeks after vaccination.

The pivotal trial in preschool children found the vaccine to be 91 percent effective in preventing culture-positive illness, and this data still stands. In school-age children, the vaccine is showing 75 to 85 percent protection against influenza.

"We are giving the vaccine at a time when several other respiratory viruses are circulating," said Dr. William P. Glezen, a professor in the department of molecular virology and microbiology at Baylor.

Temple residents between the ages of 18 months and 18 years were vaccinated over a period of three to four months, with the dosing evenly distributed.

Medical records of the Temple children were examined in order for researchers to better understand individual illness experiences. Children with severe asthma were excluded; however, children with mild intermittent asthma could participate.

"Children who had a history of mild asthma were no more likely to have wheezing, bronchitis, pneumonia or any other respiratory illness in the 14-day follow-up prior to vaccine or in the period less than 15 days after the vaccine," Glezen said.

Flu season runs from November to March, so experts advise shots now, particularly for those in high-risk categories — people over age 65, people with heart and lung disease, kidney failure, AIDS, cancer, health-care workers and children on long-term aspirin treatment.

The nasal spray is known as FluMist.

Amherst Bulldogs shoot down Three Way Eagles

By DELTON WILHITE
Journal correspondent

AMHERST — With 17 seconds remaining in the third period Nov. 2, Three Way's Robert Rodríguez went around right end to cut the Amherst Bulldogs' lead to two points and give his team a shot to knot the game for the third time.

The conversion kick failed, and the Bulldogs put up 23 unanswered points in the final quarter to ground the Eagles 51-26.

Rodríguez rushed for three TDs and passed for a fourth to keep the Eagles close as long as he could.

Three Way struck paydirt first with six minutes gone in the first frame, taking a 6-0 lead. Rodríguez took a pitch from Chris Kindle, rolled to his right and threw back across the field to Kindle for the 22-yard scoring strike.

Amherst matched the Eagles with six points of their own three seconds into the second period. Jackie Johnson plunged in from a yard out to cap a 45-yard drive.

Rodríguez untied the game with an 11-yard run and Antonio Jasso carried three yards for the one-point conversion. The Eagles were up 13-6 with 4:23 left before intermission.

But then Johnson found Marcus McLaughlin open in the Eagle end zone and Rowdy Shelley split the uprights to give the Bulldogs a 14-13 at halftime.

After returning the Eagles' second-half kickoff to their 34, McLaughlin raced 46 yards to paydirt on the Bulldogs' first play of the second half. The ensuing Bulldog kick went out of bounds.

The Eagles tied the game at 20-20 when Rodríguez went up the middle with 8:03 remaining in the third frame and Rhett Richardson tossed to Ivan Navarro for the one-point conversion.

Amherst answered two and half minutes deeper into the third frame when Ross Harmon connected with McLaughlin for the latter's third of four TDs on the night. The pass went 17 yards and Shelley's kick was good to put the 'Dogs up 28-20.

Amherst recovered the on-side kick but could not move the ball and was forced to punt. The Eagles took over on their 14, and Rodríguez completed his second pass to Anthony Furgeson for a gain of 30 yards.

Kindle connected with Jasso for 15 yards and Rodríguez went the final four to draw the Eagles to 28-26 with only seconds remaining in the quarter.

The Bulldogs took over in the final period, scoring from three, 10 and 56 yards to take the game away from the Eagles. McLaughlin ran for two TDs, caught two scoring passes and threw for a fifth.

Rodríguez rushed for 102 yards on 19 carries, caught three passes for 45 yards, completed two-of-four passes for 52 yards and had two passes intercepted. Kindle completed seven-of-14 passes for 117 yards. Furgeson caught two passes for 59 yards and Jasso grabbed two passes for 31 yards.

The Eagles' final home appearance was scheduled for Friday against the Cotton Center Elks.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

A BIBLICAL HATCHET-MAN!

ONE OF THE MOST LOYAL AND INTENSE FOLLOWERS OF KING DAVID WAS BENAIAH, THE SON OF THE CHIEF PRIEST JEHOIADA! (II SAM. 23:20) BENAIAH WAS A MAN FAMOUS FOR HIS VALIANT DEEDS! HE WAS CELEBRATED FOR HAVING SLAIN TWO LION-LIKE WARRIORS OF MOAB AND, ON ANOTHER OCCASION, DESCENDED INTO A PIT, IN THE DEAD OF WINTER, TO KILL AN ACTUAL LION! ON ANOTHER DAY, WHEN ARMED ONLY WITH A WOODEN STAFF, HE MET A GIANT EGYPTIAN IN BATTLE, WRESTLED THE MAN'S SPEAR FROM HIM AND KILLED HIM WITH HIS OWN WEAPON! (II SAM. 23:20, 21) HE WAS IN CHARGE OF KING DAVID'S PERSONAL BODYGUARD AND ALSO COMMANDED THE MILITARY DIVISION FOR THE 3RD MONTH (I CHRON. 27:5, 6) SO DEPENDABLE WAS HE, THAT HE ALSO WAS USED--WHEN IT WAS NECESSARY TO HAVE SOME POLITICAL MURDERS TAKEN CARE OF--HE EXECUTED, BY THE ORDER OF KING SOLOMON, THE ELDER...

...BROTHER OF SOLOMON, ADONIJAH (I KINGS 2:25) JOAB (VS. 29-34), AND SHIMEI (VS. 46). THE EXECUTION OF JOAB LEFT THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF THE MILITARY VACANT SO BENAIAH WAS PROMOTED TO THAT SAME OFFICE!!

Texas crayfish studied as environmental barometer

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL COLLEGE STATION — Crayfish boils may be the delicacy of choice at some Southern dinner parties, but environmental studies indicate there's something else cooking in the lobster-like crustacean's future.

Understanding the ecological recipe may help researchers predict the health of U.S. streams.

Of the nearly 340 species of crayfish in North America, more than half are suffering in some way: 65 are endangered, 45 are threatened and 50 are of "special concern" or on watch for changes in their populations.

At least one researcher at Texas A&M University has set out to understand why, but she's not just looking at the animal itself.

"I'm a community ecologist," said Dr. Fran Gelwick, a wildlife and fisheries biologist. "I look at everything that pertains to the health of the environment in which an animal lives. By understanding how organisms influence their environment, as well as how environmental changes affect the organisms, we can monitor for symptoms of adverse conditions."

The findings of Gelwick and graduate student Brian Healy, presented at the recent North American Benthological Society meeting, detailed how crayfish cope with the challenges of weather, predators and human intervention, for example.

"The various species have different strategies, in the evolutionary sense, of dealing with situations," Gelwick said. "Each has their own strength and weakness, but those with the better match to the river system are more likely to sustain their population."

The decline of certain species of crayfish is not unlike that of other wildlife, Gelwick said. Many species of crayfish have a limited natural range (they can't travel too far from water), their habitat is being lost to urban encroachment, and chemical runoff has polluted many water systems.

Yet crayfish play an important role in streams. They eat small fish and insects, process debris and are prey themselves for larger fish and people. These roles are important in maintaining healthy ecosystems, Gelwick said.

"They process large pieces of organic matter," she said. "My idea of dirt might be another animal's idea of food. The crayfish take large leaves, algae or dead animals in a stream and process it into smaller pieces that then can be used by the smaller animals in the ecosystem. You can think of them as a conveyor belt through which a product goes in one way and comes out another that is more useful to the next consumer in the food web."

Crayfish also could be thought of as residential developers — living in self-dug burrows for a while before digging a new place.

"Some animals actually live with crayfish and others use the old burrow left behind," she noted.

For the study, Gelwick and Healy pegged the headwaters of the San Jacinto River, an 85-mile body of water that courses through the Sam Houston National Forest, from Walker County southeast, until pouring into the Gulf of Mexico at Galveston.

They looked at how environmental factors in streams with different flow regimes related to crayfish distribution and, how the crayfish species present fared in response to environmental conditions, such as drought and amongst their competitors and predators.

More than 100 observations were made in pools and runs along the river through the forest. The streams were measured for water speed and depth.

The effects of other variables, such as water quality, frequency of drought and abundance of predatory fish, were compared to the abundance and body size of each crayfish species during the four seasons of one year.

Their findings indicate that drought hammers some kinds of crayfish, predators grab others, while one — Procambarus clarkii — is a generalist who can tolerate such pressures for a better chance of survival, mainly because it not only digs burrows but also can spawn repeatedly during a season.

Gelwick and Healy found that the ability (Procambarus kensleyi) to burrow probably makes it more tolerant of drought, but due to its smaller size, it is apparently less competitive with other crayfishes and more susceptible to predators.

Gelwick has been involved with biodiversity research along the Trinity and San Jacinto rivers for about six years in studies that are often funded by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department or the U.S. Forest Service.

"We've built up a nice database from the San Jacinto River drainage basin, and those who manage natural and human systems have started talking to each other," Gelwick said. "Together we can help people enjoy their natural resources, while preserving them for generations yet to come."
