LAS MORAS BRIDGE BEGUN THIS WEEK

Construction of a large concrete bridge over Las Moras Creek on Highway 85, between Eagle Pass and Del Rio, was begun this week by M. E. Worrell of Austin, contractor.

Approaches to the bridge had been cleared last week, and the plans for the straightening of the highway to the Maverick County line made. It is expected that the route will soon be paved to the Maverick county line.

It is expected that later this month the Commissioners of Val Verde and Maverick Counties will meet with Kinney County Commissioners in an effort to help secure needed right-of-way of Highway 85 through Kinney County, and thus close the gap in Kinney County, leading to its paving later on.

Showers Fall

After two weeks of clear skies and unprecedented warmth from a real summer sun, we were encouraged by cloud formations, climaxing Friday evening with a series of storm clouds which brought showers and welcome relief from the oppressive heat, but, what is important to us in the ranch country, failed to give much of the desired moisture.

The total precipitation here was .12 inches.

Showers fell over a good portion of the county in varying amounts, ranging upwards to one inch.

Kinney County ranges had been showing some adverse effects of the dry period which May ushered in, and, without any appreciable break, extended through June. The range feed supply had dropped to a low point with the result that large quantities of hay have been shipped into and through this section in the past few weeks.

Everyone has been hoping and praying for a good rain, to revive the ranges and break the heat wave which topped 100 degrees several times.

A Long Journey for the Commuter

By IRVIN S. COBB

TOM SHARKEY was famous nationally as a prizefighter. Among friends he was distinguished for another attribute—to wit, his frugality. When Tom got his hands on a dollar, that dollar immediately and forever was out of active circulation.

After he had retired from ring-practice he opened a cafe on Fourteenth Street. For an assistant manager he hired an ex-promoter of pugilism named McGrath who had, touching on the commendable virtue of economy, much the same safe and sane principles which actuated his employer.

When Sharkey was not on hand it was McGrath's special job to keep an eye on the cash receipts. One evening a member of the day shift back of the bar was about to go off watch. He waited until McGrath's back was turned, then opened a cash register and grabbed at its contents. But the warning ring of the bell on the mechanism had reached the vigilant ear of Sharkey's aide. On top of this the barkeeper was so unlucky as to let a quarter slip through his fingers and it fell chiming on the floor.

McGrath spun about, the kindled light of suspicion in his eye. "Hey!" he yelled out, "what's the big idea, young fella?"

"Why, don't you remember what Mr. Sharkey said the other day? He said we could each get carfare home out of the till every day when we left. I was just taking me carfare, that's all."

McGrath drew nearer step by step. His glance roved from the depleted damper to the bulging fist of the guilty party. Then, very softly he spoke:

"And where is it you live, young fella—Sidney, Australia?"

School Transfers

Transfers of scholastics from one district to another within the county must be made before the last day of July, which is the deadline for these shifts.

Those contemplating transfers will please bear this in mind, and make such transfers before August 1st.

Faculty Vacancy

Last week the School Board had one vacancy to fill on the school faculty for the Brackettville schools with the resignation of Lee Roy Reaves as high school principal. The past week end, the Board also received resignation of Sydney Caffall, a music teacher, who secured a position of more advancement in La-Grange. This leaves two vacancies still in the school faculty to be filled.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN CLINIC ON JULY 21

Many words of praise are coming in to me for the working up of such a piece of health work as our Crippled Children's Clinic to be held at Uvalde on the 21st of July. However, I want to place honor where honor is due. First honor should go to the doctors of Nine County Medical Society for the invitation to the Crippled Children's Division at Austin; then the doctors of Uvalde County who are guiding and pushing the work for the clinic as well as their wonderful cooperation with the Public Health Nurse at all times. The Medical profession leads and shall lead in work to up-lift human beings physically. Then the Texas Relief Commission who is working those counties that have no public health worker Mrs. Corine Wolfe, District Supervisor, of Texas Relief Commission, is asking each of her case workers in the 12 counties to lead out in finding the cases and also in calling the meetings in their county to allow the Uvalde nurse to give her plans to them. Mrs. Wolfe is also going with the Uvalde nurse to those meetings. So much of the success of the clinic will go to her and her coworkers. As to what honor should go to Uvalde Public Health Nurse, I have only this to say. Should she not work well in a county as well supplied with both men and women backing her as our Commissioner's Court and the best Public Health Committee in Texas led by Mrs. H. P. Hornby, it would all be her fault.

Mrs. H. H. Carmichael, as Chairman of Crippled Children Committee, and Mrs. Guy Dean, President of Uvalde County P. T. A. are giving the nurse complete confidence in backing her up at the clinic as well as aiding her in securing the eligible children in Uvalde County. Sure, I am not going to leave out our civic organizations. They too are meeting the full requirements in supplying transportation as well as money for mailing publicity out, and many other things so necessary for a clinic. I need only speak my needs. The Red Cross Chapter handed me a five dollar check for stamps the other day. Now with such an army of workers could a nurse fail?

Our neighbor counties are spurred on by our assurance of a good clinic for them on the 21st day of July. Remember too, our doctors not only lead us out but are going to be with us on the day of the clinic and help us there. (Signed) Mrs. Ethel Lindley County Nurse

Range Notes

On the Home Range: Still day, needing rain, but holding on in fairly good shape, well drilling received good impetus last week, much optimism over irrigation prospects. Tank building, and other forms of range projects still going strong.

On other ranges: The Del Rio Wool & Mohair Company sold 17,000 pounds of mohair, in small lots, to Jack Allison, for Munro Kinkaid, Edgemoor of Boston, at 35 cents for the grown and 45 cents for the kid hair. W. J. Tucker, secretary of State Fish & Oyster Commission, claims there is some good to coyotes. Texans are urged to build up quail cov-ers.

Naming Delaware Delaware derives its name from Thomas West, Lord de la Ware, once governor of Virginia.

NEWS MEMORIES OF THE YEAR 1936

(Brackett News, July 13, 1935)

Several drummers were in town calling on our busy merchants this week.

A crime wave: Mr. Lane reported loss of three horses to thieves, and Jim Harwood one good horse.

Mrs. Woodward, of the firm of D. J. Woodward, carriage house in San Antonio, spent several days here.

In this issue was published a proposed state constitutional amendment authorizing levy of a tax to pay jurors.

W. G. Miller has bought the water wagons of Nate Cox and is now ready to serve the public. (Our travelling waterworks of yesterday).

Among those in the personal mention column were A. Lally, J. P. Jones, Miss Fay Racer of Uvalde, W. L. Clamp, Jim Gildea, Fred W. Herbst, Bobby Nance, Rev. R. Anderson, etc.

J. M. Ballantyne was bitten by a mad coyote while camping in the Tom Perry pasture east of town. He was brought home yesterday morning and is suffering considerable pain at present, said a 1936 item.

A pretty wedding took place Thursday morning July 12, when Miss Bessie Stratton became the wife of Lieut. Harry F. Wilson, Philippine scouts. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. A. Rowland at the bride's home. Mr. Otto Stadler acted as best man, and Miss Ida Keplinger as bridesmaid. The bride and groom left at once for an extensive trip through the East where their honeymoon will be spent among relatives of the groom at Camden, N. J. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will return to Brackettville to spend a few weeks before their final departure for the Philippine Islands.

BOND ELECTION TOMORROW, 16

A bond election will be held in Brackettville tomorrow, 16th, in which the tax-payers of this city will vote "For" or "Against" on the proposal of "the issuance of Water Extension Mains and Fire Protection Bonds". They are $20,000 worth of bonds.

The purpose of these bonds, it is explained, will be used to ask for a government grant on a W. P. A. project, in extending the existing water mains to other sections of the city without the service, and give ample fire protection to all portions of the city. They are revenue bonds, to be paid solely out of the waterworks revenue, and do not impose any additional taxes or valuation increase.

Residential sections of town at present without adequate water mains or fire protection, have petitioned the city for this service, which is due them. The city has outgrown its present water and fire service, and there is no other way—or better and easier way—than to do it now. Consider the need carefully, then the project, and finally, go and vote tomorrow.

Warn Shooters

Sheriff Carl Kartes has requested us to warn the public against the shooting of firearms in the city, as strict measures be taken against these offenders.

A number of complaints have been made to the sheriff that youngsters armed with 22 rifles have been shooting pigeons and birds in the city, and stray bullets have been said to have hit a building or so and endangered lives. Last week a laborer at work in a yard narrowly escaped a bullet fired by a youngster.

Parents are urged to keep guns away from their youngsters.

Hot And Dry

The weather continued real warm and dry during the past week, the thermometer frequently hovering around the one hundred degree mark. Cloudy skies were very rare during the week, and, as we all well know, no moisture was recorded.

Don't Neglect Them!
Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feet tired, nervous, all worn out.
Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.
The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted
By WILLIAM BRUCKART
NATIONAL PRESS BLDG. WASHINGTON, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—It is entirely possible that many people have failed to piece together several developments of national importance late in its closing days. The two incidents which I refer are the federal grand jury indictment at South Bend, Ind., of a number of automobile manufacturing executives and the action of congress in adoption of a resolution providing for a broad-gauge inquiry into big business. The two, when pieced together, spell a sensational drive against the "malefactors of great wealth."

The result? Well, let's examine the scheme, the pattern and the prospects.

There was a period in 1936, it will be recalled, when business interests felt that President Roosevelt was preparing to follow a middle-of-the-road policy as far as government relations with business was concerned. During that period, there was a considerable improvement in general business. In that interim of time, as far as any observers could reach a conclusion, the President was relying on advice from many men in whom business had confidence. But there came a sudden end. Out of the clear sky, Mr. Roosevelt proposed reorganization of the Supreme court of the United States and the addition of six justices whom he could appoint at once. Through weeks of battle when it became apparent that one guess was as good as another whether the President would win, business men and women again became afraid. That was when the present depression began. It was also the time when Mr. Roosevelt turned away from his previous close advisers and began listening to the new brain trust which has come to be known as the "board of strategy."

As the depression became sharper and the numbers of unemployed increased with startling rapidity, the board of strategy sought means to offset the condition. The group also had to find a goat—which is always done when plans go awry. There followed then the vicious and intemperate attacks on "big business" by the trust-busting Robert H. Jackson, then favored at the White House as the next Democratic candidate for the New York governorship. Secretary Ickes also let loose his vocabulary and none can deny the interior secretary's capacity for speaking biting words. For weeks and weeks, we were treated to a barrage of words in which "big business" was pictured as beyond the pale of good citizenry and ought to be destroyed.

The trust-busting drive was not as successful in gaining public acclaim as had been hoped for. The truth is that it failed to get the country excited at all and the profit to the trust busters did not materialize as had been the case when "Teddy" Roosevelt was swinging a big stick of demagoguery in the same field of political endeavor. Indeed, this drive flopped at the start whereas the drive by the earlier Roosevelt was good politics for several years.

It was here, according to the best information available, that the tactics changed. The change in methods is the real reason for the story. Thus, it can be said that the trust-busting drive is still going on as strong as ever but it is going on in several fields without any apparent connection because the board of strategy has lost none of its determination to convince the nation that it is being ruined by those same malefactors of great wealth toward which Teddy Roosevelt waved his fist and bared his teeth.

Now, to put the pieces of the picture together. The first section comprises the indictment of the automobile moguls, Edsel Ford, Walter P. Chrysler, Alfred P. Sloan and William Knudsen, among some sixty-odd officials of Ford, Chrysler and General Motors and the companies affiliated with them in the financing of motor cars bought on the installment plan. They are charged with violation of the antitrust laws, although how anybody can believe the Ford interests ever could or would play ball with the other two, I have been unable to see. Anyway, big news stories were carried by the press services from South Bend, and the department of justice here had much "background" information which officials were delighted to hand to any inquiring reporter. They did this in order to co-operate with the press inasmuch as the story was so sensational and so vast in scope that none of us writers here could possibly be permitted to miss any phase of it.

The other phase of the continuing drive against "big business" takes the form of a great inquiry, thinly disguised as a general study of business practices. It is a somewhat unusual type of investigation and is to be managed in a very unusual manner. The committee that will do the job is made up of three senators and three representatives, and a representative from each of a number of executive departments and commissions. And the important fact in addition is that the $500,000 which the investigation will cost will be expended under the direction of President Roosevelt.

To bring it own to simple terms, when congress adopted the resolution for the inquiry, the board of strategy was able to turn on enough political steam to force adoption of an amendment placing the funds under the direction of the President, rather than under control of congress, as usually is done when congress participates in an investigation. That action means that investigators for the committee will be able to rely upon laws covering inquiries and searches made by the department of justice, the federal trade commission, the securities and exchange commission and the national labor relations board, among others. The combined powers will be all-comprehensive.

To explain further the full meaning of these broad powers, it is necessary to cite constitutional provisions prohibiting illegal search and seizure. The investigators for the committee must be able to dig deep into private records of any bank or corporation or individual if they are to accomplish fully the desire of the board of strategy for complete exposure of all the secrets of business. When they get all of those records, of course they can analyze them and place their own construction on the business practices. That is today, by inference and innuendo, hint or open charge, the investigators can smear anything or anybody—and the newspapers will spread the information. It being an official investigation, it will be followed closely by the press and, as usual, there will be little chance for the individuals to reply. When they are marked to be smeared, they will be smeared, whether justly or unjustly. It is a deplorable thing that our government stoops to that sort of thing but it has done so in a number of instances.

Now, as to the main objectives. Every indication is that the guiding hands in the projected investigation are determined to destroy two great masses of capital. I mean, they intend to break up the combination of men and money in two instances. The banking house of J. P. Morgan and company, and the huge industrial setup of the DuPonts are marked. Whether they like it or not, those two groups are to be made the goats of the depression of 1937-38, and those on the inside recognize that it is a fight to the finish. There will be other corporations, other individuals, whose business lives will be laid bare, but the Morgans and the DuPonts are the real targets. The board of strategy believes the Morgan bank and the DuPont interests are chiefly responsible for the refusal of business to yield on many of the crackpot ideas of the professors, and so it is inevitable those two groups will be cast as the villains.

There arises, next, the question whether such an investigation and such a prosecution as has been started at South Bend will do the country any good. One ought not to prejudge. It may be that the motor magnates and their corporations are guilty as pups. It may be that the Morgans and the DuPonts and scores of others among families with great fortunes have set about to wreck the New Deal. But the question in my mind is: why has it not been discovered before? It seems to me that if there was so much corruption, so much improper influence being exercised and such illegal use of money power as is represented by those who were pushing the investigation, it should have been several years ago. Mr. Roosevelt has been in office five years and it appears strange that there was no effort to uncover these demons until the business of the country as a whole lost confidence in the policies of the national administration.

These developments have come along as the depression grew worse. They reach their climax of preparation at a time when another federal agency, the board of governors of the federal reserve system, says that the industrial depression in the United States now is the worst in the world. Neither England nor any other industrial country abroad has experienced a depression that has been as precipitous as the United States is experiencing, the board said in an official statement.

The power is not given to me to determine the numerous and varied facts, but the processes of deduction eliminate many possible causes for our nation's condition—most of them, indeed, excepting governmental meddling and the harassing of business, big and little.

GREAT BOOKS Siege of Troy Recounted in Homer's Story

By ELIZABETH C. JAMES

THE story of "The Iliad" by Homer takes place during the Trojan war and relates the wrath of Achilles, greatest of warriors.

It is now the ninth year of siege when Homer begins his epic and the Greeks are encamped on the shores of Asia Minor, besieging Troy. They are dejected as the poem begins, for their hero will not fight. The mighty Achilles sulks in his tent.

Elizabeth James

Agememnon, commander of Greek forces, had demanded a slave girl who had previously been awarded to Achilles as part of the spoils of battle. Thus unjustly treated by his commander, Achilles retired to his tents with his followers and refused to fight.

During the days of this quarrel, conversations among the men relate previous happenings.

Helen, most beautiful woman of history, was wooed by every prince of Greece. To protect the fortunate winner, all these chieftains swore to defend Helen, should the necessity ever arise. She finally chose Menelaus to be her husband. Sometime after this, Paris of Troy, a handsome youth, came to visit at the palace of Menelaus. When he returned, he took Helen back to Troy with him. Thus all Greek chieftains were called upon to fulfill their vows and go to reclaim Helen.

Pretends to Be Mad.

Ulysses, happily married, did not wish to go on such a quest. He pretended madness, and plowed the fields, sowing salt.

When the boats were ready to sail for Troy, the winds stopped. An oracle explained that a maiden of royal birth must be sacrificed. So, Iphigenia, daughter of Agememnon, was made a human propitiation to the god of winds.

Nine years of encampment then followed with neither side gaining much advantage. Meanwhile within the walls of Troy, Helen's great

TRADITIONAL POET

The Iliad and the Odyssey were recited or performed every four years at Athens during the classical period. Homer is the traditional poet of these two poems; he has no existence apart from his poetry. The facts of his life are traditional or are surmised from his writings.

As far back as the classical period in Greece, Homer was an ancient poet. The classical Greeks made translations of his work, they wrote lives of Homer, they taught his poems and made analyses of his work. The language which he used in the original poems was ancient to the classical Greeks.

beauty had so completely captured the Trojan people that they fought madly to keep her within their city.

Hector Challenges.

Then occurred the incident of the slave girl and Achilles' wrath. Hector, the greatest warrior of Troy, came forth and issued a challenge for individual combat. But no one answered. Achilles was the only man to fight this Trojan warrior, and Achilles would not fight. Then Patroclus, dear friend of Achilles, borrowed the armor of Achilles and went forth to uphold the fair name of Greece.

From his tents Achilles saw his friend die. With a roar he rushed into the battle, but he had no armor. He would recover Patroclus' body for burial. The sound of his voice was enough; the Trojans were back inside the wall.

Achilles must have new armor. His goddess mother came and offered to have a suit forged in the fires of Vulcan.

Achilles Fights Hector

Clad in his new armor, Achilles sought Hector for combat. The mighty warriors were evenly matched. Around they circled, each seeking an opening in the other's guard. Time passed, yet they fought furiously, neither gaining advantage over the other. A goddess favoring Achilles flew down from Olympus and clouded the eyes of Hector, so that Achilles succeeded in smiting him a powerful stroke with his sword. Hector lay in the dust, his plumes and fine clothing despoiled. A wall went up from the tops of the walls of Troy as Achilles fastened thongs in the heels of Hector and tied him to his chariot, then drove madly round the walls of Troy.

Late at night there came a visitor to the tents of Achilles, it was Priam, aged king of Troy and father of Hector. Weeping, he pleaded for the body of his son, he recounted the glory of Hector and with tears of love he proved that Hector was too noble to be forced to wander forever through the shades for lack of proper burial. Achilles heard his prayer with compassion and gave to him the body of his son.

Afternoon Dress With Shirring.

Shirring is one of the smartest details you can choose—it's used just this way in new and expensive models—on the shoulders, to give fullness over the bust, and at the sides only of the skirt. Thus your dress has animation and grace, and yet the front and back are plain and won't crush and muss when you sit down. In dimity, voile, organdy, handkerchief lawn or mull, with a youthful tie belt and frills of lace, this will be the most flattering frock you own.

Bolero Frock for Little Girls.

With or without the sleeveless bolero, this dress is a perfect darling for little girls! It's so simple and yet it has loads of style, with its very puffed sleeves, very full skirt, and little round collar. Notice how short the bolero is—that's the smart new kind. Make this in dotted swiss, dimity, organdy or batiste, and trim it with rickrack, irish edging, or linen lace. It's a pattern that you and your little girl will both like so well that you'll make many times over. It will be nice for school in fall fabrics, too.

The Patterns.

1505 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 6 requires 2 1/4 yards of 35 inch material for dress alone. Three-eighths yard for bolero; 1/4 yard for contrasting collar, if desired. Two and three-eighths yards is required for trimming bolero and collar.

1545 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 14 requires 4 7/8

Clinic Meet

A meeting of Brackettville P. T. A. was called Monday morning at the high school auditorium for the discussion of this county in the Crippled Children's Clinic on July 21. The clinic was explained by the Uvalde Public Health Nurse who, with Mrs. Wolfe of Uvalde, and Miss Goldie Miller of Brackettville, furthered this cause. Uvalde Clinic Interest and enthusiasm is growing in the 12 Counties Crippled Children's Clinic to be held at Uvalde on the 21st of July. Already there have been counted 150 children with five more counties to be heard from.

The clinic means that it will give parents with a crippled child a chance to discuss with a specialist the need of their child and when treatment should start. It gives the family doctor a chance to gather information on the treatment necessary for the correction of their own patient. Then, too, the clinic gives all cripples 16 years and over a chance to discuss plans for rehabilitation in their life's vocation, a real opportunity.

The clinic is free to every white, colored or Mexican person in need of the treatment or advice of an orthopedic surgeon.

If a person can pay for the treatment he is to do so. If not, the treatment is free.

Uvalde County is hostess to this Clinic, to be held in Uvalde, First Baptist Church, North High Street, July 21, 1938.

Napoleon Named It
Camembert is a soft rennet cheese made from cow's milk. It is purchased most often wrapped in tin-foil and packed in small wooden boxes. Camembert is covered with a moldy rind, under which the cheese is soft and creamy in consistency. The flavor is pronounced.
Napoleon is thought to have named this cheese.

WHERE DO FRECKLES GO
WHEN OTHINE IS USED?
It's Amazing to Many

For nearly 30 years Othine has been "chasing freckles" and lightening sun-tanned skin.
Where do the freckles and tan thousands do each year. The use of one jar must please you... or your money will be refunded.

Your local druggist has Othine ease your aching nerves, give more

Compound help YOU, too, to go "smiling thru" trying times like it has other grateful women for the past 3 generations? IT MUST BE GOOD!

How Squirrels Store Nuts
The fox squirrel, like the gray, stores nuts for winter in hundreds of thousands of pockets, under leaves or in the ground, usually one nut at a time. Red squirrels do not do this. They are cone eaters. They take the seeds out of pine cones anywhere in the north country.
Where there are no spruce or pine trees, there are few red squirrels.
