BIGNESS OF TEXAS.

H. C. Allen was in town Monday from his home in the Dry Lake community. Mr. Allen had his last bale of cotton ginned Satruday, thus ending his cotton picking for the season of 1914. The bigness of Texas is to an extent demonstrated in the fact that the cotton ginning season is just now closing in Dickens county while in other counties in the eastern part of the state farmers are now chopping cotton for the 1915 crop.

UNUSUAL CASE IN THE ANDREWS COUNTY COURT

"Can an adopted child break the will of his deceased adopted father?" That is the text of a case that occupied the attention of the Andrews County Court Monday and Tuesday, and will in all probability come before every State court before it is settled.

In 1910 J. W. Evans, made his will, everything being made to Mrs. Dora Evans. In 1911 they adopted Jack Evans. And in 1913 Mr. Evans died without changing the will. Now Jack, the adopted son, seeks to recover half the estate of deceased.

The State law provides that an adopted child is entitled to all the rights of a natural child, both in law and equity. But, on the other hand, says that the will of a man can not be broken unless it can be proven that the person making the will was insane at the time the will was drawn up.

This is the first case of its kind ever tried in Texas courts and the second ever tried in the United States, the case of the same nature was tried in the State of Massachusetts, which resulted in the will being revoked.

Judge Smith ruled in favor of the plaintiff, and attorneys for the defense have filed notice of an appeal. - Andrews Times.

WEDEKIND RESIDENCE RURNED DOWN THURSDAY

The residenc of Mr. and Mrs. Wedekind in the east part of the city was destroyed by fire Thursday about twelve o'clock. Mrs. Wedekind had started to cook dinner on an oil stove. She stepped outside the room and in opening the door it is supposed that the wind, which was blowing hard at the time, caused the oil stove lamps to explode, and within a very few minutes the whole house was in solid flames.

The house was owned by E. L. Pass, of Temple. Not a single thing was saved from the building. Mr. Wedekind carried no insurance.

bed in order to get the best results, and in order to have a firm seed bed it is necessary to prepare the land several months before the time to plant.

The common practice in this ountry is to plant in the spring of the year. This is probably not the best plan as the young alfalfa is often choked out by weeds. If the land is thoroughly prepared the previous spring, the land planted in the fall—September is the best month—the alfalfa will set roots during the fall months and will be ready to make a quick vigorous growth in the spring. Alfalfa that was planted last September on the Experiment Station is now eighteen inches high, and will probably give three to four cuttings this year. - R. E. Dickson.

The current passed from the mules to Mr. Peek and he was hurled into a hole of water nearby which was supposed to have been the means of saving his life, as the application of water is considered an effective restorative in case of lightning stroke.

After a few minutes Mr. Peek was discovered by members of his family and carried into his home in a state of coma and did not recover his reasoning faculties for several hours. The lightning struck him on the head near the left ear, burning holes in his hat and singeing his hair and beard. Passing down his neck the current crossed to the right side of his body and then re-crossed to the left and passed off from the left ankle at his shoe top. - Girard Reporter.

The Farmer And His Bank

HE farmer identified with the City Natioal Bank is better prepared to take advantage of opportunities than one who has no balance in the bank, no acquaintance there, and no banking credit established. And the farmer who knows clearly how to use the bank has a great advantag over the one who does not. The City National Bank gives special attention to the business of farmers and invites their accounts.

Deep down in the hearts of the American public lies the belief that our little war with Spain was unnecessary, and they have firmly resolved never again to be hurried into another avoidable war. The very demagogues and jingo newspapers that let loose the dogs of war when the Maine was blown up are now displaying commendable tact and self-restraint when discussing German attacks on American and other neutral merchant vessels.
