A QUICK READ OF THE NEWS

The purse is important

A suspected Muskegon Heights, Mich., shoplifter was found when, after dropping her purse at the scene of a crime, she called police to claim her bag.

The woman allegedly set off an anti-theft alarm as she fled a Family Dollar store. She dropped her purse in a parking lot while being chased.

When she went to the police station to retrieve her lost purse, she was promptly arrested.

Cabbies to learn manners

Cab drivers in Trenton, N.J., may soon have to know more than just the rules of the road: They'll have to know proper etiquette, too.

City officials are considering tougher rules for cabbies, including a mandatory class on how to be more polite to customers.

The proposal follows a stream of complaints about messy cabs and rude drivers.

Dumb thief, part two

It didn't take Sherlock Holmes to crack the case of the stolen safe — not with clues like these.

A man reported that a safe containing cash was stolen from his home Monday night, so police followed bicycle tracks leading from the man's yard.

Deputy Police Chief Andrea Foss said officers noticed that the rider stopped frequently, leaving a square imprint in the snow at each stop — the same size as the safe.

The trail led to a man's back yard, where police found the safe and arrested a 20-year-old man who was in the yard.

"The bike was stolen, too," Foss said.

Contractor's goal on nursing home is mid-July finish

JOURNAL STAFF REPORT

Principals in the new nursing home project under construction in Muleshoe told hospital district board members Thursday that the contractor hopes to finish construction by mid-July.

District administrator Jim Bone and architect Coda Stephenson both said Greenstreet Construction had targeted a mid-July completion date on the project, which has moved rapidly once the long-delayed construction began.

Board members discussed the possibility of various small changes in the project and the estimated added cost for them:

- Crown molding "no more than 9 feet above the floor" — $14.08 per linear foot, with an estimate of $73.36 each to put the molding around doorways;
- Quarry tile in a small entry area — $1,400 plus; and
- Hooking up the walk-in cooler to the nursing home's emergency generator — $7,534 (rejected outright as simply too expensive).

There was discussion about naming the facility Park Ridge, because of its location, but no formal action was taken.

Bone told the board that Classic Cable has been asked to donate the conduit (or at least part of it) to hook up the facility to cable television, but that no word has been received as yet.

The board heard financial reports from Sharon Novak, the district's chief financial officer, indicating that the hospital did not fare well in December and the district has cashed in much of its financial reserves for operating capital.

Novak said net patient revenue for December came in $55,000 under budget, though for the entire year it is only $2,000 under budget. She attributed the shortfall to a combination of factors unlikely to be repeated during the rest of the fiscal year.

Bone introduced to board members Bill Saxton, interim director of the nursing home, and said Saxton has been on the job since Jan. 8.

Inauguration won't heal split in popular opinion

Bush is a 'breath of fresh air'

(U.S. Rep. Larry Combest, a staunch supporter of President Bush, offers an optimistic picture of American under the Bush administration.)

This weekend opens a new chapter in presidential history. Our country will celebrate the inauguration of its 43rd president, George W. Bush.

It is a momentous occasion for which hundreds of thousands of people from around the country will travel to Washington, D.C., to meet our country's new leaders.

President Abraham Lincoln said of this historic event, when facing a divided nation, "It is but ordinary charity to attribute the fact that in so attaching himself to the party in which his judgment prefers, the citizen believes he thereby promotes the best interest of the whole country, and when an election is passed, it is altogether befitting a free people that, until the next election, they should be as one people."

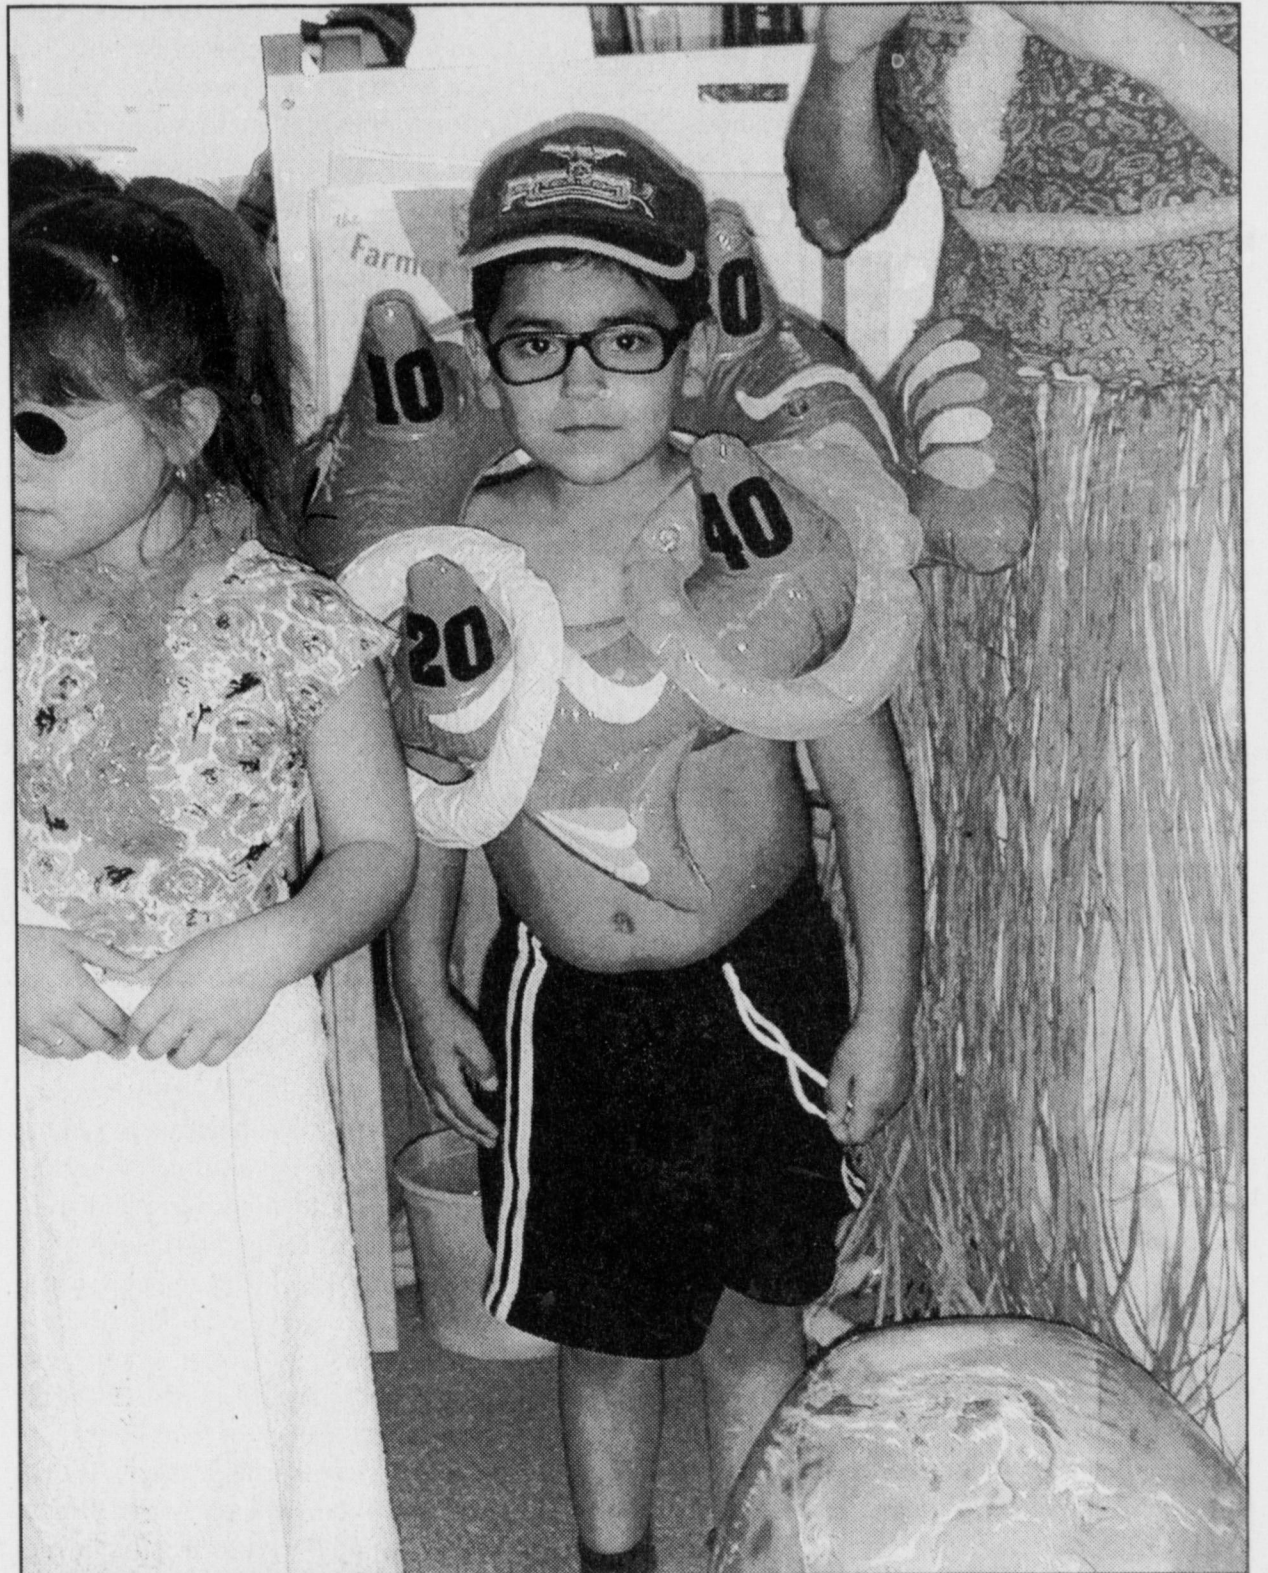

During this time of transition, these words are especially poignant. Every four years, voters have the ability to change our leadership. Sometimes the candidate we prefer wins, sometimes not.

Whatever the case, however, it is imperative that our nation work together for the good of the country and stand behind our president, regardless for whom we may have cast our vote.

I am very pleased that our president is our former Texas governor and 19th district native. He is a proven leader who will work diligently to ensure that our nation's interests are protected, and that our citizens have an improved quality of life.

As a member of Congress, I look forward to working with him.

Winter beaches

No, they weren't filming a new version of "Beach Blanket Bingo" at Dillman Elementary School on Thursday: It was the kindergarten's annual Beach Day. ### America starting to fear recession

(Kristin Danley-Greiner of AgWeb.com wrote this opinion, which is perhaps less partisan but is alarming.)

Many Americans wonder if the economy will slip into a recession as George W. Bush takes over the presidency. If it does, that could be the final nail in the coffin for many farmers and ranchers.

A recent poll conducted by The Associated Press reveals that Americans are quite nervous about the nation's economy as a new administration takes the helm.

The poll revealed that only a third of Americans expect their family finances to be better in one year, a notable drop from last spring when more than half felt that way.

The possibilities of a lackluster year also have many (agricultural) producers worried. For the past three years, they have been battling record low commodity prices and have had to ask for help from the federal government.

The Trends Journal, published by the Trends Research Institute of New York, disclosed that a "pre-recessionary economy will shape the markets. The financial market dive that began at the end of 2000 will continue through 2001."

However, economist Tim Kehoe with the University of Minnesota predicts a good year for the markets and economy, thanks to Bush's perceived weaknesses.

"The fact that we won't have a strong president... in Washington has been good for the markets," Kehoe said. "The big surpluses we'll continue to have come about, because the Republicans can't cut taxes and the Democrats can't raise spending."

Public calendar

Jan. 22 — Noon. Muleshoe School Board, in the board room at the district administration office, 514 W. Avenue G.

Jan. 25 — Llano Estacado Cotton Conference, Bailey County Coliseum. Information, 272-4584.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service believes that, despite a significant drop in the gross domestic product in the last half of 2000, the U.S. economy probably will not experience a recession, because of overall increases in productivity and investment, a reduced trade deficit and continued gains in consumer income and employment.

Just recently, the Federal Reserve made an unexpected move by lowering the target for the federal funds rate by 50 basis points to 6 percent. The action caught the struggling equities market off guard, resulting in triple-digit gains on Wall Street and sending the Dow more than 300 points higher.

The Federal Reserve's action in itself should be a sign to America that the country is entering a recession, noted Dave Freshwater, an economics specialist and professor at the University of Kentucky.

"The move was pretty astounding—rarely, if ever, does the Federal Reserve move that quickly and with that little notice, which means they're nervous," Freshwater said.

"And they always move by a quarter point, except when something substantial is about to happen," he said.

The Federal Reserve supported its action by saying it was "taken in light of further weakening of sales and production, and in the context of lower consumer confidence, tight conditions in some segments of financial markets, and high energy prices sapping household and business purchasing power."

And while, historically, a recession in agriculture usually leads to a recession in the overall economy, that is no longer true. He points the finger at the "dot.com e-commerce world."

"The ag sector is important, but arguably, it is no longer big enough, relative to the size of the economy, to push us into a national recession," he said. "If you look back at the '80s farm crisis, it started at the same time as the national recession and lasted longer. You can't really make that correlation anymore."

"However, that doesn't mean the recession in agriculture isn't important," he added. "It's crucial in some states and regions."

Ag economist Peter Goldsmith said that with or without a recession this year, farmers are going to have to change in order to keep up with, and survive in, a changing economy.

"In the past, a producer may have spent 10 percent of his time on marketing," he said. "Those who are successful constantly adapt, just as those who have survived in other sectors, such as manufacturing or service, have been doing for some time."

Another fundamental shift in the new agricultural economy involves competitors, Goldsmith said.

Before, producers might have seen processors or consumers as the "enemy" in terms of price. Now, they will work with supply-chain partners to survive and deliver products the market wants.

U.S. agriculture probably won't be able to trade its way out of low commodity prices by selling more corn and soybeans overseas, he noted.

Free trade in a capitalist society is a "two-edged sword" — with opportunities also come losses," he said.

COMBEST

We share the same conservative philosophy that people can make decisions for themselves better than the federal government can. We are both committed to paying off the national debt, providing tax relief and strengthening and protecting Medicare and Social Security.

Over the past eight years, Congress passed a variety of tax relief measures that were vetoed by President Clinton. Under the new administration, I anticipate that a majority of our top priorities will be implemented. Two of the most glaring examples of these unfair tax burdens include the "marriage tax penalty" and the death tax. In West Texas, the inheritance tax, or "death tax," has been a crushing blow to family farms, putting many out of business altogether.

I know that our farmers are facing hard times. That is why I scheduled field hearings around the nation last year to hear firsthand from the producers what they would like to see in a federal farm program.

I have also scheduled hearings to begin this spring to hear from commodity groups on what their specific solutions are to alleviate the pain the agricultural community is experiencing.

With the information gained from these hearings, I plan to implement a strong policy that strengthens the farm safety net, so that farmers will not have to rely on governmental assistance every year but will have a system of assistance available, should hardships occur that are out of their control.

Another area that will benefit our country under Bush is finally having a national energy strategy. As we have seen recently with the rise in natural gas prices, it is imperative that our nation have a comprehensive, long-term energy policy. Bush understands this problem, having worked in the energy industry for years.

I believe that a balanced approach is best. We should continue to explore alternatives for energy sources, but also continue efforts to protect our environment.

This does not mean more environmental regulations. Any regulation should be based on sound science, not politics. We also must reduce our unacceptable dependence on foreign oil.

In addition, I will continue my efforts to protect and strengthen Social Security, Medicare and education. I believe that education decisions are best made in the classroom, not in a cubicle in Washington.

These are just a few of the issues on which I will focus this year, and for which I will work with the administration to lay the groundwork for common-sense policy. We will work to make government less intrusive, giving more control to the states and communities. As inauguration weekend winds down, I look forward to implementing many changes this year, and continuing the progress for the next four years.

Rebounds send Three Way girls over Spade 40-36

The Three Way Lady Eagles dominated the rebounding (63-37) Tuesday night to overcome Spade 40-36.

Three Way had two players in double-doubles — Cynthia Baeza with 21 points (top scorer of the game) and 13 rebounds, and Julie Salamanca with 10 points and 14 rebounds.

"This game helped boost the girls' confidence," coach Linda Pshigoda said. "Three Way has a chance to win the next four games. We are continuing to improve with each game."

Spade led 24-20 at halftime, but Three Way outscored the Lady Horns 20-12 in the fourth quarter to grab the win.

Despite an excellent night rebounding (the Lady Eagles captured 63 percent of the rebounds for the entire game), Three Way was cold from the field, shooting about 29 percent from the field and 22 percent from the free-throw line (compared to 53 percent for Spade).

All the Lady Eagles had a hand in the rebounding. Kara Heinrich tallied 10 (plus eight points), Candace Quick seven (plus adding a point), Monica Walker five, Alma Rodriguez four, and the team sharing 10.

Eagles fall to Spade despite strong half

Despite a game-high 23 points from Anthony Furgeson (along with 16 rebounds), the Three Way Eagles were unable to top the Spade Longhorns on Tuesday, falling 65-59.

Also in double-doubles for Three Way was Carlos Contreras, with 13 points and 16 rebounds. Robert Rodriguez got 15 points and two rebounds. The Eagles outscored Spade 32-23 in the second half but could not overcome a 42-27 halftime deficit. They hit 13 of 20 free-throws, or 65 percent.

Michael Soliz added eight points and three rebounds. Victor Baeza got six rebounds and Jordan Gray one.

"Our team had a weak first half but played an excellent second half," Eagle coach Royce Winnett said.

Sometimes the Best Thing To Do Is Nothing

It doesn't get much better than this! What is better than sitting at the table, a good cup of coffee in hand, a fire in the fireplace, and a beautifully thick and fluffy snow falling just outside the window. I'm not sure I could ever move very far south willingly. How do people live long and prosper in the low country where the snow never falls and fireplaces are purely decorative?

Focus On Faith
Curtis Shelburne

No, I don't have cattle. And, no, my work doesn't call for me to spend a lot of time outside. Or I might like the snow less. (And, yes, I know gas bills are ghastly.) But I love the snow!

And I hope it snows a good foot or two! (As I write, the flakes are getting bigger and more beautiful. And the little sons and daughter of my nephew from Uganda are glued to the front door and loving every fluffy flake.)

One of my favorite things about snow is, well, what some people like least. A really good snow stops us in our tracks. As the snow beautifully blankets the world, it also, to some extent, shuts it down. And since we all too often lack the wisdom or the self-discipline to willingly punch the OFF button ourselves, clear out a few hours in the schedule, shift the gears of our family into a desperately-needed neutral, well, it's okay with me, and even welcome, when God does it for us.

I've heard doctors say that sometimes the very hardest—and best—thing to do for a patient is nothing. Sometimes "doing no harm" means being wise enough to know when the time is right to do, well, nothing, and to allow the body to do what God designed it to do quite well on its own.

Something along that line is also true in our own lives and in the lives of our families. It's not that what we're so frantically engaged in filling every moment of every day doing is bad or meaningless, though some of it is. Much of the busy-ness we pay for with the moments of our lives may have some value. But what we choose to do would have a great deal more value if we'd choose more carefully, if we'd not allow everyone else to choose for us, and if we'd consciously choose to give ourselves and our families some precious time to use simply to breathe, to be quiet, to enjoy some beauty, to partake of a little rest, and to realize that lots of the "important" busy-ness that causes us to make work even out of our "free" time, isn't, in the whole scheme, all that important.

I personally doubt that most of what insurance companies file under "acts of God" are. But maybe this is.

God knows we need it. The snow, I mean. We need the moisture. But maybe some of us need a divinely imposed break even worse.

Let it snow!

MYSTERY! Touching Evil III

Detective Inspector Dave Creegan (Robson Green) and his colleagues at OSC (Organized and Serial Crime Unit) track down more of Britain's most twisted criminals in Mystery! "Touching Evil," proving that it takes a mentally unhinged cop to out-think a psychopath. The four one-hour episodes represent the third installment of "Touching Evil."

The new series opens with Creegan on sick leave after suffering a nervous breakdown. The shock of losing his ex-wife and two daughters, who had to move away for their own safety, and the brutal murder of a new love interest have pushed him over the edge. But Creegan can't stay off the case when he hears that a convict he helped put away has been released on appeal.

Creegan has always been troubled by the murder rap hung on Antony Matchin (Michael Hodgson) and agrees with the court that he is innocent—which means the real killer is on the loose. But with Matchin out, the trademark killings resume.

In case two, Creegan faces a new serial killer who uses fire as a weapon of death. Taylor goes to France to interview a jailed maniac — famous for setting fire to his victims.

"Touching Evil III" on Mystery! can be seen Thursdays at 8:00 p.m. and 12 midnight, beginning January 18th.

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN FRONTIERS Affairs of the Heart

The heart is the first body part to go to work, and its failure is often the event that causes death. "Affairs of the Heart" on Scientific American Frontiers examines advances in fixing broken hearts — and ways to prevent them from breaking.

Host Alan Alda revisits a M*A*S*H-like setting where remote and minimally invasive surgery have their roots. In an effort to further reduce battlefield fatalities, Pentagon researchers sought to minimize the time between a soldier's being wounded and getting medical attention. Remote surgery via telecommunication offered a solution. Today, this technology has been developed for use with endoscopic surgery in civilian hospitals.

In one of the first such applications of the robot in the United States, we follow a heart bypass operation performed without opening the patient's chest. The procedure is performed in less time and with far less stress to the patient's body than traditional methods. The telecommunication aspect means the surgeon and patient can be half a yard or half a world apart.

Scientific American Frontiers "Affairs of the Heart" will be broadcast Tuesday, January 23rd at 7:00 p.m. It repeats Saturday, January 27th at 10:00 p.m. and Sunday night, January 29th at 1:00 a.m.

Lady Mules fall to 3-1 in district

By DELTON WILHITE
Journal correspondent

The Lady Mules knew playing in Dimmitt would be tough, but they probably did not expect to turn the ball over 21 times.

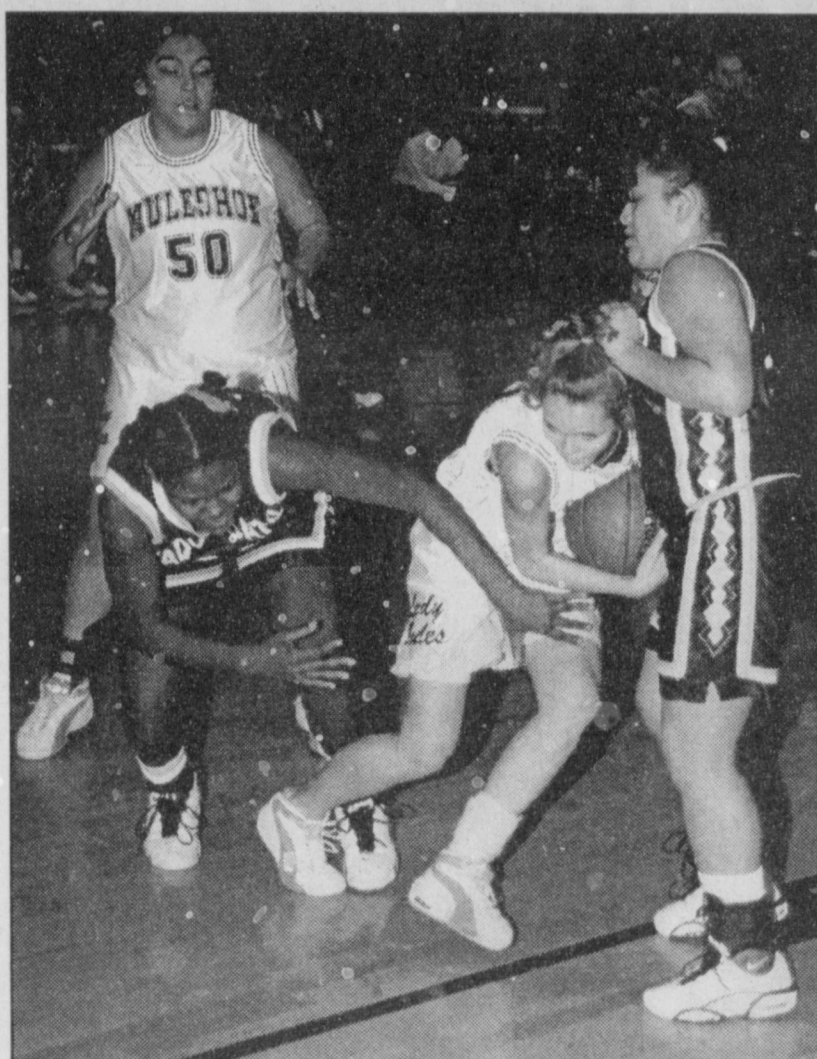

Giving the Bobbies the ball resulted in the Lady Mules' first loss in district play, 59-49.

Dimmitt jumped out to a 34-20 at half, weathered a nine-point Muleshoe run at the beginning of the second half, and hung on for the win.

Muleshoe's Megan Tipps scored the first bucket of the game, but the Bobbies scored the next nine points and never trailed again. Jessica Carpenter broke Dimmitt's run with a bucket, but Dimmitt added four more quick points. Britni Gartin nailed a three as the first period ended with Dimmitt leading 15-11.

The Bobbies outscored the Lady Mules 19-9 in the second period to stretch their lead to 34-20 by halftime.

Carpenter was fouled making a layup to start the Lady Mules' second-half run. Carpenter completed a three-point play by making the ensu-

Dimmitt to a 43-38 advantage.

The teams traded baskets in the fourth period, with Myndi Heathington making a three-pointer from the corner and Tipps put back a rebound to keep Muleshoe within striking distance as the time ran down to 1:23. The Lady Mules could not get a shot to fall, and Dimmitt made six of six from the free-throw line.

Gartin led Muleshoe's scoring with 15, Tipps had 11, Carpenter made 10, Mindy Locker added five, Heathington and Annie Cox put in three each, and Candace Hutto made two.

Muleshoe stole the ball eight times (Gartin and Cox two each), claimed 25 rebounds (Locker and Tipps eight each), were called for 18 fouls and made six of 12 free throws.

The 3-1 Lady Mules were scheduled to host the 4-0 Shallowater Mustangs on Friday, to end the first round of district action for Muleshoe. Lubbock Roosevelt's Lady Eagles come to Muleshoe on Tuesday seeking revenge for the loss the Lady Mules gave them on their home court.

Culture clashes are becoming more common

Country vs. urban — the rubbing of tectonic plates.

Mike is a rancher in that beautiful-to-look-at country of central Oregon. His ranch house sets back from the road fronted by a lush irrigated pasture.

In the green flush of late spring, sprinkled with colorful bovines, backdropped by verdant pines, porcelain white clouds and china blue sky, the setting is as pretty as a picture. Perfect for developers promoting nearby "ranchette estates."

Hot on the trail of peace and serenity — straight from the five-speed, fuel-injected, Teflon-encased, pre-tasted-tested-and-tried coast of central California came the new urban next-door neighbor.

Gushing and garrulous, he descended on Mike one afternoon as he labored irrigating the roadside pasture that bordered both their grout yards.

The new neighbor, hereinafter referred to as Sherman, was deeply impressed by the cows and how beautiful they looked in the overall pasture setting. He liked it that he could see them from his living-room window. Sherman had been in the "art world" before he began networking web pages, and he appreciated Mike's cow color selections.

"The russet and beige offset the licorice and peppermint so well. They look Christmas candy in an Easter basket," he opined. "I hope you don't mind if I befriend them?"

The parted, Sherman walking on air and Mike scratching his head.

The following week, a big ruckus ensued when Mike found half his cows out on the highway. Tracking them back home, he found a break in the fence. It was a hundred yards long and ran across the foot of Sherman's lawn. The posts and wire were gone!

"What were you thinking?" asked the incredulous Mike. "Oh, don't worry," said Sherman excitedly. "I've bought a beautiful three-pole drilled and dowed pine-log fence to put in its place. It'll be here in a couple of weeks."

"Well, what are we gonna use in the meantime to keep the cows off the road?"

"Don't you have some fence we can use temporarily?"

"I did," Mike said, "but you took it down. Where is it?" "I gave it to my brother-in-

Farmers Union releases food-industry study

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The National Farmers Union released a study Jan. 8 detailing the implications of increasing concentration in the retail food and dairy industries.

The Farmers Union represents the interests of family farms and ranches.

Leland Swenson, the organization's president, was joined by report authors Mary Hendrickson, Ph.D., and William Heffernan, Ph.D., to present the report, "Consolidation in Food Retailing and Dairy: Implications for Farmers and Consumers in a Global Food System," depicting the rapid increase of consolidations in the two industries and the detrimental results for consumers, farmers and the markets that serve them.

"The findings of this report show how competition and choice are being lost every day on farms and at our dinner tables," Swenson said.

"The consolidated control of large conglomerates in the food system is diluting the power of both consumers and farmers," he said. "With the acceleration toward seed-to-plate, market-wide control seen in today's market, it is time for Congress to look at how consolidation is affecting family farmers and consumers."

Wes Sims, president of the Texas Farmers Union, stated "The findings of the report show that vertical, horizontal and global integration in the food retail sector has rapidly increased in the past three years. Today, the top five food retail chains account for 42 percent of the retail sales. Three years ago they accounted for only 24 percent.

"As a result," he added, "food retailers are becoming disproportionately dominant in the food chain."

"In addition to the oligopoly-like power this market concentration represents, the retail chains are exerting their control over the food system through agreements with large food processors by charging slotting allowances, display fees, presentation fees and other payments from manufacturers that make up more than half of the total net profit for the large retailers," Sims said.

Sims also stated, "The report shows that vertical integration in recent years in the dairy industry is resulting in extremely low farm prices and loss of equity for dairy farmers. The low farm prices have not been passed on to consumers and in some instances, retail consolidation has allowed retailers to charge artificially high price."

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI DRAFTING MEN FOR THE ARMY!
 THE FIRST TIME THAT THE ISRAELITES HAD NEED TO DEFEND THEMSELVES OCCURRED IN THE WILDERNESS AT REPHIDIM, WHEN THE AMALEKITES THREATENED THE SAFETY OF THE PEOPLE! IT WAS THEN THAT MOSES APPOINTED JOSHUA AS COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF AND TOLD HIM TO CHOOSE SOME MEN AND GO AND FIGHT THE ENEMY! (EX. 17:8-9) FROM THAT BEGINNING IT WAS PROBABLY OBVIOUS TO MOSES THAT HE WOULD NEED YOUNG MEN FOR WAR, MANY TIMES BEFORE THE CHILDREN OF ISRAEL COULD GET SETTLED IN THE PROMISED LAND! SO IT BECAME LAW THAT ALL ABLE-BODIED MEN, TWENTY YEARS AND UPWARD, (NUM. 1:3) WERE ENROLLED FOR MILITARY SERVICE! BUT, JUST LIKE TODAY, THERE WERE EXCEPTIONS! THE LEVITES (PRIESTS) WERE NOT NUMBERED IN THE WILDERNESS FOR MILITARY SERVICE (NUM. 8:48-50) ALSO, ANY MAN WHO HAD BUILT A HOUSE AND NOT YET LIVED IN IT; OR PLANTED A VINEYARD AND HAD NOT EATEN OF IT; OR ANY MAN WHO HAD BETHROTHED A WIFE BUT NOT YET CONSUMMATED THE MARRIAGE; (DEUT. 20:5-8) AND LASTLY, ANY MAN WHO WAS FAINTHEARTED AND AFRAID TO GO INTO BATTLE WAS EXEMPT FROM SERVING, BY REASON, THAT HE MIGHT ALSO MAKE THE SOLDIER NEXT TO HIM, AS FEARFUL AS HE WAS AND THUS CAUSE PANIC IN THE RANKS—WISE THINKING WHEN YOU COME DOWN TO IT AND PROBABLY THE REASON THE ISRAELITES DIDN'T FLEE IN TERROR AS MUCH AS OTHER TROOPS DID IN THOSE BIBLICAL DAYS!

I NEED MEN TO HELP ME FIGHT THESE AMALEKITES—STRONG MEN, MEN FOR WAR!

Mules rally late but still fall to Dimmitt

By DELTON WILHITE
Journal correspondent

Making only 12 of 31 free throws did not help the Muleshoe Mules in their battle with the Bobcats in Dimmitt on Tuesday night. They lost 62-53.

The intensity that Mules coach Ralph Mason had hoped for was not there, and Muleshoe entered the fourth quarter trailing 48-35. The Mules turned up the thermostat in the final stanza and closed the gap to only a bucket with 2:18 remaining in the game. They would score again, however, while Dimmitt canned six of seven from the charity line.

Dimmitt made two buckets and a pair of free throws before Sonny Chávez found the mark for Muleshoe.

Dimmitt added seven more points in the initial period to go ahead 13-9. Jeff Shelburne, with a baby hook shot, and Landon Sheets with a 15-foot jumper, made the only two buckets for Muleshoe during the second quarter. The Bobcats increased their advantage to 29-18 by half-time.

Dan Williams made two shots from behind the arc and Joey Tucker added another to give the Mules a jump-start in the third stanza. Darrell Lewis got open inside for a pair of buckets and added a charity toss to bring the Mules' deficit to seven points by the end of the quarter.

Chávez picked up a pair of assists with inside passes to Lewis when the final period began. Sheets added six points as the Mules made their final run at the Bobcats. Muleshoe converted only five of 10 free throws in the final period, while the Bobcats made eight of 11.

Lewis' 14 points led the Mules in scoring. Tucker added nine, Sheets eight, Shelburne seven, Lincoln Riley five and Chávez three.

The Mules grabbed 34 rebounds, made 12 steals (Lewis three), were called for 22 fouls and made 12 of 32 free throws.

Now 1-1 in district, the Mules were scheduled to face the 2-0 Shallowater Mustangs in Muleshoe on Friday, and the Lubbock Roosevelt Eagles come to town Tuesday for the first meeting between the two teams.

Littlefield overcomes JV Mules in close contest

By DELTON WILHITE
Journal correspondent

The junior varsity Mules were stopped short Jan. 12 by the Littlefield Wildcats in the first district game for both teams.

The game was close throughout, ending in a 36-32 Wildcat victory.

The opening period was filled with action, but little scoring by either team, ending in a 3-3 stand-off. A.J. Flores banked in a three for the top of the key for the Mule points.

In the second period, both offenses began to put points on the board. Stephan Shelburne nailed a three and Chance Turney got a bucket when Flores penetrated the lane and dealt him the ball. Luís Sánchez and Louis Simpson got a bucket each to give the Mules a 15-14 lead at halftime.

The Mules made two of six free throws in the third period. Shelburne added a three and a bucket for Muleshoe, but Littlefield made a three, two buckets and two of three free throws to take a 24-22 third-quarter lead.

Matt Luna made a three from the corner to give the Mules a one-point advantage with 5:47 remaining on the clock. The 'Cats missed two from the charity stripe, but made a three to regain the lead for good.

Scoring for the Mules included Shelburne's 12, Flores' seven, Luna's five, Turney's three, and Simpson and Sánchez with two each.

Cowart contributed six points in the losing effort, followed by Gutiérrez and Carpenter with five each and Spradling with four.

Muleshoe 34 Lubbock Cooper 20

Jamie Carpenter's 10 points in the first quarter gave the eighth-grade Lady Mules a 10-2 cushion and they never looked back, defeating Lubbock Cooper's Lady Pirates 34-20 in the second meeting of the two teams.

Ashley Gutiérrez made two buckets in the second period, April Morgan added two free throws and Mitci Hawkins con-

Muleshoe's defense continued to limit Cooper's scoring in the fourth stanza. The Lady Mules added nine points in the final period, with Carpenter making a reverse layup and driving the lane for two additional points, Cowart made a bucket and

Hawkins and Gutiérrez added a free throw each for Muleshoe.

Carpenter led Muleshoe scoring with 15, Cowart and Gutiérrez contributed seven each

JV Lady Mules down Littlefield 36-25

By DELTON WILHITE
Journal correspondent

The junior varsity Lady Mules continued their high-pressure defense to run down the Littlefield Lady Cats 36-25 Jan. 12 in the Lady Mules' third district win.

The game remained close through the first period, with the Lady Mules able to gain a 10-7 first-quarter advantage.

The constant pressure of the defense began to pay dividends for the Lady Mules in the second period. Tiffany Flores stole a pass and laid the ball up and in for two points; Sara Sheets nailed a three, then stole the in-bound pass from Littlefield and added two more points for Muleshoe. Jodie Hawkins made a bucket and two free throws to give the Lady Mules a 21-11 halftime lead.

Muleshoe's domination continued in the third period with Johnna Cleavinger putting back a missed free throw for two points. Flores snagged a Littlefield pass and took it to the hoop for two points, was fouled on the next possession and made both free throws.

Tabetha Obenhaus pulled down an offensive rebound and muscled it back up to give Muleshoe a 29-15 third-quarter advantage.

Littlefield put up 10 points to Muleshoe's seven in the final period, but it was too little, too late for the Lady 'Cats. The Lady Mules made five of nine from the charity stripe in the final period, with Tori Barton making two of two to give Muleshoe the 11-point win.

Cleavinger and Flores led the scoring for the Lady Mules with 10 points each, Sheets added five, Hawkins and Eva Pylant made four each, and Obenhaus and Barton made two each.

Muleshoe committed eight turnovers and forced Littlefield to give up the ball 13 times. The Lady Mules made eight of 11 free throws and were called for seven fouls.
