ALL BUT TWO OF AMENDMENTS DEFEATED IN THE ELECTION

Returns from the constitutional amendment election held Tuesday is conclusive that all but two of the amendments, together with the constitutional convention, were defeated.

The two amendments carried were the propositions to grant aid to Confederate Soldiers, and to permit Galveston and county to issue bonds.

A very light vote was polled Tuesday in the constitutional amendment election. From daily press reports the vote throughout the state was very light.

Returns from the county are not yet available, but in the Spur box all of the amendments carried, there being about 75 votes polled, as follows: For amendment to Sec. 49, Article 3, 63 for and 19 against.

For amendment to Sec. 51, Article 3, 64 for and 17 against.
For amendment to Article 16, 58 for and 23 against.

For Article 16 relating to Galveston bonds, 61 for and 17 against.
For amendment to Article 8, Sec.

9, 59 for and 21 against.
For amendment to Sections 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15 of Article 7, 59 for and 19 against.

For a constitutional convention, 40 for and 23 against.

We have never thought that the amendments would carry, but since such a small per cent of voters turned out, and it has been decided that a majority of the votes polled will be sufficient to carry an amendment it. sufficient to carry an amendment, it may be possible that at least some of them may be adopted. The majority of the people are constitutionally opposed to amending the constitution, and if every vter in the state should vote in an election we are confident any amendment would be defeated.

Life

The simple lass. The broken working man. When life entered the door. Only a gutter bum. The woman who knew no shame.

By W. Alexander Imlay

She was only a simple girl from the country. She entered the big city in the hope of earning enough money to give her the clothing of the fashion plate ladies and movie queens. Perhaps she came with the intent of making herself useful in the world.

She got a job. It was work, if that constitutes a job? She slaved nine hours a day behind a counter or possibly she stacked matches in boxes -no matter she got the job.

And the salary, magnificent-$10 a week. The clerks in Perkins' store back home only got $6 but then she was ignorant as yet you see

So she drifted along until one fine night she found herself hanging over the railing of the river bridge, pock etbook empty, hungry-contemplating a leap from the bridge-or worse.

Then there is the working man. He knows no trade for he grew up in untrammeled America where one is permitted to do as he pleases. An indulgent father had not insisted on him learning anything useful. His mother upheld him in idleness.

Possibly the father went broke. Possibly he never had anything. At least we find our hero at forty, discouraged, knowing no trade, on the bum.

A bad season strikes his section of the country. He has no money, no friends. Then we find him-where?

Riding the rods to a better land, in jail and out, a knight of the cinder trail.

The poor man comes one dreary night to a cold home. He is out of work. He knows no friends. His children are huddled around a stove in which the last embers are dying. A small girl of four weeps for food.

A mother in the next room-there are two rooms-lies in a bed of old blankets and ragged great coats. She is moaning in pain.

A little life is to come into the world before many hours have passed. There is no doctor, no provisions. There is no fire, no light.

In despair the man goes into the might stumbling against the cold wind seeking assistance in his trou-

There is a gutter bum who has no knowledge of how loathsome he really is. Drunken, abused, kicked and cuffed he dodges all human beings.

Like a trounced dog he avoids people yet he must seek them. At last he decides that he is down and out. He goes down the street with longing in his heart. He longs to toll some one how he despises self.

He has reached the turning point. Will some one hold out a hand?

Ha! ha! he laughs. He knows the world.

Then there is the woman without shame. Christ had compassion on her kind but she has come to think that no one else had. Harpy like she plies her way about the streets of the great city.

Her cheeks are incarnidine. Her soul is as red as her painted lips. Her eyes are as full of guile as the misshapen mind.

Unloved, much caressed, hunted, a prey upon society she comes to the last step down, then she finds gold in her heart. Does anyone else find

ENSIGN TELLS OF SEAPLANE FIGH

Officer Describes How American and British Aviators Held Off Superior Forces.

FOUR MACHINES ATTACK 20

Interesting Account of an Exciting Aerial Combat During the Late War-Battle Enemy for Several Hours.

Washington.-One of the most interesting accounts of an aerial combat in the late war was made public recently by the navy news bureau, which has headquarters in the navy department in Washington.

The story is told in the report of Ensign R. B. Keyes of the United States Naval Flying corps to Admiral Sims, and relates how four British seaplanes operated by American and British aviators fought 20 German machines several hours in defense of a British plane that had been forced to descend to the water for repairs.

Ensign Keyes was the front gun layer of one of the machines, in which Lieutenant Galvayne of the British Royal Air force was second pilot. In his report the aviator says:

"Our three machines from Felixstowe rose from the water at noon, circled into patrol formation, and proceeded along the coast to Yarmouth. Here we were joined by two more planes. At one o'clock the squadron turned east. Soon we perceived the Dutch coast and followed the sandy beaches of Texolt and Vlieland islands until we came to Terschelling.

Sighted German Planes.

"At Terschelling we veered west, but we soon had to turn back because one machine (Eaton's) had come to the water with a broken petrol pipe. We circled it, and 15 minutes later sighted five German planes steering west, which would soon bring them upon us.

"Lieutenant Galvayne was seated near the wheel. His duty was to kneel with eyes above the cowl and direct the pilot. I was in the front cockpit, with one gun and 400 rounds of ammunition. In the stern cockpit the engineer and wireless ratings were to handle three guns. "We took battle formation and went forward to meet the enemy machines, but when almost within range they turned and ran away from us. once we gave chase, but soon found that they were too fast. "We had chased these planes to keep them away from the machine on the water, which otherwise would have been shot to pieces. Finding now that they could keep out of our range, we turned back and again circled the disabled plane.

"Soon the enemy once more came close, and we gave chase a second time. But instead of five machines, they were joined in a few minutes by

Suddenly I found that our machine had been cut off from the formation and we were surrounded by seven enemy seaplanes. We were steering almost southwest. We fought for ten miles or so, until we drove the seven Germans off. One of them was driven down out of control and made a very poor landing. Another was badly hit, side-slipped, and crashed in flames from a height of 2,000 feet. All were severely punished. Lieutenant Galvayne Killed.

"The engagement had lasted about half an hour. We descended to the water at 4:45 p. m. ten miles northwest of Vlieland. There I loosened Lieutenant Galvayne's clothing, made his position easier, and felt for his heart, which I was sure was beating feebly. Then we rose 1,500 feet and sighted two Yarmouth planes. We picked them up, swung into formation and laid our course for Yarmouth. At 7:10 we sighted land, and 20 minutes after were resting in front of the Yarmouth slipway. We at once summoned medical aid, but found that nothing could be done for Lieutenant Galvayne. A shot had gone through his Airplanes Loaded With Explosives to Be Directed by Wireless-Fokker Perfected Machine, but War Office Spoiled Scheme.

Amsterdam.-M. Fokker, the Dutch airplane expert who worked for the Germans during the war, stated, in an interview, that he had made millions of marks out of the Germans, but would give half of them to prove to the world that he was never anti-ally.

"I was making airplanes before the war broke out," he said, "and when the Germans asked me to make airplanes for them I could only agree to do so. It was purely a financial matter.

"We are having an airplane exhibition here in Amsterdam this month and I find that all the English flying men who come here are good sports men. They don't nurse any grudge against me for making airplanes for the Germans, but the Frenchmenthey never will forgive me, I fear. My machine brought down too many Frenchmen, and they don't like my

His answer revealed what he declared had been a great military secret. "We would have put the artillery out of commission," he said. "We would have made the big guns as oldfashioned as spears. It was all the fault of the army red tape in Berlin that it was not begun sooner. "It was like this: In 1916 the army authorities asked me if I could make a very cheap airplane with a very cheap engine, capable of flying about four hours, which could be steered through the air by wireless waves.

"They intended to load each one of "Suddenly we discovered that a large and send them into the air under the number of hostile planes were steering control of one flying man who would toward us, not in the air with the four shepherd them through the sky by planes, but very close to the water. wireless like a flock of sheep. "In the summer of 1918 they came to me and gave me a huge order for the wireless-steered airplanes. I had just got ready to manufacture them in wholesale quantities when the end of the war came.'

M. Fokker displayed a photograph of an airplane without an engine. "This is my very latest idea," he said proudly. "It is a secret as yet. Sport ing contests with such machines would be very much like coasting contests on the winter runs in the Alps. An air coaster could be towed by another airplane to a height of 5,000 feet or more, and then the airmen could cut loose and plane down. I think the day will come when air coasting without engines will be a great sport."

SHARTUNG QUESTION SETTLED IN SENATE

14 REPUBLICANS IN PRO TREATY LINE-UP-LODGE SAYS HE WILL CONTINUE FIGHT.

Washington.-The long double-debated Shantung amendment to the peace treaty, presented by Senator Lodge and approved by the foreign relations committee, finally was rejected in the senate with a majority of an even score against it. In the vote of 35 to 55, 14 republicans swung over to the pro-treaty forces, while three democrats lined up with those supporting the proposal. Of the six senators absent, two republicans were put on record as in favor of the amendment and one republican and three democrats as opposed to it.

The roll call, which came at the end of another six and a half hours of sharp debate, in reality swept away six amendments instead of one, each change in the treaty text having been numbered separately by the committee in its decision to strike out the word "Japan" and substitute the word "China" throughout the sections relating to the Province of Shantung. By unanimous consent, however, the six changes were debated and voted on as one.

Only three of the committee's 45 amendments now remain to be acted on by the senate, 36 previously having been rejected. Of those remaining, one relates to American representation on the reparations commission and two to equalization of voting power in the league of nations assembly

After the vote was completed Senator Lodge announced that later he would move to strike out entirely the sections awarding the Shantung rights to Japan. Notice also was given by a number of the republican senators who opposed the committee that they would present reservations dissenting from the Shantung award.

RUSSIAN BOLSHEVIK ARE BEING DRIVEN BACK

Armies Press in on All Sides and Fall of Petrograd is Threatened.

Helsingfors. — The bolsheviki are evacuating Petrograd because the troops are unwilling to fight, according to a message received here.

London.-Forced back by the onslaughts of enemies on four fronts, the armies of the soviet government of Russia appear to be facing a period pregnant with disaster. General Denekine's cossacks from the south, Polish forces from the west; northwestern Russian legions on the northwest, and northern Russian troops from the north, have during the last few days forged ahead until it seems the bolshevik armies are between the upper and nether millstones.

Petrograd is doomed to capture, in the opinion of observers, Yudenich having passed Gatchina, ria, the next stop was at the Diamede and is less than 25 miles south of islands, and then to Cape Prince of the former Russian capital.

RELIEF SHIP IS STOPPED BY ICE

Attempt to Reach Mission in Northernmost Alaska Again Fails.

REACH WITHIN 69

Dr. Marquis Brings Back Pitiful Tales of the Havoc Wrought by Influanza-Whole Villages Are Wiped Out.

Newport.—Turned back by an impenetrable ice-field within 69 miles of his goal, Dr. John A. Marquis, general secretary of the board of home missions of the Presbyterian church of the United States, was forced to return to New York without reaching his destination at Point Barrow, Alaska, the northernmost mission in the world operated by the Presbyterian church

Dr. Marquis left New York June 23 and sailed from Seattle July 7 to Nome, where he boarded the United States coast guard service steamer Bear, to reach Point Barrow, but for the second time within two years this doughty little craft with its hardy crew was unable to buck the terrific ice jam of the arctic. For eight days the sturdy boat battled, but finally on August 15 it was forced to turn back. The supplies for Point Barrow were unloaded at Point Hope, 350 miles south of that town. From here it is expected that sledges will be able to carry some of them to the needy people at Point

"Last year," says Dr. Marquis, "the Bear was able to get within 25 miles of Point Barrow, but the steady winds this year had forced the ice masses down farther south than they had been for years.

Ice at Latitude 701/2.

"Massive fields of ice were reached when we were at latitude 701/2 degrees, Captain P. H. Uberroth, U. S. N., in charge of the Bear, declared the ice was the worst known since 1826."

Dr. Marquis went to Alaska to see about the appeal from the people there for the erection of a hospital at Point Barrow and also to study the opportunities for Presbyterian mission and school work generally in Alaska, particularly since the influenza epidemic last year wrought such havoc. He returns with interesting stories of the work and with pitiful tales of the terrible havoc wrought by the "flu," which in some sections wiped out whole villages.

On leaving Seattle July 7, Dr. Marquis took passage to the Aleutian islands and thence to Nome. At Nome passage was taken on the Bear and for six weeks Dr. Marquis was on this government vessel. From Nome Dr. Marquis went to St. Lawrence islands and thence to Siberia. Leaving Sibeislands, and then to Cape Prince of Wales, the westernmost point of the American continent, about four hours west of Seattle.

Upon this trip the vessel's coal supply ran low and the Bear had to put back from Cape Prince of Wales to Nome for recoaling. Leaving Nome the vessel began its journey to Point Barrow. Kotzebue sound was entered and Washington. - Ships headed for stop was made at the village, where missions, and then the Bear went north to Kivalina, where no mission fields are established, but which a few missionaries visit at intervals. From this point Dr. Marquis went to Point the most famous whaling stations in the arctic regions. From there the great but futile attempt northward

> Dr. Marquis on his return trip gave special study to the conditions as left by the influenza epidemic. As a result he brings back with him pitiful stories of the terrible ravages wrought by this epidemic among the Eskimos.

> Whole Villages Wiped Out. In Nome alone, says Dr. Marquis, over 50 per cent of the Eskimo population was wiped out almost overnight, and in other sections of the country whole villages of igloos were swept away. In one town of 300 only thirteen adults were left alive, and small vil lages of twenty igloos or so with all inhabitants frozen stiff. In one case one little girl and a baby were found alive in a village. This child had kept herself from freezing to death by remaining wrapped up in bed with the baby beside her. The condensed milk which sustained her life she also took to bed with her. There had been no fire in the villages for days and the temperature was 50 degrees below

> According to Dr. Marquis, the Eskimos showed practically no resistance to influenza and went down almost without a fight. Among the foreigners the mortality was about the same as in similar communities in the United

DIES IN HOUSE WHERE BORN

Centenarian of Long-Lived Family Succumbs to Cold at Southfield. Mass.

Winsted, Conn.-William Benedict Gibson, who was ten years old when the first steamship crossed the Atlantic, died in the room in which he was born at Southfield, Mass., near here, aged 100 years seven months and thirteen days.

Death resulted from a cold contracted ten days ago. During his life he missed but one opportunity to cast his ballot for the Democratic candidate for president.

He came from a long-lived family. His father died at the age of ninety, his mother at eighty-eight, his sisters at ninety-four and eighty-five and his brother at seventy-nine years. He had a cousin who lived to be 101 years old.

RUSS DRESSES OF LEAVES

Scanty Attire in Southern Russia Sewn Together by Bamboo Fiber and Grasses.

Paris.-People in some of the villages of southern Russia are wearing dresses made of leaves or grass sewn together with bamboo fiber, owing to the difficulty in obtaining cloth, says Maj. G. M. Towse, who is in charge of the Red Cross activities along the shores of the Black sea.

"It is an ideal costume for the summer when southern Russia has a temperature like that of the Garden of Eden," said Major Towse, "but I shiver when I think of what will happen to those little girls when the snow

The Red Cross is expected to distribute a shipment of clothing in southern Russia before cold weather.

Lizard Proved Wild Yarn.

Hood River, Ore.-J. H. Fredricy. local agent of a railway company, and vice president of the Hood River Game Protective association, stands vindicated.

Mr. Fredricy, after a fishing trip up Hood river recently, reported seeing a lizard with a blue tail and a red and white striped body. Many and varied stories were written about the "victory saurian," and Mr. Fredricy received many letters inquiring as to his brand of beverage and how it might be obtained.

Now Mr. Fredricy is happy, for recently George Chamberlain, an East side orchardist, brought a real red, white and blue lizard to the city. It is being displayed in a milk bottle as "Fredricy's lizard."

INDUSTRIAL GROUPS STILL "PLAYING TAG"

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN LABOR AND EMPLOYERS DEADLOCKS INDUSTRIAL MEETING.

AGREEMENT IS SHATTERED

Employers Insist on Adding Clause Declaring for Their Right to Bargain Individually.

Washington.—Solution of the difficulties seriously threatening the national industrial conference seems more hopeless than ever after the conference's central committee failed to conciliate the differences between the labor and employer wings.

The tentative agreement reached Saturday on the question of collective bargaining was shattered when the employer's group insisted on adding to the substitute resolution declaring for the right of "employers and employes to bargain individual-This clause was rejected unqualifiedly by the labor delegates.

Previous to the introduction of the taken. "individual bargaining" clause an apparent solution to the problem had been reached. The original Russell- the water approach to Petrograd, had Endicott resolution, providing for the recognition of the right to collective bargaining and the right of employes to choose their representatives at will, was revamped, divided into four sections and amended to read "the cles. right to organize into trade and labor unions, shop and other industrial associations." The section granting to labor organizations the right to choose representatives without restrictions was amended to read "by representatives chosen by a majority of their own members."

The compromise measure amended met with the approval of the labor and public groups and some members of the employers' wing when brought before the com-mittee. Later, however, the employyers insisted on the addition of a fifth section, the individual bargaining clause which was promptly vetoed by the labor group. This left the central committee deadlocked just as it was when the conference adjourned

Mineola, N. Y.-Lieutenant Belvin W. Maynard was declared the victor in the army's air race across the continent and return, the greatest aviation endurance test of history, upon landing here. Lieutenant Maynard's official landing time was 1:50:05.

Lieutenant Maynard flew the 142 miles of the last stage in his flight from ocean to ocean and return at speed of nearly two miles a minute. Several minutes before he landed his plane was visibly flashing across the cloudless sky in the brilliant sunshine of a perfect autumn day.

The first persons to greet him as he stepped from his machine at the con clusion of his historic fight were his wife and two little girls, who rushed across the field amid the frantic cheering of the hundreds of spectators who were marshaled at a safe distance by special details of sol-

Just before his fall, Captain Theodore was hanging by his hands perpendicularly from a rope below the landing gear. A throng of spectators on foot and in automobiles lining the roads for a long distance watched him vainly attempt to pull himself up the rope and to throw his legs over the landing gear axle. After he had hung to the rope for a distance of three miles, Captain Theodore became exhausted, unloosed his hold and fell to his death.

The labor resolution was laid before the conference without recommendation by the central committee, but with an amendment proposed in committee by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, providing that the arbitration committee be chosen by the conference. In reporting the resolution, chairman Chadbourne announced that, while the resolution was favored by a majority of the members of the committee, it had received the negative vote of two groups, and, therefore, could not be favorably reported.

The climax of the tense sessions came when Samuel Gompers, leader of the labor delegation, made an impassioned plea for intervention in the steel strike and reviewed the negotiations leading up to the calling of the strike on Sept. 22.

Given permission to speak on the arbitration resolution, Mr. Gompers described the labor proposal as the "most generous and comprehensive proposition ever submitted in the entire course of the struggle of labor to emerge from slavery to serfdom and thence to waged labor." Mr. Gompers said he believed that fair-minded employers, employes and public alike regretted the evident attempt to defeat the strike arbitration resolution.

Landlords in the eastern part of the state are holding the negroes until every scrap of cotton is picked out—and then, we understand, they prefer that the negroes not come out west. The delay be work to the advantage of Western farmers, in that the price continues to advance almost daily. COTTON SELLS FOR 40.40 IN SPUR DURING THIS WEEK

Some time ago we predicted that cotton would sell in Spur for forty cents before the first day of November. This week buyers in Spur paid as high as 40.40 for cotton on the streets, the highest price ever before paid for cotton in this country.

We also predicted that cotton will sell for fifty cents before the first day of January, and present indica-tions still further encourages this pre-

GOVERNMENT COTTON CLASSER IS NOW LOCATED IN SPUR.

Leon Hairston, a cotton classer under the directions of the government, is now located in Spur and is daily classing cotton at his offices in the Wendell building for the farmers of the surrounding territory.

Mr. Hairston receives quotations from the markets every thirty minutes during the day. His classification of cotton is backed up by the government and is being recognized and accepted by buyers in Spur.

With recognized classification and up-to-the-minute quotations at hand, the humblest cotton grower is in a position to get not only the market price but the correct grade on his

The securing of a recognized cotton classer for Spur is a big thing for the farmers of the surrounding country.

A NOTICE TO THE CITIZENS OF THE CITY OF SPUR, TEXAS

You no doubt have read through the columns of the Texas Spur, the paper of the present state health officer, Dr. Goddard, and his appeal to the cty governments throughout the state, asking their help and cooperation in their good offices, in preserving the health of the people, and to use every effort in preventing as much as possible the recurrence of last winter's awful scourge, "The Flu." We can all recall these sad experiences and the loss of those who were near and dear to us, but with sad hearts and a horror for such a malady.

As to the cause of this awful diease, its etiology, its treatment, or prevention, there are as many opinions as there are physicians who have come in direct contact with it, both in army and civilian life, and will state here notwithstanding the so-called cure-all doctors and pharmacuetical imporiums who would attempt to mislead the public by claiming to have discovered some new specific cure, there is yet nothing that the medical world knows that we regard as absolutely specific in its treatment, and the concensus of opinion among com-petent physicians at the present time is to use all reasonable means of prevention, i. e. to clean up and keep clean, inside and out, not only of the person but the premises as well. There has been a constant and unceasing investigation going on in the institu-tions of scientifical medcal research, by men appointed by the government, the nation's most distinguished bac-teriologists have experimented and no doubt brought to the intelligence of the doctors and to the public the results of their investigations and experiments which will go a long ways, we hope, in the way of a profilatic or pre vention of this malady. Our drug-gists will keep on hand for the use of the family doctor such items in case of the recurrence of this disease.

Now, as a first step towrads pre-serving the general health of our city, I have been requested by our Honora-ble Mayor and his counselors of this city, to make this appeal to the citizens of Spur, to use dilligence in keeping the city in a more sanitary condi-tion. I am much gratified that we have an organzed committee of the ladies of Spur at this instant in this work, and will appreciate their cooperation in all work to the betterment of the sanitation of the city, and thus promoting to the public health. I shall countequely set first for the coshall courteously ask first for the co-operation of the physicians of the city along all lines promoting to the hy genic condition of the city, and will appreciate their bringing to my notice any conditions existing endangering the health or inviting to the spread of contagious diseases, such as roseola scarletina, scarlet fever, measles, diph theria, typhoid fever, scabies or other eruptive and contagious fevers, and in discharging the duties incumbent upon me. I am taking this means of asking that all premises be cleaned up and garbage hauled off to the dump-ing grounds and burned. Clean up horse and cow lots, pig pens and poul try houses, wagon yards, public and private privies, all privies to be either sprinkled with lime or other disnfectants, all puble houses and store hous es to use floor sweep and to either burn all debris accumulating or have them hauled to the dumping grounds. I want to call especial attention to the Mr. Derr, of near McAdoo, on the plains, was in Spur Saturday, bring-school building and will ask the super-

tant, and in case of a pupil becoming ill while at school dismiss them to their homes at once and advise the family physician to be summoned, as it is better that one pupil who has un-happily become infected with some disease which is possibly contagious, should be deprived of attendance than that the whole school should have to be closed as the result of the spread of some contagious disease

The mayor informs me that he will designate some day soon as a general clean up day, and will ask that every body respond cheerfully, and that the dead weeds and other decaying vegetable and animal matter be cleared away, and then that we will have done all we can, and we shall have reached our extremities in these efforts, may our Heavenly Father assert His opportunities in vouchsafing His blessings on us that we may not have another visitation of uch an awful scourge as we experienced a year ago. Hoping you will accept the above in the spirit in which it is offered, and that all will take an intesest and an active part, I am sincerely yours, -Dr. J. H. Grace, City Health Officer.

Tom Cross was here Monday from his farm and ranch over in Kent county. He brought in a bale of cotton and paying us fifty one dollars and twelve cents for the privilege of growing the staple on our land. We can remember mighty well the time when a whole bale would not sell for fifty dollars, while now the rent on a small bale amounts that sum. However, the price is not too much, since it is figured that it now costs about fifty

> T. M. Maples, who is now assisting in the drilling of the 24 Ranch test well for oil, was in town Tuesday. He is very optimistic concerning the oil prospects at this time, and with others is confident that a flowing well will be brought in within the next sixty or ninety days. The well is now smok-ing considerable gas at a depth of 1056 feet, and as the drill goes down this gas is expected to increase in volume and force until the oil comes forth. Personally, we have never had any doubt but that oil would be found should the drill go deep enough.

Wood Cutting Prohibited On Spur Lands!

Notice is Hereby Given That Any Person Who Cuts Wood of Any Kind Whatever From Any of Our Lands Any Where Now or Hereafter will Be Prosecuted to the Fullest Extent of the Law Without Favor or Consideration

> Some localities in past years, the lands have been shamefully cut over, regardless of our rights, and those of purchasers of land not occupied. Many otherwise honest men, have come to think that what others have done, without a penalty resulting, they can also do, and there is an increasing disposition to appropriate wood whereever it may be found, no matter to whom it belongs. We must protect the people who have already bought Spur Lands, and those who will hereafter buy them, from this wood cutting.

> Some people pretend to think there is no objection to it. This is, therefore, public notice that no one has our permission to cut, saw, grub, break down or gather wood of any kind whatever from our lands anywhere, and that prosecution will certainly follow trespassers hereafter without favor.
