BOY KILLS TWO GIRLS AND SHOOTS SELF NEAR LOCKNEY

Lockney, Feb. 27.—Nell Umberson, 13, and Gladys Solomon, 15, were shot and killed at four o'clock this morning as they slept in bed at the home of the former girl near Lockney. Shortly after the killing, Houston Upton, 19, was found in a church two miles from the Umberson home, suffering from what is believed to be a fatal bullet wound. When found Upton stated that he killed the two girls. A third girl, Vera Wilson, 15, was in the same bed with the other two girls, and although fired upon, escaped injury.

According to Miss Wilson, Upton and the Solomon girl were sweethearts and quarreled on the way from meeting earlier in the night. The Wilson and Solomon girls were spending the night at the Umberson home. They retired early. Upton returned to the home later and had a whispered conversation with the Solomon girl. The other girls questioned her about the occurrence, and she began crying and said she was scared. The girls went to sleep, and the Wilson girl was awakened at 4 o'clock by the shots. "It was a lovers quarrel" the Wilson girl said.

OSCAR L. DUNCAN KILLED RECENTLY AT PLAINVIEW

Oscar L. Duncan was shot and almost instantly killed Saturday in the Crystal Cafe, before customers and employees. Five or six shots took effect in Duncan's chest and abdomen. Wink Jordan submitted to arrest by Sheriff Terry, and was placed in jail. Duncan was employed in the cafe as a cook. Until a few months ago Duncan and Jordan had been partners in operating the leading cafe in Plainview. Both had lived in Plainview about six years and are well known in this section.

INJURIES AND DAMAGE DONE IN A RECENT RUN A WAY

E. T. Barkley some time ago had a run a way accident which came near being very serious. He was coming from the T41 Ranch when his team became frightened and ran a mile down the Highway. While running, the buggy struck a fence, throwing Mr. Barkley out with the result of painful injuries. One of the two horses fell with the result that one fore leg and hind leg were broken.

FIRST STYLE SHOW BY THE LOVE DRY GOODS COMPANY

The Style Show given by Love Dry Goods Company Wednesday night at the Gem Theatre was the first merchandising event of this character ever held in Spur and this section of Western Texas. It was a success in every particular and, notwithstanding the extremely cold and uninviting weather, the house was crowded with interested and appreciative spectators.

The stage was artistically arranged, decorated with flowers, pot plants and draperies, and made an attractive, lovely setting for the models as they appeared and in graceful manner displayed suits, gowns, dresses and costumes in varied fabrics and latest styles carried in stock by Love Dry Goods Company, together with hats from the Style Shop. In all there were thirty odd showings of the different ready made garments and styles, and those acting as models for the occasion were Mesdames C. E. Senning, E. L. Adams, E. A. Russell L. H. Gerrard, Lonnie Harris, Roy Harkey, W. P. Simpson, and Misses Lera Watson, Ilva Deaver, Pearl White, Gladys Millhollon, Nell Higgins, Caroll Senning, Mable Harris, Floy Richbourg, Mary Elizabeth Hogan, Maud Clemmons, Jane Douglas Wilson, Alice Brothers, Thelma Caraway, Derah Bell Smith and Dorothy Love. Mrs. Hendrickson, assisted by Mesdames Kate Senning and Roy Russell, superintended the event with marked ability. Throughout the time Miss Scudder played the piano, and in rhythm to the music the correctly and stylishly gowned models charmed, entertained and instructed the audience, and created an impression for the Love Dry Goods Company which will bear fruit in the future and contribute materially to their recognition as leaders in the lines shown.

The Love Dry Goods Company is to be congratulated for successfully inaugurating and pleasantly staging the first style show in Spur. Such a show is not only of high class advertising value to the individual firm, but contributes materially in the recognition of Spur as the style and fashion center of the community.

GALLOWAY KILLED WELTY AT PEACOCK TUESDAY WEEK

A deplorable murder occurred last week at Peacock when Athel Galloway shot and killed a young man by the name of Welty. They were neighbors and had had no previous trouble. However, it is said that some time previous Galloway and another one of the Welty boys had words with reference to hauling water from the Galloway well.

It is said that Galloway shot Welty six times with a pistol, death resulting almost instantly.

It is thought that Galloway had become temporarily insane, since he had been to an asylum several years ago. The killing, as it occurred, can not be accounted for in any other plausible manner.

ASK CONGRESS TO PROHIBIT GROWING COTTON 2 YEARS

Columbia, S. C.—The South Carolina Senate adopted a resolution calling on the state's delegation in Congress to endeavor to have legislation passed to prohibit the planting of cotton in the United States every other year for a period of four years beginning in 1923.

Now we want to say as to our MILLINERY. We have bought a line of HATS at a SPECIAL PRICE by taking a large quantity, having several stores enabled us to take the quantity necessary to get this special price. They are made by the Davidson Millinery Co. of Quincy, Ill., one of the best makers. We are offering these Hats at Prices Far Below what we can sell regular stock for. We have several hundred hats for you to select from, so you cannot help being pleased.

Most of us point with pride to our ancestors, but are the spirits of our ancestors pointing with pride to us?"

YOU MUST SEE OUR LINE OF DRESSES. While they are the very Newest in Style, Color and Material, yet they are Cheap in Price—they suit the thin purse. See them! Our Miss Meredith has been sick for a few days, but we think will be ready to serve you by the time you read this add.

Fortune tellers have been legislated out of some states, and it would be a good thing if we could legislate against the miss fortune tellers.

We are very hopeful. We believe more in West Texas now than we have ever done. We are looking for 1922 to be better than 1921. We are optimistic and hope we may never become pessimists, and don't think we will as long as God is in His Heaven.

Come on folks, with the crowds. We need your business and we like for you to feel at home in our store.

LEAVING THE COUNTRY TO BUILD HOME IN NEW MEXICO

Ben Clark was in Spur Monday and had us send him the Texas Spur to Ramah, New Mexico, where he has purchased land. Ben will leave this week for New Mexico to begin the improvement of his new home and get ready for a crop this year. He intends to stock farm, having a sufficient acreage to make the stock farming business a success. Ben is taking advantage of the experiences of old timers of this and other sections of West Texas. The time was here when old timers refused to take land as a gift, and later thought a dollar per acre outrageously high. They have lived to see this same land sell for fifty and one hundred dollars an acre. The same thing will occur further west. In our opinion, no man will make a mistake in acquiring land, regardless of price, if he can pay for it. We wish Ben Clark all the success possible in his New Mexico home.

MEETING OF CATTLE RAISERS WAS A SUCCESS

Last Saturday, February 25th, in response to an invitation extended by county agent Johnston and others a meeting of cattle men was held in the Directors Room of the Spur National Bank.

Chairman Johnston appointed a committee composed of Ben J. Brothers, Dr. T. H. Blackwell and Clifford B. Jones to draft a basis of organization which will seek through suitable advertising to bring buyers, of calves especially, in the Spur country.

The meeting was attended by many representative cattlemen of this section and prospects bid fair for denate cooperation to the end that the sale of our cattle may realize the prices which similar organizations elsewhere have made possible. Resolutions were adopted urging the support of our legislators of a budget which will include sufficient funds for the feeding of cattle at Substation No. 7 of the Texas Experiment Stations, located at Spur.

A second meeting at which the organization will be perfected has been called for Saturday, March 11, in the Directors' Room of the Spur National Bank, 2:30 P. M.

THE COUNTRY EXPERIENCED A SEVERELY COLD BLIZZARD

A cold wave and blizzard hit the country Sunday night, and throughout Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday we experienced the extremely coldest weather of the year, if not in many years past. Thermometers in Spur registered as low as six degrees below zero, it is said by those who read it.

The cold weather was accompanied by some snow, sleet and drizzle. However, the moisture was insufficient to be considered a good season, but will benefit the wheat to some extent.

A RAIN COAT is a servicable garment. It will keep off rain and chill on a raw day and dust on cool evenings all the year around. OURS are not only serviceable but STYLISH! We have many splendid "numbers" in rain coats and cravenet tes. When you PRICE them you will buy one. We've got the UMBRELLAS, too. Look at your OLD hat and see if you don't need a NEW one. We are "hat" quarters for heads.

PRAIRIE CHAPEL

As there is so many writers from nearly all the communities in Dickens County, we thought that we would let you know how Prairie Chapel is getting along. Our school is progressing nicely under the able management of our faculty, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Bell and Mr. Fred Arrington. We have the best school that we have ever had.

Bro. Burnham of Spur filled his regular appointment here Sunday night. He will preach every fourth Sunday instead of every third Sunday.

There are singing and Sunday School every Sunday evening at the School building. Come with the crowd.

The Afton base ball team came down Wednesday 22nd and played a game with us, the score being 12 and 18 in favor of Afton. Come again Afton, we will have more practise.

Mr. and Mrs. Nally pleasantly entertained the young folks Saturday night with a party which was enjoyed by all present.

We have organized a Parent Teachers Association which is doing good work under the following officers: Mr. S. H. Nalley, president; J. C. Christopher, F vice president; Tom Hale, S vice president; Mr. Bob Ford Third vice-president; Mrs. Richard Alexander, Treasurer; Miss Lethia Daniels, Recording Sec. and Mr. Fred Arrington, Corresponding Sec. The Association will meet Friday night, Mar. 3, 1922, with a program. There will be a debate, readings, songs, music and an old time spelling match. You are invited to attend.

We will now tell you where Prairie Chapel is for fear some one does not know. It is five miles East of Afton in one of the finest farming sections of Dickens County.

The High School Nine beat the Prairie Chapel First Nine in a game of baseball Friday evening, the score being 13 and 14.—Two Kids.

A SACRIFICE—163 acres good, level land, close to town and school, 65a in cultivation, balance fine grass, good water; feed, tools, two cows and calves, 8 hogs and 57 chickens included, at this price, $7,400, or $45.65 per acre. $5,000 my equity.

"LIFE'S TWIST" CALLED "DOUBLE MASTERPIECE"

"Life's Twist," the Robertson-Cole Special, which opens at the Gem Theatre March 6th, for a run of two days, has been called a "double masterpiece" because it shows Bessie Barriscale at the very height of her career as a dramatic actress and because it is reputed to have the most artistic scenes yet created in motion pictures.

There are twenty three beautifully furnished sets in the picture erected at a cost of approximately $25000. This sum does not cover the cost of the art objects and rare tapestries and hangings used but simply the cost of erection. The photo play has been called a "beautiful picture in a beautiful setting."

JACKIE COOGAN SAY:

Being bad like other kids aint bad enough for me.

I'm tough—so tough that the cops beat it when I come around.

"My folks don't like the idea, so I had to make 'Peck's Bad Boy' when they weren't looking.

"Betcha I'm tougher than any kid in this town, an' I'll prove it in "PECK'S BAD BOY"

"Irvin S. Cobb helped me in it—so you see my mob's pretty tough, too."

Let's go to the Gem, at least one night a week.

SUCCESSFUL ARTIFICIAL INCUBATION OF POULTRY

Place the incubator in a well ventilated cellar or room with a uniform temperature and free from strong currents of air. Plenty of fresh air without draughts is very important in the incubation room. To provide this, place muslin covered frames over some of the window openings. Keep the incubator room clean, free from kerosene and rotten vegetables. Provide plenty of moisture by flooding the floor regularly once a day. Do not allow direct sunlight to fall upon the machines. Do not place the incubator near a stove or hot air furnace. Place the machine level in all directions. Thoroughly clean and disinfect the interior of the incubator with a 5 per cent solution of carbolic acid or a 1 to 25 solution of zenoleum or kresol. Test the incubator thermometer by inserting in water of about 100 degrees temperature. Keep the water in motion while testing.

Do not incubate any eggs older than ten days, the fresher the better. Do not crowd eggs upon the tray. Eggs with mottled shells, ridges, excrescences or weak shells do not hatch well. Shape of eggs does not indicate sex of chick. The best temperature in which to store eggs for the hatching is between 55 and 65 degrees. Before placing eggs in the incubator, especially if taken from a cool cellar, place them in a warm room (70 degrees) for a few hours.

The first day of incubation do not allow the temperature to run above 101 degrees, thereafter for the first period keep the temperature between 102 and 103 degrees. The second half period allow the temperature to remain between 103 and 104 degrees. The above range of temperature is for contact thermometer with bulb touching two fertile eggs. The first week of incubation, the germ is very easily injured by too high a temperature. The last week of incubation the germ is more easily injured by too low temperature. At hatching time allow the temperature to run up to 105. Keep the temperature as uniform as possible.

Make the first test the 7th day of incubation and the second test the 14th day. At the first test remove all eggs (infertile) that show perfectly clear. A live germ at this test shows a floating dark spot with blood veins radiating from it. At the 2nd test remove all dead germs which appear in various forms. A live germ at this test shows the same, occupying about two thirds of the interior of the egg. The air space in large end appears clear. Turn the eggs regularly twice a day, commencing the morning of the third day and discontinuing the evening of the 18th day. Use palm of the hand not only in turning the eggs but in shoveling them around upon the tray. Have clean hands, free from kerosene and filth. The first days of incubation handle the eggs very carefully.

Just how much to cool the eggs depends upon the temperature of the incubator room. Begin cooling the morning of the 7th day and continue until the morning of the 16th day. Cool until they feel cool but not stone cold to the sense of touch by holding to lips or eye lids. Cooling too much is responsible for weak chicks and dead chicks in the shell at hatching time.

Little ventilation is required the first week and the most the second week. At hatching time decrease the ventilation so as to confine the moisture as much as possible. Watch the size of the air space. If too small increase the ventilation and cooling and decrease the moisture, and vice versa. The air cell should very gradually increase in size until hatching time when it should occupy about one third of the entire egg. If eggs appear dried down more than this, do not allow as much ventilation or air in the next hatch. When one or two eggs are pipped sprinkle the eggs with water of 100 degrees temperature, restrict ventilation and do not open incubator door again until the hatch is complete. If your incubator is equipped with a nursery, test the temperature of same.

Leave chicks in incubator until 24 hours old, and dry. If any chicks are panting, increase ventilation. A few hours before removing harden them to the outside temperature by opening the incubator door a little and securely fastening it. At hatching time do not allow temperature to run over 105 degrees. If moisture condenses on the glass at hatching time, you can expect a good hatch and know there is sufficient moisture in the machine. If this is not the case, generally there is insufficient moisture. Do not open incubator door at hatching time, even though chicks may overturn the thermometer. If the machine has been running properly it will continue to do so, for a few days longer. In case of a glass door at hatching time, it is well to darken interior by hanging paper over glass. This prevents chicks from crowding to the light.

All chicks ought to be out the evening of the 21st day. A good hatch pops the chicks in a few hours. Eggs of a uniform age hatch at the same time. White eggs hatch earlier than brown eggs. Do not hatch white and brown eggs at the same time.

In removing the chicks keep them warm and away from drafts. For this purpose a warmed flannel lined covered basket may be used. Move chicks to brooder in the evening. At dawn the next morning watch them carefully so they will not get chilled. After the hatch is over, clean and disinfect incubator thoroughly. The first day or two in the brooder dark en same to keep chicks quiet under the hover and prevent the habit of toe-picking. If at any time during the hatch, upon opening door a bad odor is noticeable, get your tester and remove the dead germs, or use your nose to smell out the guilty parties. While turning the eggs close incubator door. It is better to err on the side of too little cooling than too much. In a naturally dry cellar it is impossible to get it too damp by adding moisture to the cellar by frequent flooding, but it is very easily possible to add too much moisture by adding it inside the machine. Do not place eggs in machine until you are a "b*l*e" to control and hold the temperature. If possible, pipe all lamp fumes to the outside or into some ventilator flue. Fill the lamp regularly, trim the wick regularly each day and keep the heater and lamp clean. Do not allow the lamp to smoke. Look at your lamp for the last time at night before retiring. Start each new hatch with a new wick and a clean heater. If it requires more than one wick for a hatch pin two together. See to it that the flame is round. Keep the perforated brass gauze in burner clean.

Never place eggs upon end in tray. Do not place eggs upon top of each other. Allow plenty of tray room, so the eggs can select their own natural position upon the tray.

Most incubators are equipped with an inadequate ventilating system. Of ten better hatches are made by increasing the ventilation of the machines. The factors, cooling, ventilation and moisture ought to be considered together. If the chicks appear small and some are seen with pieces of shell dried to the down and the membranes very tough and leathery, it is because of too little moisture. Flooding the room daily, sprinkling at hatching time with water about 100 degrees or placing a tray of wet sand in such a way as not to prevent the ventilation will prevent this. Chicks appear very moist because of too much moisture. This may be prevented by increasing the ventilation, increasing the amount of cooling and decreasing the moisture provided, if any. This does not very often happen.

If your machine should accidentally run up a temperature of 100 to 110 degrees, "do not give up ship," unless it is of a very long duration. If only a short time, you may still get a good hatch, although the chicks may have been weakened. In case of this accident, sprinkle eggs with warm water (100 degrees) as soon as discovered and cool them considerably. If the incubator lamp should go out for a few hours during the early part of the hatch, do not throw away the eggs; you can still expect a fair hatch.

We have found it advisable to inspect our machines four times a day, early in the morning, at noon, evening and the last thing before retiring. When leaving the incubator room, glance back to make sure all lamps are in place and the egg trays in the machines. In testing eggs, do not chill or overheat them.

Be sure that you have plenty of fresh air in the incubator room at all times; especially late in the after-season when it begins to get hot.

A chick properly hatched is easy to raise. One improperly hatched is hard to raise at a profit. A large part of the chicks mortality is due to faulty incubation. They are not given the right start in life.—F. W. Kazmeier, Poultry Husbandman, Extension Service A. & M. College.

H. P. Cole was in Spur the past week circulating among the voters, furthering his candidacy for the sheriff's office.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY

Entered as second-class matter on September 12th, 1909, at the postoffice at Spur, Texas, under the Act of October 3, 1879.

Description Price, $1.50 Per Year.

FRAN McCLURE, Publisher.

W. Baker returned recently from an extended trip and visit into Oklahoma. He states that it is dry in that state, and that prospects for wheat crop is very slim. The indications are that the whole country this year will have the largest row crop for many years—and that being the case we may expect low prices for cotton as well as maize and corn. This is the year for farmers to surge produce "a living at home" and those who fail to do so may be forced to go back to the old credit system.

Trade in Spur

Durham Thomas, of two miles to the southeast of Spur, was here during the week selling home products and buying the few necessities which he is not yet producing on his farm. The day is coming when farmers will buy only luxuries in this country—because all the necessities of life can now be produced at home.

Trade in Spur

Mr. M. P. Harris will begin his work as pastor of the First Christian Church of Spur next Sunday, and the public is cordially invited to attend the services. Mr. Harris will move his family here from Lampasas at an early date.

Bein' bad don't hurt you. It's what comes after wards that causes all the grief.

Generally it's your Ma that comes afterwards; and she sure does wave a wicked wand.

You wouldn't say being bad is a gift so much as a habit. It grows on you, like a soft spot in an apple.

So a cop ain't much different from the man who peddles apples on a barrow. They both make money by getting rid of bad habits.

But it's the barrow man who gets rid of his first. He seems ashamed of them, and puts them un the bot tom of the bag.

Folks say I'm Wicked and will go where all bad boys go.

Won't they be pleased when they learn I'm in the movies!

But I'm in good company. Irvin S. Cobb is down here too. He writes my subtitles. Maybe you've heard of my friend Irv. Ne sometimes gets pieces in the papers—mostly when the regular editors are away on vacation.

THE PARTING OF THE WAYS.

The cotton planters are at the parting of the ways. One road—full acreage—leads to a positive and hopeless disaster; the other road—small acreage—leads to quick recovery and financial solvency. The future is in the keeping of the planters themselves. Under present conditions of supply and consumption, the carry over on August 1st, next, may be five million bales, and can not be less than three million bales. No authority estimates the consumption of American cotton at more than twelve million bales maximum for the next crop year, and the only safe course to pursue is to reduce acreage to the possibility of only eight million bales for the current year. Last year's acreage turns out to have been around thirty million acres, and except for the weevil devastation and adverse weather conditions, a crop of twelve million bales would have been possible, in which event cotton would have sold for 10c a pound, and the South would have been inevitably bankrupt.

The time has come to turn a deaf ear to sentimentalists. The South does not raise cotton for humanitarian purposes not with the object of clothing Chinese, Japanese, or what not, but primarily for the purpose of making a living; and there is no more reason why the south should produce a surplus of cotton than that a cotton mill should produce a surplus of goods, or a bank of issue keep out a redundant currency. In the case of the cotton mill or the bank, these can curtail at will, but in the case of the cotton planter, he has only one time within the year at which to curtail, which is the planting season.

A man has no more right to commit economic than physical suicide. The cotton planters know that a small crop of cotton has a greater monetary value than a large crop, and with this fact established and recognized, failure to reduce acreage to the point of the world's need for cotton would be nothing short of economic suicide.

Our slogan should be eight million bales of cotton for the next crop. With such a crop the world will have a sufficient supply of cotton, and this is the extent of the planters' obligation to humanitarian consideration. The South is on trial, its intelligence is being weighed in the balance.—Morning Star.

ADVERTISING IS NEWS

Billings (Mont.) Gazette: It is a safe venture that 80 per cent of the readers of newspapers read the advertisements also sheerly because of the general interest to be found in them. There is news value in a well-written advertisement, which is a thought for the consideration of those who think an advertising contract is something of a speculation, or who are careless in the preparation of their "copy."

An attractive advertisement compels the reader's attention. Everyone knows how at times, even in the midst of an interesting news item, his eye has been deflected by some outstanding sentence in a nearby ad, and how he has to read the ad before returning to the news story. Advertisements narrate the romance of business, they represent an individual art, they are instructive.

For instance, the classified advertisement page. The persons are innumerable who read it, not because they are searching for something definite, but because each little ad tells of something of interest to the active mind. Many are those who, reading the classified page because of this general interest only, find something there that interest them individually and directly, prompts a reply and performs a concrete service both for the advertiser and the reader.—Exchange.

L. C. Arrington, of near Dickens, was in Spur the first of the week. One can pass by the Arrington farm and readily see that he is a sure-enough farmer. His lands are all prepared for the planting season, and in the meantime in fine condition to take in all the rain that may fall. The fact that he owns two or three good farms is sufficient evidence, too, that he knows how to farm successfully.

C. B. Blankenship was greeting friends on the streets the past week. Mr. Blankenship recently sold his farm and ranch east of Spur, and is now without a home. He made a trip out into New Mexico some time ago with a view of locating, but he found nothing to beat the Spur territory. We suspect now that he is looking around here in the hope of buying another home here.

PRICES TALK!!

THE VERY LIFE OF BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY IS ADVERTISING

At the recently closed annual convention of the American National Livestock Association in Colorado Springs there was developed a fact of the most startling character: Producers and packers of meat and meat products MUST ADVERTISE! Who ever heard of such a thing? Meat eating is as old as the world, and the producers have not been accustomed to paying money for the exploitation of their line. They have wondered what has become of the meat eaters of the nation, but it has never occurred to them that the meat business was slipping away from them because of their self-imposed silence.

Meat producers and meat packers came together in the great Colorado Springs meeting and mutually agreed that they will have to advertise to put their commodities before the consumers of the country. This is a startling fact, yet to which all present agreed. The interests, beginning with the producers on the ranch and farm are alarmed. They have seen people fall away from the use of meats and take up various substitutes, including fish, fowls and vegetables, each and all of these latter lines keeping up a persistent and interesting line of ADVERTISING. The alarm reached the critical stage in the convention, and there was a cry of "what shall we do?" This question was answered wisely: ADVERTISE!

In a meeting of the panhandle Swine Breeders Ass'n. the other day Hereford, a member of the organization arose and asked: "What are we to do with our lard? we bring it into Hereford and cannot trade it for groceries—we cannot sell it—nobody wants it! The lard compounds and other cooking fats have taken the place formerly occupied by hog lard! The same answer should have been given, but the question was not opened to discussion: Advertise! The cooking compounds, the cooking oils, the substitutes have been putting themselves before the people in a very real way. They have been using the national as well as local mediums, and their customers were multiplied accordingly—at the expense of the unadvertised lard.

This article is not an argument for or against the use of meat or lard, but it is simply based upon facts as they exist. Both meat and lard have been in a measure relegated to the background, with the ascendancy of substitutes. The statement has been made by statisticians that at present the cattle supply is lower in the United States and the supply of hogs less than for many years in the past, and yet both of these meat producing animals are suffering from prices that are ridiculously low, to the hurt of the farmers.

It must be recalled that the World War called for the conservation of meat and fats, and the list of substitutes was a long and in a measure an inviting one. Some of this propaganda is still in the minds of the people. It hangs on persistently, and some of the people have learned what they have been led to believe a "better way" in the matter of living. This condition must be overcome with advertising. No, this is not as such, a boost for the advertising game, but is an inescapable fact recognized by men who are not engaged in the business, but who must be under the necessity of paying their money for the publicity that comes through the printed page. The fruit growers of California are an example of what is possible though advertising! When the nation became "dry" the grape growers of California threw up their hands and admitted themselves defeated. They were desperate, but still struggling, for they had their areas planted to grapes and must live from them. They started a judicious advertising campaign, and now they are reaping profits far in excess of those secured during days of open saloons and the making of wine.

These facts have been seen by the meat men of the country, and they are learning as all others have done, or must do, that no line is sufficiently

Help bridge over the dull season

Diversified farming knows no season, for it harvests crops throughout the year.

Keep at least two milch-cows

Cream checks, help pay grocery bills.

Have a hog for each Co-operative shipment. Thousands of dollars have been brought to our country already through these shipments. Be ready for the next one

Do not forget the chickens

125 hens means, eggs and chickens both, for the market and needless to say the money will be worth more now than later.

Try these suggestions the next six months, see how it is to get by what has always been the starving season in this country

People in all sections of the United States are "Bridging Over" by these diversified methods, and turning their big crops such as cotton, corn and wheat into money for new homes, paint and improvements for the old home. Lets make this year one of real thrift

A COMPARISON OF DEMONSTRATION AGENT WORK IN 9 DIST.

The following very interesting information is received respecting a comparison of County Demonstration Agent work in the Ninth District, which includes thirteen counties, of which Dickens is one.

County	No. Club Members	1921	1922
Nolan	222	225
Mitchell	17	10
Fisher	118	150
Lubbock	162	150
Dickens	402	400
El Paso	26	50
Erath	114	150
Falls	140	150
McLennan	14	100
Hamilton	196	200
Dawson	349	350
Eastland		100
Commanche		100
Total	1750	2225

The lack of increase in Dickens county for 1922 over 1921 is undoubtedly due to the fact that there has constantly been a much larger percentage of previous efficiency.

Dickens county's position in this list should be very gratifying to its citizenship.

"PECK'S BAD BOY" TO BE SEEN HERE

The long-heralded production, "Peck's Bad boy," with lovable little Jackie Coogan in the stellar role, will be the feature offering at the Gem Theatre commencing its engagement Thursday March 9th.

As a mischievous lad who makes a lot of trouble for his "Pa" and sets a whole town "by the ears," Jackie Coogan is said to give an even more delightful and amusing impersonation than that which brought him fame and fortune in Chaplin's "The Kid."

"Peck's Bad Boy" is an adaption of the works of the late Governor George Peck. The subtitles were written by that inimitable humorist, Irvin S. Cobb.

Appearing in support of Jackie in this latest photo play is an excellent cast which includes Dorris May, and Wheeler Oakman, James Corrigan, Charles Hatton and Baby Gloria Wood.

The production was recently given its Broadway premier at Strand Theatre in New York, where it was a sensational success. Critics were unanimous in their praise of the six-year old star and his first independent First National.

FEED A "BALANCED RATION" FOR EGG PRODUCTION

Feeding poultry for egg production is both a science and an art. Common sense must be used in addition to a balanced ration. It is necessary to feed a balanced ration, because the egg is made up of different proportions. A hen can not adjust the composition of the feed to the composition of the egg. If she is fed enough water and fat to make an egg but not enough protein and mineral matter, all she can do is wait until she gets the necessary protein and mineral matter. A good poultry man is as careful to guard against hens standing idle for lack of material as a good superintendent of a factory running short of material, thus forcing an overhead labor expense.

In feeding for egg production, always remember that it takes a fatter hen to be a laying hen, and it takes liberal feeding to have fowls in good condition. A hen in poor condition cannot produce eggs. When feeding for egg production we generally consider a ration that has 4.6 times as much carbohydrates and fat as protein, a balanced ration.

A certain amount of animal protein is necessary in every good egg laying ration. The same applies to mineral matter. This animal protein is found in milk, cottage cheese, beef scraps, green cut bone, meat, bugs, and insects.

Green cut bone before becoming tainted, makes a desirable food for laying hens, but when it costs much as beef scraps it is too expensive, because it contains too much water. Three ounces per hen a week is about the proper amount.

Green food is essential for laying hens. They should have all they can consume. When it is dry, we recommend irrigating a small patch to provide green pasture. Oats make a desirable green food, where it will not winter kill. Rye is recommended for the colder sections of the state. Beets, turnips, all kind of vegetables, silage, cabbage, clover, etc. are desirable green feeds for fowls.

Oyster shell, grit and charcoal should always be kept before fowls.

A dish of skim milk, sour milk, and a dish of water should always be available.

Never make any sudden changes in the ration or method of feeding.

A good way of feeding hens for egg production is as follows.

Early in the morning give a very sparing feed of corn, wheat, kafir or milo, or some similar grain. Keep before them all time the following mixture:

5 parts each of wheat bran, wheat middling or shorts, corn meal, ground milo; and 1 part each of cottonseed meal and peanut meal; 5 parts best grade poultry beef scrap; one-fifth lb. of salt.

About an hour and a half before sun set, give another feeding of grain in the litter. At this time give them all they will eat. It is important that fowls go to roost with a full crop. All of the above should be supplemented with milk and water in separate dishes.—F. W. Kazmeier, poultry husbandman.

A. B. Morgan, of the Espuela section of country, was in the city Saturday. Mr. Morgan handles jersey milk cows regularly, and informed us that his sales continue uninterruptedly regardless of dry weather. A little dry weather here during the winter does not excite the old timers of this section.

PRACTICAL RULES FOR FEEDING COWS BALANCED RATIONS

The following rules for feeding milk cows is given by J. W. Ridgeway, a former professor of dairy husbandry in Texas A. & M. College:

FOR ROUGHAGE.

1. Feed 1 pound hay and 3 pounds silage for each 100 pounds live weight when both are available.

2. Feed 1 and a half to 2 lbs. hay per 100 lbs live weight, when only hay is available.

3. Feed 3 and a half to 4 lbs. of silage per 100 lbs. live weight when only silage is available.

FOR CONCENTRATES.

Suggested mixtures with legume hays.

No. 1. 1 part C. S. meal; 1 part wheat bran; 4 parts corn or maize chops.

No. 2. 1 part C. S. meal; 4 parts ground corn and cob or ground maize heads.

No. 3. 1 part cottonseed meal, (do not feed more than 6 lbs. cotton seed daily); with such hays as sorghum, sudan, etc.

No. 1. 1 part cottonseed meal; 1 part wheat bran; 2 parts maize or corn chops.

No. 2. 1 part C. S. meal; 2 parts ground maize heads or corn and cob.

No. 3. 1 part cotton seed meal; 3 parts cotton seed (not over 6 lbs. daily).

1. Feed 1 lb. concentrate feed for each 3 lbs. milk when roughage is fed abundantly, otherwise 1 lb. for each 2 and a half lbs. milk.

2. Feed a bulky concentrate to secure maximum digestion.

The above is considered by experts as a "balanced ration" and from which best results will be obtained, therefore it would be well to paste this up on your barn door for future reference.

TO VOTERS OF DICKENS CO.

I take this opportunity of announcing my candidacy for the office of County Judge of Dickens County. But in the event the supervision of our schools is taken from the County Judge and the office of County Superintendent of public instruction be created, I am thenceforth a candidate for County Superintendent.

I have been solicited to enter this race by friends of education throughout the county, and since fully ninety per cent of the Judge's work is work pertaining to school affairs, we believe that the office should be filled by a school man.

And there can be no question as to which part of the judge's work is of the most importance. For who will contend that the education of two thousands of our boys and girls is of less importance than the trying of a few little misdemeanor cases?

Our county is becoming well known everywhere because of her excellent school system. But our school system will not continue excellent unless it shall be wisely and efficiently supervised.

As to my ability as a school man I point to my record of seven years in the schools of Dickens county, and invite the most careful investigation.

Not only do I feel qualified to serve as director of our schools, but as I have read law widely and had a course in law at the University of Texas, I feel thoroughly competent to preside as a trial judge and render decisions according to the law and the evidence.

In this race, I respectfully solicit the support of every one and assure you it will be gratefully appreciated.—H. A. C. Brummett.

MANUFACTURE EXCUSES FOR CONTROLLING MARKET PRICES

E. A. Bailey, of Steel Hill, was among the crowds on the streets last Saturday. He was among those who withheld cotton from the market to assist in boosting the price—but it seems that the efforts had very little effect, since the price continues low. The fact is that speculators and market controllers manufacture excuses for drops in the market. The other day it was reported that owing to threatening rains in West Texas the market price of cotton dropped a few points. Another fact is that all through the year we have never heard a valid excuse offered for the slump in prices—yet the price has continued to decline even below the actual cost of production. We believe that the only sure way for the farmers to control the price of cotton is to grow their own living and every thing they have to have on the farm, and then he can do what he pleases with any surplus crop.

NEW STYLE SHOP IS NOW DOING BUSINESS IN THE CITY

Mrs. Sol Davis and Miss Callie Smith returned recently from the wholesale markets where they purchased an attractive stock of millinery ladies notions and ready to wear, opening up their business the past week in the Wendell building with Brannen & Dobbins.

SPUR GOLF CLUB HAS BARBECUE AT TOURNAMENT PLAY

Members of the Spur Golf Club enjoyed a barbecue dinner with all the accessories Wednesday of last week, the occasion being a tournament contest in selecting the champion players of the team.

There were sixteen entrants in the contest, W. T. Andrews winning the championship with T. C. Ensey being the runner up.

About a year ago the Spur Golf Club was organized with a membership of five. At this time there are twenty seven members, and the club has one of the best courses in all of Western Texas. Recently more than one thousand dollars has been spent in fencing, improving and laying off a course on ground acquired just over the hill north of the city. The fact is that the Spur Golf Club now has an excellent course that the membership would not in the least be intimidated by inviting the most noted players for a tournament.

WILL WALKER ANNOUNCES FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

We are authorized to announce Will Walker as a candidate for county commissioner from this the 3rd precinct, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries in July.

Wil Walker is conservative and knows the needs of the county and is familiar with the workings of the commissioners in the varied administrative affairs. He is an experienced road worker and builder, and in this respect would be a valued asset on the board of commissioners.

If favored for the place, Will Walker will endeavor to serve the public efficiently and economically and represent the best interests of the county at large and precinct, in particular.

We ask voters to give Will Walker due consideration in the primary election.
