THE AMERICAN

THE BLESSINGS OF COMPETITION

By Harry Browne
Editor, American Progress
Magazine

This morning, upon arising, I brought in the milk from the front porch. The milk company that serves us has agreed to deliver the milk before I leave for work — a concession made to outbid another milk company for our business.

After dressing, I sat down to a breakfast made up of items carefully selected by my bargain hunting wife. If there's a better buy in town, she'll find it!

I then drove to the office in a car that was carefully selected to fit our tastes — selected from literally hundreds of designs, makes and types created in an attempt to please me.

Competition Assures Choice
My entire day was spent utilizing various articles and services that had been designed to fit my particular tastes. Meanwhile, my wife was out shopping again. In the process, she was flattered by offers of thousands of different products that had been thoughtfully fashioned to appeal to her fancy. She was given a latitude of choice never dreamed of by any Old World ruler. In short, she was in an American supermarket.

It would be easy to go on for pages, detailing the various ways in which the American consumer is flattered and pampered. But the point should be obvious from the examples cited: free competition has made the consumer a virtual king, whose every wish and need must be catered to by American industry.

It is amazing to hear the socialists speak of a mythical need for "cooperation instead of competition." Just suppose for a moment that such cooperation existed.

No Choice in Cooperation
In that case, the milk companies in my neighborhood would have cooperated, and none of them would supply us with an early-morning delivery. The supermarkets and food producers would have cooperated by not giving my wife any choice of products — and would have agreed not to lower prices, thereby cutting out all bargains. And cooperation surely would have saved the automobile industry so many different cars. With cooperation instead of competition as the keynote, they would have produced the one car that suited them best and forced me to take it.

Free Market Best
Free competition has given America the best the world can offer — lessened only by the degree of government infringement upon that freedom. Unfortunately, the ever-growing trend of government tampering with free competition threatens to de-throne King Consumer. Anti-trust laws that penalize service and success, competition with private enterprise, unearned privileges to unions, harassment by regulatory agencies — all these government activities inject artificial barriers that prevent the best competitors from calling at your door.

To further elevate our standard of living, we need to undo all these governmental mistakes. Once the market is truly free — free from government infringement — we will have achieved the highest possible standard of living for this stage in man's upward progress.

No Cleveland News This Week

We do not have our regular news column from Cleveland this week, due to the serious injury Sid Blanton suffered last Thursday morning. Because Mrs. Blanton has been with her husband most of the time, she has not had the opportunity to write the news, but said she would attempt to get all of it next week.

Mr. Blanton was seriously injured Thursday morning of last week while working on a gas well. His condition has improved considerably during the last few days and Mrs. Blanton said he was apparently going to completely recover from the near-fatal accident.

Town is Closed In Observance of Memorial Day

Most all the local stores will remain closed throughout the day Thursday, May 30, in observance of Memorial Day, which is one of six holidays observed during the year.

It is expected most service stations and cafes will be open and the drug store will be open during the morning hours. However, all the other business establishments will remain closed.

Memorial Day is the opening of the summer season. If you plan to travel, go swimming or boating, let us urge you to use the precautions that you know to use. Keep the holiday as accident free as possible.

Memorial Day Service To Be At 10 Thursday

The Santa Anna American Legion Post will hold their regular Memorial Day Service in the Santa Anna Cemetery at 10:00 a.m. Thursday. Everyone is invited to attend.

Earl Irick Sr., Adjutant, said the graves of all known veterans would be draped with the American Flag early in the day. Also the Legion will have a regular flag raising ceremony before the program gets underway.

Henry Westphal, Seventh-day Adventist minister from Menard, will be the speaker for the occasion. There will also be some special music.

Plentiful Foods Brighten Enjoyable June

College Station — Choose June. June scores high on all yardsticks of enjoyable livability. It's the beginning of the vacation season. Weather and natural beauties are at their apex. Special occasions like weddings and graduation brighten our schedules.

High on the list of June joys is the abundance of good food. Take the U.S. Department of Agriculture's list of plentiful, for example, suggests the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Milk and all dairy products head the list, naturally. June is Dairy Month, when milk production is at its seasonal peak. The plentiful tag applies to all dairy foods — whole, skim, dried, condensed and chocolate milk; ice cream; cream; half-'n-half; cheeses of all kinds; butter and even buttermilk. Use them generously, to heighten June enjoyment.

In the meat line, look for plenty of beef, pork and broiler-fryers. All are on USDA's June list. And prices are unusually attractive, as meat production exceeds normal needs.

Eggs also will be plentiful all June. Use them in salads, in baking, as gems of breakfast nutrition, or in egg noggs in combination with the abundance of milk.

Think of vegetables to complete your menus. Early-summer gardens are doing their best to provide a bit of everything for your June needs and pleasures. Lettuce should be particularly plentiful, says USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service that compiles the list of plentiful each month, in cooperation with growers and the food trade.

Bank Publishes List of Accounts Dormant 7 Years

Elsewhere in this issue of The News, the Santa Anna National Bank has published a complete list of their accounts that have had no transactions during the past seven years. This is the second such publication, as ordered by the State of Texas. The first publication was just a year ago.

If your name is listed, or if you know the whereabouts of any of the names listed, the bank would appreciate your contacting the person listed or letting the bank know the address so they can contact them.

All monies contained in these accounts will eventually have to be transferred to the State of Texas unless it is claimed by the rightful owner.

Two New Members Initiated Into Lions Club

Jake McCreary and Carl Autrey were initiated into membership of the Santa Anna Lions Club at the regular meeting Tuesday. Tail Twister W. R. Mulroy was in charge of the initiation.

Elgean Harris told the new members of the history of the Lions Club and how it has grown during the 46 years it has been in existence. Membership buttons and certificates were presented by the Lion Secretary, W. Ford Barnes.

Roy Home, president, announced the annual Ladies Night program would be held in the Elementary School Lunchroom Tuesday evening, June 11, at 8:00 p.m. Dr. Hill from Howard Payne College will be the principal speaker. All members of the club and their wives are urged to attend. Others who desire to are also invited to attend. Admission tickets are $1.50 each and may be obtained from W. R. (Bill) Mulroy.

FHA Expresses Their Thanks

Members of the Santa Anna FHA Chapter wish to express their thanks to Richard Horner and Ray Owen for their kindness in letting them wash cars at their service stations last week. The girls also wish to express their thanks to the many people of the community who had them to wash their cars.

The two days of washing cars was rather successful, even though the weather was somewhat on the inclement side.

The money will be used to help pay the expenses of sending Linda Pittard, Area Vice President, to the National Convention this summer.

Last Service To Be Held In The Presbyterian Church Sunday

The last service to be held in the First Presbyterian Church building in Santa Anna will be held at 11:00 a.m. Sunday, June 2. After the morning service the congregation will assemble outside the church for a final prayer, then the building will be locked and turned over to C. D. Gregory of Hamilton, Texas. Gregory will take the building down and in the near future a completely new building will replace it.

The church annex has also been sold and will be moved in the near future. The church lot will be completely cleaned, then a new structure will house the church and annex all under one roof. Worship services during the construction period will be held in the manse.

William S. Semple of Brownwood, has been employed as the architect for the new building. He will present his first plans to the congregation Sunday, June 9th, at 7:30 p.m. The church has retained all the furnishings of the building and will also retain all the colored glass windows. One window, dedicated to the memory of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Oakes, will be put in the new building. Plans are also being made to save the bell and put it in the new building. Present estimated cost of the new structure will be about $30,000.

The present structure was

Social Security Monthly Total $71,000 For This County

Have you ever wondered just what happens to the social security taxes that you pay? Does it ever get back to the people who pay the taxes? The answer is "Yes," according to Don Austin, Field Representative from the Abilene Social Security Administration District Office.

At the present time, social security benefits are being paid at the rate of over 14 billion dollars a year. More than 18 million people receive a benefit each month.

Contrary to what many people believe, not all social security beneficiaries are aged, retired people. Over two million children and 434,000 young widowed mothers are getting benefits under the program. In addition, monthly benefits are now being paid to about 700,000 disabled workers and to 500,000 wives and children of these disabled workers.

Right here in Coleman County, over $71,000 will be paid about June 5 in social security benefits for May 1963. These benefits are primarily intended for the beneficiaries' own economic security, but they also help business in the community. Most of the money is spent immediately for food, clothing, and other necessary expenses.

"It is interesting to note that the average old-age benefit nationally for December 1962, was $76.19 and that the average such benefit for this State was $68.49, and $61.32 for Coleman County," Austin added.

Adult Education Homemaking Class To Begin Tuesday

Mrs. Winnie McQueen, homemaking instructor of the Santa Anna High School, announces an Adult Education Homemaking Class will begin Tuesday of next week. The class will be held in the Homemaking Laboratory at the high school. All ladies of the Santa Anna School area who are interested are invited to register and attend the classes.

Mrs. McQueen said she had received a number of requests for an adult class in the basic technique of sewing. This is the primary purpose of the class, but if other classes are desired, she will also instruct them.

All ladies who are interested are requested to come by the high school between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. Tuesday, June 4. Then that night at 8:00 p.m. Everyone registered will meet in the Homemaking Lab to discuss further plans, set up a time for the class and discuss any other homemaking topics desired.

completed in 1909, and was the first brick church building in Santa Anna. The congregation, which was organized in 1885, began work on the building in 1905.

About the same time a movement to unite the Cumberland Presbyterian Church and the United States of America Presbyterian Churches got underway. This movement delayed the construction of the building for several months. The two church bodies united, forming an official union in 1906. However, many churches were divided by the union effort and became separate congregations in the same communities. This was the case in Santa Anna. By civil action, the church properties passed into the hands of the united group.

Members of the Santa Anna Presbyterian Church, who elected to follow the union, completed the building in 1909.

The next building project undertaken by the church was in 1924, when the group began work to construct a manse as a home for pastors of the church. The manse was completed, and the Rev. Mr. J. M. Burrow was the first pastor to occupy it.

In 1948 the church borrowed $1,000 and bought a barracks building from the Camp Bowie area in Brownwood, to be used for Sunday School classes. The building was moved to the site of the present Fellowship Hall. The loan was repaid within 18 months.

A rebuilding program for the manse began in November, 1956 and improvement costs reached a total of $5,000. A paving program costing $2,300 saw the paving of the parking lot around the church. In 1960 the sanctuary and other parts of the building were repaired. Other improvements included the bell tower and exterior of the building.

Nine pastors have served the church since 1906, with Dr. Ben H. Moore pastoring the church since 1943. Other pastors include the Rev. J. M. Youres, the Rev. G. A. Crane, the Rev. T. W. Davidson, the Rev. J. H. King, the Rev. W. S. McNutt, the Rev. J. M. Barrow, the Rev. J. W. Brown, and the Rev. M. L. Womack.

State Capital NEWS

Austin — Members of Gov. John Connally's "Committee of 25" — to study education beyond the high school — have only one thing in common . . . they're all Texans.

Twenty-three, however, have something else in common — they are college graduates. Ten hold master's degrees and five have doctorates.

Eight have something else in common — they attended Connally's alma mater, The University of Texas.

Other than that, their backgrounds vary.

Included are lawyers, bankers, contractors, telephone executives, oil men, engineers, a district judge, a hospital administrator and educators.

Committee is composed of: George R. Brown, Martin Burns, Morgan J. Davis, and Mrs. Ray L. Dudley of Houston.

Also, James H. Dunn and Mrs. Albert B. Martin of Amarillo; John Erik Jonsson, Willis M. Tate and Gifford K. Johnson of Dallas.

Austinites are Vernon McDaniel, J. M. Odum and Dr. Harry H. Ransom.

Others include Sister Mary Vicent O'Donnell and H. B. Zachry of San Antonio; Elmer H. Danner, San Angelo; Jenkins Garrett, Fort Worth; and Judge Reynaldo G. Garza, Brownsville.

Also, John E. Gray, Beaumont; H. H. Imray, Longview; Ben W. Jones, Corsicana; Dr. Abner McCall, Waco; Dr. Earl Rudder, College Station; Tom Sealy, Midland; M. Harvey Weil, Corpus Christi; and Dr. Dossie M. Wiggins, Lubbock.

Odessa Out

The expected bumper crop of college students in 1965 will have two more state colleges to choose from. Angelo State College in San Angelo and Pan American College in Edinburg join the state-supported system in the fall of 1965.

But Odessa Junior College still will be a junior college, despite strong efforts by Rep. Geo. Cook of Odessa and Sen. Frank Owen III of El Paso.

State Studies Projected

When the 58th Legislative session ended, lawmakers immediately began to study possible legislation for the 59th Legislature.

Interim committees of legislators will look into guidance training testing in public schools; boating safety; reservoir planning; Texas bays; care and discovery of tuberculosis cases; poverty and indigency in the state; State and Local Tax Policy; and a thorough survey of the oil and gas industry.

Women Win Small Victory

The army of women's clubs, led by Mrs. Hermine Tabolowsky of Dallas, lost their session-long battle to get the Legislature to approve a proposed constitutional amendment by Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan to provide "equal rights" for women.

Moore's amendment was lodged in a reluctant House Insurance committee at the session's end.

But they did gain something in the way of equal property rights under bills passed by Rep. George Cowden of Waco to:

1. Give married Women the right to manage and sell their separate property without their husband's consent.
2. Take away the "examination apart" required of notaries public.

New AG Sets Record

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr reports that his Bond Division set an all-time record for bonds examined and approved during the first four months of his administration.

He stated that the record of 274 bond issues approved — $189,000,000 worth — exceeded the first third of any calendar year since the Attorney General's office was first given these duties in 1905.

Also since January 1, Carr's office has handled a total of 1,311 cases: 986 won, 61 lost and 264 disposed of in other ways.

Cotton Deadline Extended

Agriculture Commissioner J. C. White announced a 10-day extension of the cotton planting deadline in 17 coastal counties. Extension to June 1 was due to extremely dry weather in the coastal bend area.

Planting of the state's 1963 cotton crop is three-fourths complete, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting service.

Judge's Pay

Another legislative study will concern the pay needs of judges.

One of the most controversial subjects during this legislative session has been the proper pay for district judges.

State pays all district judges an annual salary of $12,000. Many counties supplement this. Many more have asked their representatives to pass bills this session to authorize county supplements.

Lawmakers from districts where judges get only $12,000 or a slight supplement have battled every bill that called for increased pay. Some increases would have run as high as $20,000 a year. Rural members argue that judicial salaries like that cause too much competition.

Rep. Maurice Pipkin of Brownsville noted that creation of a new Court of Civil Appeals in Corpus Christi and the opening of three justice jobs at $15,000 caused a flood of applications.

Gold In Them Hills?

People who think a hidden fortune may lie "somewhere north of the Big Bend" may get a chance to test their theory under a new law. It allows prospector permits for 640 acres, at 25 cents an acre annual rental, for a maximum of five years.

Rep. Grainger McIlhany of Waco, author of the bill, noted that present law limits a hard-metals prospector to 40 acres.

Watersheds

Speed-up in planning watershed flood protection projects won approval from the Senate-House conference committee on appropriations.

It allocated $100,000 a year to the State Soil Conservation Board to be used to plan small-watershed programs.

U. S. Soil Conservation Service funds for planning are limited. So some watershed districts have raised money and hired the planning done, rather than wait for the U. S.

State program will help in the same fashion.

Salt Water

State agencies are moving deeper into the field of stopping oilfield pollution of fresh water strata.

New Texas Water Pollution Control Board gives oilmen in Gaines County until December 1 to stop using open pits for salt water disposal.

Railroad Commission issued a similar order for Menard and part of Schleicher Counties. Agencies have concurrent powers in this field.

Beach Speeds

Voters said last November that it would be fine with them if the Legislature gave Gulf Coast county commissioners courts authority to pass ordinances regulating speed and littering on public beaches like Padre Island.

Rep. James L. Lattimore of Corpus Christi passed such a speeding bill through the House. Ironically, he was killed in a traffic accident.

But Governor Connally felt the law was too vague, because of amendments placed in it by the House. So he vetoed it.

Rep. Charles Scoggins, Corpus Christi Republican who replaced Lattimore, tried to get the House to override the governor's veto. Although he got a majority vote of 78-62, it fell short of the two-thirds needed to override.

American Republic Tailored* Protection

LEARN THE FACTS ABOUT

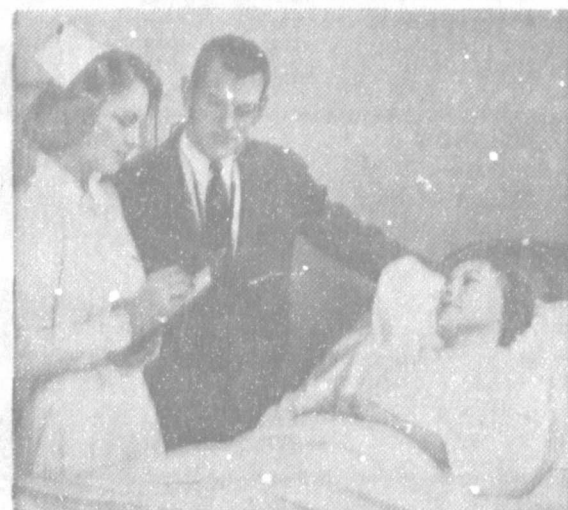

The Secret of Buying Hospital Insurance that PAYS

DOCTOR BILLS often are a big part of the expense connected with a sickness or accident. An American Republic Plan can help pay these bills for you in time of need.

SURGEONS' BILLS, TOO, can wreck a family budget. An American Republic Plan can help pay the costs of operations. Look for the man who can explain these plans to you.

HOSPITAL EXPENSES have been going up at the rate of nearly 1% a month since 1950. An American Republic Plan can help pay these bills when you need money most.

On its record of paying claims—the most important way to judge any insurance company—American Republic ranks Number One among the "Top 40" firms in its field. The few minutes it takes you to learn about American Republic "Tailored" Protection may be worth hundreds of dollars to you—at a time when you may need every cent you can lay your hands on!

Today, eight out of ten families have some kind of hospital, surgical or medical insurance. But the need for this type of protection is greater than ever. Hospital and medical care costs have been going up nearly 1% each month since 1950. If your present policy is two years old or older, and was adequate when you bought it, the chances are good that you need more coverage right now.

With over 900 companies writing individual accident and health insurance, how can you choose the company that's best for you? Experts say the best way is to ask: What is the company's record for paying claims?

According to the latest available issue of the Statistical Edition and Argus Chart of the National Underwriter Company, publishers of official insurance statistics since 1897:

Of the top 40 companies writing individual accident and health insurance, American Republic Insurance Company of Des Moines, Iowa, ranks FIRST in percent of premium dollars paid to policyholders in claim benefits.

American Republic policyholders also enjoy the important benefits of TAILORED Protection. This feature makes it possible for qualified people OF ALL AGES to have up-to-date health insurance protection—and, at the same time, avoid buying coverage they may not want or need.

Even if you already have hospitalization insurance, American Republic TAILORED Protection can start where your present coverage leaves off. And it pays fully stated benefits in addition to any amounts you may collect from any other health insurance policy you may now have.

American Republic Representatives are now contacting residents of this community to explain American Republic TAILORED Protection. One of these representatives will call on you soon. Watch for him.

FREE FILM SHOWING IN YOUR OWN HOME

Fully-qualified, specially-trained American Republic Representatives are pledged to show an educational and informative color film to all residents of this county. The American Republic TAILORED Protection Plans will be fully explained and will be available to all who qualify.

It's Time For... EYE CARE

Dr. Newton E. Wesley
WEAK EYES

"Are my eyes weak?" "Why is it that my eyes become progressively worse each time I visit my eye doctor?" These are frequently asked questions of an eye doctor. Some patients are very concerned about this "weakness" of their eyes and how they require stronger and stronger lenses.

Just because one needs a stronger lens in order to make the eye focus better does not mean there is a weakness present. It depends upon the cause. A camera that is out of focus is not a weak camera; all it requires is a change in focus. The eye functions the same way. To regain the proper focus the distance between the image and the back of the eye, where the image is registered, is altered. Since you obviously cannot adjust the eye itself a spectacle lens or a contact lens aids the eye in correcting the focus.

The eye is considered weak only where some disease is present. If this is not true, and the changes are created by normal physiological changes, then I would consider the eye healthy — and not weak. This is why regular visits to your eye doctor are recommended. He can tell what is wrong and you cannot. The National Eye Research Foundation advises an eye examination every six months.

Fed up with "No Win"

The Birmingham race riot is believed here to be but a forerunner of other explosive incidents that may erupt during the immediate future. One observer said: "This looks like a big year for the agitators." Spearheaded by Dr. Martin Luther King, the NAACP went so far as to call thousands of school children away from their classes in Birmingham to swell the ranks of the demonstrators. King, a close friend of Bobby Kennedy, proved his ability to trigger violence by his Alabama venture.

Actually, most of the racial tension, and the occasional racial clashes, are traceable to the politicians and the professionals in the NAACP. Earlier this year the Republican leaders in Congress out-did the Democrats by proposing Civil Rights legislation beyond anything the Democrats had come up with. It was a bold attempt to capture some of the negro votes and counter Bobby Kennedy's political strategy. Following that, the White House announced the Democrats would come up with something real big in this field. In the meantime, Martin Luther King and entourage moved in on Birmingham to create a crisis, followed by 3,000 anti-riot troops being ordered to the outskirts of Birmingham by the President. That dramatic act was followed by Bobby's secret meeting in New York with a group of negro leaders. The meeting, however, was leaked to the press.

Ordering troops to Alabama despite the fact that the President told his news conference no federal law had been violated, has given rise here to some serious concern about the Constitutionality of the move. One observer thinks the Attorney General may have blundered when he advised his brother such action was legal under the Constitution. It is reported, however, that Bobby is confident the Supreme Court will sustain his position and vindicate his advice.

Article IV of the Constitution permits the deployment of federal troops to deal with a local problem only "... on application of the Legislature or of the Executive — when the Legislature cannot be convened." In the Alabama case, no request was made. In fact, the troop order was protested by the Governor, who contended it was unconstitutional and might tend to encourage rioting by assuring rioters that federal protection would be provided if needed.

It is believed the Supreme Court will approve the troop order, but there remains an undercurrent of concern because of the precedent that may be established, by having the federal government, of its own volition, intervene to deal with a local problem where no federal law is being violated. If such unsolicited federal intervention is applied in connection with a racial incident, then the question occurs: What other local incident might inspire a future President to invoke the all-powerful military might of the federal government? It is something to think about.

Mrs. Hal Ragsdale of Ossining, New York, arrived Saturday to visit her mother, Mrs. Fern Hoke and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McCaughan.

Fred Oakes of Fort Worth was a weekend visitor with his father, J. T. Oakes and his sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McClellan.

Apparently the rule concerning sinus trouble is this: if you're human you're susceptible. Thus, if you suffer from a sinus condition either chronically or occasionally, you are in excellent company. A nasal sinus is a lined cavity in the face bone which opens into the nose. There are two important ones on each side of the face: one in each cheek bone, and one over each eye. Cheekbone sinuses are triangle-shaped, large enough to hold half an ounce of fluid. Oversized ones can hold up to a full ounce. Eyebrow sinuses are smaller, the average having a fluid capacity of one-fifth ounce. Sinuses are lined with mucous membrane, a continuation of the membrane lining the nasal cavity. When a sinus lining becomes inflamed enough to interfere with drainage, there is trouble ahead. There are all sorts of speculation as to what good purpose sinuses serve. Some specialists believe they warm and moisten air as it is inhaled. Others believe that sinuses, like the appendix, are evolutionary remnants which are sometimes more harmful than useful. Sinus sufferers subscribe unanimously to this latter theory. But the truth probably is that sinus cavities serve as resonating chambers for the voice. Whether a person has a high or low pitched voice, according to this reasoning, is dependent on the size of his sinuses. There are as many different causes of sinus inflammation as there are people suffering from it. Infection-producing agents such as viruses, and irritants such as pollens and dust are most often the cause. But facial injuries, infected teeth, and other conditions can also bring on flare-ups. What to do about it? Make sinuses drain, which is a little like telling the wind to stop blowing. Still, it can be done if the cause of the inflammation is removed. Temporary relief can sometimes be obtained with dilating drugs or inhalers, but the basic cause should be determined and treated by a physician.

Live Oak Trees Dying Off in Some Areas of Texas

Texas' stately live oak trees, often symbols of strength and longevity, are dying off in some areas from a malady yet to be identified.

Texas A&M plant scientists have started a research program to determine the ailment's nature and how it can be controlled. In the meantime, the mystery has been assigned the catch-all name of "Live Oak Decline."

Whatever the trouble is, it's playing hob with the live oak population in an area bounded on the east by Jasper County, on the west by Kimble, Menard and Taylor Counties, on the north by Young and Delta Counties, and appropriately on the south by Live Oak County.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bray were in San Antonio over the week-end visiting friends.

Lawn Mowers Can Be Dangerous

A common sound these days is the one made by operating power lawn mowers. They are a necessary tool for keeping the lawn mowed and in good shape, but, warns the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, they can become a lethal weapon when improperly used.

The rotary type mower can become a real accident hazard not only to the operator but to persons who may be nearby when used to mow lawns or weeds where rocks, bones, pieces of wire, nails or other debris are present. The Council reports that about this time of the year the number of accidents involving lawn mowers begins to increase and that chances are good some one in your neighborhood has been a victim.

The cutting blade can be broken by striking a hard object and hurled through the air. Wire can be cut in short pieces and hurled at bullet speed. Be sure, warns the Council, that the area mowed is free of such objects and that the mower is constructed so as to prevent objects being hurled toward the operator.

The Council suggests safety measures which, if followed, could prevent many accidents involving lawn mowers and other tools. Never, they say, try to make adjustments to a mower while the engine is running. It could cost you a finger or hand. It's good business to remove the wire from the sparkplug before attempting to repair or adjust the cutting blade or remove accumulations of grass or weeds from under the mower.

Children should never be allowed to operate a mower nor should a person who is barefooted or wearing open toed shoes. The engine should be cool before refueling and if an electric mower is used be sure the extension cord is in perfect condition.

The folks who make lawn and trimming equipment are concerned about the user's safety and have made recommendations to insure a long and useful life for the machine and operator. They put this information in an operator's manual. The Council strongly recommends that all power tool operators become familiar with their manual.

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS FROM THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSN. Sunburn

It's time again for that first sunburn of the season. Here's how to do it.

Go to the beach or pool on the first hot day. Stay all day in the sun in your swim suit, particularly through the noon hour, when the rays are most penetrating. Don't bother with protective lotions. It really is very easy to get a painful, almost crippling burn. If you stay out long enough, you can even get a deep third-degree burn.

Actually, tanning has no physical value. Exposure to the sun is damaging to the skin. Sunlight speeds wrinkling and aging, and excessive exposure over a period of time can cause serious skin conditions. Physicians would prefer that their patients avoid exposure to the sun as much as possible.

However, medical men also are aware that sun tanning is widespread in America and probably will continue to be popular despite its potential hazards. Thus doctors advise their patients to take precautions to reduce the skin damage from tanning as much as possible.

The human skin varies greatly in the amount of sun it can absorb. Dark-skinned, dark-haired, dark-eyed persons can take considerable sun without burning. Redheads, blondes, blue-eyed, fair-skinned people need to be more wary.

You must to some extent learn for yourself how much sun you can take without burning. A time-table that will suit many of us is as follows:

First day, expose skin to sun for 15 to 20 minutes. This means 15 or 20 minutes each on face and back. Second day increase exposure by one-third, to a little less than half an hour. Third day, again increase exposure by one third, to from 30 to 40 minutes. And so on.

By the fourth day, a new pigment will begin to darken your skin. In a week you should have enough skin thickening and pigmentation to give considerable protection against burning sunshine.

Most of the suntan lotions contain chemicals called sunscreens. The better lotions allow you to stay in the sun longer with less risk of burning. They don't shut out all rays, or you would never tan at all. The suntan pills, used under medical direction and obtained by prescription, can help "easy burners" acquire a less painful tan, but they're not for self-dosage.

If, after you've read this, you still go out and get sunburned, treat it as you would any other burn. Use soothing lotion to ease the pain. If the burn is unusually deep and painful, see a doctor.

Keep Grasshoppers On Ice

Here's a new wrinkle that very few fishermen have tried. Live bait anglers, who use grasshoppers as bait, should store the critters in a refrigerator overnight so they will be stiff. This makes them easy to stick on the hook.

A few minutes' exposure to the sun, or warm fishing waters, will bring the hoppers back to active life.

TESTING TIME FOR BARGAINING

Collective bargaining seems by now to have become an American institution. Yet, the set-up we have today is not exactly what the architects of the Wagner Act, all friends of labor envisioned. Apparently they looked forward to the time when the boss and his workers would sit down around the bargaining table and sincerely try to reach agreements that would serve the best interests of both. Possibly there exists some plant somewhere in which are practiced honest and straightforward relationships between management and workers. If so, it's a good bet that both sides are happy and responsible in dealings with each other.

But today too often labor unions have grown into "industry wide" agencies that require experts from afar to debate vast, complicated wage structures for plants throughout the nation. Negotiators are trained more in the use of cold statistical data than in the practice of human relations. Union leaders at the top often set up "line" organization, yet find it increasingly difficult to "keep in touch." Local bargaining tends to become a forgotten technique of the dim past. Unions become increasingly subject to charges of "monopoly."

Power Vacuum

Even Labor Secretary Wirtz himself has suggested that collective bargaining is on trial, and that labor and management will have to demonstrate that they can work out their problems themselves. The Alternative, government take-over has made steady inroads toward assuming full responsibility. As bargaining methods have failed month after month in a half-dozen major conflicts, the cry goes up: "Why doesn't the government do something?"

The government has, as a matter of fact, done too much. As the steel companies one by one reluctantly pass on increasing costs to consumers, the White House gives permission for "selective" price increases. Nothing legal at all about it, mind you, as there are no price control laws on the books. And now what will the White House do when the steel workers ask (the companies didn't ask) permission next?

Loss of Freedom

The idealism of "public interest" impels the National Labor Relation Board to search out every dispute actually or potentially in the public interest and some that aren't, in an effort to see that all sides are protected from themselves and each other. The government is already in labor up to its ears. When the government has to go beyond its own guidelines, as it did in forcing a settlement on the longshoremen, it looks like the government prefers one tactic: the application of power from which there is no retreat.

The government is on its way to greater participation, not less, in labor-management disputes unless Congress can halt the trend with clear voice and firm legislation. Years of NLRB activities have entered that bureaucracy into thousands of day-to-day relationships all over the nation. With an Administration in power that likes to keep the electorate with it by repaying favors, the continued assumption of power is a daily spectacle.

Whose Bad Faith?

The NLRB, whose average time of processing unfair labor charges is 350 days, recently declared that General Electric bargained "in bad faith" in contract negotiations a few years ago. The company had made extensive, detailed studies as to what it could with fairness pay the employees, but when its proposals were rejected by the union the government said it resisted making substantial changes and thus was guilty of bad faith. Several locals, in the meantime, had booted the national headquarters and accepted GE's offer. None of this pleased the NLRB.

Of this case, the Wall Street Journal said editorially: "This kind of thinking is reinforcing the double standard of bargaining. The unions can put their demands on a take-it-or-leave-it basis anytime they want and, if companies balk, call a strike. But for managements, apparently, there can be no such stopping place or they are acting in bad faith. That kind of collective bargaining may still be called collective, but a better word would be coercive." It would seem to be time for the Nation as a whole, perhaps through the Congress, to ask what kind of faith it is that American can place in labor and management, as well as in the intervention of government.

Read II Timothy 1:1-7
Rekindle the gift of God that is within you. . . for God did not give us a spirit of timidity but a spirit of power and love and self-control. (II Timothy 1:6-7. RSV).

Through his mother and grandmother, Timothy had developed a sincere faith. Then the time came when he needed to put his faith into action. His spiritual father, the Apostle Paul, recognized Timothy's great possibilities, and encouraged him to undertake the things he knew to be right. But Timothy was not a self-starter; he was hesitant to undertake the things he knew to be right.

How many of us are Timothys! We have faith in Christ and feel led by the spirit to follow a certain action, but we hesitate. "How will this action affect my business?" "I am trying to increase my security. Will this action tend to make me less secure?" "What will my friends and neighbors think?"

Paul said, "Never be ashamed of your testimony to our Lord, . . . but take your share of suffering for the sake of the Last week a strong and vigorous 50-year-old Central Texas dairyman suddenly crumpled unconscious to the floor of his dairy barn while going about his routine chores. The doctor's diagnosis was quick and sure: Stroke. That's one of the most ominous words in the language today. What does it really mean?

The medical term is "cerebral vascular accident," because it is caused by a cerebral vascular disease. The body's cerebral vascular system is the brain's network of blood vessels. Thus, cerebral vascular disease refers to diseases of blood vessels in the brain.

Brain cells require a good blood supply in order to work properly — more so than most other body cells. When something happens to that blood supply, the brain itself is impaired.

That something could be the result of a hemorrhage, thrombus, embolus, compression, or a spasm. Each one of those key words is a major cause of paralysis.

A hemorrhage (bleeding) is the result of a break in a brain artery which allows blood to escape and damage surrounding brain tissue. Apoplexy or stroke is this type of a hemorrhage. A thrombus is caused by a clot of blood forming in a brain artery, stopping the flow of blood to the part of the brain it supplies. When a clot is formed in a diseased heart or elsewhere in the body and pumped down to the brain to plug up an artery, it is called an embolus.

A tumor, swollen brain tissue, or a large clot in another vessel may press upon a brain vessel to stop the flow of blood. This is called compression. A spasm is caused when a brain artery temporarily constricts or tightens up, reducing the flow of blood to a particular brain area.

With present medical knowledge it is not possible to prevent the majority of cerebral accidents, except—high blood pressure, for example — can often be helped by modern treatment.

Farm Fires Cause Record Losses in 1962

Farm fire losses in the nation during 1962 reached an all-time high of $175 million, according to estimates of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This is 7 percent above the $163 million for 1961 and a million dollars higher than the previous record set in 1959.

The estimate, made by USDA's Economic Research Service, was based on the farm fire-loss experience of a sample of 226 farmers' mutual fire insurance companies in 27 states and on the valuation of farm buildings as furnished by crop reporters.

The volume of insurance carried by these companies amounted to approximately $11 billion at the end of 1962, and their fire and lightning losses totaled about $16.9 million last year. For 1961 and 1962 combined, their loss rates averaged about 15 cents per $100 of insurance.

Farm fires continued to strike about two of 100 farms each year. The "burning rate" (percent of value destroyed) for farm and rural property is about six times that for urban property, according to annual reports of state fire marshals in three midwestern states.

Buildings and their contents accounted for about 85 percent of fire losses paid by the sample companies. Dwellings and contents accounted for 42 percent; barns and their contents, 27 percent; and other buildings including rural churches and schools, 16 percent.

Personal property, chiefly machinery and equipment, livestock and unstored produce, accounted for the other 15 percent of losses paid. About 80-90 percent of the losses paid on livestock were due to lightning.
