THE AMERICAN WAY

WHO OWNS YOUR PROPERTY?

By Harry Browne
Editor, Freedom Magazine
(formerly American Progress)

You work hard, employing your talents and skills, utilizing your energy, serving your company and your community.

You work hard to obtain the goods and services you need. You receive wages or profits or interest or rent — and you exchange what you get for what you need and want.

What you receive is yours—it is the fruit of your labor. It is you who will determine what will be done with it—not your neighbor, nor your government. It is your property.

Basis of Rights

The concept of private property is at the heart of our morality and our nation's economic success. The sanctity of your property is grounded in the Commandment "Thou shalt not steal." And the incentive provided by private property has made America the wealthiest nation in the world.

Despite this, however, the trend in America is in the other direction. Laws are being passed that take your property from you—or, in some cases tell you what you may do with it.

Presidential Divestment

The President of the United States has decided that owners of hotels, motels, restaurants and other businesses no longer have the right to determine to whom they will provide their services. He has also decided that it is up to him to determine a fair price for the steel produced by private companies with their own facilities.

These developments — although contrary to the American way — are not unique. They are only further symptoms of the same illness. They are the logical steps that follow government ownership of railroads, electricity companies, airlines, schools and thousands of other enterprises. It is the natural sequel to rent control, to "fair housing" bills that force owners to rent or sell to people not of their choosing, and to Sunday closing bills that force merchants and buyers to transact business at times not of their choosing.

It is time we choose between the moral concept of "Thou shalt not steal" and the Communist concept of the "abolition of private property." There is no middle ground.

America Choose!

Either America begins now to move forward toward freedom and private ownership—or else we go back to the dark ages where government will tell us what we can and can't do, and we will all live in slavery and poverty.

It is time that we, the people, start making demands. It is time we demand that government give up its ownership of industrial capacities and large land areas. It is time we demand an end to all restrictive legislation that attempts to tell us how we may use our own property.

In short, it is time we drown out the demagogic lures to slavery with persuasive demands for freedom.

The future of your home, your job, your property is at stake.

Book Available On Problems of Older Americans

"The Older American," a report on the President's Council on Aging, is now available from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C. Price of the book is 50 cents per copy.

The report is a brief portrayal of the situation that faces nearly 18 million Americans over 65 years of age. Divided into four categories, each concerns a particular problem facing the aging population.

The first is entitled, "Who Is The Older American?" This deals with the individuality of each — his hopes, aspirations and capacities.

"Ever Independent" concerns the importance of enabling older Americans to live in maximum independence.

"A Place in the Community" has to do with the importance to them and to society—of their social and community participation rather than rejection and isolation because of age.

"Someone to Care" deals with the need for special assistance for those who are dependent or otherwise at a disadvantage.

A fifth section in the report is entitled, "A Short Look Back, A Long Look Ahead."

Nearly 10 percent of the population of the United States is considered in the Older American group. This includes three ex-Presidents, 1½ million farmers, more than one out of four U.S. Senators, almost 2 million people working full time, more than 10,000 people over 100 years of age, over 12½ million people getting social security, over 2.3 million war veterans, over 3 million people who have migrated from Europe to the United States.

Savings Bond Sales Reach $6,881 During May

Bond sales in Coleman County totaled $6,881 during May according to Mr. Robert I. Bowen Jr., Chairman of Coleman County Savings Bonds Committee.

Savings Bonds sales in Texas during the month of May were $11,844,620. This represents an increase of 3% over May 1962.

"I was happy to note the sales increase in Texas during May and feel confident that this is a direct result of the outstanding support given to the Freedom Bond Drive by bond volunteers, newspapers, radio and TV stations, organizations, and others. The Texas Bond Committee salutes these groups for their patriotic support of the Bond Program," Chairman Bowen said.

July 4 To Be Holiday Here

Thursday, July 4, will be observed as a holiday in Santa Anna. All local stores will remain closed for the day.

Independence Day is one of seven selected by local merchants to observe as a holiday.

USDA Reviews Program Provisions For '64 Wheat Crop

The wheat program for 1964 under provisions of existing law are reviewed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in response to questions that have arisen since the referendum of May 21.

Price support will be available to producers who plant within the acreage allotments which have been established for the 1964 wheat crop. Allotments were announced in April. The national average support price will be 50 percent of parity. (The present parity price is $2.51 per bushel.) There will be no marketing quota penalties for planting in excess of acreage allotments. However, the statute provides that producers who overplant their allotments will receive "history" credit only in the amount of their allotments.

Farmers who have Conservation Reserve contracts agreed to plant within their farm acreage allotments, and this means that the 1964 Conservation Reserve payment for the farm is dependent on compliance with the wheat acreage allotment.

Wheat that was grown in excess of marketing quotas in the past will be subject to the original penalty provisions until July 1, 1964. After that date, stored excess wheat may be released without penalty. The amount of such wheat in storage on farms and in warehouses is estimated at 45 million bushels. This could be increased from the 1963 crop, which is subject to marketing quotas, and excess wheat from this crop may be stored by the producer to avoid payment of the penalty. On the other hand, underplanting or underproduction of 1963-crop wheat could result in the early release of excess wheat that had been stored from previous crops to avoid payment of penalty.

Other items of interest to growers in administration of the 1964 wheat program without marketing quotas include:

—ASC county committees will hear all appeals of 1964 farm wheat acreage allotments. Farmers have 15 days from the date of the county committee's decision to appeal to the ASC State Committee if they do not agree with the county committee decision.

—Hearings on appeals of farm normal yields will not be scheduled because the yield figures will not be applicable for 1964. Where producers wish to furnish proven yield data, such data will be filed in the county office with other records of that farm.

8 Traffic Deaths Expected July 4th

Austin — The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety reported today the state is approaching the mid-point in the year amid definite indications that traffic deaths will hit an all-time high in 1963.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr. at the same time announced that the expected traffic death toll for the Fourth of July is eight fatalities, and called upon Texas drivers to "make this holiday the turning point in this year's traffic toll."

"If we continue to take lives at the present rate 1963 will become the most deadly year in Texas history for traffic fatalities," he said. "Motorcycles at this time are over 100 more than at the same time last year, and considering the trend of increased accidents and casualties, we have every reason to expect that traffic deaths will exceed the previous all time high in Texas of 2,611 in 1956."

Garrison said that "Operation Motorcade" will be placed in effect from 12:01 a.m. until 11:59 p.m. July 4 in order to focus attention upon the added dangers of holiday travel when traffic is at a peak. As part of the operation, which calls for maximum enforcement and public support, additional personnel from other uniformed services of the DPS will augment the regular Highway Patrol force.

Examination Offered for Foreign Service

The U.S. Department of State needs qualified young men and women for service in foreign affairs. A written examination is scheduled to be held in selected cities September 7. Applicants must be 21 and under 31 years of age on July 1, 1963 and must have been a citizen of the United States at least nine years on that date. Information may be obtained from the Board of Examiners for the Foreign Service, Room 2533, Department of State, Washington 25, D. C. The closing date for filing completed application forms is July 22.

"The wisdom with which our foreign policies are framed and the skill with which they are carried out depend upon the men and women who conduct our foreign affairs day by day. In no other field is it more urgent that our Government attract and develop the ablest public servants." This statement comes from a recent report of the Committee on Foreign Affairs and well illustrates the importance of both recruiting and retaining highly qualified individuals as Foreign Service Officers.

Every effort is being made to attract dedicated and intelligent young men and women by the Department of State. Practically every background is needed.

If you feel you might be qualified and are interested, you are urged to contact the above address immediately.

Virginia Sikes To Teach in Local High School

Miss Virginia Sikes of Bangs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Sikes, was elected to teach commercial subjects and Ninth Grade English in the Santa Anna High School, at a called meeting of the school board last Friday night. Miss Sikes will replace Mrs. Beth Manning, who has resigned to accept a teaching position in the Odessa schools. Mrs. Manning had been here for two years.

Miss Sikes is a graduate of Bangs High School and attended McMurry College in Abilene. She is an honor graduate of Howard Payne College, receiving her degree in May. She has had one year's practice teaching in the Bangs schools, but this will be her first regular teaching assignment.

Supt. C. N. Perry said she had been highly recommended by the college and also by the Bangs school officials.

Mr. Perry said the election of a Spanish teacher has been deferred until later in the summer. Just recently several families have moved to Santa Anna who will have children in the elementary school. Perry said this is likely to cause some additional teachers in the elementary grades, and until this is determined, the teacher situation will have to remain as it is.

Miss Davenport and Miss Rudolph served on the State Degree committee, Miss Rudolph as recorder and reporter for the committee. Miss Rutherford attended the projects committee meeting.

National Guard To Leave For Camp Sunday

Next Sunday morning, at 7:30 a.m., the local unit of the Texas National Guard, The Battalion Mortar Platoon, Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion, 142d Infantry, will depart for North Fort Hood, Texas, where they will become full-time soldiers for 15 days, instead of "part-time soldiers," as they are for 350 days each year.

Members of the local unit, to leave are: Lt. Thomas F. Langseth, Platoon Commander, SFC John H. Guyer, Unit AST (full-time employee), SFC Charlie R. Owen; Sergeants Horace M. Brown, Jerry W. Clark, Norman D. Cox, Doyle C. Laughlin and Hilary A. Rutherford; Corporals Charles K. Armstrong, James C. Bible, and Jerry D. McSwain; Specialists Harold G. Armstrong, Winfred L. Brown, Jerry A. Johnson, Billy D. Tucker, Tony G. Tucker, and Bobby J. Wardlow; Pfc's Steven L. Botts, Louis D. Hillyard, Dayton L. Jackson, and Tommy L. Lane. Several other members of the unit are on six months active duty and will not attend camp with their parent unit.

This 15 day period of training will consist of extensive training in various topics such as First Aid, Guard Duty, Range Firing, Tactics, and Counterinsurgency, all under simulated combat conditions.

Immediately upon arrival, the unit, as well as the remainder of the 36th (Texas) Division, will begin preparations for their move to the bivouac area on Monday night, July 1. Bivouac will be held under close combat conditions, with guards posted all during the night. The unit will be subjected to harassment in the form of infiltrators, guerrillas and other forms of tension rousing devices such as flares, whistles, blank ammunition and simulated artillery fire.

During the second week of the 15 days, the unit moves in from the bivouac area, to the cantonment area, where constant surveillance from officers and NCO's will insure that all members maintain their personal gear and their quarters in tip-top condition. Continued vigorous training, daily, will take the remainder of the soldier's time.

The unit will arrive back in Santa Anna, in the mid-morning of Sunday, July 14. After final clean-up operations are completed on the armory and equipment is "stashed-away," the part-time soldiers will be permitted to go home and have that long-awaited reunion with their families and loved ones.

State Capitol NEWS

Austin — Former Railroad Commissioner Bill Murray has been exonerated by the Travis County grand jury of any criminal wrongdoing in his personal business relations with the oil industry while a member of the Commission.

Murray's duties as one of the commissioners included the drafting of rules regulating the oil industry.

It was the feeling of the grand jury that his personal investments in the oil business had in no way influenced his decisions as a commissioner.

Gov. John Connally previously had released a report, presented to him by Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, to the effect that an investigation of Murray's personal income tax reports had revealed that he had made more than $1,600,000 from his oil investments while serving on the commission.

This report was turned to the grand jury.

Murray resigned from the commission several weeks ago when the conflict of interest question arose. He admitted at the time that he had been making such investments but emphatically declared they in no way influenced his decisions.

DISREGARDING DISREGARDERS

Governor Connally says the Senate-House appropriations conference committee, which came up with the state budget bill that he has protested so vigorously, never bothered to look at his budget recommendation.

Connally claims this was one reason higher education was "short changed" in the appropriations bill.

In a recent meeting of the Legislative Budget Board Lt. Gov. Preston Smith said the same sort of situation, were in legislators disregard governor's recommendation, could apply to the Governor's Committee To Study Education Beyond the High School. (No legislators serve on the 25-member committee.)

So the Legislative Budget Board, made up of state Senators and Representatives, set up its own college study committee, and ordered its staff to study problems of financing the state's 20 colleges.

Sen. Galloway Calhoun of Tyler, who asked for the board study, said he was afraid the state might run private colleges out of business by creating more tax-supported colleges. He also said that students should bear "a more reasonable portion of the cost" of their college education.

This statement could be interpreted as a preface to state-college tuition increases in the fall of 1965.

INDUSTRIAL PICTURE LOOKS GOOD

Texas fell from the second place to fourth among the Top Ten States in Industrial Development last month.

But B. R. Shelton, assistant director of the Texas Industrial Commission said the report does not show a clear picture.

Actually, says Shelton, industry is developing in Texas at a more rapid pace than it did in 1962. At that time the state finished third among the 50 states contending for new industries.

In the month preceding the report, 24 new plants were opened in 15 cities. These included small towns like Georgetown, Refugio, Littlefield and Lewisville, as well as metropolitan cities.

DEATH KNELL FOR BRACERO PROGRAM

Congress killed the Bracero program and set a burial date of December 31, when it refused to extend the agreement to import Mexican farm laborers for two more years.

It may help agriculture workers in other states, but Henry

LeBlanc, Director of the Texas Employment Commission's farm labor division, says it won't help Texas' farm workers.

It might even hurt local workers, LeBlanc allowed, "because the Bracero program has kept the pay rate up."

Absence of the Bracero competition, LeBlanc explained, could result in lower wages for this state's workers.

It is rumored that Colorado lawmakers plan to introduce a bill to extend the Bracero program there for one year. Purpose is to allow more time for readjustment of the farm labor system.

COASTAL PARK PIER PLANNED

State Parks Board has granted a permit for an elaborate, 900-foot fishermen's pier which would stretch across narrow Velasco State Park into the Gulf of Mexico.

Park is a 26-mile long stretch of sand, of undetermined width, covering the coastal front of Brazoria County in the Freeport area.

Developers expect to complete the $40,000 pier and connect it with a $25,000 acre land development in two months.

PLEASURE CITY

State School Land Board accepted the only bid it received for a contract to lease state submerged land to build a 10,000-foot long channel from Corpus Christi to a proposed multi-million dollar pleasure city on Mustang Island.

Bid-winner was Mustang Beach Development Corporation. It is the same organization (owned by Piper Aircraft Corporation) that intends to develop 900 acres of Mustang Island into a Marina City, complete with homes, personal boat slips, industry and recreation facilities.

Channel is expected to cost $100,000 and will be available, free, for public use.

SUPREME COURT HOLDS FIRM

State Supreme Court overruled Attorney General Carr's motion for a rehearing in the case, Government Services Insurance Underwriters et al versus 53rd District Judge Herman Jones.

It stood firm on its earlier ruling that legislative continuances are constitutional.

Texas' 20-year-old legislative continuance law provides automatic postponement of court hearings and trials for parties represented by legislator-lawyers when the Legislature is in session.

Carr has been backing Judge Jones' contention that the law is unconstitutional.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULING

Attorney General has ruled that a recently-passed bill by Rep. Forrest Harding of San Angelo gave the State Highway Commission authority to alter maximum speed limits. Commission could set them as high as 70 miles per hour.

Also it could set minimum speed limits on controlled access highways, whether within or without a city's limits, regardless of any speed limit set by

ESCHEAT PROCESS SLOW

It took the 1961 Legislature two special sessions to pass escheat-reporting laws to insure the state's right to dormant personal property and bank accounts, unclaimed for more than seven years by owners whose whereabouts are unknown.

To date more than $1,600,000 has been collected by the state.

Most came from the "bank escheat" law, which became effective on May 3, 1962. Law requires banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions to publicize dormant accounts in an attempt to uncover lost owners. Unclaimed deposits then are turned over to the state.

So far, this has totaled $1,340,493.15. A provision in the law allows a person claiming interest in escheated properties to recover his money. This has caused $1,686.68 to be refunded. Originally, utility companies, county treasurers, insurance firms, court officers and others affected by the first escheat-reporting law reported more than $3,300,000 worth of unclaimed holdings.

However, by the time public notice was given, the amount dwindled to $2,260,691.88. Newspaper publicity relative to the new act resulted in numerous inquiries and claims.

It's Time For... EYE CARE

Dr. Newton K. Wesley
BLINDNESS

All is not lost when one is blind. Of course everything should be done to prevent blindness, and if there is a pronounced lessening of vision, every possible means should be employed before the condition is certified by competent eye specialists. When it is certain that vision is gone and cannot be retrieved, it seems that all is lost and life is over. This need not be so. Many people have adapted to this new condition and have surmounted impossible handicaps. In working with the blind, we find the first and most difficult problem is to get the newly blind person to accept his condition. They must be made to feel they can do almost anything that anyone else can do—and this is practically true. Blind people operate lathes, teach, become doctors and lawyers. Many jobs in offices and factories are today filled by blind people and the records prove that the work is done, in many cases, more accurately and efficiently than with sighted workers.

Wesley

The greatest obstacle, by far, in getting people to accept the blind person as a normal worker is the sighted public themselves. They do not understand the problems and handicaps of the blind and, they tell themselves there is "nothing I can do about it."

The blind want understanding, not sympathy. They want an opportunity, not charity. They want an education as normal an environment as possible, and not a white cane. I have seen many transitions from the world of the discarded blind to the life of usefulness and independence. According to the National Eye Research Foundation, a great number of potentially useful citizens are lost each year because we do not recognize and face this problem as we should.

PROGRESS THROUGH SERVICE

Another nice thing about Savings Bonds is the way they grow on you

Besides growing 33 1/4% bigger at maturity, Bonds tend to settle in and become members of the family.

So, although you can get your money anytime with U. S. Savings Bonds, most people hate to do it. To them a Savings Bond is for the long pull. Sort of an ace-in-the-hole. When the roof needs new shingles, or the living room needs carpeting, a Bond isn't likely to get cashed in if there's any other way to finance the job.

This can come in handy if you're the type who finds it almost impossible to put money aside—and leave it there.

You don't have to worry about the money you put in Bonds, either. It will keep on growing even beyond the maturity date. (People who hold those first Series E Bonds issued back in the early '40s are still earning interest—and at a better rate than they started with.)

as well as profitable. Right now Americans own over $46 billion worth—an all-time high. Besides building financial strength for millions of families, this money is doing an important job for America at a time when the enemies of freedom are stronger than ever.

This month, ask your employer to put $18.75 (or more) into the Payroll Savings Plan for you. You'll soon have a nest egg you can hang onto. What's more, you'll feel pretty good about it.

Quick facts about U. S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity
- You can get your money anytime
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen
- You can save automatically on Payroll Savings

Lloyd West and Bill Matthews were hired to work the cemetery and those that are interested will be glad to know it certainly looks nice. The yard was mowed, all plots hoed and all graves were remound. It cost $27.50 to get this work done. Mr. Baugh thinks if donations are available to have this work done about three times a year the cemetery would be kept in good shape. Of course there is lots of work that needs to be done, such as getting a road built down through the cemetery so the ambulance can get down through it, and the fence repaired.

Those who donated to the cemetery fund the past week are: Roy Phillips of Coleman, $5.00; Mrs. W. J. Smith of Coleman, $5.00; Mrs. Alice Crow and Granville Crow of San Diego, Calif., $10.00; and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cupps, $10.00.

Our WASHINGTON Letter
By Congressman O. C. FISHER

President Kennedy's civil rights message last week, calling for unprecedented extension of federal power and control, shocked Capitol Hill and set the stage for months of wrangling and debate.

Under the President's plan if, for example, a small innkeeper should choose not to give a night's lodging to a Negro, the proprietor could be sent to jail or forced to close his business. Of doubtful constitutionality, this is but one of the many radical recommendations in the Kennedy civil rights package. One editorial writer described the move as "political panic."

Because of the extremity of the proposals, observers here have tried to figure out why the Kennedy brothers decided to "go for broke" in a bold bid to hold the Negro vote in the next elections. It became a matter of weighing the value of the Negro vote in certain pivotal states against losses they might expect elsewhere. There was some soul-searching and agonizing decision-making as top Frontier strategists met night after night to whip a program into shape and take advantage of the psychological timing brought on by recent demonstrations and riots.

It Will Be Recalled that last January the President asked Congress to outlaw literacy tests for voting in the several states, along with a few other enactments to bolster the Attorney General's hand in filing suits in behalf of Negroes. New Frontier strategists believed then that would placate the NAACP and would not endanger the President's legislative program by stirring up inter-party strife and a possible filibuster.

Then the unexpected happened. On January 31 Republicans in Congress sponsored an unusually radical civil rights program, and shamed the President for his timidity. It was an attempt to put the Administration on the defensive, in the perennial battle for the Negro vote.

It worked. The move knocked

Boat Enthusiasts Asked to Observe Safe Boating Week

Austin — The Texas Safety Association today urged Texas boating enthusiasts to join in observing National Safe Boating Week, June 30-July 6.

"Recreation boating is playing an increasingly important role in the lives of millions of Americans," J. O. Musick, TSA General Manager said.

"Some 37 million persons go boating each year and more and more boatmen are launching their crafts in Texas waters."

The safety director reported that so far, there has been no alarming rise in boating accidents.

"Boatmen can help maintain this fine safety record in Texas by brushing up on nautical know-how during National Safe Boating Week and by displaying caution and courtesy in the water at all times," he concluded.

the Kennedys off balance. On March 30 Roy Wilkins, NAACP's top spokesman, blaster the Kennedys for offering too little, too late, and threatened to pull loose.
Next came the strife in Alabama, stirred up by Martin Luther King who went to Birmingham from Washington for that avowed purpose. The tension he whipped up there overflowed into Mississippi, and resulted in a Negro leader being assassinated in Jackson. The tragic event, along with other well-timed racial demonstrations over the country, served to set the stage for the President's civil rights package.

Farm-to-Market Roads Are Most Dangerous in State

Austin — Texas' Farm-to-Market roads are the most dangerous roads in the state, the Texas Safety Association said today in a special bulletin released to all newspapers, radio and television stations in the state.

"Since the first of this year, traffic fatalities on FM roads in Texas have increased about 32 percent over last year," J. O. Musick, General Manager of TSA, said. "Traffic accidents on FM roads also are up about 33 percent."

Current accident statistics show the FM roads have the highest increase in traffic fatalities and accidents of any roads in the state. The overall traffic fatality increase is 12 percent. Traffic accidents on all roads are up approximately 10 percent.

Musick cited several reasons for the increase in fatalities and accidents on FM roads.

"Speed—too fast for existing conditions — is the major cause of trouble. Many drivers tend to drive as fast on FM roads as they do on four-lane divided highways," he said.

"But, it doesn't take a student of modern math to figure out these roads are NOT designed for high speeds. It's just simple arithmetic and common sense."

"The standard FM road in Texas is 22 feet in width. This gives the driver one lane 11 feet wide for driving. The average automobile takes up eight feet of the 11-foot lane.

"This means the driver has about 18 inches on each side of his car for clearance—and that is just not enough space for fast driving on roads which may have many sharp curves and other hazards."

The safety director explained that there are many 60 degree angle curves on FM roads — "drivers will find few super curves on FM roads."

Among other hazards peculiar to FM roads, Musick listed slow-moving farm equipment and animals.

"Drivers often must check their speed when approaching tractors and other farm equipment on the road. Or, they may have to stop quickly to avoid hitting an animal crossing the roadway," he noted.

Musick also pointed out there is more traffic now on FM roads.

The Farm-to-Market road, as the name implies, originally was designed for use of the rural community to get goods to the markets, but now these roads are being used as 'short-cuts' for cross-country traveling, by campers and sportsmen pulling boats and trailers to the nearest water hole."

"And, here's where the trouble is," he continued. "Urban drivers are often unfamiliar with such roads and the hazards they present. They fail to adjust their driving habits for rural driving."

Musick concluded that although the FM roads currently are in the position of being the most hazardous in the state, they can still be traveled safely if drivers will "slow down" and "expect the unexpected."

Benefits Increased For Some Dependent Parents, Children

Recent legislation passed by Congress automatically increased rates of pay to children and dependent parents of deceased veterans whose death was caused by the service or who died from service-connected disabilities. This increase is automatic effective July 1, 1963. Mr. Glyndon Hague, Manager of the VA Regional Office at Waco, Texas, announced today.

In certain instances, dependent parents of these veterans are still receiving compensation under the old law in effect before January 1, 1957. In order for these beneficiaries to be eligible for the raise, they will have to notify the VA of their election to receive pay under the new law and their benefits will be determined by their income from other sources.

For instance, Mr. Hague continued, where a single dependent parent has income of less than $750 per year, he would receive $83 per month under the new law and $75 under the old provisions.

Since the new pay rate goes into effect July 1, 1963, an election must be made prior to that date or the increase will not be effective until such time as the request is made.

Hog Farmers' Challenge Is Clear Today

The hog farmers' challenge is clearer in times of declining prices than when thriving hog markets provide automatic profits. That is why good hog farmers today are more concerned with increasing their efficiency of production than in shaviny necessary production costs.

Cutting the amount of protein supplement fed with grain is not as thrifty as it might at first sound, according to Dr. H. B. Geurin, Manager of Swine Research for the Ralston Purina Company. It takes about 12 bushels of straight corn to produce 100 pounds of pork, he points out. The same amount of pork can be produced on only about 5 bushels of corn and 45 pounds of supplement. This is a gross saving of 7 bushels of corn against 45 pounds of supplement, representing a net saving that is particularly critical when hog prices are not the best.

Hogs fed a proper ration of grain and protein supplement reach market weight in about 4 1/2 months. Hogs fed corn alone require about 8 months to reach the same weight. Obviously, diluting the ration by reducing the supplement slows the farmer's production turnover, a critical factor no matter what kind of prices prevail.

Protein supplements fed in proper ratio with grain are necessary for hog production profits, Dr. Geurin points out. It is always good business to buy a dollar's worth of supplement if it might save two or three times that worth of corn or other grains.

GI Insurance Should Change Policy Now

More than 150,000 holders of GI "RS" insurance policies have three months in which to qualify for a special dividend by exchanging for "W" term policies or converting to permanent insurance.

The special dividend, authorized for this purpose, expires on September 13, 1963, Glyndon M. Hague, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco, said today.

After that date "RS" policyholders may still convert or exchange their policies, but they will no longer be eligible for the dividend payment.

Only GI insurance policyholders with "RS" insurance that was issued to Korean Conflict servicemen are concerned in this program, Mr. Hague said. Information premium rates and application forms are being sent by the VA to each veteran still holding an "RS" policy, the VA manager added.

Sterile Flies Now Are Fed

Mission — A new wrinkle has been added in the battle to eradicate screwworms from the Southwest. Sterile flies reared and sexually sterilized in a plant near Mission are now fed prior to being released from airplanes over large portions of the five-state eradication area.

Entomologists have found that feeding gives the flies a better chance for survival after being released and results in larger numbers of vigorous flies available for the program. A small paper cup containing a cotton ball and corn syrup is placed inside each carton at the same time the box is filled with sterilized pupae. After the flies have emerged, they can feed until they are released.

Experts list these advantages to fly-feeding:

(1) More flies are alive at release time, since cartons can be held an extra day giving pupae more time to emerge.

(2) Flies live longer after release and are better able to find shelter and food in nature.

(3) Fewer flies are lost during periods when unfavorable weather does not permit aerial release and flies may have to be held for several days.

(4) Also during cold weather, it is possible to hold the flies until they are ready to mate, while otherwise many probably would not survive that long in nature.

Eradication officials are so pleased with the results of fly-feeding tests they are exploring means to completely mechanize the operation. They feel the initial expense could be paid off within a few months through savings in man-hours and reduced loss of sterile flies.

Some Educational Expenses May Be Deductible

It's time for summer school again and many teachers will be thinking about educational expenses as a Federal income tax deduction.

Expenses for education, Ellis Campbell, Jr., of Internal Revenue said today, are deductible if the course or courses improve the skills required by the person in his job, or meet requirements set by his employer.

Expenses are not deductible if the education or training is undertaken to obtain a new position, or to attain general educational improvement.

If you travel as a form of education, your expenditures will generally be considered as primarily personal in nature and not deductible. This includes travel as a form of education while on sabbatical leave. Deductible school expenses are claimed on page 2 of form 1040 if you itemize your deductions. They cannot be claimed if the standard deduction is used.

On the other hand, the cost of travel, meals, and lodging while away from home overnight for education are allowable as a deduction, and may be claimed on page 1 of the return 1040, whether or not the standard deduction is used.

There are many situations involving educational expenses which may or may not be deductible. Most questions on this subject are answered in Document No. 5014 "Employees Expenses," which may be obtained from local Internal Revenue Office.

Read Acts 15:22-27

Barnabas and Paul, men that have hazarded their lives for the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. (Acts 15:25-26.)

Though these words of our text refer specifically to Barnabas and Paul, they aptly describe the apostles who were in the upper room on the day of Pentecost. From then onward, they gave themselves utterly to Christ. He used them to confront the pagan world with His gospel. They did this, though the price of obedience to their Master was costly.

The key to having a great Christian church is found in the Book of Acts. It takes waiting and longing for the Holy Spirit, and being endued with His power to continue the work Jesus began.

Other requirements are supremely loving Christ, loving one another, and having great faith. Discipleship demands boldly obeying His Word and seeking to do His will wholeheartedly.

The discipleship of the apostles meant giving their lives entirely to Christ. This same spirit has been evident in Christ's followers in every age and generation.

Prayer
Dear God, we thank Thee for Jesus, for the powerful beginning of His church, and for the Christian church of today. Help us to be faithful in our discipleship.

ship, living according to Christ's teachings and example. In His name we pray. Amen.

Thought for the Day
Discipleship requires that we forget self and put Christ and His kingdom first.

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS FROM THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSN.

Foot Health

"My corns are killing me!"
How many times have you heard someone voice this complaint?

How many times have you voiced it yourself?

It may, or may not, be corns that are causing the discomfort. But, painful feet, from a wide variety of causes, rank close to the common cold as one of America's health problems.

Your feet take a lot of punishment in a lifetime of bearing your weight around every day, mostly on sidewalks, hard floors and pavements. In fact, it's a tribute to the anatomical structure of the foot and ankle that this part of the body does not cause even more trouble.

There are several points to remember in care of the feet—

* Be aware of your feet and that they need care and attention.

* Pay attention to minor aches and pains which can lead to more serious foot problems.

* Seek professional advice and assistance for foot disorders.

* Include a foot examination in your annual health checkup.

An important factor in foot health is properly fitted shoes. Corns and bunions often are caused by undue pressure of shoes on localized spots on the feet or toes.

Children's shoes present their own special fitting problems. The youngsters' feet are growing rapidly and shoes must be changed frequently.

There are many foot troubles with a definite physiological basis that require professional attention by your physician.

Some are birth problems, such as club foot or other malformations. There are circulatory problems such as inflammation and narrowing of the arteries of the legs, nutritional diseases such as rickets, metabolic problems such as diabetes or gout, and fungus infections, such as athlete's foot.

Don't neglect your feet. Minor aches and pains may develop into more serious problems if ignored.

projects in under-developed countries? Should we officially favor the capitalistic systems with our aid? Some believe that since Uncle Sam is trying to make friends by lending (a difficult thing to do), the borrower should be allowed to do whatever he pleases with the money. If a need exists in India for steel, for example, and India wants a government-owned mill, then we ought to let them have the money to build it.

"I think we ought to do it," President Kennedy told a press conference recently. His Ambassador to India, Harvard economist J. K. Galbraith, who has an ideological record of partiality toward socialization, is strongly in favor. The Nehru government has asked for loans that over the next decade or more will total $891 million to finance the giant mill at Bokaro, north of Calcutta. It would be the country's fourth government-operated mill. Mr. Nehru considers India's steel industry too important to remain in private hands. He wants the mill to fit into the government's pattern of socialism.

Public vs. Private

India needs more steel mill capacity, and there are vast resources of coal, iron ore, and limestone well-located to support it. The U.S. Steel Corporation has completed a long technical feasibility study of the proposed project, without advising what the U.S. should do. At this writing, negotiations are continuing between Indian officials and A.I.D. officers. Some of the Americans are thought to favor placing part of the ownership of the mill into private hands through stock issues.

India has two privately owned and operated steel mills. And here is an interesting fact: in comparison with the government plants, the private mills are producing steel at costs 15 per cent lower than the government mills. The private concerns want to expand, but like our own industry they have not been allowed to accumulate Fantastic new $300,000 Log Flume ride at Six Flags unveiled Tuesday, lives up to all advance expectations. Named the Ascendero it is the only one of its kind in the world. The faces of the passengers aboard this eight foot hollowed out log reflect the thrilling climax down a 44-foot incline at speeds exceeding 10 feet per second into a trough filled with swirling rapids.

enough profit for healthy growth and expansion. Despite recommendations that the private companies be allowed to keep more of their profits, the Indian government has refused.

Public Incompetence

And so it remains. The Indian government wants to siphon off the profits of private industry to subsidize the inefficiency of its government operations. There are some subtleties here not yet discovered by Mr. Kennedy, who pointed out that building a new government plant is not the same as taking over one that is already constructed. The President showed some spirit in defending public ownership and made it clear that he would favor U.S. financial backing for state-owned projects in other countries. The Clay Committee, however, has urged that this not be done where the projects compete with private industry.

Government steel mills already built in India by Russia,

West Germany, and Great Britain all have experienced an abundance of snafu. The Russian mill remains in the hands of Soviet personnel and is producing steel. The German mill was virtually sabotaged by Indian incompetence and bungling, and the British mill also has had troubles. In contrast, the two privately controlled mills have continued to operate economically, although they have not been allowed to use their own resources for expansion.

The Best Aid

Various Congressmen have become concerned about the push we have given to socialism abroad. They are making an effort to put restrictions into legislation on foreign aid that would prevent further encouragement to socialism. If foreign aid is worth anything at all to us, it should earn a measure of respect for freedom of enterprise wherever it is used. After all, this particular kind of freedom is one of the basic foundation stones of the American Way.

Here, undoubtedly, lies an opportunity that the U.S. government may fail to grasp. If the mill is given to India, it will be the largest single U.S. aid project that any underdeveloped nation has enjoyed. Surely the best kind of aid we could give would be to show them the superiority of the private enterprise system. We ought to insist upon private control and operation of the mill, as well as sound amortization of the loan in years to come. But with the President and the Ambassador sold on socialism, one wonders about the future of private industry anywhere in the world. Even here.

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS FROM THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSN.

Water Safety

Water safety in sports is principally a matter of knowing the safety precautions and observing them.

Deaths by drowning could be cut down to almost none if swimmers would observe a few rules — never swim alone, or at night except in well-lighted pools, or just after eating, or when overly tired.

Deaths and injuries from diving could be virtually eliminated if divers would take the trouble to know where they were diving. How deep is the water? Are there any underwater obstructions? Diving accidents almost always are caused by diving into shallow water or unfamiliar water.

Water skiing — a sport that is growing rapidly in popularity — need not be hazardous. The skipper of the boat should know what he is doing, avoiding dangerous high speeds and skimming to close to docks, other boats and obstructions. Preferably, there should be a second man in the boat, and, very important, the skier should wear a life belt to keep him afloat if he is winded by a smashing fall.

Underwater swimming and spear fishing with artificial breathing apparatus, is another sport that is gaining in popularity. Here again, knowing how to swim well, how to use the aqualung and how to handle oneself under water will prevent most accidents.

In boating accidents, the cardinal safety rule is — stay with the boat. Someone will be along eventually to pick you up, and a long swim to the shore is beyond the capacity of all but a few highly trained athletes.

Sunburn, the universal hazard of water sports, also can be avoided or minimized by using common sense — don't stay out in the hot sun too long.

Knowledge of artificial respiration, with emphasis on the new mouth-to-mouth method, will save many people from succumbing to drowning. It isn't very difficult to apply artificial respiration, if you know how.

There are few water safety problems that couldn't be avoided by the application of common sense, coupled with at least a cursory knowledge of safety rules.

National Forests Popular Vacation Spots

If you like the great outdoors, a vacation in one or more of the National Forests might be in order. In preparation for what the Forest Service expects to be their best year ever, camping facilities have been improved to take care of an estimated 125 million visitors with 37 million using camping and picnic areas during the summer.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced that 9,700 new camp and picnic units have been built and 10,000 old ones repaired during the past year. The USDA said most of the visitors are expected between Memorial Day and Labor Day. Much of the work such as construction of tables and benches and fireplace grates was done during the winter months. Grounds were cleared last fall and this spring.

A developed campground site provides fireplaces, tent space, table and benches, and automobile parking spurs, with water and toilets to be shared by several units. Basic provisions to be brought by the camper include tents, bedrolls, cooking utensils and food.

Most campers prefer to use the developed sites, although camping in the 181 million acre National Forests is quite unrestricted. Those willing to carry food and equipment can camp almost anywhere, the USDA said.

Information regarding National Forest roads, trails, camp and picnic grounds, etc., is available from National Forest supervisors. A list of the field offices is available from the Forest Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C.

Mrs. J. Y. Brannan, Richard and Lynda visited last week in Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia.
