NYC, Title One Programs Contribute $ 1/4 Million

Approximately 60 per cent of the Title One program, which is currently budgeted at $106,239, has been collected by the county, County School Superintendent O. D. Stamey reports.

The Neighborhood Youth Corp program is bringing $157,980 in federal money into the county, Co-ordinator Tip Arther reports. The NYC program includes five other adjoining counties and is presently budgeted for helping 150 youngsters, he said.

The Title One program has as its goal, the enrichment of teaching, for the purchase of teaching aids and supplies. Appropriation of the Title One money is based on the 1960 census of families under certain financial guidelines. The school district breakdown for the county is like this:

Carbon, $2,779; Cisco, $17,071; Eastland, $15,558; Gorman, $9,613; Olden, $6,133; Ranger, $6,463; Rising Star, $14,365; and Desdemona, $2,982.

The present Title One program is about 85 per cent as great as last year, Supt. Stamey said. There had been some hope that the other 15 per cent might be re-instated, but apparently it will not be.

The first NYC program was initiated here Nov. 15, 1965, originally for the one county, then in May of 1966, Shackelford and Palo Pinto counties were added, with the original quota set up for 230 students to work part time and go to school. This was cut back to 150, with a total budget for the first year of $96,000.

The current NYC program began Sept. 6, and included the original three counties, plus Throckmold, Stephens and Young counties, for 100 students. In October, the number was increased by 50, bringing the total to 150, with $157,980 to be supplied by the federal government, and $38,000 to be supplied in in-kind support in the form of supervisory costs, etc., bringing the total program to a budget of $195,980.

A December payroll showed the following participation: Carbon, six students; Cisco, 15; Desdemona, 6; Eastland, 12; Gorman, 8; Ranger, 21; and Rising Star, 10.

The program provides extra money for needy students, allowing them to work up to 10 hours weekly at $1.25 per hour, doing tasks which are not otherwise possible in local school's budgets, such as refinishing gymnasium floors, library work, and maintenance of buildings and grounds, not otherwise handled by custodian help.

The Work - Study programs of the two junior colleges in the county are separate and are not included in this office. One of the program's prized examples is a lad who worked on the program at Carbon, graduated there as an honor student, and presently attending a junior college, continuing on the work-study program.

Arther said that next summer, students on the program will be permitted to work 27 hours a week, as compared to 24 last summer. The summer program is 12 weeks, at the $1.25 an hour rate.
