

We bought a house here in Santa Anna recently, and for the first time we have really begun to appreciate landlords. The plumbing promptly started acting up, about five minutes after we signed the agreement to buy the place, which leads us to wonder if plumbing, and not the atomic bomb, is not the real major menace faced by mankind.

When the plumbing at the house, now belonging to us and the Coleman County State Bank, went on the fritz, we couldn't call up the landlord, with a note of arrogance in our voice as we were wont to do, and demand that he rush right over and fix our recalcitrant pipes. Instead we got out the old pipe-wrench, and refamiliarized ourselves with the proper techniques for removing greasetraps, which we predict will never replace baseball as the great American sport.

Immediately after we bought the place, weeds began growing twice as fast as they had before, paint began peeling right before our eyes, shingles began sailing off the roof in the slightest breeze, window panes would break if you looked through them, and termites began marching through the living room in platoons. And we couldn't call up the landlord to complain.

Believe us, it takes all the fun out of a leaky roof!

According to Cullen Perry, who should know, the official school bus routes of the Santa Anna Independent School District total 738 miles each day. When the District was founded, it covered 25 square miles. It now takes in 308 square miles.

Speaking of rain, which is what most people around here have been doing for most of the past several months, we were talking with a rancher here the other day. He said he was glad to read the article in one of the daily papers which stated that an expert from the Weather Bureau had said that we weren't really having a drought in this part of the state. The rancher said he was going to take the paper out to his place and let his cows read it, might make them happier as they tried to get a drink out of his dry tank.

One of the major problems we have here at The News is deciphering handwriting. We can sympathize with people with not-too-clear handwriting, because ours is a cross between the tracks of a drunk hen with a limp and Egyptian hieroglyphics. However, when we are trying to get news straight, particularly names with which we are not familiar, it is sometimes rather perturbing not to be able to read exactly how they should be spelled. People are quite sensitive about having their names spelled right in the paper, and have a tendency to cancel subscriptions or hit editors over their heads with purses when a name comes out misspelled. So please, when you turn in a story (which we are always happy for you to do) be sure that all names are legible, so that even a dumb newspaper editor couldn't mistake Slagglehammer for Jones.

After shaking hands with Vice President nominee Hubert Humphrey recently, Billie Guthrie has been greeting people with "Shake the hand that shook Humphrey's." Pierre Rowe wandered into the Santa Anna Insurance Agency office the other day, and when Billie made her "shake the hand, etc." pitch, Pierre pulled a can of Lysol spray out of his pocket, carefully sprayed Billie's hand with the disinfectant, and then shook it.

Two Santa Annans Register At Cisco

Cisco, (Spl.) — Arlene Haynes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Welch and Donnie Henderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilburn Henderson, of Santa Anna, are among the more than 130 students to preregister for the fall semester at Cisco Junior College.

According to an announcement by President G. C. Hogue, the enrollment this year far exceeds that of previous years.

All freshmen students at CJC must register before September 16 in order to attend the compulsory orientation period on that date.

Mrs. Gloria Benton, student counselor, says that the orientation period will begin at 9:00 a.m. for students whose name begins with A through L and at 10:00 a. m. for M through Z students.

This orientation will continue one period a week throughout the first semester. It is designed to familiarize students with the library and counseling facilities and other aspects of the college community.

Sophomores may register at any time until September 15. The book store will be open several days before classes begin September 17.

Jennie Banister Seddon Chosen 1964 Santa Anna Ex-Student Of The Year

Chosen as Ex-Student of the Year for 1964 by the Santa Anna Ex-Students' Executive Committee is Jennie Banister Seddon of Houston, of the class of 1914.

A musician since early childhood, Mrs. Seddon is a graduate of the St. Louis Institute of Music, and has been a teacher of piano and organ and a professional organist for many years. Living in Houston since her marriage, she is official organist for the annual Boy Scout Circus there. She is also official organist for Eastern Star conventions and activities and for Soroptimist International, having played at conventions in Cleveland, San Francisco and other places.

Mrs. Seddon is past president of the Houston Music Teachers' Association, and was Music Teacher of The Year 1963 in Houston.

During the polio epidemics several years ago, Mrs. Seddon originated and conducted music classes for the crippled children at Hedgecroft, giving each child whatever instrument his paralyzed muscles would permit his playing, to take part in the little orchestra.

At about the same time, she originated and still conducts religious services each Sunday morning in M. D. Anderson Hospital in Houston. All patients able to attend and all visitors who wish to go so, are notified over the intercom. Mrs. Seddon's organ music precedes and follows the service, at which different Houston ministers speak, and countless people have found comfort in these devotional services.

Last May, Mrs. Seddon was general chairman for a fifty-piano concert at Houston Music Hall, in which pupils of 43 teachers took part, with about 500 young pianists entering and Postmaster John C. Gregg announced today that rural mail carriers will begin distributing 1964 Acreage Survey Cards to patrons on their routes about September 12.

The Post Office Department assists the United States Department of Agriculture in making this survey each year. These reports, directly from farmers, are the basis for official estimates for Texas acreage of all crops harvested in 1964.

To be sure this community is well represented in the survey, Gregg urges each patron receiving a card to fill it out and return it to his mailbox.

Rural mail carrier working on this project is M. L. Guthrie Jr., Routes One and Two.

1965 Automobile Inspection Dates Set By Department Of Public Safety

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, announced today that the time has arrived for Texas motorists to have their vehicles inspected again.

Garrison said September 1 marked the beginning of the 1965 vehicle inspection period as prescribed by the Public Safety Commission. As in previous years, the period will end on April 15, 1965.

"This means that between now and April 15, 1965, more than 5,200,000 Texas registered vehicles will have to be inspected at the 5,200 official inspection stations in Texas," he said.

Garrison urged motorists to have their vehicles inspected in the routine visits to garages for ordinary maintenance and repairs and thereby eliminate the necessity of having to wait in line at a later date for an inspection sticker. He further pointed out that with the ever increasing number of vehicles registered in Texas, it is becoming even more difficult for the motorist to get an inspection sticker without some delay.

"With the hard summer driving coming to an end, fall is an excellent time to have vehicles safety checked for the winter months ahead," Garrison said.

THESE ARE NOT THE SMITH BROTHERS. In fact, we don't know who they are. This photo was blown against the J. Cal Fuller home during a windstorm a couple of weeks ago. It was taken in 1892, in Houston, but no other information can be discovered about this picture, or the people in it. If it belongs to you, or if you know whose it is, it can be examined, and claimed, at the News office.

Is The Constitution 'Unconstitutional'?

Legislation has seen bills introduced in both the House of Representatives and the Senate to nullify the recent Supreme Court ruling concerning the election of representatives to state legislatures.

The House bill passed by a resounding majority, drawing support from both Parties, and from Congressmen representing all parts of the country. This bill would directly negate the Supreme Court's ruling. A measure now under debate in the Senate would put a two-year moratorium on the enforcement of the Court's judgement, allowing time for a Constitutional amendment to be passed.

What was the ruling that has caused such a storm in the legislative branch of our government? In effect, the Court ruled that the present arrangement in most of our states, wherein there are two branches to the legislature, one of which is made up of delegates apportioned and elected on the basis of population, and the other on the basis of geography is unconstitutional, and both houses must be apportioned on the basis on population. This state system is comparable to the Federal system, in which the House of Representatives is set up on a population basis (Representatives allotted to states on the basis of the state's population in relation with that of the other states), and the Senate is established on a geographical basis (two Senators from each state, regardless of population, allowing the small states equal representation with the large).

There are many arguments in favor of this system, which derives from the very effective plan of "checks and balances" which the developers of the Constitution wrote into that document, and which has been largely responsible for the effectiveness of our American democracy, but they will not be discussed here. What is worrisome is the fact that the Supreme Court, in the guise of "interpreting the Constitution" issued a ruling exactly in opposition to the guidelines laid down by the Constitution. It is perfectly logical that the Court, predicating on their recent decision, could decide that the system of Federal legislative government set up in the Constitution, is "unconstitutional." The paradox in this situation has apparently escaped the members of the Court who voted for the recent decision.

When the Supreme Court decides, on the basis of personal judgment, that a system of government established by the Constitution is "unconstitutional", then the Court is usurping power not vested in it, and it is the duty of the other branches of our government, legislative and executive, to exercise the "checks and balances" to limit the power of the usurping branch.

Our country needs a strong judiciary, and it needs a strong legislative arm, and a strong executive branch. When any one of these branches gets out of line, then it is the duty of the other two to limit its powers to those it properly holds.

It is to be hoped that the Supreme Court will take the rebuttal of its actions by the Congress as constructive criticism, and will hereafter follow the American tradition of "government by laws rather than by men."

The film is described thusly in the ad: "All his life he gambled till dangerous Dan McGrew gambled his life. Alas, in Alaska; Alas for the lady known as Lou. One of you is a hound of hell and that caused the shooting of Dan McGrew. Crooked as lightning was dangerous Dan McGrew but straight as an arrow with a six shooter." Yarborough Replies To Readers Digest Article About Crockett Industry Fiasco

EDITOR'S NOTE: There has been much publicity about an industrial development program at Crockett, Texas, that fell through according to an article in the current issue of the Readers Digest. Senator Ralph Yarborough, of Texas, made the following comments on this article.

Following is the text of an unsolicited telegram which Senator Ralph Yarborough received from the Crockett Community Council on Friday, August 28:

"Honorable Ralph Yarborough Senator From Texas Washington, D. C.

"Contrary to the impression given by the article 'When the Bubble Burst in Crockett, Texas' in the September, 1964 Readers Digest, the people of Crockett have not lost faith in our Federal Government, the agencies of our government, or our elected representatives.

"The bubble has not burst. We are still an active, aggressive community with a tremendous future for which we are all working.

"We, as taxpayers, are not afraid of any truth and we wanted you to know that we didn't appreciate having our town linked with a nationally publicized attempt to smear our elected representatives.

"Allen Rogers, President Crockett Community Council Crockett, Texas" Senator Yarborough stated today:

"The Readers Digest attack on the efforts of the people of Crockett to obtain industry in that town and on the Area Redevelopment Administration is another in a series of vicious attacks on the ARA by the Readers Digest.

State Capital NEWS

"Interbasin diversions," the process of moving water from where it is to where it is needed, is being talked about more and more in Texas where half of the state's water supply is centered in the eastern one-seventh of the state.

It will be the topic of three speakers at the Association of Western State Engineers in Austin on September 21.

Speakers are Frank Raab of Oklahoma, David Hale of New Mexico and William Warne of California. All three are water officials in states which have turned to interbasin diversions to solve some water problems.

Some moving already has taken place in Texas. In the Trinity watershed, for instance, Dallas is completing a pipeline and treatment plant for moving Sabine River water from Lake Tawakoni to Dallas. Also Houston has signed a contract with the Trinity River Authority to move Trinity water to Houston.

Interbasin diversion will become the subject of more conversation for Texans when the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation releases its pending report. It proposes a 400-mile canal to move surplus water from the Sabine and Neches basins, southward to link all major rivers in Texas and meet the needs of the Gulf Coast to a point below Corpus Christi.

Governor John Connally has asked the Texas Water Commission to speed up water planning to seek alternatives to the Bureau of Reclamation's forthcoming proposal. But the commission is strapped by the bounds of a budget inadequate for such a study, unless the 1965 Legislature increases its funds.

INSURANCE INTEREST CHARGE UPHOLD

An effort by the Allstate Insurance Company to knock out the State Board of Insurance order requiring a minimum charge of six percent interest on insurance premiums paid by installments has failed.

Board said it found nothing in the hearing to change its mind. It reported that abuses of Texas laws, prohibiting inducements to prospective policyholders and prohibiting discrimination between policyholders, were taking place under deferred payment plans.

"Net costs of handling premium payments financed by insurance companies at cut-rate interest, or no interest, will ultimately be paid by all insureds," said Board Chairman Hunter McLean. "Those electing deferred payment plans should bear such costs...."

A spokesman for one company charged that criticism of ruling by the National Association of Independent Insurers laid the groundwork for "an attack on the Texas rating system and policy control." NAII claimed the order discriminates against Texas policyholders, and that the board had no authority to adopt it.

OUT OF THE RED

State government ended its 1963-1964 fiscal year on August 31 with a fat general revenue fund balance of $73,000,000.

It was the brightest year-end figure since 1949.

"It looks better than it has for a long time," beamed State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert. Five years of deficits still are fresh in his memory. One year the State ran $110,000,000 in the red.

Calvert declined to speculate on the amount of surplus which will be available for legislative appropriation.

Governor Connally predicted earlier that the general revenue surplus may reach $80,000,000 next year. Despite the abundance of money, the Governor said the Legislature likely will have to pass a new tax bill or amend the existing rates in 1965. This because of demands for more spending in education and other areas.

Calvert noted three factors in the favorable fiscal 1964 close-out: a $24,000,000 increase this year over 1963 in general sales tax revenues; an $8,000,000 jump in the auto sales tax; and a $3,000,000 crude oil tax increase.

Comptroller's report showed state revenue collections during 1964 were more than $1,500,000,000 compared with $1,500,000,000 in 1963. Expenditures totaled $1,500,000,000 compared with $1,400,000,000 the previous year.

General economic growth of the state; the federal income tax reduction designed to prime spending; and removal of the $10 clothing exemption from the state sales tax were seen as largely responsible for the bigger yield from that levy.

ANTI-MOSQUITO CAMPAIGN

Spurred by the spread of encephalitis, state, county and city officials all over Texas are conducting a vast campaign against mosquitoes, according to State Health Commissioner J. E. Peavy.

CABINET MEETINGS RESUMED

Governor Connally has resumed his schedule of unofficial "cabinet" meetings with top state agency heads.

Read Philippians 4:4-9.

Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God. (1 Corinthians 10:31).

Whatever you do — that covers the whole of daily life. The apostle Paul tells us that we all, without exception, should glorify God by our work and life. Not only the missionaries who preach the gospel or the doctors and nurses who minister to the sick glorify God. Also housewives doing daily chores, the men working on the land or in the factory, the girl behind the counter, the policeman on his beat — these can glorify God by doing their work as unto God.

God needs hands for doing ordinary jobs of life, yet doing them in a spirit by which He may be glorified. We find that Jesus used generally the lowly tasks of life as illustrations of divine truth and service. He spoke of baking bread, of sweeping floors, of patching worn garments to illustrate His teachings. There is no task to lowly that we cannot in the doing of it honor and glorify God.

PRAYER

O God, our Father, we bow before Thee and ask Thy forgiveness of our sins. May the spirit of Thy Son dwell in us that our constant desire will be to love Thee and prove our love by obedience to Thy will. So may we ever honor Thee, for Jesus' sake. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

No task is so lowly that we cannot honor and glorify God in the doing of it.

SPORTS

Mountaineers Lose To Baird Bears, 45-12; Show Potential Strengths

The Santa Anna Mountaineers took the first difficult step on the rebuilding road Friday night when they bowed to a strong Baird team, 45-12.

The Mountaineers showed a strong interior line, defensive problems on the outside, and a backfield that could give opponents trouble as soon as it gets its timing down better.

The passing attack, which was hoped would help offset the Mountaineers' lack of size and speed, proved ineffective, with five interceptions being marked up out of a total of eight passes thrown. The only completed pass was, however, a good one, going 70 yards from Eddie Jones to Gary Williams for the Mountaineers' first tally.

Santa Anna lost the toss, and kicked off. The Bears from Baird lost no time in showing why some have picked them to top highly-rated Albany in the District 10A race by marching 75 yards in four plays for the touchdown, scored by halfback Wally Harris. Richie Crow attempted to kick the extra point, unsuccessfully.

Taking the kickoff, the Mountaineers were unable to move the ball, and for the first time during the game used a quick kick, a weapon they used effectively several times. Baird took the kick on its own 35 yard line, and in 12 plays moved the 65 yards for the touchdown, with Harris carrying the ball over from the 17. Crow again failed to kick the extra point.

Receiving again, the Santa Anna squad held the ball for only one down. A pass interception by end Thomas Robbins returned the ball to the Bears, and they capitalized on the break by sending number 44, Eddie Childers, 44 yards for the score on the first play from scrimmage. Crow converted successfully, and the score stood at 19-0 for the Bears.

Following the Baird kickoff, again on an intercepted pass. With the ball on the Santa Anna 17 yard line, it required only four plays for the Bears to move it across for the TD. Richard Windham attempted the conversion, but the kick was blocked and the quarter ended with Santa Anna trailing 25-0.

Things looked up in the initial minutes of the second quarter, as the Mountaineers held for downs for the first time during the game. The Mountaineers improved slightly over the preceding series, holding the ball for two downs before relinquishing it the evening. After getting possession of the football, however, the old bugaboo of the intercepted pass rose up to haunt them again, as Baird fullback Windham intercepted an Eddie Jones pass and toted it 35 yards for the tally. Windham tried to add the extra point, but the kick was no good.

The Mountaineers came back in the last part of the quarter to score for the first time during the 1964 season. Following a series of ball exchanges, the Santa Annans found themselves in possession on their own 30 yard line. After one incompleteness, the aerial attack finally struck fire, as a screen pass from quarterback Eddie Jones to quarterback Gary Williams, temporarily in a halfback slot, went 70 yards to paydirt, with no time left on the scoreboard clock. Frank Valdez, who had been a big gun in the Mountaineers' offense during the second quarter, tried the extra point on a run, without success.

Halftime score read Baird 31, Santa Anna 6. A fired-up crew of Mountaineers took command during the third quarter, relying on the running of fullback Valdez and a new strategy developed by Coach Rufus Cobern. Trying to find a successful offensive combination, the Mountaineers began varying a series of quarterback sneaks, using the strong interior line to gain considerable yardage, with outside runs featuring Valdez. The combination paid off when quarterback Jones followed his linemen over the goal from the three yard line for Santa Anna's second score. The point after try, an attempted run by Jones, failed, and as the third quarter ended, the score stood Baird 31, Santa Anna 12.

The fourth quarter saw a resurgence by the Bears, as they tallied twice. Highlight of the period of Santa Anna fans was the fumble recovery by tackle Nelson Perry. The quarter started with Baird on the Santa Anna seven yard line, and it took only one play, a bootleg run by quarterback Tommy Barton, to rack up the first Bear TD of the quarter. A fumble nullified conversation attempts. Following interception of a Santa Anna pass, the Bears marched from the Santa Anna 44 to touchdown country, with the final leg of the trip being made by halfback Harris, who went in from 15 yards out. A two-point conversion try was successful, and the Bears led 45-12. They were trying again, however, a few minutes later, when the clock ran out with the Bears on the Mountaineer five yard line.

The Mountaineers gained seven first downs, compared with 15 for Baird. Santa Anna tried eight passes, with one completion for 70 yards, and five interceptions; Baird stayed on the ground all evening.

This week the Mountaineers meet the unbeaten — once tied Cross Plains Buffaloes, there.

Picks of the Week

Last week was a breakeven situation in these predictions, with two right, two wrong, and one tie: We picked Burnet over Llano, and Llano won; and Goldthwaite over San Saba, and San Saba won. We were correct on the picks of Baird over Santa Anna, and Rockdale over Marble Falls. The Cross Plains—Early game ended in a 0-0 tie.

All in all, it was not a good week for District 9A teams, with no District team winning its game.

This week's slate looks like this to us: Burnet at Fredricksburg: The AA Fredricksburg team has 14 lettermen returning, is rated a couple of cuts above Llano in District 8AA, and Llano beat Burnet last week. We pick Fredricksburg.

Jim Ned at Early: This one is a tossup. We cross our fingers and pick Early by about 10 points.

DeLeon at Goldthwaite: Top-picked team in District 9A hosts a lower-ranked 10A team. We think Goldthwaite will be out to avenge last week's loss to San Saba. Goldthwaite by about two touchdowns.

Blanco at Marble Falls: Marble Falls will top little Blanco without too much trouble.

Santa Anna at Cross Plains: Here is our upset this week. Santa Anna's spirit will overcome the experience of Cross Plains. We pick the Mountaineers by two touchdowns.
