SANTA ANNA, COLEMAN COUNTY, TEXAS, APRIL 22, 1965

NUMBER 16

Point Rows

By Bob Parker

The recent production of "Grandpa's Twin Sister" sponsored by the Santa Anna P-TA was a success at the box office, with about $300 being taken in to finance the operations of the local P-TA. It was also a triumph for the cast. Everybody remembered most of their lines.

The audience enjoying the performance, can't know, and generally doesn't appreciate, the long, tedious hours of hard work that go into putting on even relatively unpretentious production such as the one presented here last week. When you add up three to four hours of rehearsal each evening, three or four nights a week, for five or six weeks, you begin to see the job. And then add in the hours each player spends on his own learning his lines, the hours spent by others in preparing costumes and properties, and in getting the sets ready, and you can realize that this can be no spur of the moment thing.

The play presented here last week was a comedy. The tensest moment in the long job of getting the play ready and then producing it comes after the curtain has gone up. Those of the cast who are not onstage sit in the wings holding their collective breath. Will the audience laugh? Will they appreciate the humor of the situation? Will this be one of those tough audiences that won't respond, that makes any play unsuccessful? Is the play really as funny as the cast thinks?

Then comes the first humorous line onstage. The audience laughs long and hard. The actors backstage all start breathing again, smile at one another and nod. It's going to go over. The tension lifts. The play is on the way.

Probably the most surprised person in the cast was Bess Gill. In case you missed the play, Bess played an overbearing wife, with James Harris as her henpecked husband whose only lines, throughout the play, were "Yes, my lamb." At the climax, the worm turns, and the husband defies the wife, answers "No, my lamb." Bess is so startled, in the play, that she faints on a handy sofa and the curtain comes down.

Ever since the second rehearsal, Harris had been planning a little surprise for Bess. Everyone in the cast knew about it—except Bess. So when she fainted in the actual production of the play, Harris calmly took a cup of water and poured on her to "revive" her. Fortunately, the audience couldn't see the startled look on the face of the "unconscious" actress, and good trower that she was, Bess didn't give way to her surprise, "although it was kind of hard not too, when the water started running in my ear," she reported later.

The announced plan to try to organize a community amateur theatre group here in Santa Anna is an excellent one. This would give our city something of which to be very proud, and would add to the recreational assets of Santa Anna. If you are interested, whether you have had any dramatic experience or not, why not contact Gale Allen (catch her during the day at the Sam Collier Insurance Agency) and let her know. If there is enough interest, this group will be organized and Santa Anna will be one of the few cities its size with a community theatre group.

Airman Third Class Clayton D. Seals, son of Mrs. D. J. Seals, of Route 1, Coleman, has been graduated with honors from the technical training course for US Air Force automotive repairman at Chanute Air Force Base, Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hosch and daughter, Darla, of Bethany, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hosch and children Sandra and Gay of San Angelo, visited over the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Hosch.

Hearing On Bond Election Contest Suit Postponed Again, Set For Monday

The preliminary hearing on the election contest suit disputing the outcome of the February 26 bond election was postponed again this week. Due to the illness of Judge Joe Dibrell, the hearing was reset from Tuesday morning until next Monday, April 26, at 3:00 p.m.

The attorneys for the five plaintiffs in the suit filed an amended petition early this week. The city's answer to the original petition by the plaintiffs pointed out the lack of specific facts in that document. The amended pleading, in apparent reply to the city's plea in abatement, went into more detail about the plaintiffs claims of election fraud.

Among other allegations, the plaintiffs amended petition stated that Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gary had tried to render personal property but were refused, and that they "would have voted against" the bonds. It also states that Mrs. Joyce Early was refused the right of voting although, the document claims, she was qualified to cast a ballot.

Mrs. Pauline Garrett, Santa Anna City Secretary, told The News that the Garys came into the city offices prior to election day, desiring to render personal property. Mrs. Garrett says that she was at that time trying to get a ruling on the validity of such renditions from the city attorneys, and that she informed the Garys of this, telling them to check back in a short time and she would know how to go about taking such renditions.

City To Collect Backdue Taxes

The City of Santa Anna will begin efforts to collect pastdue taxes within a short time. Letters are being prepared which will go out to all property owners in the city limits who have taxes backdue on their property.

If the accounts are not then brought up to date, legal action will be taken to collect the taxes due the city, a spokesman for the city said Wednesday.

First Aid Course Planned For Mozelle

A course in medical self help is being offered at Mozelle, according to Mrs. Bessie Parker, Coleman County Home Demonstration Agent.

The course will be open for registration at its session next Monday afternoon, April 26. The course will meet in the Mozelle High School study hall, from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. each Monday for six weeks. It is open to the public.

Local Hounds Take Three Firsts, One Second Place At Amarillo Show

Beagles from Santa Anna's Rio POCO Kennels took three first places and one second in an American Kennel Club all breed show held in Amarillo, Sunday, April 18.

The local entries included two 13 inch beagles, and two in the 15 inch variety. Rio POCO Memento won first in the Bred by Exhibitor Dog class in the 13 inch category.

Trickham Cemetery Association Meets

The Trickham Cemetery Association will meet for its annual session and homecoming on Sunday, April 25. Plans for the meeting include a visit to the cemetery at 10:00 a.m., memorial services at the Trickham Church at 11:00 a.m. with Rev. James Gilbert delivering the sermon, a business meeting following the service, and lunch at noon. Everyone is invited, according to Mrs. Bill Vaughn, secretary of the organization.

She was told that if it was going to be that much trouble, they would just not bother with it, according to a witness in the office at the time. At that time, no personal property renditions for tax purposes were being accepted, according to a spokesman for the city, but following the receipt of information as to the validity of such procedure, and the method to be used, all personal property so offered was accepted on the city tax rolls. The Garys did not again apply, according to the city spokesman.

The amended petition also states that Mrs. Joyce Early was refused the right to vote although she was a qualified voter. City tax records show no property listed for the Earlys. The real property claimed by the Earlys is still listed in the name of Sam Collier, county deed records show. Title to the property will not be transferred to the purchasers until one half of the principal has been paid. Thus, legally, Mrs. Early was not a qualified voter according to the tax laws.

Other portions of the amended petition lists six local voters who the complainants claim were not qualified to vote in this election. These include Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Caraway, Mrs. Mollie Denton, a person listed as "E. J. Jones" who is apparently supposed to be E. K. Jones, Mrs. Olena Latimer, and B. B. Parker.

A spokesman for the city's attorneys told The News that the city will prove that these persons were entitled to vote, and that since they were legal voters they would in no way change the overall outcome of the election.

The amended complaint also brought to attention certain tax office practices which the plaintiffs claim are incorrect. The petition states that the rendition records are kept in a looseleaf binder, which the plaintiffs apparently feel is not the proper way of maintaining these records. The News learned this week that the Santa Anna rendition records are kept in such a binder because this is the form furnished by the state of Texas and required for such records.

Plaintiffs remaining on the suit are Leland Thompson, D. D. Blake, Lela Campbell, Maggie Culver, and T. H. Goodgion. Named as defendants are Ford Barnes and the members of the Santa Anna City Council: Calvin Campbell, O. A. Ethridge, L. M. Guthrie, Doug Moore, and Ben Yarbrough.

A spokesman for the city stated late this week that the petition, as amended, still is vague and unspecific, and that the city anticipates no difficulty in defending against the legal action.

competition, and his kennelmate, Rio POCO Tigre, took the blue ribbon in the Open Dog class, going to be picked as Winners Dog—best male 13 inch beagle entered in the regular classes. The local hound won one championship point, now having a total of nine of the 15 needed for the title of champion.

In the 15 inch category, the local kennels' top entry, Williamson's Sulmo Rocky, winner of the recent Dallas show, largest dog show ever held in the Southwest, met with some bad luck. On the way to the Amarillo show, Rocky's tail was accidentally caught in the car door. The tail was not injured severely, only cut slightly, but the experience shook the Santa Anna hound up so that he showed poorly, taking only second place in the 15 inch Open Dog class. Earlier, Rio POCO Pancho won the top spot in the 15 inch Bred by Exhibitor class.

Next show for the local hounds is expected to be in Albuquerque, New Mexico, next month.

Attend church regularly.

The Santa Anna Independent School District will open its own tax office, using its own tax evaluations, later this year, according to Superintendent Cullen Perry.

The new evaluations are necessary to provide the local schools with enough funds to carry on an adequate educational program, Perry said. He stated that the Board of Trustees of the Santa Anna Independent School District had the choice of taking the tax action or of curtailing the local educational facilities, and after careful study it was decided to operate as a separate taxing agency.

Perry explained that up to the present the local school district has been handling its taxing through the county tax office, using the state and county evaluations. These evaluations have not changed since before World War II, and do not provide an adequate base for local school financing at the present time.

An attempt was made to have the Coleman County Commissioners Court raise the evaluations in the County, but they failed to agree to this. County Commissioner Thomas Wristen, who has been working with the local school board in its attempts to solve its financial problems, explained to The News that the financial situations of the County and of the Santa Anna Independent School District differ, and therefore one tax evaluation can hardly be applied to both units of local government.

The local school board must meet certain financial require-

Brownwood Man Injured In Auto Accident Here

Thomas Michael Bowers, 20, of Brownwood, was injured in a one car accident about two miles northwest of Santa Anna on US Highway 84, about 6:50 p.m. Tuesday, April 20.

Bowers, who was alone in the car, a 1960 Chevrolet convertible, told investigating officers that he turned to move some clothing that was blowing in the back seat of the car, and when he turned back, found that he had run up on a small bridge. The car was totally demolished.

Bowers suffered a broken arm and other injuries in the accident, and was taken to Santa Anna Hospital by a Hosch Funeral Home ambulance.

Highway Patrolman Al Chambers said that the investigation into the accident is continuing.

PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS IN COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

Where can our town see an example of Community Development?

WTU says Childress is a good example... many projects are underway.

Water is a problem with many West Texas communities, but Childress is solving it with an ambitious program. In connection with neighboring towns, there is a $6 million dam and reservoir starting soon... under construction a $4 million pipeline from the water supply to the city... and a pipeline system in the city. Add such things as a remodeled City Auditorium with convention facilities... vapor lamp street lighting downtown and on highways through town... remodeled Chamber of Commerce offices... over $400,000 in Church construction... new lounge at the Airport... and modernizing of many business buildings. Scheduled for the immediate future are a school bond election... expansion of State buildings... and a new hospital. The Childress record is a PATTERN FOR PROGRESS in "community development," improving chances for continued economic growth and attraction of new industry plus making it a better place to live, work and play. Small Business Week Marks Value Of Littler Businesses To Economy

President Lyndon Johnson has issued a proclamation designating the week starting May 23 as "Small Business Week 1965," Robert E. West, Area Administrator for the Southwestern Area, Small Business Administration, Dallas, Texas, reported today.

West said the Presidential proclamation calls on business groups and other private and public organizations across the country to participate in ceremonies "recognizing the contribution of small business to our goal of a better and more productive life for all our people."

In the proclamation issued in Washington, the President noted that the Nation's 4.7 million small businesses provide more than a third of the country's goods and services, and "hold open the door of opportunity for men and women of all races and creeds."

West also pointed out the proclamation emphasizes that small business concerns, by continuing to grow in number and strength, will provide additional jobs needed by a growing nation, and are a source of new ideas, new methods, and new products which enrich the lives of our citizens and stimulate our economic growth.

In calling upon communities to recognize the role of small business, the President said that "small businessmen are leaders in the business and civic affairs of their communities, and will continue to play a leading role in community-wide action to eliminate poverty wherever it exists."

The local SBA official said that he and members of his staff will be available to work with state, county, and city officials, as well as with officers of business and civic groups, in developing plans for honoring local small businesses during "Small Business Week 1965."

He also called attention to two special events which will take place in Washington during the week of May 23-29 including selection of a "Small Businessman of the Year," and a national exhibit of products furnished to large firms by small business suppliers. This exhibit will highlight the interdependence of large and small business in the American free enterprise system.

Information on other phases of the observance of "Small Business Week 1965" will be released as plans are developed, Mr. West said.

The text of the President's proclamation follows:

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS small business has through our history contributed to our cherished system of free, competitive enterprise; and

WHEREAS the Nation's 4.7 million small businesses:

—include nine of every ten businesses that supply the needs and wants of the American people;

—provide more than a third of the Nation's goods and services;

—contribute significantly to the well-being of our citizens, to the defense of freedom, and to the exploration of new scientific frontiers; and

WHEREAS small business concerns, by continuing to grow in number and strength, will provide additional jobs needed by a growing Nation; and

WHEREAS small business holds open the door of opportunity for men and women of all races and creeds; and

WHEREAS small business is a source of new ideas, new methods, and new products which enrich the lives of our citizens and stimulate our economic growth; and

THE BIG INCH

The ruled box above is a one-inch ad. It measures one column wide by one inch deep. It costs advertisers 45 cents.

It looks kind of lonesome by itself.

But look at it this way:

What you get when you buy a one inch ad in The Santa Anna News is not just a single space in the paper, but one inch multiplied by more than 1,000 copies each week. And by more than 4,000 readers each week.

So you are really buying 1,000 inches, which (at 20 column inches per page) would be some eight and one-third pages of printed newsprint.

That is a mighty big chunk of space to cost 45 cents. Just imagine trying to reach all those Santa Anna News readers by postcard. It would amount to more than $160 just for the postage. But The News does it for just 45 cents.

So you can see that a little one inch ad is a big inch when it is advertising space in The Santa Anna News. And two inches will tell your story twice as well as one, and four will get your message across four times as well, and so on. It is the most effective and economical way possible to let people in this area know that you have wares and services they could use.

Call FI8-3545 and let our advertising representative show you how our big inches of advertising space can be a big salesman for you.

(Check on our classified ads too for another big bargain.)

Is This Any Of Your Business?

The so-called "little Hoover bill" is having tough sledding in the state legislature. This bill would set up a "watchdog" agency to check into the operation of the various state agencies, especially those charged with spending large sums of the taxpayers' money (that's your money). It would report on ways by which the state government could be made more efficient and economical, and would help guarantee honesty in state government, blowing the whistle on shady practices that would cost the citizens money.

Why are so many state representatives and senators opposed to this bill? We can only assume that either they are opposed to promoting economy in state government, opposed to saving your tax money. Or that they are opposed to honesty in the state government. In either case, we would hardly want anyone who is opposed to such improvements as the "little Hoover bill" representing us in Austin.

This bill is so called because it is patterned after the Federal Hoover Commission, which was based on work done by former President Herbert Hoover. The commission set up by this bill has uncovered many instances of inefficiency in the national government, and has saved millions of your Federal tax dollars. Many states have enacted comparable laws, and have enjoyed the same good results.

Why then are legislators in Austin opposing this law so bitterly? Don't they really want efficient, effective government for the state? Or are they afraid that such a commission might uncover something in their own backyards that they would rather not have made public? In either instance, such men should not be returned to Austin to represent us. The state's business is the people's business. This is what we teach our school children in civics classes. Apparently a number of our state legislators don't agree. They think the state's business is their own private concern, and the public can go jump in the lake.

If you are interested in what happens to your tax dollars, if you are concerned about what happens in our state government and think you have a right to know, why not take time to jot down a letter to your state legislators telling them so, and telling them you expect them to support this important legislation.

Ask Yourself

Have you stopped to think what the bond election contest suit, being pushed by a handful of local residents, is costing you? Have you checked into how this suit is wasting your city tax money by forcing the city to fight an unnecessary court battle? Is this the way you want your tax money spent, money that could otherwise be used for civic improvements that would benefit everyone?

'NEWS' FROM THE HOME FRONT

"POSITION IS EVERYTHING"

To a certain young housewife, there is special meaning in the adage that "position is everything in life." Injured while shopping, she lost a claim for damages simply because of her position—her physical position—at the moment of the accident.

It happened this way: Standing near the checkout counter in a market, she decided to hand the cashier an extra package she was carrying. She stepped into the cashier's booth, stumbled over an obstruction, and fell down hard.

As a rule, a shopper has a favored legal status. Classified as an "invitee" (or "business visitor"), she is entitled to have substantial care taken for her safety.

But that status continues only so long as she stays where she belongs, within the area of invitation. Outside that area, she loses her favored status. Her chance of collecting damages, in case of injury, is automatically reduced.

In the above case, the housewife stepped out of bounds when she entered the cashier's booth. Result: she lost her status and lost the lawsuit that followed.

How far does the area of invitation extend? Farther, of course, than the precise point of purchase. For instance, you are still within its protection while entering or leaving the store in the normal manner.

Thus, in a case involving negligence on the part of a bank, damages were awarded to a man injured while entering through the bank's front door. But damages were denied to a woman injured while entering a restaurant, through the side shipping door, obviously not meant for public use.

Would you like your name to be published on your birthday? If so, please be sure to let us know when it is. Next week we will publish the names of those having birthdays between April 29 and May 5.

Suppose you want to use the telephone or washroom? Does the area of invitation reach that far?

Much depends on the nature of the store. Facilities that would be considered public in a department store may be considered private—for use of employees only—in a dress shop or a pharmacy.

Merchants know they have less legal responsibility in out-of-bounds areas. Often, for that reason, they make less effort to keep the floors safe and the lighting adequate.

So if you should stray, be sure to keep a sharp lookout for hazards. Far better than winning damages is not getting hurt at all.

BUDGET WRITING TOUGHER THAN EVER

Appropriations bill conferees failed to make the April 15 deadline set by House Speaker Ben Barnes for completion of their work.

Despite any sharp differences between House and Senate bills, the budgetwriting job in general is tougher than ever this year. That's because of creation of new state agencies and transfers of duties particularly in hospital and water fields plus impact of Federal programs just being evolved on state finances.

LOAN BILL ADVANCED

Legislation which opponents charge would mean the highest interest rates on loans in the nation for Texans received tentative Senate approval 16-14.

Measure by Senator Jim Bates, of Edinburg, would allow $9 annual interest rates on installment loans of $100 up to $6,500. An amendment, finally accepted after strong objection, exempted small loan companies from terms of the bill. Another amendment exempted mortgage loans on real estate.

COLLEGES GET FEDERAL FUNDS

With $11,200,000 presently allocated for distribution in Federal grants for college construction in Texas, the Texas Commission on Higher Education already has requests from 24 more colleges and eligibility established for 12 junior colleges.

Applications received amount to an additional $12,500,000 of construction requests under the 1964 Higher Educational Facilities Act. Grants pay for 40 percent of the actual cost of new construction for approval college facilities.

State Capitol NEWS

A new governor moved into the chief executive's office in the capitol this week but only for a day.

Following tradition, Governor John Connally and Lieutenant Governor Preston Smith left the state Tuesday clearing the way for Senator Tom Creighton, of Mineral Wells, Senate president pro tempore, to take a 24 hour turn as governor.

Creighton invited homefolks from Callahan, Clay, Denton, Eastland, Jack, Montague, Palo Pinto, Parker, Stephens, and Wise counties to his "inauguration."

He also turned out the usual volume of proclamations and commissions and received praises of his colleagues.

Creighton, 36, an attorney, brought along his pretty wife, Sue, and three children to the governor's mansion.

MEDICAL SCHOOL VETOED

Governor Connally vetoed the bill authorizing Texas Tech to establish a medical school in Lubbock.

Connally said that not enough study had been given to the idea and that he preferred that his recently created college coordinating board be the supreme authority in new college programs.

Veto drew critical attacks from West Texas proponents of the school, including Lieutenant Governor Preston Smith and Senator H. J. Blanchard, both of Lubbock.

DISTRICTING GUIDELINES SET

Representative Gus Mutscher, of Brenham, says the House Districts Committee aims to get a Congressional reapportionment measure to the floor by May 1. Mutscher is chairman of the Committee.

Three optional plans for state House of Representatives redistricting also are due from subcommittees by May 1.

Committee has adopted these tentative legislature redistricting guidelines:

Population variance between districts should be held to a maximum of 15 percent over and below the mean average;

"At least one attempt" will be made to eliminate "floterial" districts;

Small counties without population sufficient to justify a representative of their own will not be divided;

Two or more representatives will not be allowed to run at large in two or more counties.

Committee also approved Senate-passed bill to permit up to 15 percent population variance in forming legislative districts.

House Speaker Ben Barnes is optimistic that the Legislature can solve the thorny redistricting problem without need for a special session.

AMENDMENTS GET PRIORITY

State representatives returned from their brief Easter Vacations to find two proposed constitutional amendments high on their work assignment list.

Governor Connally finally got the balky House Amendments Committee to clear for debate measure to increase terms of governor and other officials elected statewide from two to four years.

Committee also approved redistricting pain-easer calling for increase of State Senate membership from 31 to 39, but stripped from it provision to lengthen upper house terms to six years.

Pressure from the Governor for submission of both measures to Texas voters (in November and August 7 elections, respectively) were intense.

NEW LAWS ADOPTED

Dozens of bills have been given final passage in one house and sent to the other for further action.

Two bills by Representative Dick Cory would authorize commissioners courts in all but the largest counties of the state to give county officers raises of up to 20 percent.

Senator Don Kennard's bill to create a North Central Airport Authority in Tarrant county which is opposed by Dallas, was passed in the state Senate, but the House version ran into a filibuster by Dallas delegation members in the committee hearing.

Bill by Senator W. T. Moore would authorize Texas A&M to accept James Connally Air Force Base for the state and establish a technical institute.

NONCITIZENS AID PROPOSED

Proposed constitutional amendment to make old age assistance to noncitizens who have lived in the US for at least 25 years received heavy support in a House committee hearing.

Representative Joe J. Bernal, of San Antonio, sponsor of the bill, said only three other states require citizenship for such assistance. Many thousand long-time Texas residents, who have not qualified for citizenship for such assistance due to language or other barriers, have no income at all today, Bernal told the Committee.

RAINMAKING STUDY URGED

John T. Carr, Jr., weatherman with the Texas Water Commission, says long range experiments in weather modification should be undertaken in Texas, even though at present conditions do not seem favorable and existing methods are expensive.

Carr says that ideal conditions for rainmaking are infrequent in Texas. However, experiments have shown there are effective methods to bring about rain where it would not have fallen naturally and to increase the yield of rain clouds.

SHORT SNORTS

Bill to authorize the Texas Water Development Board to issue $100,000,000 more in Texas Water Development Bonds was heard by the House Conservation and Reclamation Committee and assigned to subcommittee.

George W. Hill, executive director of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, has resigned effective July 1 to become president of the Southern Heritage Foundation.

Governor signed into law these bills: Raising compulsory school attendance age one year to 17; renewal of foreign student exemptions from tuition in Texas colleges; and providing for election of school trustees by the place system in independent school districts of 500 or more scholastics.

In another opinion Carr concluded a fireman who leaves his job after 20 years service, but before age 55, is not required to contribute percentage of sick leave and vacation pay into firemen's relief and retirement fund.

State Banking Commission heard application of Bank of Rockport for charter Monday, April 19.

Read John 11:19-26

You have been raised with Christ. Colossians 3:1 (RSV)

In the joy of Jesus' victory over death, His disciples found an unfading meaning behind their physical existence. The fear of death could no longer separate them from the love of Christ. In Him, the victory over death was assured.

Victims of hopelessness consider death as the extinction of life. Therefore, they mourn at the approach of death. But for the Master, death was like sleep. To those who mourned for Lazarus, Jesus said, "Our friend Lazarus has fallen asleep." Those who believe in Christ will not die; they are the inheritors of the life eternal. They live and move and have their eternal being in Him.

Jesus Christ said, "Because I live, you will live, also." His claim was proved worthy of belief when He Himself rose from the dead. Having received such a heritage, we need not mourn at death. Death does not have the final word for us, who find in Christ the foundation of our hope in the life eternal.

PRAYER

O mighty and eternal God, we offer the gratitude of our hearts to Thee because Thy Son, who is our Savior, in His name we praise Thee. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Jesus Christ is the foundation of our hope in the life eternal.
