

In case you don't know, the initials "CB" stand for "Citizen Band" which is a certain portion of the radio frequency set aside for amateur use. Citizens and radio is a rapidly growing pastime, and cars and pickups seem to be sprouting the antennae for the mobile units at an alarming rate.

Nora Robinson, advertising manager here at The News, thinks that all this should be classified as some sort of disease. Her husband, Duane, a member of the Coleman Police Department, and her two sons, Joe and Larry, have been bitten by the bug. They installed a unit in the house, and a mobile unit in one of the cars. But Nora, who thinks the whole thing is some kind of infectious insanity, refused all attempts to put a unit in her little Falcon station wagon.

"They'll never put one of those things in my car!" she said with conviction and determination last Friday.

Guess what happened. Monday morning she showed up with the little CB antenna sticking up from the roof of the station wagon.

"Well, anyway, I won't answer it," she now insists.

Jerry Clark, local man about town and plastic chicken collector, came up with a good suggestion the other day. He noted that when you are expecting visitors at your home, you usually park your car in the driveway or garage, so that the visitors can park at the curb by your house.

Jerry suggests that this same thing should apply to downtown Santa Anna. He pointed out that so many cars belonging to persons working in downtown stores and businesses are parked in front of these places that often a would be customer can't find a place to park without going around the corner or to the next block. Jerry said that since almost the businesses in Santa Anna have parking space available behind the building, in the alleys, wouldn't it make more sense for operators of businesses downtown park there, and leave the street parking in front of the businesses available for customers?

Sounds logical to us.

According to a sheet of "fillers", those little bits of useless information newspapers use to space out columns, received this week from the Texas Press Association: "John Bunyan's 'Pilgrim's Progress' is said to be read more widely than any book in the English language except the Bible."

We would take exception with the Texas Press Association on this point. Our nominee for the most widely read book in the English language, excepting the Bible, would be the Sears and Roebuck catalogue.

Not only that, it is probably put to more other uses than "Pilgrim's Progress" or any other book.

In fact, our brother in law is of the opinion that Sears' decision a few years ago to print their catalogue on slick paper did more to promote indoor bathrooms in farm homes than any other single factor.

This one comes to us roundabout, from the son of one of our staff members here at The News. Seems a couple of little boys were sitting on the curb when a friend passed by with a box. The third little boy asked the other two to hold the box while he went into the store to see his mother. While waiting for the owner of the box to return, one little boy spied something leaking out of the box. He wet his finger in it and licked it. "Lemonade," he said. The other little boy tried it. "No, it's tea," he maintained. They were arguing and tasting when the owner of the box returned. "What do you have in the box," both the boys on the curb demanded.

"Puppies," was the answer.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lightfoot have as their visitors SP/4 and Mrs. Larry Stuard and family, who have just recently returned from Germany; and their son-in-law, James W. Cagle, who is home on leave from Okinawa. The Cagle's are now visiting in Tennessee with his family.

Date For Bond Election Contest Suit Reset For Wednesday, May 19

Date for the trial of the election suit contesting the results of the voting that approved the sewer and water system bonds for Santa Anna has been moved back one day, from Tuesday, May 18 to Wednesday, May 19.

The action was taken to fit the trial into the docket of District Judge Joe Dibrell, who will hear the case.

The suit was filed in the name of 19 local voters, but 14 petitioned the court to have their names removed, charging that the matter had been misrepresented to them, and that they had not intended to participate in such an action. Those remaining on the suit include Leland Thompson, Dan Blake, Maggie Culver, Lela Campbell, and Homer Goodgion.

Named as defendants in the suit are the Mayor and City Council: Ford Barnes, Calvin Campbell, A. O. Etheridge, L. M. Guthrie, Doug Moore, and Ben Yarborough.

Attorneys for the city include Hal Woodward, of Coleman, assisted by special bond attorneys from Dallas. Representing the plaintiffs are the firms of Yates and Yates, and Hooper and Perry, both of Abilene. David Hooper, who appeared for the plaintiffs in the hearing Monday, April 26, represented the plaintiffs in the recent election contest suit in Brownwood, which was decided in favor of the defendants.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs are expected to file an amended petition prior to the trial date, incorporating rulings by Judge Dibrell, made as a result of the April 26 hearing, that many of the points complained of by the plaintiffs were too vague, lacking in proof, and failed to show how such point could have effected the outcome of the election even if they were true.

Mrs. E. B. Thomas Injured In Auto Wreck Wednesday

Donald Ray Williams, of Coleman, driving a 1964 Ford, was involved in an accident Wednesday about noon with a 1948 Buick driven by Mrs. E. B. Thomas, of Santa Anna.

The accident occurred when Mrs. Thomas, traveling east on Wallis Avenue, turned left onto the Brady highway. Williams, traveling east on Wallis, struck the right side of the Thomas car.

Mrs. Thomas was taken to Santa Anna Hospital with multiple cuts and mild concussion. She was retained in the Hospital, where she was reported resting well late Wednesday night. Williams was not injured enough to require hospitalization.

A light rain had been falling, and the pavement was wet, according to Deputy Sheriff Nick Buse.

Junior And Senior Class Hold Fete

The Junior and Senior classes of Santa Anna High School, held their annual banquet at the school cafeteria Saturday night, May 1. The theme chosen and carried out was "A Colonial Holiday."

The waitresses were Marguerite Horner, Jean Robinett, Norma Jo Eubank and Sonja Neff. The waiters were Billy Don Cupps, Jackie Walker, James Gilbreath and Ronnie Hartman.

The entertainment was a group of three from Cooper High School in Abilene, The Greenwood Singers.

Joe Ed Wise and Ruth Ann Walker were crowned prom King and Queen.

Boy Scout Troop To Raise Funds

Members of Santa Anna's Boy Scout Troop 30 will be selling foot scrapers during the next couple of weeks to raise funds for the Troop, and to help the individual Scouts earn money to help pay for summer camp.

The foot scrapers mount in the ground near a door, and provide a tool for scraping mud off of the shoes of those entering the house. Such an implement may not be needed right now, in view of all the dry weather, but it will come in handy when (and if) it rains.

The scrapers sell for $1.50 each, and the local Troop keeps 50 cents for each one sold. Of this, 40 cents goes into the Troop treasury to finance the Scouting program and purchase equipment (the local Troop is now trying to purchase tents), and 10 cents is credited to the account of the Scout making the sale, to be applied on the $16.00 fee for summer camp.

Santa Anna residents can obtain a handy aid to help keep their house mudless, and help the local Boy Scout Troop out at the same time, by supporting this sale.

Semipro Baseballers To Practice Saturday

A number of players have signed up for the new semipro baseball team to be sponsored in Santa Anna by this newspaper, and the first practice of the season has been called for 2:30 p.m. Saturday, May 8, at the Santa Anna baseball field.

Anyone interested in playing on the team is invited to come out to the practice session. Any ballplayer of age 16 or over is eligible. A practice game will probably be scheduled for the following week, according to Bob Parker.

Santa Anna television viewers will have the benefits of cable service within the next month, according to an announcement this week by Max Eubank, of the new Santa Anna Cable Company.

According to Eubank, construction is now underway on the antenna for the new system. The antenna will be located atop West Santa Anna Mountain, above the present location of Santa Anna Hospital. It is expected that the antenna will be completed, and service can be started within approximately 30 days, Eubank said.

Television signals follow a "line-of-sight" pattern, traveling in a straight line, and the strongest signals will not pass over the horizon. Regular AM radio signals, on the other hand, bounce off of a layer of ionized gasses, called the Heavyside Layer, that surrounds the Earth. Because of this bounce effect, these radio signals can travel hundreds of miles, while the television (and FM radio) signals, which do not bounce off of this layer of gasses, travel only in a straight line. Good signals are thereby unable to travel beyond the horizon. By the use of tall antennae, television transmitting companies extend the "line-of-sight" horizon for the signal from the station, but this extends the signal a relatively short distance. By providing a very high antenna, as the local company will do, a "line-of-sight" between the top of the transmitting antenna and the top of the receiving antenna is obtained, insuring reception of a strong television signal. This signal, which is free of the usual interference and distortion common with ordinary antennae, is this far from the transmitter, is then amplified and sent into the homes of cable subscribers by means of a small coaxial cable.

Eubank explained that the point at which the lead-in from the present antenna enters (or at any other point the homeowner may wish) and is attached to the television set in the manner of an ordinary lead-in. Cables for the television service will be carried on poles no longer used, and on poles of West Texas Utilities Company and the Coleman County Telephone Cooperative, under agreement with these two firms.

Some of the advantages of the cable system, according to Eubank, in addition to the increased picture clarity and freedom from interference, are the added safety from lightning, and the elimination of costly antenna upkeep.

The cable system here will offer three channels, including stations in Abilene (channel 9), San Angelo (channel 8), and Sweetwater (channel 12). This will provide a choice of programs from all three national television networks, National Broadcasting Company (NBC), Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS), and American Broadcasting Company (ABC).

The cable will provide signals suitable for color reception as well as for black and white reception, Eubank said, pointing out that the increased signal strength available with the cable system will improve color reception in this area.

Eubank said that his firm will take the old antenna of a new subscriber in place of the usual connection fee. This special introductory offer will be in effect for only a limited time.

Monthly rate on the cable will be $6.00.

Eubank said that to make the project economically feasible and to insure its continuation, a minimum of about 60 subscribers would be required. Pointing out that the new cable system will be an asset in gaining new residents in Santa Anna, Eubank said that he knows of at least two families who decided to live in Coleman because they could obtain good television reception on the cable there, although they would have preferred to live in Santa Anna had good television facilities been available here.

Persons interested in obtaining the new television service, or in obtaining more information about it, should place their name and address on a Post Card and mail it to Post Office Box 162, Santa Anna. Eubank said that connections would be made in the order in which the cards are received, as soon as the antenna is completed.

County Bond Sales Totals Revealed

Savings Bond sales for the first three months of 1965 in Coleman County totaled $30,026. Of this amount, $14,510 were purchased during March according to a report released by Robert I. Bowen, Jr., chairman of the Coleman County Savings Bonds Committee.

Sales in Texas for the first quarter of 1965 amounted to $39,286,192, which represents 26 percent of the state goal of $152.8 million.

Mrs. Kate Holmes is in Texas City, to be with her son, L. J. Lovelady, who underwent a back operation last Monday. He is reported to be doing fine, but will be recuperating for four months. His address is Box 2672, Texas City, Texas, and he would appreciate cards.

Hal Woodward, Highway Commission Meet In Department Warehouse

For the first time in its 38 year history the Texas Highway Commission met formally in a warehouse today.

The three man body, which guides the Texas Highway Department in developing the growing state highway grid, held its monthly business meeting in a new maintenance warehouse in Carrizo Springs.

The warehouse is one of more than 1,000 Texas Highway Department buildings scattered throughout Texas. Maintenance warehouses are located in practically all county seats in the state, and some counties have several.

Following the business meeting, Commissioners were featured in Chamber of Commerce ceremonies dedicating the new facility, which includes a separate resident engineer's office and laboratory. Later Commissioner J. H. Kuitgen, of Waco, addressed the Chamber's annual banquet at the National Guard Armory.

Commissioners elected to hold their unusual warehouse meeting here for two reasons:

1. Carrizo Springs is the home of the chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, Herbert C. Petry, Jr. Community leaders this week saluted the Commissioner, who stumps the state in behalf of better roads.

2. The Highway Commission also wished to dramatize the growing importance of maintenance work on Texas highways.

Hal Woodward, of Coleman, is the third member of the Commission.

REDDY TIPS

to Give You More Comfort from Your

AIR CONDITIONING at a Lower Cost!

Aren't you happy you have air conditioning to keep you cool and comfortable through these long, hot summer days... and nights... while outside temperatures are sizzling up to the 100 degree mark and past?

For your sake Reddy hopes the temperatures will take a tumble. But in case they don't, he's bursting to give you these valuable tips on how to get maximum efficiency at the lowest cost from your air conditioning—whether you have a central system or window units.

Reddy learned long ago there's nothing better than a long-term, satisfied customer. So, he wants to see that you get the most for your air conditioning dollar by saving you wasted expense.

West Texas Utilities Company an investor owned company

clip this out and keep as a reminder

KEEP FILTERS CLEAN... PREVENT WASTED DOLLARS

Take the "strain" off your air conditioner and your budget. A dirty filter restricts air flow, makes your unit work harder to keep your home cool, costs you more in operating costs. Almost one-half of the trouble calls are traced to dirty filters. And filters are inexpensive to buy—easy to install and clean. Fiber glass throw-away filters can be cleaned well with a vacuum cleaner. Metal permanent type filters are best cleaned with water. Save money! Check them periodically.

AIR CONDITIONING COSTS DROP WITH PROPER INSULATION

A home without proper insulation lets cool air out, hot air in—and vice versa during winter months. Insulation is not only a terrific bargain (saves up to 5% on summer and winter operating costs), it offers bonuses by absorbing noises and preventing dust from drifting in. Makes housework easier, living more pleasant.

AN OCCASIONAL CHECK-UP PAYS

Your air conditioning unit is a fine piece of equipment. A check-up keeps it "in tune," prevents sluggish operation and sometimes reveals that a unit is low on refrigerant... this condition ups operating costs. Your serviceman can keep your unit charged with the right amount of refrigerant. He'll open up free air flow, too, by cleaning accumulated dirt, mold and algae from the cooling coil "fins" and fans. He'll make sure the motors, wiring and thermostat are working properly, and may even paint your unit with rust preventive for longer life. You'll be glad your serviceman called!

SAVINGS TIP: WEATHERSTRIP

Air leaks around doors and windows are comparable to leaving your refrigerator door open—cuts down efficiency and adds to air conditioning operating costs. Save up to 10% instead by placing weatherstripping around doors and windows. It goes hand-in-hand with insulation in making your home a more enjoyable place by keeping out dust and noise.

THE THERMOSTAT SETTING IS THE KEY TO SAVING MONEY

The "just right" temperature for comfortable indoor living is 76 to 78 degrees F., although some might want it a little cooler and others a little warmer. The engineers say, it will cost you as much as 10% more to operate your unit for each degree below the ideal 76 to 78 degrees F. How's that for a money-saving tip?

TIPS TO REMEMBER

Prevent cool air from escaping up the chimney! Remember to keep the damper closed. Reduce the heat entering your home still more by using blinds, shades or draperies to block direct sunlight.

Abilene Meeting Set For Local Library Personnel

A spring tonic to boost libraries has been scheduled here May 11 at the Abilene Public Library in the form of a one day workshop especially planned for trustees, board members and friends of the library.

The free seminar, which will bring trustees, board members, friends and librarians to this city from a 34 county area, will be cosponsored by Abilene's Public Library and Texas State Library, according to Dr. Dorman H. Winfrey, director and librarian.

Miss Thelma Andrews, head librarian, Abilene Public Library, said registration and a get acquainted coffee period for visitors, would be from 9:30 until 10:00 a.m.

Speakers for the one day event will include city and county officials, interested citizens, and professional librarians. H. Kenneth Jackson, director of Field Services Division, Texas State Library, will act as moderator. He will be assisted by Elizabeth Karle and Rosalyn Shamblin, field consultants of the State Library staff.

"Workshops, such as this one, will do much to broaden the knowledge and the desire of the citizen to boost his own library," Miss Andrews remarked in urging full participation in the conference. Dr. Winfrey added, "the stature of the public library in Texas is gaining each year because public spirited trustees, board members and friends of the library refuse to be satisfied with a continuation of inadequate library services."

Recently approved supplemental guidelines to the new Texas Library Standards will also be discussed during the day. A committee, appointed by the Texas Library Association, compiled the Texas Library Standards and the guidelines.

The Same Old Mistake

The old saying has it that "history runs in cycles." We are seeing an example of that right now on the international scene. Almost exactly 30 years ago, Adolph Hitler and his "National Socialist" party (shortened to "Nazi") were coming to power in Germany, taking advantage of the economic confusion caused by an apparently uncontrollable inflation coupled with the effects of the great depression that was gripping the world, to overcome the democratic forces in that country and take control.

A short time later, Hitler and his Nazi hordes, along with his cohorts in Italy and Japan, were making the first steps on the march of conquest that would result eventually in more than two million people losing their lives in the bloodiest war ever fought.

Had the free nations of the world had the courage and foresight to step in and stop these aggressions when they first began, had they told Mussolini that he could not invade and conquer Ethiopia just to satisfy his craving for conquest, if they had told Hitler that he could not march into Australia and Czechoslovakia and a number of other small countries using as his excuse the need for "ibenstein" or "living room" for the German peoples, and if they had backed up their words with actions, there would have been no Second World War. It is one of the ironies of history that the men who tried to gain peace so desperately through appeasement were really responsible for the necessity of the world fighting the greatest war in its history.

"Peace at any price," was the cry of the fanatic pacifists at that time, and again, one generation later, we are hearing the same cry. The locale is changed, from Central Europe to the Middle East, from Czechoslovakia to Viet Nam, but the principles remain the same. It is sad commentary on the gullibility of human beings that so short a time after being taught so bloody a lesson, they are clamoring to make the same mistake again.

Never, not once, in all the history of mankind, has appeasement ever satisfied an aggressor. In the Bible we read of a powerful king of Syria, named Ben-hadad, who came up against Israel, demanding of the king of Israel that he give him all of his gold and silver and wives and children. Apparently the king of Israel was of the same mind as our present-day appeasers, because he complied with this request. Was Ben-hadad satisfied? Of course not. He made more and more demands, each one more blatant than the last. Had it not been for a prophet, Elijah, who convinced the king that he would have to fight, Ben-hadad would likely have taken over the country, would have had it handed to him piece by piece by the cowardly king. As it was, the outnumbered army of Israel defeated the army of the Syrians and ended the tyranny.

Appeasement did not work 3,000 years ago in Palestine, and it will not work today in Viet Nam.

The people who demand that the United States abandon its military action in Viet Nam and enter into negotiations on the terms demanded by the Communist government of North Viet Nam overlook one important fact: Such negotiations have already been concluded. The Communists agreed to a partition of Viet Nam, with a Communist government in the north, and a democratic government in the south. These agreements were signed in 1954, with the Communists solemnly pledging to abide by the conditions of the treaty. We can see in Viet Nam today how well they honor their word. If they would not keep the treaty made in 1954, how can we expect them to keep one made tomorrow? The answer is that we cannot, and we would be idiots to believe that we could.

"Gentlemen cry 'peace, peace,' but there is no peace," said Patrick Henry almost 200 years ago. "Is peace so sweet or life so dear as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God! I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me liberty or give me death!"

The soldiers and airmen and Marines who are fighting and dying right now in Viet Nam are the descendants of the spirit that moved Patrick Henry to utter those immortal words. There were cowards and appeasers in the colonies in 1775, but we can thank God that enough of our forefathers had the courage to choose right over expediency, and the good sense to realize that you cannot stop an aggressor with appeasement. Let us pray that the American people of today retain these characteristics.

FIVE YEARS AGO

Several homes in Santa Anna were struck by lightning during a thunderstorm that blew into town about 10:00 a.m. Monday, according to The News for April 29, 1960. Among the houses hit by the lightning bolts were those of Norval Wylie, Lester Bowman, and Roy Mathews.

J. D. Howard, of the Liberty community, found a rattlesnake four feet long on his front porch this week. Another door-to-door salesman, apparently,

Cullen N. Perry, who has been serving as principal of Santa Anna High School, has resigned to take the same position with the Post, Texas high school. Also resigning is R. K. Green, Superintendent here for the past eight years, who will fill the same post at Post. Perry has been offered the position of Superintendent for Santa Anna schools, reports the paper for May 6, 1955. He has been in his present job since 1948.

On Civic Loyalty

The following item was submitted by a reader. We think, in view of the current situation in Santa Anna, that there is something of value in it for all of us.

WHAT PRICE LOYALTY?

If you work for an institution or an organization, then you are a part of that institution. Your loyalty is expected by your employer. You owe it to him. Even if you do not agree with all the standards or rules and regulations set up by the firm, you still owe your loyalty. You should stand by it. If you don't like the way things are being run, get out, and when you are on the outside, then—dam to your heart's content. The same is with a town or city. If you live in the town, then you are a part of that town. Stand by the ones that represent the town. Remember—an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness. If you must growl, condemn, and eternally find fault with the officers of the city, move out of town. Then—dam to your heart's content. But as long as you are a resident of that town, be loyal to it. There is an old saying that goes something like this: "Judging others is a dangerous thing. Not only because you make mistakes about them, but you might be revealing the truth about yourself." So when you are talking about other people and telling lies one the ones who are considered to be your friends and neighbors, remember—you may be judged with the very same words that you are using against them. The people of a town are what make a town. Better citizens make better towns and better towns make better citizens. Better citizens make better Americans, and that is what we all are striving for—is a better America.

Light from a single window breaks the dark expanse of a five story building. Inside the room is a research scientist pouring over a pile of notes, trying to piece together bits of evidence which could possibly lead to a significant breakthrough in the battle against cancer.

Miles away in a small town, a secretary unlocks the door of the local health department and starts filling out requisitions for needed supplies. She is no scientist and the researcher hates the trivialities of order forms.

Yet both of these people have much in common. They are both engaged in a health career. In the growing competition among industry, the professions, education, government service, welfare and the health services for skilled, competent personnel, a career dedicated to serving fellow man through the health services can be rewarding both career-wise and personally.

Health careers include callings that care for the ill and the injured; and they include callings that help to prevent illness.

Training varies from about a high school education for some workers in a hospital to more than eight years of college for a physician.

The entire spectrum of working talents are offered in health fields including biologists, food service workers, housekeepers, statistical clerks, machinists, administrators, engineers, writers, artists, chemists, and photographers. The list goes on and on.

A health careerist can be his own boss as a private physician or consultant or he can work as a skilled member of a highly organized team in a local or state health department, hospital or health agency.

However, high standards are demanded regardless of the precise job performed. Many Texas colleges and universities offer courses designed to train students for the various health careers.

The health sciences are just beginning to enter on a new threshold of achievement. Atomic medicine is providing better diagnosis and treatment of such ills as cancer, and thyroid diseases and epidemiology procedures in public health are solving more and more communicable disease problems.

High school students should consider a health career seriously.

State Capitol NEWS

Texans will go to the polls on November 2 to vote on at least six, and perhaps 18, amendments.

Six proposals for Constitutional amendments already have cleared the Legislature. Ten to 12 others appear to have a good chance of being approved before the end of the session. State Senators and representatives introduced 128 proposals for amendments.

Major interest at the November 2 election will be on the proposal to increase to four years the terms of the governor, lieutenant governor, and other officials elected statewide.

Voters also will approve or defeat amendments to:
Extend the Veterans Land Program;

Let the Legislature set the salaries of the lieutenant governor and speaker of the house (at whatever level the legislature chooses) and raise its own per diem expense allowance from $12 a day for 120 days to $20 a day for 140 days.

Allow the state to issue bonds for loans to college students;

Exempt Hermann Hospital, in Houston, from payment of ad valorem taxes;

Permit the teachers retirement system to invest its money in corporation stocks, as well as in bonds;

A seventh constitutional amendment to go to voters is a housekeeping item to clear up uncertainty about when members of the house of representatives take office. If approved, legislators will take office on the date the legislature convenes. This amendment proposal, however, will be on the regular general election ballot in November, 1966.

REPEAL POLL TAX, BUT . . .

State House has passed a constitutional amendment to repeal the poll tax, but it went to the senate with an amendment requiring annual registration.

Proponents of the poll tax repeal bitterly fought the annual registration requirement. They contend that the states where fraud and political bosses reign are the states with annual registration requirements.

Resolution proposes a statewide vote in November, 1966.

NYC PROJECT DISAPPROVED

A Neighborhood Youth Corps grant of $381,480 to Texas Farmers Union for summer work projects in 33 small school districts of eight South Central Texas counties was disapproved by Governor John Connally. Grant previously was approved by the US Labor Department.

Governor said that, while he fully agrees with NYC objectives, he "cannot approve of school districts entering into third party contracts with quasipolitical organizations for work-training programs."

Connally has requested Texas Education Agency to assist the school districts in Bexar, Atascosa, Comal, Frio, Medina, Guadalupe, Karnes, and Wilson Counties to prepare their own individual applications for work programs.

Texas Farmers Union President, Jay Naman, expressed disappointment over the Governor's action. He said the proposed program for 790 youths would have been the pilot project for rural job training in other areas of the state and nation.

"DRINKERS' RIGHTS" URGED

Representative Jake Johnson, of San Antonio, presented his bill to legalize sale of mixed drinks in Texas before House Liquor Regulations Committee.

Johnson calls his bill a "drinkers' bill of rights." He says it's needed to "bring some sense to the chaotic liquor laws in Texas."

Committee also heard bill to permit families to make up to 200 gallons of their own wine.

Both proposals were sent to subcommittees.

HOUSE LABOR COMMITTEE

A bill to require a minimum wage of $1.25 an hour in Texas was sent to subcommittee. Committee also sent to subpanels two other measures:

Bill which would declare new "right to work" policies in event Congress knocks out open shop provisions of Taft-Hartley law. Resolution which would transfer to Commissioner of State Bureau of Labor Statistics the responsibility for determining prevailing wages required on public works projects.

FARM LAND TAX RELIEF

A constitutional amendment to allow a farmer whose property has become urbanized certain tax relief as long as he remains a bona fide farmer passed the house after big-city representatives attacked the measure as a "tax dodge for speculators."

Under the bill, sponsored by Representatives Bill Dungan, of McKinney, Alonzo Jamison, of Denton, and Wayne Connally, of Floresville, a farmer with land in an urbanized area could pay taxes based on a valuation of the land's worth for farming purposes. When he decides to sell the land, he'll pay the difference between that value and the value of the land for development purposes for three years back.

Measure now is in the hands of the senate.

FREIGHT CARS, TOO

Passenger trains in Texas will be allowed to carry mail or freight cars if Governor Connally signs a bill which now has passed both the house and senate. With the exception of the World War II period, mixed trains never have been allowed in Texas.

Bill also provides that brake-men must ride in the car nearest the rear which has a facility for them.

ALAMO FLAG TALKS BALKED

Governor Connally declined to sign a resolution calling for negotiations with Mexico for return of a battle flag captured at the Alamo because of "serious questions as to its constitutionality."

"It is highly doubtful that representatives of an individual state have the authority to enter negotiations of this nature with a foreign country," the Governor said. "This is a very delicate proposition and falls within the responsibility of the State Department."

He applauded "sincere motives" of the legislative sponsors of the resolution.

CARR WARNS LEGISLATORS

Attorney General Waggoner Carr warned Texas lawmakers they have a firm deadline to complete Congressional and legislative redistricting by August 1 and August 2 respectively.

In a memorandum to all legislators, Carr said the Federal court may begin the reapportionment job itself after the established deadline.

Read I John 2:1-14

He that saith he is in the light, and hateth his brother, is in the darkness even until now. I John 2:9

Members of a devout and devoted family were not experiencing the real joy and satisfaction from their life that they thought was possible.

Each day they would ask the Lord, in prayer, to make them more aware of the needs of others in the world. Yet even this unselfish petition did not yield them peace of mind or satisfaction.

One day they discovered the reason for this. They were sympathetic and mindful of the needs of others in the world—and this was commendable. But they were blind to the needs of those closest to them, their own family.

If we are going to witness for Christ, we must first have Christlike regard for members of our own family.

PRAYER

Our Father God forgive us if we have such an absorbing interest in ourselves and our families that we have no thought or interest in helping others. Forgive us if we have concern for others to the neglect of those nearest and dearest to us. Help us so to live that our lives may be an influence for good to all people. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

If enough homes become Christain, the world becomes Christain.

Beagle Field Trials Becoming Popular Sport

BY TED KESTING
 Sports Afield Magazine

If you like hound cry and want to have some easygoing fun, take time out some day and attend a beagle field trial. The handsome little rabbit-chasing beagle is the most popular sporting dog in America, certainly in the number of American Kennel Club registrations. He adapts himself to field competitions admirably, so the sport of beagle field trials has long enjoyed a healthy growth.

There are about 450 beagle clubs in the country, each of which holds one or more field trials each year, sanctioned or licensed by the American Kennel Club. The modus operandi of these trials may be confusing to the novice at first, but he will quickly get the hang of it — for any beagle-club member is always eagerly willing to explain the system to the visiting spectator. These trials are very popular in every area of the United States where the hare and the cottontail rabbit are found, and they are held from early fall through the winter and into late spring.

It is a family sport, to be enjoyed by all ages. No elaborate or expensive equipment is necessary. Ordinary outdoor or hunting clothing is all that is needed, though stout waterproof boots or shoes are desirable. Marksmanship does not enter into this picture, and the rabbit is seldom caught by the hounds.

Each dog is assured a chance to show his wares on a rabbit trail. Hounds are not required to hunt and jump their game, as they are kept on leash until the beaters start a rabbit and sound the Tallyho! Then the brace competing is rushed to the spot of the jump, and the hounds are placed on the trail. From then on they are on their own, with the eyes of the judges watching every move.

The beagle, competing in field trials, must demonstrate that he possesses an excellent nose and has determination and persistence. "He should show natural hunting intelligence in unraveling the problems of game scent," asserts Henry P. Davis, Sporting Dog Editor of Sports Afield Magazine.
