Because Mr. Conner was such a friendly person, and was so enthusiastic about his new hometown, we decided to carry a little item in this column about his visit to our office, to see that he got his name in the paper here. The item was all written, set in type, and ready to put in the paper. Then just before we went to press, we got word that Mr. Conner had suffered a severe heart attack, and had died in Santa Anna Hospital.

We pulled the item from the column, and instead wrote an obituary. So Mr. Conner got his name in the paper, though not in the way we would have wished. Santa Anna lost a good citizen, even though he had lived here only a few weeks. If those of us who have lived here much longer could be as enthusiastic about our town, it would be a better place in which to live.

This is what we have been saying all along.

Mr. Bob Bingham was by the office recently. Mr. Bingham is 83 years old, and he says he might retire next year.

He came to Texas, as a young child, on the second train to pull into Fort Worth, and he grew up in the Trickham community. He now lives in Sweetwater, where his son operates a flying service. The elder Mr. Bingham handles the office, sells gasoline to pilots, and keeps things going while his son is off on business. But he says he might retire next year.

That's the trouble nowadays. All these young whippersnappers like Mr. Bingham are ready to retire before they hardly get to know the business.

Our sister, a social worker by training, recently went back to work with the Federal program in Corpus Christi. She had occasion to write to a doctor to obtain medical information about one of the program's recipients. Since she spent several years in pychiatric social work with the state hospital system, she knows the procedure for such requests, or at least she thought she did before she went to work for the Federal government. She typed the letter requesting the information very neatly and in proper form, signing it "Yours truly." Then she left it on the mail desk to be mailed. She got the letter back that afternoon with a note from the supervisor of the office, which read: "Mrs. Roberts, we sign our letters 'Sincerely,' and not Yours truly.' " Wonder why our government operates at a deficit?

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of charac-ter and good citizenship. It is a store-house of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regu-larly and read your Bible daily.

We don't consider it eavesdropping to "hear" our children's prayers. Nor is it too much trouble! In fact, it is part of our responsibility to God.

For Mollie and Ted are His children, too. Parents are partners with-not substitutes for-our Heavenly Father.

It is this sense of partnership that has brought faith and the Church into the life of our family. We are not foolishly depending on our mere adulthood to inspire character in them. We do not command that they do what we say, not what we do. And we never sit at home while they are in Church, as though the truth they have gone to seek weren't worth a grownup's effort.

We figure God wants us at the listening post, to monitor their spiritual searchings, to share with them the blessings He has given us all.

High Price For Ambition

Of all the questions to come before the Congress during the present term, none have carried the content of emotionalism and unreasoning partianship as the measure now being debated-the question of repeal of section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley Law-the so called "right to work" measure. Actually, this is not a "right to work" measure at all, but rather a statement that the option of having right to work legislation on the books is the responsibility of each individual state. If the people of any given state, through their elected representatives, desire to have such laws in their state, then they have the right, according to section 14-B.

The right to work laws concern the legality of the "open shop" legislation, which states that an employer shall not be under any legal obligation to hire only union employees (or nonunion employees for that matter). He is legally free to hire whomever he can hire, and whomever he desires to hire-not an unreasonable state of affairs in a democracy. The unions, as an aid in extending their influence, have long advocated the "closed shop" in which the employer may hire only members of the union or of related unions. In many states, the unions have been able to exert enough political influence to eliminate right to work laws from the books. This is well and good. If the people of these states want things This is well and good. If the people of these states want things bodily injury while dancing in this way, that is the way they should be. The Federal government a night club or a dance hall, should not be able to tell the people of these states that they cannot have closed shop conditions in their state. In fact, if it tried, the management.? the unions would be screaming loudly about unwarranted Federal intervention in local affairs. The Federal government should like- winning such a claim. The law wise not interfere in the other direction.

It is an unfortunate situation that anyone who criticizes any aspect of the union program today is immediately labelled as being antiunion. This is the same type of thinking that we saw during the career of the late Senator Joe McCarthy, whereby than just sitting still-and you anyone who criticized any of McCarthy's statements or practices was immediately called a Communist or, at best, was accused of could not hold the management being soft on Communism. It is the strength of the democratic liable for a back sprain caused system that everyone has the right to question the advisability of any aspect of our society without calling down wild and indiscriminant accusations upon his head. The right to disagree is the basic right in a democracy, and is the safeguard of all the other democratic rights. Thinking people are repelled by any individual blamed her resulting injury on or group that can meet criticism only by namecalling. And a man who tripped would otherwise be union supporters by engaging too often in this blamed the dimness of the lights. tactic. And this is unfortunate, because the labor unions have done as much to raise the standard of living in this country as damages, because a floor reasonany institution we have.

It is interesting to note, as a sidelight, that the national labor leader who uses his tactic most often, and most loudly, is James Hoffa, a convicted felon, and a man who has done more to damage the reputation of the labor movement in the United States than any man now living.

At any rate, it is the opinion of this newspaper that Governor dents. This proposed Federal grounds for collecting. intervention is bad for four basic reasons:

In the first place, it takes from the state power and responsibility that rightfully belongs to the state. The Federal government has the right to supercede the state in only two instances in instances in which the individual states cannot act effectively, such as national defense; and in instances in which the individual long enough to have been disstates fail to meet their responsibilities to their citizens, as in the Federal enforcement of voting rights and other civil rights, in some of the southern states which had failed to guarantee to all their citizens the rights guaranteed to all Americans. The right to work legislation fits neither of these categories, and is thus an unwarranted invasion of local rights by the Federal government.

Secondly, the proposed national elimination of right to work laws enacted by individual states is an infringement on the rights of the individual worker, and in a time when more and more individual rights are being taken away, it behooves everyone to be concerned about the removal of additional individual rights. Is have birthdays during the next forcing a worker to join a union of which does not desire to be a week. Below are listed the birthmember any different, in principle, from forcing him to join a days we have for this week. particular church? Of course not. And this country would be up JULY 29 in arms if the Federal government proposed to pass a law that would require that a person be a member of any given church before he could get a job. In the third place, the union has a very effective means of obtaining a voluntary closed shop. This is simply to refuse to work for employers who practice an open shop policy. This method has been in use for a long time, particulaly by the crafts unions, and it works very well, without infringing on the rights of either the workingman or the employer. And fourthly, since this proposed Federal interference is not in accordance with democratic principles, and is not really needed by the unions, the only real reason for its adoption is a desire by certain union leaders to gain more and more power. This will not only hurt the workingman, and take away a little more of the freedom of each of us, but will eventually hurt the unions, since they will soon be in a position comparable to that of big business near the turn of this century-too much power with too little control, and the government will have to step in and severely limit the unions, just as it had to do with big business.

That is too high a price to pay just to satisfy the ambitions of a few power-hungry labor leaders.

Arise, shine; for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee. (Isaiah 60:1)

12:35-43

God made man very fine and good in the beginning, but man turned away from Him and became wicked and sinful. Then God promised man a Messiah who would deliver him from his sins and teach him and help him to live in the Godly way.

The Jews generally thought the Messiah would appear as an earthly king who would conquer other nations that had risen against them.

Therefore, they did not recognize Christ when He came because of their idea as to the kind of Savior He would be. The religious and political leaders reected Him, and the people cried out, "Let Him be crucified." However, some who believed He was the Christ accepted Him in their hearts.

Jesus Christ is, indeed the Messiah. We need not ask, "Is He the Messiah, or shall we look for another?" We can rejoice, for our light has come, and the glory of the Lord has risen upon during the 1965 football season, according to the schedule releas- there; October 2 (Saturday), ed by the athletic department.

The local footballers will open the 1965 campaign on the road, meeting Baird, in Baird, on Fri-day, September 3. The Mount-aineers then return home for an encounter with Cross Plains on Friday, September 10.

Another home game is set for Friday, September 17, this one against Clyde. The following week will find the Mountaineers as the chief item of entertainment at the Bangs homecoming, as the Santa Anna footballers try to return the compliment to the team that beat them at the Santa Anna homecoming last year. This will be one of the two Saturday games scheduled by the local squad this season, being set for September 25. The other Saturday game, which will be played during the Santa Anna homecoming, will take place the following week, October 2, with Bronte as the opponent.

After a game against the everdangerous team from Dublin, on Friday, October 8, the Mountain-eers swing into district action with a game against Burnet, on Friday, October 15, followed by district clashes with Marble Falls on Friday, October 22, and Goldthwaite on Friday, October 29.

After an open date on Friday, November 5, the Mountaineers wind up the season with a conference contest with Early, Friday, November 12.

Jaycees Plan Track Curbing As Project

Obtaining a curb for the track at Santa Anna High School has been adopted as a project by the Santa Anna Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Jaycee President Max Eubank vill appoint a committee to work out details for financing and installing the curbing. Under rules now in effect, the local high school cannot host district or regional track meets until such curbing is installed.

Plans are now being made to have the curbing ready for in-stallation immediately following ounce entry, the only bass to be Santa Anna News for official football season, and in time for
