John Will Valdez, Rockwood Youth Victim of Gunshot

Funeral services for John Will Valdez, 11-year-old Rockwood youth, were held at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at the local Seventh-day Adventist Church, with Elder H. B. Petry officiating. Interment was in Rockwood Cemetery. Stevens Funeral Home of Coleman was in charge of arrangements.

Young Valdez died about 5:30 p.m. Sunday from a gunshot wound received when his 22 caliber rifle accidentally discharged while hunting at the Gouldbush Lake. The bullet struck the youth in the head and he was dead on arrival at the Santa Anna Hospital. Justice of Peace Earl Irick Sr., ruled accidental discharge of gun in the death. Assisting in the investigation were Sheriff John Smith and deputies Andy Anderson and Nick Buse.

Survivors include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Valdez Sr. of Rockwood; three sisters, Suzanne, Linda and Juanita Valdez; eight brothers, Frank, Steve Jr., Ray, Raymond, Ruben, Danny, Marty and Jimmy Valdez all of the home.

Survey Reveals Whoopers Gain

The Canadian Wildlife Service advised the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department by telephone that the 1966 hatch of Whooping Cranes is well underway in the far north.

W. E. Stevens, regional superintendent stationed at Edmonton, Alberta, said aerial surveys already have spotted three young cranes. He added that earlier observations located five whooper nests. Eight young accompanied the majestic cranes southward last fall.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hardy Blue of Crossville, Illinois are visiting his mother, Mrs. Hardy Blue.

Hike In Insurance Rates For Texas Is Ordered

Texans will pay an average of 5.9 percent more for their automobile insurance policies starting August 1, the State Board of Insurance ordered last week. An average statewide increase of 10.6 percent for liability policies is included in the overall rate hike.

For drivers in some parts of Texas, however, the overall car insurance will drop because of lower rates for collision and comprehensive coverage.

Citing increased traffic accidents, the board indicated a bigger insurance increase may be in store next year.

The rate increases were recommended by board actuaries at the June 15 statewide automobile insurance hearing.

The board said it did not plan to act soon on proposals by insurance companies for separate rate classifications for each age group of male drivers under 25. It also said it would not take any action for a while on a plan, backed by insurance companies for higher premiums for drivers who cause accidents or commit serious traffic offenses.

Such special qualifications the board said, would impose "mechanical difficulties requiring further consideration before final decisions."

The average increase in the cost of the typical driver's policy, including basic liability coverage, $100 deductible collision and full comprehensive, is $2.11.

"Both the average cost and the frequency of accidents continue to rise in Texas, adding dollars of costs to insurance premiums," said board Chairman William Hunter McLean.

July 4th Traffic Accidents Claim 39

What started out to be a rosy 4th of July holiday weekend for many Texas motorists turned to sadness as traffic accidents claimed 39 lives during the three-day period.

Texas Department of Public Safety officials had estimated that 31 Texans would die in traffic accidents, but a series of mishaps in which multiple deaths resulted boosted the figure far beyond this estimate. DPS officials based their estimate on past experience. Last year 28 persons lost their lives in accidents on Texas highways.

According to local law enforcement officials the immediate area escaped the grim tragedy of a traffic death, with no accidents being reported, although all highways were loaded with traffic.

Rewards of Knowledge...

No taxpayer need to be told that knowledge is an expensive business. The cost of providing -- as Professor Fritz Machup of Princeton called it -- the production and distribution of knowledge seems to be involved in endless escalation.

One estimate runs as high as a $100 billion for education.

To this $100 billion must be added $20 billion for research and development. These activities are also a vital aspect of the knowledge industry, especially when it comes to the practical application of knowledge acquired.

There is another side, of course. Columbia Professor George Becker estimates that the average college entrant realizes a 10 to 12 percent annual return on his investment in an education. The U. S. Office of Education once put out figures which showed that a college education was worth $100,000 in additional earning over the lifetime of the individual.

Beyond that are the additional amounts earned by society as a whole. Edward Dennison of the Brookings Institution contends that about 40 percent of the economic growth between 1929 and 1957 derived from the investment in education.

Dennison believes that the rising educational level of the U. S. labor force was responsible for 23 percent of the growth in real national income during the period.

These facts, impressive as they may be, are not intended to suggest that the process is infinite or that investment in the knowledge industry should be made recklessly or without weighing alternatives. On the contrary, part of the application of knowledge is to determine which investment is likely to bear fruit.

Coleman's 29th Annual Rodeo Opens Wednesday

Local Angler Gets 35½ Lb. Yellowcat

Fishing fever rose to a high pitch at the News office last Friday when John S. Hensley brought in a huge yellow catfish, which weighed 35½ pounds.

John took the monster off a trotline in the Colorado River which runs through the Hensley Ranch this side of Rockwood.

The line, which was set in about 30 feet of water, had not been baited in two days. Speculation was that a smaller fish had been caught and attracted the attention of the big'un.

John says that he was lucky to have landed the cat, not having a boat and having to wade chest deep in water. When he finally hauled him to shore, the fish was held by two hooks. One was in the top part of the left gill and the other in the small fin on his back. The original hook in the corner of his mouth had pulled out.

This was the second large yellowcat he had caught in almost exactly the same spot. The other weighed 40 pounds and was caught about the first of March.

Farm Bureau Sets Queen's Contest

Coleman County Farm Bureau will sponsor a Queen's Contest Friday, August 5, at the National Guard Armory in Coleman. Purpose of the contest is to give recognition to the farm and ranch girls of the county. The event is being planned by the Young People's Committee of the organization.

To be eligible for the contest a girl must be: 1. the daughter or sister of a Farm Bureau member actively engaged in agricultural production; 2. single; 3. age 16-22 (16 by Sept. 1, 1966), and not over 22 by Sept. 1.

All eligible girls in the county are urged to enter the contest.

Colorful Parade Each Day To Kick Off Night's Activities

Coleman's big colorful 29th annual rodeo will open Wednesday, July 13, for four nights of thrills, spills, excitement and entertainment for cowboys, cowgirls and spectators.

This year's performances will feature a number of specialty acts in addition to the regular events, according to Wade Hemphill, president of the rodeo association.

A matched contest between two professional ropers has been a popular feature in the past and will be repeated again this year, he said. Ropers this year are Eldon Dudley of Perryton and Bill Teague of Crane, both with a successful background in professional calf roping.

They will rope three calves each at the four shows and the roper with the best time on 12 head will be the winner.

The nightly programs will include barrel racing, approved by the Texas Barrel Racing Assn.; bareback and saddle bronc riding, bull riding, bulldogging and calf roping.

A number of specialty acts are also on tap, including the spectacular riding act by the Zoppe Family, special music by Allen Bing of St. Louis, Mo., on his electric organ.

Always a popular attraction of the rodeo is the parade each evening at 5 o'clock. Adding to the beauty of the parades and the 8 o'clock grand entry will be the appearances of Miss Rodeo of America, Carolyn Seay of Corpus Christi; Miss

Adult Risk Blamed For Water Toll

A sobering reminder came to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department from a Texas safety authority, stating that adults take the greater chances in water and therefore increase the drowning toll.

The Department is unofficially recording water recreational drownings as a fatality deterrent but the rate this year is higher than 1956 when an even 20 deaths were blamed to some sort of play in or around a water area.

The emphasis on older people's risks was made by Carl Young, of the Corpus Christi City Health Department.

He said: "Most drownings happen to people who consider themselves good swimmers and just don't take the right precautions against accidents."

M. B. Casey and Rob O'Hair are cochairmen of the parades each afternoon. The Thursday parade will feature visiting riding groups and the Friday spectacle will feature Coleman County floats.

"As usual, our show will be held in the association's dust-free arena. We have indications that some of the top riders and ropers of the nation will be here for one or more of the shows," the president of the association said.

Announcer this year will be Hadley Barrett, a former barebronic and bull rider, a calf roper and dogger who has turned to announcing instead of participating.

New Texas Safety Foundation Created

The creation of a new organization to combat accidents in Texas was announced recently in Dallas.

It is the Texas Safety Foundation, Inc., a non-profit organization which will confine its activities to educational purposes directed particularly to "the prevention of accidental injuries and deaths to persons and to persons and accidental damage or destruction of property."

S. Rossa Carr of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association, also a non-profit organization dedicated to accident prevention, made the announcement at a meeting of the TSA Board of Directors in Dallas.

Carr said the field work of the Foundation will be conducted in cooperation with TSA. The Association, which is accredited by the National Safety Council and the Chapter Conference for State and Local Safety Organizations, is widely recognized as the public support group for Texas. Its programs are directed at preventing accidents in traffic, at home, at work, at play -- "everywhere -- all the time."

17th District, Texas

Washington D.C. — Section IV of the Civil Rights Bill of 1966 provides in substance that the owner of property for sale, rent or lease may not decline to sell, rent or lease to any person because of race, creed or color. Other provisions of the measure make radical changes in an effort to confer "rights."

In 1789 the people of America were fearful that Government might restrict their freedoms. The First Congress of the United States in that year proposed the Bill of Rights.

The Bill of Rights essentially tells the government what it can not do and comprises the first ten Amendments to the United States Constitution. Many countries have an abundance of natural resources, vast lands and climate as good as ours, but 40 million immigrants came to this land seeking something called freedom.

They came here with the hope of security and the promise of the precious right to live as free men with equal opportunity for all.

In July 1868 a new guarantee of freedom was ratified. Its purpose was to guard against human slavery. Its guarantees were for the further equal protection of all. It is the 14th Amendment to the Constitution, and it reads in part as follows: "No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law;

Angus Breeders Visit 19 Herds On Recent Tour

More than 550 persons, including breeders of registered Angus from 21 states, attended the 1966 "Challenge of the Future" Angus tour in West Texas, June 16-17-18. The caravan of cars made a detailed study of the management practices used in 19 outstanding herds of commercial Angus cows. The tour saw over 2,500 head of commercial Angus.

Tour visits were made at the Tomy Brook Ranch, Camp San Saba; Ziegler's I Bar Ranch, Calf Creek; the Fritz Luckenbach herd, Menard, and the J. W. White herd, Menard, Roy Schmidt and Card Schmidt of Mason.

Jan-Co Ranch, Fort McKavett, Rocking R Ranch, Jess Koy, X Bar Ranch, Robert Mayer, and Mayer and Rousselot, all of Eldorado, and the Bill Allison Ranch near Sonora. The tour also observed the herd of Ford Boulware near Christoval.

On the final day heavy rains prevented visits to the Billie C. Lewis and Son Ranch and the Horn Ranch near Del Rio, but the group happily settled for visits to the Mack Cauthorne Ranch, Sonora, and Walter H. Wardlow and Sons' Rose Ranch, Loma Alta. Observed along the way was the Tuff Whitehead herd near Loma Alta.

Throckmorton 464.
(These figures based on the 1960 Census)

Burleson pointed out that there are other hospitals yet to be certified which could not be processed in time for the effective date for Medicare due to a big backlog of applications in recent weeks.

nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws...

Laws enacted during the past three or four years, and the proposal now before the Congress, erode the rights of freedoms of every American property owner.

If anything more is needed to guarantee individual rights let it be that the individual American property owner, regardless of race, color or creed, should be allowed, under Law, to retain:

1. The right of privacy.
2. The right to choose his own friends.
3. The right to own and enjoy property according to his own dictates.
4. The right to occupy and dispose of property without Governmental interference in accordance with his own judgment.
5. The right of all equally, to enjoy property without interference by Laws giving special privileges to others.
6. The right to maintain what, in his opinion, are desired surroundings for tenants.
7. The right to contract with a real estate agent or other representative of his choice and to authorize him to act for him according to his instructions. 8. The right to determine the acceptability and desirability of any prospective buyer or tenant of his property.

9. The right of every American to choose whomever, in his opinion, are congenial tenants in any property he owns and to maintain the stability and security of his income.

10. The right to enjoy the freedom to accept, reject, negotiate or not to negotiate with anyone.

The prohibition against the individual to do with his property what he wishes, so long as he does not infringe upon his neighbor, is the denial of the third element of fundamental rights guaranteed under the Constitution.

YAH, SURE! SNAKE BAGS 'HAT TRICK'

A covehead snake enacted the "Hat Trick" when it was engaged in friendly joust with picnickers at Camp Walters, near Mineral Wells, according to Game Warden Mike Morris.

The "Hat Trick", folks, usually applies only to the game of hockey when a player makes three goals in one game.

Here's the reptilian version of that feat on ice skates:

A woman found the snake. Her husband, considering himself an expert, was demonstrating that the creature was harmless. The wife looked closely to confirm and was bitten on the face. The husband was nipped as he was hurrying to the hospital to confirm the snake's "harmlessness."

A hospital physician recognized the snake as a two and one half foot, able bodied covehead, too late to avoid being tagged as the first Texas snake "Hat Trick" of 1966. But all hands recovered to enjoy the "joke" — later.

Entomologist Urges Bagworm Control

Bagworm damage to evergreens such as arbovitae, cedar and evergreen species is being reported from many areas in Texas.

Phil Hammar, Extension entomologist, Texas A&M University, says evergreens should be watched carefully at this time of the year, especially if old worm bags are found on the twigs. Wingless females crawl out and die after laying eggs inside the bag. In this case, each bag may contain hundreds of eggs which hatch into tiny larvae, he explains.

The newly-born larvae immediately start to make bags by chewing off small pieces of the tree. Young worms carry the bags wherever they go. The larvae can be killed with insecticides applied when the bagworms are still small. Chemical controls are ineffective when worms are full grown.

Chemicals suggested as controls include sprays or dusts of DDT, Dieldrin, Sevin or Malathion. Directions on the container should be followed carefully, the Texas A&M entomologist emphasizes.

If control measures are initiated too late, hand pick and burn the bags, because the worm goes through the winter in the egg stage within the bag, said Hammar.

Boat Checks Show Many Violators

N. E. Glover, regional enforcement supervisor for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department reported during one month, 885 boats were contacted by Panhandle wardens on High Plains lakes in violation of some phase of the new Texas Water Safety Act.

Infractions reported on seven Panhandle lakes were: 212 — no boat registration; 169 — no life preservers; 84 — no life preservers; 71 — pulling skiers without a rear view mirror; 51 — improperly displayed numbers; 35 — improper lighting after dark; 47 — reckless and dangerous boat handling; 31 — no fire extinguisher on boats with enclosed fire hazards; 16 — faulty life preservers present but inaccessible to occupants.

Special Teal Hunt Triggers Inquiries

A veritable blizzard of requests for information followed announcement by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department that another special teal season will be held this fall.

A Department spokesman said the first mail after the word was released brought 317 inquiries.

Requests for applications have been arriving at the rate of more than 150 per duty day since.

Antelope Hunters Eager For Permits

Curiosity about the prospects for the fall antelope season in Texas is reflected in an increasing flow of letters about the fleet game animal received by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Some of the writers are under the impression that the old public drawing system still is used to determine the sportsmen participating in the hunts.

A Department spokesman explained that this method was dropped several years ago in favor of having landowners issue permits direct to the hunter. This system, he said, has proved satisfactory to the persons on whose land the hunting is authorized and to the hunters themselves.

The Department is informing the inquirers that the antelope herds are now being counted, primarily in the Trans-Pecos where most of the pronghorn speedsters roam with the Panhandle next on the schedule.

When the population has been determined, said the spokesman, wildlife biologists will establish the surplus available for harvest and permits issued accordingly.

Cancer Society Gives Fellowships

A. B. Goldston, M. D., President of the Texas Division, American Cancer Society, has announced the granting of nine fellowships for the year 1966-67. Each $3,600 stipend was approved by the Fellowship Committee of the Society, and is derived from funds raised in Texas during the annual April Crusade.

Beginning July 1, 1966, second year continued support was granted to Jerry W. Baines, M. D., of the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston; and to Robert S. Putman, M.D., of the Southwestern Medical School in Dallas.

Topics under study by the Texas Division Fellows include: vascular dissemination of malignant neoplasms; cell turnover rates; effects of antimetabolites on fine structure of leukemic cells; and fluorescent-tagged antibodies specific for human cancer antigens.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

The Internal Revenue Service is probably the most efficient collection agency in the world. They collect more than 115 billion dollars each year for less than 1/2¢ per dollar cost. They have a well trained group of employees who work hard to do a good job. However, they get a lot of help from the American taxpayer. Our nation's taxpayers pay 95 percent of their tax bills through taxes withheld or voluntary compliance. Only 3% of our taxes are collected through the enforcement efforts of the Internal Revenue people. The voluntary compliance record of the American people is one of which we can all be proud. No other country can equal this record.

"The name change was made," according to W. Quinn Jordan, executive director of the organization, "because of the many diversified fields of blood banking we have moved into in the last few years. The fields of blood banking, blood derivatives, blood storage, blood research and blood insurance are all areas within which our organization works," Jordan said.

Jordan went on to point out that the change of name will in no way affect the community service performed for over twenty million Americans across the country. Last year Blood Services furnished close to two hundred thousand units of blood and its derivatives to the people in its service area. Blood Services of San Antonio provides for the blood needs of sixty five surrounding communities, including Santa Anna Hospital.

Andrew Jackson, our seventh president, was a National Guardsman. At the Battle of New Orleans he led 2,000 militiamen against the British.

Fall Dove Hunting Prospects Are Good

Excellent prospects for both mourning dove and white-winged dove hunting this fall were reported by E. A. Walker, director for Wildlife Services of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Field surveys from the Rio Grande Valley indicate one of the highest white-wing breeding populations in the last eleven years with more than 800,000 nesting birds.

The mourning dove count was described as equally favorable with the Texas population up eight percent and that of the Central Flyway up nine percent over last year.

And 1965 was generally good for Texas mourning dove hunters.

Ordinarily the white-wing season is held in early September. Likewise, the north zone for mourning dove hunting usually opens September 1.

TORNADO Safety Rules...

When a tornado approaches, your immediate action may mean life or death.

IN CITIES OR TOWNS
Seek inside shelter, preferably in a tornado cellar, underground excavation, or a steel-framed or reinforced concrete building of substantial construction. STAY AWAY FROM WINDOWS.

In office buildings — stand in an interior hallway on a lower floor, preferably in the basement.

In factories — On receiving a tornado warning, post a lookout. Workers should move quickly to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection in accordance with advance plans.

In homes — the corner of the basement toward the tornado usually offers the greatest safety. In a house with no basement, take cover under heavy furniture in the center part of the house. Keep some windows open, but stay away from them!

IN SCHOOLS
Go to storm cellar or underground excavation if available. If there is no storm cellar but building is of reinforced construction, stay inside, away from windows. Whenever possible, go to an interior hallway on the lowest floor. AVOID AUDITORIUMS AND GYMNASIUMS with large poorly supported roofs.

If a building is not of reinforced construction, go quickly to a nearby reinforced building, or to a ravine or open ditch and lie flat.

IN OPEN COUNTRY
Move away from the tornado's path at a right angle. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or ravine.

Mrs. W. B. Allison's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Wells, have moved from the nursing home in Bangs to Rolling Acres nursing home in Coleman.

President Urges Citizens to Buy More Savings Bonds

Ed Gossett, volunteer U.S. Savings Bonds chairman for Texas, joined with President Johnson today in urging citizens to "Put a small part of your prosperity into U. S. Savings Bonds."

Mr. Gossett, was quoting from the President's special Independence Day message which asks the American people to "invest a few dollars each month in the front lines of battle for a stronger America and a safer world."

"Even while we celebrate Independence Day," the President's message said, "there is no real holiday from responsibility. We must go on with the work of building peace, enlarging our prosperity, guarding against inflation and recession. . . If only half of the 70 million employed Americans bought just one $25 Savings Bond a month for only one year, they would meet most of the special cost of the struggle that we are making for peace in Vietnam this year."

Think about how much more meaningful your holiday enjoyment would be if you could honestly say, 'I have pledged to do my share as an American. I will buy U. S. Savings Bonds on a regular monthly basis.'

It's the season when students put down their placards, shave, pick up their diplomas and start wondering what in the world the younger generation is coming to.

Foods Plentiful For Picnic Month

July is Picnic Month. And with July comes a variety of picnic foods in abundant supply, reports the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, College Station.

Such fruits as plums, peaches, and watermelons make the perfect climax to the best picnics. Young chicken—fried and ready for the family outing—will provide the perfect main course. And there are lots of fresh vegetables, such as tomatoes, onions and fresh corn, that will make additions to your picnic meals.

All these foods will be arriving at local markets in plentiful supply this month, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Peach production is also estimated slightly below that of last year but well above average.

Barring adverse weather, July should be a prime month for watermelons. Watermelon acreage is almost up to last year, when large harvests went to market.

Marketing of frying-sized chickens are expected to run around 10 percent greater than a year ago.

BE COURTEOUS TO TOURISTS

The Texas Safety Association urges Texas drivers to display courtesy to tourists in our state. Many of them will be driving on our streets and highways for the first time and frequently slow down in traffic to check road signs and street markings. Be patient and courteous to these drivers — you may be traveling in their state some day and need the same kind of courtesy.

Shortage of Dairy Cows Predicted

There may soon be a critical shortage of dairy cows, according to a Texas A&M University Extension dairy specialist at Tyler.

Shannon Carpenter, extension dairy specialist at the East Texas Research Station, says the number of dairy replacements is down about 7 percent from a year ago. Also, the number of cows in milk is the smallest in 50 years. It all adds up to a short supply of dairy animals, says Carpenter.

The specialist says there are several things a dairyman can do to reduce the shortage.

The first is good management practices. Average productive life of a dairy cow is about four lactations, he says. Good care of dairy cows can boost this to five lactations — a 24 percent increase.

Carpenter suggests getting replacement heifers into the milking barn at 24 months instead of the usual 30 months. In that extra six months the heifer may produce 7 or 8 thousand pounds of milk — enough to pay for her upbringing. Good feeding practices are needed though, to bring the heifers on this early.

Finally, Carpenter suggests breeding all cows in the herd to dairy bulls. Some dairymen breed part of the herd to a beef bull, and sell the calves. Any cow worth milking twice a day is good enough to produce a calf for dairy purposes when bred to a good dairy bull, he says.

FIVE MILLION TEXANS ARE LICENSED DRIVERS

The population of Texas is over 10 million persons. Approximately one-half of this number are licensed drivers. So, the Texas Safety Association says, remember, you are not the only driver on the road. Drive the best you can and respect the rights of other drivers.

Popular Fresh Water Fish to Inhabit Vast 87,400-acre Amistad Lake

The layman trying to comprehend the fishing opportunities when mighty Amistad Lake is ready has a great deal in common with the old pro fishermen people around Texas Parks and Wildlife Department regional headquarters, San Angelo.

Leo Lewis, fisheries chief for Region One who operates out of San Angelo, was conferring with top level personnel when the variety of excitement incident to Amistad's recreational possibilities was mentioned.

The $80,000,000 impoundment, straddling the Rio Grande River above Del Rio and enveloping both Devils Lake and Lake Walk, is scheduled for completion in 1968.

Just about every popular fresh water fish is expected to thrive in the vast lake that will cover some 87,400 acres of land in both Mexico and the United States.

Black bass, as the fisheries experts see it, probably will be the largest of anglers the year around. But they also envision giant blue cats, a massive crappie population and probably exploding white bass numbers.

White bass originally were successfully placed in Lake Walk under experiments conducted by the Department years ago. Now these have moved downstream in the Rio Grande and have stocked Lake Falcon.

Research underway now suggests a huge selective kill of undesirable species in both Devils Lake and Lake Walk and converting both lakes as a gigantic natural black bass restocking facility.

Great rock caves along the banks of the Pecos and Devils rivers, up to 26 miles distance on the latter, will be ideal spawning spots for the big cats.

A total of 13,265 National Guardsmen attended Army specialist courses in service and Army area schools in 1951. Courses included air-ground operations and techniques for spotting aircraft.

Gator Gone But Mystery Lingers On

The chances percentage-wise of a damaging traffic pileup — caused by an alligator — may be occupying some of the sharp pencil insurance people judging from a report to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department at La Porte.

Here's why:

An 11½ foot alligator darted in front of a small station wagon, bending wheels, springing doors, twisting the frame and smashing a luggage rack.

The alligator cadaver then caught a near miss from a second car. The driver, perhaps allergic to pink elephants and such, made a hit-and-run take-off, leaving only skid marks and a hub cap.

A third car pulling a trailer also finished second in contact with the deceased reptile to the extent of damaged steering and transmission.

Authorities and a wrecker crew glumly carted away the cause of it all, hopefully in a well-marked "alligator Heaven" grave. Some skeptical adjuster just might insist on seeing the evidence.

Benjamin Franklin made the first harmonica.

Summer Activity Program Begins At Big Bend Park

Superintendent Perry E. Brown of Big Bend National Park has announced that the summer program of interpretive activities is now in effect. Young college men and veteran teachers, employed as seasonal Rangers and Naturalists, are the backbone of this program of hikes, talks, and other services. The National Park Service prides itself in being a public service organization. Founded in 1916, the National Park Service is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year.

Throughout the season, visitors to Big Bend National Park will be able to enjoy nature hikes and evening campfire talks in the Chisos Basin. The information lobby at Park Headquarters will be staffed from 7:00 a.m. until 7:00 p.m. daily.

The nature hikes leave the Basin at 9:00 each morning. A Park Naturalist guides the party over one and one-half miles of scenic trail in the Chisos Mountains, stopping frequently to explain the plants, animals, and geology along the way.

At 8:30 each evening a campfire talk is given in the amphitheater near the Basin campground. Six different subjects are covered, one each night during the week except Sunday. The talks are illustrated with color slides and include such topics as birds, wildflowers, mammals, geology, poisonous

The Metric System of Measure...

Congress recently authorized several million dollars to finance a 3-year study of the feasibility of shifting our system of weights and measures over to the metric system.

If the results of this study were favorable to such a shift and if Congress were to legislate the shift, we would start measuring quantities in terms of kilos, liters and grams rather than pounds, ounces, quarts and tons, according to consumer marketing specialists at Texas A&M University.

Such a shift would mean many drastic changes in our lives. We would have to learn an entirely different procedure for figuring and describing weights and measures. It would require a vast investment in equipment, scales, bottling equipment, tools, specification and many other items used in business and the home. Even the strong proponents of the shift admit that it would take years to complete.

However, there would be advantages to adopting the metric system of weights and measures. The United States and Canada are the only major animals, and wildlife. The campfire provides a relaxing atmosphere where visitors can learn about Big Bend National Park.

Park Rangers also provide information and help while they patrol the roads in the park. These courtesy patrols are familiar to many motorists. Special attention is given to helping the park visitor enjoy his stay in Big Bend National Park.

countries now using the old English system of miles and pounds. As a result, persons engaged in international trade or travel must familiarize themselves with the metric system. They constantly have to shift back and forth between the two systems in their thinking and planning. This is quite burdensome and often costly.

There would be some major aids to us in the use of the metric measure in our everyday shopping. Metric measures, based on multiples of ten, would facilitate cost and weight comparisons. For example, it is much easier to divide a figure by ten kilograms in your head than it is by sixteen ounces.

In addition, a kilogram would remain the same, while under our present system, a pound may be one thing in one situation, and another in an alternate situation.

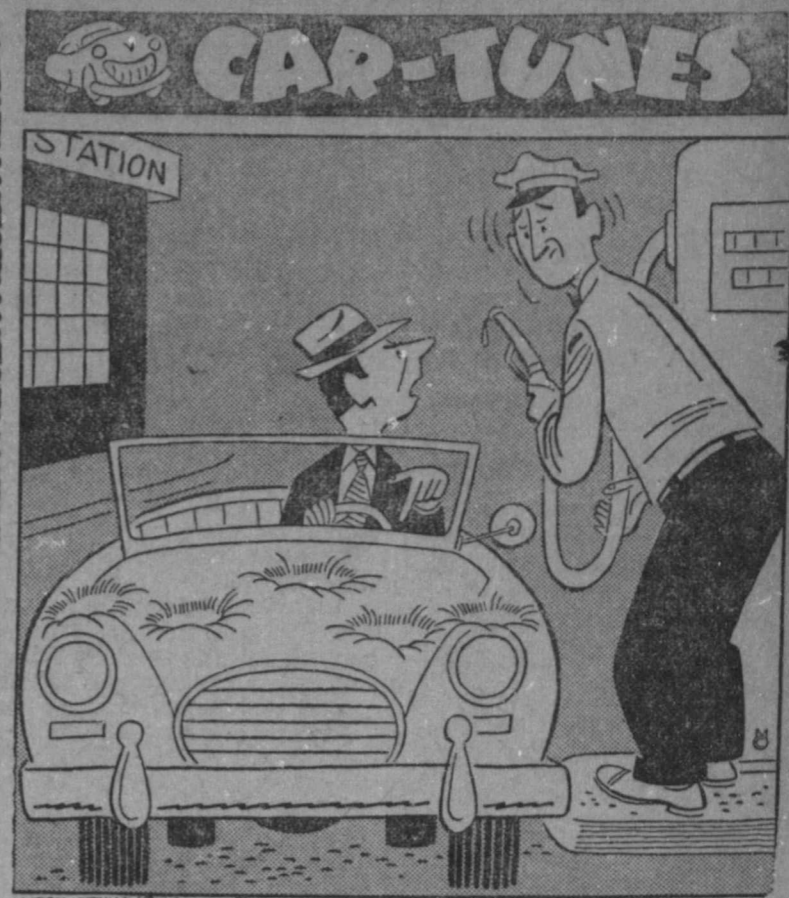

ATOMIC ENERGY USED TO TEST MOISTURE

There's a fascinating machine that uses atomic energy to measure soil moisture.

Agricultural scientists at Texas A&M's University Livestock and Forage Research Center, McGregor, are using the rig—and they say it's providing many needed answers about soil moisture storage. It's just that bounce back into a neutron trap, soil moisture can be accurately recorded, says G. W. McLean, A&M researcher in charge of the tests.

The rig sends neutrons out

Zoppe's Bring Sparkling Act to Coleman Rodeo

A sparkling feature of the Coleman Rodeo will be the Joe Zoppe family, internationally famed rosinback riders, whose all new routines this year include three tricks never performed by any other such riding act.

Starting their eighth generation in the show business, the Zoppes feature five people, two girls and three boys. The two youngest are twins, Denise and Dennis, 12. These with brother Roger, 16, are eighth generation performers. The others are parents, Peggy and Joe.

In a fast, daring routine, Roger is the comedian and keeps the crowds laughing with headspins (started them when he was 6) as he apparently falls from the big Percherons while the horses keep a steady canter in the 36-foot ring. The twins are top mounters on Peggy and Joe as they circle the arena standing atop three bareback horses.

Roger leaves his comedy status for a split second to perform a feet to feet forward somersault on a running horse. Joe takes his turn with a back somersault from one running horse to the back of another. Joe rides standing atop a cantering big horse with daughter Denise balanced in a backbend supported only by his hand at arms length above his head; the only act to perform this in 30 years.

For a fash finish the entire family leaps to position atop one galloping horse. These are all great riding feats, but the Joe Zoppe family are most noted for three tricks not performed by any other rosinback act in the world.

1. Twins Denise and Dennis each hold to a huge cross made of 5-foot arrows, with feet in loops at one end and hands holding loops at the other. The youngsters revolve, each in a different direction, on a shaft held atop the shoulders of Peggy and Joe as they stand aboard three rosinback horses

36th Infantry Division Ends Hood Training

A 24-hour tactical period for the 36th (Texas) Infantry Division which included opposition from "aggressor forces" during hours of darkness ends at 1 p.m. today. All elements of the division except those involved in recruit training are taking part in the tactical exercise at North Fort Hood.

The Texas Minutemen, over 6,000 strong, opened the 1966 Annual Field Training program on Fort Hood's rugged acres. The 15-day field training period will continue through Saturday, July 9, with all units slated to be back at home stations during the daylight hours of Sunday, July 10.

Maj. Gen. Seiden Simpson, Amarillo attorney who commands the World War II-famed T-Patch division, headed the movement of division from the relative comforts of North Fort Hood's cantonment area to the wilder spaces of this Central Texas Regular Army post. The division staff will return to the cantonment area Friday morning.

Several elements of the division are spending practically the entire 15-day period in the field including the four artillery battalions headed by Sol. R. E. Allen Jr., division artillery commander.

While many of the units are engaged in various field exercises, the major effort of the division is being expended toward providing basic military training to approximately 1,800 recruits who are attending their first AFT and who have not yet seen active duty with the Regular Army.

Recruit training encompasses schooling of the individual soldier, weapons qualification, marksmanship, bayonet drill,

CITY HUM OKAY, BUT FROGS, NO

The extent to which man has become urbanized was pointed out by the nature of a telephone question at a Texas Parks and Wildlife office near Houston.

"How may I get rid of frogs?" she asked. "Since all of this rain, they make so much noise at night I can't sleep."

This was not a foolish question; an alien sound, which keeps one awake, demands attention.

But what makes wildlife workers a little sad is the fact that to many people the music of frogs is an alien sound.

Antelope Fawns Being Marked

Trans-Pecos wildlife biologists are flying aerial antelope surveys by day and capturing baby antelope by night, according to Tom Hailey, biologist for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

During routine daily flights over antelope range, the location of antelope bands with fawns among them are marked on a map. Areas where fawns are abundant are revisited at night.

Once bedding areas are located a powerful spotlight holds fawns spell-bound until a 36-inch mesh net is gently dropped over the dazzled baby antelope.

Biologists have captured 25 fawns so far and marked them for future identification with long colorful ear streamers made of durable plastic.

They hope to mark up to 200 antelope fawns in this manner as a part of a research program to determine how often and how far antelope move about on Trans-Pecos ranges.

grenade practice and many other individual skills necessary for the military man. Instructors are veteran officers and NCO's of the division.

Scouter, Walter and Carolyn Hetzel of Corpus Christi are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Newman.

It's the season when students put down their placards, shave, pick up their diplomas and start wondering what in the world the younger generation is coming to.—Changing Times.
