TRAIN HITS CAR IN FREAK MISHAP

A car containing six Santa Anna High School students was struck by a slow-moving freight train at the Second Street railroad crossing Friday night, following the football game.

An east-bound freight struck the rear fender of the new 1966 Ford, driven by Lin Wristen, causing considerable damage to the car. None of the occupants was injured, although it was reported they were examined for possible injuries in a local doctor's office.

Riding in the car with Wristen were Ted Ford, Eddie Jones, Loretta Broadway, Karen Dean and Paula Copeland. They were enroute to a street parade at Second and Wallis Ave., in celebration of the Mountaineers' victory over the Baird Bears.

The mishap occurred as Wristen was crossing the tracks after having waited for a west-bound train to clear his path. The east-bound train was on the north side of the west-bound freight and was not in Wristen's view as he pulled onto the crossing. One train was using the side switch and both were moving at the same time. Therefore, Wristen not knowing the east-bound freight was on the tracks was in the process of crossing when struck.

Mountaineers Open Season With Easy 28-6 Win Over Baird Bears

The Mountaineers of Santa Anna High School displayed a determined defensive unit in their opening game Friday night at Mountaineer Stadium. Although there were numerous mistakes, more or less expected in the opening game of the season, the offense displayed by the Mountaineers was much better than has been the custom during the past few years. We are sure the very wet field helped contribute to a number of the apparent early season mistakes.

The only time the defense yielded very much ground to the Bears was in the fourth period when the Bear Quarterback connected with one of his many pass attempts that covered a total of 65 yards and their only score of the evening. Three or four Mounties missed attempts at tackling the Baird halfback as he raced toward the goal line. During the second period the Bears picked up 60 yards on penalties assessed the Mounties for rule infractions, but with this help were not able to get a sustained drive underway and did not threaten the Mountaineer goal.

The Mountaineers jumped out front with a 20-0 lead before the first quarter was much more than half gone. Left Halfback Butch Makuta crossed the goal line first for the Mountaineers by going 18 yards to complete a 56-yard drive in 11 plays. The try for extra point failed. Soon after the kickoff the Bears attempted to pass and Ted Ford, playing in a line backer position, intercepted the ball and scattered 44 yards to pay dirt. Makuta plowed through the line for 2 extra points, making the score 14-0.

The Bears fumbled the kickoff and the Mounties recovered on the Bear 44-yard line. Six plays later Right Halfback Dickie Horner went through the line for 5 yards to put their third TD on the scoreboard.

The teams exchanged punts a couple of times during the second period, with neither of them making much of a threat. The third period was mostly pass attempts by Baird, with the Mounties trying a few passes and both teams suffering from the wet field.

The Bears made their only score of the night with 9:24 left in the game. They attempted an on-side kick, but the Mounties recovered the ball at the 50-yard line.

The Mounties got their offense in operation again, with the quarterback making a good selection of calls. They attempted a halfback option play, with

Pvt. Gary James of Ft. Bliss is on furlough visiting his mother, Mrs. Madie James. He will leave this week end for Ft. Polk, La., where he will undergo Jungle Warfare Training.

Second Train Mishap Demolishes Lights

A second train mishap occurred here over the week end when falling lumber knocked down a signal light at the Second Street crossing Saturday afternoon. The lumber which was being hauled on a flatcar apparently came loose and a portion of the load was spilled at the crossing. It was also reported that a signal light between Santa Anna and Coleman was demolished, and it was surmised that the lumber had become loosened before reaching here.

The first mishap at the crossing happened Friday night when an east-bound freight struck a car containing six local high school students.

Merchants Map Sales Promotion

Local merchants and members of Santa Anna Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday morning to map plans for a sales promotion program in an effort to stimulate a greater volume of business in the city and encourage local people to trade at home.

Although finalization of program plans were not entirely completed, it was agreed by those present that several drawings would be held all day Saturday, Sept. 24, at intervals of about 20 minutes at which time participating merchants would give away merchandise.

Registration for these prizes is free, and you do not have to make a purchase to be eligible to register. Registration may be made daily at participating stores.

According to plans, all registration slips will be placed in a container about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon and a drawing will be held in front of the bank for the purpose of giving away merchandise of participating merchants in the program who do not conduct drawings in their place of business. Among items to be given away is a $25 Savings Bond by the local bank.

Vehicle Safety Inspection Begins

Colonel Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, announced that the 1967 vehicle inspection period has begun.

Garrison said that the new inspection period began on September 1 and will end on April 15, 1967 as prescribed by the Public Safety Commission. The inspection period is the same as in previous years.

"This means that between now and April 15 each of the five and one half million Texas registered vehicles will have to secure the new green and white 1967 inspection sticker from one of the 5500 official inspection stations," he said.

Garrison pointed out that Texas inspection stations can be identified by the official vehicle station sign displayed at each station.

Garrison suggested that if motorists have their vehicles inspected during the routine visits to garages for ordinary maintenance, the necessity of having to wait in line at a later date for an inspection will be eliminated.

In announcing the new inspection period, the Public Safety director pointed out that vehicle defects contributing to traffic accidents in Texas during 1965 were the fewest yet experienced since the inspection program began in 1951.

FRIDAY, 2 Sept. 1966

Dear Folks,

I am finally beginning to get into the swing of things over here. Up until now I have been more or less just getting accustomed to my new job and surroundings. (If it is possible to get accustomed to the surroundings.)

I found out yesterday that on the 5th of September I will have exactly one year to go before I can leave here. The rules are that anyone with 90 days or less at the time they leave will be given an early discharge from the army. When my year is up over here in July, I will be extended until September 5, which will give me 89 days left in the Army. After that I will be sent to the States and given an early discharge. So I should be home before the 10th of September, 1967.

I had a very interesting assignment this week. I and an officer were given the task of escorting a Japanese TV camera crew around for two days. We drove by jeep to a town called Phu Loi and met the TV crew there. After that we spent two days in a small village called Tam Phouc Khan. The village is about 40 miles north of Saigon and up until about four weeks ago was under VC control.

When the Americans moved in and secured the town from the VC the people had been living under the VC for so long that they didn't trust anyone and especially not the Americans. In four short weeks the people had been won over to our side.

As we drove into town children and adults stood beside the road and waved to us. While there we visited a Medical Aid station set up and run by Army medics and doctors. Their job was to treat the villagers. As I stood there and watched the lines of afflicted people file through I was sobered by the abject poverty in which they lived. I saw skin infections and deformities which would have made many people in the States ill just to see them. (some of them sort of got to me too).

Later we visited a Primary school for children of about 5 to 10 years old. As I watched the children playing on swings and slides built by the Army I could see no difference in them than the children anywhere in the world except that they were so poor and had so little. No matter where we went children would surround us and talk and hold our hands. We couldn't understand what they said nor could they understand us but the smile of friendship said more than a thousand words.

By the time we left two days later I realized why we are in Vietnam. These people have lived under constant threat of war and the atrocities of the VC for so long that they didn't know what happiness and freedom was until four weeks ago. As we drove away I was truly proud of the uniform I was wearing. I was proud of the land in which I was privileged to be born and raised in, and I had a deeper respect for the freedoms and rights that so many people take for granted in America.

I have heard rumors that in the future I may be put in charge of escorting TV and news media crews. If so I will be able to see much more of Vietnam and will have the opportunity to know the customs and habits of the people over here.

Out of room so I will stop until next time.

Love
Tommy

State Capitol NEWS

Austin—While most of the state welcomed the touch of cool rains last week, Texas Water Development Board lost all hopes of completing the Texas Water Plan by the time the Legislature opens January 10.

Board will take from four months to a year before it acts on adoption of the preliminary Texas Water Plan due to the scores of suggestions received from a series of river basin hearings.

All suggestions must be screened even before the Board can refer the plan to Texas Water Rights Commission for a public hearing on Water Rights involved.

A panel of five consultants, headed by Joe M. Kilgore, has gone over a list of proposed studies prepared by the Board's planning staff. The panel will present their suggestions to the Board at a meeting on September 19. Mainly, these will cover which studies can be made within the money available to the agency during the fiscal year.

Another water study by the Development Board, to determine the occurrence and quality of underground water in Shackelford County, will begin in mid-September, Executive Director Joe G. Moore announced.

Richard Preston, a water development board geologist, will conduct the study, which will begin with an inventory and sampling of all domestic, municipal, livestock, irrigation and industrial wells in the county. Study will then move on to the collection and compilation of data regarding depth, distribution and quality of underground water. Surface and shallow subsurface rock formations will also be examined as an aid in determining the depth and water requiring surface casing mode of occurrence of ground protection in oil and gas drilling operations.

Texas Water Rights Commission has approved an amendment to the permit held by the Trinity River Authority and the City of Houston which would nearly triple the storage capacity of the proposed Wallisville Reservoir. But another public hearing will be called to reconsider the application, if the federal government does not confirm its participation within a year.

AG OPINIONS
Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr has held that when county attorney in a county of 20,000 or more population wins a suit and collects delinquent personal property taxes, he may deduct a commission from the taxes. County attorney, however, must pay that commission into the county treasury for the officers' salary fund, Carr held in the opinion requested by Harris County Attorney Joe Resweber.

In another official opinion, Carr held that names of contributors and amount of their donations to buy land for the Lyndon B. Johnson State Park in Gillespie County do not have to be made public. Opinion affirmed the position of State Parks and Wildlife Commission Chairman Will E. Odom who has declined to disclose sources of the park fund. Odom is fund trustee and receives donations for purchase of park land.

Attorney General concluded that park fund administration is not an operation of the PWC, and that it's up to private administrators to decide whether to announce names of various donors.

HEAD START SLOWED

Approximately 60 Head Start programs are being held up in five Southwestern states because of Congressional delay in approving appropriations for the Office of Economic Opportunity, Regional Director Bill Crook reports.

Delay, said Crook, is proving costly in both time and money to the agencies which had expected to correlate the pre-school readiness programs with the regular school term. In some cases, he stated, administrators are serving without pay, rather than hurt the continuity of the program.

First priority on funds allocated to Southwest regional office is being given to those projects which are already in operation in the five states.

Crook's office is writing letters to local community agencies and school districts, explaining that final action cannot be taken on their applications until Congress comes through.

BUDGET MAKERS
Before the State Legislature convenes, members of the House of Representatives' side of the Legislature Budget Board are personally inspecting state institutions, acquainting themselves with operations and needs throughout the state.

Group begin surveys in the Dallas and Denton areas last week. Next they plan to go to Huntsville, Texas A. & M. University and Waco.

DEAN'S OPINION
Page Keeton, dean of the University of Texas School of Law, strongly urges a complete recodification of Texas' 110-year-old penal code.

Keeton said the penal code had undergone "intermittent patching" through the years, "without reference to the problem of maintaining a consistent system. 'The plain fact,' he continued, 'is that we have been getting along' with our present law. But I believe our administrators are doing a good job, not because of, but in spite of, our present system of substantive criminal law."

Keeton recommends complete revision of the laws, rather than "piecemeal" revision.

SHORT SNORTS
After their Labor Day rally in Austin, most of the Rio Grande Valley "heulga" marchers and backers... supporters of the state minimum wage legislation... returned to their homes leaving two sentinels stationed on the Capitol steps.

Austin will play host Sept. 16 to approximately 2,000 Texans for a one-day symposium on the correction of language disabilities among the state's school children—officially named the Speaker's Symposium on Language Disabilities.

Texas' share of U. S. defense contract work increased during last fiscal year by $844,655... only California and New York had a bigger share.

Cigarette taxes went up again in Austin, to $12,800,000 as compared to $11,500,000 in July.

A House committee on juvenile crime (headed by Rep. Vernon Stewart of Wichita Falls to make recommendations next January) will hold its next-to-last hearing in San Antonio on Sept. 21 and has invited professional youth workers or any citizen to express their views on needed legislation.

Registration of securities for public sale in Texas topped a half-billion dollars for an all-time high during the fiscal year ending August 31, State Securities Board announced (permits were for sale of $539,941,650).

State draft boards will be called upon to furnish 2,339 men for the armed forces in November. October quota — largest monthly call since 1953 near the end of the Korean conflict — has been increased from 2,671 to 2,845.

Thousands of Texas Vets Schedule School Enrollment

Thousands of veterans eligible for educational assistance will enroll in schools throughout Texas during the next few days, according to Jack Coker, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office, Waco.

Coker advised eligible veterans to submit their application immediately after they determine that they will be accepted by the school of their choice.

Veterans who are eligible for this benefit must have served with the Armed Forces after January 31, 1955, and must have served on continuous active duty for a period of at least 181 days, any part of which was after January 31, 1955, and must have been discharged or released under conditions other than dishonorable. A veteran who served less than 181 days may be eligible if he was discharged or released because of a service-connected disability.

MEDICARE

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. How many days of post-hospital extended care in a skilled nursing home will be covered beginning next January?

A. Up to 100 days for each spell of illness. The cost of the first 20 days extended care is covered in full. For each day past 20, the patient pays $5 a day toward the bill. The post-hospital skilled nursing home care will be covered only upon transfer from a hospital after a hospital stay of at least 3 days.

Q. Suppose while in an extended care facility, I developed a second illness in addition to the one I had when transferred from the hospital; would I be covered for the care I received in the extended care facility for the second illness? Or would I have to be admitted to the hospital and then transferred back?

A. You could stay in the extended care facility. Care you received there for the second condition would be covered but only up to the total number of days of care for which you were eligible. Since you would not have been out of the hospital and extended care facility for the 90 days required to mark off the beginning of a new "spell of illness," the second condition would still fall within the first "spell of illness."

Q. What is a "spell of illness?"

A. A "spell of illness" begins when you enter the hospital and ends after you have been out of the hospital (or out of a nursing home) for 60 consecutive days.

Q. Do I have to go direct from the hospital to the nursing home to qualify for payment of the extended care costs? Suppose I was discharged and went home, but shortly found that I needed more care than I could be given at home?

A. The costs of your care in the extended care facility would be covered if you were admitted within 14 days after leaving the hospital. And if you should leave the nursing home before you had used all of the days of care for which you were eligible, and later found that you had to return, the additional days up to the limit for that spell of illness would be covered, providing you returned within 14 days.

Q. Will most nursing homes qualify as "extended care facilities?"

A. An estimated 6,000 existing nursing homes may meet the conditions required to qualify for participation by January 1, 1967, when payment for post-hospital extended care is scheduled to begin. A qualified posthospital extended care facility could be an institution such as a skilled nursing home, or it could be a ward or wing of a hospital, or even a part of an old-age home. It will also be required in almost every case to have an agreement with a hospital for the transfer of patients and the interchange of medical records. It would also be required to have round-the-clock nursing services with at least one registered nurse employed full-time and a physician available to handle emergencies and will have to meet certain other requirements, including those which would provide safeguards for the health and safety of patients. Patients would also have to be under the care of a physician.

Underhand casting is of little use to the average angler. It is more of an exhibition stunt. Better concentrate on the usual styles.

New Leaflet Gives Over Age 65 Facts

The Administration on Aging, Washington, D. C., has just issued leaflet No. 410 that contains many facts and figures about the 18½ million Americans over age 65. R. R. Tuley Jr., Abilene District Manager for Social Security, has excerpted portions of the leaflet for our readers, and believes many of you would like to write the AOA for a free copy to get the balance of the information.

The number of persons aged 65 in the nation exceeds the total population of 20 of the 50 states. The number past 65 has increased 600% (from 3 to more than 18 million) in the past 65 years. Women in the over 65 group outnumber men by 129 to 100. In 1900 there were 100 men aged 65 or more to only 98 women that old. By the year 2000, it is estimated the aged women will outnumber the men by 148 to 100. 30% of the aged population in four states — New York, California, Pennsylvania, and Illinois, with more than a million in each state. By 1985, there will be over a million oldsters in three more states, Texas, Ohio and Florida. Do you know which state has the highest percentage of its population in the plus 65 bracket? Florida is 2nd with 12.3%, Nebraska is 3rd with 11.7%, Missouri ranks 4th with 11.6% and Kansas is 5th with 11.4%. First place? That goes to Iowa with 12.5%. Texas ranks 38th with only 8.1% over age 65, but that's 852,000.

Only 1 in 25 of the aged lives in an institution. One-third of the women, but only one-sixth of the men live alone or with non-relatives. Two-thirds of the men, but only one-third of the women live in families with their spouse. There are four times as many widows as widowers. 40% of the older married men have wives under age 65. Over 35,000 marriages each year involve at least one person over age 65. 2.6 million older couples have annual incomes of less than $3,000. The aggregate income of all persons past 65 is over $40 billion a year and increasing (300% above the 1950 figures). More than 3 million are still in the labor force, working or actively seeking employment. Almost all of the $40 billion dollar income of the aged group goes for current living expenses. Those over 65 use 20% of their spending for housing and household operations to only 23% by those under 65. The older group used 10.2% of its spending for medical care (1961-1962) to 6.2% for the younger ones. Transportation took only 1.7% of the older's spending, but 15.6% of that spent by those under 65. 7½% of the couples past 65 had annual incomes of less than $1,000.

Not 65 yet? The odds are better than ever before that you'll make it, and the odds are getting greater every year. It would be smart to plan now for those years when you'll be past 65.

Steers Becoming Leaner, Meatier

The amount of lean meat on steers has increased three per cent in the last four years.

At the same time, fat thickness decreased, according to a study made by Frank Orts, extension specialist at Texas A&M University.

Orts collected carcass information from the major livestock shows in Texas for four years. He says the ribeye size has increased by three-tenths of an inch and fat thickness has decreased some two-tenths an inch.

The trend toward the "meat type" steer, with less fat, began with the consumer, says Orts. The housewife demanded more lean meat, and the trend worked its way through the packer to the feedlot and breeder.

Today, ranchers are selecting and breeding for leaner, meatier type animals, says Orts.

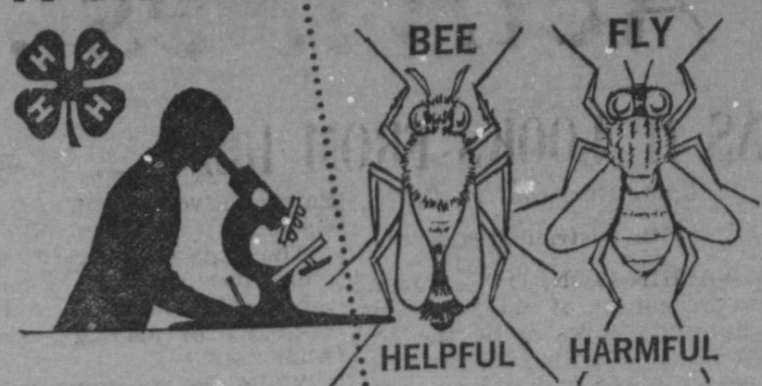

New Car Showing Dates Released

New car showing dates for 1967 models will be: Chevrolet, Buick, Dodge, Oldsmobile, Plymouth, Chrysler, and Pontiac, Sept. 29; Ford, Lincoln, Mercury, Sept. 30; and Cadillac, Rambler, Oct. 6.

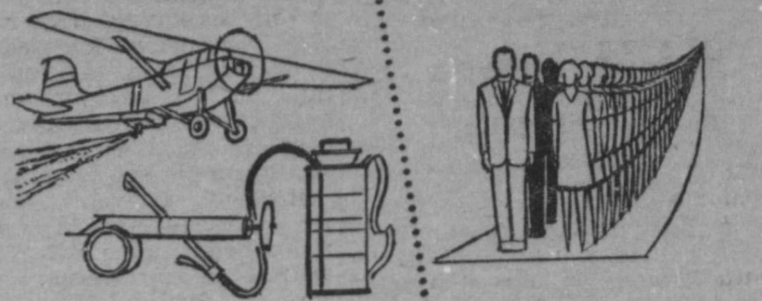

Prospective new car buyers have an excellent opportunity to buy safe cars and save money by purchasing within the next few days.

New models will probably be slightly higher than 1966 models, due largely to the added safety equipment and finance charges. They will contain as added safety features: dual brake systems, collapsible steering wheel columns, a simultaneous turn flash system, stronger door latches and hinges, recessed instrument panel knobs, larger outside rearview mirrors and better windshield wipers. By 1968, models will contain head-rests on front seats, "breakoff" window and door handles, padded backs for front seats, and rear-window defoggers.

A CAREER in ENTOMOLOGY

pest control for more abundant food and fiber

for an ever-growing population

Despite widespread use of control measures, insects cause about $12 billion damage annually to U. S. livestock and crops. Moreover, the damage is done by only one percent of the 700,000 different insects known to man.

To help lessen this destruction are 4-H youngsters who are fascinated by bugs, worms and butterflies. They are busy with entomology projects set up by the Cooperative Extension Service and carried on with the assistance of local 4-H Club leaders, conservationists and other specialists in this area.

Future career opportunities are virtually limitless. Girls with butterfly nets and boys with glass jars in which to snare their catch may one day be scientists, teachers, researchers, manufacturers, accountants or salesmen. Scores of different jobs are related to the entomological field.

Past performance of 4-H'ers has disclosed remarkable progress in a few short years devoted to the project. Studying insect life cycles, making displays, giving demonstrations on safe use of insecticides, and assisting local agencies in pest control are but a few examples of what the young bug hunters can do.

For their efforts, awards are offered by Hercules Incorporated, sponsor of the national 4-H Entomology program for 15 years. This year about 5,000 outstanding club members will receive the county medal of honor.

The entomology project judged best in the state will send a 4-H'er to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago as guest of the sponsor. From the 50 state champions, six will be selected for national honors and a $500 scholarship.

Park Supermen Keep Campers Happy

Even weight lifters are helping keep the patrons happy at state parks during the present peak visitation season.

A Houston man reported his experience in that area to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

His trailer suspension mechanism broke as he entered Huntsville State Park. "Though we were able to leave the trailer and find a camp-site," he wrote "there was still the problem of bringing the food and equipment to the camp site, a situation made imperative by our hungry three month old daughter."

"Your people provided a pickup truck and three strong backs to lift the entire trailer on the truck and move it to the campsite."

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE...

Omar Burlison, M. C.
 17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Lying in the center of old Indochina, Thailand proves to be the best friend of the United States on the mainland of Southeast Asia. Almost surrounded by Burma, Laos, North and South Viet Nam and Cambodia, it is strategic as well as vulnerable.
 At the moment, she is threatened by forces from without and within. Crucial decisions in United States policy are shaping up. Only recently did we publicly reveal our activities in Thailand.

We are already there in an advisory capacity, much like the situation we assumed ten years ago in South Viet Nam. Our counter-insurgency experts are there at the invitation of the Bangkok Government to help them against Communist guerrillas inspired and directed from Red China.

The prevailing view of the State Department seems to be that we should step up aid to the Thailand Government, even to the point of sending in helicopters and planes to bomb guerrilla concentration points. On the other hand, it seems the general feeling at the Pentagon that another Viet Nam not be allowed to develop.

The problem becomes highly complicated by reason of Thailand's location, which is strategic and important, and the cooperation we have had from the Government in efforts in Viet Nam.

In the meantime, the explosion of the Viet Cong mine in the main Saigon shipping channel had a greater significance than simply blocking and delaying supplies to the Port of Saigon.

It proved a great deal more. For a long period of time the principal reasons given for not mining the Harbor of Haiphong were that to do so might bring Red China into the war. This was given as the excuse by some who opposed our bombing of supply lines and oil and warehouse storage in North Viet Nam. It was the same given earlier against bombing North Viet Nam at all, and particularly against bombing railroad bridges leading from Red China.

It was also contended that to seal off Haiphong would offend our allies, but the same consideration did not stop the British from diverting a Greek ship carrying oil to Rhodesia.
 Probably the best of all the poor excuses for not doing something about the only big port of Viet Nam was the frequent statement that to mine Haiphong's harbor would bring retaliation against the Harbor at Saigon and the channel of the Salgon River leading to the ocean.

 The mine exploded in the Saigon River channel should remove any doubt about the advisability of playing "after you Alphonse."

While we are doing less than we could do and less than we should do, North Viet Nam forces continue to build up in the northern area of South Viet Nam, and those knowledgeable of the situation have no doubt that under present circumstances they have the capacity of waging aggressive and effective warfare for a long time to come.
 Here at home the voices of the "new isolationists" continue to be heard, advocating greater welfareism and opposing our efforts in South Viet Nam. The new isolationists, although apparently with less influential advocates, have long passed the "butter or guns" issue of a year ago. It is now only butter.
 To his credit, Vice President Humphrey recently took to task those who assert that the Administration should spend its money and resources on domestic programs instead of Viet Nam and Southeast Asia.
 Mostly these are the same people who have never shown great concern about governmental expenditures for whatever purpose. Could be they are like the boy who, having killed his father and mother, stood before the judge pleading for clemency on the grounds that he was an orphan.

Water-borne Warden Force Increased

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department reports its water-borne warden force has reached maximum status for the summer with delivery of fast new patrol boats.
 Fourteen of the speedy craft, specially designed for use on the larger lakes as well as the small waterways, are now serving the water recreation minded.
 The Department said the full patrol complement will be utilized throughout the peak summer period, policing the heavy boat traffic, generally serving the public and hereafter stressing law enforcement.
 It was noted that some adjustments in the mobil force have been necessitated to handle traffic on some of the more popular lakes.
 The Department is serving with other agencies in helping enforce the new state water safety code.
 Field reports to date indicate the water sport enthusiasts are cooperating to a marked degree but some major accidents do occur.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Colossians 1:21-29

To them God chose to make known how great among the Gentiles are the riches of the glory of this mystery, which is Christ in you, the hope of glory. (Colossians 1:27, RSV).

Every tree has hidden roots out of which it is growing. Our life also has hidden roots — Christ, who is dwelling in us.

One aspect of the mystery of Christ in us is our willingness to become servants of people, as Jesus Himself was a servant.

Servant is an unpopular word, however. Everybody expects the service of others. Married couples seek divorces because they are not willing to serve each other. Quarrels develop because persons are not willing to help each other. We have difficulties in our churches because we are not willing to be servants one of another.

To be Christlike, we have to reveal the mystery of Christ through a life of willing service. This we offer not only to our families and fellow Christians, but also to those who do not believe in our Lord.

PRAYER: O Lord, we thank Thee for Thy service of love. Forgive us that we do not always have love or express it in acts of service. Give us strength to live as Thy servants in our homes, in working places, in the church, so that Thy love may be visible to others, in the Maker's name. Amen.

Record Recreational Deaths Seen

The 1966 summer vacation season seems destined to go in to the records as setting a new high for water recreational deaths and for establishing an amazing boating-skiing safety mark.

This is indicated by the unofficial water toll survey conducted as a safety reminder by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The Department's death toll for the season has increased to 181. The total for the summer of 1965 was an even 200. Another month of vacation, capped by the long Labor Day weekend, presages the passing of last year's gruesome total by a substantial margin.

A spokesman for the department said undoubtedly increased measures to enforce the life preserver requirement and other phases of the new safety laws, has helped cut the boating accident rate. Game wardens have been sharing in the expanded water patrol.

Lowest temperature ever recorded in the U. S. was 66 degrees F., below zero, at Yellowstone Park, Feb. 9, 1933.

Carr Says He Will Work For The Best Interests of Texas

Greenville, Sept. 10.—Waggoner Carr, the Democratic Party nominee for the U. S. Senate, promised here tonight to work with state and national leaders, but warned that he could not be counted on to agree all of the time with national administration's policies.

"Even though the President is from Texas, I'm sure I won't agree with him all the time. He has to represent the whole nation.

"My job will be to represent Texas and her people.

"You can be sure that Waggoner Carr will vote for the best interests of Texas."

When there is disagreement, Carr said, "I going to try to bring them around to seeing things the Texas way."

"And because I'm a Democrat, because I know the President, know our Congressmen, know our Senior Democratic Senator and have worked with all of them through the years, we will be able to do things for Texas."

What Makes An Epileptic?

What makes a person an epileptic? As yet, no one really knows. Fifty years ago, the epileptic was a burden both to himself and to his family. But today, a drug that costs no more than 5c or 10c a day makes the average epileptic a fully productive, self-supporting citizen. This drug is just one of the thousands that prove that . . .

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS FROM THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSN. Defensive Driving

In the era of steadily increasing auto accidents with their consequent deaths and injuries, the safety experts have coined a new phrase to help us survive in traffic . . . "defensive driving."

What is defensive driving? Basically, it is keeping full control of your car at all times, so that you can avoid an accident no matter what the other fellow does.

Some of the fundamentals of defensive driving are outlined in TODAY'S HEALTH, the magazine of the American Medical Association.

* Never "tailgate." This practice of following too closely the vehicle ahead has been found to be a common cause of accidents. Stay back one car length for each 10 miles of speed.

* When you have a driver tailgating you, slow down and encourage him to pass.

* Expect the driver ahead of you to brake without warning. Watch especially for situations which will cause him to slow down or stop.

* Stop smoothly and gradually when there is a vehicle behind you. Signal your intentions of stopping, slowing down, or turning.

* Look to the left, look to the right when approaching an intersection. Never assume the other driver will yield the right-of-way, even if you have the green light.

* When in doubt, never pass. Before you change lanes check your rearview mirror and glance to be sure your blind spot is clear. Use your turn signals when passing. Make certain someone behind you is not trying to pass you at the same time. When

AFGAN PHEASANTS REAR MORE YOUNG

San Angelo.—Permian Basin wildlife personnel happily report sighting of a brood of five baby Afgan white-winged pheasants in southern Lynn County, according to Bob Sinclair, project leader for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

In February, 1965, 180 adult white-winged pheasants, from a California game farm, were released in three dry West Texas locations. It was hoped the exotic game birds would reproduce and provide sportsmen with an additional game bird species.

A nest of white-winged pheasant eggs was found two months ago near one release site. The sighting of the brood of chicks strengthens the hope that the experimental birds are adapting to their new home in West Texas.

Captain John Smith, who chartered the region, is responsible for New England's name.

passing, sound horn or flick your lights to let the driver ahead know. Accelerate and pass quickly. Get back quickly after you clearly see the car in your rearview mirror. The expert driver follows some basic common-sense rules, TODAY'S HEALTH says.

* He keeps his eyes moving, thus avoiding eye-holding situations while his car moves blindly into an accident-producing situation.

* The expert takes in the whole picture. He trains himself to scan the entire driving scene for a full city block or a half mile on rural roads.

* The expert leaves an out for himself by maintaining a "space cushion" for maneuvering.

* The expert signals others his intentions early while he still has time and space to avoid them if they do not respond.

Winning The Reward

Edwards flew into a rage when he found the hub caps missing from his car. Shaking his fist, he sputtered:

"Why, I'd give $100 to know who stole those hub caps!"

The man next door, hearing these words, took them literally. He did a little quiet sleuthing, and, sure enough, discovered the culprit. But when he claimed a $100 reward, Edwards refused to pay off.

And in a court test, the judge sided with Edwards. His angry exclamation, said the judge, was obviously just a way of letting off steam, not a serious offer of a reward.

The legal obligation to pay a reward is based not on the ethics of gratitude but on the principles of contract law. There must be an offer, seriously meant. And there must also be a performance that fits the terms called for in the offer.

Thus, a reward offered for locating a robber "and" his loot is not earned by one who locates the robber—but not the loot.

Nevertheless, to encourage the catching of criminals, the law usually gives the claimant the benefit of the doubt.

For example: An alert citizen led police to the hideout of a fugitive killer. But their effort to arrest him resulted in a gun fight in which the fugitive was slain. In these circumstances, was the citizen entitled to a reward offered for the man's "arrest"?

A court said he was indeed, because — for all practical purposes — he had done the job for which the reward was offered.

Is everyone eligible for a reward that is offered to the general public? No. As a matter of public policy, certain individuals may be disqualified even if the reward offer doesn't say so.

FOR LEADERSHIP IN WATER CONSERVATION—Humble Oil & Refining Company was honored by the Izaak Walton League of America at the conservation group's annual convention held recently in Boston. Reynolds T. Harnsberger (left), president of the League, presented the award to H. H. Meier, manager of Humble's Baytown Refinery in Texas, where an advanced system is operated to purify waste water before release to the Houston Ship Channel.

For instance, a policeman who does no more than his duty cannot ordinarily claim a reward offered by the victim of a crime. Otherwise, the police might be tempted to give better service to people willing to offer rewards.

Nor may a reward be claimed by someone who was himself involved in the crime. Thus, a man who helped to find some stolen shoes was denied a reward, when it turned out that he had also helped to steal them.

As one judge put it: "No man shall be permitted to profit by his own iniquity."
