Mountain Echoes

By Barbara Kingsbery

Opps, is my face red? Who would think one little word left out of this column would bring such teasing? If you missed the glaring omission last week, just forget it! If you caught it, and I think everyone did, the mission word was MILLION. So much for that.

The summer swimming program is off to a fine start with about 60 boys and girls attending each day. Mrs. Buddy Bengie is in charge of arrangements each day and Daryl Ashley is driver of the bus that takes the Santa Anna children to the Coleman pool. The swimming session will continue for two more weeks. The local youngsters swim from 11:00 to 12:00 a. m. each day.

There will not be a class on Friday, July 4.

Mrs. H. L. Zachary came into the NEWS office Monday to renew her subscription, and brought a beautiful big magnolia blossom from the tree in her front yard. It was a pleasant surprise and is being enjoyed by all who come in.

Mr. and Mrs. Zachary are expert gardeners and their yard is a showplace, on South Lee Street.

The new Post Office will be a much needed addition in our town. Each morning from 8:00 until 9:00 o'clock it is almost hazardous to drive past that busy place, or to try to stop and park there. Just this week through, traffic had to stop while Postoffice patrons shifted their vehicles in and out. We hope a drive-in mail box will be a part of the new facility.

We heard a good story this week. A gentleman said that most people plan to sit and rock when they retire. His plans are to just sit until he is rested, then he'll start rocking.

Rodeo Royalty At Lions Club

Vice president Norman Walters presided at the Tuesday meeting of the Santa Anna Lions Club in the absence of President Ed Hartman.

Presenting the program were Weldon Davis, president of the Coleman Rodeo Association, and Sue Kingsbery, Rodeo Queen. A film of the 1969 "Miss Rodeo America" pageant was shown. Also a special guest and introduced at the Tuesday meeting was Sonja Neff, "Miss Rodeo Texas," a contestant in the pageant.

Other guests at the noon meeting were W. T. Hays of Bangs, Blake Williams of near Houston, Charlie Barnett and Lee Hellums of Santa Anna, also William Brown, Kenneth Vance, Bill Bryan, and Grady McVier, all of Santa Anna, and Elder Vernon Harris of San Antonio.

MMES. McCAUGHAN, HOKE VISIT IN FORT WORTH

Mrs. J. L. McCaughan and her daughter, Mrs. Fern Hoke, spent last weekend in Fort Worth visiting their son and brother, Ted McCaughan and Mrs. McCaughan. They also visited Mrs. Hoke's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Ragsdale.

FBI Tip Alerts Local Officers of Robbery

Most Santa Anna residents continued their usual daily routines during the past two weeks unaware that tense drama was unfolding within our midst.

On Friday, June 20, an anonymous telephone call to the Dallas FBI office told of a bank robbery that was to take place at a bank in Coleman County within the next ten days. The Coleman sheriff's department was notified of the threat on Saturday, June 21, and the three Coleman County banks were put under constant surveillance.

Law officers thought the bank in question was the Santa Anna National Bank since the caller referred to a nightwatchman in the town—and Coleman has none. However all three banks were watched.

Although the "tip" told about burglary equipment already hidden near the bank, none was found.

For three nights this past week Sheriff's deputies Ron-doe Horton and Joe Garrett stayed in the tile company storage building across from the Santa Anna National Bank. A telephone was installed in the old building and other preparations were made to apprehend any would-be bank robbers.

According to the telephone caller, he was a reluctant member of a bank robbery gang and wished to get out of that occupation. The Dallas FBI officers arrested the caller in Dallas on Monday of this week. The man is being questioned about possible implications with a robbery gang.

In the meantime, Santa Anna is back to normal.

S. A. Men Get Training For Emergency Care

Norman Hosch, Norval Wylie, Pascal Hosch and Patrick Hosch attended a three-day course last week at Hendricks Hospital in Abilene for emergency care training for ambulance attendants. The three-day session included instructions to cover all types of emergency care. The classes were taught by doctors from all fields of medicine and included instructions for the control of bleeding, artificial respiration, cardiac massage, fractures, spinal, neck and head injuries, burns, emergency childbirth, poisoning, psychiatric patient, and also minimum equipment for ambulances and legal implications.

The training course was sponsored by the Texas State Department of Health and those completing the session received certificates as Licensed Emergency Vehicle Attendants. About 85 from this area were in attendance.

The four local men are associated with the Hosch Funeral Home and Ambulance Service.

Baseball Teams Organized Here

The summer baseball program for Santa Anna boys was organized last Saturday night when interested boys and their parents met with Quarterback Club officials at the ball park. Three teams will be formed and round-robin play will begin this week.

Bill Day, club president, will be in charge of the program with the managers, team rosters and game schedules to be announced later.

32nd Annual County Rodeo To Begin Next Wednesday

The 32nd annual Coleman Rodeo will get underway next Wednesday night, July 9, and continue through Saturday, July 12th. Performances will be held each night at 8:00 p. m.

Queen for the 1969 rodeo is Sue Kingsbery of Santa Anna. Weldon Davis of Coleman is president of the Rodeo Association, and Tom Kingsbery will serve as Arena director.

Activities will get underway next Wednesday afternoon with a big parade, the only parade of the rodeo. The parade is expected to be about two miles long and include riding clubs and sheriff's possees, floats, bands, and cowboys and cowgirls of all ages.

Beutler and Son of Elk City, Okla., will produce the RCA

SUE KINGSBERY
1969 Coleman Rodeo Queen

show and Hadley Barrett of North Platte, Neb., will be announcer.

Specialty acts will be J. W. Stoker with trick riding and trick roping. Euck LeGrande will be rodeo clown and present a comedy horse act during each performance.

Allen Bing of St. Joseph, Mo., will be organist each night.

Also appearing at the rodeo will be Miss Sonja Neff, "Miss Rodeo Texas." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Neff of Santa Anna and a junior student at Texas Tech.

A rodeo dance will be held each night at the National Guard Armory immediately following the rodeo. Easy Adams and his Texas Top Hands from San Antonio will furnish the music.

The Coleman rodeo is well known as one of the top attractions in the state. It is approved by the Rodeo Cowboys Association, the IRA and the GRA. The top rodeo contestants in the nation are on hand each year for the event.

Advanced reserved seat tickets to the performances will go on sale next week in Coleman. Admission prices for the rodeo will be $1.50 for adults and 50c for children.

Pre-School Students Have Active Schedule

From the time of arrival until the hour of departure the Santa Anna Headstart pupils are taken through a whirlwind of activities. The children have a "free" play time until everyone arrives each morning at 9:00 a. m. From that time until dismissal, children in the class go from one interesting activity to another.

Mrs. Audrey Holt and Miss Tommie Tate, teachers for the group, conduct the opening exercises for the two combined classes. The opening period usually includes songs, action music, and the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

At mid-morning the children go into the school lunch-rooms for snack time, which usually is a serving of chocolate milk. Study time includes lessons about colors, letters of the alphabet, and other things preparatory for the beginning of the first grade class.

Teacher Aides assist with the classes and volunteers are on hand to help when needed. Mrs. Tom Newman, Title I teacher, has a class each morning for children with language difficulties. Assisting Mrs. Newman each day is volunteer worker Mrs. H. E. Burgos.

Before going home each day the children are given lunch in the cafeteria. Mrs. Glenn Copeland, food service director, plans and prepares the noon meal each day. Students have a brief rest period before boarding the bus for their trip home.

The Headstart program is in its fourth year here. It is already known to be beneficial to the children who attend and they really have a "head-start" when they enter school in the fall.

Visitors are welcomed at the school at any time and anyone interested may go by from 9:00 to 12:30 any week day through August 15.

ELECTRIC COOP REFUNDS TO BE GIVEN FOR 1959

Coleman County Electric Cooperative members who received electric service from the Coop in 1959 will be receiving more than $184,888 in patronage refunds some time during the month of July.

The amount each member will receive represents about 29% of each dollar spent for electricity by that member in 1959.

Patronage refunds that are returned to the Cooperative members simply represent any money taken in over the actual cost of delivering power to the members for that given year.

This is the tenth consecutive year for the Coleman County Electric Cooperative members to receive refund checks. Cooperative members are proud to receive dependable electric service at prices below previous years. The Coleman Cooperative serves most families in the rural areas of Coleman County and part of Runnels County.

Pascal Hosch and Ted Taylor of Coleman were in Bandera during the weekend attending the rodeo. The two boys were entered in the bull riding at the rodeo.

In Our Opinion . . .

NEARLY TWO HUNDRED years ago a group of courageous men signed the Declaration of Independence.

We owe a great debt to our founding fathers who were willing to sacrifice all for the right to establish a system of self-government in which men and women would have a choice and a part. Because of their valiant efforts, today we live in a nation which offers its citizens more equality, more justice, more freedom, and greater opportunity than is provided by any other system of government in the history of the world.

We wonder what these great men would think of the turbulence and unrest that is prevalent in this country today. The privileges we share as Americans are not available to all people, and people in countries with oppressive and tyrannical governments don't understand what is going on.

Many of us take our inherited rights for granted. We want and demand the rights and privileges of a free society yet we don't want to be bothered with the responsibilities that go along with them.

As we celebrate Independence Day July 4, let us remember that every privilege has a related responsibility. Let us renew our faith and pride in our country and acknowledge our blessings.

IT IS SOMETIMES HARD to understand just what our federal government is attempting to accomplish when they deal with other nations of the world.

We send aid to countries who use their influence to do us harm. We sell products to nations who, if not directly our enemies, in turn sell them to a country who is.

It is true, we are the richest nation in the world, and just being that, invites those with little wealth to dislike us. In turn, we should be willing to help those less fortunate than ourselves, but not when they spit in our face in appreciation.

Nations, like humans, tend to dislike those more fortunate than ourselves. We suppose it is a little tinge of jealousy that causes us to be that way. Instead of being happy for those who succeed, too many times we wish them bad luck, even though we may not admit it.

Governor Rockefeller is still going to South America, and everywhere he goes, he is met by an unfriendly mob. In some countries he practically had to be slipped in to reach those with whom he was to confer. Yet, over the years, there is not one South American country who has not been the recipient of American aid. Most of it has been in money, some has been in goods, or else we have sent educational missions to help them with their problems. But whatever we have done has not bought their friendship. We should have learned our lesson.

It seems the Communists are better propagandists than we. We hesitate to deliberately lie, or even stretch the truth a little, but they don't.

Maybe we should have more of the turn-the-other-cheek attitude, but even the Lord could get angry. He threw the money-changers out of the temple.

When we see the true demonstration of how the people all over the world feel toward us after we have tried to help them all, we have a tendency to get angry.

The Export Control Act will soon expire and Congress will either renew it or not. It controls what we ship to what country and while in force helps to prevent our shipping strategic products to enemy countries.

If we ship machine tools to a Communist country, on the surface it may not seem so bad. But if they use them to manufacture war materials for North Viet Nam, then we have indeed aided our enemy.

We hope Congress will act on this matter.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Concealed Weapons"
 "That guy is so tough," runs an old gag, "that if he puts his hands in his pockets, he could be arrested for carrying concealed weapons."
 He couldn't though, no matter how deadly his fists, because they would not be "concealed." In spite of the fabric covering the pockets, anyone could tell that his hands were there.
 For contrast, consider this case:
 A man arrested with a gun in his pocket argued that it had not really been concealed, because it made a distinct and visible bulge.

 But the court decided there was still sufficient concealment to make the man guilty of the charge. The judge said a mere bulge was not enough warning to an ordinary observer, that the man was armed.
 It is this test—obviousness to an ordinary observer—that the law usually applies in deciding whether a person is carrying a concealed weapon. Thus, a gun would not be considered concealed simply because a particular person, looking from a particular angle, was unable to see it. For example:
 A man who had a gun openly displayed in his belt was found not guilty of the offense. Even though the arresting of-

34 Fatalities Are Predicted

From 6:00 p. m. Thursday (today) until midnight Sunday, July 6, 34 people are predicted to die in traffic accidents in Texas. The figure was released by Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, from estimates from the Statistical Services Bureau.
 The holiday period will find all available uniformed patrolmen on duty for a special "Operation Motorcade" in an effort to reduce accidents and to assist motorists.
 Speir urged all Texans to plan their holiday trips so as to allow ample time to drive without speeding or driving too fast for conditions. He also cautioned motorists to watch for pedestrians, especially on beaches and parks, during the holiday period.
 Our highways and roads will be crowded with holiday drivers and we join in urging everyone to drive with extreme caution. We don't want any extra obituaries in next week's issue of the NEWS.

ficer—approaching from behind—could not see the gun, it was obvious enough for ordinary observation.
 And what does "carrying" mean? Does the person actually have to be moving with the gun?
 One man, seeing an officer near by, hastily slipped his pistol into an inside pocket. Arrested and brought to trial for carrying a concealed weapon, he offered this defense to the court:
 "Carrying" means transporting the weapon from one place to another. I did not move a single step."
 But the court pointed out that, although "carrying" could mean "transporting," it could also mean just "possessing." The judge decided to pick the meaning which, considering the purpose of the law, made the most sense—and he found the man guilty.

Growing Toward Bankruptcy

There's plenty of talk in Wall Street circles about "growth industries" and "growth companies." They are the glamour stocks which attract heavy interest from traders who foresee fast growth, bigger profits, and higher stock prices.
 In recent years, the computer industry has been called a leading growth industry, and the profits in IBM and similar companies seem to bear this out.
 However, perhaps the nation's biggest growth industry of recent years is one that is not sold on Wall Street. It has no common stock, but it actively sells bonds to cover its mounting debt. The biggest growth industry is government—Federal, state and local.
 Every seventh person employed in the United States works at a government job, not counting military personnel. Back in 1929, one out of 16 employees was on a government payroll. Obviously, government has grown much faster than the private economy, even in the unprecedented economic expansion since World War II.
 Expansive Federal, state and local governments are expected to spend about $300 billion this year (compared to about $55 billion in 1942), and taxes paid to support this "industry" will average out to $3,600 per family, twice as much as just eight years ago. And even these taxes do not cover the spending, some of which is added to the debt.
 The six persons working in the private economy today are, to a large extent, supporting the seventh, the public servant. Except for taxes paid by the latter, nearly all of the government's revenue is derived from the operations, profits and payrolls of private business.

 How much government can the private economy support? Even now, small business resembles a young man trying to support a wife and kids and a spendthrift uncle named Sam.
 Apparently, the private economy is going to be even more over-taxed to support the governments in the years to come. The Labor Department has predicted that combined Federal, state and local government employment will increase almost 60 per cent by 1975, while the private economy is earmarked for a modest 25 per cent gain.
 Unemployment is expected to rise to four million, and if the guaranteed annual wage being advocated becomes a reality, you might just as well add these to the government payroll. There would then be 18 million tax-supported workers and non-workers, plus several million military personnel.
 If future growth of government payrolls does indeed more than double the rate of private employment growth in the years ahead, national bankruptcy seems inevitable. The bureaucrats should face up to the fact that their empires are built atop a foundation of tax-paying private enterprise. They should start re-directing some of their planning to avoid such lopsided growth, rather than being dedicated to making the prediction come true.

PHILLIPS DRUG

OUR HEALTH

By J. M. Amberson, M.D.

Question: Are Bunions Anything to Worry About?

Answer: Unfortunately, many people regard bunions as "cosmetic" defects, yet the swollen malformed foot and toe joints can be a serious and highly painful handicap. Bunions can sometimes require treatment such as surgical correction. If you have a bunion or one just beginning to form, there are two things you should do. First take pressure off the joint with cushioned pads especially made for this discomfort and secondly, make an appointment immediately with a Dr. Amberson foot specialist or podiatrist. Because bunions are initially caused by ill-fitting shoes, throw the old ones out and buy ones that fit properly. In the long run it will be less expensive and much more comfortable.

Question: What is Pruritus and What Causes It?

Answer: Pruritus is the medical word for itching and it can have many causes—some real, some imaginary. A little soap inadvertently left on the skin or moisture between toes can bring itching sensations. Along with minor reasons like these, itching can also be symptomatic of very serious illnesses like jaundice, leukemia, uremia, Hodgkin's Disease or sensitivity to certain drugs. Insect bites, fungus infections and allergic reactions to clothing can result in itching. Itching can be an occupational hazard with professions like grocers and bakers where a mite is the culprit. Constant itching is more common in older people because their skin no longer secretes large amounts of lubricating oils and the result is dry skin is often flaky and uncomfortable as well as itchy. Seasonal itching is not uncommon. "Winter-Itch" is due in large measure to the overheated rooms that dry out the skin. Summer 'itch' is due to a similar condition in reverse; cool air-conditioned rooms that lack moisture and are as drying as overheated ones.

What can be done for itching? First of all what should not be done is scratching—because that never solves anything and often aggravates a condition. For discomfort due to dry skin, many dermatologists suggest the use of a therapeutic bath oil like Alpha Kerol to restore to the skin surface many of the lost natural oils. A capful of Alpha Kerol added to the bath water coats the skin with a thin protective film that "locks in" the skin's own moisture. Popular home remedies for itching include alcohol on an insect bite, hot water, or ice packs. Actually, these do not relieve itching but substitute another skin sensation, so the itching seems to become secondary. Chronic or prolonged itching, skin irritations, should be brought to a physician's attention.

Accent On Health

Austin—A rose by any name is still a rose, and a chigger—whether called a harvest or a red bug—still can give you sleepless nights and ceaseless spasms of itching misery.

The threat of chigger bites will last until cold weather cuts into their ranks, but there are some steps which can be taken to offset this threat, reports the Texas State Department of Health.

A few people have an apparent immunity to chigger attacks but the vast majority of us are susceptible.

They—the chiggers, have a special affinity for low, damp places covered with vegetation. Bermuda grass harbors them well, but for some unexplained reasons they are not usually found in carpet grass.

Just for the record, it's the larvae which do the damage, attaching themselves with their mouthparts and sucking blood until they become engorged and fall off. The fiery itching is caused by an anti-coagulant material they inject into their victims.

Although adult chiggers are harmless to humans, their wayward offspring can be serious as well as annoying. Not that they spread any specific disease—at least not in this country, but their bite demands scratching which frequently causes secondary infections in the form of sores and boils.

To find out if your backyard or your picnic area is infested with chiggers, stand a piece of black cardboard on end where you suspect they might be. If after a few minutes you see tiny yellowish or pinkish mites accumulating on the upper edge, you will know its time to check your supply of insect repellent.

Chiggers attack lizards, snakes, birds, and rodents with the same vigor and resourcefulness they display in

Former Resident Is Buried Monday

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Southside Church of Christ in Santa Anna for Santa Anna native Israel E. Hartman, aged 73, who died late Saturday in the Midland Memorial Hospital following a long illness.

Born December 16, 1895 in Santa Anna, he was married to Keba B. Hester on January 20, 1920 in Coleman. He was a member of the Church of Christ. He had lived in Midland the past 17 years where he was an insurance salesman. While living in the Santa Anna area he farmed in the Cleveland community.

Survivors are his wife of Midland; two daughters, Mrs. Omelia Reeves of Austin, and Mrs. Winnie Blanscett of Midland; three sons, Ray Hartman of Fairbanks, Alaska, and Ed Hartman of Santa Anna, and Jonie Hartman of Odessa. One son, R. D. Hartman, preceded him in death on June 1, 1954.

Other survivors are three sisters, Mrs. Mary Keeney of Coleman, Mrs. Theola Mackey of Baird, and Mrs. Ethyl Choate of El Paso; 21 grandchildren and 5 great-grandchildren.

Burial was in the Santa Anna Cemetery. Pallbearers attacking humans. They draw no distinction between mankind and lesser animal species.

Light applications of sulphur dust on lawns and low branches of shrubs have been used successfully for years to control chiggers. Certain insecticides are very effective when used strictly according to directions.

But perhaps the biggest gun in the arsenal of chigger control are the repellent products which can be applied directly to exposed skin surfaces and to clothing. They come in spray, liquid and in stick forms, and when properly used will keep most insects at arms' length.

were grandsons, Eddie Hartman, Stanley Hartman, Bob Blanscett, Steve Hartman, Randy Blanscett and Wally Reeves. Evangelist Alfred Baze of Midland was officiating minister.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Murder by Automobile
Although cars kill more than 50,000 Americans every year, we seldom think of a car as a murder weapon. Nevertheless, with growing frequency, motorists are being convicted of the crime of murder by automobile.

The key ingredient, upping the offense from mere manslaughter to murder, is malice. And a jury may find malice by logical deduction from the circumstances of the killing. For example:

A man who was rebuffed by his girl friend pushed her out of the car, ran her down, then backed over her prostate body. In this behavior a jury found ample evidence of malicious intent, and brought in a verdict on murder by automobile.

Even if a driver has no specific intent to kill anybody, he may still commit murder—if his conduct is reckless enough to imply malice.

Thus, in another case, a man decided it would be great fun to drive up close to pedestrians and make them jump. After playing this little game several times, he misjudged his distance and struck down an innocent victim.

Tried afterward for murder by automobile, the man pleaded a lack of any intent to kill. But the court found him guilty as charged.

"Malice," said the judge, "does not necessarily mean an actual intent to take human life. It may be implied, as when an act is done so recklessly as to manifest depravity of mind and disregard of human life."

Still, however wrongful a driver's conduct, he is not guilty of murder if there is no causal connection between his bad driving and the accident itself.

Suppose, for instance, that a drunken driver is traveling down the street when he suddenly has a blowout. If the car jumps the curb and kills a pedestrian, solely because of the blowout, the driver could not be convicted of murder. True, a jury might find malice in the way he was driving. But if the blowout would have resulted in the accident anyhow, then the bad driving could not be the cause of death. A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

Trickham News

By Mrs. Oscar Boenicke

Mr. and Mrs. Lige Lancaster will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary with open house Sunday, July 13 from 2 to 5 p. m. at their home south of Trickham. Lige was born and raised on this farm and ranch, the old T. J. Lancaster place. Mamie grew up in the Rockwood community. She was teaching school at Trickham when she met Lige. They have 3 children, Virgil, Robert Earl, and Lucile Carter, and 3 grandchildren. All friends and loved ones are invited.

Robert Linton Oakes visited his grandparents, the Lige Lancasters Thursday evening.

35 Years Ago In The News

The following are news stories taken from the June, 1934 issues of the NEWS:

The following officers were elected at the regular weekly luncheon of the local Lions Club Tuesday.

George M. Johnson, president; J. M. Binion, 1st vice president; M. A. Edwards, 2nd vice president; J. T. Garrett, secretary - treasurer; Dr. R. R. Lovelady, taitwister, and J. R. Lock, Lion Tamer.

Tuesday, June 5, was a busy day in Santa Anna. Large crowds were from most every direction, and the rodeo and other events were interesting and created much comment.

Added to the attractions formerly used were a potato race and tow sack race, with 14 contestants in each event.

In the potato race, Othel Howard won first place, Derwood Beard won second and J. T. Cain won third.

In the first sack race, Rufus Farris won first place, Clyde Bingham won second and Jim Beard won third place. In the second race for small boys under ten years of age, the winners were Leon Oakes, Rep Harris and Lester Clay Kinnard, respectively.

Within the next few weeks, some time in July, the bridge across the Colorado river, south of Rockwood, will be completed, and we suggest that Coleman County and McCulloch County jointly put on a celebration, and invite members of the state highway commission to be present.

This is one of the largest bridges built in this part of the state, work has been in progress for several months, and when completed, it will open up one of the largest arteries of traffic in the southwest.

Mrs. Leola Christie Barnes, well known Coleman county poet, has had another book of poems published.

With "Purple Petals" off the press, Leola Christie Barnes of Santa Anna has two volumes of poems bearing her name. The first, "Crimson Dawning" appeared in 1931.

Some of the most brutal and cowardly acts we have read of during all the outlawry and dirty work on the part of criminals was the one over in the peaceful little Cross Cut community in Brown County on June 19th. Victims of the robbery, which netted $41, were Mmes. Lige DeBusk and Addie Hounshell, both over 80 years of age. The women were struck on the head by a robber who entered their home and stole the money from under a mattress. Mrs. DeBusk was chloroformed before being hit. Mrs. Hounshell was attacked when she ran to answer the screams emanating from Mrs. DeBusk's room. Lester Sterne of Abilene was arrested late Saturday, charged with the atrocious deed. He pled guilty and gave the motive for his deed as being robbery. He had formerly lived on the DeBusk farm and was familiar with the surroundings.

untreated wounds in livestock invite worm infestation, reminds Roger Blackmon. Even worse, every untreated wound that results in screwworm infestation adds to the rapidly increasing screwworm problem in Texas. You can help prevent screwworms by spraying your herds with a product that is recommended for that purpose on the label. Follow the directions carefully. Treat all wounds whether they are infested or not, using an approved smear. Apply the pesticide to the wound and surrounding area.

Ask your veterinarian or County Agent for additional information about treatment of screwworms.

To help keep your livestock free from injuries, remove such hazards as protruding nails, rusty wire, and other sharp objects. Do not crowd the stock into small areas, where the chance of injury is more acute. While livestock management requires many surgical operations, the danger these man-made wounds present can be reduced by proper timing, and by treatment of the wounds. Every cut should be treated with a proper smear. The same advice applies to the navels of newborn animals.

Never give screwworms a free ride, when you buy or sell livestock. Check to see that the animals are free of infestation, and observe all restrictions on shipping. The spraying of herds at the point of origin is good insurance against screwworms.

Screwworm control is everybody's business. Give your personal, active support to the Screwworm Eradication Committee of your county. Roger Blackmon is County Committee Chairman.

Well, What Do You Know? fun, games and knowledge

by MARTHA GLAUBER SHAPP, Editor, The New Book of Knowledge

What is infinity?

At some time you have probably wondered about space and how it stretches on and on, past stars and galaxies. It must surely come to an end somewhere, you think. Yet if it did, what would lie beyond? When you try to imagine the endlessness of space you can get some feeling of the idea of infinity.

There is a mathematical way of talking about infinity. Suppose that you started listing the whole numbers: 1, 2, 3, and so on. What is the largest number you would finally reach? The answer is that there is no largest number. However large a number you write, you can always add another number to it and get a still larger number. Also, between any two numbers you may choose there is an infinity of other numbers. You can always divide a number, no matter how small it is, into still smaller numbers.

Infinity is not a number. It does not tell you "how much." It tells you that something is endless. Mathematicians have a symbol for infinity. The symbol is ∞.

What is the "lead" in a lead pencil?

The lead in a lead pencil is not lead at all. It is graphite, a soft form of the element carbon. Graphite leaves a black streak on almost everything it touches. To keep the graphite from wearing away too fast, it is mixed with clay.

Why then is a lead pencil called a lead pencil? The answer is that long ago lead was used in pencils. Lead, being soft, makes a gray streak when it is rubbed on paper. Before graphite was discovered, lead was one of the best markers people had.

What is "sterling" silver?

The word "sterling" possibly has been used for high-quality silver ever since the 1200's. At that time merchants in northern Germany were making coins containing a high percentage of silver. The coins made in England contained very little silver. Since both types of coins were common in England, the English began to distinguish the better-quality German coins from their native coins by calling the German coins "sterlings," because they came from the east. It is likely that common English speech gradually turned the word "sterling" to "sterling." The standard for English sterling was set in the 1500's by Queen Elizabeth I. It is now accepted all over the world.

CASH, PLEASE . . . On Sale Purchases—Alterations Free at Our Convenience

AUSTIN — Dusty old tax bills are being pulled out for discussion now that Gov. Preston Smith has vetoed the one-year spending bill and called the Legislature back into special session.

Governor Smith made it clear that he expects the session to adopt spending proposals for a full two years starting Sept. 1, and to levy new taxes to finance whatever is spent.

Tax bills must originate in the House and Speaker Gus Mutscher says he believes the money can be found without raising the state sales tax. But, first he wants to hear what the Governor has to propose as a source for the money.

Smith has indicated that he will recommend a program substantially different from what he suggested last winter. But he said he will not propose a state income tax.

So far legislative leaders have not shown any intention of passing another one-year spending bill and then going home without levying new taxes. Smith's contention that the tax bill will be smaller if it is passed now instead of waiting until 1970, apparently won some statewide support.

Smith has one ace up his sleeve.

He vetoed a big stack of Senate bills because they were not properly passed and sent to him by adjournment of the legislative session. He said that he will allow the special session to consider re-passage of those bills, after the legislature passes the two-year appropriation bill.

Only the Governor can select to be considered in a special session. So authors of the bills he vetoed may be anxious to help put over his program in order to try to pass their bills again.

Among the vetoed bills, and one of wide interest, is that by Sen. Murray Watson of Mart creating 27 new district courts.

Here is what Governor Smith will ask the legislators to do:

- Enact a budget in the neighborhood of $5.6 billion for the 1970-71 fiscal period.
- Levy a balancing tax bill, which he estimates at around $300 million or slightly less.
- If there is time in a 30-day special session, then take up the bills he vetoed because they were not signed in the presence of the legislators.

There has been some speculation that lawmakers may just hand Smith another one-year budget and see what he does. However, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and House Speaker Mutscher pledged cooperation in supporting a biennial appropriations pattern this time.

Tax bill remains the big question, and nobody seems to have clear idea where we go from here.

WELFARE CHANGES NOTED — Major changes are going into effect in state welfare policies and organizational structure.

Welfare Commissioner Burton G. Hackney announced elimination of the one-year residency requirement for all aid categories. This is in keeping with a recent U. S. Supreme Court decision and federal rules. Hackney predicted the change will not noticeably increase welfare rolls in Texas, but the nationwide increase in assistance costs is estimated at nearly $300 million a year.

Department of Public Welfare also realigned its statewide organization on the basis of regions, effective July 1. Department will merge Child Welfare services with the Aid to Families With Dependent Children program under a single administrative head along regional lines.

VETS LAND RATE UP — Interest rates are going up to eight percent for non-veterans who take over contracts to buy land under the Texas Veterans Land Program. Board ordered the increases from six and half percent.

Veterans are not affected by the new rate. Their new loan contracts bear five and one-half percent interest. Non-veterans enter the picture when veterans sell their land or transfer the contract which they can do after three years.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler sees the money market as a "serious threat" to the entire land program unless the constitutional amendment is adopted, August 5, to remove the current four and a half percent ceiling on interest rates on bonds sold for the veterans land fund. Bonds cannot be sold in the future unless the rate is raised, Sadler said.

APPOINTMENTS — Austin Attorney J. Pearce Johnson a former member of the Texas House of Representatives, was named by Governor Smith to the Parks and Wildlife Commission and designated as chairman. He replaces L. P. (Pete) Gilvin of Amarillo as chairman, but Gilvin remains with the agency.

Smith selected Lloyd L. Davis of Plainview to succeed Leslie Burnett of Austin on the industry-hunting Texas Industrial Commission.

Leon Jaworski, Houston attorney, is statewide chairman of the "Citizens For Proposition 5," a group which is urging passage of a proposed constitutional amendment to raise the annual welfare spending ceiling from $60 million to $80 million. Amendment is among the nine to be voted on August 5.

H. Russell White, director of the Amarillo State Center for Human Development, has been appointed superintendent of the Richmond State School. Eugene W. Garms, assistant superintendent at Richmond, was promoted to director of the Amarillo Center.

COURTS SPEAK — A U. S. Supreme Court decision in a recent Louisiana Case invalidated a Texas law which restricts voting in revenue bond elections to property owners, says Secretary of State Martin Dies. He spoke as chief election officer of the state, responsible for maintaining uniformity in application and interpretation of Texas election laws.

A firm providing mobile telephone service in the Mc-

Allen, Brownsville and Harlingen areas owes the state more than $10,000 in back telephone gross receipts taxes, says the Third Court of Civil Appeals.

State Supreme Court upheld the lower court's ruling that Morgan Express of Dallas has the right to charge less than competitors on its Dallas-Ballinger route.

High court found constitutional a law which prohibits synthetic milk including both vegetable oil and dry milk solids. Decisions upheld the Court of Civil Appeals.

CRIME PLAN APPROVED — Texas' plan for fighting crime in a coordinated new program has received federal approval and $1.1 million action grant.

Another $9 million is expected to be forthcoming when the budget is approved by Congress for proposed bloc grants under the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968. Bulk of the funds will go to help local agencies. This five-year federally-funded program seeks to bring together efforts of law enforcement, courts, correctional institutions and rehabilitation services to reduce crime.

"This marks a new and constructive era in relations between the states, the federal government and the cities," Governor Smith commented.

Water Law Meet To Be Monday

Interested people from this area are invited to attend one of the series of meetings next week sponsored by the Texas Water Rights Commission and the local County Agricultural Agents.

The meetings will be for the discussion of the Water Rights Adjudication Act of 1967, and everyone interested in irrigation and water rights are encouraged to be present. The Coleman county meeting will be held at the Courthouse in Coleman on Monday, July 7, at 7:30 p. m.

Timothy Brown, a legal examiner for the Water Rights Commission will discuss the legal aspects of the new law. Stanley Lemmons, Director of the Water Rights Division of the same agency, will explain requirements of the Section 4 Recordation Claim that must be filed before September 1, 1969, to protect any claim to use surface water not already permitted by the Commission. Use of ground water is not affected and the use of surface water for domestic and livestock purposes is explicitly excluded from this Act. An informal question-answer session will conclude the meeting.
