NEW RAMBLER MAGAZINE OUT.

Forty or more Rambler owners, many of wealth and prominence, representing fifteen states of the Union, appear in picture and story in the big mid-summer number of the Rambler Magazine, a beautiful edition with a cover in four colors, published by the Thomas B. Jeffrey Company in the interest of Rambler owners and prospective buyers.

The story of the building of the Rambler, beginning with the making of the drop forgings in the drop forge shop and ending with the description of the finishing of Rambler bodies by the expert workmen, is told in detail.

There are letters from owners in all parts of the country, new ideas for dealers, suggestions for buyers and the book is replete with the finest half-tones printed on the best stock.

The Rambler Magazine is not for sale on news stands, but it will be sent free to anyone who makes request of The Thomas B. Jeffrey Co., Kenosha, Wisconsin.

At a mass meeting of the republicans of Mitchell county, Monday, August 1st, R. M. Webb was elected chairman and A. J. Payne, secretary. The following were elected delegates and alternates to the state republican convention at Dallas on August 9th: R. M. Webb, B. S. Van Tuyl, and A. J. Payne, with W. H. Merrell, Q. D. Hall and R. S. Brennand, as alternates. A full county ticket will in all probability be selected at a later date.

SINGING CONVENTION.

Mitchell County Singing Convention meets at Cuthbert the 5th and 6th of August. I urge that all classes send delegates that we may dispose of all business connected with this meeting.

The last meeting at Cuthbert was one of the best in the history of the convention, and I feel sure that this one will be just as good.

We hope to have singers of note from other counties, and make the day enjoyable and profitable to all.

A POINTER TO MR. COLQUITT.

Hon. Oscar Branch Colquitt who has been nominated for governor by an overwhelming plurality, has announced that he is going to serve as Railway Commissioner until January, or until he is inaugurated Governor of Texas.

No one can criticize his position in this determination. It is a well known fact that he and the present governor are not in accord and if Mr. Colquitt should resign as Railway Commissioner, it would devolve upon Governor Campbell to appoint Mr. Colquitt's successor, who would have two years to serve. This being true, Mr. Colquitt's feeling that Governor Campbell would not appoint a man in harmony with the incoming administration, has announced that he will appoint his successor.

In this decision Mr. Colquitt is above criticism and his action will be heartily approved by his friends.

The office of railway commissioner ranks in importance almost to that of governor, and in West Texas it is of supreme importance. This is true from the fact that in no section of the state is there the amount of railway building as in West Texas, and this is certain to be the case for some years to come. This being the case, it cannot be controverted, West Texas submits that she should be entitled to recognition on the Railway Commission.

Another reason that West Texas presents, is the fact that she has not had her share of state officials and a recognition by Governor O. B. Colquitt would be fully appreciated from this standpoint. The census returns that have been announced so far show that no section of the state is developing as rapidly, the increase in population in many West Texas counties being phenomenal. Notwithstanding the fact that West Texas was not in harmony with Mr. Colquitt's views on the submission question, this was waived by thousands of voters and they voted for him on account of his many campaigns and his strong fight for political peace and legislative rest, and to the surprise of the submission leaders of the state, West Texas, practically all of which is in the dry column, gave Mr. Colquitt a plurality of votes, and of this splendid vote it is hoped that Mr. Colquitt will take due recognition and appoint as his successor on the Railway Commission, a man of and for West Texas. The News has no name to suggest, but in case Mr. Colquitt should decide to recognize West Texas in this manner, there are many men in this section who would fill this important position with credit to Texas, and with pride to the distinguished official who is soon to be elevated to the highest position within the gift of the people of Texas.—Stamford News, July 29, 1910.

Dysentery is a dangerous disease, but can be cured. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has been successfully used in nine epidemics of dysentery. It has never been known to fail. It is equally valuable for children and adults, and when reduced with water and sweetened, it is pleasant to take. Sold by all druggists.

COMMENTS FROM AUSTIN.

Austin, Texas, August 4.—"The Fire Rating Insurance Board affords a splendid opportunity for the study of human nature," said a prominent railroad official in this city yesterday. "According to press reports, the insurance rates promulgated by the insurance companies would increase their revenues about $250,000 per annum and the multitude cried out against this law and behold! A special session of the legislature," continued the railroad man. "Now, while this law was being discussed in flaming headlines in the press of the State the Railroad commission reduced our rates on cotton, approximately $750,000 per annum and gave it to the Liverpool speculator, but has any one asked for a special session of the Legislature to give us relief? I am not complaining, just drawing parallels, as the railroads in Texas have long since learned to kiss the hand that smites them, but I am wondering how we are going to make extensions, improve our properties, buy new equipment, etc., and at the same time feed the British Lion a cool million dollars per annum."

Austin, Texas, Aug. 4.—"We are going to have some peace; a 'peace that passeth the imagination'" said Senator Perkins of the 5th Senatorial district who occasionally quotes scripture incorrectly. The Senator has the reputation of being the broadest man in the Legislature; in fact, he is as broad as he is long, and he is as long as the ordinary man. The Senator hails from the black land belt and has therefore, never enjoyed the confidence of the Governor. In fact the senator from McKinney is very circumspect in the selection of his associates and any man that can lay claim to his friendship has reached the top round of political circles at the State Capitol. Continuing the Senator said: "Now, that the smoke of battle has cleared away and the voters have signed a treaty of peace, I am expecting a short session of the 22nd legislature. During the present administration it seems to me the Legislature has been in session almost half the time and I, for one, don't believe you can legislate prosperity into people, and I suppose that is what we have been trying to do, although I am of course, not the official interpreter of the Acts of the Administration. It has been truly said 'Happy are the people whose annals are brief,' and I for one, am ready for happiness" said the jovial Senator from Collin with a smile. "Texas needs rest and I am glad we are going to get it."

Austin, Texas, August 4.—"The election returns show that Campbellism has been repudiated in Texas," said a prominent citizen of Austin and a close student of public affairs. Mr. Smith was chief clerk in the Comptroller's office for a number of years and is one of the best authorities on taxation in Texas. While in that official capacity, he furnished the Governor information that enabled the administration to frame up a tax system that would bite like a serpent and sting like an adder. Mr. Smith said: "The fact of the matter is, the people of Texas are tired of so-called reformers. We want developers. We can pass special tax laws that will make the entire burdens of government rest on any one line of industry and permit others to escape, and we can confiscate property through regulation and the beneficiaries of these legal gifts may temporarily applaud, though there has been a death-like silence throughout the entire audience during the present administration. The best that can be said of the Campbell system of laws is that they swap dollars between lines of industry. They create nothing. And this, too, in the face of an empire of idle acres, a burning necessity for factories, mines and railroads. This is the time and the place for constructive statesmanship and I believe we are going to get it."

Austin, Texas, August 4.—"Defeat appears to take the patriotism out of some men" said Captain Kellie of the 14th Senatorial District as he examined a roster of members of the Legislature, and found many of those who were left at the polls absent from their desks. "I served four years in the Confederate Army," said the old war horse, "and defeat don't discourage me." The Senator led the insurgent forces in the upper house during the four years of Campbell unpopularity and routed the Governor in many a hard fought battle. The Senator also has the enviable reputation of having voted against every radical measure introduced in the Legislature during his term of office, and like the evil spirits in the days of Mary Magdalene—they are legion, Senator Kellie's views on prohibition did not harmonize with those of the majority of the voters of the district and he was defeated in the race for re-election.

"I am as proud of my record in the Senate as I am of my record in the army," continued the grizzled veteran, as he unfolded a tattered flag from his desk which he has carried through many a bloody battle, "and the voters of my district can shoot me as full of holes as the Yankees did this flag, and still I will serve them to the best of my ability. But, thank the Lord, the sovereign voters of Texas have declared for peace, and I guess, after all, I am a man of war and can best serve my country in the ranks while the dove of peace hovers over the Capitol," said the soldier, statesman from Jasper.

Houston, Texas, August 4.—"I presume Absalom was perhaps the most artful demagogue the world has ever produced," said the pastor of one of the leading churches. "Absalom stood at the king's gate sowing seeds of insurrection and built up a strong following and human nature is the same today as when King David sat on the throne in Jerusalem," continued this noted divine, "but ever since the days of Haman, the demagogue has invariably hung upon his own gallows and the election returns now show him dangling from the forks of a tree slain by the valiant voters of Texas."

Austin, Texas, August 4.—"The battle of the ballots is over and the dove of peace hovers around the Capitol. The voters of Texas have declared for legislative peace and rest and the plow and the hammer are to be given full sway in Texas during the next four years. The solons have caught the inspiration and the second week of the session finds them working like trojans to make their final getaway at the close of the present session, provided no further subjects are submitted for legislative action. During the past week, the Governor has sent in four messages to the Legislature; legislation seeking to improve the methods of accounting in the comptroller's office and that of Tax Assessors have been suggested; a negotiable Bill of Lading has been recommended and the retiring of matured bonds has been proposed.

The Fire Rating Insurance matter is receiving first attention, and this week will be spent in hearings. The present law will undoubtedly be repealed and a substitute take its place. Quite a number of bills have been introduced and the general trend of them all is to give the Fire Rating Board plenary power to fix the maximum rates. The purpose of these measures is to equalize rates between towns and between risks within the towns, but they open up a wide field of litigation, as it gives the insurance companies the right to contest in the courts the reasonableness of rates, and it is questionable whether the insurance companies can be forced to write risks which are not satisfactory to them. However, like all economic problems, there are two sides to the question and every American citizen has the prerogative of taking his choice, but those who care to express their opinion on this subject should do so now, or forever hold their peace.

Second in importance to the Fire Rating Insurance matter stands the proposed Bill of Lading Act. Recent frauds in cotton have caused European bankers to refuse to advance money on American bills of lading unless they have the cotton behind them, and the act seeks to make the carrier responsible for goods called for on the bill of lading.

The investigating craze took possession of the house during the early part of the week and a resolution was passed investigating everything and everybody connected with the recent election, but in crossing the hall, the movement showed signs of fatigue, as the Senators merely gaped in amazement at the sky rocket sent up by the house and so far have not concurred. It will be recalled that a considerable portion of the time of both house and senate was taken up last session in investigations and the senate appears to have had enough for the present.

The aftermath of the family row between the Governor and Commissioner of Banking and Insurance was aired in the Senate last week, when the Governor sent a report of the controvery to the senate without recommendations: It will be recalled that the administration forces quarrelled and fought themselves into silence over this matter only a few weeks ago and now both the Governor and the Commissioner are seeking vindication at the hands of the senate. The Senate is considering the subject behind closed doors and no decision has been announced.

It is reported that the Governor will submit the report of the Penitentiary Committee to this session of the Legislature and ask for advisable reforms in our penitentiary system. The subject of a Constitutional Convention to give the state prohibition is also freely rumored but lacks confirmation from reliable sources.

The Texas Newspapers

The dissemination of information has largely to do with the prosperity and development of a country. In no country on the globe does Nature possess such astounding possibilities and reveal them in such rapid and cumulative order as in Texas, making an imperative necessity for newspapers in the home of every farmer who desires to profit by the gifts of Nature and the experience of his neighbors.

There are 950 publications in Texas, of which 89 are dailies, 768 weeklies, and the remainder are issued at regular intervals. The total listed circulation of all papers in Texas is 3,170,515 copies, an average of four papers for each family in the State. In the number of papers published within the State we rank sixth in the Union; Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Iowa and Missouri leading in the order named. The Federal Government census for 1905 reports capital invested in printing and publishing in Texas of $6,074,319, a pay roll of $2,063,935 per annum, and the annual output is valued at $7,782,247. Among the industries of the State it ranks sixth in capital invested, fifth in pay rolls and sixth in the value of products. One issue of all the papers in Texas approximates one copy per capita, and making the comparison from a population basis we lead all States in the Union in the number of periodicals issued and the number of copies printed.

Circulation 3,170,515.

Texas stands first in intelligence, first in progress and first in industrial opportunities of all the States in the Union, says the Texas Commercial Secretaries' Association.

The newspaper is the channel of communication between the producer and consumer; brings the city to the farm and the farm to the city; gives information of the markets and of the development of the country; carries warnings of impending danger and gives the farmer the advantage of the experience of all his neighbors and informs him of the general condition of affairs so essential to his success. The improvement of our public highways and the establishment of rural free delivery routes have extended the zone of circulation of the press to the remotest sections of the State, and leading the papers is as much a part of the work of the Texas farmer as raising his stock.

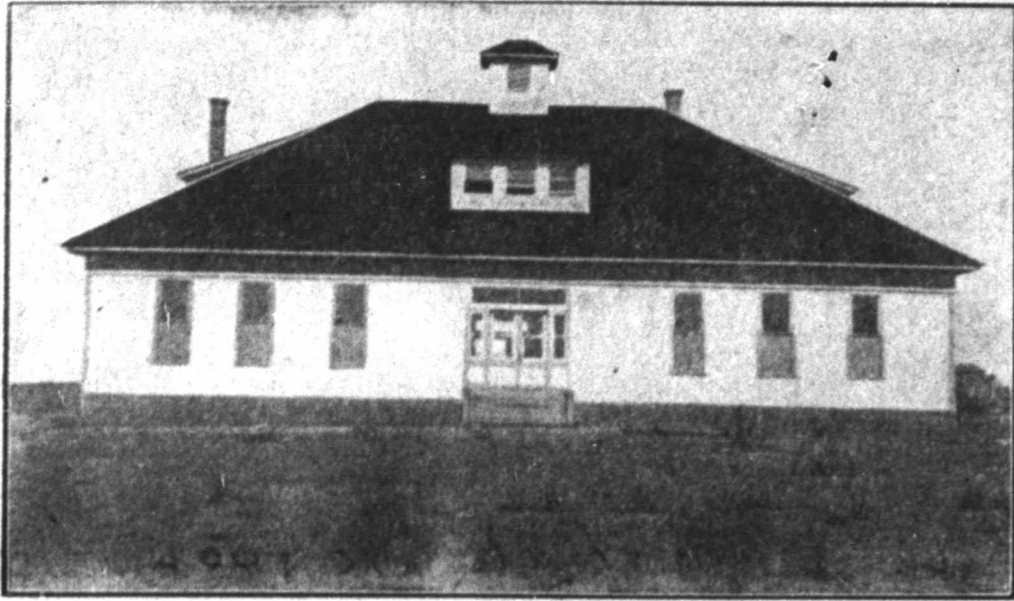

Four Papers Per Family.

The ability of a farmer can be as easily judged by the literature he reads as by the crops he harvests. The printing press is the industrial educator of the age.

DUNN PUBLIC SCHOOL.
Issues New Catalogue and Prepares for a Fine School for Session of 1910-11.
 We have just issued the new catalogue for the Dunn School, which speaks well for that community. The board of directors are as follows: J. C. Beakley, President; G. N. Richardson, Secretary; W. A. Johnston, John Head, J. D. Farrar, N. H. Durham and Taylor Cotton. They have a magnificent building as shown here.

The faculty is the best and are so popular and well liked that they are employed from year to year, and is composed as follows:
 The opening announcement is made by Prof. Howell as follows:
 By maintaining a strictly High School standard the aim of the school is to take its place among the first Public Schools of the land, to give to young men and women who find it impossible to pursue their education beyond the high school course, that preparation and training which will enable them to take hold of life's work at some definite point and express their aims and purposes in terms of actual accomplishment, and to prepare their students, who mean to continue their education in the higher in-young men and young women of ordinary ability, who, by thorough preparation and persistent effort raise themselves to positions of broadest influence and greatest usefulness to their generation.

 It is a part of the aim of the Dunn school to use its influence and to make every possible effort to increase this number of young people who help to make the age in which they live and whose examples and influence add something to the merits of the age.

All educators and others who think on the subject agree that young men and young women, whether they mean to enter college, the normal school, the business school, or go directly into practical life need, first, the training in organized and definitely directed thinking, by the teacher in charge.
 Parents, see that your children enter at the beginning and attend regularly. No pupil should fall to be at every recitation of his class; one-half hour late each day for a school year, means about one month of lost time, regardless of the inconvenience to the teacher and loss of interest to the pupil.
 Those who are in charge of your complaints to make, do not let it be known to your children. Complain to those in charge.

 Do not ask to have your children recite to a particular teacher, sit in a special room, or receive any privileges, not in accordance with the general government of the schools.
 Do not encourage parties, socials or gatherings of any kind that would distract the attention of the students from their studies.
 Pupils who reach the top, are those who are in their proper places before the time for school work.

No school in the West throws around its students a better moral influence.
 The citizens of Dunn can boast of living in a town where there are no saloons.
 We believe that the best government is self-government; therefore, we shall constantly cultivate and make use of the highest public sentiment among the students. We believe that the development of a strong self-reliant character is the most important duty of the school, and our efforts will be toward teaching the student self-direction rather than toward the use of absolutism. Yet, when the use of authority is necessary, it will be used with decision and firmness.

 Committee.
 Upon motion being made and duly seconded the above report was adopted.
 The following resolution was offered by P. C. Coleman, which, upon motion of C. H. Earnest and second by W. M. Green, was adopted:
 "Resolved, by this convention that the absolute obedience of instruction by the people by those holding their offices is indispensable to the integrity of representative government.
 We regard it as a wholesome text for civil instruction and as a touchstone by which to test the service of those we trust; and we declare that those who accept the people's offices and refuse to obey their instructions are embezzlers of power."
 After motions made, seconded and carried, the following named persons were appointed to the respective Conventions:
 State:—W. R. Smith, C. H. Earnest, P. C. Coleman, and J. R. Hall.
 Congressional:—R. H. Looney, C. M. Adams, J. A. Buchanan, and Ben Plaster.

 The health of our community is very good at present and the weather very hot and dry.
 The big protracted meeting that has been going on at this place, closed last Sunday night and there were about a dozen additions to the church and about that many conversions, and the church greatly revived. There was a great multitude gathered around Brother Joice's tank Sunday evening where they attended to the ordinance of baptism, there being seven baptized, Brother A. D. Leach officiating.
 Mrs. J. S. Barber is in Colorado this week visiting relatives.
 Mrs. Spencer was in our community last week visiting relatives.
 Miss Pare is in this community visiting relatives, the family of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Hargroves.
 Mr. Wilds and Mr. Joe Earnest were visiting relatives here last week, the guest of the family of J. D. Faulkner.

PIONEERING IN WEST TEXAS

By E. D. SKINNER.

I left McLennan County in the early part of 1904, headed westward with no particular destination, but with a general idea that I was looking for good cheap land that would some day be valuable, and that this would be found on the plains. I found a great deal of good land and cheap land before reaching the plains, but the one thing that did not appeal to me was lack of good water. I knew there was an abundance of good water on the plains, and with me good water atones for a multitude of bad features and I had expected to find many bad things that did not exist on the plains.

After prospecting through some twelve or fifteen counties on the plains I landed in Lynn county April 2nd with my wife, three boys, a span of mules and a wagon, two ponies, a limited amount of household goods and not much money. We first stopped at Tahoka, moving into the only empty house in town at that time. Lynn county had been organized but a short time and Tahoka, the county seat, consisted of a total of fourteen residences and business houses, and there were less than seventy-five voters in the county. It was strictly a ranching country and the prairies were covered with cattle, horses and antelope, and practically all the land was owned or leased to the cattle men at 3 to 5 cents per acre, the lease being based on a valuation of $1 to $2 per acre. The cattlemen were having what they considered a most outrageous time of it. They felt that the state was not dealing right with them. In the first place, they did not consider the land worth the valuation placed on it, and in the second place, they were being terribly pestered by bonus hunters and bounty jumpers, and in some instances by actual settlers. A great many people would drop into a cowman's pasture and file on four sections of land the sole purpose being to make the cowman pay a bonus to move on, while many people looking for land with good intentions and to make actual settlement upon it, were classed with the bonus hunters.

I spent thirty days prospecting over the county and finally closed a deal for three and a half sections of school land, paying a bonus for it and assuming an indebtedness of $2 per acre due the state. About the only farms in the county at that time were cowboy farms, the improvements consisting of a well, possibly a windmill, a one or two room shack or a dug-out, and possibly a few acres scratched in for milo maize, sorghum or Kaffir corn. The place I purchased was about the most pretentious farm in Lynn county at that time. The improvements consisted of sixteen acres of plowed land, a 14x16 one-room shanty and a two-wire fence around the field, and the balance of my purchase was embraced in a 100-section pasture, and was leased to the cowman for two years at 4 cents per acre.

We were eight miles from town, two miles from the nearest neighbor and six miles to the second; eight miles to a school, not a church in the county, and eighty miles to the nearest railroad town. We were up against the real thing in the matter of pioneering, and many times we would be at home for two or three weeks and see not a soul but our own little family, and I can truly say that the good women are the ones to be pitied in the stories and actual experiences of pioneering; for wife was the one that spent most of her time alone, and how sad and lonesome she has been for hours, no one will ever know, for she would never tell. It was mother that encouraged and cheered us. It was mother's fortitude that won the fight, for if she had given way and lamented the miserable lot we would have doubtless pulled out. Often I would think of my boys that should be in school and of the gloomy prospects before me, and I would get awfully discouraged. Not only did we have these isolated social features and gloomy prospects to chill us, but it was an awful dry spring. There was no green grass, and prospects were that not a single thing would be raised that year. Not a drop of rain fell until June 25th, and then came a flood. The ground was soaked, the lakes filled, thousands of prairie dogs were drowned, the water flowing into their burrows, and hundreds of poor cattle, especially calves, were drowned or chilled to death by the rain. Naturally this rain filled us with enthusiasm and the boys and I decided to get busy farming right.

Previous to the rain I had planted the sixteen acres of old land in maize and sorghum, but it was a doleful prospect. Up to that time I had been unable to buy, borrow or in any way procure a turning plow in Lynn county, and after the rain the best I could do was to buy a twelve-inch lister or middle buster, and with three mules hitched to this, July 4th, I went into a big pasture and began listing fifty acres, and this fifty acres were planted in Kaffir corn, maize and sorghum, the grains being dropped in the bottom of the lister furrow, planted and covered with a one horse cotton planter. This crop received not another particle of cultivation, but received three good rains and a few light showers. From the sixty-six acres we harvested more than 100 tons of feed, worth more than $1,000. I knew then, and have since multiplied this knowledge, that this was no way to farm, and I doubt if it would have in any degree proven a success in any other country.

During that year there was considerable cotton planted in Lynn county, and it produced beyond the expectations of those planting it. One of these farmers, I remember, was S. W. Myre, who had purchased a 160-acre tract of one-dollar per acre land. He was the first man to drive into the town of Tahoka with a bale of seed cotton, or any other kind. On this cotton he was given a premium of $8 or $9. He then cheerfully drove to Snyder, in Scurry county, a distance of seventy miles, and had his cotton ginned. Mr. Myre's farming operations for that year covered three acres of land, which he planted in cotton and watermelons. The cotton netted him $90 and the melons $70. This was a test crop, but one upon which one of the biggest and finest farms in this part of the country was founded.

My first year's experience on the plains, like that of the few neighbors scattered over the county, was begun with a wild throw and discouragement, but ended with good luck and lots of experience, and it may not be too great a digression to here enumerate just a few of those experiences.

The cotton planter we used was borrowed from a neighbor who lived thirty two miles away. Ill luck befell us and we broke the planter. We then went eight miles to a blacksmith shop to get the planter fixed, used it three days and took it home, having traveled a total distance of eighty miles just to borrow, get fixed and return a planter that we actually used three days.

Soon after we located on the farm, wife and I decided that we must have some chickens, so we jogged over to a neighbor's, thirty-five miles away, and by pathetic persuasion induced the neighbor to sell us half a dozen chickens, having traveled seventy-five miles and paid a very fancy price for some very common chickens.

When I saw that we were going to make plenty of feed I began casting about for some hogs. I finally located one thirty miles away. After the hog I went. I bought him for 6 cents per pound gross, and got home after dark, feeling lucky over my day's trip and transaction.

These things I merely mention to show you what we were up against in the beginning, and in the next article I will deal with our actual experiences in real farming in this country, enumerating a few of the things we have done, and how we did them; some of the things we should have done but didn't do; what we know and what we don't know.

LORAINÉ LETTER

LORAINÉ LETTER.

J. W. Neil of the agricultural department of Texas, made a very interesting and instructive talk to a goodly number of our citizens last Friday afternoon. We regret that Mr. Neil's date had not been advertised, and more generally known, so that our farmers could have come in and heard the lecture. Mr. J. J. Coull accompanied Mr. Neil, and gave his experience in farming according to the new idea, in comparison to his neighbor's in the old "slip shod" way. The man with the common sense idea, which is another name for scientific farming, came out ahead in every instance. After the lecture a Farmers' Institute was organized with A. M. Jackson, president and T. N. Duncan, secretary. The date of meeting was fixed for every first Saturday evening in each month. From time to time the state will send out bulletins of the experimental stations gratuitously to anyone desiring them.

S. F. Mann and wife, of Seminole, are here visiting their daughter, Mrs. Eugene Smiley.

R. L. Meeks of Lamesa is transacting business in our town this week. Mrs. Holloway and children, after a pleasant visit with her sister, Mrs. H. M. Perry, returned to her home in Corsicana last week.

W. L. Edmonson and W. A. Adams went to Roscoe Tuesday on business.

C. M. Thompson returned last Sunday from a trip to Dallas, and Ellis counties. Mr. Thompson says he found the crops somewhat spotted, and says the Loraine country still leads in crop prospects.

Dr. Copeland and family are enroute from Seminole to Loraine. They moved from here to Gaines county last spring for the purpose of improving their land, but will now, so we are told, take up the practice of medicine again.

Miss Annie Mae Wallis will return home this week from Chicago, where she has been attending the Chicago University.

Mrs. Willis Wallace of Colorado, and Miss Kincaid of Eagle Pass, were guests of Mrs. W. T. Pridgen Monday.

Miss Ethel Boudack of Snyder, is visiting Miss Jaunita Adams.

Mrs. Walden of Audrey, is visiting the family of I. R. Wallis. Mr. Walden is a cousin of Mr. Wallis and this is their first meeting in many long years.

Miss Ethel Thomas returned home last week from Comanche, where she has been teaching a class in music.

Mack Smiley who is for the present living in Roscoe, spent Tuesday in Loraine.

J. H. Hudgins who has a claim at Encino, N. M., returned from that place last Saturday, by way of Amarillo, and reports the condition in the west of very "shaky." The supply of artesian water in the Roswell country is said to be diminishing. Crops in the panhandle very spotted. He said a good rain had fallen at his place, but New Mexico was generally dry and cropless.

Mrs. O. C. Welborne and children went to Abilene Monday for a visit to her parents.

Miss Emma Parker from Roscoe, spent several days in Loraine the past week.

Miss Cora Seymour of Hamilton is stopping in Loraine to visit her uncle and family, Mr. Edward Seymour, and her cousin, George Seymour and family. After a visit here she will go to Hope, N. M., for a visit to her parents.

Mrs. Standifer returned to Snyder Sunday after a visit to her sister, Mrs. M. D. Cranfill.

Mrs. T. J. Matthews and daughter, Mrs. J. R. Sims and Miss Laurence Matthews, came in Sunday morning from Georgia where they have been visiting relatives and friends for several weeks. They report a delightful visit.

Mrs. J. R. Collier of Colorado, was a Loraine visitor Sunday, the guest of her father, J. G. Holmes.

Mrs. Peters of Valley Mills, is visiting her brother, J. H. Gregg.

Prof. J. C. Helm and wife, after several weeks visit to Southern Texas, including San Antonio, Austin, and other points, came in last Friday morning, having greatly enjoyed this much needed rest and recreation. The arduous work of teaching through the winter and then through a summer normal is a severe tax upon anyone.

Dr. Henthorne returned Tuesday morning from the Mayors' convention at Tyler, where he was honored by being made second vice president. The Doctor returned by way of Brownwood and then on to San Angelo. He reports crops seen in his travels as good, sorry to nothing.

Some improvements are still going on in our town, notwithstanding the dry times. Dr. Martin has erected a business house which will be occupied by Harry Hall as a barber shop. Mr. Hall will put in all up-to-date barber furnishings, and will be pleased to attend the wants of his friends.

Dr. Shook had his ankle injured some two weeks ago by a horse striking him with his foot. His injuries have proven to be more serious than it was at first thought, as he is as yet practically unable to get about.

Miss Ruth Elliott, after a pleasant visit of a couple of weeks with Miss Ruth McRae, went to Sweetwater Monday, where she will visit relatives and friends before returning to her home in Lubbock.

Miss Gilbert Cone of Austin, is visiting her sister, Mrs. D. C. McRae. Mr. and Mrs. F. Johnigan and children and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zellner, left Monday morning for a few days outing on the cool Colorado.

The Baptist revival is still in progress. The services are well attended, both morning and night. There have already been a number of conversions, and great interest is being manifested.

There is an evil in our land that has been winked at from time immemorial—and that is, that it is not any harm to deplete upon another's premises and take therefrom melons, fruits, chickens, etc., and in many instances not content with satisfying their hunger, but wantonly and maliciously destroying such properties. These misdoings are frequently winked at with the excuse that "boys will be boys" but we must dissent from the idea that a boy must be a "devil of a boy." There has been general complaint in our surrounding country and in town of depredations of the above character, hence these lines.

Cottolene is a clean product. Its source is clean—it contains no hog fat. Its manner of marketing is clean—it comes only in air-tight tin pails. Compare these conditions with those surrounding lard. Lard is made from hog fat—often impure and always indigestible. Most lard is sold in bulk—exposed to dust and disagreeable and contaminating odors.

If purity, healthfulness, cleanliness and economy appeal to you, insist upon having Cottolene.

COLORADO, TEXAS, FRIDAY, AUGUST 5, 1910

The rain is not mist in West Texas.

Plainview, Texas, suffered a $35,000 fire loss Sunday night.

The paramount question—when is it going to rain? Echo answers WHEN?

We are not measured so much by what we do, as by what we do not do.

The statute of General Robt. E. Lee stays in statutory hall, in the capitol, at Washington. The attorney general says it must stay.

The latest developments in the alleged race riot in Anderson county, are to the effect that it was altogether a one-sided affair, no white man being even injured.

John G. Carlisle, who was secretary of the treasury under Cleveland, and a lawyer of national prominence, died at his home in New York City Sunday night of heart failure.

When the temperance question went into politics, the shame of drunkenness was lifted from the shoulders of the weak and erring individual, and placed on the public policy that licenses the traffic in drink.

Poin Dexter and Colquitt have filed their schedule of expenses in the recent campaign for governor. Poin Dexter's expenses were $15,000 and Colquitt's something more than $11,000.

In England the boy is the most important member of the household, while in the United States, it is the daughter who holds first place. And why not? The measure of a country's civilization is that of the esteem in which its women are held. If we have good women, we are sure to have good men.

When the immortal David Crockett enunciated that best-remembered of his sayings, "Be sure you are right and then go ahead," he little suspected that he was furnishing a lot of people a fine excuse for being almighty slow. Many in apparent need of his admonition, spend so much time trying to be sure they're right, they never find time to "go ahead."

The sporting sharps are having a hard time explaining to their dupes why they put up such an absolutely dead 'un as Jeffreys. They are trying to explain that the rarified air upset him; that he was attacked by a sudden disorder, and so on. No one knows half so well as they how insufficient such vaporings are. Jeffreys had simply burned himself out by dissipation, and could not have put up a good fight with an able-bodied farm hand. The sporting gang didn't know, however, the extent that dissipation had ravaged Jeffreys' system, and were unprepared for the ridiculous and sorry figure he cut. Like every other cracked pitcher, he went to the fountain just one time too many.

The Saint Louis scheme for bringing the people back to the "glebe," is attracting a deal of attention from those who are interested in the problem. It is proposed to operate on a large scale by taking up tracts of cheap Missouri land, each of which tract will be divided into thirty-two forty-acre farms, grouped around a central 160-acre farm. This central farm will be in charge of experts and fully equipped with the latest and best machinery and appliances. It will also have heavy machinery for the use of the smaller farms of the group. The settlers on the 40-acre tracts will get the land and necessary equipment for the first year without cost, and after that will make annual payments until the debt is discharged.

The willingness of the band boys to give an open air concert every Friday night at the court house park, has not been met with that appreciative response their accommodation deserves. They have worked hard and faithfully the past year and have done more than well, having given to one of the most promising band organizations on the T. & P. road. They could play just as well anywhere else than the park, with as much profit to themselves. Their efforts and willingness to furnish an hour or two of entertainment to the public should be met by a more appreciative spirit and larger presence at their concerts.

"Don't chase will-o-the-wisps." If you are going to advertise, advertise something along the line of man's wants, the world wants; the world is full of wants. We all want sleep; we all want pleasure; we all want diversion; and all of us that are sick want to get well. All of these suggest certain useful lines of advertising work. Gentlemen use your talents along these lines if you have them. All the world wants to get rich; so it is perfectly legitimate to advertise irrigation schemes, gold mines and industrial and anything else that you thoroughly believe in yourself; but I say to you that if you know a thing to be fraudulent, and you use your talent to get people to part with their money innocently, you are just a common scoundrel, and the world has no use for you.—Modern Methods.

What is the use of this "going a beggar and catching a louse" play by the governor and the legislature? Investigation has come to mean whitewash, and the people whose money pays the freight, have come to believe that there is never an investigation, if the ring thinks there is the least chance of finding anything "dead up the creek."

The El Paso Herald rejoices in the fact that things are no worse than what they are. While there is no suspicion of moisture in the Rio Grande river, the El Pasoans are thankful that the wind has so far left them the bed of that mighty stream.

Dr. Crippen, in common with all who have done things they wish to outrun, doubtless finds that this old world is a very small place. Outrage law, morals or public decency and try to outrun the knowledge of the act; you'll find it sitting on a fence waiting for you.

Spain is now passing through the ecclesiastical evolution Germany and France experienced years ago. Don Jamie, the Carlist pretender to the Spanish throne, is threatening to take advantage of the strained relations between the Spanish cabinet and the Vatican, and lead a revolt by the Catholics and Socialists. But the liberal press of Spain and every patriotic citizen have rallied to the support of the young king and his ministry and defied the revolutionary horde to do its worst.

There can not be devised any political system by which the people will be relieved of the necessity of trusting somebody. They must have agents, delegates, representatives and leaders. A hundred thousand people cannot attend to their public service for themselves. Four million, or a hundred million, as for that, would find the impossibility rendered even more desperate. The people must choose men to represent them in making laws, in declaring laws and in enforcing laws. They cannot perform these services for themselves. If they will select the right sort of men to act for them and then back up good, faithful service the problem of free government will have been solved.—Dallas News.

Clarence Pritchett, who has been sojourning at the windy municipality of Amarillo for the past several months, returned to Colorado last week.

Just now is the time to make investments in land in West Texas. Land can never be bought as cheaply again as now. No sensible person will attempt to deny the fact that the past two years have been unusually dry. It is also a fact that no prophecy of the future can be made from the history of the past as regards the weather, yet it is a fact, which is born out by all who have been here for the past thirty years that three successive dry years have never occurred in this section, during that length of time. The experience of the past encourages us to hope that next year the lane will come to the turning. For the man who has enough to live on for a year or two, the present time is an opportunity that will never recur. Granting that similar periods of drouth will come, the country will by that time be more densely populated than now, and land will not be so easily obtained. During periods of drouth, is the most inopportune and unpropitious time for the farmer to move. Running away from dry conditions has ever been a losing race. The men in all countries who have uniformly won out, are those who have "stayed by the stuff," and taken the good with the bad. Don't go away yet; the probabilities are that in less than one year you will be headed this way again, and you will find good farming land harder to secure than now.

The grand jury of Anderson county will thoroughly investigate the killing of the negroes at Slocum.

Davidson's expense bill as filed, aggregates $10,411, the smallest of all the four candidates. What in the name of Croesus, would any sane man want with the trouble of the governor's office, if he had $10,000. We give it up.

THE CLOUD AS A MAN'S HAND.

We are forced to admit it. For some unaccountable reason the meteorological expert of the Record force has lost his cunning or his worm-gourd. The signs and the symptoms have become so inextricably mixed the past two or three months, that he has been unable to presage even a dry spell or sand storm. Some pretender has evidently been monkeying with the "Sacred Book of the Zodiac," and the whole fabric of the science of divination has fallen into a helpless jactant of confusion. However, Professor Foster has plucked up enough spirit to attempt the straightening out of the matter, and has predicted a change for the better during the first ten days of August. He says the rains are coming from the Pacific coast and have now passed the Rocky mountain range without exhausting themselves; and that the high plateaus of West Texas and the Panhandle will experience a decided fall of temperature, and be blessed with abundant rains. Reports are to the effect that this prediction is given color by the rains this week in the Panhandle section. Added to this is the fact that for the past two days, there has been more encouraging evidence and promise of rain than for the past two months. A light shower Wednesday morning followed a few hours later by another, justifies the prediction of Professor Foster and raised the spirit of hope several degrees in the breasts of the people of Colorado and Mitchell county.

If it were possible to ascend to such a height as to be out of danger from the explosions, rocks, flying fragments, bits of human anatomy, and other whirling missiles, we should like to witness the results of the running of this old world by a few soreheads and never-have-beens. We should like to see the whole works turned over to them and all the air brakes taken off. We have in mind just now, one particularly bright citizen, who not only is fully competent to stay on the job, but is hankering for the chance.

A BOOM THAT NEVER BOOMED.

Soon after the Texas & Pacific railway reached Colorado, the seven Wells south of town were exploited as possessing great curative qualities, and a townsite was laid out, pending the growth of the surrounding country. Many believed that these wells would rival those of Palo Pinto county, and in time become a mecca for the lame, halt, decrepit from various ailments. But so far, the boom has not materialized, yet there is no doubt that an attractive resort for both pleasure and health could be maintained at Seven Wells, even without a railroad nearer than Colorado. Wherever in this western part of the state there is an abundance of water, there can be built a prosperous settlement.

"AUTOMOBILE CRAZE" CAUSING BANKRUPTCY.

Bankers Intervene to Save Clients—Cautious in Discounting Notes For Autos.

White Plains, N. Y., July 23.—The Westchester County Bankers Association believes that the people of the United States are "automobile crazy" and that the bankers of the country ought to intervene to save their clients from madness.

At their annual convention held here this week, the association passed resolutions asking its members to scrutinize carefully the applications of those who want to borrow money on notes for the purpose of purchasing automobiles. The banks are to use extreme caution in discounting such paper.

The bankers declared that hundreds of persons have put themselves in peril of bankruptcy during the past six months by mortgaging their homes or hypothecating valuable securities to buy automobiles.

We have been informed by a traveling salesman for a rubber tire manufactory, that in one of the counties west of here, the banks have loaned money to the limit allowed by the federal banking laws, to people of that county, with which to buy automobiles. He also said that not twenty people who had bought them were able to more than keep up the necessary repairs. In this country, an automobile three years old, in the public service, or used to the same extent by a private owner, is practically on the scrap dump. In many places it is well nigh impossible for a business or successful farmer to secure a loan from a bank, by reason of the fact that the institution has reached its limit in the loan line, the bulk of which has gone to buy automobiles.

Not a few instances can be cited where people in moderate circumstances, owning a good home and earning a comfortable salary, have caught the auto speed craze, have sold home, secured a mortgage machine, and in a few months have lost home, machine, position and in some instances, the poor fool has lost the still greater fool of a wife, whose ambition to do a "little breshing by" has sacrificed the three greatest assets a man can own a home, a job and a good credit.

"The Double Minded Man Is Unstable In All His Ways."

It's a gambler's chance that plays both ends against the middle, and he who does it, ever gets caught in the light of the rope. Parties in quarters are in the nature of things, forced to compare cards at some stage of the misunderstanding, and so he's bound to be squeezed between the very millstones of trouble he creates.

No man can be two-faced unless he has one false face. He must unmask in time. He can no more escape detection than he can send his shadow on a vacation. His day of settlement inevitably arrives; he may postpone it but only by paying usurious interest for the extension—the more he borrows, the less mercy he is shown.

When all's said and done, the thing that really starts him wrong is his supreme egotism. He overrates his shrewdness, and underestimates the common sense of the rest of us. He's just a plain, dumb fool, who thinks he can make a dunce out of Fate. He's betting that human nature is wrong, and that he can't lose. He persuades himself that he can make mischief and make good at the same time.

He loses sight of the risk he assumes. He belongs to the same class of softheads as the professional thief, the chronic bigamist, and the perennial lunatic who dreams that he can go over Niagara Falls safely in a beer keg.

Watch out for him. He's infected with folly, and his malady is as infectious as bad manners. Unless you're vaccinated with caution, he'll involve you in trouble.

He can't persist and survive; he's sure to be convicted under the Law of Compensation—it operates by gravity. It's the one thing that preserves the eternal balance; it's the force that keeps society adjusted and makes right such a tremendously important thing. He can not be true to any man because he is not true to himself. He can't keep on, because he can't keep faith.

He thinks he is all the while polite, when he is only patient. He fails to know that the first rudiments of good politics is to play the game straight with one side—to make good with one party—to inspire confidence and maintain it—to stand by his word so staunchly that a government bond is by contrast a doubtful investment.

FAIR EXCHANGE.

A New Back for an Old One—How It Can Be Done in Colorado.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Colorado residents would do well to profit by the following example:

S. P. Dalley, Big Springs, Texas, says: "About two years ago the contents of two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me of a severe case of rheumatism. Last winter when I began to suffer from attacks of backache and a dull soreness across my kidneys, I at once thought of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a supply. After using them a short time, the pain in my back disappeared and it has not returned since. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to several of my neighbors and shall continue to do so."

Home Course In Live Stock Farming

X.—Handling Dairy Products.

By C. V. GREGORY.

Author of "Home Course in Modern Agriculture," "Making Money on the Farm," Etc.

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association

THE importance of cleanliness in milking was mentioned in the preceding article. In addition to taking care that no dust or dirt falls into the milk, it should not be allowed to stand in the stable any length of time after milking. Milk absorbs odors rapidly, and butter that is "off flavor" is the result.

The milk room may be in connection with the barn or at the well. The latter, if not too far from the barn, is the best place. If the milk room is at the barn it should be separated from it by a tight passageway, with a door at each end to exclude all odors. The milk room should have windows enough to provide plenty of light and ventilation. The floor should be of smooth cement. If the walls are of the same material or of brick coated with cement they can be more easily kept clean than if they are made of wood. The floor should be scrubbed often enough to keep it perfectly clean, and the tank should be cleaned out frequently.

Use of the Hand Separator.

Within the last few years the hand separator has come into general use on farms where six or more cows are kept doing away with the old gravity system of raising cream. With the separator all the cream can be removed, which is impossible by any other method. The skim milk can be fed to the calves warm and sweet, which is a great advantage. There is less fat in the skim milk, but this element can be supplied to the calves a good deal more cheaply by flaxseed than by butter. There may be much less space in the milk tank, as only the cream will need to be kept there. Where a creamery is patronized a great deal of work is saved by having only the cream to haul.

In selecting a separator the most important point to look to is the ease of cleaning. There is a great deal of difference in separators in this respect. Some are so complicated that it is almost impossible to wash all parts thoroughly, while others can be so completely taken apart that washing is an easy task. It is not the number of parts to a bowl that makes a separator difficult to keep clean, but the ease with which all these parts may be separated, so that they may be reached with a brush.

Some of the other points to consider are convenience, capacity and durability. The capacity will depend largely upon the number of cows kept. It is always better to get a machine too large than too small. The latest models of nearly all makes of separators are made so that the top of the supply tank is little more than waist high. No other kind should be bought. It is a useless waste of energy to lift heavy cans of milk five or six feet high every night and morning. With these low built makes the skim milk and cream cans may be placed on the floor, so that they will require little lifting.

The Importance of Cleanliness.

Serious objection has been made to the cream separator on the ground that it lowers the quality of the cream and butter. In many cases there is ground for this complaint. Unless absolute cleanliness is the rule the cream is liable to be of poor quality. The milk and slime in the bowl are the best of food for injurious bacteria, and these multiply rapidly when the separator is not kept clean. Never rinse the bowl with cold water and leave it until the next milking. It cannot be thoroughly cleaned in this way. In cold weather a rinsing with cold water, followed by half a gallon or more of hot water, will do at night. At least once a day in winter and every time the machine is used in summer the bowl should be taken apart, washed well and thoroughly scalded. Be sure to remove every particle of grease and dirt. Use a brush, never a rag. A rag is difficult to keep clean and often forms a home for bacteria. The so-called "dish rag flavor" is often found in butter, due to the use of a rag in washing the separator. Neither should a rag be used to dry the bowl or other tinware. In starting to wash the separator and other milk dishes cold water should be used first to remove the milk, as hot water scalds the enamel and makes it difficult to remove. This rinsing should be followed by a thorough washing with hot water and a final rinsing with boiling water. If the dishes are then set on the back of the stove they will dry quickly without rusting.

Handling the Cream.

As soon as the cream is separated it should be cooled down to about 50 degrees as rapidly as possible. This can be done by putting it in a tank of fresh well water. Do not keep the cream too long before taking it to the creamery, not over two days in warm weather and three or four in cold. Good butter cannot be made from old cream.

It hardly pays to make butter on the farm unless special customers can be obtained. Creameries have multiplied until there is one within easy shipping distance of almost every farm. The organization of co-operative creameries has kept most markets on a strictly competitive basis, so that the prices paid for cream are usually as high as the market will warrant. These large creameries are usually equipped with all the latest appliances for buttermaking. They are in charge of experienced buttermakers and are in shape to turn out a uniform product that will sell for much higher prices than the ordinary run of farm made butter.

Use of the Tester.

No dairy farmer can afford to be without a Babcock tester. A complete tester, consisting of a tester, milk and cream bottles and a supply of sulphuric acid, can be purchased for about $5. With a tester the farmer can test his cows, as described in article 8, at home. He can test the separator to see that it is working properly. If the bowl is wobbly or the machine out of level a considerable amount of butter fat may be lost in the skim milk without the dairyman knowing anything about it. If you churn your own cream a tester will enable you to test your buttermilk and determine whether or not you are losing much butter fat in this way. If you patronize a creamery your tester will come handy for keeping a check on the tests at the creamery. Most creamerymen are honest, but that is all the more reason why the dishonest ones should be run out of business. Underreading the test 2 or 3 per cent will add greatly to the profits of the creameryman and cannot be detected unless the patrons have testers of their own.

The Babcock tester is simple to operate. The sample of milk to be tested should be thoroughly tested by pouring from one jar to another three or four times. A sample is then sucked up into the pipette. By putting your finger on the top of the pipette you can let the milk run down until it just comes to the mark on the neck. Then run the milk into one of the test bottles. Number the bottle to correspond with the sample. The sulphuric acid used is what is known as commercial sulphuric acid. The acid and the milk should be at the same temperature before mixing. If they have been in the same room for a few hours they will be all right. Fill the measuring glass up to the mark with the acid, taking care not to get any on your hands or clothing. Pour the acid carefully down the side of the bottle and then mix it thoroughly with the milk by giving the bottle a rotary motion. The sulphuric acid combines with the albumen and casein and leaves the fat free.

Set the bottles in the tester as soon as the acid has been added. When all the bottles are filled the tester should be turned at a uniform rate of about 100 revolutions a minute for five minutes. This brings the fat to the top of the liquid in the bottle. Hot water should then be added carefully to bring the fat up to the neck of the bottle. The machine is then whirled for two minutes. Then more hot water is added to bring the fat column up into the graduated neck of the bottle. After this the machine is whirled for one minute more, and the test is ready to read. The reading should be done before the fat hardens. Each of the small spaces on the neck of the bottle represents two-tenths of 1 per cent. The number of spaces through which the fat column extends indicates the percentage of fat in the milk.

In testing cream special bottles must be used. A small balance is needed to weigh out the samples, as cream cannot be accurately measured. Nine grams are used for each sample, and as much more hot water is added. Only about two-thirds as much acid is needed as for milk.

THE NEW Rambler

"If it wasn't so far, I'd like to go" —so busy people are wont to say

Distant friends become your next door neighbors if you drive a new Rambler. Then no country road is long enough. For no sooner do you grasp the wheel and sense the motor purring than you shake off all dullness—the car starts beneath you and you are away—to work or topastime—it differs not—exhilarated, you hasten on your way.

With offset crank-shaft, straight-line drive, big wheels and tires, long wheel-base, Spare Wheel and aluminum front floor, the new Rambler is in many respects superior to any other automobile.

CARD OF THANKS FROM JACK SMITH.

To My Friends: I desire to express to you who honored me on election day with your votes of endorsement my sincerest thanks and my abiding appreciation. I trust nothing will happen in the future to forfeit your respect or shatter your confidence. The loyalty of my friends and their devotion to my cause is to me an ever-great in the forest field of memory the foliage of which the beating heat of the summer sun can never wither, and the chilly breath of winter's wind can never blight. Without friends there would be no roses to bud and bloom in the gardens of toil, no color in the rainbow of hope, and this life would be a weary pilgrimage to the tomb. In return for your friendship and your suffrage, I shall try to do my whole duty, giving my best efforts in upholding with faithful and fearless hands the stainless banner of the peoples' will, permitting no passion to poison my purpose and no prejudice to avenge me from the path of duty.

Again to one and all, I thank you.

Respectfully,
JACK SMITH.

MALARIAL DISEASES.

How to Avoid Them and the Serious Consequences of Neglect.

"Fix me up something to knock the malaria, doctor," remarked a fallow faced, sickly looking man, entering a prominent physician's office the other day.

The doctor stepped to his medicine case, took down a couple of bottles, mixed a preparation which he handed to the patient with the customary advice to 'shake well and follow directions,' and resumed his seat.

"Such cases are frequent," replied the doctor in answer to a question. "The warm days and damp, chilly nights are certain malaria breeders and are most serious in those who have neglected to keep their stomach, liver and bowels in good condition. Such persons are full of the impurities on which the malarial germ thrives, and it is from this class that typhoid fever, pneumonia, Bright's Disease, small pox and yellow fever claim most of their victims whenever these diseases are prevalent.

The proper way to guard against the malarial germ and the serious diseases which follow it is to get into good condition by taking a reliable remedy that will keep the bowels clear and the liver healthy, and to continue with it at frequent intervals during the sickly season.

A dose of Prickly Ash Bitters three or four times a week will do all of this, besides stimulating the digestion, improving the appetite and keeping the bodily energy at the highest pitch.

Prickly Ash Bitters is known everywhere as a system tonic and bowel regulator. It not only removes all traces of malarial poison from the system, but tones up the vital organs, gives new strength and vigor, makes the body strong and the brain active.

"Prickly Ash Bitters is the best all-around medicine for the family I ever used. During the past ten years I have always kept it in my house. Whenever any of my family show signs of malaria, kidney trouble, indigestion or constipation a few doses is all that is needed to make them well and hearty again."—W. H. McWILLIAMS, Pickering, Ia.

MISS McLURE'S RECITAL.

The recital by Miss Exa McLure for the Hesperian Club was in some respects, a perfect success.

The audience was not so great numerically as we have had, yet when we consider the sweltering heat, and the number of our townsmen away on a vacation, we feel gratified over the results along that line.

The program began with a piano selection by Miss Varah Cooper. This talented young lady is gracious and charming in her ready response to requests made her, and gave not one, but many selections, each one proving as good as the one given before.

Miss McLure next came forward gowned most becomingly in a green silk with lace trimmings. She wore a coronet of wild roses and a spray of the same dainty blossoms at her belt. Her very appearance worked a murmur of praise for she has grown from a lovely child through winsome girlhood into dignified young womanhood among us. She is our very own and is beloved for her modesty and innumerable womanly charms, by all, from the frolicsome child to the man and matron with snow-kissed hair.

As an artist Miss McLure certainly is not disappointing. Her first number portrayed vividly the torturing embodiment of the green country boy with the proud distinction of six months enjoyment of long trousers, as he trudges in through heat and dust to make his first call on the girl who has swayed his heart at her own despot will, and whom he has thus far adored from afar.

Miss Blandford, another of our home girls, of whom we are justly proud, followed with a beautiful flower song.

Miss McLure appeared at her best in "The Scene from the Palace of the Wing." Phillip, King of Spain, had murdered his brother who was the lover of Dolores and her father's lover of Dolores. No one knew who the murderer was save Dolores and her father. To shield his country from disgrace and ruin, the father of Dolores took the blame on himself and was condemned to die. Dolores hearing of this appeared before the King to demand the release of her father. One can almost see the fire gleam in her dark Spanish eyes as she dictates the terms to the cowering king. The scene is indeed dramatic and difficult to interpret, but was excellently given nevertheless.

Mrs. Davis of Oklahoma City, a daughter of our Mr. C. C. Graves, delighted the audience with that beautiful bird song "Sing On" by Luigi Denza.

Miss McLure gave a Bouquet of Lyrics which pleased all, but so delighted the children that they went away repeating:

"Swinging in the grapevine swing,
"Laughing where the wild birds sing."

Dr. Merrill, who never fails to please with his musical art, gave a most beautiful violin solo.

The programme closed with the farce. In this Miss McLure as the much sought maiden appeared so lovable that one would not wonder that two gallant knights should be tragically in love with her at the same time. These two were forcibly characterized by Messrs. Bruce Phenix and Breedlove Smith. Poor little Jennie, the perplexing parlor maid was great. This part was characterized by Miss Eleanor Coleman, and well done, too.

The Hesperian Club wishes to express thanks to Miss McLure and her able assistants and also to those who, despite the unpleasant temperature, gave their encouraging presence.

So great was the success that Miss McLure has been asked to give the same programme in Loraine for the benefit of the Methodist church of that place. She will go down there next Monday evening. We wish and predict for her and her company success there as here.

A Cold

Is not necessarily serious, provided it is taken care of. It is frequently the starting point of many dangerous diseases. When it comes, use Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey. Look for the bell on the bottle.

Since the first, the streets of Colorado have gone unsprinkled, and the dust blows where it listeth with none to molest or make it afraid. We are informed that a raise in the water rate for this purpose, is the reason for discontinuance of the sprinkling wagon. If other towns in this section have survived without sprinkled streets, it is likely the denizens of Colorado can. It is an age and season of retrenchment.

Now is the season for canopy tops for your buggies. Annis has a large stock and sells them at the most reasonable prices. See him.

Uncle John Lovelady is as free as any man from the imputation of being a new-comer. In sooth, a mixture of history and tradition has it that he had a bossing job when the ditches were dug for the Colorado river, and that when he first saw this section, Lone Wolf mountain was only a hole in the ground, 200 feet deep. So, he's in the clear on that score. He can speak, therefore by the schedule of the almanix and the old timers' signs. To this end he deposes that on a certain change of the moon, in the dog days of August, in the good year 1910, we shall (mark the shall) have rain and plenty of it.

O. G. Richards, Pension Agent.

It may surprise some of our readers to know that a simple case of stomach trouble, if neglected, can get so bad that it will result in cancer of the stomach. For fifteen years O. G. Richards, an attorney and pension agent at Eudora, Kansas, suffered from stomach trouble, indigestion, etc. until it was feared that he had cancer of the stomach. Finally he took Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and was cured. This remedy is absolutely guaranteed to do what is claimed, and if you want to try it before buying, send to Pepsin Syrup Co., 119 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill. It is sold by all druggists at 50c and $1 a bottle.

Doss' Kidney Pills—Guaranteed.

Messrs. Water Melon and Amos Keeter have returned to Colorado, after an absence of nearly a year. The former passes our door several times a day, but seems a trifle "offish" in his association, while the latter comes around to our quarters every night and spends a few hours in close and appreciating converse. As for Mr. Melon, we always did think him rather green looking, but at times he gives evidence of a good and tender heart.

Neighbor Chas. Goodwin dropped in this week to pass the time o'day and show us how well he was improving. In a few more weeks he will be able to throw away his crutches and run and jump as of yore. His friends rejoice at his rapid recovery from such a sore affliction an inflammatory rheumatism.

The Record job department has just issued 500 catalogues for the Colorado public schools. It is a job of which this office is deservedly proud. The book contains 76 pages of machine set matter, with but little display, and the finished job will compare with no discredit with the work turned out by the most pretentious city offices.

In buying a cough medicine don't be afraid to get Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it and relief is sure to follow. Especially recommended for coughs, colds, and whooping cough. Sold by all druggists.

Mr. F. M. Burns left this week on his annual pilgrimage to the markets of the north and east. His trips are red-letter days in the shopping lives of many ladies and gentlemen of Colorado, who, not being able to go to the markets themselves, entrust to Mr. Burns scores of commissions, relying implicitly upon his superior taste and judgment in the selection of those thousand and one little things dear to the heart of the fastidious dresser.

When the digestion is all right, the action of the bowels regular, there is a natural craving and relish for food. When this is lacking you may know that you need a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They strengthen the digestive organs, improve the appetite and regulate the bowels. Sold by all druggists.

Doss' Kidney Pills—Guaranteed.

A very pleasant house party down at the Rendrebrook ranch was entertained last week by Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Arnett. The personnel of the party was as follows: Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Miss Annie Campbell, a charming young lady from Dallas, is visiting the home of Judge A. J. Coe.

To the Voters of Mitchell County.

I adopt this me all of expressing my appreciation of the support given me in my race for representative, by the good people of Mitchell county; I am proud of the vote of confidence, I carried more counties than the winning candidate, and left the Texas & Pacific country with more than 1,000 votes the lead of my opponents, but my inability to reach the country voters and the people of Fisher county, is my only reason for defeat. As nearly as I can figure now, I was defeated by only about 200 votes. Again thanking you for the hearty support accorded me, I am, with much respect and great appreciation,

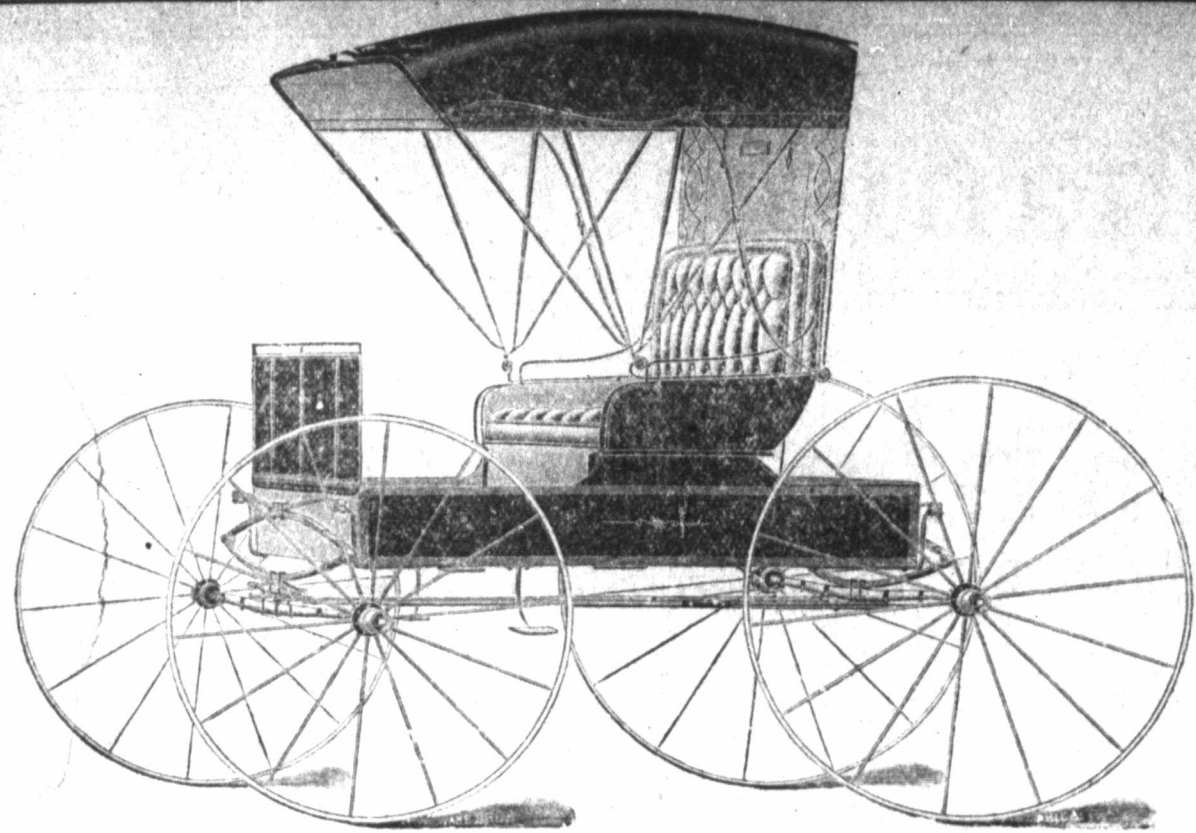

Yours to command,

On last Friday a drove of four-year old aunts were being driven into town from the south, and when they reached the Geo. Root place, where G. D. Wallace now lives, the heat and thirst drove them wild, and as the well on the Root place was the only water on the road, when the cattle reached that place they stampeded in a hunt for water, turning over everything in their path and in one instance entering a house and running over a bed. The steers, we learn, were from the Van Tuyl ranch, and had been dipped that morning in an arsenical solution.

Attention is called to the call in another column, by Dr. I. E. Smith of Big Springs, for a meeting of the poultry raisers of West Texas at his office in Big Springs, Saturday, August 13th, for the purpose of organizing a West Texas Poultry Raisers Association. This seems to us a move in the right direction. There is no section needing a successful poultry industry more than this, and no where is there greater necessity for co-operation. It is the life of the industry everywhere. We trust Colorado will send its quota to this meeting.
