To the People of Northwest Texas:
Including Farmers and Business
Men of all kinds, County Judges, Mayors,
Agricultural organizations or Unions,
Commercial bodies and Railway
Companies operating in this territory:
GREETING:

You are hereby invited to participate personally, or by accredited delegates, in a convention to be assembled in the city of Haskell, Texas, at 9 o'clock, a. m., Wednesday, October 19, 1910, for the purpose of organizing all persons interested in promoting a better system of agriculture in Northwest Texas into what shall be known as the Northwest Texas Dry Farming Congress.

It is intended to hold a two days meeting; the sessions to be conducted along practical lines for the free and open discussion of the vital subjects affecting successful farming, etc. in this section, such as:

A study of our soil and Climatic Conditions.

Best crops to grow in Northwest Texas.

Seed Selection, Horticulture, Dairying, Etc.

The committee on organization with the assistance of Hon. Ed. R. Kone, State Commissioner of Agriculture, has arranged to have delivered a number of lectures on the above subjects by the most experienced and best qualified men to be had in the United States. The sessions of the Congress will be held somewhat on the institute plan in order that our local problems touching conditions, methods and experiences may be discussed and intelligently disposed of. All will be free to ask questions which will be answered as far as practicable by the scientists and experts present.

For the purpose of affecting a permanent organization of an annual Congress, the following officials and bodies are hereby empowered and requested to appoint the number of delegates to this meeting specified below, to-wit:

County Judges, appoint 15 delegates.
Mayors of towns of less than two thousand population, 5 delegates.

Mayors of towns of more than 2000 population, 10 delegates.

Each Local Union appoint 3 delegates.

Commercial Clubs, Etc., appoint 10 delegates.

Railway Companies appoint 5 delegates.

The delegates will adopt laws, elect permanent officers and select the place of holding next meeting.

It is to be understood, however, that a welcome is extended to everyone, regardless of being a delegate, to attend the Congress, hear the lectures and participate in the discussions, Editors and reporters are especially invited.

The committee has secured the pledges of the hotels, restaurants, wagon yards, feed dealers, etc., that they will charge only the lowest prices during the convention.

Wood, water and room will be provided free for campers and it is suggested that neighborhoods make up camping parties and come in wagons, hacks, etc.

The railroads in this territory have made a round trip rate of one and one-third fares for this meeting.

We urge that every delegate and every individual farmer in Northwest Texas attend this meeting. While there are undoubtedly men, who as yet have not grasped the full import of this movement and do not yet fully appreciate the value it may be to them and the country, if properly carried out, we are quite sure that if they will come and hear the plans and evidence they will be convinced and be greatly benefitted.

ED. R. KONE, State Commissioner of Agriculture.
HOMER D. WADE, Secretary Stamford Commercial Club.

J. E. POOLE, Secretary Haskell Board of Trade.

B. E. LOONEY, Secretary Abilene 25,000 Club.

Committee on Promotion and Arrangements.

JUDGE TERRELL SPEAKS.

GUBERNATORIAL CANDIDATE ON REPUBLICAN TICKET

Abilene, Texas.—The sixth candidate for Governor of Texas, (if H. J. Cunyus is to be tabulated under that category) to visit Abilene in the space of six months, appeared in the city this morning and this afternoon is holding the boards at the opera house, telling his audience why he ought to hold the executive reins and guide the horse of state, safely into prosperity's stable. He is Judge J. O. Terrell of San Antonio, Republican opponent of Hon. O. B. Colquitt of Kaufman county.

Local Republicans have united in extending the distinguished visitor, a warm welcome. His entertainment is in the hands of a committee, consisting of Cleyburn McCauley, T. S. Rollins, L. C. Payton, H. O. Brown, J. S. Dicklow and J. M. Morrow. Abilene's welcome could not be too warm for Judge Terrell. The Republicans are sadly in the minority in Texas, and as Collier's Weekley pertinently points out a great many of them are Federal office holders, or aspirants for the same, but in Judge Terrell, Texas boasts of one of her stalwarts.

R. M. Webb Will Speak

A short address will also be delivered by Robt. M. Webb of Colorado City, Republican candidate for the seat in Congress now occupied by Judge Smith, also of Colorado City.

TERRELL AND LYON AT STAMFORD.

Stamford, Texas, Oct. 11.—Hon. J. O. Terrell, Republican nominee for Governor, and Col. Cecil A. Lyon, Chairman of the State Republican Committee, spoke in the city tonight. The Republican leaders were met in Stamford by local and district leaders, and despite the inclement weather there was a good sized crowd present. In addition to the leaders, several local ministers and confederate veterans occupied the platform by invitation. Judge Terrell was introduced by Judge L. M. Bulta, a personal friend.

Judge Terrell's address here did not differ materially from his speeches at other points. He criticized the Democratic party in Texas.

Col. Lyon was also caustic in referring to the Democrats and also urged that Texas would be better off if in the hands of the Republican party.

Among the out of town Republicans of prominence present were: John H. Baker of Haskell, J. W. Boynton of Anson, Robt. M. Webb of Colorado, F. K. Sterrett of Albany.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Whereas, in the inscrutable providences of God, He has seen best to call from his labors here to that eternal rest that is vouchsafed to the righteous and faithful servant, our beloved brother and President of this Brotherhood, W. H. Goodwin, and

Whereas, we bow in humble resignation to the will of the Great Shepherd of the sheep, knowing that in his great comprehensive plan, all these seeming afflictions are for the best; we would, however, offer this testimonial of our sense of loss, and pay deserved tribute to his memory, praying Almighty God to sanctify to us his loss, that the mantle of our departed brother may succeed to one who shall fill his place and perpetuate his influence. Therefore be it

Resolved, that in the death of Bro. Goodwin, this Brotherhood has lost one of its most faithful and exemplary members: Be it further

Resolved, that in token of our appreciation of his love and work for this Brotherhood, that these resolutions be inscribed on a page of the records of this organization, and that his family be requested to furnish a picture of him, that it may be hung on the walls of the building, which he contributed so much in love, means, and service to build and hallow. Be it further

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be furnished the newspaper for publication, as a public testimonial of our esteem.

Respectfully submitted:

A. H. WESTON, Sec.

There is a movement in Kentucky to sell the mammoth cave to the Government. It may not be easy to show Uncle Sam in his present frame of mind, just what he wants with a mammoth cave, as that "cave" in the revenues is an ample sufficiency just now.

The day may yet arrive when the beef proprietors will be offering inducements to their customers not to become vegetarians.

The best friends make the worst enemies.

MR. W. H. GOODWIN.

On Sunday, October 2nd, 1910, the soul of this beloved brother and friend departed this life to be with its Master, whom he has loved and served so faithfully.

Mr. Goodwin was born near Greensburg, Ind., Dec. 16, 1837, where he lived for a number of years. He came to Texas in December 1884, locating in Terrell. Having lived there for six years, he removed to Fairview, Mitchell County, fifteen miles north of Colorado. From there he came to Colorado, where he died at the good old age of nearly 74 years.

During these years, Brother Goodwin had faithfully performed the duties of life to himself, to his fellowman and to his God.

He is greatly missed by his church, the community and his family.

He became a Christian in early life and for sixty years he was a member of the church. How beautiful it was for him to remember the Lord in the days of his youth, and spend sixty years in His service, this relationship was marked with deep spirituality. A great portion of this time, he was a ruling elder in the Christian church twenty years of which was spent in the First Christian church of Colorado, Texas. As one of his sons expressed it, "If he had a hobby, it was his church." He never got too old to go to Sunday school. He was always there and on time, every time. He did all he could to create the spirit of Christian unity and fellowship and good will among all the churches.

At the time of his death, he was the beloved president of the United Brotherhood of Colorado.

He became a Mason in 1880, was an active member till his death.

On October, 23, 1860, he was married to Miss Maranda Frances Randle, within twenty one days they would have celebrated their 50th. Anniversary, to which she looked with a great deal of pleasure and expectation.

In his family he was a loving and devoted husband, a wise and faithful father, who raised his children up "in the nurture and admonition of the Lord."

He leaves to mourn his loss, his faithful wife, two sons and two daughters, C. A. and G. E. Goodwin, Mrs. A. B. Maxfield and Mrs. J. L. Ross, and a large number of grand children, most of whom, through his teaching and example, are members of the same church he loved and served so long.

He was known among his grandchildren as "Dear old Grandpa." He loved to have all his loved ones about him and always enjoyed the noted "Home Gatherings," where they spent the day making merry.

Brother Goodwin spent ten years of his young manhood in teaching in the public schools in Indiana, after which he became a farmer, following this profession until a few years ago.

Up to his death, he had a great interest in this enterprise. He was a leader in the farmers' organizations.

Brother Goodwin was a citizen, whose upright and noble life was an inspiration to his fellow men, ever ready to lend a helping hand to the needy and distressed.

A good man, who properly filled the relations of life to his family, his state, his fellow men, his church and his God, who was ripe in years, fully prepared, has gone to enjoy the reward of a well spent life.

"Blessed are the dead, who die in the Lord."

THE JURY RETURNS UNANIMOUS VERDICT.

(By a Staff Correspondent)

A jury consisting of some of the most distinguished chemists of America has returned a unanimous verdict of "not guilty" in the case of Knocker et al., vs. Coca-Cola. It will be remembered that some time ago a report was circulated to the effect that Coca-Cola contained injurious materials and was, therefore, harmful in its effects upon the human body.

The rumor was originated by an unscrupulous competitor of Coca-Cola the popular temperance drink spread rapidly and found some credence among those who did not know the origin of the report.

The jury finds that not only does Coca-Cola contain nothing harmful, but that it is much superior to tea and coffee in that it is free from tannic acid and therefore promotes digestion instead of retarding it. Each of the distinguished chemists reported that he had made a careful chemical analysis of Coca-Cola and found it to contain no "dope" of any kind. If you would like to see copies of these letters written to the Coca-Cola Company, Atlanta, Ga., for a free copy of the booklet entitled "The Truth About Coca-Cola." The jury was as follows:

1. John M. McCandless, State Chemist of Georgia.
2. B. B. Ross, State Chemist of Alabama.

3. Dr. A. I. Metz of Tulane University.

4. Prof. W. B. Burney of South Carolina College.

5. Prof. C. H. Palm of the University of Texas.

6. Dr. Wm. H. Taylor, State Chemist of Virginia.

7. Dr. Louis Schaefer, President of Schaefer Alkaloid Works, Maywood, New Jersey.

8. Prof. Emerson R. Miller, of Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

9. Dr. J. C. Mims, Chemist of the Board of Health, New Orleans.

Bonus for the Plow

"I see that a great many commercial clubs throughout the State are advertising bonuses for new factories and are having splendid success in their work and I want to commend them for their activities, but I would suggest that if they are going to make donations toward development, that we also give a man who starts a plow a bonus," said Mr. N. F. Davis, immigration agent for the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway, whose lines run through one of the most fertile sections of the state.

"A plow as a civilizer and a wealth producer will outclass any other implement and most any man is financially able to begin farming, but it requires a large amount of money to finance a factory and a few people are able to engage in that sort of business. A factory that will employ 50 men is a great city builder, but start fifty plows going on virgin soil, and you have laid the foundation for an empire," said the railroad man.

"I have been watching the work of commercial clubs in this state and they are the backbone of our prosperity and when these economic forces are brought to bear on a subject they always move things and immigration is about the most important work, we have before us in Texas. The railroads are always ready and willing to co-operate in any forward movement for the State's growth and development and will do their part in a concerted movement for bringing thrifty farmers to Texas."

NEW DIVISIONS AT FAIR.

Extraordinary Display of Livestock and Farm Products Assured.
 Dallas, Tex.—It is a mistaken but common impression that to see a State Fair once is to see it for all the years to come. But to guard against this the management of the State Fair of Texas for its twenty-fifth annual meeting, October 15-20, strives each year to be something new and interesting to the constant patron. It is a well known fact that the management has been wonderfully successful along these lines during the last five years. For each exposition the visitors have had an opportunity to inspect new buildings and new exhibits. Such will be the case this year. The management is expending nearly $175,000 in permanent improvements.

Agriculturalists of the Southwest will find many features of interest at the twenty-fifth annual meeting of the State Fair of Texas, which begins at Dallas, October 15, and continues sixteen days. The most interesting, however, will be the model cotton farm, which will be found in the infield of the race track. A ten-acre cotton field, besides several acres in chufas, will be, without a doubt, the center of interest for the agriculturalists who visit the fair.

President E. J. Kiest of the Fair, in order to demonstrate to the farmers of the Southwest the practicality of cotton picking machines, decided upon adding a model cotton farm to the fair. In this cotton field will be demonstrated during the twenty-fifth annual meeting cotton picking machines in operation.

The farm will be conducted in connection with the Cotton Division, which will be under the direction of D. A. Saunders of the United States Department of Agriculture. Rich premiums insure a splendid exhibition in this division.

Fifty-Two Counties.

Fifty-two counties will be represented in the agricultural department of the fair this year. The exhibition will be varied, ranging from that of a tropical nature to one of the temperate zone. Every section of the state will be represented. Rice, cotton, citrus fruits, corn, wheat, oats, oranges and peaches, apples and pears but demonstrate the range of this exhibition. Grasses of all kinds, vegetables galore, the farm, orchard and garden products of the tropics and temperate zone will be displayed.

With the erection of the Industrial Arts building and the Dairy building, a great deal of additional room was added to the agricultural department. Agricultural Hall this year will be essentially what the name implies. Fifty-two exhibition booths have already been secured by as many counties of the state. From the standpoint of quality it will be superior and more varied than any exhibition of the kind in the United States. No other State Fair has an opportunity of displaying both tropical and temperate zone products, and the management of the State Fair, appreciating this, has secured an agricultural exhibition so diversified that it will even astonish the native sons of the Lone Star State.

Boys' Corn Club.

In the agricultural and kindred divisions this year the premiums will exceed $5000. In the Boys' Corn Club contest alone $1200 in premiums will be awarded. The United States Department of Agriculture inaugurated the Boys' Corn Club movement throughout the state of Texas. The State Fair management, assisting the Federal government, has designated a special day during the fair as Boys' Corn Club day. The Bankers' Association of Texas has offered a special premium in addition to the State Fair premiums. This money is divided into prizes ranging from $2 to $50. The contest will be open to all boys under twenty years of age, who are members of country corn clubs. A meeting of the State Boys' Corn Club will be held at the fair on Boys' Corn Club day.

The sweepstakes in the county exhibit division of the fair and mill division follow: For the best and largest display of agricultural, manufactured and general resources from any one county in Texas—first premium, $300; second premium, $200; third premium, $150; fourth premium, $75; fifth premium, $25. For the best and largest display of agricultural, manufactured and general resources from any association of counties in Texas: First premium, $150; second premium, $100. The following special premiums are offered by the Texas Land and Mortgage Company of Dallas, Texas, for the best and largest county exhibit at the State Fair: First premium, $100; second premium, $65; third premium, $35.

Judging Contest.

Recognizing the importance of interesting the young men of Texas in the judging of livestock, the State Fair of Texas offers a total premium of $100 for a contest of this nature. The rules and awards are:

1. Any resident of the state of Texas under twenty-five years of age who has never taken an agricultural course may compete.
 2. Any undergraduate agricultural student regularly enrolled at the A. and M. College in 1909 is eligible to compete.
 3. All those wishing to compete must make application to the secretary of the State Fair of Texas one week before the opening of the fair.
 4. Each contestant will be required to judge classes of horses, cattle and swine.
- Class No. 84—Cattle:
- A. First premium $15.00
 - B. Second premium 10.00
 - C. Third premium 8.00
- Swine—
- D. First premium $15.00
 - E. Second premium 10.00
 - F. Third premium 8.00
- Horses—
- G. First premium $15.00
 - H. Second premium 10.00
 - I. Third premium 8.00

In the livestock department great preparations are being made for a record-breaking exhibition. The best premiums in this division total $10,500 for beef and dairy cattle; horses, $10,800; swine, $5,000, and sheep $1,500.

Pre-Nuptial Shower.

The friends of Miss Hallie Dupree, were given the pleasure of a bridal shower in her honor, Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Elliott, she and Miss Belle Dozier being hostesses.

The reception hall and parlor were prettily decorated in ferns and white cosmos. The guests were entertained with delightful piano solos by Misses Arnet and Van Tuij, Miss Van Tuij also singing most sweetly. Miss Mary Coe sang so nicely that she was encored and responded with an I. O. U. which was a cute little up-to-date love song.

The charming bride-elect was now led in and given the seat of honor, while Mrs. Dozier and Mrs. Elliott placed the gifts on a table beside her. They were opened by Misses Van Tuij and Doss and the names and good wishes read by Mrs. Merritt. The gifts were beautiful and their variety and usefulness would appeal to any one. There were elegant hand embroidered towels, pillow cases and covers for tables, bureaus and washstands. There were articles of personal adornment, collars, aprons, handkerchiefs and other accessories dear to the feminine heart and body. Pieces of china, jewelry and many other dainty gifts that will bring to mind Colorado and the friends of girlhood days.

After the shower had been admired and envied by both maids and matrons, delicious ice cream and bride's cake were served. At this point, Mrs. Coleman was asked to toast the bride.

This she did in her most original manner. She reminded us of father Adam, gave sage advice on how to be happy, though married and paid a tribute to "those remaining in the border land of expectancy." Mrs. Shaw toasted the groom and it was considered wise that he was absent, as she was most witty at his expense. The only regret expressed on saying adieu was that we were to lose the charming young lady who for the past three years has been such a factor in the social life of the clubs and the U. D. C. She has been a member ever ready to do her best for any organization to which she belonged and her musical talent made her a helpful as well as a delightful member. She will be greatly missed by her friends, who wish for her all the joys that love can bestow.

Friday, Miss Dupree was one of the guests of honor at the open meeting of the Hesperian Club and was presented with a beautiful souvenir fork, by Mrs. Doss, in behalf of the Club, to which she belonged for one year, and to which she greatly endeared herself. She leaves Friday for Arizona, and later South America, following the fortunes of the gentleman, who, Friday evening, becomes her husband.

THREE KILLED AND SEVERAL OTHERS MAIMED FOR LIFE

Three men killed outright and several others crippled for life is the present record of Ding, the largest female elephant in captivity, owned by the great Dode Fisk Shows which will exhibit at Colorado, Monday, October 17th.

An elephant is commonly supposed to be the most susceptible of all the wild animals, to kindly treatment, but occasionally there is one that never overcomes the call of its native wilds. Such a one is Ding, whose latest attempt at destroying human life was upon Mr. Fisk, himself, during last winter at training quarters.

The monstrous brute had been in an ugly temper for several days, when Mr. Fisk walked unsuspectingly in her barn. She at once reached out her trunk, seized Mr. Fisk and threw him against a pair of swinging doors, which luckily opened when he struck them, letting him into another compartment and safety, but with slight injury. Ding's present trainer, Philip Castang, is her constant companion night and day and with him she is as docile as a child. He has succeeded in teaching her many wonderful new tricks which she performs with the greatest ease, obeying his slightest command.

IT WORKS BOTH WAYS.

The Woman: Here's a wonderful thing. I've just been reading of a man who reaches the age of forty without learning how to read or write. He met a woman, and for her sake he made a scholar of himself in two years.

The Man: That's nothing. I know a man who was a profound scholar at forty. Then he met a woman and for her sake, he made a fool of himself in two days!—Cleveland Leader.

The supreme court will no doubt adopt the motto: "Hughes to the line, let the chips fall where they may."

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH COLORADO.

There is only one factor that keeps Colorado from being one of the very best towns in West Texas, and that factor, fellow citizens, is ourselves. Those of us who would, can not, while the contingent, who can, will not. Where willingness and unwillingness are both at the throttle, the engine must stand still. Colorado has every natural advantage that goes to build a town, but geographical position, productive soil, water power and all else that nature can endow, will not make a prosperous town unless the factors are judiciously used in harmony and concert of spirit. A town divided against itself cannot prosper; the law is as immutable as fate.

No county in West Texas has been dealt with in more generous measure than Mitchell. The land is as fertile and yields more liberal return to diversified farming, which is no longer an experiment, as any in the State of Texas. Colorado is an old and settled town; a more desirable place of residence is not to be found in this section and above all its other advantages, the town, as well as the county, possesses a supply of good water that in itself is worth the capital stock of the combined banks of the county. Water is capital, and we might, with as much show of business sense, stuff our money in tin cans and auger holes, expecting it to increase, as to expect a town to prosper and keep abreast its rivals, without taking advantage of the factors, with which nature has endowed us.

The means are here to make Colorado the peer of any town its size, if we will but use them and give our talents to the work in, a spirit of co-operation, instead of disintegrating competition and perversity.

Every citizen of the town who owns a dollar's worth of property, real or personal, is just as much a partner in the prosperity or adversity of Colorado, as the individual stock holders in a bank. Would the share holders in one of our local banks, tolerate a policy in one of their number that was adverse to the prosperity of them all? Not, on your tintype. They would force him out so quick, he'd imagine he had been shot from a cannon.

Just a few general utility knockers on the streets, who go about with an apology for everything that their more enterprising neighbors try to do for the general good, will kill a town so dead, that it would not deserve a funeral in Potter's field.

There is nothing the matter with Colorado, neighbors, but some of the people who are inconsistent enough to live in it. The town has stood the two year drouth better than any other in West Texas; the county has produced crops the past two years far beyond the average West Texas county, and the farmers, both land owners and tenants, are today in better condition than like classes in any of the surrounding counties.

Let's dismiss once for all, the specter from our feasts, relegate the skeleton to the closet and forget the drouth. Let's draw our incentives and inspiration from the future, and gird ourselves for the best work ever done for Colorado and Mitchell County. The man who has his money invested in this country and is all the time decrying it, has the same kind of a head on his shoulders, as the simple fellow who sat on a limb and sawed it off, between himself and the tree that supported him.

Truly "its an evil bird that befools its own nest." The profit in the soap, breakfast food and patent medicine business, is almost wholly from the advertising given these articles—not in the merit of the articles themselves.

Believing a thing strongly enough, is to see it. Let's agree to make an honest, persistent and united effort to do something more than has ever been done for the town the coming year. If we stop now, all that we have done, all the money we have spent will have been practically lost. Let's make up our minds that Colorado is as good as any place on the map; that while drouths may, for the time, depress conditions, nothing can keep the town down. If we will adopt this policy, nothing that is essential to the town's growth and permanent prosperity will resist our earnest efforts.

Thirty-eight Texas towns want to be postal saving depositories.

Twice has Ex-Governor Bob Taylor thrown himself into the breach to save the state of Tennessee to the Democratic party.—When the governorship was stolen from H. Clay Evans and in the present crisis of the party.

The registration for the A. & M. College for the present session reached one thousand last week. At the same time last year the registration was only 730. It is now believed that eleven hundred will be reached during the session.

R. S. McMahan alias A. J. McDowell, on a charge of bigamy, was given three years in the penitentiary at the last term of District Court in Scurry county. A change of venue being denied and a motion for a new trial being overruled, the case was appealed to the higher court.

Its rarely one hears the poor complaining of the laxity of the enforcement of the criminal laws. An 18 year old boy at Sherman, Texas, was recently fined $50 and given 30 days in jail, for stealing a purse containing a nickel. If that same boy had a righteous suit against a railroad or the State of Texas, it would be thrown out of court or cumber the pages of the docket until the wreck of worlds broke out. Chiminal Justice is winged to the poor in purse.

And so it ever is. The gracious rain for which all of West Texas has been looking, yearning and praying for nearly two years, had not been falling two days before there were a number complaining of the "continued wet weather." Some were growling because they had no slicker, others because they had left their umbrella "somewhere," while others kicked, just because they could not keep their kicker still, wet or dry. In truth, do the words of the wise man recur:

"As a rule, man's a fool.
When its hot, he wants it cool;
When its cool, he wants it hot—
Always wanting what is not.
But as a rule, man's a fool."

Twenty Jersey cows have been purchased by a dairyman at Weatherford for the purpose of supplying milk to the creamery at that place. This is the only way in which such an industry can be supported. Unless there is an abundance of milk furnished the creamery, it can not be a success. The dairy industry is absolutely essential to a creamery, and in every section where the farmers have found a ready market for their milk, the dairy industry has proven a very profitable one. If you live near enough to the town to bring milk to the creamery every day or every other day, it will pay well to keep a herd of milk cows. If you have never tried the dairy industry, do so as early as possible.

A La Saul of Tarsus.

The following spectacular account of the discovery of gold, from the Herford Brand, is somewhat, in its literary aspect, along the same violent lines as was the conversation of Saul of Tarsus. As to its veracity, the Brand vouches:

"During a recent thunder storm in this county, a party of ranchmen were on the Polodoro draw, some 17 miles north of Herford, when a severe rain storm overtook them. They sought shelter under a ledge of rock nearby, where they were protected in part from the downpour. The storm was accompanied by a vivid display of lightning, bolt after bolt following each other with rapid succession. It was a battle of the clouds for supremacy. Suddenly a heavy bolt, with thunderous denotations that shook the earth as if an earthquake, struck the overhanging rock ledge, tearing a great hole and scattering flying pieces in every direction. It was like a heavy discharge of dynamite. The three men were knocked down and stunned.

In the course of a few minutes, one of the men was able to stir himself, and he set to work to revive his companions. This he did. Their horses tied together, like cowboy custom, were found to be dead.

After the storm had fully subsided, the men began to examine the rent in the ledge, from which tons of rock had been torn away. One of the number, being an old miner from Colorado recognized at once that a rich gold ore had been unearthed. Some of the ore was brought in and submitted to tests and it proved to run a high percentage of gold and silver. Preparations are being made to ship a car load of the ore to the nearest smelter. The men owning the ranch have been offered a fortune for the find."

A Joke—NIT

The Reporter has so far looked upon the agitation to divide Texas as a huge joke and shall continue to do so. But that there is considerable dissatisfaction at the treatment West Texas has received is evident. El Paso Herald discussing the subject says:

"By retaining the name 'West Texas' for the new state it is proposed to create, even the sentimental objection to divisions would be largely done away with, but the advantages of keeping up the old state organization are not to be underestimated. The question is well worth discussing and deserves the most careful consideration by all the people. Division is not an absurd or impossible proposition, and may yet appear to be the logical outcome of the present rather discouraging situation.—Abilene Reporter.

When Jean Jaques Rousseau wrote his "Contrat Social" Louis XVI and his ministers laughed and treated it as a "huge joke", but the skin off their own backs went to bind the second edition of Rousseau's works. The division of Texas will ultimately be no less an economic demand that the contentions of Rousseau for the people of France.

If those of the newspaper and political tribe who hoot at division and profess to believe that the whole people of Texas are "one and indivisible in sentiment, interest and patriotism" will pay an extended visit to the Trans-Pecos country or El Paso, and keep their eyes and ears open, they will be disillusioned, and that completely. The people of that section and growing city, speak of people coming from East and Central Texas, as they would of those from Georgia and Carolina—"From over in Texas."

The difference between the western end of the State and the balance of the State, is as complete in interest, traditions, and history, as if the divorce had already occurred.

A home loving mother, when chided by her neighbor for allowing her husband and children to "clutter up" things about the house so much, is said to have made the following beautiful reply: "The marks of little muddy feet upon the floor can be more easily removed than the stain where those feet go down into the highways of evil. The print of the little fingers on the window panes can not shut out the sunlight half so much as the shadow that darkens the mother's heart over one who is but a name through the coming years. And if John finds his home a refuge from care and trouble, and his greatest happiness within its four walls, he can put his boots in the rocking chair and hang his coat on the floor any day in the week. And if I can stand it and he enjoys it, I cannot see that it's anybody else's business."

Now James J. Hill is talking about "enslaving" conservation. An endless chain sort of uplift.

FUTILITY OF THE CRIME

Writing of the tragedy that came to Los Angeles, Cal., through the twin terror—dynamite and fire—the El Paso Herald pertinently says:

"The motive, whatever it was, of this damnable crime, was perforce of local origin, but the crime is against the whole world, against the very soul of human civilization and nothing but the suicide of the assassins ought to defeat the ends of justice in this case. Not in the spirit of revenge or reprisal, but in obedience to the first instinct of mankind, the preservation of life, the men of America must not sleep until the beasts that'd this thing have been put to death.

Next to the assassination of the president of the United States or of other high official representatives of the people, next to rebellion against a righteous government, this sort of crime is the worst assault that could be directed against civilization. A great newspaper is far more than a mere business enterprise; it is expressive of the life and principles, the sentiments and the convictions of the people as a whole, it is in truth, a vital part of the social organism, and a blow like this is like plunging the steel into the very bowels of enlightened Humanity personified in the genius of race evolution. Quivering with pain, Humanity calls for the death of the monster that gave the hurt.

And there can be no better test of the worth of our civilization and all it represents in the upward struggle of the dawning ages toward liberty and moral health, than the search for the beast of prey that broke out of hell to drain and drink clean blood. If the search succeeds, our light is undimmed; if it fails, the shadow of evil' condoned will not lighten for generations.

To kill twenty honest workers, to make widows of wives and orphans of their sons and daughters, to destroy a half a million dollars worth of property—these details, terrible as they are, merely show the unreasoning futility of such crimes. The plot was directed against a newspaper, against the family of the newspaper's owner and editor, and against the representatives of an association of industrial employers. Part of the plot miscarried; not a single one of the victims were in any way responsible for the principles and policies of the paper. But with all the slaughter, notwithstanding the destruction of the phy-Times still lives.

Stripped of its weapons of steel and iron, its home in ruins, still the Times is a tremendous force in the community, the Times as the living expression of the people's thought and will, stands invincible in the arena, a striking proof of immortality. "If the red slayer think he slays, he knows not well my subtle ways—I turn and pass and come again." There could be no better demonstration of the eternal life of the soul than this inspiring revelation of a deathless entity apart from all material things. The newspaper lives, though everything that lay in the power of evil to destroy has been totally and forever lost.

Perhaps out of this bloody sacrifice may come good, through the shock it gives the public conscience and the warning it may carry, if the assassins be caught and punished—not a warning to a fearless independent press to cringe in cowardly terror in face of the foe, but a warning to human devils that there is a line drawn which to overstep is woe unspeakable."

Teach your child self-restraint. Teach him when he once becomes master of himself, he is master of the whole situation. Try as you may, you may never hope to remove all the obstructions from his pathway. Instead of trying to fill up the creek, teach him to swim. Instead of trying to run all the horses and cattle out of the country to keep him from stealing them, teach him to be honest, teach him to be sober and temperate at all times and in all places, and that booze fighting is a combat in which the booze will always get the best of it. Teach him that the man who sells booze is as much of a gentleman as the man who buys it.—Sterling City Record.

It is rumored that the attorney employed by the parties who desire to contest the last election, with respect to having $10,000 bonds to build a new school building on the site of the one destroyed by fire, in examining into the levy of taxes of the Independent School District No. 1 of Colorado, Texas, has discovered that there is no legal levy of any amount of tax, because the school board exhausted the constitutional right in the levies heretofore made, and if the school board undertook to issue the bonds and erect the building in the face of defeat of same, as shown by the last election, that an injunction will be filed against the collection of all school tax whatever levied by the independent school board.

REPORT OF OIL STRIKE AT SNYDER.

Just before going to press, the news is brought that oil has been found in the deep well being sunk for that purpose at Snyder. Up to this writing nothing absolutely authentic has been received, but the Record hopes that the good news may be more than verified. We would rejoice at our neighbor's good fortune and hope that even greater blessings may fall to its share in future. If Colorado won't pick up the golden egg, nature has laid in her nest, then we can rejoice with the thrifty neighbor who has a keener sight.

DAN LONE WOLF CREEK! Its the Best Reservoir Proposition in West Texas.

The assertion that a cow "gives milk" is as hoary-headed fake as that "honesty is the best policy." You've got to take it from her. And just so with the other things of life worth the having and keeping. The map of Texas is black with the pitiful wrecks of towns whose inhabitants believed that geographical position and feasibility of route guaranteed them a railroad or two. A healthy railroad, one worth having can generally afford to do anything it is not well paid to do. The $ is the logical and objective point with them and all other enterprises that go to build up a town. Nothing save the undertaker and the hearsay comes without going after them. Will Colorado sit placidly down with folded hands and allow other tows with half the natural advantage and capital to outstrip it? We admit that just now conditions are a bit depressed, but we have at our door a natural resource that is just at this time in pre-eminent demand. Every where in this section, the cry is Water! Water! By the expenditure of not more than ten or twelve thousand dollars, a dam could be thrown across Lone Wolf creek that would give us a superabundance of the finest commercial water. It would be hailed as a Godsend by the Texas & Pacific railroad and attract all kinds of enterprises. Water is a power and power is money.

THE ELKINS REUNION.

There was recently held in Kent County, a reunion of the family and descendants of G. K. Elkins. The occasion was one of plenty and enjoyment. There was preaching every day, singing and music. Five head of cattle were slaughtered for the three day's barbecue, and the oldest to the youngest present, realized that the occasion was a red letter day in their lives.

Mr. G. K. Elkins has been married three times. He has ten children by his first marriage, five boys and five girls, all of whom are now living and have families. There were no children by his second marriage, but in his last family there were eight children, six of whom are living.

There were present at this reunion 71 of his descendants and 33 absent.

There were 16 children of G. K. Elkins, 41 grand children and 21 great grand children. The family had been having such reunions every three years, but it was decided that they would meet every two years hereafter.

The patriarch of this noble tribe of men and women was 78 years old on the 23rd day of September, and it was a delight to him, as well as to his descendants to thus meet and honor him. As he looked upon this large crowd of grown people and children, he had the assurance that his life had not been in vain, that he had added to the sum of human usefulness and the forces of the world's development.

Mrs. Mary M. Mann and Mrs. J. J. Jackson are daughters of G. K. Elkins, both of whom, with two of Mrs. Jackson's children, all of whom live in Colorado, attended the reunion.

We regret that we have not the space to give the names of all who attended the reunion.

On the week following there was another reunion at the home of Mrs. Jackson in this city, at which there were present: G. K. Elkins and son of Kent County; W. E. Elkins and wife of Mexico; Mrs. Chas. Williams and son of Coleman; Ira Jackson, wife and daughter of Toyah; Archie Jackson, wife, daughter and son of Kent, Texas; Bert Jenkins, wife and son of Phoenix, Ariz. A repetition of the good time at the Elkins' reunion was enjoyed. The only sad incident to mar the fullest enjoyment of the occasion was the illness of Mrs. Nettie Campbell of Comanche, a daughter of G. K. Elkins, which prevented her presence. On Monday of this week, Mrs. Jackson was called to her bed side by a message announcing her desperate illness.
