

VICTIMS OF NEGLECT.

If You Ignore the Warnings Sent up by Ailing Kidneys You are on the Straight Road to Bright's Disease.

When anything is wrong in the kidneys the symptoms are manifest from the top of your head to the sole of your feet.

The following are some of them: Headache, dizzy spells, sluggish brain, drowsiness, dark rings and floating specks before the eyes, sallow skin, bad breath, heartburn, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, disorder in the urine, backache, weak pulse, constipated or irregular bowels, aching at the knees, feverishness in the feet.

Prickly Ash Bitters is the right medicine for such symptoms; pre-eminently a kidney tonic, system cleanser and regulator. It contains all the necessary properties of a successful kidney medicine in addition to its admirable influence in strengthening and regulating the stomach, liver and bowels.

Prickly Ash Bitters begins right by cleansing the bladder and bowels—thereby driving out the impurities which started all the trouble. After this has been accomplished the healing and restorative element in the medicine will continue the good work, building up anew the weakened kidneys, stimulating the liver to greater activity, purifying the blood, and extending its restorative influence to every part of the body. As a result the appetite and digestion improve, the eyes are brighter, the strength returns, the hollow cheeks fill out, the complexion loses that sallow muddy cast, giving place to a clear skin and the ruddy glow of health.

Much depends on the promptness with which the treatment is commenced. Prickly Ash Bitters has cured many advanced cases that would not yield to other remedies, but it must be remembered that there is a stage in kidney disease beyond which no power on earth can save the patient. Take Warning! If you suspect anything wrong with your kidneys, begin treatment at once. It is your best hope of a cure.

L. G. Zachery, Lodi, Tex., says: "I never tried anything like Prickly Ash Bitters before in my life. It does its work almost in a night. I am now telling all my friends about your great remedy and all who try it speak of the splendid results. It has done me so much good that I will never again be without it in my house."

JAMES OUT FOR CHAMP CLARK

Kentucky Senator Elect Sets Forth His Position.

"DEPENDABLE DEMOCRAT."

Mr. James Declares That Bryan and Other Elements Would Support Speaker Clark, Who "Would Lead to Victory"—"His Selection the Wisest Thing We Can Do."

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]

Champ Clark is the choice of Ollie M. James for the Democratic nomination for president. In a statement issued from his rooms at the Seelbach prior to his departure for Washington the Kentucky senator elect, who has himself been mentioned for the honor by Mr. Bryan, says that in his opinion the selection of the presiding officer of the house of representatives as standard bearer would be the wisest step the Democrats could take and that it would mean a big victory for the party in November.

He describes the Missourian-Kentuckian as "a dependable Democrat" and says that he would be acceptable to Bryan Democrats, eastern conservatives and men of all shades of belief.

The statement in full is as follows: "I am for Speaker Champ Clark for the Democratic nomination for president. I believe his selection is the wisest thing we can do. It means, in my judgment, a great victory in the nation in November. Champ Clark is a dependable Democrat. He never bolts. He supported Mr. Bryan in all of his fights. He presided over the convention which nominated Judge Parker and earnestly advocated his election. His record is Democratic and sound to the core. He led the fight against the infamous Payne-Adrich tariff bill and went to the country upon his record and won for the Democratic party a Democratic house for the first time in twenty years. He displayed such mastery as our leader that he destroyed 'Cannonism' and drove out of national life the most brutal oligarchy that ever controlled special legislation in the interest of the favored few. He has battled for twenty years for an income tax, to the end that wealth might pay its just proportion of taxation and that labor might be lightly burdened.

Pioneer Anti-trust Man.

"He is a pioneer in opposition to trusts and monopolies and passed through the Missouri legislature the first anti-trust bill ever introduced in any legislative body in the Union, and it was upheld by the supreme court of the United States. He has voted for and advocated strict regulation of all transportation agencies. He has advocated and voted for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people. He has strongly supported publicity and corrupt practice acts. He has been the friend of labor and voted for the laws just to those who toil. He has opposed all laws that were designed to open the doors of our country to the cheap labor of the orient. In fact, Champ Clark's record is a Democratic platform upon which all Democrats would be content to stand.

"He was born in old Kentucky. He worked as a farm laborer upon our soil. He taught school here. He grew to manhood with our folks. His father and mother sleep in our soil, and while he is now the adopted son of Missouri, the imperial state of the great middle west, we none the less claim him for our own, and his heart still turns back to the old Kentucky home, for in all our battles in the last two decades Champ Clark has 'come back home' to help us.

"He as the nominee will receive the hearty support of every Bryan Democrat and will not be offensive to the eastern conservatives. In fact, men of all shades of belief can rally about him. A life of public service finds his record without a stain. I am heartily for him, and I believe his nomination means that for which we all so much hope—a great national victory."

James' Attitude Significant.

"If the Wilson people in Texas had not got away with the story that Wilson is Bryan's presidential choice," said Representative Jack Garner of Texas hotly to Mr. James, "the governor of New Jersey would have had no chance to get the Texas delegation. But the Democrats down there believed what the Wilson people told them." Politicians draw from Mr. James' words the natural conclusion that the speaker is at least as acceptable to Bryan as the governor of New Jersey.

CLARK ALWAYS FAITHFUL.

Has Supported Every Democratic Candidate For Years.

St. Louis, April 16.—Ex-Governor Robert A. Campbell in an interview says that Champ Clark has been voting in Pike county for nearly forty years and it is common knowledge that he never scratched a Democratic ticket. Ex-Governor Campbell said: "Clark was defeated for congress in 1894, and when Bryan was nominated in 1896 Clark took the stump for him. The night was never too dark for him to start out on a speaking trip. Clark was desperately poor in those days and often had to borrow $5 or $10 at a time to pay his railroad fare."

Ten Thousand Washingtonians Help Him Celebrate.

VICTOR OF THE WAR OF 1910

Congressman Lafe Pence's Happy Reference to His Personal Triumph in the Congressional Elections—"He Has Already Carried the Country." Record of His Leadership.

Washington, D. C.—[Spl.]—Speaker Clark's birthday celebration was one of the most remarkable meetings in the history of the capital of the nation. Ten thousand persons thronged Convention hall and paid tribute to the man who had lived and worked among them for eighteen years.

Probably the most remarkable speech of the evening was that made by ex-Congressman Lafe Pence of Colorado, who went into congress with Mr. Clark in 1892. It is particularly interesting to the Democrat who is trying to make a decision as to the best candidate for the party to choose at this time.

Lafe Pence's Speech.

"It is not strange that Speaker Clark is very generally regarded as the strongest candidate the Democracy could nominate. Compared with all commanders and leaders, he is naturally now as strong relatively as was Grant in 1864 when compared with other federal officers. He has fought the long fight. He has already won not only battles, but a war—the war of 1910. He was the issue in 1910, not in his home district, not in Missouri, but in every congressional district in the republic. He has already carried the country. Only one other Democrat since the civil war has done that. His strength has been demonstrated in exactly the states that are necessary to make up the majority in the electoral college. He is not weaker now than in 1910. He is stronger, much stronger, in the estimate of all thoughtful people. This is no guess. Each special election since 1910 has demonstrated it. Under his leadership the Democratic party is again recognized and known as the constructive party, the party that builds and makes and does. When minority leader in the Sixty-first congress he led his party out into the arena and, undecid, its sacred word to the sovereign people that it trusted with power it would accomplish, so far as it could, certain changes and reforms. The people believed him. They elected him and his majority in the house, and within sixty days after the special session began every promise had been redeemed. His party leadership is a most interesting study.

"After the campaign of 1904 we had left but one Democratic governor north of Mason and Dixon's line, Johnson of Minnesota. We did not have the control of a single branch of a single state legislature north of Mason and Dixon's line. We had but a petty dozen or two of congressmen from districts north of Mason and Dixon's line. By 1908 the conditions were somewhat improved. We had a few more congressmen. We had better strength in some northern state legislatures and had increased the number of Democratic governors, notably in Governor Burke of North Dakota, Shafroth of Colorado, Marshall of Indiana and Harmon in Ohio.

The Majesty of the Law.

Much is being said nowadays about the reform of the judiciary, some of which seems to be to the point, while a great deal of it is not only visionary, but incapable of execution. Yet the sad fact remains that on the one hand powerful interests in our country seem to exert an undue influence on the decisions of the courts, while on the other hand the process of justice is unduly prolonged and uncertain. Between English and American courts the difference is startling and a criminal appears to be much safer here than there.

The chief difference lies in the degree of authority ascribed to the law. In England it is absolute and recognized by all classes of society as such. The rich or noble criminal enjoys no special privileges before the law; it separates a man from his money and social position. With his money and prestige, he may procure while in jail better food and more attention, but when before the bar all these things forsake him. The judge knows him no more as an individual but as a criminal only.

The oath in England still has a great deal of meaning; a man thinks twice before swearing falsely. The authority of the law is perhaps shown nowhere so plainly as in the way common policemen are regarded in England and Canada, in fact everywhere under the British flag. Totally unarmed, with nothing save their uniform as a badge of authority, they are regarded even in such a world-city as London with a reverence that is to an American, inconceivable. It is the authority of the law imbedded in the hearts of all Englishmen that works the apparent miracle.

It is just here the American standard falls short. Our whole training seems at fault. The source of the trouble lies in our exaggerated notions of liberty and freedom, which is the majority of instances degenerate into license among us. One time an eminent foreigner visiting our educational institutions described this condition as a "lack of piety." What he meant was the unreverential attitude of children to parents, pupils to teachers, of men to masters and of people to magistrates.

In our courts this lack of piety is especially observable. All manner of subterfuges, tricks of law, are eagerly employed by the defendant and his lawyers to involve in a maze of technicalities and to confuse the undisciplined judgment of the jury. Our judges are often trammelled in their decisions by the unfortunate fact that their office is an elective one and that by and by they may need the political support of the man in the prisoner's dock and his followers. And deeper than all lies the fact that our generation has lost the deep sense of awe for man's personal responsibility to God and the sacredness of his oath. If every crime of perjury were punished among us, according to law, our prisons would probably prove inadequate to hold the offenders. In many trials the fact may be noticed that several witnesses swear to a set of facts absolutely contradictory of the testimony of another set of witnesses, and their testimony is of such remarkable uniformity that common sense indicates only one solution, which is that one group of witnesses has been "coached" to swear to facts which never occurred.

The lawyer who is guilty of such things commits a double crime—he is a party to the crime of perjury and he destroys forever in the hearts of these witnesses the sense of the majesty of the law. Thereafter it is to that witness only a thing to be trifled with, to be bought and sold.

The most needed reform in our day of commotion and social ferment is a return to first principles, a reform in our relation to the great fundamental principles of the Christian religion. In our profound reverence of the law as the absolute thing in our civic life, as the pillar on which all civilization rests. All reforms from above downward must prove failures necessarily. The only thing that can help us is a reformation from below upward.

The Slavery of Debt.

Among the many good things which Horace Greeley wrote for the New York Tribune is the following vivid article on the misery of being in debt:

To be hungry, ragged and penniless is not pleasant, but that is nothing to the horror of bankruptcy. All the wealth of the Rothschilds would be poor recompense for a five years struggle, with the consciousness that you had taken the money or property of trusting friends, promising to return or pay for it when required, and had betrayed their confidence through insolvency.

I dwell on this point for I would deter others from entering that place of torment. Half the young men in the country with many old enough to know better, would "go into business"—that is, into debt—tomorrow, if they could. Most men are so ignorant as to envy the merchant or manufacturer whose life is an incessant struggle with pecuniary difficulties, who is driven to constant "shinning," and who, from month to month, barely evades that insolvency which sooner or later overtakes most men in business, so that it has been computed that but one in twenty of them ever achieve pecuniary success.

For my own part—and I speak from sad experience—I would rather be a convict in a state prison, a slave in a rice swamp, than to pass through life under the horror of debt. Let no young man misjudge himself unfortunate, or poor, so long as he has the full use of his limbs and faculties and is substantially free from debt. Hunger, cold, rags, hard work, contempt, suspicion unjust reproach are all disagreeable; but debt is infinitely worse than them all. And, if it had pleased God to spare either or all of my sons to be the support and solace of my declining years, but lesson which I should have most earnestly sought to impress upon them is: "never run into debt, avoid pecuniary obligations as you would pestilence or famine. If you had but fifty cents, and can get no more for a week buy a peck of corn, parch it and live on it rather than owe any man a dollar.

"Of course, I know that some men must do business that involves risks, and must give notes and other obligations; and I do not really consider them in debt who can lay his hands directly on the means of paying, at some little sacrifice, all he owes—that which involves risk or sacrifice on the one side, obligation and dependence on the other—and I say, from all such, let every youth humbly pray God to preserve his evermore."

The Philosophy of Advertising.

Many people think that advertising is a fad and has no more substantial basis than custom. The fact is that some of the deepest philosophy of the human mind lies at the root of advertising. One of the basic principles is the well known principle of mesmerism, or the law of suggestion—that peculiarity of the mind that impels a person to do a thing that is repeatedly suggested. Ethel Barymore sued her husband for divorce, declaring that she had never loved him. A reporter asked her why, then, she had married him. "He was the leading man of my company, and therefore I saw him every day, and when a man asks you to marry him every day for a year, you just naturally marry him. You can't help yourself." It was the irresistible force of the law of suggestion. Hence the experience of all successful advertisers that success in advertising requires that the advertiser keep everlastingly at it. Often an old merchant who has been in one place for ten or twenty years and thinks he is well enough known to drop advertising and hold his trade is astonished to find business slipping away from him to the store of some new firm who is calling to them persistently through the advertising columns of their home papers. The law of suggestion explains it. Many people marvel that some advertisers of the widest experience will spend literally millions of dollars in only publishing the name of their goods, such as "Wine of Cardui," "Royal Baking Powder," "Dukes Bull Durham smoking Tobacco," etc., they wonder what earthly benefit there can be in such a bald, bare, inconsequential advertisement as that. These advertisers themselves may not know that it is the law of suggestion; they do know that it pays them big money, and that is sufficient for them.

And this brings to mind the opinion often heard that advertising doesn't pay. If this were true, do you suppose the most sagacious and successful business men in every line of trade would waste millions of good money in an unprofitable fad; These men know the value of a dollar if anybody does, and they keep a keen eye on profits and losses. They are strangers to mere sentiment, but measure everything by the ice-cold standard of dollars and cents. They do not throw any money at the birds. Every dollar they invest must bring back satisfactory profit, or it is called in and given another job. With such men actual experience counts for more than any amount of guess-work. They know what they are doing. These men are the men who are paying the Saturday Evening Post more than five million dollars a year and engage the space a year ahead at $98 an inch each insertion.

Of course there are other principles underlying advertising—many of them; but it would string out this article out to great length to treat them all at this time. As an opportunity offers we shall take them up in their turn.

In the meantime, ponder well the following bit of wisdom from successful advertiser: "When business is good, I advertise some to get more; when business is poor, I advertise more to get some"—San Angelo Record.

SHOT THROUGH BRAIN
BUT STILL ALIVE

Thirteen Year Old Boy Accidentally
Shot By Brother Near Nolan
With 22 Rifle.

News reached this city yesterday that Tommie, the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Morrow, who reside near Nolan, was accidentally shot with a 22 rifle last Saturday. Physicians from this city were called and with the local physicians at Nolan dressed the boy's wounds, and at this writing he is resting very comfortably.

A remarkable thing about this case is that the bullet entered the young man's head just back of the right ear, and ranged across his brain to the left side. In talking to Dr. Richardson of Nolan about the affair this afternoon he said although the bullet had penetrated and evidently passed through the brain the boy was still alive and though not entirely conscious, there were times when he was.

The boy was shot by his older brother, with whom he was hunting. —Sweetwater Reporter.

HAVE YOU EVER TAKEN CALOMEL?

Next Time Don't Do It, It's Dangerous. Try Dodson's Liver-Tone Instead—It's Safe.

You ought to know what a dangerous and uncertain drug the chemical calomel is. Perhaps you know several people who have been salivated by what they thought was a very light dose of calomel.

Next time you have an attack of biliousness, or when your liver has gotten sluggish, come to Floyd Beall's drug store and ask for a bottle of Dodson's Liver-Tone. You will find it a pleasant tasted liquid and a perfect substitute for calomel in every respect and without the dangerous after-effects of calomel.

Dodson's Liver-Tone gives the liver just the amount of gentle stimulation it needs to induce it to do its work properly and thoroughly. Floyd Beall's drug store will give you your money back any time Dodson's Liver-Tone fails to prove itself a perfect substitute for calomel.

The Singing at Lone Wolf.

Quite a number from Colorado attended the all-day singing held by the eastern district convention last Sunday at Lone Wolf school house, in the northern part of the county.

W. L. Doss, president of the county convention was present and made the convention a little talk. He pledged them the unstinted hospitality of Colorado on the occasion of the county convention on the first Sunday in May, and it is up to the people of the town to see that his promise is fully redeemed. And while we are on this subject, a word just here about that particular part of the county, in order. It is the most thickly settled portion of the county, having the appearance of an old settled country, with good, prosperous looking homes on all sides. It would be to the profit of Colorado to cultivate the most cordial business relations with the people of this section. Their trade could be made worth much to the town, and as it has to go somewhere, the proper inducements might bring it here. Make it to the advantage of these people in a business way, by good roads and reasonable prices, to bring their trade to Colorado, and when they can be made to see it in this light, they will come.

Considering the time and conditions, the carnival did very well here this week. It is above the average of such attractions and is wholly free of any objectionable features.

We have talked with a score of farmers this week about crop conditions, and have found but one who had any kick about conditions, but we believe if this man should have his crop put in, cultivated, gathered, marketed and the money banked for him, he would yet have a kick coming about something.

Colorado, as well as every other town, needs a public park where such attractions as carnivals, baseball and other forms of outdoor amusements, can be had. Such a park could be made to pay for itself in a few years.

May 4th The Day.

Judge Cato Sells chairman of the Woodrow Wilson Democratic League, has issued the following circular to all the friends of Governor Wilson:

"Since the action of the state democratic executive committee in turning down the almost unanimous desire for a presidential preference primary, the precinct meetings, which will be held on May 4th are the all important factor in the contest to secure a Wilson delegation from Texas to the national convention.

The above applies with equal force to the friends of every other candidate in the field; the thing we wish to impress on the minds of forgetful voters, is the fact that it is very necessary to attend the precinct meetings, for forces are set in motion there that will determine the selection of delegates to the national convention.

Same Condition in Mitchell.

There are some things there is no getting away from, among them might be mentioned the fact that Taylor county must have a new court house before other years go into history.

Like Banquo's ghost, these crying necessities will not down. Mitchell county will pretty soon need a new court house and jail unless the old ones are taken better care of than has been lavished on them the past few years.

Again; granting that the present court house building is not worth repairing, is that any extenuation of the neglect of the clock in its cupola, that cost something like $2,000 we understand, or of allowing the trees in the yard to die and the park otherwise to go to ruin?

SUFFERED 23 YEARS

Constant Sufferer From Chronic Catarrh Relieved by Peruna.

Mrs. J. H. Bourland, San Saba, Texas, writes: "For twenty-three years I was a constant sufferer from chronic catarrh. I had a severe misery and burning in the top of my head. There was almost a continual dropping of mucus into my throat, which caused frequent expectoration. My entire system gradually became involved, and my condition grew worse. I had an incessant cough and frequent attacks of bilious colic, from which it seemed I could not recover. My bowels also became affected, causing alarming attacks of hemorrhages. I tried many remedies, which gave only temporary relief or no relief at all. I at last tried Peruna, and in three days I was relieved of the bowel derangement. After using five bottles I was entirely cured. I most cheerfully recommend the use of Peruna to any one similarly afflicted."

Mrs. J. H. Bourland.

What Will Your Car Cost You—After You Buy It?

Did you ever think of that? Service is a big item in modern automobile buying.

What Kind of a Guarantee Have You Got?

Some manufacturers guarantee "for life." That's like a health insurance which expires when you're sick. It sounds pretty and is worth nothing.

The Studebaker guarantee is full and complete. It stands for a year. You can understand that; you can bank on it. Remember, too, that a year covers the hardest part of a car's life. By the second year you know how to treat it. And with a Studebaker car its life is practically a matter of the care you give it. Take care of it and no limit can be named to its endurance.

What Will Parts Cost You?

We mention this gently because with many of our competitors it is a tender point. Their theory too often is, HOLD UP THE OWNER. So it is common knowledge that it costs three or four times as much to buy most cars part by part as it would to buy them assembled. But every Studebaker part is listed at its proportionate cost in a complete car plus but a small percentage for handling.

Studebaker Parts Price Lists are the most complete and convenient on the market and, so our dealers tell us, the most convincing argument we can give them. Our Parts Price Lists convince the prospective owner. A Studebaker buyer is assured of continual fair dealing. Go to our dealer and investigate.

Finally, How Quick Can You Get New Parts?

Suppose they had to come a few hundreds or thousands of miles while your car lay idle. You, of course, would have to wait. Not so with Studebaker cars. Most of our 2,000 dealers carry parts and in almost every state in the Union there are Studebaker branch houses, with full parts supplies. Thirty-six branches in all—and it requires but two or three days at the most to get any part you need.

That name STUDEBAKER tells the story. It stands for square dealing. Rely on it. Your father did; so can you. And send for our new catalogue.

"Cardui Cured Me"

For nearly ten years, at different times, Mrs. Mary Jinks of Treadway, Tenn., suffered with womanly troubles. She says: "At last, I took down and thought I would die. I could not sleep. I couldn't eat. I had pains all over. The doctors gave me up. I read that Cardui had helped so many, and I began to take it, and it cured me. Cardui saved my life! Now, I can do anything."

TAKE The CARDUI Woman's Tonic

If you are weak, tired, worn-out, or suffer from any of the pains peculiar to weak women, such as headache, backache, dragging-down feelings, pains in arm, side, hip or limbs, and other symptoms of womanly trouble, you should try Cardui, the woman's tonic. Prepared from perfectly harmless, vegetable ingredients, Cardui is the best remedy for you to use, as it can do you nothing but good. It contains no dangerous drugs. It has no bad after-effects. Ask your druggist. He sells and recommends Cardui.

Governor O. B. Colquitt is billed to speak here on Friday, May 3rd. More definite information as to the time and place of his speaking will be given by circulars distributed on the streets and mailed to interior places. Whether you agree with Governor Colquitt's position and policies or not, he is the chief executive of the great state of Texas and the position he holds and the power and dignity it represents, demand for him a respectful and attentive hearing. No one can differ more widely with him on the most important questions relating to the state's interests than does the Record, but we know he is a most pleasant and entertaining speaker and handles whatever question he touches with entertainment and instruction.

Sprained Back.

Sprained back and sore muscles throw off their soreness when Hunt's Lightning Oil is applied. For relieving pain of any kind there is nothing better, and those people who have tried it for Neuralgia and Rheumatism are loud in its praise. For wire cuts Hunt's Lightning Oil is especially fine as it takes away the inflammation and causes rapid healing. 25c and 50c bottles.

With the warmer weather, county politics are beginning to take on a little more life. The candidates are preparing to go out and hunt up the holder of that poll tax receipt in his own ballwick and tell him how much more he needs the office than his competitors, or how much worse he wants it.

We want your business. We need it and will guarantee the style and price to be right.—MRS. B. F. MILLS. Read "My Lady of Doubt."

We heard an old campaigner last week, one who bears on his record the honorable scars of many a hard fought contest, lost and won, say, that in counting your chickens before they were hatched and votes before they were cast, it was a fairly safe rule to believe two men in ten who promised to vote for you. In his first race, if a voter did not come out boldly and tell him he would not vote for him, he was simple enough to believe that man would vote for him. In his next few rounds he counted on about half the promises, but after that, for the last dozen or two races he had made for offices of one kind and another, he had lowered the ratio to two in ten, and that was a generous allowance.

As the weather waxes hotter this summer and the citizens of Colorado begin to grumble loud at the iceman for being so slow about getting around they will look at that nice ice plant standing idle in our town and wonder what it was built for. What a rebuke its idleness is to the progressive spirit of the town; what a commentary on our loyalty to home institutions, and how it stultifies our denunciations of the mail order houses. It looks as if we are guilty of the very thing we denounce in others. What an explanation it does require to strangers who ask why a $16,000 ice plant stands idle in Colorado while the citizens import ice from a neighboring town. It is the same condition of the gins standing idle here and the farmers hauling cotton to the gins in Abilene. Whatever may be the reasons for this anomalous condition of things, one thing is certain; it can not but hurt the town. It nullifies every effort the commercial club may make to stimulate better industrial conditions and belie the very confidence in the town we profess to have to the outside world.

To read some of the big papers one would think the only thing lacking in a sweeping national democratic victory this fall was the delayed rejoicing and bonfires.

See Albert Taylor at the opera house next Friday in "The Game" and on Saturday night in "The Wolf."

Major and Mrs. Johnson arrived some days ago from Mexico, deciding that until conditions become more quiet and tranquil in that excitable country, the good old United States, Texas and the town of Colorado were more desirable places of abode.

All the money of the Astors piled up and multiplied over and over was not able to save him in the late Titanic disaster. He was no better than the commonest sailor or saboteur immigrant in the eyes of the unwritten law of the sea. How willingly would he have given all his money to have been able to go with his wife, but he had to stand aside. It is inconceivable that he volunteered to remain on the doomed vessel in order to give place to some weaker passenger. In the estimation of the world those half dozen millionaires on board, were of more importance than the rest of the passengers and crew, but in that crucible of danger where all the varnish and trappings of worldly estimate are stripped off, they stand in their naked individuality on equal footing.

The newspaper that sets out with a resolute policy to give the news in an unbiased way, to print opinions, which by their clarity, righteousness and timeliness shall act as an educational force in the community and that rigidly excludes all attempts from the outside to delude its readers, almost inevitably meets success. As a rule the country press may pride itself on its honesty and independence. No doctor or lawyer is more trusted than the newspaper, and in few instances has the trust been betrayed. The organs of so-called public opinion that sell their columns to politicians or corporations are as a rule detected and condemned. Their time is short and they are soon swept into that limbo from which no newspaper ever returns.

Singing Convention Committees.

The following committee was appointed by County Chairman W. L. Doss some time ago to arrange for the entertainment of the delegates and visitors to the county singing convention which meets at Colorado, Sunday, May 5th:

C. A. Pierce, J. B. Annis, J. Riordan, J. R. Altizer, H. W. Rowland, Y. D. McMurry, D. M. Stell, Jesse H. Bullock, A. J. Coe, C. C. Blandford, W. W. Porter, Harris Gardner, Dr. W. R. Smith, A. J. Smith.

To this committee the following names from the commercial club have been added: Earl Jackson, R. P. Price, H. C. Doss and A. W. Cooksey.

This joint committee is called to meet at the Christian church next Saturday night at 8 o'clock to perfect arrangements for the entertainment of delegates and visitors.

On Saturday, May 4th, the committee for the revision of the bylaws will meet in Colorado at the tabernacle in the afternoon, and the convention will meet at same place at night for the transaction of all routine business. All delegates on arrival will please meet the committee at the tabernacle.

A gay crowd spent Sunday at Lone-wolf school house enjoying the singing and the dinner on the ground. All the Colorado candidates were out meeting the people and helping with the singing, which really was very fine. The convention meets here in May and our people will sing with the others for the banner. Among those at Lonewolf Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cooksey, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. McAfee and Jack Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Annis, Mr. W. L. Doss and others.

France will drop the a. m. and p. m. designations after the first of June in its railroad, postal and telegraph services. A thorough test has been made of the system and proven satisfactory. The day will be divided into 24 hours beginning at 12 o'clock at night and simple numbers used; for instance 23:45 for 11:45 p. m. There can be no question but that this system would greatly simplify timetables and schedules and prevent many of the accidents which have been the result of misreading these abbreviations.

John Jacob Astor, in the eyes of many people may have lived the life of a degenerate, but he died every inch a man and a hero. His very last act on earth ennobles him and leaves to his posterity a higher and greater heritage than all his money and social position.

"Our Personal Guarantee to all Skin Sufferers"

W. L. DOSS

We have been in business in this town for some time, and we are looking to build up trade by always advising our patrons right.

So when we tell you that we have found the eczema remedy and that we stand back of it with the manufacturer's iron-clad guarantee, backed by ourselves you can depend upon it that we give our advice not in order to sell a few bottles of medicine to skin sufferers, but because we know how it will help our business if we help our patrons.

We keep in stock and sell, all the well known skin remedies. But we will say this: If you are suffering from any kind of skin trouble, eczema, psoriasis, rash or tetter, we want you to try a full size bottle of D. D. D. Prescription. And, if it does not do the work, this bottle will cost you nothing. You alone to judge. Again and again we have seen how a few drops of this simple wash applied to the skin, takes away the itch, instantly. And the cures all seem to be permanent.

D. D. D. Prescription made by the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago, is composed of thymol, glycerine, oil of wintergreen and other healing, soothing, cooling ingredients. And if you are just crazy with itch, you will feel soothed and cooled, the itch absolutely washed away the moment you applied this D. D. D.

We have made fast friends of more than one family by recommending this remedy to a skin sufferer here and there and we want you to try it now on our positive no-pay guarantee.

WEEKLY RECORD OF EVENTS AT NATIONAL CAPITAL

Things Suggested by Law Makers For the General Good of the Country.

Washington, D. C.—(Special.) With the Mississippi floods as an object lesson it is safe to assume that renewed efforts will be put forth by all the friends of waterways for a more comprehensive plan of river betterments than is in vogue at the present time. The ravages of the mighty river with death, disease and desolation as a toll, cannot help but incite the liveliest possible interest in the halls of Congress and it is expected that when the river and harbor appropriation bill comes before the Senate for consideration an illuminating discussion on how to prevent these awful floods in the future will undoubtedly ensue.

If the Mississippi river had been improved as a highway of commerce and kept in constant use it very likely would not have overrun its banks according to those who know the peculiar condition of "The Father of Waters." Where floods are incidentally one of the results of abandoning the river for navigation and the sooner there is a return to the old order of things the better it will be for everybody concerned, for then will come higher and better levees and a strengthening of fortifications to hold this majestic body of water in check especially during the spring freshets.

For years the National Rivers and Harbors Congress has been pounding away for a broad and comprehensive policy of waterway improvements and as soon as the navigable rivers of the country are brought into a series of related units the sooner will the transportation problem be solved.

Patriotic citizens are constantly coming to the front with panaceas for the evils under which we live in this country. One of the latest of these patriots is spending a great deal of money in stationery and postage stamps in an effort to educate the people generally and Congress in particular up to the point of demanding the recoinage of three-cent pieces. It is argued that this minor coin is demanded as a business necessity, now that the bargain sales of the department store have become so firmly established. The originator of the idea of the recoinage of this coin is probably not old enough to remember that in the days before the Civil War, millions of tiny silver coins with a mint mark stamped on them which made them legal tender for three cents were coined and that during the days when the only metal coins in general circulation were one-cent pieces the Treasury issued "three-cent shin plasters." Again after the close of the strife between the states, nickel three-cent pieces were coined for several years, and they being about the same size as the silver dimes frequently found their way into the tills of storekeepers for the coins of larger value. The cessation of the issuance of three-cent coins and three-cent "bills" by the treasury never caused a complaint and there has never been a serious demand for the rehabilitation of the denomination as a unit of currency.

Among the coins which are no longer issued, but which were at one time minted, are twenty-cent pieces in silver, one and three dollar gold pieces and half cents in bronze or copper. There have been demands from time to time for a new half-cent piece, which might prove a useful addition to the coinage, but there are so many objections that the demand is not likely to meet with favor in Congress for some time to come. Nor is it likely that this new appeal for a coin of the value of three cents will meet with favor.

The Committee on Agriculture is determined to pass a bill for the inspection of nursery stock in spite of the opposition which has developed in certain quarters; Representative Simmons of New York, in whose district there are many nurserymen, has tried repeatedly to secure action on a measure to protect the purchasers of trees, shrubs and plants from the danger of infected stock. He has at last succeeded in framing a bill which seems to meet with the entire approval of the committee. It is designed to regulate the importation of nursery stock; to enable the Secretary of Agriculture to appoint a Federal Horticultural Board, and to define the powers of this board in establishing and maintaining quarantine districts for plant diseases and insect pests and to permit and regulate the movement of fruits, plants and vegetables therefrom. Rigid inspection of all stock from countries which do not require inspection is provided for and importers are prohibited from entering, and common carriers are prohibited from transporting, any stock not bearing the prescribed certificates.

The committee in the course of its investigations has discovered that a great many American firms which have export agents in France have refused and neglected to obtain certificates from the French Department of Agriculture and as a consequence the French exporters complain. It is of course out of the question to demand that the exports of the foreign shipped shall bear certificates of inspection so long as the American firms exporting from those same countries are held immune from the inspection. The Simmons bill treats all alike and it appears to be a step in the direction of preventing the further introduction of diseases and pests into the orchards, gardens and parks of the United States.

Special Examination.

The following communication from State Superintendent Bralley to Judge A. J. Coe, county superintendent of public instruction, will prove of interest to teachers:

To the County Superintendent or Ex-officio county superintendent:

In view of the fact that a great many teachers in the state holding certificates which will expire before the regular June examination desire to build upon these certificates, in accordance with the law, before their expiration, and in view of the further fact that the time for grading and reporting upon the papers of the June examination before the summer normal examinations are held is very limited, it has been deemed wise and proper to call a special examination at each of the county seats in the state on May 2, 3, and 4, 1912. This examination will not take the place of the June examination which will be held on the 6th, 7th, and 8th of June, in accordance with the requirements of the law. The papers of applicants from each of these examinations will be graded and reported upon before the beginning of the first series of summer normal examinations.

You are requested to give notice to the public through the local papers of your county and by other available means with respect to these examinations.

It should be noted that the special examination for May is authorized for the issuance of state certificates only. The same rules and regulations which govern the regular examinations will also govern in this instance.

The following is a schedule of the examination:

Thursday: Forenoon, History of Education, Physics, Solid Geometry, English and American Literature; Afternoon, Psychology, Chemistry, Plane Trigonometry, Bookkeeping.

Friday: Forenoon, Texas History, Physiology, Spelling, Reading; Afternoon, Civil Government, Algebra, General History, Composition.

Respectfully yours,
 F. M. BRALLEY,
 State Superintendent.

The Boston Version.

To be sure, there are democrats in Massachusetts as well as in all other states, and there are likewise supporters of Champ Clark, and in order to be in line with the Clark sentiment, they must use the "Houn Dawg" campaign song. But it must be in harmony with the Hostonese diction. Imagine, if you can, any enthusiasm in a bunch, or a chance for their candidate, singing the following, as the Chicago Tribune thinks it would be rendered:

Upon every occasion when in a casual and fortuitous way or for the transaction of ordinary business I visit this municipality,

The indolent and pestiferous urchins who congregate upon the public highways indulge in unseemly and violent exhibitions of hostility toward the canine friend that accompanies me whenever I chance to be in their locality.

Admitting for the sake of argument that my canine friend belongs to a species that is characterized by elongated articular appendages and an ululation of phenomenal volume and profundity this circumstance is utterly immaterial and establishes no logical basis in contravention of the postulate that generic variations constitute no valid excuse for such flagrant inhospitality.

Wherefore I take this opportunity to declare in the most positive and unequivocal manner that these barbarous, supervacaneous specimens of metropolitan juvenility who thus persecute my canine friend and companion with such mordacious truculence must terminate at once and forever these violent and unseemly exhibitions of brutal illiberality!

Are you obstructing the wheels of a Texas town? If you are, look out! You will get run over.

"During the past seven years I suffered from pains in the back and ovaries. Tried many remedies but found only transient relief until I was persuaded by a friend to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After giving this remedy a fair trial, I found that it would do just what it is recommended to do. I used in all seven bottles. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Pierce's remedies for all female derangements."
