NUTSHELL BIOGRAPHY

Colorado In Epitome

By FRANK McDONALD

The smoke of battle has cleared away and peace reigneth after the long storm. Nutshell congratulates the good fellows upon whose banners victory perched and commiserates with the equally good fellows who have gone the Salt River route. The latter should remember and dwell pleasantly upon the fact, all history proves it, that the minority in the main are ever the ones in the right and they should take especial grace and cheer of heart from the example of the "peerless one" who perennially goes down to defeat only to, Phoenix-like, arise a greater power than ever as witness the greatest triumphs of his life recently achieved at Baltimore.

one of the primitive prodigies who was not declared the dearest, darlingest, most delightful cherubin in Christendom at the aforesaid show. "Never again!" says the genial Blackstonian disciple and in fact the person who says "baby show" in his presence is in danger of bodily harm.

"It is an ill wind that blows no good." And the truth of the old proverb is exemplified during the present prevailing hot spell by the fact that the business of the Colorado Steam Laundry has been much augmented. It brings cash to its coffers and pays a city to have plants that are strictly down-to-date.

county there are, happily, left no lasting stings of defeat to rankle in the breasts of the unsuccessful nor do the fortunate ones unduly rejoice over their less lucky opponents.

The fights were cleanly made and victor and vanquished can all turn to the more congenial work of boosting for Colorado and West Texas even as the gallant veterans of Lee went back to the ploughshare and the furrow after their four years' of fruitless struggle and began the work of building a new, better and greater south.

"Friendship is but a name and love a waning passion but stern revenge gives to the soul a beaker full." District Attorney elect W. P. Leslie now realizes the inherent truth contained in these words penned by Willis the pessimistic poet of the Pine Tree state in ante bellum days.

Mr. Leslie was down in Roscoe election day ingratiating the elusive and

W. H. MOESER.

One of the young old timers of Colorado who has played a prominent and worthy part in the development and material up-building of the city and county for well nigh a quarter of a century past, is the gentleman named above. There are but few of the prosperous ranch and farm homes that dot the landscape in Mitchell and adjoining counties to the appertences of which he has not added a windmill or built and installed a tank, and the court houses at Midland and Robert Lee and many of the prominent public and private buildings of Big Springs, Sweetwater and other places, as well as those in the cities and hamlets of Mitchell county, are mute monuments to his skill as a craftsman in cornice work, roofing, plumbing, etc., and in no less than forty of Colorado's principal build-uncertain voter by his winsome and captivating presence and could not understand why his extended right hand of fellowship was so coldly received by a certain citizen nor why his cordial greeting was met with a silent contemptuous, half triumphant, here's-where-I-get-even, baneful, not to say murderous expression from the steely glare of friendless eyes.

Later he was made wise. Once upon a time the usually astute county attorney was indiscreetly injudicious for the nonce and consented to act as judge in a baby beauty show at Roscoe the infantile fight being so warmly waged by the respective kin and admirers of the contestants that Nolan county residents were debarred from so acting. The voter at Saturday's primary happened to be the parent of ings he has installed modern sanitary toilet appointments.

Generally speaking Mr. Moeser does everything in tinning and plumbing, in water supplies including the building of tanks and placing of windmills and corollary therewith carries all articles and supplies connected with these lines.

As a citizen W. H. Moeser is public spirited and progressive, has been a city father since the incorporation of Colorado, is prominent fraternally, being a 32nd degree Scottish Rite mason and Shriner, a Knight Templar and a Knight of Pythias and, in general, he is an active booster of all movements to better Colorado materially and morally.

BEAL BROTHERS.

St. Paul, the great master mind of the apostles and of an intellect that has been rarely equalled in any age, urged attention to the stomach if one would keep the body healthy and the faculties unimpaired.

This is a carnivorous age as pertains to foodstuffs and the best way to live up to St. Paul's advice is to be sure that all meats that enter the great digestive organ of the physical frame be pure and fresh and the best obtainable. Coloradans can be sure of this by getting everything in this line of the leading caterers in the city in this respect—the Beal Bros. market on Walnut street opposite the postoffice. They are past masters in picking the choicest cuts from tender beefs, their meats and other supplies are kept in cold storage exactly as are the Swift or Armour products save on a smaller scale and all appointments and everything pertaining to the market is kept in that cleanly and wholesome condition which so makes for the edibility, flavor, freshness and purity of meats.

Fish and oysters are kept in season and during watermelon time this firm handles this luscious vegetable extensively and melon lovers have learned that fresh from their cold storage plant this succulent delicacy has a wholesomeness and sweetness that is exquisitely palatable.

The Messrs. Beal Bros. began business about a year ago and ever since opening their doors have enjoyed a large and increasing trade. The members of the firm are H. S. Beal and R. C. Beal aged, respectively 32 and 24 years. Cliff Beal, the junior member, was born and raised in Colorado and H. S. came to it when but five years old, so that both are practically native sons.

They are progressive and public spirited citizens and ever in the vanguard of all movements making for a bigger and better Colorado.

J. B. ANNIS.

If one was asked what article of apparel and adornment, to which was given the most fastidious care in choice of style and finish, one would naturally answer the fashionable head piece that adorns the female form divine. But not so. And neither can the genus human of either sex lay claim to having his or her clothes or garments selected with the most exceeding care and particularity.

Here in the West more care is given to and more cold cash expended in selecting the noblest and naggiest things in the shape of saddles for the noble equine than for the costly creation of the milliners' art that crowns and bedecks the fair sex.

One need only examine the splendid saddlery and harness stock of J. B. Annis on South Second and the masterpieces in the first named line that are always being made for some of his patrons to avouch the truth of this statement.

Mr. Annis is but in his 37th year but extends all over the southwest, embracing practically all the counties of Texas, all portions of New Mexico and Arizona and crosses the boundary line far into old Mexico he frequently receiving orders from the interior of the land of the Aztecs.

Mr. Annis is but in his 37th year but the last 20 of them have been solely devoted to his chosen calling and he knows the length, breadth, width and every dimension of every article that goes to make up the apparel and furnishings of a horse and the involved intricacies of their manufacture. His stock of goods in this line is the largest between Fort Worth and El Paso and his reputation for carrying and making the best goods of this character is unsurpassed in the Southwest. J. B. Annis is a native of Ellis county, came to Colorado a dozen years ago and until purchasing the business five years ago worked at his trade in the store which he now owns and successfully conducts. He is a member of the Methodist church, prominently identified with the Knights of Pythias and Woodmen of the World fraternal orders and a progressive citizen who is ever pulling, pushing and boosting for a bigger and better Colorado.

GEO. E. LAYNE

Some thirty years ago when the bicycle first appeared upon the scene of worldly affairs and its utilitarian usefulness in commercial channels became apparent it was predicted that the heyday of the horse had vanished and that he would be relegated to the range and the pasture. Again when the more speedy and comfortable auto came into the field the wisecracks foresaw the doom of the noble equine, save in the trotting or pacing arena, but these seers were once more at fault for man's most faithful helper and friend since the world began is still pursuing the even tenor of his useful way and today commands a better price in the marts of trade than ever before. And as long as time goes on this faithful four footed animal contributes to man's comfort, pleasure and material benefit will indubitably fill a useful place in the scheme of life. A thorough believer in all that is stated above is Geo. E. Layne, who has been a lover of horse flesh, and has had to do with horses all his forty years of life, who two months ago purchased the Arlington Livery Stable on Walnut street and who has proven the truth of what is here contended for by since doing a far better business than his most sanguine hopes anticipated, albeit times are somewhat depressed.

Mr. Layne's stable is one of the largest and best appointed in West Texas, being a thorough judge of the qualities of a horse, born of long experience and his inherent love of the equine, his stock is always the best and kept in first class condition, which care is extended to his boarding as well as his own horses, and in addition to his livery and boarding business he is always ready to buy, sell or trade in horses and mules.

There can be no more alluring pleasure in creation than in the cool and pleasant days that will soon be upon us, to take one's family for a drive out Lone Wolf way on through fertile farming country environing us and Colorado is fortunate in having an experienced caterer in the livery line as a factor of its business world.

Mr. Layne is a native of Arkansas, but he has lived in Texas all his life and the past five years on his western plains. He intends making Colorado his future home and our city can well felicitate itself on his acquisition.

POSTMASTER P. A. HAZZARD

One of the pioneers of pioneers and oldest of old timers of Colorado in point of continuous years of residence is its genial and efficient postmaster, who has capably filled this important office since lo! the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. He was first appointed by President Arthur August, 1881, and has since constantly held the office, save intervals of two and four years each under Cleveland's first and last administration, he having resigned during this president's second term by reason of impaired health which happily, he speedily thereafter regained.

Mr. Hazzard located where the city of Colorado now stands thirty-two years ago when it was but a blind siding and the environs country a little erstwhile the feeding ground of vast herds of buffalo which roamed the ranges and unmolested reveled in their rich, luxurious native and other bisonic pleasures.

He preceded the railroad and with its advent witnessed this then frontier outpost become the greatest cattle center of the world and a typically tough wild and woolly western town and he has seen it metamorphosize from a lawless cowboy's delight to one of the most Christian, cultured and law abiding communities of Texas and commensurately merge from a stock country into one of the famed farming and fruit raising sections of the southwest.

Texas has ever been the staunchest Democratic stronghold of the country and its firm and fighting delegates were Woodrow Wilson's most loyal supporters at Baltimore and if one was to venture a word in season to the distinguished Princeton pedagogue who is so soon to sit in the presidential chair, it would be to the effect that unless he wishes to become persona non grata to that portion of the Lone Star state comprised in Colorado and Mitchell county he must keep "hards off" as regards any change in the Colorado postmastership.

The average Colorado citizen going for his daily mail would feel as uncomfortable as a Texas prohibitionist at a Tammany Hall bowery caucus unless Mr. Hazzard was at the throttle overseeing the distribution of Uncle Sam's mail matter.

J. H. COOPER.

In the useful, utilitarian calling which calls for men of might, mentally as well as physically to attain the best success, the blacksmithing and woodworking trade the gentleman here told of is distinctively the leading craftsman of Colorado and Mitchell county as well as the oldest in this line although yet a young man. It was seventeen years ago that Mr. Cooper first opened a shop in this city and many of the buggies and hacks that traversed Colorado's streets and the county turpikes in early days were made by him for he builds buggies, wagons, etc., as well as doing a general blacksmithing business, carriage painting and wagon repairing and woodwork of all kinds.

His establishment is well located in the business center on Walnut street fronting the postoffice and is a busy hive of industry at all times as in the lines mentioned he does the largest business in the county.

Mr. Cooper has a comfortable and pleasant home in the city; all his property and other interests are centered here, he is an active member of the Commercial club, is morally and as pertains to material advancement and up-building, a progressive citizen and is hence entitled to due mention in this retrospect and horoscopic column.

In conducting his business Mr. Cooper is ably assisted by his competent son, A. B. Cooper, who has been brought up in the business and knows its every detail.

W. P. LESLIE WINS OUT.

The Record had "no dog in the recent bear fight;" indeed it lost the majority of the candidates for which it voted, but one of the few of its fortunate selections won out by such decisive majority as to compensate in some measure for the many unfortunate selections. W. P. Leslie came under the wire many lengths ahead and with "hands down." His majority in his home county was 522 which was practically maintained all over the district; he and his opponent breaking about even in the counties where neither of them lived.

Mr. Leslie came to Mitchell county and Colorado a trifle over four years ago, soon after which he ran for county attorney and was elected, which office he has held for four years, discharging every duty as it arose fearlessly and impartially. He has been a continuous and diligent worker, going to the bottom of every case under his care and otherwise giving to his profession every working hour. He has grown mightily in his knowledge of the law and management of cases. He has not, like many who were elected to office the first time they ran, asked for a higher and more responsible position until he thoroughly demonstrated his ability to fill the office he had to overflowing measure. He proved his fitness for and ability to fill a higher office while discharging the duties of the lower one.

This Mr. Leslie has done to every mind that will accord his case a fair and impartial hearing. It is but human to associate the law with the officer whose duty it is to execute it and to visit upon the officer responsibility for the "punitive effect of the law." For this reason Mr. Leslie has incurred the hostility of many; but no prosecuting attorney can escape this, and his new position as prosecutor in a higher court for a larger territory will carry with it the same attitude toward offenders and the same result. But he has the moral courage to do his duty and the physical courage to stand by it. He possesses also a wonderful capacity for hard and continuous work, which will stand him well in hand in the discharge of his new duties.

Aside from the material progress, Mr. Leslie has made since coming to Colorado, his progress in other circles has been no less pronounced. He owns a neat and comfortable cottage home, where with wife and "bairns," he represents the family unit of the strength and permanency of our national glory. He enjoys the highest respect and confidence of all who know him. Of a naturally reticent habit he must be known well to be appreciated at his true worth. His new office will give him a wider acquaintance and closer contact with members of his own profession and others as well. He will lose much of timidity and gain at the same time more of self-confidence and aggressiveness which is no small factor in a successful career today.

The Record will watch the career of Mr. Leslie with interest and confidence—interest, because it takes pleasure in the upward struggles of any man—confidence, because it believes Leslie has every element of head and heart to deserve success, even if he does not command it. For it is of greater merit to deserve success than to command it.

Congressmen at Large.

Hatton W. Summers, Daniel E. Garrett, C. M. Cureton, Jeff McLemore and J. N. Browning, in the order named, continue to lead in the race for Congressmen at Large. The returns received up to press time credit them with the following votes:

Summers	31,002
Garrett	29,058
Cureton	25,151
McLemore	24,989
Browning	16,924

It will be noted that these candidates have made their gains in the same ratio to the general count, the report in yesterday's Dallas News having shown Summers leading, Garrett second, Cureton third, McLemore fourth and Browning fifth.

MAYES APPRECIATES THE PRESS.

Brownwood, Tex., July 30, 1912. To the Press of Texas:

I wish to extend my thanks to the press for the almost unanimous support that has made certain my nomination for the office of Lieutenant Governor. I realize that my nomination was due almost solely to that support. To be entirely frank, I appreciate the many kind expressions of my friends of the press regarding my candidacy far more than I will the office.

Members of my family have expressed a desire to gather and keep these notices, and I will appreciate it if you will send to my personal address any such references you may have made to my candidacy, or may make editorially, regarding my nomination.

When I can serve you in any way, do not hesitate to call on me, for I shall be grateful for any opportunity to reciprocate the many favors shown.

Fraternally yours,

WIL H. MAYES.

The very first reports from the field indicated the nomination of Will H. Mayes of Brownwood as Lieutenant governor. At no stage was his nomination in doubt. He is the right man in the right place and no voter in Texas will ever regret casting his vote for him. He has the "savviter in modo with the fortitor in re" that gives perfect poise in every situation of life. The press of the state is proud of Mayes and Mayes acknowledges being proud of the press.

MALARIAL DISEASES.

How to Avoid Them and the Serious Consequences of Neglect.

"Fix me up something to knock the malaria, doctor," remarked a sallow faced, sickly looking man, entering a prominent physician's office the other day.

The doctor stepped to his medicine case, took down a couple of bottles, mixed a preparation which he handed to the patient with the customary advice to "shake well and follow directions," and resumed his seat.

"Such cases are frequent," replied the doctor in answer to a question. "The warm days and damp, chilly nights are certain malaria breeders and are most serious in those who have neglected to keep their stomach, liver and bowels in good condition. Such persons are full of the impurities on which the malarial germ thrives, and it is from this class that typhoid fever, pneumonia, Bright's Disease, small pox and yellow fever claim most of their victims whenever these diseases are prevalent.

The proper way to guard against the malarial germ and the serious diseases which follow it is to get into good condition by taking a reliable remedy that will keep the bowels clear and the liver healthy, and to continue with it at frequent intervals during the sickly season.

A dose of Prickly Ash Bitters three or four times a week will do all of this, besides stimulating the digestion, improving the appetite and keeping the bodily energy at the highest pitch.

Prickly Ash Bitters is known everywhere as a system tonic and bowel regulator. It not only removes all traces of malarial poison from the system, but tones up the vital organs, gives new strength and vigor, makes the body strong and the brain active.

"Prickly Ash Bitters is the best all-around medicine for the family I ever used. During the past ten years I have always kept it in my house. Whenever any of my family show signs of malaria, kidney trouble, indigestion or constipation a few doses is all that is needed to make them well and hearty again."—W. H. McWILLIAMS, Pickering, La.

Are You Going to College?

The season is at hand when young people must decide the fateful question of what College to attend. A wise choice has much to do with the success of one's life. Some of the questions to be considered are (1) Is the institution permanent? (2) Is it adequately supported financially? (3) Has it a competent faculty? (4) Will a degree from it help to give me standing? (5) Does it offer the courses of instruction I especially desire?

The University of Texas has the biggest and among the wealthiest state of the Union behind it. As long as Texas lasts the University will endure. It has by far the largest income of any university in the South. Its faculty, more than 150 in number, hold the highest degrees given by the leading Universities of Europe and America. During the twenty-nine years of its life it has issued 3,700 degrees. Seven holders of these degrees are now members of the Congress of the United States; four are judges of the Court of Civil Appeals; many hold professors' chairs in such seats of learning as Harvard, Columbia, Johns Hopkins, Princeton, Pennsylvania, California, Leland Stanford, Chicago; hundreds are teachers in the best schools of Texas; other hundreds are well-known lawyers, doctors, ministers, engineers, business men, journalists, farmers. All are doubtless better equipped for success and happiness for having gone to College.

The University of Texas offers the liberal education that every person should wish for. It maintains, besides, special or professional courses in law, medicine, civil engineering, electrical engineering, architecture, pedagogy, domestic science, library science, business training, assaying, and many others. If you wish to know more about your State University, write to John A. Lomax, Secretary, Austin.

Stands Ahead.

There is something about Hunt's Lightening Oil that no other Liniment possesses. Others may be good, but it is surely the best. It does all you recommend it for, and more. For Sprains it has no equal on earth. It stands head on my medicine shelf.

Yours truly,
T. J. BROWNLOW,

Mr. Byrne A Delegate.

Byron B. Byrne left Saturday night last for College Station as the delegate from Mitchell county to attend the State Farmers' Institute and Congress held there this week. He has developed into something of a crank recently on the subject of farmers' institutes and never misses attending one if slow walking is good. Nothing has done or could do more for the development of Texas and the profit of the individual farmer than these institutes and congresses. True it is, that the great bulk of our farmers can only attend those institutes which are held in their respective counties and communities, but the state publishes an enormous bulk of bulletins for free distribution among the farmers, which in themselves are a liberal scientific education to those who will get them and carefully study them.

Mr. Byrne promised to take notes while at the institute and give a report to the farmers of the county through the Record of what he saw and heard which he thinks would be helpful to them.

The state of Texas has done much and will do more for the advancement of the farming interests. Aside from bearing the expense of these numerous institutes, it furnishes transportation to one delegate from each county to and from the institutes and congresses, where they are of statewide significance. The railroads always take advantage of these occasions and have their best representatives on hand who are qualified to discuss the various questions that interest the farmers in their relation to transportation.

"What does this mean, Sam?" asked the police judge of the prisoner, producing two razors, which had been taken from the negro's person, one a safety and the other a straight back.

"Lodry, jedge, doan' you know what's dem fur? Dat safety am fur shavin', sur, but dat udder one om for soshal purposes, entirely, sur. Cake walks, picnics an' church meetin' sur."

To My Friends:

I desire to thus publicly thank my friends who so loyally stood by me in the recent primary election, for their efforts in my behalf. I appreciate what they did just as much as if I had been elected; nor have I the least heartburnings on account of my defeat. I bow to the will of the majority with the kindest feelings and good humor, and wish for my successor the same courtesies from my friends they have always accorded me.

Truly yours,
JACK SMITH.

Card of Thanks.

I take this method of thanking the friends and voters who gave me their support in the race for Public Weigher of Precinct No. 1. For those who worked against me and misrepresented me, I have only the kindest of feelings.

S-2c. WATT COLLIER.

To the Public.

I take this method of thanking my friends who stood by me in the recent primary election. Though failing to get the office, I am proud of the race I ran and am grateful to every one who voted for me.

Very respectfully,
A. J. CULPEPPER.

Thanking My Friends.

I desire to thank my friends, especially those of Colorado voting precinct for the loyal support and encouragement given me in the primary election. I appreciate such loyalty beyond my ability to express in words, and the sting of defeat is entirely taken away when I reflect on their fidelity and unwavering support. It is worth as much to me as the office.

Gratefully yours,
ANDREW COOKSEY.

Picnics.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Person took her Sunday school girls and a crowd of boys down the river to "Big Butler" on a picnic. The crowd enjoyed the walk, the good supper, after getting to the spring and the delightful return trip in the moonlight. This crowd of young people manage to have more fun than anybody in town. They can always get up a picnic or party and never fail to enjoy their outings.

Friday night Mrs. Merritt chaperoned a jolly crowd of kid boys and girls to Seven Wells for a moonlight picnic in honor of Winnie Vaughan who left Saturday for an extended visit to her sister in Van Horn. The trip was made in the wagonette with Harry Ratliff as driver, Mrs. Crockett and Mrs. Gary accompanying in a buggy as assistants at the business of chaperoning. On reaching the Wells, everything was explored, all the creek within reach waded and then the bountiful supper eaten and the return trip made, to the music of all the popular airs. On reaching town, several friends were seranaded, the girls safely deposited at home and the boys and mules safely turned over to their owners before the chaperons had completed their duties.

SHEPARD'S PLURALITY IS BEING REDUCED

AS RETURNS SLOWLY COME IN, ALTHOUGH WILL WIN.

NO CHANGES ON GOVERNOR

Mayes for Lieutenant Governor, Edwards for Treasurer and Robinson for Commissioner.

Dallas, Texas: (Tuesday's returns.) The mass of returns still coming from the Democratic primary election held last Saturday, and adding piecemeal to the totals, make no substantial changes as to the contests for United States Senator and Governor, except to somewhat reduce the plurality by which Mr. Sheppard wins the nomination for Senator.

Mayes for Lieutenant Governor, Edwards for State Treasurer, Robinson for Land Commissioner and Hawkins for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, Place No. 2, are winners.

Lane appears to have defeated Barker for Comptroller and Walthall to have defeated Looney and Harris for Attorney General, but upon account of conflicting reports, it appears that these races are doubtful. Kona leads for Commissioner of Agriculture, Mayfield for Railroad Commissioner, Townes for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, Place No. 1, and Pendergast for Associate Justice of Court of Criminal Appeals, but each of these races are in doubt.

For Congressman at Large, Hatton W. Summers, D. E. Garrett, Jeff McLe-more and C. M. Cureton lead in the order named, but fuller returns are needed to indicate which of these have won.

The returns for Governor now account for 347,446 votes, or probably 85 per cent of the total number polled.

The totals for candidates on the State ticket are as follows: United States Senator—Wolters 129,740, Sheppard 154,130, Randell 29,625, Kollner 3,513.

Governor—Colquitt 191,152, Ramsey 156,294.

Lieutenant Governor—Imboden 77,272, Mayes 105,333.

Controller—Barker 136,550, Lane 160,005.

Attorney General—Walthall 109,629, Looney 108,896, Harris 46,290.

State Treasurer—McCammon 20,987, Adams 28,546, Edwards 61,314, Aston 52,806.

Land Commissioner—Geers 57,617, Robinson 105,929.

Representatives: Thirty-Fifth District—Cox has a slight lead over Jones. Thirty-Ninth District and Mangum are running almost neck and neck and a few hundred ahead of Atterbery. "The returns in the Senatorial race are still incomplete. On the basis, however, of private advices and figures published in the Texas dailies, I am practically assured of a plurality in the neighborhood of 50,000 and a district majority of the general vote over all my opponents. It is certain that I have carried a large majority of the representative and senatorial districts in the Legislature and that my election by the incoming Legislature is assured."

TELL OF PIRATES

Sailors Rescued by Steamer From Island.

Seaman Declares They Were Attacked by Brigands When Storm Threatened to Send Vessel to Bottom—Search for Bandits.

New York.—When the steamer Allemania arrived in port recently a thrilling story of shipwreck and attack by pirates was told by thirteen sailors of the Italian Bark Genesee, on board the Allemania, and rescued by the latter boat when in desperate plight at Inagua, the Bahamas.

According to the story told by the rescued sailors, the Genesee set out from Inagua on May 16, bound for Marselles, with a costly cargo of hardwood, and when a short distance out from port had encountered a severe storm which carried them out of their course and threatened to send them to the bottom.

After working the pumps for several days, the crew was on the point of deserting the bark and taking to the boats, when a number of small tailboats came alongside, and the occupants of these boats, numbering more than 100, armed with guns and revolvers, boarded the Genesee and ordered the crew to surrender. An attempt was made by the crew to scuttle the Genesee, and a fight ensued in which the defenders were badly worsted. They were then ordered into the small boats without water or provisions.

After rowing aimlessly for two days, the crew of the Genesee made land at one of the smaller Bahamas and hoisted a signal of distress, which was seen by the lookout on the steamer Allemania, which rescued them, nearly dead from exposure and hunger. A British revenue cutter was dispatched in pursuit of the pirates. No report of a capture had been received by the Allemania up to the time of leaving Inagua for New York city.

All of the members of the crew Genesee were on board the Allemania when she arrived here except the captain, Joseph Capello, and the first mate, who remained at the Bahamas to prosecute the search for the pirates. The United States government will be asked to co-operate with the British authorities in putting a stop

LOVE REVIVES AND THEY WED

Result of Virginian's Return to His Native Town After an Absence of Forty Years.

Cape Charles, Va.—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Crothers, a bridal couple, were passengers on board the New York express train from here en route to New York to spend their honeymoon. The bride is sixty-five years old and the bridegroom sixty-seven.

The couple were sweethearts during their youth in their native town, Adamston, Va., and after a quarrel parted. This was forty years ago. Following the quarrel Mr. Crothers left Adamston for the west, became a mine prospector in Nevada and accumulated a fortune.

Mrs. Crothers, who was then Miss Lilliston, never heard from Mr. Crothers during the entire forty years. A few weeks ago he visited his home town and was surprised to hear that his sweetheart of early days never had married. He called on her, proposed and they wedded.

Ducks Eat Bees.

Jersey Shore, Pa.—Mrs. W. P. Sheesley of Jersey Shore rural route No. 2 is a successful duck raiser. She never permits her ducklings out of their inclosure till the honey bees are through work for the day, and the consequence is her ducks live to adult age.

The new theory is that the ducklings are such greedy eaters that many are lost each year by swallowing honey bees, which retaliate by stinging the ducklings department of the interior to the point where the quacklet gives up the ghost.

MAD BULL GORES A BOY

Father Rushes to Aid and Beats Brute Off With a Club at Lakeside Park, Mo.

Lakeside Park, Mo.—A three-cornered fight occurred here between a mad bull, a young boy, Raymond Barnes, and the boy's father, who went to his assistance.

Young Barnes was badly gored before the elder Barnes beat the brute into submission.

The bull first attacked the boy, who screamed for help. His father heard the cries, and, with the aid of a stout club, went to his son's assistance. A desperate combat ensued, the bull getting the boy down and goring him several times.

By exerting all his strength the father knocked the bull semi-conscious.

He then hastily grabbed up his son and fled with him to a physician.

Young Barnes is reported to be in a serious condition.

According to the bill of particulars filed by Miss Clotts it was a case of "waiting at the church." Groman was to have married her on January 6, 1912, but failed to appear.

Miss Clotts itemizes her loss as follows: For loss of marriage and mental suffering, $29,000; for loss of position, $500; for wedding trousseau, $500.

NAIL HOLDS BOY FAST, HOUR

Rescuer Forced to Saw Off Foot of Plank to Liberate Victim.

Boston.—After lying helpless for an hour and a half in an abandoned barn, pinned to a board by a rusty ten-penny nail, which had pierced his hand, eight-year-old James Gallagher of No. 130 East Eleanor street, Olney, was discovered by a passing farmer, who found it necessary to saw off a foot of the plank to liberate him. The boy was treated at the Frankford hospital, where the surgeons had to use a saw again and cut away the remaining portion of the board before they could remove the nail. The wound was cauterized and a large quantity of lockjaw antitoxin was injected.

The lad had been amusing himself by sliding down an inclined board in an unused barn in Cedar Grove lane, about a mile from his home. He had made only one or two trips when his hand suddenly struck the huge nail, which had been driven through the edge of the plank and bent over to form a hook. The force of his swift descent caused the sharp point to penetrate entirely across the palm.

Screaming with pain, he tried to writhe free, but every movement only increased his agony, and he was unable to extricate himself. Literally nailed to the plank, he lay for more than an hour, until Joseph Wilson, a farmer, of Second street pike, above Fox Chase, heard his cries as he passed in a wagon.

Wilson found the lad almost exhausted from pain. He endeavored to free him, but found that his efforts only added to the victim's misery. He finally walked half a mile and borrowed a saw with which he cut the board across in two places, while the boy, suffering intense agony, lay watching him.

Having finally freed the lad, Wilson placed him, with a foot of plank still fastened to his hand, in his wagon and drove at top speed to the Friends' asylum, the nearest institution. Physicians at that place, however, were unable to give any aid to the sufferer, and it was necessary for the farmer to drive with him to Frankford before he obtained relief from his pain.

MAY PRODUCE HUMAN LIFE

Ultimate Possibility of It Is Suggested by Professor Macallum, the Scientist.

London.—The time may come when a human being can be constructed to order in a chemical laboratory. So it is hinted by Prof. A. B. Macallum, fellow of the Royal society and a distinguished member of the British Association for the Advancement of Science. On his theory, an extra drop of this, that or the other chemical solution poured into the crucible may turn out, at will, a Dante or a Nero, a Carnegie of a dunce.

"It was customary," says Professor Macallum, "to regard living matter as unique, with a parallel in the inorganic world and the secrets involved in its actions and activities as unsolvable enigmas. There were those who put forth, as an explanation for all these manifestations, the intervention in so-called living matter of a force otherwise and elsewhere unknown, biotic or vital, whose action was direct, according to the character of the structure through which it operated, to the production of the phenomena in question. Living protoplasm was, in this view, but a mark and a medium for action of the unknown force."

He says the methods of the laboratory are not as yet those of nature, because nature works unerringly, falteringly, with an amazing economy of material and energy, while present laboratory syntheses are but round-about ways to the waste sink.

He believes, though, that science has made a start in the right direction and is approaching the discovery of the function and composition of living cells. "To that end," he adds, "a greatly developed study of micro-chemistry is necessary. This should apply the stimulus to enthusiasm in the search for reactions that will enable us to locate with great precision in the living cell the constituents, inorganic and organic, which affect its physical state and thereby influence its activity."

Phonograph Aided Burglars.

Child Killed by "AUA" Mobile.

Son of W. F. Hicks Run Down by Machine of Farm and Ranch Tour Party.

Dallas, Texas.—Watching the passing of the automobiles returning to Dallas from the Farm and Ranch tour, Little Earl Hicks, slightly more than 4 years old, was struck down and instantly killed Saturday morning near the Miller's Ferry bridge, five miles south of Dallas.

According to the father of the child, W. T. Hicks, a tenant farmer, living near the spot where the accident occurred, the driver of the machine that struck the boy did not stop, and several other machines passed in the cloud of dust before anyone stopped to offer aid.

W. T. Hicks said: "I had been working with my two boys, 6 and 4 years old, in my field opposite the place where Earl was struck down. We had crossed to Ed. Hanlon's house to get a drink of water and were at his ETA drink of water and we were at his gate talking when the automobiles began to pass. They raised a great deal of dust and were roaring as they passed. Earl started to cross the road once and I yelled to him to wait. I turned around and was talking to Hanlon and another man, when I realized that Earl had again left me. I turned around just in time to see him hurled to one side by a passing automobile. Immediately after the accident the Sheriff's office in Dallas was notified and deputy Elmo Strait was put to work on the case. He went to the cafe where the drivers went for lunch and questioned them, but could not obtain any information. It is thought that on account of the dust those immediately behind the car that killed the child did not know that an accident had occurred."

CAT IS RAISING RABBITS

Tabby, in Fargo, N. D., Some Time Ago Stole a Pup and Reared It.

Fargo.—Fred Halfner's house cat of abnormal maternal instincts again has created a sensation along Second avenue south. Three years ago the feline stole a puppy—no one knows where—and reared it with her kittens.

Several days ago dogs broke into a rabbit coop in the vicinity and killed the older ones, leaving eight tiny rabbits. These were placed in a box and carried into a shed where the house cat had kittens.

Tabby immediately adopted them as her own. Since then she has been working overtime rearing both families. She seems to care more for the rabbits than the kittens. The bunnies also have taken to their foster mother.

9 DETROIT OFFICIALS CHARGED WITH GRAFT

ALDERMEN AND SECRETARY OF COMMITTEES ARRESTED.

EXPECTING OTHER ARRESTS

Crooked Dealings Are Charged Where Railroad Company Want a Street Closed.

Detroit, Mich.: Eight Aldermen and the secretary of the common council committees were arrested on charges of accepting bribes and conspiracy to accept a bribe for their votes and influence in the passing of a measure affecting city property recently transferred to the Wabash Railway.

At least six other arrests of Aldermen are expected at any moment, and it is believed that $3,700 passed hands in sums of from $100 to $1,000. The bribery was consummated and the arrests accomplished under the personal supervision of Detective William J. Burns.

The officials already arrested are Thomas Glinnan, president of the council, who is alleged to have received $1,000; E. R. Schreier Jr., secretary of council committees and also secretary of the American League of Municipal Cities, who is charged with conspiracy to bribe and agreeing to accept $500; Alderman Joseph L. Theison, said to have accepted $500; Alderman J. W. Ostrowski, alleged to have received $200; Alderman Patrick O'Brien, conspiracy; Alderman Louis Theison, said to have received $200; Alderman Frank J. Mason, Alderman Louis Brozo and Alderman Delmel, the last three being charged with accepting $100 each.

Alderman Glinnan has long been known in city politics as "Honest Tom." When arrested, it is said, he yielded over $1,000 and made a complete confession.

The detectives say they have caught their men not only with marked money, but by telephonic testimony and photographic records.

The investigation, which culminated in the arrests, has been going on since February, when rumors of graft in the councilmanic body began to assume serious proportions.

Mayor William B. Thompson sought the services of detectives and Andrew H. Green, a prominent manufacturer, agreed to finance the probe. Soon after the investigation was begun the Wabash Railroad applied for the closing of a street on grounds that it wanted to erect a warehouse and otherwise increase its shipping facilities. The application was held up in council for a time. Then suddenly the council granted the application by vote of several members who had previously opposed the measure.

Mother Treads on Match While in Buggy, Firing Clothing.

Fort Worth, Texas: Mrs. Henry Bane and her baby daughter, Emma, wife and child of Henry Bane, weighmaster at the Fort Worth Stockyards, narrowly escaped death by burning on Houston street, corner of Ninth, Sunday morning. Mrs. Bane is painfully burned about the lower part of her body and the lower extremities. Mr. Bane and C. A. Pentry, a citizen who came to their aid, are painfully burned on the hands.

The Banes were on on their way to church. At the site named Mrs. Bane tumbled on a match on the floor of the buggy, and her dress was in an instant in flames. She was holding the baby in her lap. She sprang from the buggy, holding the baby aloft, free from the flames, screaming for help. Mrs. Bane was enabled, after the fire was extinguished, to walk to a doctor's office for first aid. The baby was uninjured.

Mr. Van Winkle has already received letters from several fanciers in the North, who state they will be at the Nashville meeting and will there fill out entries for the Dallas Fair. Mr. Van Winkle states that the State Fair poultry show this fall will be the largest ever held in the Southwest.

Alleged Sugar Frauds Settled.

Washington: Alleged sugar frauds at Philadelphia under investigation by Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh and Attorney General Wickersham for the last year, have been settled by the payment of nearly a quarter of a million dollars to the United States Government by the sugar refining companies involved. These constitute the final act of the Nation-wide inquiry that resulted in revelations of abuses in sugar importations at New York several years ago.

SLAYER OF DALLAS MAN KILLS A SHERIFF

LEONARD POTTS, NEGRO, SHOOTS CLARKSVILLE OFFICIAL.

HE ESCAPES; MOB PURSUES

Black Man's Step-mother Also Killed by Bullet Fired by Mortally Wounded Officer.

Clarksville, Texas: Leonard Potts, the negro who fatally wounded Policeman Tedford Friday afternoon in Dallas, shot and killed Sheriff Charlie Stevens here Tuesday night at 9:30 o'clock, and is being pursued by a posse.

The officer, with City Marshal Tom Ferguson and Constable Enos Elder, was attempting to arrest Potts, who reached this place and went to the home of his stepmother.

This negro was killed, too, by a bullet from the pistol of Sheriff Stevens, after he was wounded by Potts. After firing, the negro ran, and was closely pursued by the two officers. In a short time others joined in the chase.

About 10 o'clock a posse was made up and began following the trail of the black, who left bloodstains behind.

Potts came to Clarksville and went directly to his stepmother's home. Early in the evening he took a seat on the front porch of the home, which is about six blocks from the public square. When the officers came up another negro man and the stepmother and a negro baby were in company with Potts. The officers walked toward the porch, and Potts short instantly, the bullet lodging in Sheriff Stevens' head. Fatally wounded, Mr. Stevens fired his pistol, the leaden missile blowing off the top of the negro's head. So close was the range of the bullet that the baby's face, sitting in her lap, was powder-burned.

When these shots were fired, Potts jumped up and ran around the house, Ferguson and Elder giving chase and firing with every step. But soon the officers' ammunition gave out, and the fleeing negro was beyond the range of club or other means of rendering him into submission.

Many knew of the crime that Potts had committed in Dallas, and when the news that the black was in this locality became known it was but a matter of an hour and a half until 1,000 people were seeking the negro, all armed with various weapons. It is believed that escape is impossible, and it is the declaration of the crowd that summary punishment will follow the finding of the negro.

Mr. Stevens had just been renominated Sheriff by a large plurality. He was a very popular man and officer. He was married only a few months ago to a young lady of Bagwell.

Policeman Tedford was shot last Friday afternoon in Oak Cliff, when, in company with his partner, E. R. Wright, of the mounted police, he was attempting to arrest Potts. The officer died Sunday. Posses have been searching for the negro and a general life alarm was sent out.

BRITISH EXHONORATE ISMAY.

Judgment of Court Regarding Titanic Disaster is Made Public.

London: The judgment of the British Board of Trade court of inquiry into the disaster of the White Star Liner Titanic, concludes that the collision of the Titanic with the iceberg was due to the excessive speed at which the ship was navigated; that a proper watch was not kept; that the ship's boats were properly lowered, but that arrangements for manning them were insufficient; that the Leyland Liner Californian might have reached the Titanic if she had attempted to do so; that the track followed was reasonably safe with proper vigilance, and that there was no discrimination against third-class passengers in the saving of life.

The Count of Inquiry exonerates J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star Line, and Sir Cosmo Duff Gordon, one of the passengers, from and charges of improper conduct.

The judgment recommends more watertight compartments in seagoing ships, the provisions of lifeboats for all on board and more efficient crews of the crews, as well as a better lookout.

COLQUITT LEADING BY 40,000

Ramsey's Campaign Manager Claims Victory, But Returns Indicate He Has Been Defeated for Governor.

MORRIS SHEPPARD FAR AHEAD FOR SENATOR

Returns From Other State Officers are far From Being Complete, However, in the Congressmen at Large Race, Daniel E. Garrett, Hatton W. Summers, C. M. Cureton and Jeff McLemore are Leading Candidates.

GOVERNOR O. B. COLQUITT

Dallas, Texas: Returns received up to early Wednesday morning on Saturday's Democratic primary election places Gov. Colquitt's majority in the neighborhood of 40,000, and that Hon. Morris Sheppard, for the United States Senate, will have a plurality of approximately 40,000 over Hon. Jacob F. Wolters, but may not have a majority over all of his opponents.

The returns received at this time accounted for 291,941 votes, or probably 70 per cent of the total number polled, as compared with 285,000 votes reported at the same time two years ago.

The number of votes reported in the race for United States Senator and Governor are as follows:

- For Senator:
 - Sheppard154,130
 - Wolters129,740
 - Randell29,740
 - Zollner3,513

Sheppard's plurality is 26,114, but hasn't a majority.

- For Governor:
 - Colquitt198,437
 - Ramsey158,458

Colquitt's majority in the present returns is 39,979.

The returns from the State ticket, except as to Governor and United States Senator, are still far from complete, and in many instances it is impossible to form a satisfactory conclusion as to results.

For Places in Congress.

Of the contested district races for Congress, the following were nominated at Saturday's primary election:

- Hon. Horace W. Vaughan of Texarkana, First District.
- Hon. Martin Dies of Woodville, Second District.
- Hon. James Young of Kaufman, Third District.
- Hon. Sam Rayburn of Bonham, Fourth District.
- Hon. Joe H. Eagle of Houston, Eighth District.
- Hon. Oscar Callaway of Comanche, Twelfth District.

Each of the three Congressmen above named, who were candidates to succeed themselves, were re-elected.

There are Dies, Young and Callaway. The two opponents for Congressional honors in the Eighth District are well-known attorneys and sustaining a reputation beyond the borders of the State as orators of note. Mr. Eagle will succeed Hon. John M. Moore of Richmond, who was not a candidate for re-election.

In the First Congressional District Hon. Horace Vaughan seems to have carried seven and probably eight of the eleven counties and with a good plurality of the popular vote. Of the more than 16,000 votes accounted for by Mr. Vaughan received 5,318. H. Baatom Thomas Sulphur Springs 3,724 3-724, Fred Dudley of Paris 3,524 and Senator R. B. Sturgeon of Paris 3,518.

In the Second Congressional District Hon. Martin Dies of Woodville has been renominated to succeed himself.

TRAIN HITS AUTO; SIX KILLED.

Accident on Grade Crossing in Ohio Also Causes Injuries to Several.

Toledo, Ohio: With a crash heard a mile away, a Lake Shore and Michigan Southern train struck an automobile containing nine people at Alexis, about twelve miles from here. The dead Rudolph Cousino, Eva Navarro, Mrs. Louise Cousino, wife of La Fayette Cousino, and the 12 and 6-year-old sons and 4-year-old daughter of Rudolph Cousino.

The incomplete returns indicate that he carried every county in his district except San Augustine, which went for Broocks; Hardin, which went for Collins; and possibly Cherokee and Harrison, both of which are close. It is probable that he will have a majority over his four opponents, John H. Broocks of San Augustine, V. A. Collins of Beaumont, John L. Little of Kountze and George B. Terrell of Alto.

It seems that William E. Hawkins has defeated Joseph B. Dibrell, the present incumbent of the Associate Justiceship of the Supreme Court, Place No. 2.

In the other races Mayes seems to have the advantage for Lieutenant Governor. Lane for Controller, Kone for Commissioner of Agriculture, Earle B. Mayfield for Railroad Commissioner and Prendergast for Associate Justice of the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The returns now in hand point more conclusively to the nomination of Controller Lane to succeed himself and indicate that Kone is to succeed himself as Commissioner of Agriculture. Mayfield still holds a substantial lead over Wortham for Railroad

HON. MORRIS SHEPPARD

Commissioner and the unreported territory divides pretty evenly between the respective strongholds of these candidates. The races as between Withall and Looney for Attorney General, Phillips and Townes for the Supreme Court and Muse and Predergast for the Court of Criminal Appeals are very much in doubt.

The returns received complete, nearly complete or substantial returns from 192 counties. The counties from which reports have not yet been published have either not yet reported their returns or the reports have been so meager and incomplete as not to justify their consideration in the tabulations. Counties not heard from are:

- These in North Texas: Anderson, Andrews, Baylor, Briscoe, Castro, Coryell, Crosby, Culberson, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Delta, Dickens, Freestone, Gregg, Hansford, Haskell, Hill, Hutchinson, Jones, King, Knox, Lipscomb, Marion, Moore, Nacogdoches, Ochiltree, Red River, Terry, Throckmorton, Wheeler, Winkler, Wise.

These in South Texas: Aransas, Atascosa, Bastrop, Brazoria, Crockett, Fayette, Frio, Hardin, Jackson, Liberty, Live Oak, McMullen, Menard, Presidio, Reagan, San Jacinto, San Patricio, San Saba, Terrell, Trinity, Zapata.

As to some of the races, it probably will be impossible to determine the results until the county executive committees open and canvass the returns on next Saturday, for in many of the counties the election officers, disregarding the requirements of section 88 of the election law, failed to announce the votes, and as they sealed the returns, nothing can be learned concerning them at this time. Among the counties from which correspondents report such trouble are Willacy, Limestone, Dallam, Red River, Bowie, Delta, Hill, Palo Pinto, Crockett, Ector, San Jacinto, San Saba and Gregg.

The injured: La Fayette Cousino, taken to a hospital, will die; Mrs. Mamie Cousino, wife of Rudolph Cousino; taken to hospital, will die, and Opal, 2-year-old daughter of La Fayette Cousino; taken to hospital, injuries not serious. The accident happened on a grade crossing, where the view of the track was obscured by a corn field.

CHRISTIANS TORTURED BY KOREAN POLICE

TRIAL DEVELOPS SOME STARTLING REVELATIONS.

MEN HUNG UP BY THUMBS

Eyewitnesses from Seoul Tell of Cruel Proceedings to Wring Confessions from Prisoners.

Peking, China.—Several eyewitnesses who have returned to Peking from the trial in Seoul of 126 alleged conspirators charged with plotting to kill Gen. Tehauchi, the Japanese Governor General of Korea, tell startling stories of the methods employed by the authorities in dealing with the prisoners, 100 of whom are Christians. They include five pastors, six elders, eight deacons and nine church leaders. The rest are mostly students in Christian colleges.

All the accused men, when given the opportunity, said that their co-called confessions were wrung from them by the most cruel tortures. They were hung up by the thumbs, stretched on the rack and burned with irons in the secret preliminary trial. One student testified in open court: "I saw a man slowly killed before my eyes." Another said: "They made me unconscious thrice." My informants, who understand both Korean and Japanese, say the court interpreters distort the evidence, translating incorrectly and omitting evidence objectionable to the prosecution. Whenever the accused say "torture," the interpreters translate it as "persuasion." When the attorney for the defense protested against the incorrect translation, the Judge said: "It doesn't matter."

Informants who were all eyewitnesses of the proceedings, say that the trial was most unfair. The Judge acts as Prosecuting Attorney and, assuming the guilt of the defendants, orders them to answer "yes" or "no" to questions containing the gravest charges. He excludes evidence prejudicial to the prosecution and refuses to allow missionaries to testify.

HOTEL FIRE IS FATAL TO ONE.

Two Others Were Seriously Burned Near Wichita Falls, Saturday.

Wichita Falls, Texas. Jim Flurry, a tool dresser, was burned to death, Ed. Parkhurst was perhaps fatally burned, a Mr. Pinks was seriously burned and a number of others received injuries of a more or less painful nature in the fire that destroyed the Brewer Hotel in the Miller oil field near Anarena, southeast of here Saturday. A number of oil-field workers who roomed in the hotel saved their lives by jumping, clad only in their night clothes. The origin of the fire is unknown.

The hotel was a frame structure and contained about forty rooms. It was patronized entirely by oil-field workers, a majority of whom slept on the second floor. The entire lower part of the building was in flames before the sleepers in the second floor discovered the blaze. Flurry was burned to death in his room and Parkhurst and Pinks received their injuries while escaping through the flames. Parkhurst and Pinks were taken to a camp in a nearby field, where they were cared for and physicians were summoned from Archer City and Olney. It is believed that the latter will recover, but there is little hope for Parkhurst.

BRYAN MAY FIGHT ROOSEVELT.

Colonel is Told Nebraskan Will Make Speeches Against Him.

Oyster Bay, N. Y.: Col. Roosevelt was told of reports that William J. Bryan would follow his trail through the campaign. "Bryan?" he asked. The Colonel's jaw shot forward aggressively and his teeth clicked. "I don't see that there is anything for me to say at this time!" he exclaimed.

It was pointed out that Col. Roosevelt and Col. Bryan have crossed swords in two National campaigns and that the ex-President is thoroughly familiar with the characteristics of the Nebraskan, while thus far he has had no opportunity to become acquainted with the fighting qualities of the Democratic nominee of 1912.

Col. Roosevelt intends to attack the Democratic and Republican organizations with equal vigor in the hope of placing his opponents on the defense at the outset.

Bulls Fight to Death Finish.

Cumberland, Md.: Two fine Kentucky Hereford bulls fought to death on the stock farm of "Al" Hardman at Big Bend, Calhoun County, West Virginia. The larger bull weighed a ton and cost $1,225, while the younger was valued at $400. They fought to the brink of a steep river bank, over which they finally tumbled into the Kanawha. Instead of attempting to escape from the river they continued to battle until both were exhausted and sank.

LARGEST FLAG IN THE UNITED STATES

THIS is the largest flag in the United States, and it hangs in the hollow square of the postoffice building at Washington. The flag was unfurled recently to take the place of one nearly as large, but which had only 48 stars. The new one is suspended from the eighth floor and is 62½ feet long and 36 feet wide. The stars are about a foot across.

REBELS THREATEN AMERICANS.

3,000 Mormon Colonists Fleeing to El Paso from Sonora District.

Washington: Either the Mexican situation has developed a most dangerous phase, or some 3,000 Americans, largely women and children from the Mormon colonies, which are fleeing toward El Paso, are the victims of some tall threatening that is being done by Gen. Salazar, the rebel chieftain in the Sonora district.

Confirmatory of the press dispatches that Americans have been threatened with massacre by Gen. Salazar, Representative Smith of the El Paso district received the following telegram from Mayor C. E. Kelly of El Paso: "After summoning the principal ten of the Mormon colonies, Rebel Gen. Salazar told them that all promises and guarantees were withdrawn; that they had to join his forces or surrender; that he proposed to confiscate American property and treat Americans the same as they had the Chinese, the inference being that they would will them, as was done the Chinese at Torreon; that he hated the Taft Government as much as the Madero Government."

"Refugees just arrived, state Mexican soldiers threaten to massacre all that are not out by Tuesday."

Both Tuesday telegrams were laid before the House Committee on Military Affairs and communicated to the State Department. The members of the House committee were strongly impressed with the information conveyed in the telegram and discussed the matter with the House leaders.

SENATE TO FIGHT ARMY WORM.

Appropriates $20,000 Additional for Benefit of Crop in the South.

Washington: The Senate came to the rescue of Southern farmers by passing a resolution appropriating $20,000 to check the ravages of the army worm in States where crops are threatened. This was supplemental to the appropriation of $5,000 which the House and Senate have voted for the same purpose.

JAPANESE EMPEROR CALLED BY DEATH

MUTSUHITO IS DEAD AFTER RULING FOR 44 YEARS.

NEW RULER IS PROCLAIMED

20,000 Subjects, Outside Palace Gates, Pay Last Homage to Their Remarkable Sovereign.

Tokio: Mutsuhito, for forty-four years Emperor of Japan, died at 12:43 o'clock Monday morning. Yoshihito Matsu-No-Hiya reigns under the formula provided by the Constitution promulgated by Mutsuhito, "the King is dead; long live the King."

Mutsuhito, who was the 21st Emperor of Japan, passed gently away. He had been unconscious for many hours, prior to his death, and the Emperor, the Crown Prince and the most prominent officials of the household and Government were at the bedside.

Maruko, now Dowager Empress, yields to Princess Sadako, the young Empress who is the mother of three sons, of whom the eldest is Mirchoito, because of her untiring vigil in the sickroom, where she remained continuously for ten days. Even on the last day she pitifully begged the physicians for a short respite for the dying Emperor.

The outcome was inevitable from the first acute developments July 19. Death was due to acute nephritis. This was complicated by diabetes and an intestinal affection. As is usual in such cases, the patient on occasions showed marked signs of improvement, followed by a relapse. Since July 25 the conditions of the Emperor gradually became worse with high fever, wear and irregular pulse and shallow respiration.

When the physicians recognized the hopelessness of the case, every preparation was made of the end. The Imperial Princes, the Ministers and notabilities were summoned to the palace and remained in the outer rooms for twenty-four hours. A few of the oldest, who have been closely associated with the government of the empire, were permitted to see the Emperor, while the public, contrary to custom, was taken into the confidence of the physicians, who issued bulletins hourly, giving details of the progress of the disease. Even the last announcements was made within an hour.

At the end upward of 20,000 subjects silently paid their last homage outside the palace gates. It was a momentary scene when messengers silently mingled with the crowds and scattered and posted announcements of the Emperor's death. Deep emotion swept the multitude, but there was no evidence of excitement. The only sound was a long drawn sigh of sorrow.

Two Killed While Flying.

Munich, Bavaria.—Two more flying fatalities occurred here Saturday morning when an American aviator named Fisher, who was carrying as a passenger his aeroplane a mechanic named Kugler, fell from a considerable height, causing the instant death of both. The aeroplane was smashed so that the cause of the accident could not be ascertained. Fisher had passed his aerial pilot's examination only a fortnight ago.

COLORADO, TEXAS, AUGUST 2, 1912.

For political ills, take "T. R." pills. None genuine without the signature.

The election last Saturday brought surprises to many and a stocking-full to a few.

They were all good losers. Every defeated candidate in the primary Saturday took the issue with the greatest good humor, as becomes every good and loyal democrat.

Men of a certain temperament should never run for office. Unless a voter tells such a candidate that he will not support him, the hopeful, sanguine one really thinks he will, but after the election and the returns are all in, his eyes are opened to the universal habit of lying.

Friday night happened. Lack of sufficient votes lay at the bottom of every affair. As to how certain votes went to the candidate where they had been expected to another before election, life alone nothing now.

The change in the weather came Wednesday night, but it was not in the shape of rain. The temperature fell several degrees and a good breeze prevailed yesterday much to the relief of everyone.

Just at this time many candidates are reminded of the application of that bit of wisdom from Horace: 'Mendaci tenax memoria opus est, sed veritas semper congruet'

Whenever you feel inclined to grouch at things in general and the condition of the town in particular, just take a trip to some other place and stay awhile.

If good Brother E. W. Bounds ran everywhere he is known as well as he did in Mitchell county, it will be some time yet before the bosom of his pants shall warm the Goeblin tapistry on the chairs in the national house of representatives.

The difference between David, the sweet singer of Israel, and about thirty-five recent candidates for office in Mitchell County, is that David adjudged all men liars in his haste, while the candidates have come to the same conclusion only after four months of hard work and calm reflection.

A bit of Abe Martin's homely philosophy is reasonable just now. He declares "nothing's as hard as going back to work after you've been narrowly defeated for a good, fat office."

A life insurance actuary, we admit, is a pretty smooth hand at figuring things to come out in his company's favor, but he is a mere bungler compared with some campaign managers.

A Small Sensation.

On last Wednesday evening an auto carrying two men were seen to pass through Quitaque going east at a high speed. They seemed to be in a special hurry as the car neared town, they threw the engine wide open and were fairly splitting the breeze.

In the afternoon this same party was seen on the Silverton and Quitaque road just over the first rise after descending the cap rock by the two Miss Hoovers.

Who these men were and what their mission was and what they accomplished is an unknown quantity in that part of the county.—Briscoe County Herald.

Secretary Knox has warned the Mexican government that if the rights and lives of Americans are not respected in that country, the United States will be under the necessity of warning that country again to behave itself.

"The Lone Star Lexicon."

Frank McDonald, who has been engaged the past several weeks in writing up the town of Colorado, Loraine and Mitchell county generally, will soon issue a paper, to be printed at this office, with the comprehensive title of "The Lone Star Lexicon."

The Record presents its compliments to Rudy Kartous, a Dallas newsboy, who is honest because it is good policy.

FOUR-SECTIONERS GIVEN MORE TIME

COMMISSIONER OF LAND OFFICE J. T. ROBISON WILL NOT CANCEL CLAIMS.

That friend of the four-sectioner and settler, J. T. Robison, Land Commissioner of the State of Texas, has given out the statement that the four-sectioners of the country who are behind with their payments of interest due November 1, 1911, will not have their claims cancelled.

Wilson Gains Much Support

Republicans All Over United States Pledge Him Their Vote and Influence.

From more than two thousand letters of prominent Republicans which Governor Wilson has received assuring him that the writers would vote the Democratic ticket this year, not to mention many letters from more obscure members of the Republican rank and file, there were made public the contents of 100 or more which the governor has answered personally.

"I have always been a Republican and never voted for any other party," wrote the president of a college in Pennsylvania, "but I so thoroughly believe in you that I intend to give you my vote and my influence.

"Your candidacy appeals to the whole country." This came from a president of a national bank in Maine.

"Together with many former Republicans, among the most representative men of our good state, I shall support you."

"You may count on the support not only of the Democratic party, in this state, but of a very large progressive Republican vote. Pray feel at liberty to call upon me at any time to assist you."

Views Flowing Well at Midland.

Hon. R. H. Looney, ex-county judge of Mitchell County, and at present the president of the Colorado National Bank of Colorado, was here this week to view the Moran well, the sub-irrigated farm, etc.

Now let's forget there was ever an election and bend every effort to doing those things for the town of Colorado that we have intended doing for so long a time.

Gave Up Hope

"I suffered five years, with awful pains, due to womanly troubles," writes Mrs. M. D. McPherson, from Chadbourn, N. C. "They grew worse, till I would often faint. I could not walk at all, and I had an awful hurting in my side; also a headache and a backache.

I gave up and thought I would die, but my husband urged me to try Cardui, so, I began, and the first bottle helped me. By the time the third bottle was used, I could do all my work. All the people around here said I would die, but Cardui relieved me."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

For more than 50 years, Cardui has been relieving woman's sufferings, and making weak women strong and well. During this time, thousands of women have written, like Mrs. McPherson, to tell of the really surprising results they obtained by the use of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women.

Cardui strengthens, builds, restores, and relieves or prevents unnecessary pain and suffering from womanly troubles. If you are a woman, begin taking Cardui, today.

A SNAPSHOT OF LORAINE

Some of the Things and Men Who Are Making Commercial and Industrial History in Mitchell County's Second City.

(By FRANK McDONALD.)

Here where the summer moon so softly
Tints the arched sky's azure dome,
Here where all nature bids me welcome,
Here I'll build my western home.

The great but erratic intellect of Ingalls the tall sycamore genius and statesman of the Sunflower state erred in his renowned ode to opportunity when he depicted that sometimes fickle jade of fortune as knocking but than half a century pointed to the far west has well nigh forever set. There remains but one last best west, the great southwest Texas, but its giant possibilities dwarf into insignificance centuries of development on either side the "Father of Waters." Texas is a great and grand, giant state, the most conspicuous commonwealth in the sisterhood of the union in vastness of area and the limitless redundancy of its rich and varied resources in fertile lands, in countless deposits of mineral treasures, in oil and in a myriad of other regards. The comparative dimensions of Texas with other states, countries and empires, have been so often stated as to have well-nigh become odious and to convey an adequate idea of its immense productive possibilities the writer prefers to reproduce the peroration of an address delivered by Mayor W. H. Henthorn of Lorraine, May 25, last to members of the Roswell, N. M. Ad-

Home of J. T. Davis—What Irrigation Will Do.

Club who were enroute to Dallas on a boozing trip. It is brilliant and original in metaphor and, despite the poetic license that is pardonable on such occasions, does not seem, to us, such know Texas and its potentialities in any great degree a departure from truth and is hence here quoted. He said:

"If all the wheat grown in Texas was in one grain the only place to plant it would be in the Grand Canyon of Colorado in Arizona—the only hole in the earth big enough to contain it. If all the corn grown in Texas was in one ear the only way to shell it would be with a steam stump puller, extracting one grain at a time from the cob. If all the cattle raised in Texas were in one cow she could browse on the tender herbs of the tropics, with her tall whisk icicles off the North Pole and her milk would flow in a river across the continent to float the steamboats that would carry her cargoes of butter and cheese. If all the chickens raised in Texas were in one rooster he could straddle the Rocky Mountains and with one mighty crow jar the rings off the planet Saturn. If all the hogs raised in Texas were in one hog he could place him on the Isthmus of Panama and with one root of his huge nose he could plow a sea level canal from ocean to ocean. If all the mules raised in Texas were in one mule he could stand with one front foot on Texas soil and the other in the forests be more sown, and beyond peradventure will prove indigenous and prolific and profitable in their yield. Cotton easily averages a quarter of a bale to the acre, in many instances a half bale to the acre has been raised, many are predicting a bale to the acre in favored sections this season deducing from the present favorable outlook and the fodder crops last mentioned are lavishly produced and are incalculably valuable to him who follows the wise plan of running some cattle and raising hogs corollary with his soil tilling activities. In normal seasons the natural precipitation at and around Lorraine is ample for crop production but as this section metamorphosized from the greatest cattle country of the round world to one of the best agricultural and horticultural regions of Texas so also will it merge, indeed the transition is now taking place, from a farming country dependant upon rainfall to an irrigated section, sufficient water being available on several approved plans, from which all crop hazard will be removed.

Withal land, and there is an abundance of fair and fertile acreage to be had, is still cheap the prevailing price being from $10 to 12.50 per acre for unimproved and from $15 to $20 an acre for improved property. To sum up it can be said with all truth and candor that in no section in all the fertile region comprised in the empire state of Texas can be so easily secured that priceless boon of which the immortal Payne so endearingly sang, a home, sweet home, than in the country enveloping and tributary to the alluring and prosperous city of Lorraine in Mitchell county, Texas.

The people of Lorraine are essentially progressive, live wires who leave no stone unturned, allow no enterprise to lag which bids fair to bring to the notice of the world its peerless advantages and hence make for its settlement, development and material up-building. To this end a few of those enterprising citizens who have chartered season tickets in the band wagon of progress conceived the idea a few years back, in view of the fact that the city possessed the most delightful park and grove west of Fort Worth, of getting up a grand picnic, barbecue and two days festival occasion which would be thickly studded with rare gems of historic interest and instructive, edifying and amusing entertainment. And by dint of tireless and enterprising effort this program was pulled off with splendid eclat there not being a single hitch in the whole proceedings to mar the pleasure of the memorable events, which were styled the Ex-Confederates and Indian Fighters Reunions. They were held in 1908 and 1909, respectively, the first event attracting 8,000 people and at the last 15,000 persons were in attendance. There was not an idle moment in either day of either year and every event was a feature the star attractions being the Ben Hur chariot race and the big Indian fight and sham battle. The latter event was not only of great historic interest as being a vivid and life-like portrait of the stirring incidents of a by-gone age but as well intensely realistic because of the fact that old time, actual Indian fighters, gathered together by the astute and active management from many quarters, were participants in the battle and who, harking back to the wild days of the frontier west, momentarily forgot their surroundings and fought the wily and cunning savage, albeit with blank shells, with the commingled caution, courage and valor that covered with glory the pioneers who blazed the pathway of civilization in western Texas.

Preceding these events each day were baseball games, driving, running and relay races, addresses on timely topics by prominent people from all over the state, a grand free barbecue at noon each day and sweet strains of music were discoursed by bands the whole day long. They were grandly successful and important events especially that of 1909, not only to those lucky enough to be participants in the fun and frolic but also as factors of great value to Lorraine and Mitchell county in attracting a multitude of people to take note of our splendid soil and myriad advantages and perchance to locate here as many as a matter of fact, did.

These entertainments should, by all means, be perpetuated and held annually and it is the intention of several wide-awake, enterprising Lorraine citizens at the first propitious precipitation to take active steps looking toward their revival and to probably add to the program of the next event an aviation meet to be participated in by some of the most prominent bird men of the world, E. P. Turner, formerly general passenger agent of the Texas and Pacific R.R., was an entertainer and interested visitor at the last reunion, promised the hearty co-operation of his road in an advertising and rate way to promote future recurring events of the kind and no doubt Geo. D. Hunter, his capable and enterprising succesaffiliated with the state and other universities, taxes are comparatively low, the climate is salubrious and healthful and, all told, it is a highly moral and most delightful place to have a home in and in which to raise a family. Winning Out

By Donald Allen

(Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.)

When young Clarence Dayton stepped into his auto waiting for him at the depot at Short Hills on his return from the city, he had just three miles to go to reach the family mansion. There wasn't the slightest occasion for haste. He would simply take a seat on the veranda when he reached the house and probably fall asleep.

"Hit 'er up!" That's what young Dayton said to the chauffeur as he entered the car. The chauffeur proceeded to hit. As he had just been filled by the cook at the Dayton mansion he was ready to face death.

Farmer Saulbury was on his way to the village to do some "trading," and on the four fingers of his left hand his wife had tied four strings, lest he forget. They stood for a quart of molasses, a can of baking powder, three pounds of sugar and a package of starch. As he joggled along with his old horse and rickety wagon the farmer kept counting the strings and naming over the respective articles. In so doing he forgot that the automobile industry of America was still on the job, and the horse was left to pick his own going.

Young Dayton's chauffeur might have been looking over the landscape on either side of the highway, or he might have had his eyes closed as he thought of the perfidy of the cook who had led him on and on until he had declared his love and then hit him with a four-story brick house.

As for the young man he might not have been thinking of anything, and had his eyes on the toes of his shoes. When both farmer and auto are properly encouraged there is a getting together. There was in this case. There was a crash and there was a smash—shouts and yells, and there they were! The old horse was dead, the buggy wrecked, and the farmer hoisted over the fence among the thistles. The auto was banged, the chauffeur knocked about, and young

There Were Some Awful Threats Made.

Dayton had a bad limp on him as he arose from the dust of the road. "You've done it now—b'gosh you've done it!" shouted the farmer as he hung to the fence.

"Yas," drawled young Dayton, with an accent that would have done credit to a Hindoo in London.

"And why in the devil were you here instead of somewhere else?" demanded the chauffeur.

There was more jawing, and there were some awful threats made. By the great horn spoon, and the little brass spoon, and various other spoons, that farmer wanted $500 damages, and wouldn't take a cent less. He spoke of warrants, arrests, sheriffs, jails and state prisons, and he was still speaking when the auto limped off.

Young Dayton never settled things on the spot—not even when he bought cigarettes. There was a suit for damages.

A week after the accident Miss Mollie Dayton, who had the honor of being the sister of Mr. Clarence, attended a lawn party. At the gathering she was introduced to George Graham, and they were very congenial. Being asked about the accident, the girl made a good witness on the stand. She repeated all that she had been told about it, and then she had something to add. Clarence had secured a lawyer to defend the suit, but the father thought and she thought he had made a great mistake. He had retained a fegding who had never had a case. He had been retained because he was a classmate at college.

The father said, and that was also her idea, that the young lawyer was a person who wouldn't come within a hundred miles of making a decent defence, to say nothing about winning.

They had begged of Clarence to get some real lawyer, but he was obstinate about it. The farmer had sued for $500 damages, and with only a young lawyer opposed to him he would likely get every cent of it.

Mr. Graham listened and did not talk much. Now and then his face flushed, but as it was a warm day Miss Mollie laid it to the heat. When she had finished her narrative she asked his opinion of Clarence's chances and he replied:

"One can never tell how a lawsuit may end. This young lawyer may prove more than a match for the other side!"

"If he does I'll shake hands with him and send him all the cases I can."

Up to the day the suit was called the efforts to get young Dayton to change lawyers continued, but he was firm. On the date set, father, mother, brother and sister were on hand at the court house, and presently Miss Mollie got a surprise that opened her eyes. Her brother's attorney proved to be the Mr. Graham she had talked with at the lawn party. Yes, he was the young lawyer who was to plead his first case. Blushes galloped over the girl's cheeks as she remembered how she had maligned him, and if he looked her way he found her looking another.

The farmer was the first witness on the stand: He had gone over his testimony a hundred times, and was all ready to start off with:

"Wall, I was goin' up town to buy some 'lasses and things."

"Yes?"

"I was keepin' my eyes peeled for them darned autos, and I was a sayin' to myself that if one come along—"

"Never mind what you were saying. One did come along, didn't it?"

"I should say! 'Come along' and killed my hoss and sent me a-flyin'." Gosh, but I believe I was knocked forty feet high!"

"And injured?"

"Injured? Why, it scraped most of the hide off'n me, and I was lame for two hull weeks afterwards!"

"That was too bad. Now, Mr. Saulbury, you know the rules of the road, don't you?"

"I've knewed 'em ever since I was knee-high to a grasshopper. You keep to the right-hand side."

"That's correct. Why didn't you do so in this case?"

"I did, sir."

"Then why was the dead body of the horse found on the left-hand side together with the wreck of the buggy? Why were you tossed over the fence on that side?"

"The boss—the boss—"

"He must have jogged over when I wasn't looking."

"Yes, he must. Can you expect damages when you are breaking the rules of the road?"

"Plague take the old woman for tryin' them strings around my fingers to make me remember!"

The farmer was non-suited on his own testimony, but young Dayton said to him:

"Perhaps I was a bit to blame in the matter for being under such speed, and this hundred dollars will at least pay for your old horse."

Miss Mollie tried to get away from the court house without a word to Mr. Graham, but he had his eye on her and followed her out to the auto and said:

"You know you agreed to shake hands with the winner?"

"But why did you let me talk to you that way?" she asked as she extended her hand.

"And you are to send me all the cases you can."

Poor Mollie could hardly speak a word on the way home, and after the arrival there her exultant brother added to the situation by saying:

"Sis, there was but one thing to do under the circumstances, and I did it. Mr. Graham will be here to dinner."

"And after dinner you will be left alone with him."

"I won't!"

"And he will plead and win his second case."

Miss Mollie denies that they are engaged, but her brother does not take her word for it.

Wanted to Double Up.

Robert was about to have another birthday. In the past, the fun-making had always been so hard and prolonged that it left him fatigued at night.

So this year, before he went to bed the night before, when he had said his prayers he began over again. His mother, surprised, asked him:

"Why are you saying your prayers twice, Robert?"

"Oh," replied Robert, "tomorrow night I'll be too tired to say 'em at all."—Everybody's.

To destroy warts, make a strong solution of common washing soda and water. Bathe the warts with this for a minute or two, and let the soda dry on them; repeat the bathing several times a day until the warts disappear. RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

Doctors Could Not Help Mrs. Templeton—Regained Health through Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Hooper, Nebraska.—"I am very glad to tell how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped me. For five years I suffered from female troubles so I was scarcely able to do my work. I took doctors' medicines and used local treatments but was not helped. I had such awful bearing down pains and my back was so weak I could hardly walk and could not ride. I often had to sit up nights to sleep and my friends thought I could not live long. At my request my husband got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I commenced to take it. By the time I had taken the seventh bottle my health had returned and I began doing my washing and was a well woman. At one time for three weeks I did all the work for eighteen boarders with no signs of my old trouble returning. Many have taken your medicine after seeing what it did for me. I would not take $1000 and be where I was. You have my permission to use my name if it will aid anyone."—Mrs. SUSIE TEMPLETON, Hooper, Nebraska.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ills of woman—ills that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

Boy Answered Collier.

John Muir, California's naturalist and explorer, relates the following story of Col. D. C. Collier, director general of the Panama-California exposition of San Diego:

While riding along a mountain road in San Diego, Cal., Mr. Collier came upon a dilapidated corral fence upon which hung a sign bearing the following announcement: "For Sale." A bright-looking small boy sat on the fence beside the sign, and Mr. Collier asked him, "When does this ranch sell?"

The small boy glanced up quickly at Mr. Collier, smiled, and said, "When some sucker comes along who can raise the wind." Mr. Collier doffed his sombrero, thanked the lad for his information, and rode on in his way feeling greatly enlightened.—Hearst's Magazine.

The lovers whispered together before the doors of her father's hangar, planning the last details of their elopement.

"Hurry, dearest," he urged. "We will wheel our runabout monoplane and together we'll fly away on the wings of the night, nevermore to be separated!"

"Wait," she exclaimed. "I have a better plan. We will run it out and hide it in the old stable; then we will walk to the trolley and papa will never suspect us."

They were hardly half a mile on their way down the road when, from overhead, came the roar of the triple propellers of the racing monoplane as papa dashed out into the darkness in hot pursuit.—Puck.

Result of the Primary.

It had been a hard day at the polls. The addition of nearly a thousand women's votes to the poll made the counting a prolonged proposition.

"Well, James," said Mrs. Wallicky, as her husband returned from his arduous labors as a teller, "how did the vote go?"

"Nine hundred and two votes for Bildad, seven hundred and fifty-three for Slaters, eight recipes for tomato ketchup, four wash lists and a milliner's bill," said Wallicky. "It was a mighty interesting vote."—Judge.

ONLY THING IS TO FIND HER

Every Man Has an Affinity Somewhere on the Earth, is a Law of Nature.

Every man has a best girl waiting for him somewhere in the world. The moment that he is born, the catalogue clerk in Time's great factory assigns him to a best girl or else puts him on the waiting list.

There is no escaping your best girl. No matter where she may be born or how far apart from her you were when you started, the inevitable attraction will work your destiny, and when you meet you will both know it.

All that is lacking is the material realization, and inasmuch as all ideas eventually find their way to the surface, yours is bound to come.

Sometimes a man's best girl is homeless; sometimes her mouth is not a cupid's bow, and her features are irregular; that makes no difference; he will love her just the same when he meets her.

Also, she may be another man's wife. Such things have been known.

Here's hoping that it will not happen to you.—Life.

ECZEMA FOR TEN YEARS

1809 Little Walsh St., Baltimore, Md.—"I was afflicted with eczema for about ten years, the most tormenting and agonizing. It was dry eczema, all itching. It was scratch, scratch, scratch and burn, burn, burn. By scratching I brought sores which scabbed. I tried all remedies which I knew or heard of; some gave me temporary relief, but none permanent cure. I couldn't sleep for scratching, after which there was burning. I saw the advertisement for free samples of Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and wrote for them. They did me good immediately and I then bought a box of Cuticura Ointment and a cake of Cuticura Soap. I was cured in two weeks." (Signed) George Wooden, Jan. 21, 1912.

Little Study in Relative Value.

On the 23d of June Edward Albert, prince of Wales, was 18 years of age.

That means that he was old enough to rule the British empire if his father were to die.

But he won't be "of age" with all which that implies in English law until he is twenty-one.

And he will not be free to choose a wife until he is twenty-five.

An odd logic this—with eighteen goes the rule of an empire; with twenty-one the power to incur debts, and with twenty-five the right to choose a wife.

This would make an anthropocentric world laugh in appreciation.—Chicago Post.

The Main Thing.

HER EVENING TO BLUNDER

Fate Evidently Was Determined to Be Unkind to Fair Diner Making Conversation.

"Can you tell me," remarked a fair lady of her partner at the supper table, "who that exceedingly ugly man is? I mean the one sitting opposite you?" The gentleman smiled sardonically. "Oh, he's my brother!" came the reply.

The lady went scarlet, and her confusion was almost painful. "Oh, I'm so sorry!" she stammered, apologizing profusely. "You see, I did not notice the resemblance between you."

A moment later she turned to her neighbor on her left, who happened to be a woman.

"Do you see that handsome fellow over there, twisting his moustache?" she asked. "He's been watching me, and making eyes at me all the evening. Who is he?"

The other woman turned scornfully and angrily upon her.

"Oh, he's only my husband!" came the biting reply.

An old darky with an old gray mule hitched to a ramshackle wagon stood on the incline of Capitol Hill, in Washington, during one of the worst sleet storms in January.

The old man huddled in his rabbit skin cap shivering, the mule trembling with the cold. Two congressmen, waiting for a belated car, were attracted by the strange outfit and wondered, as time went on and the darky made no effort to depart, what ailed the old fellow.

One of the congressmen walked over and said: "Why don't you move on, uncle?"

The old darky pointed a trembling finger at his "team" and replied: "Cause dis yere mule won't go 'les' I whistle at him, and it's so cold I can't whistle!"—Everybody's.

Force of Momentum.

The old mountaineer, who was standing on the corner of the main street in a certain little Kentucky town, had never seen an automobile. When a good-sized touring car came rushing up the street at about 30 miles an hour, and slowed down just enough to take the corner on two wheels, his astonishment was extreme.

The old fellow watched the disappearing car with bulging eyes and open mouth. Then turning to a bystander, he remarked, solemnly:

"The horses must sholy ha' been traveling some when they got loose from that gentleman's carriage!"—Youth's Companion.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

In this age of research and experiment, all is researched by the scientific method for the benefit of mankind. Science has indeed made giants in the past century, and among them—by no means least important—discovering in medicine the Therapeutic, which has been used with greatest success for the cure of the most common of those who suffer from kidney, bladder, a disease, chronic rheumatism, urinary skin eruptions, etc. There is no doubt. In fact it is the most powerful and most effective remedy that has ever been discovered. It is destined to cast into oblivion those questionable remedies that were formerly so widely used. It is of course impossible to tell of all the things we should like to tell in this short article, but those who want to know more about this remedy that has made many—no might almost say, millions—should send addressed envelopes for FREE Dr. Le Cere Med. HOPPERS FOR THE CHICKENS

Details and Illustrations for Free De- livery of Feed Into Trays for Young and Old.

I make all my dry-feed hoppers for chicks, from one-pound coffee cans, and covers from five-pound lard pails, says a writer in the Farm and Home. They are very satisfactory as well as cheap.

With a can opener I cut a slit about two inches long, close to the bottom of the can, then at each end of the cut make a half-inch incision toward the top of the can. With a pair of pliers I bend back the tin, making a hole large enough to allow the feed to sift through but not large enough for a chick to get its head through, lest they get hung. Next I drive two holes in bottom of can at the proper distance from each other to admit the points of a wire staple. Make corresponding holes in the pail cover, insert the staple through the four holes and bend each point outward, fastening cover and can together. Remove top from can and fill with meal or bran and there is not a hopper on the market more useful for baby chicks up to four and five weeks of age.

The hopper for larger fowls is made from a long but narrow wooden box. Any dimensions which suit the space or wishes of the poultry man may be used. Remove cover and front side from box, saw a small strip from end of the removed front and fit carefully upon cleats placed from front corner of top to back corner of bottom. (See line a b.) Across front of bottom c, nail a narrow strip to prevent feed from being pushed out on floor.

For the cover, hinge top of box to back side and the hopper is ready to hang upon the wall or place on blocks the right distance from floor to allow fowls to eat comfortably. In fitting the front upon the cleats allow half an inch space from bottom and one inch from back of hopper. This gives free delivery of feed into the tray.

SUNFLOWER SEED FOR HENS

Russian Variety Is Most Prolific for Furnishing Good Quality of Rich Oil Feed.

For poultry the Russian sunflower is the most prolific variety. Sow seed early in June. The sunflower is a profitable crop to grow for furnishing a good quality of rich oil feed to take the place of cottonseed or flaxseed meal. Sunflower seed is used in all the poultry mixtures now sold in the markets.

The sunflower is a hardy plant, a vigorous and rapid grower, and a good plant to grow not only for its seeds, but also for its bright, beautiful yellow blossoms. The plant, when in full bloom, makes a good food for honey bees. Have the ground deeply plowed and thoroughly mellowed. The ground should be rich to grow large heads full of seed. Mark the rows off three feet apart and three inches deep. Drop two seeds to the running foot. When plants are up thin out the stand 15 to 20 inches apart. Good culture, free of grass and weeds, must be given through the season.

Vacation for Breeding Stock. Give the breeding stock, you intend to carry over for next season, a vacation in vacation quarters. If possible, separate the males and females and give each flock outdoor quarters on ample range, well shaded. Let them occupy this summer range until time to house in winter quarters in the fall. You will find that they moult out cleaner and earlier and that they will prove better in breeding condition.

Reduce Egg-Laying Power. An egg is a chemical combination, and if hens lack in their feed any element which is found in eggs then the power to produce eggs is lowered.

WHY PURE BREEDS ARE BEST

Well Kept Flock of Thoroughbreds Costs No More to Feed and House Than the Mongrels.

(By MRS. H. F. GRINSTEAD.)

The person who raises chickens, turkeys, ducks or any other fowl naturally feels a greater pride and interest in thoroughbred stock and, therefore, gives the flock better care than would be given to mongrels. No matter what kind of birds you have, however, the same rule of good care applies. With the right kind of care and interest, your flock will yield abundant satisfaction and good profit and both of these are felt to a greater degree by the owner of the thoroughbred fowls.

Houses, yards and feed cost about the same for either mongrels or full bloods and a well kept flock of thoroughbreds always attract attention and admiration from neighbors, who are often willing to pay a much better price for eggs for hatching purposes from such stock than ordinary eggs will bring.

Many buyers, every season, get excellent results in the least expensive way by purchasing eggs from which to hatch pure bred stock. The breed best suited to your surroundings and the purpose you wish them to serve should be selected. The best meat producer is not, as a rule, a good egg producer and so on, but with careful study of some of the breeds a buyer ought to be able to know how to select just what will meet his needs.

PLYMOUTH ROCKS ARE FIRST

More Marketable Than White-Feathered Chickens, Says Prof. Lippincott of Kansas.

The most marketable breed of chickens is the Barred Plymouth Rock. This decision, handed down a few days ago by W. A. Lippincott, professor of poultry husbandry at the Kansas Agricultural college, answers a question which long has been disturbing the minds of poultry-raising persons. It will be a hard blow to the popular theory that white-feathered chickens are more in demand on the markets than any other breed. Doubtless you have stood by that belief all your life, and you may take exception to the ruling of the court. But white feathers don't count for all, the poultry professor says. And he has made, in packing centers, an investigation upon which to base his assertions. At to their marketable merit, Prof. Lippincott ranks the various breeds like this: Barred Plymouth Rocks, White Wyandottes, White Plymouth Rocks, Black Lang shans, Leghorns, Brahmans, Cochins, Scrubs.

Yellow shanks and yellow skin are demanded above everything else, the decision says. Further, the shanks must be clean and free from feathers. The body must be plump and of medium size—four to seven pounds, for roasting birds. The breeds that most nearly meet these requirements are the Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, and Rhode Island Reds. The reason such breeds as Buff Wyandottes and Rhode Island Reds do not appear in the list just given is because they have not been bred in sufficient numbers to make an impression on the market. Packers are not acquainted with them.

POULTRY NOTES

Look to the comfort of the fowls. Never feed whole corn except at evening. Direct sunlight is a great natural disinfectant. Don't neglect your chicks and fowls in hot weather. Hot, close weather brings lots of lice to the dirty pen. It is a well-known fact that all hens are not good layers. The hot, sultry weather is trying to both fowls and men. Don't crowd sleeping quarters. Keep fronts of houses open. Hens and pullets do not thrive on the same kind of feed. Heat prostration is common in yards where there is no shade. Keep things clean. Use lice powder, lice paint and disinfectants freely. As soon as the hatching season is over all sale birds should be marketed. Feed little, if any, corn or other heating foods while the temperature is high. It takes a good poultryman to keep up his enthusiasm when the weather is hot. Success with poultry all depends on whether we have egg producers or drones.

Social Forms and Entertainments

From a Mere Man.

Will you kindly advise me the duties of the "best man" at a home wedding? I am to wear a dress suit. Will you state the accessories that go with it? Harry.

The best man is supposed to be the moral support and adviser of the bridegroom; he sees to the details, such as having the necessary credentials at hand required by the state and clergyman, pays the latter, stands by the bridegroom and enters with him; he takes the maid of honor (if there is one) under his especial protection after the ceremony. In fact, he is supposed to be the official thinker for the bridegroom. Pearl studs and cuff links, a white bow tie, white kid gloves and white waistcoat, with patent leather pumps, go with full evening dress.

The Proper Thing to Do.

Being in doubt I come to your helpful department for information. Is it necessary to write anything upon the card that is sent with a wedding gift? If so, what? Must an invitation to a wedding be acknowledged? A. G.

It is not necessary to say anything on the card, on the other hand, it is perfectly proper to do so. The words "Sincere good wishes" or "Heartly congratulations" seem to bring the donor into closer touch with the recipient, but as with all things, this is a matter of personal feeling. Dame Curtsey has said time and again that an invitation to a home wedding demanded an immediate "acceptance" or "regret" the same as for any social function at a home. A wedding at the church does not require a reply.

Fit for a Man.

Will you name a few articles that a young woman may with propriety give to a man who is about to leave for a distant city to study law? Sweet Sixteen.

It is supposed that the man in question will have a "den" of some description and there are a number of things to provide which are useful as well as ornamental. For instance, a bronze incense burner to hold cigars, a brass candlestick with a bayberry candle, a metal letter holder, book ends of wood or metal, a framed sentiment, etc. In fact, there is almost no limit to acceptable objects outside of the ever-present pillow, of which, like teapoons for a girl, "there can never be too many."

Where to Send the Present.

I have received so much help by reading your page that I come to you now.

My brother will marry in the fall, as he will go to our home and I am not able to go to the wedding shall I send the present home or give it to them when they come back to the city? Engie.

Seems to me as long as the bridal couple are to make their home in the same town that I would wait and give them your gift when they arrive, as it will save them packing it and bringing back with them. However, it will be perfectly proper to send it to the bride before the wedding if you prefer.

Send Self-Addressed Stamped Envelope.

I find your department very helpful. I would like to know of a book of nice parlor games that could be played at house parties for boys and girls. A Constant Reader.

There are several books of games and amusements intended to help those who entertain but who have little time or thought to give to the matter. Just send me a self-addressed envelope in care of the paper (stamp) and I will send you the names and prices of three or four.

Card to Send With Flowers.

Will you please tell me what to write on a card to send with flowers when a death occurs? Anxious to Know.

Your card if sent from the florist with the flowers which you order by telephone or mail need have nothing upon it beside your name, but if you wish you may send a card which has penciled upon it "With deep sympathy" or "Accept our sincere sympathy in this your great sorrow."

Reply E. L. O.

A girl only twelve years old is entirely too young to have a beau or go to dances. Perhaps young people think I am too strict, but remember I have been over the road and know and a girl loses all her freshness and attractiveness by going out when she should be in bed by eight o'clock. MERRI.

Health & Beauty Hints

By Katherine Morton

While not perfumes exactly, toilet waters are always scented, and their use is very beneficial to the skin, particularly in the summer, when it needs all the refreshment it can get. The scented waters are diluted with plain water for use, for some of the vinegars are so strongly perfumed as to seem disagreeable when used full strength.

From 20 drops to a teaspoonful of the toilet water is put in a basin bath, the water so treated being intended for the rinsing after a cleaning sponge or tub bath. The liquid is left to dry on the skin, as one of the chief purposes of the toilet water is its tonic effect. After a weary day, a rub-down with a good toilet water, properly diluted, makes one feel like a new being, and while it is very convenient to get the vinegars ready made they can be turned out at home very easily and sometimes much more cheaply.

Of all the fragrant toilet waters none is so much used as rose water, and when this is pure it possesses the greatest cosmetic virtues. One formula for this delicious toilet water calls for four pounds of rose petals and ten quarts of water. The water is first distilled and then poured cold upon the petals, which are shaken around in the liquid. Then the vessel is loosely covered and put in a cool, dark place for several weeks, until the liquid becomes odorless. Then it is again distilled, and the drippings are gathered in small bottles and closely corked.

Another formula calls for putting the rose petals in an earthen jar and covering them with a weak brine of common salt. The roses may be gathered every day, and the petals added as they come handy.

An improved still can be made by fastening an india rubber tube to the spout of a tea kettle and passing it through cold water to condense the steam. The distillate, or drippings should be received in a glass or earthen receptacle; for if toilet waters come in contact with copper, zinc or lead, they will oxidize the metals. Stills for home use, however, can be bought very cheaply in the shops—from a dollar and a half up.

Many other garden blooms with pungent odors, or even faintly delicate ones, can be used for exquisite and helpful toilet waters—mignonette, lilies of the valley, clove-pinks, valerian, heliotrope, honeysuckle, violets, gardenias, jasmine, etc. In New Orleans and Charleston Creole ladies often drop the more richly scented blooms into pure alcohol, allowing them to digest or soak in the spirits, when the odor thoroughly permeates the alcohol.

A toilet liquid much used by the ladies of the olden times, and often called to this day "angel water," is much esteemed for its beauty value. It can be made at home in the following manner:

Rose-water	5 ounces
Orange-flower water	5 ounces
Myrtle water	2 1/2 ounces
Essence of ambergris	1 drachm
Essence of musk	1/2 drachm

Mingle the various substances and agitate the bottle for several hours, continuing the shaking during the day quite frequently for some weeks. Keep the bottle closely stoppered and in a warm, dark place. Let it stand for two weeks or longer, then decant the liquid, and if it is not perfectly clear, filter it. Properly made, angel water should be almost colorless.

There are many uses for bay rum, one being that it is admirable for massaging the scalp after the shampoo when one is likely to catch cold or the hair needs some little dressing to keep it in order. But if it is used too often or too lavishly on the head it will dry out the locks. Bay rum of a very good sort is cheap enough at the drug store, but if one is clever at turning out beauty preparations this formula would give about as pure a thing as could be had:

Oil of bay	240 grains
Oil of orange	12 grains
Oil of pimento	16 grains
Alcohol	1 quart
Water	25 fluid ounces

Dissolve the oils in the alcohol and add the water. Then stir into the liquid about two ounces of precipitated phosphate of lime and filter. This will improve with age.

New Color Schemes.

Navy blue and violet are dominating colors in millinery, and are mixed very artistically with light threads of cerise, orange, green and gray straw. Even the new flowers show the influence of these contrasting mixtures, and often some novelties in their arrangements.

Popples of shot taffetas succeed the white popples of velvet. Each petal rests on another large petal of green crepe de chine, forming a border all round, while the heart or center of the flower is in ostrich feathers, either black or yellow. This is an amusing novelty for the spring millinery.

HERE IS REALLY GOOD IDEA

Fire Insurance Would Be an Easy Matter if it Could Be Conducted That Way.

Senator Williams at a dinner at Yazoo, said in condemnation of a mooted tariff change.

"They who advocate this change know just as much about the tariff as the old lady knew about fire insurance.

"This old lady visited an insurance office and insured her barn for $3,500. The policy was drawn up, signed, sealed and handed over to her and she put it in her cabbie and started out. "But hold on, m'am," said the agent. "I must ask you, please, for the first year's premium."

"The first year's premium," said she. "And how much will that be?"

"There it is, m'am, written on the policy," said the agent. "A small matter of $24."

"Oh," said the old lady. "I'm in a hurry this morning. You just let the premiums stand and deduct them when the barn burns down."

We all like our friends to be perfectly frank—but other people.

O. M. Mitchell, C. H. Earnets and Charles Reems Earnest returned last Friday from a fishing trip to Devil's river in Val Verde county. Mr. Brooks Bell, who went with them, returned by way of Midland with the party of Midland people who accompanied them on the trip. They report seeing plenty of fish, catching enough for their pressing needs, very rough roads part of the way, but altogether, a very enjoyable outing. They touched the Southern Pacific road at Comstock for repairs for the machine, and some of the party took advantage of the opportunity to cross over into old Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Majors and Elsie Lee, came over from Sweetwater last Friday evening. Sam says he didn't come to vote as he has lost his citizenship here and has not resided in Sweetwater long enough to become politically acclimated. He just came over to help along the county judge's race.

E. M. Baldwin returned from an extended visit to relatives, friends and old haunts in and around Brooklyn, New York, last Friday morning, and from his physical appearance, they must have treated him well. He pretended that there was no significance in the conjunction of his return and the democratic primary next day. But the presumption is that all good republicans will help put Doctor Woodrow Wilson in the White House.

Pleasant Lawn Party.
Owing to an inadvertency last week, mention of the delightful lawn party given on Tuesday evening of last week at the hospitable home of Mrs. J. M. Thomas, was omitted from our columns, which we much regret.

The occasion was complimentary to Misses Belle Gary of Big Springs and Louise Wells of Augusta, Georgia, the former the guest of Mrs. Thomas and the latter of Miss Eleanor Coleman. Moon and artificial light vied with each other in illuminating the scene of gaiety on the beautiful lawn, on which tables and chairs were arranged for those who played the inevitable "42." Refreshments were also served out doors which added much to the comfort of the evening. At a late hour the guests departed with the grateful experience of a most enjoyable evening.

Missionary Meeting.
The Baptist Aid met Thursday in their study upon the uplift of China and Bible questions, with Mrs. A. L. Whipkey and held a very interesting meeting. Mrs. Phenix was leader and all enjoyed the lesson and found the Bible questions very instructive. The hostess served appetizing refreshments and the usual offering for the work was made. Mrs. Shepherd is hostess next month.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.
The meeting Saturday was conducted by Mrs. Hester who has the Mother's department of the work. She read a bible lesson from Genesis upon Rebekah as a mother and commented upon her deceit in causing Jacob to supplant Esau. Mrs. Harness read a fine paper upon truth telling in the training of children, proving conclusively that no sort of deception should be practiced. Mrs. Lyon had a good paper on living with and for our children. After the usual business the meeting adjourned to meet next week at the Methodist church with Mrs. Coe as leader.

Birthday Party.
Friday from seven to nine Miss Alle Merrill entertained a number of her boy and girl friends, the occasion being her tenth birthday. Her big sisters, Misses Shiell and Lula, assisted the little people with lively games and music and all enjoyed the romps in the house and yard. Many beautiful gifts were presented, fans being the favorite gift. Delicious ice cream, wafers and peaches were served, then everybody went home with everybody else until all were safely delivered to their parents, tired, happy and ready for bed.

"Were all medicines as meritorious as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy the world would be much better off and the percentage of suffering greatly decreased," writes Lindsay Scott, of Temple, Ind. For sale by All Dealers.

G. F. C.
Miss Elsie Hooper entertained the G. F. C. Thursday morning most delightfully. Only the club members were present, there being three tables. Miss Edna Majors won the royal prize a silver nail file, and Mrs. Myrtle Vaughan the lone hand, a set of hand painted salt and pepper shakers. At twelve o'clock the hostess served a delicious luncheon of salad, sandwiches, biscuit, olives and iced tea. Miss Lillian Liles is hostess this week the meeting to be at five o'clock.

Swimming Party.
Tuesday at five o'clock Mrs. C. T. Harness entertained her Sunday school class of boys and girls with a swimming party on the river near her home. Almost all the class fifteen in number, were present and all very much enjoyed the water, almost all could swim which of course, added to the pleasure, but the nicest part of the party was the delicious lunch spread and ready to be eaten when the young folks got out of the water. Only those who have been in the river for an hour or two know just how hungry one can be, and how good fried chicken, salad and sandwiches taste. Mrs. Harness certainly has inaugurated a delightful kind of recreation for these hot afternoons and one that all will enjoy.

Sunday School Picnic.
Tuesday Mrs. Burdine's Sunday school class of boys most royally entertained Mrs. J. T. Johnson's class of girls with a picnic down on Champion in the Ruddick pasture. The boys hired the wagonette and team and the girls prepared a delicious lunch while the two teachers accompanied them as chaperones. On arriving at the cool shady spot the girls and ladies made themselves comfortable while the boys went swimming. There was a bridge convenient for high diving and other athletic stunts and so all of them were tired to the delight of their audience, the ladies. By noon everybody was ready for the good dinner which had been spread and to which full justice was done. It was indeed a pleasant day and one everybody enjoyed.

Moonlight Picnic.
Monday evening Mesdames Coleman and Smoot chaperoned a gay crowd of young people out to Seven Wells on a moonlight picnic in honor of Miss Coleman's guest, Miss Wells. There were a number of autos and buggies filled with a jolly crowd, who visited the cave and all the other points of interest showing Miss Wells all the sights, the most beautiful being the moonlight on the rocks. An elegant supper had been provided and was entirely eaten before the company arose from the feast. The visits to Seven Wells never grow old nor never fail to be enjoyed.

The Central Circle of the Methodist church has been planning some time for a picnic, which on account of election and other things was several times postponed, but finally arranged for Tuesday evening. As this turned out to be the hottest day of the year hardly any one felt like preparing a lunch, and several others were kept away by some one being sick in the family, so only three couples, Mr. and Mrs. Doss, Mr. and Mrs. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Lyon went. They were well armed with fried chicken, sandwiches, iced tea, cream and cake, so they thoroughly enjoyed the most important part of a picnic, the lunch. Their only regret is that the rest of the Circle did not get to enjoy the fun and the outing. Those who remained at home were certainly the losers.

A Serious Accident.
John Moody, while working on the R. G. Anderson place cutting maize last Wednesday with a sliding cutter had his foot caught under one of the blades, with the result that the heel tendon, commonly known as the hamstring, was entirely severed, the blade also cutting into the bone. Drs. Ratliff and Phenix attended the case, and believe there is a chance that the tendon may be re-united.

Special Notice.
I have 50 good mares and fillies to sell or trade for land in Mitchell county, not more than ten miles from Colorado, or will take Colorado property if located right. Here is a chance. Come and see me at store.

Last Tuesday morning about nine thirty o'clock quite a jolly crowd of Sunday school boys and girls of Mrs. Earnest Burdine and Mrs. James Johnson's classes took their lunches, ice and lemons and boarded a wagonette for Champion where they spent a glorious day swimming, fishing and eating. They returned at 7 p. m. tired, hot and dusty, but not one word of regret for having gone.

Bruce Phenix returned home last week from Mineola, where he had a position with the T. & P. road, but the low altitude of East Texas and malarial infection of the Sabine bottom, was not to his liking, at all, at all.
