CAMPBELL-LILES WEDDING.

Consummation of Love's Dream Celebrated with Ecstasy and Under Happy Auspices.

"There was but one beloved face on earth, and that was shining upon him; he had looked upon it till it could not pass away; he had no breath, no being but in hers; she was his voice; he did not speak to her but trembled on her words, and saw with hers, which colored all his objects; he had ceased. To live within himself; she was his life."

One of the prettiest weddings ever seen in Colorado occurred Wednesday evening at eight o'clock when Dr. William Wallace Campbell and Miss Lillian Bailey Liles were married in All Saints Episcopal church. The beautiful little church was a bower of white and green with touches of pink. The vestries and floor were covered in white. The altar and vestry were draped in wreaths of green. An arch and lattice work of white and green stood at the end of the aisle extending clear across the church, this was topped with graduated white candles. The tallest being in the center. Immense white candles stood on either side of the chancel which was wreathed in green and the candles were fastened to the chancel railing with loops of pink ribbons. Candles were on the altar, also two crystal vases filled with pink carnations and ferns; a row of small white bells depended from the arch while a shower of larger ones hung from the beam by loops of white ribbon. The altar cloths were all of white. The ceremony was begun by Mrs. Harvey Lindsay singing most beautifully "O Perfect Love." Mrs. C. M. Adams at the organ. Mrs. Adams who had played the wedding march for Miss Lile's mother performed like service for the daughter. As it was begun the groomsmen Messrs. Chester Thomas, Hugh Swain, Rufus McComas, the best man Carey Prude and Dr. Campbell emerged from the vestry and arranged themselves on the south side of the altar, while the groom awaited his bride at the steps of the altar. The bridesmaids led the way down the aisle. Misses Juliette Louney, Mary Boren, Eloise Shropshire, the matron of honor, Mrs. Hugh

Swaine, the maid of honor, Miss Lillian Allen. The three little flower girls, Annie Mary Lupton, Elinor Thomas and Fanny Bess Earnest following. The bride on the arm of her father, Mr. R. B. Liles. The betrothal ceremony was performed by Mr. Hennessy, the rector. Mr. Liles giving his daughter in marriage. As this was concluded the bride and groom advanced to the chancel where Dr. Marshall, of San Angelo, spoke the beautifully impressive words that made them one, the ring being presented by the best man. Just as the ceremony was finished Mrs. Lindsey, Mrs. Webb, Mr. Davis and Mr. Coleman sang "The Voice that Breathed o'er Eden." The brouching around the altar was especially pretty, the bridesmaids and matron made a semi circle supporting the bride and the gentlemen another on the right side of the groom, the little flower girls being stationed between and the ushers Messrs. Louis Major and Ralph Beal at the altar steps. The congregation stood during the ceremony. The little flower girls led the way out scattering fragrant blossoms under the feet of the bride. Following her came the maid of honor on the arm of the best man, the matron, then the bridesmaids and the groomsmen. Mrs. Bailey, the bride's grandmother, on the arm of her son, Mr. Liles. The wedding party were driven immediately to the elegant Bailey home, where a delightful reception was held. The bridal party were stationed in the parlor which had been converted into a bower of green with palms and ferns. The bride and groom stood under a horse-shoe of white satin twined with green vines and red berries. The vines and berries were used most artistically over the windows and around the mantle mirror. Pink carnations and ferns in a crystal vase were upon the piano. The bride was embraced and kissed by all and the groom was by no means slighted, the congratulations spoken to him were most sincere and heartfelt. As soon as all had greeted the bride they moved into the dining room and were served the dainty white cake and pink cream, then the lovely big wedding cake, was cut. The favors were all placed on one side of it and the center decorated with a beautiful arrangement of candy flowers and leaves formed into a bower with a miniature husband and wife under the motto, "God bless our Home," the outer edge of the cake was adorned with white roses. The bride cut the first slice from this showy mound, and she was followed by each of the young ladies. Miss Terrell got the ring, Miss Coe the dime, Miss Winnie Crockett the thimble. The rest of the cake was placed in pretty boxes and given the guests to dream on. The dining room table was lovely. An elegant cloth of lace, and linen covered it and hung in graceful folds almost to the floor. On the cloth was a wreath of smilax while the center piece was pink roses and ferns in a crystal vase.

The gifts were unusually beautiful and numerous. They were of cut glass, china, silver linens, rugs and several pieces of furniture. The most elegant was a chest of silver from Mr. and Mrs. Artie Bailey, uncle and aunt of the bride, but all the others were just as pretty and useful as could be. An orchestra was stationed on the stair landing, and discoursed sweet music all during the evening.

The bride's wedding dress was of duchesse satin, with trimmings of shadow lace and pearls. The quaint cap arrangement of the full length veil caught with orange blossoms became her dainty blonde beauty especially well. Her only ornament was a handsome bar pin set with diamonds the gift of the groom. She carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses showered with valley lilies, and was the poetry of motion, beauty and grace. The maid of honor Miss Allen, wore white messaline draped with dew drop net, with pearl garnitures and carried an arm bouquet of white roses. The matron, Mrs. Hugh Swain, aunt of the bride, was attired in white messaline with lace overdress, her bouquet was of pink and white roses. The three bridesmaids, Misses Boren, Shropshire and Looney were in pink messaline with drapery of messaline with trimmings of pink rosebuds and pearls. They all carried pink roses in arm bouquets and wore half wreaths in pink rosebuds in their hair. The flower girls were in dainty white frocks of lawn and lace and wore wreaths on their head. They carried baskets of white filled with pink and white blossoms. The gentlemen were all in conventional black with white gloves, and were most handsome and manly. It was an unusually pretty bridal party. The brunette beauty of the three bridesmaids set off to perfection the dainty blonde beauty of the bride and her maid of honor. The bride's gifts to her maids were pretty lace, pins, to the flower girls bracelets, and to the gentlemen stick pins.

Dr. and Mrs. Campbell left on the ten p. m. train for Waco their future home. Her going away gown was a taupe coat suit with picture hat of taupe beaver, trimmed with ostrich feathers of the same color. Her shoes and gloves were en suit. The wedding party accompanied them to the train and they were showered with rice, old shoes and loving good wishes. They certainly are two of our most popular young people for the town claims Dr. Campbell even if he has moved, and the good wishes expressed were straight from the heart. Miss Lillian has been reared here, as was her mother before her, and she numbers among her friends those of her grandmother, her mother and her own. She is one of our fairest and dearest girls, and her leaving is like the ceasing of sweet music, but since she goes to make another home happy, and to make other friends we give her up, knowing that though she may go far away she is still ours and our love and best wishes will ever attend her.

Dr. Campbell made many friends here, and all were sorry when he decided to move to another place, but as all wished him success, they felt with him that it could be more certainly achieved in a larger town. And now to both these young people in Waco the loving thoughts and good wishes of their many friends will still extend and should they decide to return to Colorado she awaits them with open arms. Among the out of town guests present were Dr. Campbell's father and uncle from Gonzales county, Mr. R. B. Liles of Trinidad, Colorado, and Mrs. Hugh Swain and son Hugh of Dallas.

ROOSEVELT SHOT BY FANATIC

Man Giving Name of John Schrenk, of New York, Charged With Attack, Opposes Anyone for Third Term.

STARTS TO CHICAGO TO SPECIAL SURGEON

Insults He Is Not Badly Hurt and Talks Politics to Doctors. While They Ar Making Examination at Hospital.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 14.—The positive statement that Col. Roosevelt was not injured seriously was made by Dr. Frederick A. Stratton of Milwaukee, one of the physicians who examined the Colonel. Dr. Stratton said that there was no cause for alarm as to the Colonel's condition. Col. Roosevelt, at the railway station, insisted that he was "feeling fine" and that no one should worry about him.

"I wanted to get down to the train twenty-five minutes before we left," he said, "so that I could shave." On Roosevelt special train, Oct. 14.—Before Col. Roosevelt would lie down he insisted on shaving himself, and did so, despite protests of surgeons. The train started on a slow run. It was planned to get to Chicago somewhere near morning, although the run could be made in less than two hours in an emergency.

On Roosevelt's Special Train, Oct. 14.—Col. Roosevelt was in bed, resting quietly, as the special train pulled out of Milwaukee for Chicago. He had taken some nourishment and said he felt at ease.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 14.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt was shot and slightly wounded tonight as he was leaving the Gilpatrick Hotel for the auditorium to make a speech. The wound was superficial and the Colonel went on to the hall and began his speech after he had seen his assailant arrested and taken to the police station.

Henry F. Cochems seized the man and held him until policemen came up. A mob surged around the prisoner, who apparently is mentally upset on the subject of Roosevelt's running for another term as President.

Against Any Third Term. The man, who is small of stature, admitted firing the shot and said that "any man looking for a third term ought to be shot." In notes found in the man's pockets at the police station were statements that the assailant had been visited in a dream by the spirit of William Mc-

Kinley, who had said, indicating Col. Roosevelt, "This is my murderer, avengo my death."

Bullet Hits Manuscript. The bullet struck a roll of manuscript of Roosevelt's speech delivered tonight and this probably saved the Colonel's life.

After an hour's questioning, the assassin gave his name as John Schrenk of 370 East Tenth street, New York.

Lodges in the Chest Wall. An X-ray examination of Col. Roosevelt's wound showed that the bullet lodged in the chest wall and did not penetrate the lung. The wound is not considered serious.

Walks Unassisted from Hospital. Col. Roosevelt left the hospital at 11:25 p. m. He was able to walk unassisted. "I am feeling fine," he said. The Colonel left for Chicago at midnight on a special train.

"DON'T CARE A RAP ABOUT BEING SHOT" Delivers Speech to Milwaukee Audience With Bullet in Breast.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 14.—"I do not care a rap about being shot; not a rap," said Col. Roosevelt tonight in his speech at the Auditorium.

"Friends," he began, "I shall have to ask you to be as quiet as possible. I do not know whether you fully understand that I have been shot, but it takes more than that to kill a bull moose. But, fortunately, I had my manuscript (holding up the manuscript and showing the audience where the bullet had gone through), so you see I was going to make a long speech and, friends, the hole in it is where the bullet went through, and it probably saved the bullet from going into my heart. The bullet is in me now, so that I can not make as long a speech as I would like."

No Fear of Death. "First of all, I want to say this about myself. I have altogether too many important things to think of to pay any heed or feel any concern over my own death. Now, I would not speak to you insincerely within five minutes of being shot. I am telling you the literal truth when I say that my concern is for many other things. It is not in the least for my own life.

"I want you to understand that I am ahead of the game, anyway. No man has a happier life than I have had, a happier life in every way. I have been able to do certain things that I greatly wished to do and I am interested in doing other things. I can tell you with absolute trustfulness that I am very much interested in whether I am shot or not. It was just as when I was Colonel of my regiment. I always felt that a private was to be excused for feeling at times some pangs of anxiety about his personal safety, but I can not understand a man fit to be Colonel who can pay any heed to his personal safety when he is occupied as he ought to be occupied, with the absorbing desire to do his duty.

THE END OF THE OLDEST NEWSPAPER IN THE WORLD

The president of the Chinese Republic, Yuan Shi Kai, recently suppressed the newspaper King-Bao, which undoubtedly was the oldest paper in the world. For 1,500 years it has reported the more important news not only of China, but also of foreign countries. At a time when the art of printing and journalism was as yet unknown in Europe, the Chinese Gong-Chung invented a means for making types from lead and silver, and in the year 400 A. D. the paper King-Bao was printed, and has since been issued regularly until recently. The first edition was printed on ten sheets of yellow silk, neatly tied together, and was thus sent to all the high officials of the Chinese Empire.

Special Session Commissioners Court

Monday of this week the Commissioners' Court met in special October session. All the commissioners were present with County Judge A. J. Coe as ex officio presiding officer. Sometime ago school district No. 10 which is the Buford school held an election to abrogate the present tax and vote bonds and a tax also. This matter was taken up and canvassed and the bonds declared carried and those interested had Judge Coe go to Austin in the interest of the bonds. Manuel Berry the newly appointed public weigher at Westbrook filed his bond which was examined and approved. The court then examined and approved the delinquent tax record. 31 wolf scalps were reported and the county paid $1.00 each as a bounty for them.

Quite a number of small accounts were then allowed including the preliem and the court adjourned to meet again in regular session on the 2nd Monday in November.

The ransom of $15,000 demanded by the red flag general, Salazar for John T. Cameron, an El Paso cattleman, was reduced to $2,500 and paid for Cameron's release. The success of this effort to wring money from Americans will only embolden the outlaws to do worse. If the Washington government has made up its mind to consent to any indignity these outlaws see fit to put upon it, we may expect matters to go from bad to worse. Some strong nation needs to go over there and spank the whole outfit till they learn to behave themselves.

Record want adds do the work.

Mr. H. F. Wheeler Hurt.

Mr. H. F. Wheeler, manager of the farmers' gin, was the victim of an accident last Friday forenoon, which might have proven serious, if not fatal, had not his predicament been discovered when it was. It appears that he was leaning over the box of the cotton press to far when without being aware of his position therein, some one of the hands about the gin turned on the steam to the press and down went the block. The warning cries of Mr. Wheeler was the first intimation to others as to his danger, but before the power could be taken off the press, he had been squeezed more than was comfortable. Dr. Ratliff was called to attend him and took him home immediately in the latter's auto. There was no visible evidence of his being badly hurt, though his internal injuries could not at the time be determined. We are glad to hear that his hurts were not serious, and that he is about himself again and at work, though we suspect he will always be a trifle press shy.

Four automobiles passed through Cuthbert on their way to the Fair at Dallas. They came to a washout on the Colorado road and it is reported that the had to go by way of Westbrook. I am afraid that some of

It was encircled with a canopy of pink and white ribbons draped from the ceiling. In the center of the table was a beautiful decoration of pink carnations and pink tulle arranged upon a lace centerpiece. The polished table was bare except for the plate and tumbler doilies. Every one progressed except the bride and groom, thus all were given the pleasure and privilege of having one course with them. At the conclusion of the luncheon, Miss Adams played the wedding march and the bride and groom led the way into the dining room where in sparkling champagne every one drank the bride's health.

Mrs. Allen toasted the bride. Miss Boren the groom. Mr Rufus McComas the bride's maids, and Miss Juliette Looney responded to this. Then every one toasted each other and the happy couple again. On returning to the parlor every one cut for the prize for the floral love story. This was won by Mr. Marshall, and was a pretty cut glass nappy.

Mrs. Lindsay and Miss Looney gave several beautiful vocal numbers and the young folks danced almost all the afternoon.

Every one greatly enjoyed the affair and were most happy of the opportunity to enjoy Mrs. Looney's unbounded hospitality.

Cotton Movements Slow in Other States.

The Crop Reporting Board of the Federal Department of Agriculture issued a report today showing the number of bales of cotton ginned prior to September 1st, by states. A total of 729,926 bales have been ginned so far this season in the United States while 771,297 bales were ginned during the same period last year. The total ginnings of this year are less than last season in every state except Texas. The Loan Star State shows a gain over last year of 116,395 bales, while Georgia, the second cotton producing state of the Union, shows a decrease under last season's ginning of 100,447 bales.

Doctors Use This for Eczema

Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health, says: "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and so salves have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of wintergreen, thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist writes: "I am convinced that the D.D.D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria. I have been prescribing the D.D.D. remedy for years." It will take away the itch the instant you apply it.
In fact, we are so sure of what D.D.D. will do for you that we will be glad to let you have a $1 bottle on our guarantee that it will cost you nothing unless you find that it does the work.

The mail order houses of Sears, Roebuck and Montgomery Ward et al., are making great preparation for the inauguration of the parcels post. They are establishing branches in several cities and carrying page advertisements in all the magazines and daily papers. The people will send their money out of the country to these blood suckers as long as they have the cash to spend, but when that is all gone, they will fall back on the home merchant to carry them through on credit till they can make more money to send off to the mail order vampires. The country merchants over the country have good reason to kick against the parcels post, and kick hard and long.

We hear less politics talked during the present campaign than in any presidential year we can recall, and yet, the issues of today have a far greater bearing on the economic life of the nation than in any previous campaign. People no longer take their politics so much to heart, and no longer refuse to do business with another man because he does not belong to their party. They no longer pay so much attention to the politics of the newspapers they take and read. Time was when a democrat would no more take a republican paper into his home than he would take a dose of poison into his stomach, and a republican would not buy so much as a pair of shoe strings from a democratic merchant if he could find a republican merchant in the county. Those hide-bound times are past, which is an evidence that we are learning some sense. We used to hear the story told of a particularly strong republican family, that the little girl of the family asked her mother if the Lord loved everything, no matter how bad. "Certainly," the mother replied; "He loves every created thing." After thinking a moment the little girl asked: "Mommie, do you think Jesus could love a democrat?"

So Much Cheaper Abroad. As an evidence of how much cheaper (in a horn) printing can be gotten in Dallas, Fort Worth, or other large towns, and the price people have to pay who turn down their home printers and send their money out of the county, a price list from one of the big Dallas printeries is in evidence. The Record office received such a price list last week offering to print the tickets for the approaching election, explaining how much better-prepared they were to do such work than the Record, or any other country office. For 500 election tickets they wanted $15.75 and for 1000 they asked $18.75. Now compare: The Record has printed and will do so again election tickets for a score of the surrounding counties, and the work was done just as satisfactorily as any city office could possibly do it, for less than one-half the city office's figures. The Record will print the same tickets for $6.00 for 500 and 1000 for $10.00, yet not a day passes without some one coming into this office and telling us how much cheaper he can get such and such printing done in some other place than in Colorado. But after they send their money off for printing and get their work back, they never come around and show how much cheaper and how much better quality stuff they received from the mail order concerns. The above is a fair sample of how much cheaper they can get the work done abroad than at their home printing office.

The result of the national election will hardly create more interest than the result of the championship games of ball between the New York Giants and the Boston Red Sox. A hobo blew into this office this week and instead of striking us for a quarter or a meal, he wanted "a Sad-day's paper" to see the result of the last game.

There is no better time than now to begin thinking about planting out those shade trees, you have so long contemplated. If you own your own home, nothing will add more to its value and attractiveness, say nothing of the added comfort, as nice shade trees. If you do not own your own home, shade will give the attractiveness and comfort anyway. It costs very little; the cost is negligible compared with the value and benefit the condition in which he kept his home, his fences, his gates; the condition of his stock and the presence or absence of shade trees and flowers about his home, than to risk all the credentials and letters of recommendation that could be piled up. He said he had a habit of riding over the country and looking-over the homes of the farmers who are trading with him. He had found it to be true, with hardly an exception, that the farmer who was careful of the condition of his stock, of his fences, particularly of his gates; who had provided as far as he was able conveniences for his wife and family; who cared for flowers and shade trees around his home; was the farmer who came up with all his contracts; who was respected in the community wherein he lived and who had an influence for good. The merchant said he had never turned such a farmer down for credit, nor had he ever lost a dollar on such men. The home maker is nearly always a safe man to trust.

A Reliable Test. A business man of Colorado said to us last week, that he had rather risk

What are trees, flowers, swinging gates and good fences to the squatter and drifter? He doesn't expect to be in the same place next year if everything doesn't turn out just to suit him. What does he care about the distance his wife or children have to carry water or fuel; both may be easier had in the place they are looking for, next year—or the next or the next after that. What's the use trying to make a home, anyway? He may have to give it up in a year or so to his creditors, and if he don't make a good crop next year he will pull out and leave it. There is much truth in the philosophy of this merchant.

Many Want to Try It. T. O. Berry recently completed the work of placing an acre of land, on the Thos. Hayden tract in the Cole & Strayhorn addition, under sub-irrigation, according to his improved system and the success of this experiment will be of interest to many of our people and when it is clearly shown that this method is a most successful one many acres throughout the county will be treated in a like manner.—Big Springs Herald.

There are many people in Mitchell county who are anxious to try out this system of sub-irrigation and will watch the experiments in other places with interest. Wherever the system has been tried success has followed, but all experiments so far have been on a small scale. If what the advocates of this system claim for it, are true, two or three acres put under sub-irrigation will produce more, with less work and less expense, after the cost of installation, than a quarter section under the ordinary system in an average year and season.

It Would Be Appreciated. In several towns where there are enterprising merchants and moving picture shows, in order to stimulate business for both a number of the merchants give tickets to the moving picture matinee—one ticket for every dollar's purchase of goods so that the farmers, their wives and children, can enjoy the picture matinee free: The merchants advertise that they will give free-tickets to their customers and the result has been to stimulate-business all around. It brings a good crowd to town on Saturday, and as it is a day when every farmer makes more or less purchases a good attendance would be assured the moving picture show. It would be a treat to the wives and children of the farmers, as well as the farmers themselves that would be appreciated, and their appreciation manifested in an increased trade for the merchants. Has any Colorado merchants the enterprise and nerve to inaugurate it?

A PLEA FOR CAMPAIGN FUNDS. Chicago, Ill. Oct. 7, 1912. Editor Record: The Democratic National Committee desires to call your attention to a recent statement issued by Harry Morgenthau, Chairman of the General Finance Committee. This statement shows that so far the comparatively small amount of $298,750 has been contributed to the Democratic campaign fund. It states also that an additional $750,000 will be required to pay the legitimate expenses to the close of the campaign.

There is an universal feeling that we are going to win, anyway, and that, therefore, there is no need of a campaign fund.

To meet this extraordinary situation, the National Committee is compelled to look to the loyal Democratic press of the country. We urge you, therefore, to redouble your efforts in behalf of popular contributions. So far, according to Mr. Morgenthau's statement, 17,116 individuals have contributed to the campaign fund. The National Committee is ambitious to increase this number to 100,000. I am sure this can be accomplished with the concerted help of the Democratic editors. Yours very truly, HERBERT EWING.

Talk about the riddle of the Egyptian sphinx; its as plain as the face on some folk's nose compared to that mysterious thing known and collected as "court costs." We have always been taught to think that unless something was done that had a value pay for it could not be collected. When an unfortunate fellow is forced into the interminable meshes of the law and he throws himself upon the court by full confusion, the fees he must pay for a score of things that were not done to him or for him, always smack-ed to us as blood money.

What an idealizer is death. When a boy is 12 he thinks his father an old fogey, if not worse; when he gets to be 21 he knows it. When 30, he thinks the "oldman" may have a few ideas about minor things; when he is 40 he is willing to listen to his father's advice on some subjects. When he gets to be 50, he confesses his father isn't so slow after all. When his father is dead, he refers to him as a superior sort of man, and the longer he's dead, the greater and wiser man he grows to be in the opinion of his son. This kind must pass before reaching a sensible working basis.

Have you contributed that dollar to the national campaign fund? It is needed right now. J. E. Hooper, at the City National bank is authorized to receive campaign funds, or contributions can be made through any bank or newspaper.

It is possible that over confidence may lose the presidency for the democrats. From every quarter comes the assurance that Wilson will be the winning man, and this very feeling of security makes the democrats less enthusiastic about contributing funds for the campaign.

Farm and Ranch Wisdom.

To complain at the high cost of living is rather bad taste for farmers, who above all men should profit by high prices for food products. The producer should be selling the living, not buying it at high prices. Are you a buyer of food products or a seller?

The human tongue, when a means of gossip, is a social evil, one that is calculated to do immense harm in dissipating falsehood, magnifying trifles and antagonizing people in the rural community. It is so easy to let the tongue get out of control and scatter its poison in the minds of good people. A safe rule is to keep a deaf ear to the gossipier and refuse to be a party in neighborhood gossip.

A little learning may be a dangerous thing, but no learning is a far more dangerous thing. Ignorance is the greatest menace to progress on the farm.

If those who complain at voting bonds to build good roads would think, they would find that the tax on poor roads that they have been paying is sufficient to build considerable highways. Poor roads mean poor farming and poor farmers, and unfortunately are those who live near such highways.

The social center movement will bind the community together in neighborly feeling and encourage co-operation in education, social and industrial effort. The schoolhouse is the logical place to hold these social gatherings because the schoolhouse is the people's forum, the people's incubator for free thought and intelligent action.

Party For Miss Lillian Jenkins.

Saturday night at Mrs. Cooksey's, her Sunday school girls gave a party in honor of Miss Lillian Jenkins who left Tuesday for her home in Alabama. There were a few boys present, but their lack did not prevent the girls from having a good time. They played games, asked conundrums, and gave incorrect answers to crooked English. A little before midnight the party broke up so that all might get home before Sunday, but before leaving the nicest kind of hot chocolate and cake were served. The class regrets much to give Lillian up, but hope that the lure of West Texas will soon draw her back to them.

The Young People's Missionary society met Tuesday with Mrs. Merritt and studied their missionary reading course. Two new names were added to the roll, and a good meeting enjoyed. Mrs. Annis was an appreciated visitor. During the social hour a salad course was served by the hostess. The girls will meet again next Tuesday to continue their study.

Plant trees—shade trees and fruit trees. They will not only benefit you in the present generation, but will be a blessing to the generation that comes after, and who will rise up and call you blessed. If there had been trees planted for us or other utilities provided for our coming, how great would we acclaim the preceding generations.

We heard a citizen say this week, just after he had jumped six feet from under his hat, to keep out of the way of a speeding automobile; that so many "third class people" were buying first class machines these latter days, that it was getting dangerous for a poor man to walk the streets." He further said, he wouldn't mind having to double-quick out of the way so much, if the fellow in the auto didn't give him a horse grin as he flew past; as much as to say: "Well, what'er you goin' to do about it, anyway." In fact, this particular citizen was hot.

Earnest, Dr. Ratliff and Attorney Sandusky will retain their offices there also.

J. W. Copeland, of Dayton, Ohio, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for his boy who had a cold, and before the bottle was all used the boy's cold was gone. Is that not better than to pay a five dollar doctor's bill? For sale by all dealers.

NEW GROCERY STORE OPENS.

Jas. B. Hall Celebrates His Entry into Business Circles With a Grand Opening and Free Spread.

Pursuant to several hundred invitations sent to the buying heads of all the families whose names he could secure, Jas. B. Hall celebrated his entrance into the business circles of Colorado and the opening of his grocery store, with a free spread, last Friday night from 7 to 11 o'clock.

For several days prior to this event the store was closed while the goods were being received and arranged in the most attractive manner, and when the doors were permanently opened Friday afternoon, it was upon the most conveniently and attractively arranged grocery store and stock the town of Colorado ever witnessed. The interior of the building had been remodeled and arranged specially for the display of fancy and staple grocery stock, as well as for the convenience of the salespeople.

The front windows have been constructed especially for the display and preserving of perishable fruits and vegetables; being lined with shallow metal bottoms for the holding of ice, water, etc. The rats, mice, flies and other degrading foes of grocery stock have been most effectually forestalled by a room enclosed by fine wire netting. Nothing has been overlooked in making an up to date and perfectly sanitary grocery store.

A large crowd was present last Friday night at the opening, when the best of coffee, cakes, pickles, preserves, candy and all else good to eat to be found in a first class place of this kind, were served with a lavish and generous hand. Everyone had enough—and to spare. Everyone went home delighted and with the most favorable impression of the new store. The occasion was a most successful advertisement and the Record predicts that Mr. Hall will do a splendid business; he is energetic, accommodating, attends strictly to business and above all else, he thoroughly understands every crook and turn of the grocery business. Watch his ads in the Record from time to time for bargains.

Colorado Mercantile Company will save you money on your next bill of groceries. Try them if you have not.

There is something about Hunt Lightning Oil that no other liniment possesses. Others may be good, but it is surely the best. It does all you recommend it for, and more. For sprains, cuts, bruises, burns, aches and pains it has no equal on earth. It stands head on my medicine shelf. Very truly yours, T. J. BROWNLOW, Lexington, Tenn. 25 and 50c bottles.

A large metal water tank, which had just been installed on top of the oil mill roof as a protection against fire, and been filled with water, collapsed last Friday afternoon without the least warning and fell to the ground with a dull thud. The weight of the water and tank proved too great for the strength of the brick wall of the mill building and crumpled in down and out. Some of the employees of the mill had just the moment before passed the spot where the wall and tank fell. Beyond the wreck of the tank and a small portion of the wall, no other damage was done. The mill had just been overhauled and put in first class shape for this season's run and the work of turning out oil had just begun. The accident will not, however, interfere with the operation of the mill.
