CLEAN-UP PRIZES AWARDED.

Report of the Inspection Committee in The Clean-up Contest for the Holy Land Prize.

The awarding of prizes in the clean-up contest was deferred until last week when the inspection committee made its rounds. After carefully inspecting the various premises, streets, alleys, etc., they made the following awards. The first prize was awarded Lister Rath, as the appended report of the inspection committee indicates:

We award to Amanda Campbell the prize for cleanest vacant lot. In awarding this prize, the committee desires to say that it has taken into consideration adjacent street and alley.

We award to Amanda Campbell the prize for cleanest negro premises. And in this connection, the committee desires to commend the negro population for their efforts in complying with the request of authorities to clean up.

The committee awards to Francisco, a Mexican, the prize for cleanest Mexican premises.

No prize is awarded for largest, second largest, or third largest pile of tin cans as the committee did not find any except on some premises which the committee were advised were not in the contest.

The committee desires to say at the risk of exceeding their province, that in some quarters they found the clean up spirit strong as evidenced by clean and tidy premises, including adjacent alleyways and streets in front of premises: but in a large number of other cases, we found this spirit woefully wanting, and the committee regrets to say that this was evident especially in the white districts.

The committee desires further to say that some provision should be made for compelling the cleaning of non-resident vacant lots.

Respectfully submitted,

J. A. BUCHANAN
F. S. KEIPER
C. H. EARNEST.

Committee.

CALLAHAN NOTES DRY.

The local option election held in Callahan county Saturday resulted in a victory for the pros, the majority being 94 with a total county vote of 1628. Baird went heavy and while Clyde gave the pros, almost as strong lead. The contest was a hot one, but there was no hard feeling on either side. Many speeches were made, but all of the speakers refrained from personalities.

RICHEST MAN IN WEST TEXAS TO LEAVE STATE BECAUSE HE DOESN'T THINK HE IS WANTED.

San Angelo, Sept. 6.—Because the city council here ordered J. D. Sugg, the richest man in West Texas, to extend the street car tracks three miles before Jan. 7, 1914, Sugg has planned to sell out everything he owns in this part of Texas and leave it. A northern syndicate has an option on 375,000 acres of his land. It is also understood that the street car line is about to be sold. Mr. Sugg probably owns stock in more national banks in Texas than any other man in the state. He says he is going to quit West Texas if he is not wanted.

GIRLS! GIRLS! TRY IT. BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR.

Make it Thick Glossy, Wavy, Luxuriant and Remove Dandruff—Real Surprise for You.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it Danderine No. 10 Sept 12.

We are in receipt this week of the bulletin of the "$200,000 Club", an organization among agents of the New York Life Insurance Company, who write more than $200,000 insurance annually. Prominent among its officers shows the face of our quondam fellow citizen, Gus Bertner.

There is only one kind of great men—those who achieve.

To My Patrons and General Public.

I have just heard of a report being industriously circulated to the effect that I have sold my gin to the oil mill. This is wholly false and the report has been spread with intent to mislead the people.

I am running an independent gin and guarantee satisfaction in my work. I will also pay as much for your cotton seed as anyone. I solicit your patronage.

CHURCH ATTENDANCE CAMPAIGN

The Christian church next Sunday will begin an attendance campaign, to continue until the second Sunday in November. The object of this protracted effort, is to get in touch with every member of the Church, and secure their attendance upon the services of the church. To secure the taking of membership by the non-affiliated members who reside in the community. To win the unsaved to Christ and the Church, and to secure the attendance of visitors and strangers.

Each member will be given a card to be kept at home, on which a record will be made of each service attended. At each service each member and visitor will register, and at the close of the campaign, those who have attended each service will be placed on the honor roll for Church attendance.

At each service, leaflets treating on the subject will be distributed to those present. Some of these subjects are: "If every member were just like me" "Doubling the preacher's power" "A Heart talk on Church Attendance" "Why People Stay Away From Church" "Empty Seats" "How Christians help the Devil".

Some of the subjects that shall be treated by the pastor are "The Spiritual Significance of Church Attendance;" "Laying New Foundations;" "Our Spiritual Thermometer;" "The Development of Christlikeness;" "The Supreme Mission of the Church" "Christ's Purpose in Our Conversion;" "Women and the Church;" "Honor God with Thy Substance."

Next Sunday will be "Home Coming Day," the sermon, the songs, and the spiritual atmosphere will be appropriate to the occasion. September 28 will be rally day in the Sunday school; October 12 Young People's Rally; October 19, Prayer Meeting Rally; October 26, "Service in Song" November 2 Evangelistic Week, November 9 Decision Day. The plans are flexible, and announcement of future services will be made from time to time. Visitors and strangers are especially invited to attend these services.

We have been waiting for some bright young paragrapher to say something about the recent Hot Springs fire and a "hot time in the old town tonight."

W. T. KING GETS THREE YEARS.

Quite a number of witnesses went to Big Springs Monday morning, being summoned to attend the trial of the W. T. King case, which had been granted a change of venue to Howard county, and set for that day. There was no delay in getting to trial with the case, both sides reporting ready. Practically all the witnesses had been examined by adjournment Monday evening, and it is expected to go to the jury sometime Wednesday morning.

This is the case in which W. T. King is charged with assault with intent to kill and murder upon G. B. Coughran, just about one year ago. Believing that public sentiment in Mitchell county was prejudicial to the defendant, motion was made by King's counsel for change of venue, which was granted and the case sent to Howard county, and set for the first day on taking up the criminal docket. Owing to the unsafe condition of the Mitchell county jail, King has been confined to the Nolan county jail being unable to give the required bond of $6,000.

The case was given the jury Tuesday afternoon, who soon afterward returned a verdict of guilty and he was given three years in the penitentiary. At the trial of this case at the winter term of the district court in this county, he was found guilty and his punishment assessed at eight years in the penitentiary. Motion for a new trial was overruled by Judge Beall at Big Springs Tuesday, and the case will doubtless be carried to the higher court.

COTTON REPORT

Up to Thursday morning of this week there had been weighed in Colorado 615 bales of cotton. Public yard 439. Farmers Union yard 176.

Colorado Gin Co. 227. Gary Gin Co. 194. Concrete Gin 105.

This shows 89 bales in the yards more than has been ginned here. This surplus comes from Loraine, Dunn and Westbrook.

The price this week ran all the way from 12:75 to 13:1-16.

Seed market shows seed selling at from $25 to 26.50 per ton.

If the little town of Post City and the thinly inhabited country around it can furnish sufficient patronage to demand a sanitarium, certainly Colorado can do as well, and should do better. We understand that four trained nurses are kept employed in the sanitarium at that place.

The Little Rifles—Big in Quality

YOU are going to buy a .22 calibre rifle, single shot or repeater—you'll find that many well known crack shots started with a Remington-UMC .22. Their advice now would be "By all means, get a Remington-UMC" because they know that there is a tendency in some quarters to look upon these models as only "a small boy's rifle" and to cheapen them so that they can be sold at a price.

You have just as much right to expect full shooting value in your .22 calibre arm as in your $75 big game rifle.

You want the Remington-UMC single shot at from $3 to $6. 22, 25, 10 or 32 calibre, made by the same people who make the famous Remington-UMC Autoloading Rifles.

Or, if you prefer the repeating rifle, the Remington-UMC slide action .22 repeater with its easy take-down and special safety features, shooting .22 short, .22 long or .22 long rifle cartridges, at $10 and up, is your arm. Sold by live dealers of this country—the most popular small calibre rifles in America.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

PUBLIC SCHOOL OPENS

The Colorado Public Schools will open September 22, and it is earnestly requested that all parents start their children at that time. Children entering at a later date are placed at a great disadvantage for seasons well known to everyone.

In accordance with the next textbook law, parents will be required to purchase new books this year. I have arranged the course of study in the way which necessitates the purchase of the fewest number of books possible. Old books may be exchanged for new ones by paying a certain exchange price, and in the following manner: Grammar for Grammar, reader for reader, Arithmetic, etc., and in no other way.

All pupils who were regularly promoted, without condition, are requested to purchase books before the opening day. A list of the books required for each grade is on file at the county depository, W. L. Doss.

All pupils who were conditioned will be given an opportunity of taking an examination on the subjects in which those conditions occur, but no pupil will be allowed to try for promotion who was conditioned in more than two subjects. Those examinations will take place as follows: Pupils desiring promotion to the First Second, Third or Fourth Grades will be examined at the High School building on Wednesday, September 17; to the Fifth Sixth or Seventh, September 18th; to the Eighth, Ninth, Tenth or Eleventh, Friday September 19th.

IF CONSTIPATED OR BILIOUS "CASCARETS."

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They Work While You Sleep.

Get a 10-cent box. Take a Cascaret to-night to cleanse your liver, stomach and bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous, upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out. Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Remember, a Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning. A 10-cent box from your druggist means healthy bowel action; a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

The new feed crop, feterita, was planted this year in West Texas for the first time with any serious idea of profit from its culture, and this year has also been a crucial test of its merit. If it can withstand the drouth and hot weather of the present season it has made good and will claim the attention of all farmers from this time on as the king of feed crops. Reports even this early, from various sections of West Texas, where the new crop has been tried out in contest with milo maize, kafir corn and sorghum, show that the feterita has remained green to the ground and growing, after the maize had succumbed to the hot, blighting winds and fallen down in one place in a contest between feterita and maize under the same conditions, the former yielded 1600 pound heads per acre, while the maize only produced 1175 pounds, both gathered and weighed at same time. It seems the drouth more deadly. With the ground wet deep by fall and winter rains, the crop next year, even in similar crises, will have a reserve fund of moisture, deep in the earth, on which to draw.

FOURTEEN FOR ONE.

It costs 50 cents a head to get rid of the southern cattle tick. This is not a random guess, but the actual results of the experience of the United States government in fighting this pest, according to its report on certain counties in Mississippi, where the most minute and careful records have been kept. The extirpation of these ticks—the "bug" that causes Texas fever—has added $7 each to the value of the cattle of these counties, on an average. Here's an investment that brings back a return of $14 for every dollar spent, which makes it about the most profitable business done exclusively "on tick" of which there is any record.

There is just one thing that keeps the south from leading the country in cattle production, and that one thing is the fever tick. The Southern people are as progressive and up to date as any, and they will not consent to have their cattle rated $7 a head cheaper than they ought to be when they can be given full value for 50 cents a head. The meat supply of the future will come from the South, rather than from Argentina, Australia and Mexico.

The Florence Brown murder case seems to have passed into that limbo of mystery in which were swallowed up the murder of Mary Rogers of New York the fate of Charlie Ross and the man who struck Billie Patterson.

Studebaker

A Car Not too Large, Not too Costly, and Splendidly Efficient

The beautiful lines and handsome finish of the Studebaker "25" always get attention the moment they are seen. You will admire them—so will your friends. And when you experience the smooth, silent, vibrationless power of this car, we are certain that it will set you to thinking. The Studebaker "25" is a splendidly efficient car, and incidentally a shining opportunity for you and every other man who wants a high grade car, reasonable to purchase and easy to maintain. For what more can a man desire than a car, a Studebaker car, which opens to him all the joys of motoring, with the added assurance that in design, in quality and in sheer thorough-bred performance it has no superior within double its price. The highest priced cars are by no means the most satisfactory, and thousands of contented owners will tell you that this remarkable Studebaker "25" is a well-nigh perfect type of high standards at reasonable cost. The sturdy Studebaker "25" will satisfy you through every day of the years and years of service it will give you. See it! Not some other day, but Now!

Studebaker "25" $850, Studebaker "35" $1290, Studebaker "Six" $1550, f. o. b. Detroit

Buy It Because It's a Studebaker

Studebaker Standards

The Studebaker "25" is as well built, with the same pains-taking attention to details as every other Studebaker car, no matter what the price.

The design of the Studebaker "25" motor can be compared in excellence only with one or two of the most famous foreign cars.

The position of the pump and magneto on a silent cross shaft in front of the motor has forever answered the question of where they should be placed. Your examination will bear out this contention.

The sides of the bloc-cast cylinders are clean and the enclosed valves quickly accessible.

There are over 225 drop forged parts in the Studebaker "25" and every one of these light, strong forgings is heat-treated in our own huge ovens three to six times.

Sturdy Driving Qualities.

The Studebaker "25" has become widely known as a glutton for work. It is powerful in that high degree which renders it capable of accomplishing every motoring task you set before it, with a rush which is as easy as it is successful.

It will thread in and out of traffic on high gear without laboring, and across country will take the hills without trouble or hesitation.

Not the least satisfying feature of the "25" is its quiet and full response to the throttle.

Comfort and Convenience.

The long, resilient springs, cushion any road-motion and the deep upholstery adds full comfort to the admitted driving power of the car.

The Studebaker Jiffy curtains can be put in place quickly from inside the car.

The throttle and spark levers are where they belong, above the steering wheel.

In finish also, this car is quite up to Studebaker standards. The "25" is in every way a car for long use and complete satisfaction.

COLORADO, TEXAS SEPTEMBER 12, 1913.

The fire god has had full sway this summer; all records have been broken as to number of burnings and lives lost in burning buildings.

Have you sowed a turnip patch yet? Nothing helps out more than good turnips in the fall and winter, and every dollar saved now is a dollar made.

The shortening days and later arrival of the trains has had the effect of thinning the foregathering of the town's population at the station when the trains come in.

The poet that perpetrated that silly question—"What so rare as a day in June" certainly had little or no acquaintance with this country. How about "too much rain in West Texas," as an answer to his conundrum?

The hottest days of the season were experienced in east Texas and Oklahoma last Thursday and Friday. The mercury at several Oklahoma towns reached 107 and 108 in the shade.

The expert aviators are no longer satisfied with altitude, long distance or fancy flights, but now fly 60 miles the hour up-side-down, with perfect safety.

In as much as several silos have been built in the county the past summer, while others are seeking information on this important question, we reproduce in this issue an article on the principles of making a successful silo, written by the highest authority on the subject, in the state. If you contemplate making a silo this year or next it will pay to post yourself.

The government weather bureau promised us dry and hot weather during the current week. But the clerk who dispenses the West Texas brand of weather began the week with a refreshing shower in this neighborhood on Sunday night. The United States comprise all the other states except Texas; the latter being an empire unto itself, and in its economy is found no accepted or official weather prophet. Each citizen does his own forecasting to suit his individual wishes.

A move is afoot in Oregon to abolish both branches of the state legislature and placing the business of the state in the hands of a commission. It is argued that a commission to manage the state's affairs, will not only prove cheaper, more expeditious and effective than the old system of government, but will greatly tend to lessen the opportunity for graft and corruption. It is proposed to have the commission bonded and responsible to the people for its acts.

If on a two million dollar investment, the Ford automobile company can declare a dividend of ten million dollars, there must be a great deal more profit in the making of the machines than the public supposed, and at the same time gives basis for the hope that in a few more years, when the supply more than meets the demand, a good machine can be bought for 250 to $500. Prices have held up chiefly because every factory could sell all and more than it could turn out. We are going to wait for the "glint" which must surely come.

When an outfielder in a base ball organization receives an annual salary equal to that of a cabinet member, with bonuses on the side, and when one club pays another the sum of $40,000 merely for the release of such a player, you may be assured that the game ranks as one of the chief concerns of this nation. The New York Giants paid the Detroit Tigers, $40,000 for the release of Ty Cobb for the balance of this season, besides giving Cobb a substantial raise on his $12,000 salary.

Six sets of twins two sets of triplets and three singles, is the contribution a West Virginia mountaineer and his wife make to the population of that state. Who needs a pension in this case?

The Christian Observer comes to us this week celebrating its 100th year of continuous publication. Besides much special historical matter and a beautiful cover design, it reproduces a fac simile of the first issue, Sept 5 1813, and the front pages of all the papers that the Observer has absorbed during a century. The Observer is the organ of the Southern Presbyterian church, and is the handsomest as well as most successful religious publication in this country. May it live to celebrate many more hundredth milestones in usefulness and prosperity.

The New York Journal, the yellowist of the Hearst publications, gives an entire page of a recent issue to soft-soaping country editors by asserting that they can decide the liquor fight by using their influence. The Journal's idea of deciding the liquor fight is to put down whiskey, but let beer and light wines alone, claiming these to be strictly temperance drinks. It cites Germany and Italy as types of a temperate country, yet just the other day, the Kaiser cut out beer and wine drinking and recommended a like course to the army. He announced that beer and wine drinking tended to lower a man's efficiency and stamina. The Journal is evidently very friendly with the beer trust.

Irrigation is the palladium of agricultural success. If you are able to arrange for only the irrigation of one acre—or one half acre—and do that with intelligence and industry, you will be astonished at the amount of the product. Whether planted to field crops or garden stuff, the yield will in every case be several times greater than by the dry cultural system, and will amount to considerable saving in the table expenses of the home. A garden of one acre, well tended, will supply all the vegetables a family can consume with much to sell, say nothing of what it will yield in the way of cow, horse or hog feed. Try a small patch next year and keep tab on the produce.

The revised estimate of the loss by fire at Hot Springs, Ark., last Friday night is now put at $5,000,000. Thousands of people were rendered homeless and penniless. Conditions are described as appalling, and the citizens relief committee has issued a statement to the effect that though they could ordinarily take care of all local people in a calamity like this, but the place being a metropolitan health resort, there are hundreds of citizens from other states and countries thrown upon their bounty. Contributions will therefore be received by the committee to relieve the distress, which is great. About sixty blocks were destroyed, among which were some of the most magnificent hotels in this country. The main and older business section of the city nor the government park was reached by the fire.

Pecos has a live bunch of town advertisers. They are promoting an agricultural fair this year, which promises to be a success. If we inquire into the whys and wherefores of Pecos successful fair, while all other West Texas towns are silent and inert in the matter, we believe the answer would be—Irrigation, with a big I. The agricultural industry which supports the town of Pecos, is not subject to the vagaries and uncertainties of West Texas rains, but is founded upon the bed rock of intelligent irrigation with an assurance of a good crop every season. The farmers of the Pecos country can plant and cultivate their fields with confidence in the coming harvest. They can have a fair not only this year, when the non-irrigating communities are burned up but any year they feel like giving their section a little publicity.

If Governor Colquitt has any aspiration to the United States Senate, it seems to us that he cooked his goose when he vetoed the appropriation for educational institutions voted by the legislature. The same people who voted down the proposed bond issue amendment will vote for our next U. S. Senator.

Active work is being done on the big irrigation project, which will be located on the Colorado river near the town of Bronte. There is a great deal of secrecy attending the doings and methods of whoever is behind the promotion, but options have been secured on thousands of acres of land adjacent to the river; canals have been surveyed; borings made for the foundation of the big dam, and a force of fifteen surveyors are now at work locating the levels and main canals. Evidently, something big is brewing in the irrigation line in that community.

Did you ever notice that a man can usually dig up the money for anything he thinks he must have or wants very badly? They always can. There are men who couldn't get credit for a little coffin in which to bury their own flesh and blood, or bread for their family but who can always dig up the money somehow for booze or anything else they really want. When a man tells you he can't pay you what he honestly owes; just put it down that he doesn't want to pay you. He will likely spend twice the amount he owes you that same day for something he wants.

Back in the early thirties, Gail Borden was one of the active factors in the development of the infant republic of Texas. He established the first permanent newspaper in the state and took out a patent on preserving milk by condensing it and one on a "meat biscuit". Borden died and his memory is kept green in Texas by having a county and town named in his honor. His condensed milk patent grew into the milk trust, which paid his heirs $7,000,000 for the name and trade mark alone. Just the other day one of the youngest generation turned up his nose at the pleasure yacht his father had built and left him, and which cost him the sum of $375,000. It did not have all the trimmings that some of the boats of the rotten rich have. The old Borden was a man; his descendants seem to be degenerates.

The rain fell on Sunday night like old times. The rolling thunder, vivid lightning, the stiff and gusty wind that wrenched off tree limbs and signs from their fastenings, the rushing water through the brim-full gutters, and even leaks in the roof, tended to lull one to sleep and excite dreams of the old time rains that came down like the "water at Ladore". It was a very refreshing shower, and aside from washing the dirty face of Nature, did much good in reviving the grass, helping the young feed stuff and doing no damage (if no good) to cotton. Any rain that may fall now, short of a heavy, beating downpour, can not help but do some good in a general way. We believe the crest of the hot weather is past, and whatever moisture may fall from now on, will add to the store to put the ground in condition for fall and winter ploughing.

Farm Opportunities.

There are opportunities today on the farms. Young men of character and efficiency are wanted and good salaries are available. Hired hands on farms, as a rule, are paid better and have more comfort than in days past when there were so many hardships. Clerks, stenographers, city employees receive less as a rule, for their labor than farm hands who have comfortable homes in which to stay and food that not only sustains life but builds muscle and intellect. No young man who is efficient need remain long a farm hand. It is an easy matter to become a farm manager at a splendid salary; then own a farm where you can build up a home for yourself. No young man who likes farming and has faith in agriculture as an occupation need leave the farm. There is compensation and an opportunity for great usefulness on the farm. Will you stay and enjoy it?—Farm & Ranch.

Remember, boys and girls, when you enter school this year, that you are preparing for duties and responsibilities. Make use of every opportunity to become a useful citizen in your occupation and respected by your neighbors.—Farm & Ranch fifty years ago, A. T. Stewart, the "Merchant Prince" of New York, was the only millionaire of national note. Today, there are several thousand men whose names are never heard of, besides whose wealth Stewart was a beggar

"BLACK HOLE OF CALCUTTA" OUT DONE IN TEXAS.

The tragedy of the "Black Hole of Calcutta," when 146 English prisoners were driven at the point of bayonets into a guard room 20 feet square, containing but two small barred windows, and only 25 taken out alive next morning, has been handed down in history as among the most heartless and cruel murder of the world. Yet, considering the advancement the world has made since 1756 and the provisions made for the care and treatment of prisoners and convicts, the tragedy at the Harlem State Farm, near Richmond Texas, which occurred Saturday night, makes the Black Hole of Calcutta pale into the insignificance of an accident.

Because they were "lazy in the cotton patch," twelve negro convicts were put in the "dark cell" as punishment for their "insubordination." This hole is built mostly underground, 8 x 10 feet in size, with 6 3-4 foot ceiling, and the only ventilation consists of several small air holes in the ceiling and one in each corner of the floor. Next morning at 5 o'clock, only the four convicts who had kept their mouths over the holes in the floor, were alive, and they so far gone as to be unable to give any kind of account of the horrible suffering of the others; eight were found stone dead.

Of course, there was great surprise among those in charge; much consultation; rapid scurrying around; strict orders from the throne to start something and spare no guilty man, and a lot more such rot, which simply means to get the white wash brush ready and stand by the gang; but some kind of horseplay must be gone through to square things with the people. It will be the same old gag; no one will be hurt by any investigation. And yet—strip of all the rags and veneering, this incident was nothing short of murder most foul. To thrust twelve convicts into an underground cell without ventilation, when the mercury was above blood heat, and keep them there twelve hours, could be no other than the act of a fool or the deed of a murderer.

It's the man who really counts in farming. Fertile land is necessary, but a master mind must solve the problem of production.

PLAINVIEW POINTS.

We have had three good rains in the last week and the young cane and maize is just growing its best, and will make a good crop with just what rain that we have had, so we won't kick at the damage done to a bale of cotton or so for most of us will come out on the young stuff and some will make profit by the rain.

A good crowd went up to Westbrook last Sunday to the singing convention from our community and had a good time, listening to good singing and eating a fine dinner.

Master Hannon Posey had a very sad accident last Sunday while playing at Bro. Leach's, with a horse he in some way got his arm broke, and Dr. Ratliff says that he will be disabled for some time, he has our sincerest sympathy and we hope for a speedy recovery.

We got four stars last Sunday despite the large crowd that went to Westbrook.

Although Miss Effie Leach our good organist wanted to go to Westbrook Sunday, she stayed at home so as to help Mr. Copeland, the superintendent with the Sunday School as he declares that he could not do without her, we do not want to try to flatter Miss Effie but we think that she should know that we appreciate her goodness and willingness to help in anyway that she can and whenever she can. Miss Effie now has a new burden, the teaching of a class of boys may they listen with attention and know their lesson well for they have the best of teachers.

The ball game last Saturday ended in a defeat of the Scrubs by the cotton pickers of 13 to 11.

Bro. Leach will start a meeting at Ira in Scurry County this Sunday this is his old home community and we know he will have great success. PRINCE CHARMING.

Farming is successful only when the corps have been profitably marketed. Good roads broaden our sympathy, lessen distance and increase our usefulness.

Baptist Service.

The series of meetings held at the tabernacle conducted by Rev. J. M. Dawson came to a close last Sunday night with a beautiful Baptismal service held at the church in which fifteen young men and ladies were immersed by the pastor, Rev. J. N. Campbell. Bro. Dawson did faithful preaching and the church is the stronger in every respect by having him and his faithful wife in their midst.

The Baptistry had been beautifully and tastefully decorated with flowers and greenery by Mrs. F. B. Whipkey and her Sunday School class, for the occasion and it was indeed an impressive scene.

CENTRAL CIRCLE

Mrs. Barcroft was hostess for the Central Circle of the Methodist Aid Society last Monday.

A large number were in attendance and the amount of nine dollars and fifty cents were received as dues. The election of officers was postponed until the October meeting. The social hour was enjoyed and the hostess served home made ice cream and cake.

Philathea Meet.

The Philathea class of Methodist Sunday school had an interesting meeting Tuesday with the Misses Merrell. After the regular business was transacted the class decided to give a parlor play some time in October with the Misses Wulfen and are now at work on it. The Bible question on Exodus were heard by the teacher Mrs. M. K. Jackson and the young ladies all showed study on the lesson. A social hour was then enjoyed at which time the hostesses served delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake.

Saturday Market.

The C. W. B. M. ladies of the Christian church will give a market at the store of the Colorado Mercantile on Saturday, Sept. 13th, beginning at 9 a. m.

Our new Millinery is arriving we will be pleased to show you, our line will soon be complete and is strictly up to date. Our prices are never too high. If you buy from us we save you money. Very truly, GLISSON'S.

MRS. MCKENZIE SUSTAINS ACCIDENT.

Some two weeks ago Mrs. F. E. McKenzie met with quite a painful accident. She had called on one of her neighbors about two miles from home and when on leaving she sprained her ankle, as she thought as she stepped off of the steps. By the time she reached home it was swollen very badly but she still thought it to be a painful sprain and treated it as such. But as it grew no better and her foot was turned in she came in to have a physician examine it. The ligaments in the ankle were broken and had come together in wrong position so it had to be broken over and put in a plaster paris jacket. She is getting along nicely now and has gone back to the ranch but it will be some time before she is able to use her foot.

MRS. LOONEY ENTERTAINS.

Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. R. H. Looney entertained in honor of Mrs. J. B. Gray of El Paso with "42" and bridge all those ladies who had called on and entertained Mrs. Gray. Notwithstanding the down pour of rain at that hour quite a happy group gathered and enjoyed a number of games also enjoyed the hostess the more so because she is to leave soon for quite an extended visit in the north. Mrs. Boren proved to be the lucky one in "42" and was awarded a beautiful cut glass nappy. Mrs. Richard Pearson won the bridge prize, also a cut glass nappy, and the honoree was presented with a set of beautiful cut glass tea glasses.

The gracious hostess assisted by her daughter served cake and cream before the guests departed.

LADIES AID MEET.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist church held the regular business meeting at the church last Thursday with a large attendance. After the regular business was finished the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Mrs. Robt. M. Webb, President.
Mrs. E. Keathley, Vice President.
Mrs. T. J. Ratliff, Secretary.
Mrs. J. L. Shepherd, corresponding Secretary and Treasurer.

U. D. C. MEETING.

After a vacation of two months, the U. D. C met with Mrs. H. C. Beal Monday afternoon. The attendance was good and every one seemed glad to get back to duty after the rest.

The program as announced was carried out and enjoyed.

Miss Marguerite Beal played so sweetly that she was encored and responded in her sweetest manner with a number of old time Southern melodies. Mrs. C. H. Earnest was the guest of the afternoon.

After the program was concluded the hostess with her daughters served delicious lemonade ice cream with angel food and banana cake. The next meeting is with Mrs. M. Carter and the president requests that the entire membership be present as it is the annual election of officers.

Miss Marguerite Beal played so sweetly that she was encored and responded in her sweetest manner with a number of old time Southern melodies. Mrs. C. H. Earnest was the guest of the afternoon.

LOONEY ON EXTENDED TRIP

LUNCHEON.

Mrs. Sam Majors entertained a few of her girlhood friends with luncheon Tuesday, in honor of Mrs. O. D. Flemister of Waxahachie and Mrs. F. M. Ransdall of Oklahoma City. Covers were laid for twelve, and it was a merry crowd that enjoyed the four dainty courses presided over by the charming hostess. The dining room and table were beautifully decorated with nasturtiums.

This was a doubly happy affair as it brought these young housekeepers together and gave each an opportunity to relate her experiences and also enjoy to the fullest the hospitality of one of their number.

METHODIST TEA.

The Methodist ladies are to begin a succession of teas this week. The first is to be this afternoon at Mrs. D. N. Arnett's with Mesdames J. T. Davis, Q. D. Hall and J. G. Merrett as assistant hostesses.

It will be from five to eight o'clock and everybody cordially invited. An interesting musical program will be given during the evening.

MISSIONARY MEETING.

Y. W. A. ORGANIZED

The young ladies of the Baptist church met last Friday and under the leadership of Mesdames Simon and Meeks, organized the Young Women's Auxiliary. Miss Annie Gardner was made chairman. Such committees were appointed as were needed to make the organization permanent and they adjourned to meet Monday afternoon, as that will be their regular day of meeting.

Monday Miss Annie Gardner, temporary chairman, called the meeting to order and after discussing and adopting the constitution and by laws and attending to other necessary matters the following permanent officers were elected:

Miss Exie Campbell, Pres.
Miss Olive Greenwood, Vice pres.
Miss Irene Whipkey, Sec.
Miss Minnie Lawless, Treas.
Miss Lola Whipkey, Pianist.

To the mothers in the church this is a much needed step and their prayers and best wishes attend this noble band of young women in, their work. They have the right leaders and as all of these twelve charter members are a bright energetic set we expect to see good results and hope every young woman over sixteen who is in sympathy with the work will join them soon and thus get a start in the study that they will begin soon.

In connection with work they will have a social feature once a month which also will be helpful to these young ladies.

Miss Laura Wright of Arlington, Texas sister to Mrs. Geo. Waller and William Wright, is visiting the former's family several weeks. She is just recovering from a very serious and protracted spell of typhoid fever.

The Husbands of Edith

CHAPTER IX.
The Friends of the Family.

BRICK discovered in due time that he was living in a lofty but uncertain place, among the clouds of exaltation. It was not until the close of the succeeding day that he began to lower himself grudgingly from the height to which Freddie's ill-mannered confession had led him. By that time he satisfactorily had convinced himself that no one but a fool could have suspected Constance of being in love with Ulstervelt, and yet, on the other hand, he was not better off for this cheerful argument? There was nothing to prove that she cared for him, notwithstanding this agreeable conclusion by contrast. As a matter of fact, he came earthward with a rush, weighted down by the conviction that she did not care a rap for him except as a conveniently moral brother-in-law. He was further distressed by Edith's comfortless, though perhaps well qualified, announcement that she believed her sister to be in love. She could not imagine with whom. She only knew she "acted as if she were."

She Plainly Could Hear What They Were Saying.

"Besides, Roxbury," she said warningly, "it's a most degenerate husband who falls in love with his wife's sister."
They were walking in one of the mountain paths some distance behind the others. They did not know that Mrs. Odell-Carney had stopped to rest in the leafy niche above the path. She was lazily fanning herself on the stone seat that had provided as an improvement to nature. Being a sharp eared person with a London drawing room instinct, she plainly could hear what they were saying as they approached. These were the first words she fully grasped, and they caused her to prick up her ears.
"I don't give a hang, Edith. I'm tired of being her brother-in-law."
"You're tired of me, Roxbury—that's what it is," in plaintive tones.
"You're happy, you love and are loved, so please don't put it that way. It's not fair. Think of the pitiable position I'm in."
"My dear Roxbury," quite severely, "if there's nothing else that will influence you, just stop to consider the child! There's Tootles, dear Tootles, to think of."
Of course Mrs. Odell-Carney could not be expected to know that Edith was blithely jesting.
"My dear Edith," he said just as firmly, "Tootles has nothing to do with the case. You know, and Constance knows, and I know, and the whole world will soon know that I'm not even related to her, poor little beggar. I don't see why she should come between me and happiness just because she happens to bear a social resemblance to a man who isn't her father. Come, now, let's talk over the situation sensibly."
Just then they passed beyond the hearing of the astonished eavesdropper. Good heaven, what was this? Not his child? Two minutes later Mrs. Odell-Carney was back at the spring where they had left her somnolent husband, who had refused to climb a hill because all of his breath was required to smoke a cigarette.
"Carney," she said sternly, her lips rigid, her eyes set hard upon his face, "how long have the Medcrofts been married?"
He blinked heavily. "How the devil should I know? 'Pon me word, it's—" "Four years, I think Mrs. Rodney told me. How old is that baby?"

"Pon me soul, Agatha, I'm as much in the dark as you. I don't know."
"A little over a year, I'd say. Well, I just heard Medcroft say that she wasn't his child. Whose is it?" She stood there like an accusing angel. He started violently, and his jaw dropped. An expression of alarmed protest leaped into his listless eyes.
"Pon my word, Agatha, how the devil should I know? Don't look at me like that. Give you my word of honor, I don't know the woman. 'Pon me soul, I don't, my dear."
He was very much in earnest, thoroughly aroused by what seemed to be a direct insinuation.
"Oh, don't be stupid," she cried. "Good heavens, can there be a scandal in that lovely woman's life?"
"There's never any scandal in a woman's life unless she's reasonably lovely," remarked he.
"Whose child is she, if she isn't Medcroft's?" she pursued with a perplexed frown.
"Demme, Agatha, don't ask me," he said irritably, passing his hand over his brow. "I've told you that twice. Ask them; I dare say they know."
She looked at him in disgust. "As if I could do such a thing as that! Dear me, I don't understand it at all. Four years married. Yes, I'm sure that's it. Carney, you don't suppose—" She hesitated. It was not necessary to complete the obvious question.
"Agatha," said he, weighing his remark carefully, "I've said all along that Medcroft is a fool. Take those windows, for instance. If he—"
"Oh, rubbish! What have the windows to do with it? You are positively stupid. And I'd come to like her too. Yes, I'd even asked her to come and see me." She was really distressed.
"And why not?" he demanded. "Hang it all, Agatha, it's nothing unusual. She's a jolly good sort and a sight too good for Medcroft. He's a stupid ass. I've said so all along. How the devil she ever married him I can't see. But, by Jove, Agatha, I can readily see how she might have loved the father of this child, no matter who he is. Take my advice, my dear, and don't be hasty in your judgment. Don't say a word about what you've heard. If they are reconciled to the—er—the situation, why the devil should we give a hang? And, above all, don't let these Rodney's suspect." Here he lowered his voice gradually. "They're a pack of rotters and they couldn't understand. They'd cut her, even if she is a cousin or whatever it is. I'd give a year or two of my life to know positively whether Rodney intends taking those shares or not." He said it in contemplative delight in what he would do if it were definitely settled. "I can't stand them much longer."
"What great variety of Americans there are!" she reflected. "Mrs. Medcroft and her sister are Americans. Compare them with the Rodney's and Mr. Ulstervelt. No, Carney, I'll not start a scandal. The Rodney's would not understand, as you say. They'd tear her to shreds and gloat over the mutilation. No, we'll have her to see us in London. I like her."
"And by Jove, Agatha, I like her sister!"
"My dear, the baby is a darling."
"But what an ass Medcroft is!"
And thus it is proved that Mrs. Odell-Carney was not only a dutiful wife in taking her husband into her confidence, but also that jointly they enjoyed a peculiarly rational outlook upon the world as they had come to know it and to feel for the people thereof. It is of small consequence that they could not find it in their power to be in tune with the virtuous Rodney's—the Rodney's were conditions, not effects.
However that may be, it was Katherine Rodney, pretty, plump and spoiled, who pulled the first stone from the foundation of Medcroft's house of cards. Katherine had convinced herself that she was deeply enamored of the volatile Freddie. The more she thought that she loved him the greater became the conviction that he did not care as much for her as he professed. She began to detect a decided falling off in his ardor. It was no use trying to hide the fact from herself that Constance was the most disturbing symptom in evidence. Jealousy succeeded speculation. Katherine decided to be hateful. She could not have helped it if she had tried.
It was very evident, to her at least, that Freddie was not to blame. He was being led on by the artful Miss Fowler. There could be no doubt of it—none in the least, declared Miss Rodney in the privacy of her own miserable reflections.
Just as she was on the point of carrying her woes to her mother an astounding revelation came to her out of a clear sky; an entirely new condition came into the problem. It dawned upon her suddenly, without warning, that Roxbury Medcroft was in love with his sister-in-law.
When she burst in upon her mother half an hour later that excellent lady started up from her couch, alarmed by the excitement in her daughter's face. Mrs. Rodney, good soul, was one of the kind who always think the world is coming to an end, or the house is on fire, or the king has been assassinated, if any one approaches with a look of distress in his face.
"My dear, my dear!" she cried as Katherine stopped tragically in the doorway. "What has happened to your father? Speak!"
"Mamma, it's worse than that! I'm—"
"Merciful heaven!" The good lady blindly reached for her smelling salts.
"I've made a dreadful discovery," went on Katherine in suppressed tones. "It came to me like a flash. I couldn't believe my own brain. So I watched them from my window. There's no doubt about it, mamma. It's as plain as the nose on your face. He—" "My darling, what are you talking about? Is my nose—what is the matter with my nose?" She vaguely felt of her nose, in horror.

"He's in love with her. There's no mistake. And, will you believe me, mamma, she is encouraging him! Positively! Why—why, it's utterly contemptible! Oh, dear, what are we to do?"
Mrs. Rodney looked blankly at her daughter, who had thrown herself in a chair. She gasped and then gave vent to a tremendous squeak.
"In love! Your father? With whom—who is she?"
"Father? Oh, Lord, mother, I didn't say anything about father. Don't cry! It's another man altogether."
"Not Freddie Ulstervelt?" quavered Mrs. Rodney, pulling herself together.
"After all he has said to you—" "No, no, mamma," cried her daughter frantically. "Freddie may be in love with her, but he's not the only one. Mamma!" She straightened up and looked at her mother with wide, horrified eyes. "Roxbury Medcroft is madly in love with Constance Fowler!"
Mrs. Rodney did not utter a sound for fully a minute and a half. She never took her eyes from her daughter's distressed face. The color was coming back into her own, and her lips were setting themselves into thin red lines above her rigid chin.
"I'm sorry, Katherine, that you have seen it too. I have suspected it for several days. But I have not dared to speak—it seemed too improbable. What are we to do?" She sat down suddenly, even weakly.
"She's not only leading Freddie on, but she's flirting with her own brother-in-law—her own sister's husband—her—"
"Her own niece's father! It's atrocious!"
"She's a horrid beast! And I thought I loved her. Oh, mamma, it's just dreadful!"
"Katherine, control yourself. I will not have you upsetting yourself like this. You'll have another of those awful headaches. Leave it all to me. Dear. Something must be done. We can't stand by and see dear Edith betrayed. She's so happy and so trusting. And, besides all that, we'd be dragged into the scandal. I—" "And the Odell-Carneys too. Heaven!"
"It must be stopped! I shall go at once to Mrs. Odell-Carney and tell her what we have discovered. It will prove her. She is the best friend I have, and I know she will suggest a way to put a stop to this thing before it is too late. We must—" "Why don't you speak to father about it first?"
"Your father! My dear, what would be the use? He wouldn't believe it. He never does. I wonder if dear Mrs. Odell-Carney is in her room." The estimable lady fluttered loosely toward the door. Her daughter called to her.
"If I were you I'd wait a day or two, mamma." She was quite cool and very calculating now. "It may adjust itself, and—and if we can just drop a hint that we suspect, they won't be so—so well, so public about it. I know—I just know that Freddie will be disgusted with her if he sees how she's carrying on." Katherine suddenly had realized that good might spring from evil, after all.
In the mean time young Mr. Ulstervelt was having troubles and disappointments of his own. Persistent effort to make love to Miss Fowler had finally resulted in an almost peremptory command to desist. An unlucky impulse to hold her hand during one of his attempts to "try her out" met with disaster. Miss Fowler snatched her hand away and, with a look he never forgot, abruptly left him. "It's all off with her," ruminated Freddie, shivering slightly as an after effect of the icy stare she had given him. "She's got it in for me for some reason or other. Wow! That was a frost! I feel it yet. Medcroft has played the deuce helping me. I wonder if—Hello! There's Katherine."
Freddie did some rapid fire thinking in the next half minute, with the result that Constance Fowler was banished forever from his calculations, and Katherine Rodney restored to her own. So long as he could not possibly win Constance he figured that he might just as well devote himself to the girl he was virtually engaged to marry. Freddie's was a convenient and adaptable constancy. Miss Fowler out of sight was also out of mind. He descended upon Katherine with all of the old ardor shining in his eyes. It was soon after Miss Rodney's conference with her mother, and the young lady was off for a walk in the town.
"Hello, Katherine," called he, coming up from behind. "Shopping? Take me along to carry the bundles. I want to begin now."
It was Miss Rodney's fancy to receive his advances with disdain. She assumed a most unfriendly manner. "Indeed?" with chilling irony. "And why, may I ask?"
Freddie was taken aback. This was most unexpected.
"Practice makes perfect," he said glibly. "Don't you want me to carry 'em, Kitty?" He said it almost tearfully.
Katherine exulted inwardly. Outwardly she was very cool and very baffling. "Please don't call me Kitty. I hate it."
"It's a dear little name. That's what I'm going to call you when we are—well, you know."
"I don't know. What are you talking about?"
"Oh, come now, Miss Rodney. Don't be so icy. What's up? Never mind—don't tell me. I know. You're jealous of Connie." It was a bold stroke, and it had an immediate effect.

"Jealous!" she scoffed, but her cheeks went red. "Not I, Freddie." She considered for a second and then went on: "She's not in love with you. You must be blind. She's crazy about Mr. Medcroft."
"By Jove!" exclaimed Freddie, stopping short, his eyes bulging. He looked at her for a minute in silence, realization sifting into his face. "You're right! She is in love with him. I see it now. Well, what do you think of that! Her brother-in-law!"
"And he is in love with her too. Now you may go back to her and see if you can't win her away from him. I shan't interfere, my dear Freddie. Don't have me on your conscience Goodby."

MANY GOING TO CIRCUS.

Ringling Bros. Attract Unusual Interest With Many Big Features.

Ringling Brother's circus is attracting unusual interest this season because of its many new features and the new aspect given the show by the addition of the great spectacle, "Joan of Arc." The circus will be seen in Abilene on Sept. 20 and this city and surrounding country will be well represented as it always is when Ringling Brothers are within excursion distance.
There will be a new parade in the forenoon three miles in length. The menagerie is practically twice as big as it was last year and contains many specimens of strange animal life new to American zoos. Audiences will be entertained by 375 of the greatest or Europe's circus artists. Chief among the stars who are exploiting novelties and sensational acts are: The Saxon Trio of the world's strongest men, whose wonderful feats of strength have startled Europe. No act like this has ever been seen in America. Close upon it in importance are the Balkani family of sensational riders, the Janowsky family of novelty acrobats, the three Jahns, ladder balancing sensationists, the Lorbeer troupe, who juggle human beings; the Portia quartet of women contortionists, the Maryland family of springboard gymnasts, the Alpine family of wire performers, Capt. Huling's two troupes of performing seals and sealions, the Schuman performing horses, the three herds of best trained elephants on earth, Mijarez, the Mexican wizard of the high wire, the Klarkonian aerialists, and the fifty funniest clowns on earth.
The great feature of the show is of course the newly added spectacle, "Joan of Arc," with a trainload of special scenery, costumes and stage properties and a cast of 1,200 characters. There is also a ballet of 300 dancing girls, a chorus of 400 voices and an orchestra of 100 soloists. This is the greatest dramatic and spectacular production ever presented in America, enacted on a specially built stage bigger than a hundred ordinary theatres. It is made portable so that it can be erected in the main tent each morning. This great entertainment is given as an introductory to the regular circus performance and entails no extra charge of admission.
"Joan of Arc" tells a masterful story from French history in a thrilling and dramatic way and with the wonderful illusion of tons of special scenery and stage devices. In the great battle scene the audience is held spellbound by the realism of the scene, while the enactment of the coronation of Charles VII is beyond question the most sumptuous and inspiring stage picture ever seen.

LIVE AT HOME.
The maritime news columns of the press announce that a large vessel loaded with canned goods at Baltimore has sailed for Galveston, to supply the Texas trade with canned goods, and the incident serves to forcefully remind us that we are not buying at home.
It is the old, old story of carrying coal to New Castle when we ship our fruits to the East and buy back the canned products, or worse still, to permit our vegetables and fruits to rot on the ground for want of canneries to use them. There is nothing that so builds a country as turning waste into profit, and there are many Texas products that have golden opportunities along this line.

DRUGGISTS ENDORSE DODSON'S LIVER TONE

It is a Guaranteed Harmless Vegetable Remedy that Regulates the Liver Without Stopping Your Work or Play.

A dose of calomel may knock you completely out of a day—sometimes two or three days. Dodson's Liver Tone relieves attacks of constipation biliousness and lazy liver headaches, and you stay on your feet.
Floyd Beall sells Dodson's Liver Tone and guarantees it to give perfect satisfaction. If you buy a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and do not find it the safest, most pleasant and successful liver remedy you ever took this store will give you back the 50 cents you paid for it without a question.

A FACTORY ON THE FARM.
Farmer Radford has pointed out that a silo is a factory on the farm and therefore lends itself to co-operation of the commercial and agricultural interests, and the farmer gets the profits of both producer and customer.
We need more of these twin agencies of prosperity, and commercial clubs cannot render a better service to their communities than in encouraging the building of silos. The silo is a great business ingenuity and awakens the joy of ownership.
A farmer can build a silo for two or three hundred dollars, and it will, under ordinary conditions, pay a dividend of 40 per cent where it is run to capacity.

COTTON SEED $25.00
The Gary Gin Co. are in the market for all seed at $25. They claim to be the men who put seed up to $25.
Mr. Newman, manager of the mill at Sweetwater and Mr. Fuller, manager of the mill at Snyder, were both here this week to see how Colorado could pay $25 for seed. Well they found out and they also found out that Colorado is gaining cotton within 2 miles of Westbrook and 3 miles of Loraine on account of the high price paid for seed.
A boy of five years of age at Columbus, Ohio, saved the life of a playmate one year younger, at the imminent risk of his own. His heroic act being brought to the attention of the Carnegie Hero Commission, with all the data necessary to the establishment of the fact, the president of the commission turned down the application for a medal in these words:
"This 5-year-old child's act, I regret to say, is not of a character to bring it within the scope of this fund as so far the commission has not seen its way clear to give favorable consideration to acts performed by children who have not reached the age of discretion."
Anything to trade? Try the Record.

The bill provides for the maintenance, supervision and management of such hospital, prescribing the duties and powers of all connected with it. The Record believes this is a most timely and sensible law—one long needed in every county of the state with sufficient population to justify such an institution. The great obstacle in this community to having hospital advantages, is the building itself. We believe if a building suitable for the purposes could be secured, there would be little trouble in getting the rooms furnished and necessary equipment provided. We believe every fraternal organization in the town, church and club, would cheerfully lend its aid to this good and needed work. We further believe, if the matter were brought before these different organizations, they would take it up and push the project to full fruition.

MOTHER! THE CHILD IS COSTIVE, BILIOUS

Don't Hesitate! A Laxative is necessary if Tongue is Coated, Breath bad or Stomach Sour.

Give "California Syrup of Figs" at once—a teaspoonful today often saves a sick child tomorrow.
If your little one is out of sorts, half sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that it's little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without gripping, and you have a well, playful child again.

D. D. D. In Hospitals; Standard Skin Cure

How many hospital patients, suffering the frightful itch, the raw scorching pain of skin disease, have been soothed to sleep by a soothing fluid washed in by the nurse's hands?
That fluid is the famous D. D. D. prescription for eczema.
THE SUPERVISING NURSE of one of our prominent Catholic institutions (name of nurse and institute on application) writes regarding a patient: "The disease had eaten her eyebrows away. Her nose and lips had become disfigured. Since the use of D. D. D. her eyebrows are growing, her nose and face have assumed their natural expression."
How many eczema sufferers are paying their doctors for regular treatment and are being treated with this same soothing, healing fluid?
DR. GEO. T. RICHARDSON frankly writes "D. D. D. is superior to anything I have ever found. Soft and soothing, yet a powerful agent."
To do the work, D. D. D. Prescription must be applied according to directions given in the pamphlet around every bottle. Follow these directions—and see!
And it certainly takes away the itch at once—the moment the liquid is applied. The skin is soothed—calmed—so thoroughly refreshed—delightfully cooled.
All druggists of standing have the famous specific as well as the efficient D. D. D. Skin Soap.
But we are so confident of the merits of this prescription that we will refund the purchase price of the first full size bottle if it fails to reach your case. You alone are to judge.

The local experts are now estimating the present cotton crop of Mitchell county from 13,000 to 18,000 bales. At prevailing price this number of bales would represent from $750,000 to $1,000,000. Last year a little short of 10,000 bales were made in the county. If the current crop amounts to 15,000 bales, with feed sufficient to run the farmers next year, Mitchell county will have great cause to felicitate itself on its good fortune. One million dollars applied to the indebtedness of the people of the county, will do much to relieve the present pressure and lighten the load of the coming year.

Work is progressing on the Mills well out near the Loraine water tank. Mr. Ratliff informs us that the six-by-six pit has been sunk nearly sixty feet below the surface, and that they will begin drilling with the bit this week. We understand that a 12-inch or possibly larger hole will be drilled, with the expectation of getting a thousand gallon flow per minute, at least. If this well makes good, Messrs. Ratliff and Wyatt say, there are many others who will put in similar irrigation plants. The farmer and the gardener have come to realize that irrigation is the only sure method of raising a crop or truck. Better twenty acres with a certainty than a section with a gambler's chance.

The time will come in West Texas when the bulk of the crops of all kinds will be produced by irrigation. There are on most every farm, draws or other depressions which can be dammed and water conserved to help out the crops in time of drouth. Water just at the critical time of a crop's development, means the difference between success and failure. The Western end of Kansas was as much subject to severe drouths as West Texas. The entire country is now dotted with small lakes filled with flood water, stored up, to be used when the rainfall is not sufficient. In many instances, the lakes are filled with water pumped from underground.
