

The Husbands of Edith

CHAPTER XII.
"I do love you."

MEANTIME a telegram had preceded a lengthy letter into the department of the police, both directed to Herr Bauer, who in reality was James Githens of Scotland Yard. The telegram had said: "Why do you say M. is there? He is in London. Explain. Letter tomorrow." The letter had come, and Mr. Githens as well as the local police office was "bowed over," to express it in Scotland Yard English. He had wired his employers that "M. is still in Innsbruck. Cannot be in London." It was very clearly set forth in the letter that Roxbury Medcroft was in London and that Mr. Githens of Scotland Yard had betrayed his trust. He was virtually charged with playing into the hands of the enemy—"selling out," as it were. It readily may be expected that Mr. Githens was accused of being in the employ of the "opposition." Moreover, it is but reasonable to assume that he took vigorous steps at once to vindicate himself, which accounts for the woe that lurked close behind the heels of a man named Brock.

Brock and Constance had ridden off that afternoon to visit the historic Schloss Ambras. The great castle had been saved for the very last of their explorations. He had just been able to secure permission to visit that part of the duke's residence open on certain occasions to the curious public. Edith had declined to accompany them. In the first place, she was expecting the all important message from her husband. She was "on nettles," to quote her plaintive eagerness. In the second place, she realized that as the crisis was at hand in the affairs of Brock and Constance her presence was not a necessary adjunct. Not only was she expecting a message from Roxbury, but eagerly anticipating an outburst of joyous news from the two who had, it seemed, very gladly left her behind.

The young couple returning by the lower road from the schloss came to a resting place at a little eating house and garden on the hillside overlooking the river inn. It is a quiet, demure, unfrequented place among the crags, standing in from the white roadway a hundred feet or more, clouded by mossy trees and somber cliffs. It is to this charming, romantic retreat that Brock led his fair, now tremulous innamorata. She, too, knew that the hour for decision had come. It was in the air, in the glint of his eyes, in the leaping of her heart. And she knew what she would say to him and what they would say to the world a few hours hence. The mountains seemed to have lost their splendid frown. They were beaming down upon her, tenderly caressing instead of bleak and foreboding as they always had been before.

A rosy cheeked girl came into the garden to serve them. Swift, cool breezes were scurrying down the valley, bearing in their wake the soft rain clouds that were soon to drench the earth and then radiantly pass on. They were quite alone, seated in the shelter of a wide, overhanging portico. A soft, green darkness was creeping over the mountain side, pregnant with smell of the shower.

Constance ordered tea and a bite of something to eat for both. Brock's gaze never left her exquisite face while she was engaged in the pretty but rather self-conscious occupation of instructing the waitress. After the girl had departed, he leaned forward across the little table and said, a trifle hoarsely and disjointedly:

"It was most appetizing to watch you do that. I could live forever on nothing but tea and sandwiches if you were to order them."

"You've said a great many silly things to me this afternoon."

"I wonder"—he stopped and lowered his voice—"I wonder if you would call it silly if I were to tell you that I love you, very, very much." His gloved hand dropped upon hers as she fumbled aimlessly with the menu card; something in the very helplessness of that long, slim hand drew the strength of all his love toward it—all of this confident, arrogant love that had come to be so sure of itself in these last days. His gray eyes, dark with the purpose of his passion, took on a new and impelling glow; she looked into them for an instant, the wavering smile of last resort on her parted lips; then her lids dropped quickly and her lip trembled.

"I should still think you very silly," she said in a very low voice, "unless you do love me."

His fingers closed so tightly upon hers that she looked up, her eyes swimming with tenderness. Neither spoke for a long minute, but words were not needed to tell what the soul was saying through the eyes.

"I do love you—you know I do, Connie. I've loved you from the first day. I cannot live without you. Connie, darling, you won't keep me waiting? You will be my wife—you will marry me at once? You do love me, I know—"

"I've known it for days and days"—She whimsically broke in upon his passionate declaration, saying with a pretty petulance: "Oh, you have? What insufferable conceit! I!"

He laughed joyously. "I never was so sure of anything in my life," he said. "You couldn't help loving me, Constance; I've loved you so. You don't have to tell me, dear; I know. Still, I'd like to hear you say, with those dear lips as well as with your eyes, that you love me."

She put her hand upon the back of the broad one which held the other imprisoned; there was a proud, earnest light in her eyes. "I do love you," she said simply.

"God, but I'm a happy man!" he exclaimed. Forgetful of the time and the place, he half arose and, leaning forward, kissed her full upon the upturned lips.

There was a rattling of chinaware behind them. In no little confusion both came tumbling down from paradise and found themselves under the abashed scrutiny of a very red faced young serving woman.

"Oh, never mind," stammered Gretchen quite amiably. "I am used to that, madam. A great many ladies and gentlemen come here to—to—what you call it?" She placed the tea and sandwiches before them, her fingers all thumbs, her cheeks aglow.

Brock pulled himself together. Very sternly he said, "This young lady is to be my wife."

"Ach," said Gretchen, with a friendly smile and the utmost deference, "that is what they all say, mein herr." Then, giggling approvingly, she bustled away.

Brock waited until she was out of sight. "She seems to be on to us, as Freddie would say. But what do we care? I'd like to stand on top of the Bandjoch and shout the news to the world. Wouldn't you, dearest?"

"The world wouldn't hear us, dear," she said coolly. "Besides, it's raining up there. Just look at it sweeping down upon us. Goodness!"

He laughed hilariously, amused by her attempt to be casual and indifferent. "You can't turn it off so easily as that, dearest," he cried. "Come! While it rains we may plan. You will marry me—tomorrow?"

"No," she cried, aghast. "How utterly ridiculous!"

"Well, then, day after tomorrow?"

"No, no, nor week after next. I!"

"See here, Connie, we've got some one else to consider as well as ourselves. In order to square it all up for Edith we must be able to say to these people that we haven't been frivolling—that we are going to be married at once. That will let Edith out of the difficulty, and everything will look rosy at the outset. If we put it off the world will have said things in its ignorance that she can never refute, simply because the world doesn't stop long enough to hear two sides of a story unless they are given pretty closely together. Now, Edith is counting on us to put the peeping Tom Rodneys and the charitable Carneys to rout with our own little bombshell. They're saying nasty things about all of us. They're calling you a vile thing for stealing your sister's husband, and they're calling me a dog for what I'm doing. No telling what they'll be saying if we don't step into the breach as soon as it is opened. We can't afford to wait, no matter what Roxbury says when he comes. We've just got to be able to forestall even dear old Roxbury. Come! Don't you see? We must be married at once."

"I do love you," she said simply.

"Dear me," she murmured softly, "what will papa say?"

"My dear Constance, I will explain it all to your father when he gets back from South America next winter."

It was now raining in torrents. They moved back into the darkest recess of their shelter and blissfully looked out upon the drenched universe with eyes that saw nothing but sweet sunshine and fair weather.

The clattering of horses' hoofs upon the hard mountain road sounded suddenly above the hiss of the rainstorm. It was quite dark by this time, night having been hurried on by the lowering skies. A moment later three horsemen, drenched to the skin, drew up in front of the inn, threw their reins over the posts and dashed for shelter. They came noisily into the arbor, growling and stamping their soggy feet.

"What, ho!" called one of the newcomers, striking his head through a window of the house. Brock and Miss Fowler looked on, amused by the plight of the riders. Two of them were unquestionably officers of the police, the third seemed to be an Englishman. They were gruff, burly fellows, all of them. For a few minutes they stormed and growled about their miserable luck in being caught in the downpour, ordering schnapps and brandy in large and instant quantities. At last the Englishman, a heavy, sour faced man, turned his gaze in the direction of the lovers, who sat quite close together in the dark corner. His gaze developed into a stare, then a look of triumph. A moment later he was pointing out the couple to his companions, all three peering at them with excited eyes.

Brock's face went red under the rude stare. He was on the point of resenting it when the Englishman stepped forward. The American arose at once.

"I've been looking for you, Mr. Medcroft—if that is your name," said the stranger, halting in front of the table. "My name is Githens, Scotland Yard. These men have an order for your arrest. I'd advise you to go with them peaceably. The young woman will not be bothered. She is free to go."

"What are you talking about?" demanded Brock angrily. Suddenly he felt a chill of misgiving. What had Roxbury Medcroft been doing that he should be subject to arrest?

"You are masquerading here as Roxbury Medcroft, the architect. You are not Medcroft. I have watched you for weeks. Today we have learned that Medcroft is in London. Your linen is marked with a letter B. You've drawn money on a letter of credit together with a woman who signs herself as Edith F. Medcroft. There is something wrong with you, Mr. B., and these officers, acting for the hotel and the state bank, have been instructed to detain you pending an investigation."

Mr. Githens was vindictive himself. He may have been a trifle disconcerted by Miss Fowler's musical laugh and Brock's plain guffaw, but he managed to preserve a stiff dignity. "It's no laughing matter. Officers, this is your man. Take him in charge. Medcroft, as I understand it, you are the alleged sister of the woman who is working herself off as Mrs. Medcroft. It may interest you to know that your sister—if she is your sister—has locked herself in her room and was in hysterics when I left the hotel. She will be carefully guarded, however. She cannot escape. As for you, madam, there is as yet no complaint against you, but I wish to notify you that you may consider yourself under surveillance until after your friends have had a hearing before the magistrate tomorrow. As soon as it has ceased raining we will ask you to ride with us to the city. As for Mr. B., he is in charge of these officers."

At 8 o'clock that evening a solemn cavalcade rode into Innsbruck. There were tears of expostulation in the eyes of the lone young woman, flashes of indignation in those of the tall young man who rode beside her.

Advertisers Ask Only A Fair Trial

By HOLLAND.

ADVERTISERS do not attempt to make you agree to buy their goods for the rest of your life. They only want you to give their wares a trial, to subject them to actual test by experience, and then be guided by experience.

Could anything prove more clearly that the advertiser has supreme confidence in his product, that he is absolutely certain that it will please you, that it will be all he says it is?

It would indeed be foolish to spend money to induce you to buy an article that would prove unsatisfactory and would result in your telling friends and neighbors of your experience. Advertisers spend millions making their trademarks known, and in order to make their trademarks valuable they must stand for a certain standard of worth. Having made their trademarks known, manufacturers exert every effort to keep the goods up to the expected high grade.

Studebaker

Six Cylinders. Six Passengers. Electric Starter. Electric Lights. $1500

"Look Around to Your Heart's Content—You'll Surely Come Back"

Your Studebaker dealer is not only willing, but glad, to have you "look around," after you have seen the Studebaker "SIX."

He means what he says. He feels perfectly safe. There is nothing in the market that can win you away. It is not easy for him, or for us, to tell the simple truth about the car without seeming to indulge in braggadocio. Because the simple truth is bound to sound disparaging to competing cars.

The Question of Price. Let's assume that you do "look around." The first thing you discover is that the Studebaker "SIX" is in a price division all by itself. You've got to begin several hundred dollars higher up in your hunt for a car comparable with it. Check one for the Studebaker.

The Question of Size. You are astonished to discover that the lesser price of the Studebaker is not explained by a lesser size. The Studebaker "SIX" is a normal six—which means a six of the most generous proportions. A seven-passenger six, in other words, (if used to its uttermost) with perfect freedom of movement front and back. So you lose nothing here in the low er price—and gain nothing in the which you will compare it is an assembled six.

The Question of Beauty. There are those who contend that the Studebaker is the handsomest Six on the market. Never mind that—it is a distinguished-looking Six at any rate. There are none more beautiful—none more graceful. So you won't be won away on that score. Check three for the Studebaker.

The Question of Workmanship. Bear in mind that you are supposed to be hunting for something that will justify you in not buying a Studebaker. And immediately you encounter an insurmountable objection to buying any other car. The Studebaker "SIX" is a manufactured Six. Practically every other Six with

We mean by this, Sixes which are no larger, no more beautiful, but which sell for considerably more. This almost ends the hunt right here, doesn't it? Add fifty points to the other three we've checked for the Studebaker.

The Question of Fitness. Studebaker will build more Sixes than anyone else in the world this season. Almost as many as all the other makers combined. That accounts largely for the price. It accounts also for that accuracy without which a Six is a dangerous experiment. It accounts for mechanical niceties and full jeweled workmanship which amaze you at the Studebaker figure.

Buy It Because It's a Studebaker

"SIX" We say to you what your dealer will say to you—"Look around to your heart's content, you're bound to come back." You'll buy this Six because it's a Studebaker "SIX." You'll buy it because its superiority will be forced upon you by comparison.

You May Delay Too Long!

Some have joined the Hoosier Club within the week. You can still enroll and have your cabinets delivered immediately.

$1.00
Only Membership weekly dues

A single $1.00 pays all, as this club is under the strict supervision of the Hoosier Company, which limits membership.

With the remarkable rapidity of this week's sales, these few Hoosier Club Memberships we have left will be snapped up long before we expected. The others have gone to enterprising women who appreciate this great chance to SOLVE THE SERVANT PROBLEM in their kitchens and make their work comfortable and easy by expending only a dollar.

These women each received the cabinet within a few hours of the time they joined the club. We delivered it at once and set it up all ready to use. Their delight can be appreciated only by a Hoosier owner.

Each paid merely $.1.00 (the Hoosier Club membership fee that is part of the price of the cabinet), and weekly dues of only $1.00 for merely a few weeks complete the small total bill.

The women who may enjoy these same advantages are so few that we urge you to make up your mind now to be here early tomorrow morning and enroll as one of the lucky Hoosier members.

Only Complete Cabinet

There isn't a woman living who isn't overjoyed at the comfort and ease of management and working conditions that the Hoosier brings.

Every modern labor-saving machine for the kitchen has been tested by the Hoosier Company to bring the Hoosier to its present perfection. It is the only scientifically built kitchen cabinet, and the only one that is complete. Every cabinet shown here is the newest model.

Don't Forget the Time Saving

No matter how pleasant the Hoosier makes your kitchen though, you don't want to spend your life in it. There are more agreeable things to do.

And while making working conditions comfortable and easy, the Hoosier also SAVES MUCH TIME.

These extra hours are yours for rest and pleasure, to do things you want to do and make life worth living. WORK MADE EASY—TIME SAVED—AND YOU ARE NOT TIRED.

Join the Club Tomorrow

But you must not delay, as the Hoosier Company rigidly limits the allotment of Hoosier Cabinets for our club. Four thousand Hoosier agents are forming these clubs and there are not enough cabinets for all. The Hoosier Company supervises the club plan, and you pay not a penny more than the low national cash price quoted at the factory.

The new club memberships are not many to offer, but it is the best we can do.

The best YOU can do is to SEE US EARLY.

Think of a Hoosier set up in your kitchen before noon tomorrow, and don't delay. Make up your mind now and ENROLL FIRST THING in the morning.

CITY OWNERSHIP ALL RIGHT.

Municipal ownership of the water works is proving an unqualified success in this man's town. The Record is pleased to learn that recent improvements in the way of housing and otherwise protecting the pumping plant and other machinery pertaining to the running of the works, have put the system in ship-shape, and best of all the improved features, is that there is little trouble in the matter of collecting rates. With a meter on every connection, the consumer himself determines the amount of his own bill, and it is always easier for a city to collect for public service than for an individual. There are few, if any, "stand-offs" and "set-offs" in the way of accounts, pro and con.

MOTHER! IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED.

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Bilious Stomach Sour, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

There were three professional nurses from other places attending surgical cases in Colorado at the same time yet there are people who do not think a sanitarium and trained nurses would pay here.

GOOD ROADS PROCLAMATION.

The Governor Appoints November 5th and 6th, as Days for General Road Working.

As there is some misunderstanding as to the exact of the time set apart by Gov. Colquitt for the general working of the public roads throughout the state, we publish below his proclamation on that subject:

Whereas, An adequate system of improved public roads is one of the great needs of our state, and good roads lend powerful aid to everything good in modern life, while bad roads form an obstacle in the path of progress.

Recognizing this fact the people of Texas have taken hold of this problem with tremendous interest and it is now one of the foremost economic questions confronting our people, and much good work has been done throughout the State in the last few years in the way of improving our public highways.

Now, therefore, realizing the necessity for a system of work along this line and in conformity with my sense of duty in the matter, I hereby designate Nov. 5 and 6, 1913, as good roads days, and call upon the people in every county and section of the State to make preparations for working the roads on those days and have meetings to discuss ways and means in the future for building good roads in the various localities throughout the State generally.

Chronic Dyspepsia.

The following unsolicited testimonial should certainly be sufficient to give hope and courage to persons afflicted with chronic dyspepsia. "I have been a chronic dyspeptic for years, and of all the medicine I have used Chamberlain's Tablets have done me more good than anything else," says W. G. Mattison, No. 7 Sherman st. Hornellsville, N. Y. For sale by all dealers.

Though a little belated, the equinoctial disturbances came to hand last week. Beginning with rain which lasted all night Thursday, and continuing on Friday afternoon and much of the night, there was more genuine mud in sight for two days than had been seen in Colorado for some time.

They Make You Feel Good

The pleasant purgative effect produced by Chamberlain's Tablets and the healthy condition of body and mind which they create make one feel joyful. For sale by all dealers.

Its only the rich who are independent enough to act "short." The poor can't afford to do so; and this is why the rich get richer and the poor stay where they are.

The war department of Mexico, acting through the advice of President Huerta, has invited ex-president Diaz to return to his native country and assume charge of its military affairs. Huerta has informed all Mexican consuls in foreign countries that the revolution has been suppressed and that the country will hold a peaceful election in October.

Evidently, the Sweetwater Reporter has its geography on hind-part-before. In its last issue it alludes to two young men of that place who "will proceed to New Orleans and there board a vessel for British Columbia, South America." We assume reference is made to the republic of Colombia, S. A. British Columbia is a province of the Dominion of Canada.

Another newspaper man has been selected for one of the most important diplomatic posts in the service. H. M. Pindell, editor of a Peoria, Ill., paper has been offered the job as Ambassador to Russia. The salary is a mere $17,500, while the annual house rent often exceeds that sum. Unless he's a Chautauqua or vaudeville star or millionaire, he'll have to "appreciate" the proffered honor and decline the job.

Editor Will H. Mayes of the Brownwood Bulletin, who is now Lieut. Governor of this state, has had just taste enough of the pomp, power and circumstance of the governorship in the absence of Gov. Colquitt, to what his ambition and appetite for these things as his regular fare. He has formally announced his candidacy for the office, and gives it out cold that he will not accept contributions to the expenses of his campaign from any source. He stands flatfootedly for local opinion and statewide prohibitions.

The cattlemen are making out a fairly good case against the farmer in charging the latter as responsible for the beef cattle shortage. In running the cattlemen off the ranges and cutting up the big pastures, the farmers took upon themselves the obligation to feed the country. This, the cattlemen say, they have failed to do in neglecting to raise sufficient cattle to supply the ever growing demand. The country is now alive to the fact that the future beef cattle supply is yet to be solved.

Ask Mr. Homer Hutchinson if he thinks judicious, truth-telling advertising pays. Time was when he would not say he believed advertising ever sold for him a dollar's worth.

He had not sold without the advertising. His three-column ad of the Hoosier Cabinet has turned the trick. Its kind of ad that will always do it. Three times the space this ad covers might have been used in the ordinary way of writing advertising matter, and scarcely an impression produced on the buying public. Its not the space the merchant pays for in his advertising, but how he says—just like the difference in public speakers. Ads have magnetism as well as people, and this is what counts on the salesbook. The Record has no doubt Mr. Hutchinson will sell every Hoosier Cabinet he has in stock.

The want ad for 500 cotton pickers put in the El Paso papers by L. C. Dupree this week, was made the text by the El Paso Times for its reply to a disappointed Easterner, who claimed he had come west looking for work, through the boosting of the country by the daily papers, but had not found it. His complaint to the Times was written on a dirty scrap of paper on a park bench, while waiting for a good job to happen along and grab him by the throat. So again, is Wisdom justified by her children.

The latest news from Senator, Chas. Culberson, who has been recuperating in a sanitarium at Cromwell, Conn., from a breakdown ascribed to "overwork," is to the cheering effect that he is improving—gradually but surely improving. He is now able to take daily walks and auto drives. Of course, not in the same connection, at all; but the rough and tumble fighting in the senate, wherein every fellow must take a stand is about over. Blessed be the man who invented interest and "pairing."

Beef cattle and gasoline are becoming the most important commodities in commerce. The man who can devise an oil that can be used in motors in place of gasoline, will pull down a prize of $10,000 for his trouble. Every known fuel oil has been tried, but so far nothing has been found to supplant gasoline. Alcohol promised much when the internal revenue was removed from the denatured article, but it has been shown that alcohol can not be produced for much less than 14 cents the gallon. Besides, the use of alcohol would necessitate a mechanical change in all the motors already made. The Standard Oil company has been conducting extensive experiments and claim to have produced an auto fuel cheaper than gasoline. It is a product taken from the residuum of oil after the gasoline has been extracted. It has been named "motor spirit," and this part of the residuum has heretofore been lost or thrown away. By treatment under high pressure in newly patented retorts and stills, another by-product of high fuel efficiency is cleaned to result. No matter how cheaply this new fuel can be made, if its production is in the hands of the same crowd that now controls the gasoline output, we fail to see wherein the consumers are to be benefited by its discovery. John D. can just as easily pinch the public on his "motor spirit" as he now does on his gasoline.

The State of Wisconsin has many good and salutary laws, among which the law making gossip a punishable offense is not the least. Gossip is placed under the head of slander, the degree of malice determining the offense. Such a law would help out in Texas.

What has become of the Brown murder case of Dallas? The impression is growing that the investigation has been hushed up for fear someone might be caught and convicted. Activity in the case seemed to cease very suddenly. That such an atrocious murder could have been done in a city no larger than Dallas, and the murderer escape without leaving a tangible clue, is, to say the best of it, extraordinary.

The Record is never going to let up on the three improvements the town badly needs; something done to our court house and park; the building of an adequate hospital and the making of a small park between the passenger station and express office. Time will compel the first; necessity will so urgently demand the second that some public spirited citizen will come to the rescue, while we believe the Texas & Pacific road will sometime come to see the park question just as the Record does.

The time of passing the tariff bill or the currency bill, or what Mexico is going to do, the price of cotton, or even yet the high cost of living, all sink into nothing in the face of the coming world's champion series between the Giants of New York and Athletics of Philadelphia. The date for the opening game has been set for October 7th on the New York grounds. Until this series of games is completed, if it be close, the whole country will root and yell for its favorites. Base ball has long ceased to be merely sport and pastime. Its about the biggest business in this nation during its season.

The most prosperous communities in any country are those which have been founded and built up on farming by irrigation. The objection sometimes raised to irrigation—that such a small per cent of the country can be artificially watered, seems to us no argument at all. If only the land were farmed that could be irrigated, and was under irrigation; more and better crops would be the result, with less labor and waste of time and seed. It would leave all the land unfit or unadapted to this system of farming, free for the prosecuting of other industries—stock raising particularly. This would also give such a division and classification of land that tax values could be more easily and equitably determined, and taxes levied according to the productive value of the land.

Irrigation, silos and Jersey cows will be the agricultural salvation of West Texas. Would that Mitchell county could be the pioneer in this breaking away from the bondage of the one-crop tyrant. When this is done, the county will be thickly dotted with pretty homes, not merely places to live, with pretty shade trees, flowers, garden and all the concomitants of a prosperous, happy and contented home. Farm life would lose much of the drudgery, especially for the women folks and children, and the town would turn to the country, as it naturally should, for those solid enjoyments and pleasures which come alone from an intelligent and careful tilling of the soil—the backbone of every other business, the stay of every other industry. It is the one creative occupation of the world; all others merely take toll of the products of the husbandman.

It is difficult to realize in a satisfying way, when one is in the midst of affliction or pain, that "it might be worse," and more difficult still to bear the present ill with a spirit of patient thankfulness. Man at best, is a most ungrateful creature. He never realizes the blessing of life and health say nothing of the daily strength to earn his bread and roof, till by accident or his own acts one or more of these inestimable gifts are lost to him or much impaired. This particular writer has been blest with physical soundness, freedom from casuety and disease, and the ability to go at all times, superabundantly. He had failed to hold them as special and personal blessings, and come somewhat, to regard them as the natural endowment of a strong constitution—accepting them as a matter of course. For the first time he has been "knocked off his pins," unable to go whithersoever he wills, and able to go only where he must to meet the physical needs of daily routine, with cane or crutch. Not until now had he fully realized the blessing of physical soundness and immunity from accident. Not till now did he ever realize what the spirit of true friendship means, and the parable of the certain man who went down from Jerusalem to Jherico has taken on a deeper and more personal meaning to him. However, he has seen the star of hope dip discouragingly near the sombre tops of the bleak mountains of Despair many times before; traversed paths that led through deserts where further effort to keep up seemed not worth the while and fight; but when things looked most hopeless; clouds most ominous and the way uncertain to human ken—the rift appeared; the way brightened, and athwart the mental firmament glowed that divine promise "In the evening the light shall be light."

A CORRECTION IN ADVERTISING. In the big page-ad of the Maxwell car in last week's Record, a typographical error was allowed to pass unnoticed. In the specifications of the $750 car, the ad reads: "The tread is 50 inches;" when it should read: "56 inches and 60 inches optional for the South." As there are no cars with 50 inch tread, the above error, unless corrected, would appear ridiculous to those familiar with automobiles. The Record regrets the error crept in and gladly makes the correction.

Those who contemplated putting up silos and buying cattle to feed this winter, say the price of all kinds of cattle is almost prohibitive. Pound for pound, a good yearling is about the most valuable asset in the country, except money.

Have you examined the "warmth without weight" overcoat samples at Coughran Bros.? They please the most exacting, while within the modest purse of the working man.

The man who is going to wait till cattle get cheaper to buy for investment, is likely to have a long wait coming. The future holds little promise of them getting cheaper.

If you have friends back east who are interested in this part of Texas, either by reason of investment or prospective immigration, you could not serve their interests more or better than by sending them the Record for six or three months. Aside from the fact that the paper is worth what it costs intrinsically it will give prospective settlers a clearer idea of conditions here than can possibly be gotten from personal letters or a land agent's highly colored boasts. The Record every week reflects the condition, not only in Mitchell county, but conditions in many neighboring counties. It gives a record of conditions, the bad with the good. It tries to put all the advantages and opportunities of this country up against the disadvantages, its lack of development on many lines and the things the country most needs. A subscription to the Record will give prospective settlers an intelligent idea of what we have, what we most need, and how we expect to proceed to get it. Try this suggestion, and see if your friends to whom you send it, will not thank you for it.

The spirit of old Dick Turpin still goes marching on. Train and bank robberies have become epidemic, and the robbers seem to escape with singular ease and regularity. At Dardanelle, Ark., Wednesday, a band of cracksmen looted a bank in open daylight and made good their escape. One hour was consumed in completing the robbery, during which time a continuous battle was kept up between the robbers and citizens of the town. Sixteen different charges of nitro-glycerine were used before the vault doors yielded.

The Abilene Reporter admonishes the people of Taylor county not to let the recent splendid rains dampen their irrigation enthusiasm or deter action looking to protection against such drouths next year as afflicted this section this year. One or even two good seasonable years would not lessen the urgency of some system of irrigation. Drouths will come, and usually at a time when the crops are in the most critical stage. No crop in West Texas is made until it has been gathered. Flattering prospects count for nothing, as the experience of the present year has demonstrated. Within the space of ten days during August, the crops in Mitchell county went to the bad. Just a little water at that critical time, stored in a convenient draw and put upon the crops would have meant the difference between half a bale per acre and one bale to six to ten acres. The necessity for water to carry over the crops during a pinch, will be just as great and urgent next year as it was this, and it is the part of wisdom to prepare for such recurrences. If the farmers of Mitchell county had been prepared to have irrigated their crops, if only one time, it would have been worth half the value of the present crop.

Until some method is devised by which the tax dodger can be made to render his land and personal holdings at something like their fair market value the state and the counties will fall far short in revenues. Texas should be among the richest states in this nation. No other has more good land, and in no other state has the value of land increased more in the past twenty years. Yet the state is always only about two jumps ahead of being "broke." The single tax system, though not all good, would at least cure this evil largely.

Mr. Don Bigger raised 1500 bushels of sweet potatoes on three acres on his place just across the line in Lubbock county. This shows you what irrigation will do on the Plains. Talk it over with some one who knows. Just figure out what Mr. Bigger got out of those potatoes.—Hale County Mirror.

September 1913 will go down in history as the wettest in record in many sections of the state.

A "Holy Roller" preacher near Chattanooga, Tenn., in testing his claims before a crowd that he was immune from all accident, harm and danger, allowed a big rattlesnake to bite him several times. At last reports he was still dead as a mackerel.

While Governor Colquitt is off on his Panama junket, and Lieut. Governor Will H. Mayes is holding down the job, the latter is being deluged with applications for pardon, by mail and in person. The batch he gave out recently, approved by the board before he assumed the office, created the impression that he was "easy."

Irrigation, the silo and Jersey cows, is the triangle of prosperity for West Texas.

GOOD NEWS TO THE AFFLICTED!

A Long Needed Institution is Now Established in Colorado for the Healing of All Diseases

Having secured the Webb brick building in East Colorado, we will, on Monday, October 6th, open a First Class Sanitarium and be fully prepared to treat all kinds of diseases (except contagious ones). J. B. Ragon, M. D., will be in charge, with a full corps of trained and experienced assistants, representing almost every phase of Drugless Healing known to man.

Dr. Ragon is coming here from the East, and with a quarter of a century's experience in the practice of medicine and psychical research, is fully qualified to take care of all who apply for treatment. Among the most important methods to be employed will be Suggestive Therapeutics, Massage, Magnetism, Etc.

Colorado and Mitchell County sufferers need go away no longer for skilled and competent Drugless Treatment. You can get it at home from thoroughly competent and reliable people, at a nominal cost. Consult us before submitting to any operation. Hundreds have thought and have been told that only an operation was unavoidable, who have been cured without Drugs or Knife.

Watch for our ad in next week's Record. We will submit a few testimonials from people who have suffered from almost every disease to which human flesh is heir, and who have been cured without use of knife or drugs. But remember—if medicine or even an operation is necessary, we have a physician and surgeon of acknowledged skill, who will administer or perform same. However, in this day of enterprise and research, there are but few who doubt the efficacy of drugless methods in the hands of those competent to apply them.

Remember, we will be ready to receive patients Monday, October 6th. We have ordered and will soon have, new and up-to-date equipment throughout the building. We propose the expenditure of at least $2,000 on building, equipment and accessories. In fact, we will make it a "mecca" for the sick and suffering. However, we will be able to take care of any by Monday, comfortably, and give them the advantage of a treatment that will in time supplant all other methods of healing.

We Invite All Suffering from Any Diseases, to Call and Investigate Our Claims. We are Willing for You to be the Judge. Consultation Free

IN APPRECIATION OF OUR MILKMAN.

Our milkman sure, is the cheeriest man
That ever handled a cup or a can;
Forever happy looks his ruddy face,
His smile is never seen out of place.
Morning and evening, early or late
He never complains nor bemoans his fate;
But faithfully every day jogs along,
Makes life for self and others strong.
In stress of drouth, in need of rain,
He's never known to fret or complain;
Though his milk (he admits it) is .35 per cent water.
He never kicks, though surely he oughter.
Sunday morn's our rising is usually late—
The bucket is also shy at the gate;
He doesn't pass or yell nor fuss
But kindly brings the milk into us.
"Girls," he asks, with smile and a bow,
"Do you put the bucket in the same place now?"
As fire to powder, to the average man is fixing a stovepipe, by any old plan.

One day last winter just as he came by
The stovepipe fell. I decided to try
If his smile was equal to this acid test,
"Sure, tho no expert, I'll do my best."

Up the ladder he went with stovepipe
and smile,
It trembling, creaking and shaking the while.
Up still he went, forgetting his weight,
Till he began to teeter, but alas, too late—
He came down in a hurry, he came down quick—
To the floor, like two tons of brick.
But his smile was in place as he rubbed a sore shin
And said, "that's nothing; 'twill grow again."

It's easy to smile when things go like a song
But he who smiles when they go dead wrong is the man worth while. Our milkman—willy nilly—
Is that sort of man—Mr. L. R. Tilly.
—One of his lady customers.

Protection Against Typhoid.

It used to be a serious question what caused typhoid fever. Now we know its source is a germ carried from one place to another, or from one person to another, usually in water or milk. Town people have to watch the milk supply. Generally their water supply is tested for them. Farm folks have to watch their water supply themselves. Drainage by ground seepage of slop water, privies, or manure piles, into the water supply creates a typhoid well. Milk from a farm where there is a case of typhoid fever, or where the cows are drinking typhoid water, is almost sure to carry with it the germs of the disease. Flies often transmit the germs from infected centers, on their feet.

Statistics of the state board of health show there is more typhoid fever in the country, in proportion to population, than in town. This may seem strange, but in the country all the drinking water comes from wells. The germs of typhoid fever which you swallow, may come from the next farm, or from across a range of hills 20 or 30 miles away. If the same vein of water is tapped by the wells of several different families every family will swallow the typhoid germs, and more than likely someone will be taken sick. If there is an epidemic of typhoid fever in your neighborhood, or even one of two cases, it will be well to look after your water supply.

Bolling is a sure way of making polluted water safe, but it is rather slow. Dr. Allen McLaughlin of the United States public health service has found the best and cheapest way of disinfecting water is with chloride of lime. He says: "With reasonably clear water from 3-10 to 6-10 of 1 part of available chloride to 1 million parts of water will destroy germs like those of cholera, typhoid, dysentery, and colon bacillus. This is a very small quantity, about 1-8 of a grain to a gallon. Chloride of lime will not change the color of turbid water, but its power to promptly destroy disease germs makes it invaluable, especially in case of an epidemic due to polluted water."

It will be well when using the chloride of lime to thoroughly dissolve and strain it, as it has a tendency to remain in small lumps on the surface of the water. This is the typhoid season, and for the sake of health it will be well to take every precaution.

FARMERS' DAY AT FAIR.

President Peter Radford Predicts an Occasion of Unusual Interest.

Dallas, Texas—Wednesday, October 22 will be Farmers' Day at the twenty-eighth annual meeting of the State Fair of Texas at Dallas, which begins Saturday, October 18, and closes Sunday, November 2. Peter Radford, president of the Farmers' Union of Texas, and manager of the Farm Life Commission, is in charge of the details as the day will be observed under the auspices of these two organizations. The real purpose is to secure a "get-together" meeting of the real farmers and real business men of the state. "That is our aim and purpose and the two organizations which I represent will endeavor in every way to make the day a success from an attendance standpoint as well as from the benefits that will accrue to those taking part," said Mr. Radford.

Prominent men have been invited to take part in the program, among them Secretary David F. Houston of the United States Department of Agriculture. "We are very anxious to have Mr. Houston in attendance at the joint meeting of farmers and business men," said Mr. Radford, "and an address by him will be of intense interest to every practical farmer in the state."

Other prominent men who will take part in the program are C. S. Barratt, president of the National Farmers' Union; L. M. Rhodes, president of the Farmers' Union of Tennessee; Judge S. A. Lindsay of Tyler, Tex., chairman of the Farm Life Commission; W. T. Loundermilk of DeLeon, Tex.; E. A. Calvin of Houston, Tex.; N. A. (Gus) Shaw of Texarkana, Tex.; Henry E. Webb of Upland, Tex.; Joseph Hirsch of Corpus Christi, Tex., chairman of the agricultural committee of the Texas Bankers' Association, and ex-President Chamberlain of the Texas Bankers' Association.

THE SOUTHLAND'S OWN PLAY.

"The Clansman," Thomas Dixon's great drama, has been aptly called the Southland's own play. It is a story of Southern people, for Southern people, and was written by a Southern man. It is the champion of the South, having successfully and forcibly answered "Uncle Tom's Cabin", which favored the North. "The Clansman" has served a far greater purpose and has accomplished much more than the other play, however, for it has attained success and popularity in every part of the United States while Uncle Tom's Cabin has always been confined to limited territory.

Of course this does not mean that "The Clansman" never met with protest or adverse criticism, for it has often encountered both but was strong enough to surmount these obstacles because the theme set forth embodies truths which cannot be debated.

"The Clansman", as is generally known, is a dramatization of Mr. Dixon's two most famous and widely read books, "The Clansman" and "The Leopard's Spots." The drama has long since been declared one of the greatest in the history of the stage and it still holds the record of being the most widely discussed play that has ever been produced.

The story is too firmly impressed upon the minds of every Southerner to need repetition. The sincerity with which it tells of incidents in the South during the memorable Reconstruction period is well known throughout the whole country. The action of the play takes place in a little town among the South Carolina foot hills.

A potent element of "The Clansman" is the charm of the Southern country it so faithfully reproduces. It inculcates Southern patriotism and all of its characters are true types of the people of this section as they were forty years ago and as they are today.

"The Clansman" will be produced in Colorado on Monday Oct. 6 in a large Canvas theatre with seating capacity for over two thousand people. A complete production of scenery and over 30 people are used. This is exactly the same play that has been seen in all the principal cities in the South for the past seven years and is now being presented in the smaller cities for the first time.

There has been quite a deal of disappointment over the failure of the electric light and power plant failing to give service mornings. The days are growing so short that at five a. m. the time when housekeepers should be astir, it is quite dark. Nor is it light enough at six o'clock to do many kinds of work. Light service for two hours mornings, would be a great accommodation to the citizens of Colorado.

Announcement Party.

One of the prettiest and most pleasant affairs of the season was the party given by Mrs. Boren on Thursday afternoon announcing the engagement of her daughter Mary to Mr. Herman Harp of Sweetwater.

The Colorado Club rooms were used for the occasion and were beautifully decorated in green and white pillows, curtains, walls and screens, carrying out the dainty color scheme.

This, when lighted by electric lights filled with well dressed women and beautiful girls made a picture long to linger in the memory, especially when compared with the sombre skies and heavy drizzle without.

Mrs. C. M. Adams and Mrs. George Major ushered in the arrivals and the hostesses with her receiving line, Mesdames D. H. Snyder, H. S. Beal, H. C. Doss, L. Crowder, stood just within the door. The guests passing down the line delivered their cards to Mrs. Prude, and went on to where the bride-elect looking more lovely than usual in her Dresden China dress, stood, surrounded by friends "the observed of all observers."

At the proper time the announcement was made in a very unique way. It came in the shape of a charade which gave some of our local artists an opportunity to display their talents, and was a credit to Mrs. Burns who planned it, as well as to the performers. Then to the strains of the wedding march Miss Mary and members of her bridal party, Miss Beal, Miss Allen and Mrs. Floyd Beall, marched to a place between the ribbons and were followed by friends who offered congratulations to Miss Mary, as much in sorrow at her loss, as in joy of her promised happiness.

About this time somebody said "Punch" and Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Hennessey and Mrs. H. B. Smoot led the way to the bowls of delicious punch where Miss McKenzie, Miss Jackson, Miss Smith and Miss McMurry armed with ladles, kept the cups well filled, and still there was more to come, for Miss Terrell and Miss Hooper, not to be out-done pinned a white carnation and fern on every lady as she passed, and sent them home rejoicing and feeling that they were indebted to Mrs. Boren and Miss Mary for a most pleasant evening.

This month closes the associational year of the Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist Church and in winding up their year's report they raised a little over one hundred dollars more than last year and considering that for part of the year the church was without a pastor the ladies feel a degree of pride in the report.

Avoid Sedative Cough Medicines.

If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia use cough medicines that contain codine, morphine, heroin and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold. An expectorant like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed. That cleans out the culture beds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ diseases. That is why pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It has a world wide reputation for its cures. It contains no morphine or other sedative. For sale by all dealers.

The friends of Mr. W. H. Free in this county and community, will be delighted to learn of that excellent young man's promotion in business. He has been bookkeeper for some time in the First State Bank and Trust Company of Abilene, and so faithfully and efficiently has he discharged the duties of that position, that he was elected last week as one of the active-presidents of that institution. Mr. Free has many friends in Mitchell county who congratulate him on his preferment, and who believe this is but the beginning of other and more responsible promotions in the near future. Mr. Free has always taken a very active part in the singing conventions of this county, and always finds a warm welcome awaiting him.

WHAT'S THE REASON.

Many Colorado People in Poor Health Without Knowing The Cause

There are scores of people who drag out a miserable existence without realizing the cause of their suffering. Day after day they are racked with backache and headache; suffer from nervousness, dizziness, weakness, languor and depression. Perhaps the kidneys have fallen behind in their work of filtering the blood and that may be the root of the trouble. Look to your kidneys—assist them in their work—give them the help they need. You can use no more highly recommended remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills.

Below is grateful testimony from a sufferer in this locality.

B. F. Davis, Snyder, Texas, says: "Several years ago, I had pains across the small of my back and in my sides. As Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended, I got a supply and used them two boxes were all that was needed to bring a cure. I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from weak kidneys."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo New York, sole agents for the United States.

A gentleman, apparently a commercial traveller, about fifty years of age, alighted from the passenger train here Sunday morning and went into the depot for some purpose. While in the depot the train started and he ran out to catch it. He missed the sleeper and just did grab the railing on the rear of the dining car, but the momentum of the train was such that he could not get purchase to pull himself up and was dragged some distance. A dining porter on the rear platform succeeded in stopping the train, and he was taken aboard. He made a very narrow escape, and had he caught on any but the rear platform would likely have been killed.

With the sale of the Light and Power plant, Mr. Robt. M. Webb, who has been so closely and uninterruptedly associated with the company since its very organization, severed his connection therewith. It will not seem natural to have another conducting the affairs of the company for some time. Just what the future plans of Mr. Webb are, the Record is not apprised; but so industrious a man and efficient officer as he has shown himself, could not keep out of a good position unless he hid himself. In whatever business or line of endeavor he embarks, the Record wishes him well.

Our old friend George Washington Crawford, formerly a citizen of this place but now living with his son, Charlie at Toyah, is revisiting the scenes of former days and shaking hands with old friends. He reports that though very little is being said about the oil industry at Toyah, somebody is spending a great deal of money in the purchasing of machinery and erection of buildings. Those who are doing the work have nothing to give out in the way of information of any kind.

Coughran Bros. can outfit you from head to foot. Their line of suit and overcoat fabrics and general haberdashery, is the best and most extensive ever shown in Colorado.

The many friends of Mrs. F. B. Whipple, who has been quite ill the past two weeks, will rejoice to learn that her condition is greatly improved, and that she is now well on the way to full convalescence.

W. H. Moesser and Jake Maurer left this week for Putnam, where they will try the efficacy of the curative waters and treatment at that institution.

Logan Spalding, we learn, is now the owner of an automobile, and looks upon walking as a loss of time.

The local office of the Western Union Telegraph Company was removed this week to the second story of the Colorado National Bank building. Work will begin right away on the building formerly occupied by the office, getting it ready for occupancy by the big stock to be put in both the Hughes buildings soon, by J. F. McGill.

A Pretty Shower.

Monday afternoon Miss Annie Beal gave a very pretty evening shower in honor of her lifelong friend, Miss Mary Boren, the bride of next week. The house was beautifully and tastefully decorated in green and white the colors chosen for the wedding. Miss Beal and Miss Lilly Allen, who are to be bridesmaids welcomed the guests in the hall and showed them in the parlor to greet the beautiful bride-elect.

Miss Beal wore a beautiful gown of lace over blue while Miss Allen looked lovely in a pink crepe. Miss Boren received the good wishes of her friends in a most charming manner and looked her prettiest in green chiffon over white messaline wearing a beautiful white picture hat.

After the merry crowd had arrived and had been welcomed by the hostess and Miss Allen, and had greeted Miss Boren a "Fabric" contest was engaged in and heartily enjoyed by all. Miss Boren won the prize which was five hand embroidered dollies.

The wedding march was then played by Mrs. C. M. Adams and the party followed the bride into the dining room. There a lovely scene in green and white greeted the eye. The table was covered with a beautiful cluny lunch cloth and from the center chandelier to each corner were ropes of green and white daintily fastened to the table around whose edge burned green candles. In the middle of the table was a huge bride's cake decorated with ferns and white carnations; in the center were the letters B. H. The bride elect was asked to cut a large portion of the cake and when she did so it revealed many dainty linens, that are so dear to the bride's heart, placed there by loving hands. After all the gifts had been examined and admired the hostess assisted by her mother Mrs. H. C. Beal and sisters Mrs. D. H. Snyder and Mrs. H. S. Beal served a dainty and delicious salad course.

The bridal party left Tuesday morning for Sweetwater where they will attend other functions given in honor of the bride.

A Marvelous Escape.

"My little boy had a marvelous escape," writes P. F. Bastlams of Prince Albert, Cape of Good Hope. "It occurred in the middle of the night. He got a very severe attack of croup. As luck would have it, I had a large bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. After following the directions for an hour and twenty minutes he was through all danger." Sold by all dealers.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Missionary Society of the Methodist Church held their regular business meeting at the church Monday afternoon. Besides the regular business three new members were received. In June the Society was divided into two companies with Miss Jo Dry and Mrs. M. K. Jackson as captains to see which side could secure the more new members the time to expire with the last meeting in September, so Monday Miss Jo proved to be the winner and Mrs. M. K. Jackson and her company are to have the pleasure of entertaining them which they will do at an early date.

The ladies are rounding up their years work which expires the last of October. They are anxious to have every phase of the work in trim for their new pastor as they know they will have to give up their present one.
