REBUILDING LITTLE LAKE DAM.

Construction Work Started at Abilene with Opening of Year.

Abilene, Tex., Jan. 2.—Construction work on the new Lytle Lake dam began here Jan. 1. The old dam was destroyed Nov. 24, during an unprecedented rise of creeks south of here, and 800,000,000 gallons of water were lost. Special Engineer John G. Munson arrived in the city from Philadelphia and was taken personal charge of the work.

The plans for the new dam call for a change from the old. The new structure will have an apron of concrete upstream of thirty-four and twenty-four feet downstream. The top of the dam will be eighteen feet across instead of twelve as was the old structure. It will be built of clay and concrete and sheet piling. The present spillway will receive an additional extension to its downstream apron in order to prevent undermining. Excavation will be made for fifteen feet below the surface of the stream, where a good solid foundation of clay is found. Upon this the dam will be constructed. Running the entire length of the structure will be a sheet of piling reinforcement to prevent further washing away of the structure. Between the concrete walls will be piled good clay and packed, and then the whole will be sealed over with concrete.

The new dam will be forty-two feet in height. Three thousand yards of sand and dirt will have to be excavated from the basin where the new dam is to be constructed.

PAYING SCHOOL LAND INTEREST.

Available School Fund Receives Nearly Thirteen Thousand Dollars.

Snyder Texas.—The settlement of the famous Scurry County school land case has brought to the treasury of Scurry County something over $14,000 of interest, which goes to the credit of the available school fund. This interest has been held up ever since the first installment became due after the sale of the land. The purchasers were ready to pay it, but owing to the litigation over the validity of the sale, the court could not accept it. Hence that much money has been held up. Now it is coming in for the maintenance of longer terms of school in the county.

On Monday of this week, County Judge Buchanan received a payment of $12,881.13 of the interest money. This puts the school fund in Scurry county in fine shape and puts us in position to take first rank in school matters in the state.

TWO-CENT RATE LAW FOR TEXAS

Representative Reedy Considers Introducing Bill to Reduce Cost of Travel.

Austin, Tex., Jan. 2.—D. M. Reedy, representative from Smith county said here today that he is considering the introduction of a 2-cent passenger fare bill at the next regular session of the legislature. He said also he favored calling an extra session to consider penitentiary warehouses.

THE SIEGE OF THE MUD HOLE.

The war against the mud hole is being waged in earnest in Texas and the ballot has proved a mighty weapon in combating this destructive evil. The issuance of a million and a quarter dollars in road and bridge bonds last month was a decided victory for the cause of better highways and one which will be recorded in the archives of great achievements.

Jupiter Pluvius has sent a multitude of volunteers to the ranks of the road builders during the past thirty days and some of the bond issues most bitter enemies are now clamoring for better roads at any cost. Thirty more battles of the ballot will be waged in this State at an early date, when issues to the amount of $5,500,000 will be decided.

Lubbock County Water Survey.

Lubbock, Tex., Jan. 2.—A water survey of Lubbock County has been made by the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, which shows that practically the entire county is within the shallow water belt. The distance from twenty-five to eighty feet.

OIL IN MITCHELL COUNTY

It is not generally known but is a fact that the Texas Co. has a Mineral lease on 600,000 acres of land in Mitchell and adjoining counties. This lease includes the Ellwood ranch and according to the agreement operation was to begin not later than Jan. 8th. One day this week the General manager of the Texas Company was here but would say nothing. It is not known when they will begin to bore for oil.

Quite a number of oil experts and prospectors have been here the past week looking over the Tuft and Wulfjen ranches and it is given out that the Tuft ranch had been or would soon be leased and work begin at once. An expert has said that coal could easily be found on the Wulfjen ranch and no doubt oil. The Record could not get to see Urda Wulfjen but we were told that a very attractive proposition had been made him for a mineral lease.

The San Angelo paper says: "It is expected there will be a great deal of oil development here in the near future. During the last few weeks a number of agents of unknown concerns have been securing mineral leases on lands in this part of west Texas."

A BIG DEAL.

On January first there was filed for record at the court house a deal showing a consideration of $44,292.70. Mr. J. W. Webb of Weatherford bought from Lowe & Co. what is known as the Charlie May ranch for a consideration of 44,292.70 of this amount 26,331.96 was paid in cash and the balance in notes.

NON-COMMITTAL ON THE EXTRA SESSION.

Gov. Colquitt Has Nothing to Say Concerning the Legislature Meeting Any Time Soon.

AUSTIN, Tex.—Gov. Colquitt was non-committal today on the question of an extra session of the Legislature as suggested by Lieutenant Governor Mayes. While it is generally admitted that there is need for an extraordinary session, the governor does not want to call one unless he is assured that there will be harmony between him and the Legislature. The penitentiary situation would probably be the main reason for another session as something must be done to relieve conditions in the present system.

A BIG STEER DEAL.

Holloway & Poole of Midland whose ranch is in Yoakum County, last week closed a steer deal of considerable importance. The transaction involved 500 head of three and four-year-old steers, and were sold to Kansas buyers at $60 around.

On and after that date, the limit of weight of parcels of mail of this class within the first and second zones are increased from 20 to 50 pounds, and in the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth zones, from 11 to 20 pounds.

The rate on books weighing 8 ounces or less, will be 1 cent for each 2 ounces or fraction thereof, and on those weighing in excess of 8 ounces the regular zone rate will apply.

Parcels weighing four ounces or less, are mailable at the rate of 1 cent for each ounce or fraction of an ounce, regardless of distance. Parcels weighing more than four ounces will, on and after January 1, 1914, be mailable at the pound rates, a fraction of a pound being considered a full pound.

REAL ESTATE DEALERS AND COLONIZERS.

The Texas Almanac will tell your prospective customer more facts about Texas in ten minutes than you can tell him with reams of other literature. Your literature may be modest and state the facts, but your ordinary homeseker will not believe that to be the case. The Almanac helps all Texas, not a single locality or section. 35 cents at this office.

RIGGINS FOR MAYOR.

Waco, Tex., Jan. 1.—With the formal announcement of J. W. Riggins at one time Mayor of Waco, that he would be in the race for Mayor in the primary election here next month, interest in city politics has quickened materially. The date for the election is soon to be fixed.

Masonic Hall Nearly Ready.

Waco, Tex., Jan. 2.—Masons of this city will take formal possession of their new building within the next two weeks. The program for the dedication will be very elaborate, and an effort will be made to have all of the grand officers of the grand lodge of Texas attend. The new building, exclusive of the ground and furnishings will represent a cost of approximately $60,000.

FOR USE IN SCHOOLS.

No student should leave school without a working knowledge of Texas. Textbooks tell you of early historical events. The Texas Almanac points out the facts concerning present day progress. The Almanac has been endorsed by the leading educators in the State. It should be placed in every school library and placed in the hands of every student far enough advanced to understand its contents. An occasional lesson from this book, supplement reading or a quiz, will ground the student in a knowledge of Texas which will otherwise cost him years of experience. No other publication will place before the student such an interesting and concise statement of the resources and opportunities of the State. 35 cents at this office.

FOR EVERYBODY

MANY RENTERS BUYING HOMES IN FANNIN COUNTY

Bonham, Texas—Records on file in the County Clerk's office show that a large number of tenant farmers in this section have purchased farms during 1913, making small down payments. Bankers also report that several farm mortgages have been taken up lately. The farmers around here, as a rule, are prosperous, owing to bountiful crops last year and the passing of tenants to the ownership class is especially gratifying in view of the fact that 67 per cent of the tillers of this county are renters. There are more farms in Fannin than in any other county, and census reports show one out of every four mortgaged. There are 6,433 farms in the county and 2,099 are operated by owners, 4,309 by tenants and 25 by managers.

THE FORD CAR.

The Ford car is the best car on the market for the money. A Ford will go anywhere any other car will go for half the money. It costs less to run a Ford and the up keep is less than half. Why not buy a Ford. Come in let me demonstrate and prove the above; 1914 cars in stock.

BLOCKER FEEDING 100 HEAD CATTLE.

Russell & Blocker, who own part of the old R. K. Wylie ranch, and one of the largest irrigation plants in this section of the county, are feeding about one thousand head of cattle at the ranch eight miles west of Ballinger. The bunch on feed consists of steers and calves. It will be remembered that Mr. Blocker bought 500 calves from the Sawyer Cattle Co. of Reagan county about the first of November and these were brought to Rannels county and placed on feed on the Russell & Blocker ranch.

The finest feed crop ever grown anywhere was raised on this ranch this year, and two silos were filled and much feed otherwise saved, and the cattle now on feed are being fed ensilage and oil cake from the Ballinger mill. These gentlemen fed a large bunch of cattle last year, fattening them on ensilage and cake and the fact that they are doing the same thing again this year indicates that they met with success.

With the coming of the big silos acting as a canning process for the enormous feed crop that is raised here every year, means a new era of prosperity for the farmer who takes advantage of this opportunity to grow the feed and then convert it into meat milk and butter—Ballinger Ledger.

CITY BUILDING. (By L. M. Ward)

Skill, without will, is bound to stand still. Business prosperity is measured by eternal hustling. Energy and perseverance are the stepping stones of success. The greatest field and the least pasture is that of city building. That city is best known abroad whose citizens are most loyal at home. Dead men are better than lazy ones in that they don't clog the wheels of progress. The development of the sanitary facilities of a community is a good index to its progressiveness. The commercial organization is the pivot upon which a city revolves and throws out its flagrant lights of publicity.

GOVERNMENT ISSUES REPORT ON TEXAS GAS.

According to a report just issued by the government bureau of mining, the 1912 production from natural gas wells in this state was worth $1,405,000. Clay County was the largest producer.

CISCO HAS NATURAL GAS.

Cisco residents will soon have natural gas as the result of the laying of gas pipes from the Moran field to this city. The gas will be turned into the mains within a few days.

THE TEXAS HEN.

The latest census reports show that there are 13,669,645 fowls in this state and about three-fourths of them are egg producers. The annual production is 77,845,047 dozen eggs, with a farm value of $11,943,546. The yearly poultry production is 25,656,356, valued at $7,481,165.

Austin—Game is more abundant in Texas this season than for many years, and the State Game Warden has issued 12,000 permits to hunters many of whom came from other states. Numerous violations of the state game laws have been reported and a number of persons have been convicted.

DEATH OF MRS. MULLINS.

The sad news of the death of Mrs. Mary Mullins of Weatherford reached Colorado Thursday at 4 p. m. and on Friday her body was brought here for burial, which occurred at four o'clock in the afternoon. The funeral services were conducted by the pastor of the Baptist Church, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. R. D. Ingram. Mrs. Mullins was one of the first settlers of Colorado having come here in 1879. She knew Colorado in all its phases, having friends in all walks of life and being a blessing to every life in which she came in contact. Especially to those in sorrow and distress did she lend a helping hand. She was one of the early members of the Baptist Church here and her faithfulness in attendance and loyalty to its doctrines were beautiful to behold—up to the time of her leaving here two years ago she was wont to go to the house of worship—since that time her health has been bad but her faith grew stronger and when the death angel came for her on the new year day the summons was responded to willingly and her spirit was borne where there is forever a Happy new year and she will praise her Saviour through eternity. She leaves a sister, Mrs. Harris of Judson, two brothers, Mr. Will Waddell of Ft. Worth, Mr. George Waddell of Midland, two daughters, Mrs. G. T. Hensley and Mrs. R. D. Ingram of Colorado and four grandchildren besides a host of friends to mourn her loss. The Record extends sincere sympathy in this sad hour.

SURPRISE PARTY.

Saturday night the teachers and officers of the Baptist Sunday School surprised their out going Superintendent, Mr. Robert M. Webb and his estimable wife by going in a body to make them a last social call. Mr. and Mrs. Webb were completely surprised, as they were just fixing to leave for a call on some of their friends. They rose to the occasion and soon made every one feel at home. A very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all as it is always a pleasure to be in this home. Speeches were made by Messrs. Pierce, Webb, Green and the pastor pertaining to the work of the past Superintendent and plans of the new Superintendent. While it is with hearts full of sadness that we give up Mr. and Mrs. Webb yet there is a note of happiness for Mr. Green who so joyously and willingly assumes this great responsibility and the teachers should respond gladly to all duties assigned them.

Miss Elsie Hooper, had very thoughtfully prepared a sandwich basket full of dainty and delicious sandwiches and with some of the fragrant "cup that cheers" prepared by the hostess made refreshments appropriate to the occasion and thus completed a pleasant evening.

OPEN HOUSE.

On New Years Day the daughters of the family of Mr. D. N. Arnett kept open house at their fathers hospitable home. They had been having a family reunion during the holidays and this was a happy closing of a series of joyous gatherings.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnett are old settlers here and have practically reared a family of ten children right in this community having moved here when their first was quite small. They are a home loving people and have the interests of Colorado and Mitchell county close at heart. One is not fully initiated into Colorado society without being in the good graces of at least some of the Arnetts. During the hours from four to six on new years day a happy throng of people were coming and going to do them honor on this occasion. Something over two hundred people called in that time to wish them a prosperous and Happy new year. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion with pink carnations in vases the parlor and in the punch room were the Christmas decorations of red and green suspended from the ceiling and red carnations and ferns combined artistically at the punch table and in vases on the mantel. While in the dining room the table was a picture of loveliness with a white embroidered center piece and white carnations and ferns.

Mrs. Brooks Bell welcomed the guests at the door and introduced them to the receiving line which were Mr. and Mrs. Arnett, Miss Arnett, Mrs. Merritt, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Arnett, Mrs. Payne, Mrs. Curry, Mr. and Mrs. Stonerod, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Arnett, Mr. Dudley Arnett, Mr. John Arnett and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Beal. They were shown in the punch room by Mrs. Royall G. Smith where Misses Martha Earbest and Ruth Buchanan served delicious punch. From there they were escorted in the dining room by Mesdames Robert Terrell and Richard Pearson where fruit cake, cheese and coffee and pink and white mints were served by Mrs. M. Carter and Mrs. Annis assisted by Misses Maxie Curry and Lucile Hightower. The many friends of the family wish for them many happy rewards. It is not often a good father and mother have the good fortune to rear such a large family without death or misfortune claiming some of them so they are rejoiced with on this memorable occasion and a host of friends pray Gods blessings on them and that He may grant them many happy family reunions.

BETTER BABIES NOTES.

A committee met with a number of the doctors and dentists on Monday afternoon in Dr. Ratliff's office and were assured of every assistance and help that they could give both now and at the examinations.

Material has been ordered and will be sent to those interested in this work. It would be a very good thing for each mother to keep the notes as they appear in the weekly issues and be able to turn to them whenever she desires information. In our next week's notes will appear the standard that the children are measured against. Every child between six and thirty-six months will be examined free and a card given of their standing. If deficient they will receive advice as to how to correct or remove bad traits. There will be a slip printed soon which can be cut out, filled in and mailed to the secretary of the committee thus having your child entered and a time allotted for its examination.

The women's Home Companion furnishes all our literature without charge and offers medals for the perfect and near perfect children. This is a splendid opportunity to have your babies given a thorough examination correct any mistake and give the baby a right start in life.

Any one desiring literature or information can obtain either by seeing or writing to Mrs. W. W. Hart, Colorado, Texas.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL NOTES.

The following officers were elected at the Christian school last Sunday. Mr. W. A. Crowder, Superintendent; Dr. V. O. Marshall, Assistant Supt.; Miss Nellie Smith, Secretary; Mr. W. W. Porter, Treasurer; Miss Juanita Pond, Organist.

Mr. Crowder starts his twenty second year of service next Sunday and the school is to be congratulated in their efforts. All the classes were starting last Sunday.

The Methodist Teachers are to resume their regular teachers meeting on Thursday evenings. Besides the preparation of the lesson they will study Books of the Bible by Dr. Hamill. Last Sunday was Mr. Robt. M. Webb's last time to be at the Baptist school as he left that night for Ft. Worth. The following resolutions of respect were read by Mr. J. E. Hooper, and unanimously adopted by the school.

Whereas, our beloved Superintendent, Brother Robt. M. Webb and his estimable wife are about to move from our city and in view of the fact that they have both labored day and night to build up our Sunday school for the past nine years, giving the best years of their life to the work and wishing to express our appreciation of their great work.

Therefore be it resolved by the Sunday school of the First Baptist church of Colorado, that we hereby assure Brother and Sister Webb of our great appreciation of what they have done for us and the pleasure we have had under God in working with them and our best wishes, prayers and love will go with them through life, and we trust that they will continue to bless and brighten the lives of those with whom they may be associated, as they have that of each of us.

We pray Heavens richest blessings to abide with and rest upon each of them.

The members of the Presbyterian Church are loyal to their church and pastor, and zealous for the work of God's kingdom. This week is being observed as the week of prayer, with a service each evening at 7:30 o'clock. All of these services except one, have been conducted by laymen of the church.

Friday and Saturday will be given to the Sunday school Convention, to be held at the Methodist church.

Saturday morning at ten o'clock, there will be held at the church, a fall meeting of El Paso Presbytery.

Downing, of Barstow, will preside, preach the sermon, and propose the constitutional questions. Rev. F. S. Henderson, of Big Springs, will charge the pastor; and Mr. G. H. Sparanburg, an Elder of the Big Spring church, will charge the people.

At 7:30 o'clock p. m. Rev. W. L. Downing will deliver a lecture on his travels through the Holy Land, which will be both very interesting and instructive. Everybody is most cordially invited to all these services.

BASKET BALL.

The high school girls basket ball team went up to play the Big Spring team last Saturday. Our team was overwhelmingly defeated the score being 35 to 5 in favor of Big Springs. When we think that this team has just been organized this year and the Big Springs team is several years old it is not really so bad. The girls were chaperoned by Miss Ellis and a large number of interested friends went as rooters. Mr. Jack Farmer was the referee. The girls are loud in the praises of the hospitality of Big Springs and hope to be able to return it soon.

The girls really expected to be defeated as their yell at the close of the game showed.

HIS NEW YEAR RESOLUTION

BY A.C. SANBORN

New Year's No. 2 63 Anniversary—1913

Looking Into the Future.

(Copyright, 1913, by American Press Association.)

STANFORD had just finished his breakfast and his servant was clearing the table when his friend Williams came in.

"Happy New Year's!" he called. "Have you made any good resolutions?" Suddenly he stopped short. "Why, what makes you so glum this bright New Year's morning?"

"Haven't you seen the morning papers?" asked Stanford, pushing one across the table toward him.

"No; what's in them?"

The other simply pointed to one of the headlines, and his friend read, "Failure of Henry Stanford—Head of the Sewing Machine Trust in Liquidation." Williams merely stared at the paper and then at the man opposite him for fully a minute. He could not believe what he had read.

"Why, this is terrible!" he said finally. "How did it happen?"

"Speculation," replied Stanford laconically.

"I'm awfully sorry to hear this," returned Williams. "Is there no way out of it?"

"I see none just now," said the other. "I suppose you think it would be a good plan for me to make a New Year's resolution not to speculate any more. But I'm not going to. Now that this has happened I have resolved to find out who my friends are—my real true friends, I mean. It may seem like a queer resolution, but it will be an interesting experiment. How many of the people I have befriended in the past do you think will stick to me now that my money is gone?"

"I don't know," replied Williams. "But take my advice and don't try it. You're likely to be greatly disillusioned about many of your so-called friends." "Perhaps," said Stanford. "But I'm going to try it anyway. I want to see what happens."

As soon as Williams had departed he took his hat and stick and set out on his voyage of discovery. He was not really a ruined man, but not a soul in all the world but he and his lawyer knew it. It had been the work of a year of skillful manipulation, this "getting out" with $5,000,000. As a financier he was closely watched, but for all that, he had at last successfully effected the withdrawal of that huge amount from the money whirlpool and its quiet investment in steady national securities. The morning papers proved that he had succeeded. Stanford could afford to indulge his whims, and he had planned all this for the simple purpose of finding out who were his real friends. Moreover, he had selected the holidays for the test, so that they might have the good cheer of the season on their side.

Stanford decided to call on the Stanleys first. There was no doubt about their being his friends. Mr. Stanley owed all his present prosperity to Stanford and could not do otherwise than stick by him in his adversity. Then there was Anna. It had been practically agreed that he was to marry Anna. The only reason they were not formally engaged was because she was a month or so too young.

Although it was snowing hard, he was obliged to walk rather than go there in his big limousine, as that, among other things, was now held up by the liquidators, acting for yesterday's hurried meeting of creditors. He had just reached the sidewalk when a car drew up to the curb, and Roswell Granger thrust out his head.

"What are you doing on foot?" he called. "I was hurrying over to catch you before you went out. I wanted to know if you could loan me the use of your car this afternoon to take a party of friends over to— But Stanford interrupted him by pulling a newspaper from his pocket and thrusting it under his eyes. Granger read and gasped. He owed Stanford over a thousand dollars in small loans.

"Great Scott!" he said. "This is terrible. I'm awfully sorry. Is it irremediable?"

"Yes," said Stanford curtly. Granger drew back into his car. "I sympathize deeply," he added. "I'll see you at the club later."

When Stanford reached the Stanleys he saw Edward Martin's car at the curb. Martin was one of Anna's admirers who had not given up hoping that he might win her, even in spite of the fact that it was practically decided in Stanford's favor.

It was Stanford's intention to tell the Stanleys at once about his plan for discovering his friends. He saw in the first glance at the servant who opened the door that the news had already spread through the house, and as the door closed Mrs. Stanley came into the hall.

She started at sight of him. Then she shook hands and began to talk swiftly.

"Happy New Year," she said. "You are our second early caller. Mr. Martin came a little while ago. Isn't it fine weather for a holiday? We are going motoring. I haven't even had time enough to look at the papers this morning."

Stanford was turning cold. The insincerity of the woman was obvious. "Besides," she continued, "we have been thinking of something else—a surprise; Anna and Ned Martin. It seems they've had an understanding between themselves for months past. Anna hinted at something of the kind last night, and this morning they came to us together. It was not just what we had planned for Anna, but what were we to do? They adore each other. So it's arranged."

She stopped with almost a gasp of relief. She had got it out before Stanford explained.

"I see," he said calmly; "you have not looked at this morning's papers?"

"No. Why do you ask?"

"I suppose you are trying to be facetious, Mrs. Stanley?" he said.

The contempt in his eyes and voice stung her, and she gave herself up to anger. "Well, I was," she replied. "Since you insist, I did see the papers and saw that you were ruined. Was I to throw my daughter into the ruin with you? You expect a great deal too much if you expect that. I have Anna's future to look out for, and I know I am doing the best thing. I am trying to arrange matters so that people will understand that they were engaged before we heard of your failure. You appear to think it contemptible, but I do not, and you will find few people who will."

"And Anna? Is she contented?" inquired Stanford.

"Perfectly. Anna is very sensible." "Then since I am ruined I am dismissed," demanded the young man.

"If you choose to be unreasonable and put it that way, yes," she said and left him. Stanford stared around, a little dazed, for a second.

"Why, I thought she liked me—and Mr. Stanley—and that Anna loved me," he said to himself. He turned to go, and the butler let him out. He walked slowly back to his flat.

When he reached his apartment he found Watson, his lawyer, waiting for him. He looked pale and worried.

"What is it?" asked Stanford.

"Why, they've started already," replied Watson bitterly. "They've been at me like vultures for the money—quite small sums, lots of them—that you owe them. Some of them are like wolves, fighting over priority claims. I've never seen such absolute greediness in my life as some of your 'friends' have shown this morning. It's completely spoiled my New Year. I hope they have bit you hard, hard enough for you to be willing to stop this folly. You're only going to get a broken heart and a soured outlook out of this thing. You must stop it before it goes any further."

"They have bit me hard," replied Stanford sadly. "They've broken me already."

A light of understanding rose in the lawyer's eyes.

"You don't mean the Stanleys?" Stanford nodded. "The parents certainly have. Anna is to marry Martin. But I can't believe that she loves him."

That moment the door opened, and his servant announced, "Miss Stanley!" She ran straight to Stanford with her arms outstretched. He had never seen her so beautiful nor loved her more.

"They told me a thousand terrible things," she said. "Mother sent for Ned Martin. I tried to do what they said, but I couldn't—I couldn't. How could I?"

Stanford took her in his arms. She was crying and clung to him like a child.

"You have done nothing wrong, dear," he said, "not even for your father and mother." And he told her of the fortune he had kept.

Then they went together to tell her parents, who at middle age had grown so old that they thought the millions were all that mattered.

WEAK KIDNEYS OFTEN THE RESULT OF OVERWORK

On several occasions I have been unable to work and suffered severe pains in the back, due to my kidneys. I called on a doctor of Ripon, Wis., but received no relief.

I tried Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root which gave me instant relief. I was then able to resume work. Swamp-Root is the only relief I can get from kidney disease which I am subject to in the spring of the year. I am writing this testimonial through my own free will that sufferers of kidney and bladder diseases will know of the wonderful merits of Swamp-Root. I recommended Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root whenever I can and always have a bottle of Swamp-Root in my house.

I purchased Swamp-Root of Mr. C. J. Burnside, Druggist, of 202 Main Street, Ripon, Wis.

Yours very truly,

THOMAS J. LYNCH.

525 Newbury Street, Ripon, Wis. I have read the above statement that Thomas J. Lynch bought Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root at my store and made oath the above statement is true in substance, and fact.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever, unless it comes out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Suffered with Throat Trouble.

MR. B. W. D. BARNES, McMinnville, Tenn.

Mr. Barnes used to be sheriff of Warren County, Tennessee. From exposure to the elements he acquired throat trouble. He supposed that his health was entirely ruined, in spite of all the treatment he could procure. After using four bottles of Peruna he claims that he was entirely restored to health.

Catarrh of the throat is not only an annoying disease of itself, but it exposes the victim to many other diseases. We are constantly breathing into our throats numerous atmospheric germs. Disease germs of all sorts. This cannot be avoided. If the throat is healthy the system is protected from these poisonous germs. But if the throat is raw and punctured with numerous little ulcers, by catarrh, then the disease germs have easy access to the system. Keep the throat well and clean. This is the way to protect yourself against contagious diseases. Gargle the throat as explained in the new "Ils of Life," sent free by the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. Barnes says: "I had throat trouble and had three doctors treating me. All failed to do me any good, and pronounced my health gone. I concluded to try Peruna, and after using four bottles can say I was entirely cured."

COLORADO, TEXAS, JANUARY 9, 1914.

There's a confident tone throughout the financial and commercial world.

It is now recognized that the new tariff law will permit a broader field of operations.

It is now admitted that the new currency measure will permit a larger use of credits and at the same time be a safeguard against panic.

Our guess is that if a man has money enough to pay his State and county taxes after he has settled his Christmas bills he doesn't owe much taxes or didn't have much Christmas.

No matter how much security against panics the new currency law may provide, the success of any such law depends on good banking methods.

As long as women wear slit skirts and are more interested in freakish dress than in learning how to cook and keep house the courts will continue to be crowded by divorce seekers.

We publish this week the Grand Jurors report. After some three weeks deliberation they adjourned finally unless called together again by the Judge for some special purpose.

It is unusual that the judge charge the grand jury as in this case, on the violations of the road laws and from the report it seems this body thoroughly investigated this subject. Read the report.

Major Bros. Management of the Opera House report that they are trying, and think they will succeed in booking Thomas A. Edison's 'Kinetophone for a weeks stand at the Opera House. This is the sensation of the country—laughing, singing, and talking pictures. They have to book direct from New York if they get them at all. This is not simply moving pictures, but laughing, singing talking with the voices of the actors and every sound faithfully reproduced true to life. If they succeed in booking this attraction, they may rest assured of good patronage.

Helen Keller not only furnishes to the world an amazing example of making the best of one's endowments, under great and apparently baffling difficulties but shows the sweet spirit of service to the world. In refusing the $5000 annuity for life from Mr. Carnegie she said: 'I feel that I am able now to provide for myself and I want to work my own little plan in the world. I do not want to feel dependant on anyone. I want to give back to the world some service for all that has been done for me and to feel that it is my own contribution'. If she regards the world with the thought of what she can give it how should we, endowed with all of the faculties of nature look on life?

A week ago the newspaper man's wife attended the moving picture show and by some inexplicable coincidence held the lucky ticket number by which she secured the prize which was a sack of flour, this fixed us for awhile, but it was written years ago that man shall not live by bread alone and we were getting desperate until one day this week our good friend G. W. Hooks out on the Cuthbert route, brought us in a 20 lb sack of good old country home made sausage, highly seasoned and just the kind we used to have at home, back in the old State. We have lived these past few days without a thought of the high cost of living or the cost of high living and we are truly thankful to our good friend for his thoughtfulness and kindness and should Mr. Hooks ever offer for office the Record will be for him against the field.

The pessimistic tone has been swallowed up in the hallelujah chorus.

THE PASSING OF COL. EXALL.

In the death of Col. Henry Exall, Texas has lost its master optimist. His life was a tremendous answer to the pessimist, the doubter and the indifferent. His body returns to dust, but his spirit will lead the pioneers of progress for generations to come and his life stands as a beacon light to hope, and a challenge to despair. He was more than a builder; he was a creator of human purposes and an organizer of mankind. He was one of the most kingly men that America ever produced and he crowned his life with the jewels of self-sacrifice. He loved everybody and his magnetic personality swung men around him.

His titanic nature shook the state. His life is one of the State's greatest heritages. He taught lessons in citizenship that made patriotism common and benevolence popular. His iron courage, his sublime faith and magic enthusiasm lifted him into an altitude of greatness that made his life little less than a miracle. He is gone, but we can all dwell in the reflection of his glory, warm in the glow of his soul and walk in the pathway illuminated by the powerful rays of his mighty life.

Texas has had none of the Exall type to come before and none will follow. He was in a class by himself.

SAYS FAIRFIE WILL NOT RUIN HERDERS.

Putting wool on the free list will not drive the sheep-raisers of Texas out of business immediately, if at all. If the price of mutton advances or remains firm, the wool growers can still market his product at a profit. Importations from Australia are threatening, but the wool supply of the world may not be great enough to put the price too low.

Such is the situation in West Texas, as expressed by Captain Chas. Schreiner of Kerville, president of the Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association of Texas, when seen at the St. Anthony Hotel. 'The Sheepmen around Kerville,' said Captain Schreiner, 'will stay in the business and await further developments.

'Wool is selling around 14 cents, a cent more lower than it was before the new tariff bill was passed. At this figure, wool can be profitably marketed under two conditions. First that very careful management be used for there is now no room for waste or luxuries; second, that mutton advance on at any rate keep firm.

'Mutton is now selling at from 4 to 5 cents a pound. At this price sheep can be raised. The consumption of mutton is very small in this country compared with England and European nations, where its excellence is recognized.

The world's supply of wool may not be great enough, moreover, to thrust the price much lower than it now is. We can only wait and see about this. Australian wool is the only kind that we have need to fear in competition. Under the old tariff law, 11 cents was the tax on each pound brought in, regardless of quality.—San Antonio Light.

FROM DR. WESTON.

We received a card from Dr. Weston this week which says in part. 'The doctors give more favorable report every day. Certain I will loose two toes entirely and about half of two others, but it will not cripple me in walking. If the new skin continues to grow and spread as it is doing now, grafting will not be necessary. Surely no man ever had better friends than have come to my aid in my helplessness. When I can get up and write I will try to thank them for their expressions of confidence and sympathy. Remember me to all the forced and friends who may inquire.

CAN YOU HELP US NOW?

The Record has not asked our subscribers for a long time to pay up. Now is the time of year that we need money the most and we ask all our friends who can possibly do so to come in and pay one dollar at least. We have over 1000 subscribers who owe from one to three dollars and if we had this altogether it would be a nice little sum. One dollar is not much to you but it means several thousand to us. Spare the dollar now if you possibly can do so and help us out. A great many of our readers are paid ahead and of course this does not apply to them, but to those who are behind we appeal for aid and know that all who can possibly spare a dollar will come to our relief.

A RARE AND JUICY FEE-NANCIER

Congressman R. L. Henry was in San Antonio last week, shaking hands with himself over the fact that when the currency bill shall finally become the law, he will have a currency bill that will please him to the last letter. Congressman Bob says, that he never was in disagreement with the President on currency legislation; that it was Brother Glass, whom he was in disagreement with; but that, at last, he succeeded in convincing Glass of his financial error. When it comes to expert financial knowledge, Congressman Bob has the man who whipped the science of finance whipped to a rattle dazzle finish—in Bob's own estimation.

The proposal to lend money to merchants and all commercial men, has been amended to include farmers' crop prospects' paper, and the farmers will all have money of their own when the law goes into effect. The farmer will be able to take his warehouse receipt for ten bushels of peanuts or pecans to the regional reserve bank and have currency issued to him to the face value of the receipt, and he will be given 90 to 180 days to liquidate the indebtedness. If the peanut currency is lost or destroyed by fire or otherwise, it will never reach the regional bank to be cancelled, or, if his wife hides the currency in her stocking among the bric-a-brac in the garret, it will never reach the regional reserve bank for cancellation.

But Harry Tracy, Milton Park, Stump Ashby and all the sub-treasury advocates of twenty years ago have been vindicated—including Cyclone Davis, who wrote a book on sub-treasury finance in 1892, at which the Democratic statesmen of that period scoffed, just as those wicked Republicans in the East scoffed at Coin Harvey's efforts to reform the financial system by issuing 'free and unlimited forty-five-cent silver dollars, not to forget Statesman Coxe's 'good National roads' currency system.

It took the Democratic leaders twenty years to come to Harry Tracy's peanut and tumble-bug currency ideas but the jackass, after an unlimited amount of bucking and braying, finally got there with his tail in the air, as proud as a heel-fly making a Texas steer hard to catch in the hogwallow section of Wharton county.

Of course, Congressman Bob expects to go to the United States Senate on the strength of the part he has played in the adoption of the tumble bug currency, and being in thorough sympathy with President Wilson's peculiar financial vagaries, Bob ought to be sent to the Senate, if the real authors of the sub treasury currency system are to be properly represented in Washington.—Mose Harris in Texas Republic.

The above is from Mose Harris and needs no comment as everybody knows Mose, who like Webster Plannegan, is privileged to talk without comment.

A few years ago, we preached to our cattlemen to raise sheep and convert their weeds into money. Many heeded this preaching, and are now fulfilling the prediction. Now let us suggest that, in addition to sheep, let our ranchmen add turkeys to their ranches and convert their grasshoppers into cold cash. A big gobber, at the present prices, is worth almost as much as a choice mutton. Of course, coyotes will kill turkeys, but kill the coyotes and sell his hide on a scalp.—Sterling City Record.

Carefully selected passages of Scripture memorized in childhood become invaluable possessions as the years pass away. Parents have a tremendous responsibility along this line. The time honored custom of requiring children to commit to memory portions of the Word of God is in danger of being neglected in our day. Some years ago, when an Irish boy was commanded by bigoted Roman Catholics to burn his Bible, he confidently replied: 'I thank God that you cannot take away the twenty chapters that I know by heart.' The heart is the safest, an honest storehouse for the Word of God.

AN OPEN LETTER FOR THE RECORD

While I have but little patience with newspaper farming or newspaper controversies, I am glad that the newspaper is a medium through which we can advance our ideas on any question and gather ideas from many questions. Hence I write this article I first say that there seems to be a prevailing idea among the farming class of people, to the effect that it is the proper thing to do to raise more than they can gather (especially) cotton which is the commercial medium of the world. This idea (in my judgment has grown to be a problem that will sooner or later have to be solved in some way or other, I suggest that every individual farmer investigate for himself and see if its profitable. If not, why keep it up. I am caused to doubt it on this ground that we have to draw too much on our mercy account. Which begins with the great game. That's alright, but it don't end there, for we place ourselves at the mercy of the cotton gatherers (not pickers) who refuse to raise cotton because they say, they can make more gathering it than raising it. Next we are at the mercy of the gin man. If he is not crowded he may gin it alright, but if he is, 'put it through boys,' is the go. Next we are at the mercy of the speculators and manipulators, which is the greatest of all the evil connected. We price our mules, our horses, hogs, cows, grain or hay, but when it comes to the money crop of the world, we say what will you give me. Lets stop and think and investigate the matter closely. If this don't find its way into the waste basket I may say more on the subject later.

BE HONEST WITH YOUR CREDITORS.

One of the greatest temptations to spend money too lavishly and for things that could easily be done without. This bad habit is fast growing on the American people. They just must spend money, for what they hardly know. To be sure it is the season of good cheer and we may rightly spend more money than ordinarily, but simply to throw away money without a substantial value returned—not always in mere material things, however—is a more serious and objectionable thing than most folks have thought. There are too many worthy and needy causes for any man to throw away his money or consume it in the use of luxuries. It is not sufficient to say that the money is ours. It is only ours to spend it in a sane and righteous way.

And then with a great many who sin at this point there is some creditor that is being wronged. The payment of an honest debt is too frequently delayed. It ought to be a pleasure to pay a debt and to pay it at the first possible moment. Certainly no person has a right to keep a creditor waiting while he himself is spending money to satisfy every whim of a pampered appetite. If we may be permitted to give a little bit of friendly advice it is that first of all that a faithful and honest effort be made to satisfy all creditors, to pay every honest debt that it is possible to pay. That ought to give more real cheer and more genuine happiness to the one so doing than anything else for which money could be spent. Be honest with your creditors.

The greatest enjoyments of life are found not in the flashy, showy circle of society, with their accompanying feasts and frivolities, but in the solemn and serious purpose in life to do good and to live in accordance with God's laws. Any other conception of the pleasures of life portrays them from a wrong focus. Happiness and joy reside in something deeper than the mere passing pleasures of the present. There are responsibilities in life which, when faithfully and courageously assumed, bring happiness and peace. When they are despised they poison the very sources of joy and wreak their vengeance in wretched and unhappy life.

BIG IRRIGATION PROJECT.

Ballinger, Texas, Jan. 5.—The work on the big irrigation project at this place is rapidly assuming large proportions, and it is expected that within a short time the work will be in full swing. Col. Charles M. Stanley is at the head of the movement, and he says that it will be one of the largest irrigation systems in the Southwest. It will furnish water for irrigating more than 100,000 acres of land near this city. The lake will consist of 2,300 acres, and will be made by building a dam across the Colorado River. Will sell Bradley Sulky for $17.50 cash, terms $20.00, only few in stock. Come quick.—Colorado Mercantile Co. Best flour on the market—Queen of the Pantry at McMurry's.

How to Remember the Calendar For 1914

If your friend Jones meets you in the street and asks you what day June 22d will drop on, because he has just heard there is something of interest to him to happen then, you say: 'Sorry, old chap; cannot tell you. Wish I could memorize the calendar at the beginning of the New Year. It would be extremely handy, but it is too big a job. Now, it has just occurred to me that it is Nellie's birthday on April 7, and I'd like to know the day.' 'We shall both have to wait until we come across a calendar. But, as you say, it would be a useful thing to learn the calendar at the beginning of the year. You often want to know what day a certain date will fall on.' That is just it, and yet the calendar for the year can be memorized in ten minutes by a little plan that is quite simple. Here it is: Copy from a calendar and write down in a column the date on which the first Sunday in each month will fall in 1914—thus: First Sunday: January 19th, February 16th, March 15th, April 13th, May 11th, June 9th, July 7th, August 5th, September 3rd, October 1st, November 1st, December 31st.

Now the only thing to do is to memorize this list, and it may easily be done as follows: Link the name of the month in the first column to the figure in the second column by means of an association of ideas—thus: January's here once more. Good resolves are for the fore. February soon is done. The reason's clear to every one. March bares are on the run. Keep your wits and don't be one. April here as I'm alive. First Sunday's on the five. May is here, and now you see leaflets growing on the tree. June brides are in their heaven. First Sunday comes on seven. July Fourth is Saturday. For peace and quiet let us pray. August is heated through and through. We'll be broiled and roasted too. September sun and shadow mix. First Sunday's dated six. October sends the mercury lower. Sunday on day numbered four. November puts year on the run. First Sunday's won by one. December weather plays and tricks. Sundays start on number six.

By reading these rhymes over aloud a few times you will find that the associations will be fixed in your mind, and the moment a month is mentioned the phrase will be recollected, and the last word in the phrase will give the date of the first Sunday. On that basis any day of the month can be remembered quickly—thus: On which day will May 17 fall? 'May is here, and now you see leaflets growing on the tree.' First Sunday 3, second Sunday 10, third Sunday 17. Answer, Sunday. On what day will Aug. 17 fall? 'We'll be broiled and roasted too.' First Sunday 2, second Sunday 9, third Sunday 16. Therefore 17th is Monday. Now, when Jones asks you on what day June 22 will fall you answer instantly, 'Monday.'

After a few minutes' practice it is surprising how quickly this is done. By the way, when at an evening party you can use this little 'wrinkle' for doing your turn in the entertainment. Ask the company to call out one by one the dates of their birthdays and you will tell them instantly on which day of the week they will fall. Your wonderful memory will 'bring down the house!'

The Best Gift of All. Of all the gifts that come to cheer The best one is a brand new year. Snow wrapped and holly decked it comes To richest and to poorest homes. —Bertha E. Jacques.

Bill Keillis at Sterling Says:

An inquisitive prospector while here the other day, asked us why we did not plant shrubs and trees in the court yard. Now such questions as that is rather embarrassing. We didn't want to knock the county and the people by telling this man that the county was so hard up for cash that it could not be done at present, and we hated to say that we are too darned stingy to have it done, so we lied to him by saying that we thought it was because mocking birds would nest in the trees and their singing would probably keep people awake at night. We guess the same condition prevails here but we had never thought of it. Too many mocking birds.

A PHYSICIAN'S DIAGNOSIS OF KIDNEY TROUBLE.

A Seemingly Common Disease which Becomes Fatal through Neglect and which May Be Readily Cured by Prompt Attention.

More than two-thirds of the annual death rate, physicians claim, is directly traceable to kidney disorders. Interested by this remarkable assertion and desiring to acquire a better understanding of the origin of the disease, a prominent physician was recently interviewed as to the symptoms of such troubles. 'To what do you attribute the great destructiveness of kidney disease?' was asked. 'The hold which the disease gains in the body before the victim becomes aware of his true condition, and the rapidity with which it eats its way into the vital organs.'

'Would not the proverbial "ounce of prevention" check the progress of the disease?' 'There is no doubt of it. The trouble is that victims of this disease mistake the symptoms for some trifling ailment in the stomach or bowels; therefore they do nothing to arrest the course of the disease until it is well advanced.' 'What is the origin of kidney trouble?' 'Almost invariably bad digestion, followed by torpid liver and a constipated habit.' 'What are the symptoms?' 'Headache, dizzy spells, sluggish brain, restless nights, pale or sallow skin, bad breath, lack of appetite, heartburn, sour belching, backache or tenderness over the kidneys, nervous weakness, dark rings around the eyes, tired feeling, too much or too little urine, and sediment in urine.'

IT'S EFFECT ON THE HEART.

'In what way is the heart affected from kidney trouble?' 'In all cases the heart is disturbed, though in many instances the palpitation does not become alarming until the disease has advanced to a serious point. A severe heart throbbing and nervous trembling is noticeable, especially after a little bodily exercise; the victim frequently imagines he has heart disease.'

HOW TO CURE IT.

'What is the proper course of treatment for kidney disease?' 'First, to get rid of uric acid and other poisons in the system. This can be done by stimulating the bladder and bowels so that they will act more freely. The suffering kidneys must be strengthened, the liver and stomach toned up and the digestion improved.' 'Prickly Ash Bitters is a remedy that answers these requirements completely. It is not only a system tonic and regulator, but its healing and restorative influence will build up the weakened kidneys and urge them to a better performance of their duties. It gives strength and tone to the liver, stomach and heart and promotes harmony of action throughout the body.'

M. W. Burr, village blacksmith and respected citizen of Starks, La., says: 'I was troubled with kidney and liver disorder for 18 years. I was in continual misery until I began taking Prickly Ash Bitters which has entirely cured me, and I am now a strong, healthy and hearty man. I give it to my wife and four children and they are in the best of health, too. I feel that Prickly Ash Bitters is the best remedy on earth and that everybody should keep a bottle at home.'

EDMONDSON'S NEW BLOCK

Will Be A Large And Modern Structure.

'The erection of our new building will be pushed with all possible speed said W. L. Edmondson to The News Tuesday.

As previously stated the new block will be built on the lots west of an opposite the First State Bank. According to Mr. Edmondson the new block is to be a 50 x 100 two story brick with basement and will be occupied by the reorganized Adams Mercantile Company.

Owing to Mr. Edmondson's time being taken up with the transfer of his banking business detailed information was not secured by The News, but so far as we are able to judge Mr. Edmondson and his associates in the mercantile business will show their faith in Loraine's future. We 'guess' that the building will represent an investment of approximately $18,000 to $20,000 and that the stock of merchandise will exceed those figures. We have faith that the materialization of these plans will give Loraine a good business boost and help attract a larger mercantile trade.—Loraine News.
