FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD APPROVES COTTON RELIEF PLAN OF WESTERN BANKS

PRINCIPLE OF THE $150,000,000 LOAN POOL IS RECOGNIZED AS OF NATIONAL IMPORTANCE BY THE GOVERNMENT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The federal reserve board tonight announced its approval in principles of the plan for a $150,000,000 loan fund to take care of the surplus cotton.

Governor Hamlin of the board in a letter to Festus J. Wade of St. Louis, one of the bankers of the plan, said while the board could not express itself upon details, it was of the opinion that just administration of such a fund would benefit those interested and the rest of the nation as well. He expressed the hope that banks and merchants would subscribe. His letter follows:

"The federal reserve board has given careful consideration to your suggestion that a fund of $150,000,000 be raised by subscription from banks, trust companies, bankers and merchants for the purpose of rendering assistance to the cotton growers and merchants of the United States until the present abnormal conditions caused by the European war have been terminated and normal conditions restored.

"I am directed by the board to state to you that while it cannot, very naturally, express itself upon the details of the plan as to personnel of management, commissions, interest rates, etc. it is the opinion that raising of such a fund of the amount indicated and its administration justly and fairly on reasonable terms and conditions would go far toward the restoration of normal conditions, and would redound to the benefit, not only of those interested in the production, movement and manufacturing of cotton, but as well to the entire people of the country.

"We note with gratification your assurance that a large number of southern banks and firms already have signified their willingness to contribute to such a fund, and your expression of confidence that the entire amount will be promptly subscribed.

"The problem involved is not local—it is national, and as well, international in its scope and importance and we venture to express the hope that subscriptions to such a fund will be made by banks, trust companies and merchants throughout the country."

COLLIER CALLS CONFERENCE.

AUSTIN, Oct. 10.—Insurance and Banking Commissioner Collier, when interviewed today in regard to what is known as the St. Louis plan for raising $150,000,000 for the purpose of making loans on cotton or warehouse receipts covering cotton, said that he unhesitatingly approved the plan and that he thought it one of the most expedient and practical plans yet suggested for furnishing a measure of relief.

Speaking further on the matter, Mr. Collier said:

"In all probability there will be between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 bales of distressed cotton to be cared for and carried over until normal conditions are restored. The St. Louis plan of raising a fund of $150,000,000 will suffice for the financing and holding of practically this entire volume of distressed cotton, if handled on a basis of 6 cents or $30 per bale, loan value.

"There can be no question but what the formation and practical operation of this loan syndicate will immediately have a strong stimulating effect upon the cotton market and I believe it the patriotic duty of all banks, corporations, associations and individuals to subscribe and participate in the formation of this syndicate, to the end that the farmer who has produced the cotton may receive some measure of immediate relief. I especially urge all state banks to liberally subscribe to the undertaking and I am today writing to the president of the Texas Bankers' association suggesting that at an early date he issue a call requesting representatives from all banks in Texas to meet at some central, accessible point for discussing this matter to the end that concerted action may be at once taken.

Unofficial reports say that the German cavalry movements in North France are a screen for the retreat of von Kluck.

BIG FIGHT IN THE CENTER

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Operations of the armies on the ends of the great Russian battle lines have paled into insignificance beside the tremendous advance in the center.

On the north end the Germans officially say that their withdrawal from Suwalki is of no importance. On the south end the Russians admit that they have withdrawn from Przemyśl in a similar fashion.

The main German armies are concentrating in Russian Poland, southwest of Warsaw.

PIGS AND EDUCATION AND PIGS AND DEBT.

Editor "The Record."

Tuskegee Institute, Alabama—Our race is in constant search of means with which to provide better homes, schools, colleges, and churches, and with which to pay debts. This is especially true during the hard financial conditions obtaining on account of The European War. All of this cannot be done at once, but great progress can be made by a good strong pull together, in a simple direct manner. How?

There are 1,400,000 colored families who live on farms or in villages, or small towns. Of this number, at the present time, 700,000 have no pigs. I want to ask that each family raise at least one pig this fall. Where one or more pigs are already owned, I want to ask that each family raise one additional pig this fall.

As soon as possible, I want to ask that this plan be followed by the organization of a Pig Club in every community where one does not already exist. I want to ask that the matter be taken up at once through families, schools, churches, and societies, Farmers' Institutes, Business Leagues, etc.

The average pig is valued at about $5.00. If each family adds only one pig, in a few months at the present prices for hogs $10.00 would be the wealth of the owner, and $14,000,000 to the wealth of the colored race. If each family adds two pigs, it would have in a few months $28,000,000 added with which to promote the race during the money stringency created by the European War.

Let us not put it off, but organize Pig Clubs everywhere, and give an opportunity to own and grow at least one pig.

GENERAL SHERMAN NEVER SAID IT.

It has come at last. Some of us had a premonition that our idol might be shattered and now the blow has fallen. General Sherman never said it. What's that? Gen. Sherman never said it was hell? Exactly so. (Quick with the spirits of ammonia.) Comes I. M. Hoffman, 2813 South Hope street, Los Angeles, bearing a statement of his uncle, H. J. Hoffman, of Jersey City, N. J., who avers that he (the uncle) heard Sherman's words at Atlanta. They were "War is cruelty." Anyway, whether or not Gen. Sherman made the remark so often accredited to him, the general impression still prevails that war is the very thing he thought he said it was.—El Paso Herald.

Mr. Robert Fowler, Okarche, Oklahoma, writes: "To any sufferer of catarrh of the stomach, I am glad to tell my friends or sufferers of catarrh that seventeen years ago I was past work of my head, due to stomach troubles. I tried almost every known remedy without results. Finally I tried Peruna, and am now to say I was benefited by the bottle, and after using a full bottle I was entirely cured. I am now seventy years old, and good health, due to always running at my command. I think of going away from my length of time without the use of Peruna alone for my liberty to use my picture if you think it will do any good to those who have stomach troubles."

THE COMING DAY OF UNIVERSAL PEACE.

(By John Temple Graves.) One thing amid the chaos of battles is absolutely sure.

Some day, soon or late—sooner perhaps than we think—this ghastly, gory, senseless colossal war will come to an end.

Some day these 12,000,000 men—a mighty host of soldiers whose bullets and bayonets are consecrated to slaughter and blood—will go marching or straggling to their several broken homes.

The mighty German war machine will gather its battered fragments together, beat its swords into ploughshares, its bayonets into pruning hooks and take up the long, patient miracle of rebuilding the magnificent prosperity blasted by its war against a world in arms.

Some day the soldiers of France will tramp back from the blood-drenched battlefields of Charleroi, Compagne and the Marne to lay their hands upon the looms and spindles, the agriculture and artistry that have made their country the world's marvel of recuperative thrift.

The British lion, shaking the mane so lately dripping blood, will recross the channel to carry peace and prosperity once again to Albion's shores.

The Russian Bear, with the swarming millions of his rugged race, will recross the Vistula to the frozen steppes—Austria will disband the remnant of her shattered armies in the name of peace.

And little Belgium—brave and heroic Belgium—at once the martyr and the hero of the war—will twine her martial glories about her new-made but forever historic ruins, with none to molest nor to make her afraid.

And in that great but mournful day these battered millions sitting amid the sorrow of broken homes and the memory of loved ones buried swift in piled up masses in the long, shallow trenches of the slain upon the fair fields of France, or in the ghastly graveyards of Galicia, will sit down beside their desolate hearthstones to think of what it all means—of what this awful war was all about—of what they fought for—of why they fought at all—of what mighty cause was settled—of what mighty good was won—aid whether the mission that sent them forth was worth the wide and sweeping death that draped a world in mourning.

And out of this tragic reflection—this aftermath of battles—there will arise beyond all question among the millions of Germany, of France, of England, of Russia, of Austria and of Belgium, that which lives now in America—a reaction against war and bloodshed and battles—so deep and set and stern that they will be ready to join—aye, each one of them to compel—the abolition of bayonets forever.

The advocates of universal peace the evangelists of arbitration and disarmament will face in that great day a world ripe for the Prince of Peace.

It is time now for the peace advocates to prepare their work. It is time to organize now the effort that will be made to preach this gospel and to perfect this work. Never have the peace societies had such inspiration to enlarge their numbers and to define their plans.

And here and now let it be said that this will be no time for jealousy or wrangle between the evangelists of peace. Neither money nor power must rule the mighty movement for the harmony of the world. United, unselfish, beneficent, let the princes of peace and the societies for arbitration work as one to the great end in view.

HYMEN'S DOINGS.

If County Judge Coe entertains the idea that his official record is shy in the number of conjugal knots tied during his incumbency, he is certainly making good on that shortage. In the Longfellow community alone, he has so mixed up the Smith and Britton families, that in a few years the genealogical tree will be so inexplicably tangled that the greatest expert can not disentangle it.

On last Sunday he further entangled the Britton-Smith alliance by making Mr. C. E. Britton and Miss Mary Smith one flesh. The Judge says his matrimonial splicer is working well now, and that he has the promise of another marriage from the same community and among the same families for next Sunday.

SURPRISES MANY IN COLORADO.

The quick action of simple buckthorn bark and glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-I-ka, the remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis, is surprising Colorado people. Many have found that this simple remedy drains so much foul matter from the system that a single dose relieves constipation, sour stomach and gas on the stomach almost immediately. Adler-I-ka is the most thorough bowel cleanser ever sold. W. L. Doss. 8-21

TWO TYPES OF RULERS.

It is safe to predict that the historical annals of the year 1914 will give chief emphasis to the character and career of two men. Kaiser Wilhelm and President Wilson will be the focal points of historic interest. And this will be due to the differing principles and policies for which they stand.

The Kaiser is the incarnation of pagan greatness reviewed and venerated in the perverted forms of mediæval ruler. The intellectual acceptance of Christianity in general does not eradicate the deep-seated ambition and lust for power, the apotheosis of self, that is the essential spirit of the world, the world powers and world-rulers. "Their princes lord it over them" was our Saviour's pity estimate of the attitude of Gentile King people. And the ruthless disregard of human rights and innocent little nations like Luxemburg and Belgium, and the remorseless sacrifice of German husbands, sons and fathers to the lust for power as seen in this last months' events, compel the Christian mind to put Wilhelm II in this class. "Kanonenfutter," food for the cannon, is the term that in Germany expresses the official estimate of the average man.

In beautiful contrast to such a conception of national life and political power stands the policy of Woodrow Wilson. On every hand we hear open utterances of gratitude to God that such a man is at the head of our nation at this time. His patient, brave far seeing policy kept us from a ruinous and destructive war with unhappy little Mexico. His persistent demand for honorable fidelity to a treaty puts our land today in noble contrast with the German violation of solemn international agreements. When has a President sought so frankly and firmly to conduct the affairs of the nation in strict accord with the law of Jesus Christ?—Christian Observer.

Studebaker

IT is a significant fact that in spite of war in Europe and a general feeling of apprehension in this country, Studebaker business is largely in excess of any previous year.

Studebaker dealers are enjoying a prosperous, profitable business. This is due to two prime causes—

FIRST—We in this country have entered upon what promises to be a season of exceptional prosperity.

SECOND—Studebaker cars at this year's prices are the most amazing value that has ever been offered in the whole history of motor car building. Studebaker values—with Studebaker reputation back of them—are recognized everywhere that motor cars are sold.

That is one reason that Studebaker dealers are almost universally successful dealers—

Rearranging of territories for the coming year makes possible a number of new dealer connections, and we would be glad to hear from men of character and ability who might be interested in the Studebaker proposition.

show with a braying band and canvas tent, can gather more dough from the unfrightened citizenship of West Texas than a dog can gather fleas in a livery stable. No wonder the South has been a fruitful field for razor paster, wooden nutmeg, gold brick and green goods artists, generally. Quo usque tandem?

Not only the foreign mail order houses, but even the patent medicine makers are taking advantage of the buy-a-bale sentiment in the south and are widely advertising the statement that they are helping to save the cotton situation. Its a dull day when these harpies can't find a basis for effective advertising in even a public calamity.

You've read of the "Rump Parliament" that at one time assembled in England. Only substitute a shorter synonym for the first word, and you have the size and quality of the aggregation the people are now supporting at Austin.

The place that Gen. Sherman made famous will have to hustle if it keeps pace with that European war.

LET COMMON SENSE AND PRUDENCE PREVAIL.

Just now the press is full of criticism of banks for not lending farmers cash with which to hold cotton off the market, and some papers are free to say banks are not aiding farmers at all. It is doubtful if those who make such assertions are well informed as to conditions.

Now, the fact is, that most farmers who raise cotton, have already borrowed much more than what their cotton would bring in the market today for which credit they get supplies and cash; and that in order to loan to farmers and merchants (who also owe banks) who have sold supplies to farmers on credit, they (the banks) have already borrowed, all the money they can safely borrow, or that they are permitted to borrow under the law.

Most people overlook the fact that a bank is simply a trustee and that the money in its vaults is on trust and belongs to its depositors, who can call for it at any time.

Bankers have to exercise more prudence and good judgment than any other class of business. So farmers should not permit themselves to be led into judging their local merchants and banks too harshly.

While not a wise custom, still the credit system is common with farmers who raise cotton; and most all have lost sight of the fact that most local merchants and bankers have already advanced all they possibly could to farmers who have cotton for sale.

Farmers can materially aid to solve existing problems by using common sense and practicing prudence. — The Farmers' Friend Bulletin.

SPIRIT OF SERBIA.

The response of Serbia's population to the third call to war in less than two years will probably pass down in history as one of the most patriotic and one of the most pitiful sacrifices ever made by a modern people. Before even the first soldier in the war had been killed the mercenary presented a spectacle calculated to make an indelible impression on the mind of every person who witnessed what was really meant.

Of the 300,000 men which the little state was able to muster for its conflict with Austria, just one-third of the entire number, or 100,000 formerly able-bodied men, came bearing the wounds, mutilations, eyeless sockets and the armless and legless stumps which the two previous wars had imposed on them. In a country, poor as Serbia had remained after its first two wars, few of these had been able to lessen their misery with such luxuries as artificial eyes, arms or legs, yet they came just the same, singing their national hymn and the war songs of the Slav people, and offering up for their country what was left of them just as cheerfully as in the first two wars they had offered up their sound and physically-whole bodies.

STAY ON THE FARM.

There is such alarm over the abandonment of the farm by the rural population, and especially the boys and girls of the rising generation. It is surprising that they should leave when all the farm offers them, as they see it, is drudgery and circumscribed opportunities? They read a city paper and imbibe the city point of view; they have city schools which educate them away from the farm; and they are lured to the city by the desire for wealth and the variety and guardianship of the life which it affords.

The farm affords a much better financial opportunity to the wide-awake, aggressive individual than is commonly believed. A successful farmer says that on the one hundred acres of land which he has built up by rotation he makes $1,000 a year exclusive of his living. Contrast the opportunity which the farm offers to the man of limited means provided he knows how to handle it advantageously, and which he should be taught through the courses offered in the secondary and common schools of his community; and that of the city wage earner drawing $1,000 a year. On one hundred acres of land in twenty years the farmer should have made $20,000 in money besides his living. Suppose he paid $10 an acre for his land. At the end of twenty years it will be worth probably $30 an acre; in any case it actually becomes worth from $50 to $75, and even $100 an acre. At the end of twenty years the farmer has a competency, has probably educated his children advantageously, and has something laid aside with which to help start them in a business of their own. The other man has lived, or better still, existed.—Andrew M. Scuse

MONARCHY ON TRIAL.

"The souls of emperors and cobblers are cast in the same mold. The same reason that makes us wrangle with a neighbor causes a war between Princes," says Montaigne.

Now that the war in Europe is rapidly developing into a general conflict among the Powers, changes of far greater importance than those affecting the boundaries of the Nations are likely to result. For monarchy, which has shown itself a menace to peace, will be greatly away or its authority will be greatly curtailed. The infatuated Emperors of Austria-Hungary, Russia, and Germany evidently do not realize that the ancient system of government which they represent is on trial. The two Teutonic Kaisers and the Czar, each bearing as his chief title of authority the name of Caesar, are taking liberties recklessly with the aroused spirit of democracy by drawing their swords in a useless and therefore wicked war.

These twentieth century Caesars having succeeded in plunging their own countries and others into a devastating and unnecessary conflict, the close of the ghastly struggle is not unlikely to find them short of their pretensions and power and democracy ruling in their places.

The warfare of the human race, or of large portions of it, can no longer be left at the mercy of hereditary rulers who may or may not be actuated by the highest motives and who may or may not be possessed of sound judgment. The shortcomings of Governments based upon the will of the people are many and serious, but no Government ruled by an enlightened people would commit the gigantic crime of precipitating a stupendous armed conflict through pride and panic.

Russia, Germany and Austria-Hungary stand pre-eminently among the civilized Nations of the world as examples of monarchical rule. The Western Hemisphere has no monarch. France is a Republic, and Britain is a monarchy in name only, the real power being more directly in the hands of the people than in almost any other country. Even the Orient is waking up. China, after centuries of absolutism in government, is developing republican institutions. The hereditary rulers of Russia, Germany and Austria-Hungary have opposed the march of democracy more successfully than have any other autocrats. The great war with which these men are inflicting on Europe will certainly go far toward destroying the outworn system of government represented by them.—Chicago News.

STAND BY YOUR TOWN.

No town can be permanently prosperous in which the citizens and tradesmen dependent on each other, do not patronize each other. The merchant wants a set of harness, for instance, and although his neighbor is a good harness maker, and trades with him, he imagines he can save fifty cents by sending to another city or state for his harness. The harness-maker in turn sends away for his groceries, boots, shoes, and clothing. The shoemaker sends away for his coat, and the tailor sends away for his boots, and so it goes. As a result, the farmers come in to trade see all the tradesmen sending to other places for goods, because, they say, they can save money by doing so, and come to the conclusion that they, too, can do better elsewhere; and then everybody is growing about hard times and no business. No wonder, the business men themselves turn the tide of trade elsewhere, for if they can supply themselves to better advantages by depriving their neighbors of their trade, others learn to try the same experiment. It is a dangerous one to inaugurate. Ten-dollar are lost where one is saved, because the entire business of the place is dwarfed and hampered thereby.

The fact is, but little is ever made in going away to trade, and oftener counting all expenses, there is a loss. Show us a town in which the people make it a rule not to send away for anything they can get at home, and we will show you a town in which business is lively, and everybody buys, and trade is centered from abroad. Prices are low and the tradesmen patronize each other, having no suspicion that confidence will be abused. Let it once be understood that the business men of any town are in the habit of sending abroad for purchases and the business will languish. Having no confidence in each other, how can they expect others to have confidence in them? No, that's not the way to build up a town, patronize each other, and keep all your business at home.—San Angelo Standard.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly falling to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They cure one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

San Angelo has a new paper, the Weekly Sun, and the Record wishes it every success.

For a space the European war was of secondary consideration. The war series of base ball came first.

Neighbors; stop calamity howling and starting to death long enough to consider the contingency, of losing "Fire Alarm" Colquitt and "Cyclone" Davis, both in the national manager at Washington, credited to Texas. The hoodlum wagon and the fire patrol would work double time.

For the benefit of industrious strugglers and prospectors, it would not be amiss to place a sign on our deprecciated county court house, being something like this kind of information: "This building was not reduced by German or Allied, siege guns, but by Campaigner Thunder for an economical administration of the people's business." It might not be quite as poetic as legends attached to ruins usually are, but would have the saving grace of truth.

A stranger in the community came suddenly upon that pile of ruins formerly known as the court house and jail of Mitchell county, recently, and published considering it for some months. Turning to a native passing at about the same time, he asked: "What were those old buildings before the war; some kind of military fort?" "Not on your degenerate type," replied the native "them's our county court house and jail; and that makes two court houses we've torn down and let rot down since 1881." "Surely these old buildings are not being used now?" inquired the visitor. "Sure, Mike," retorted the native proudly, "every room is being used—for a dumping ground for every thing that's undesirable."

The buy-a-bale movement is a highly commendable one, from a patriotic point of view, but practically, it seems but moving the trouble further ahead and only postponing the day of low price cotton. The buying of a bale or even ten thousand bales, does not affect the supply, but merely withdraws that much cotton from immediate sale to be dumped on the market later on. The entire question hinges on the next crop. If anything like the present cotton crop is produced in 1915 and the existing conditions continue in European manufacturing centers, the price of cotton must continue to decline. The solution of the problem lies in the cotton farmers' own hands.

Be sure to read the communication in this issue from Booker T. Washington, president of the famous Tuskegee Industrial school for negroes. Although primarily addressed to the negroes of the South the wisdom of its suggestions can be applied with equal or greater benefits by the millions of white people in the same territory. His most valuable suggestion is the one which results in easing the situation, does not require any lump sum of indefinite millions, but places the burden of it within the reach of every one. It is to be created by each one creating a few dollars. His plan is simple, and would prove of the desired end.

Liberty to the man who attracts a

NECESSITY COMPELS ADVANCE.

A number of raw materials used in paper making have always been secured from European countries. Some of these supplies have been cut off entirely, while others are obtained temporarily at greatly advanced prices.

This condition has made it necessary for paper manufacturers to withdraw all prices and to accept new orders subject to these changed conditions.

A number of our regular lines have been affected and our costs raised to such an extent that we have found it necessary to revise certain prices as shown in the folder enclosed.

We have withheld this action as long as possible, hoping that it would not be necessary to change our prices. As manufacturing conditions have not improved, we are sending this list to take effect October 15th.

There may be further advances but we will do our best to protect our customers.

Yours truly, SOUTHWESTERN PAPER CO.

In view of the above and from the fact that all material has advanced greatly in price, some of it almost doubled, all job printing from this date on will be advanced in price at least 25 per cent.

The summer is past; the harvest is well nigh done and there are many subscriptions not yet paid. The Record will take a thousand bales of cotton on future subscription; a few cords of burnable wood, as many bushels of yam potatoes, edible turnips, sorghum molasses (not syrup), or whatever else will stay a christian stomach, warm his back, keep his feet dry or sooth his conscience until this cruel war is over or springtime comes again.

When Doc. Osler declared the principle that a man should be chloroformed when he reached the age of sixty years, he should have practiced by the rule he laid down, on himself. If you think the big work of this world is being done by young men—the work that tries men's souls and nerves—glance over the list of men who are the controlling spirits in the present European war. On the German side, General Von Emich, the captor of Liege, is 66, and General Von Kluck is 68. General Von Hausen, who recently gave up the command of the Saxon army, is 65. General Von Heringen is 64. General Von Elenen 61 and General Von Buselov is 68. General Von Moltke, chief of the German general staff, is 66, and General Von Hinderburg, who is in command of East Prussia, is 67. Nearly all of these officers took part in the Franco-Prussian war of 1870. On the Allies' side, Earl Kitchener is 64; Smith-Dorrien is 56, and Sir John French, 62. The three French generals—Pau, Joffre and Gallieni—are approaching 70.

The Record has been slow in congratulating Bro. McCollum of the Waco Tribune on his belated dip into the political pool. We can't look upon it as an advancement, but rather a symptom of the folly good men and true sometimes commit with advancing years. Bro. McCollum is far too good a newspaper man and ingenious friend to be spoiled by practical politics. And especially is his defection had just when the reward of his fealty had brought such material and possible results. Differing only in results, (we hope) Mrs. Mac's case bears close analogy to that of Horace Greely in 1872. The height of Greely's ambition was to be known as "an honest printer and capable editor." He eminently achieved both distinctions, but fell at last for the siren song of office holding, and was beaten so badly that only an undertaker was competent to handle what was left of him. If it be ambition, Bro. Mac, we charge thee to fling it away, for you remember this was the breed of bug that got the goat of Lucifer. Besides you are doing a better work for the state and your fellows where you are now are, than you can possibly do when you are compelled to "Crook the pregnant hinges of the knee That thrift may follow fawning."

We are in receipt this week of the Motley County Weekly News, Madox, Texas. At its forepeak files the editorial ensign of Bob Johnson—verbum Sap as to the paper's general excellence. Bob Johnson is a printer born and has a sense for news like a pointer dog's nose for quail, with the magic of the right word to express it and faith, he'll print it, too.

High pile the dough about you "Friend of my younger days; None knows you but to love you. None names you but to praise."

CONSIDER THIS EXAMPLE.

Our friend, Chas. Lasky can qualify in every department of activity he ever tried as fore-handed and an eminent success. His success as a master of general affairs, is measured by that of his mercantile prominence, which, in turn, is collateral with his ability as a trucker, orchardist and general farmer. The very life of the grocery department of his store is supplied by his orchard and truck patch, just in the edge of town. When he fails to raise everything that is saleable in this market, and constructive to the equitability of man and beast, it is because Jack Frost, Jupiter Pluvius or Old Sol has gunned the cards and spoiled the game. It is not Chas. Lasky's fault.

With the above notable example in mind, we come to the point we wish to emphasize, which is, that at least 75 per cent of the people of Mitchell County who live on farms, could have produced on truck patch or garden, this year the larger part of what they consumed at their tables. But many of them, who could not subsist a week without patronizing the grocery stores offer as an excuse, lack of time. But what farmer gives as many strenuous hours a day to his work as Chas. Lasky devotes to his mercantile business and yet he finds time for a most profitable side line of truck farming. In fact it is only busy people who have time to get worth while things done.

Doubtless had Solomon been acquainted with the present instance of industrious frugality and forehandedness, his injunction to the lazy, would have read: "Go to Charley Lasky, thou sluggard, consider his ways and get rich."

"HAS ANYBODY HERE SEEN WILLY?"

A Houston lawyer is looking for "Weary Willie Waterhouse, of Walla Walla, Wash," a printer of as great notoriety in his peculiar way, as "A No. 1", whose sign manual adorns nearly every water tank in the southwest. ("Weary Willie Waterhouse" confesses to his own name, but never to any other charge. He has mixed the cases in more printing offices than any half dozen other hobos that ever marred the landscape. He has been expecting a lot of dough at the conclusion of some alleged lawsuit, for more years than we care to confess acquaintance with him. It was formerly his habit to blow into a printing office looking (sic) for work, after arranging to have an alleged telegram delivered to him from his lawyer, announcing the conclusion of the suit and that several hundred dollars awaiting his arrival at some distant and always different point. It is easy to imagine the panhandling act that would follow.

"Weary" is a character. He always flew light and changed linen only when he landed and was given the alternative of "cleaning up" and going to work or passing on. He is everything from expert linotype operator to ancient press builder. And now it seems that we, in common with every other newspaper worker, have been doing Willie an injustice in doubting the genuineness of his Great Expectations. G. P. Daugherty, a lawyer of Houston really wants to communicate with him, and it appears that there is some real money coming to Weary Willie Waterhouse.

No matter how loud the cry of "hard times" or how "tight" and elusive the festive dollar may become, a steady

DIED. Last Wednesday night Hazel Ruth, the little thirteen months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Snowden died at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. McKenzie after an illness of several weeks. A week before her death they had brought the little one in from the ranch that better medical attention might be had. Everything that loving hands and medical skill could do were done to alleviate the suffering and to restore the little darling to these young devoted parents but one of greater love and tenderness needed just such a flower for His Kingdom.

And with eyes bedimmed with tears and with aching hearts she was given "for now we see through a glass darkly" and know not what is best for us or ours, but some day all will be made plain and our hearts will be made to rejoice in His love.

The Record joins their other friends in sincere sympathy in this lonely hour and bids them lean on Him who said "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

The funeral services were conducted, Thursday at 4 p. m. at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie by Rev. J. N. Campbell, and the little body laid to rest in the I. O. O. F. cemetery to await the resurrection morn.

CENTRAL CIRCLE

The Central Circle of the Methodist church met with Mrs. J. W. Shepperd Monday. The devotional exercises were led by Mrs. D. N. Arnett. Dues and offerings were received to the amount of eleven dollars and fifteen cents. After the regular business was attended to the remainder of the time was spent in planning for a Halloween entertainment. Two kinds of cake with hot tea, and coffee were served by the hostess at the social hour. The November meeting is to be held with Mrs. Schroeder.

HALLOWEEN PARTY.

The public will remember with pleasure the Halloween party given by the Methodist Ladies last year and will be glad to attend another one that promises to be even better and funnier this year. This will be a progressive luncheon. The starting place will be Mrs. J. W. Shepperd's where tickets can be procured for the entire trip and the first course served. From there if the witches and goblins let you, you go to Mrs. M. K. Jackson's and see more spooks and goblins and get more good things to eat, then to Mrs. J. A. Buchanan's and will be treated in like manner, only more so and the climax will be reached at Miss Wulfsen's. All this fun may be had for twenty-five cents and at least save a two dollar doctor's fee by the hearty laughs to be had.

The public is cordially invited. Mrs. John Farmer and baby of Sweetwater are visiting relatives here.

Miss Annie Beal was hostess for the 500 club Tuesday. The guests were Mrs. Stoneham Beal and Miss Margaret McComas. Mrs. Henry Doss won the club prize dainty individual salt spoons and Miss McComas the guest prize bonbon tongs. After the games pressed chicken, apple fritters, sandwiches, stuffed olives, and lemon pie and cheese and coffee were served by the hostess and her mother.

G. F. C.

Mrs. Everett Winn was hostess for the G. F. C. last week. Only the members were players but a pleasant evening was spent. After the games delicious ice cream and cake were served. The meeting this week is with Miss Ethel Stokes.

A CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to those who so kindly assisted us in the sickness and death of our precious baby. May you all have such sympathy when sorrow enters your homes.

Sincerely, MR. AND MRS. ED SNOWDEN.

WOMANS MEETING IN COLORADO.

The Womens Auxiliary to the B. W. M. W. was a feast to the entire membership and especially the ladies of Colorado as it had been eight years since they had the privilege of the meeting and having many here who had never had the opportunity of attending one.

The meeting was called to order by the much loved President, Mrs. George L. Paxton of Abilene, the devotional services were conducted by our Mrs. Geo. W. Smith, who read the 100th Psalm and reminded all of the many things Christians had to be thankful for in the words of the Psalmist they felt "The Lord hath done great things for us; whereof we are glad."

Mrs. A. L. Whipkey gave the words of welcome and tried to make every one feel at home. Mrs. Kimbrough of Abilene responded in her bright happy manner and then the real work began. Owing to the busy season and to the depression in money matters not so many representatives were present as usual at these meetings.

The work financially fell a few hundred dollars short as compared with the report at Sweetwater last year. A few societies were organized and take it all in all most of the reports were fine.

Lorraine made the most advance of any of the woman's societies and the Colorado Y. W. A. took the banner of the young people.

The ladies are grateful for the presence of the ladies of other denominations who attended their meetings. They also felt honored to have the sweet spirited sister, Mrs. Ensinger of Live Oak church in their midst. She is an old time Christian having on the "whole armor of God" and ready at all times and places for service. Many meetings has she attended and their prayer is that she may live to attend many more. The ladies were refreshed in the afternoon by a duet sung by Mrs. Royal G. SWEETWATER ASSOCIATION

The Sweetwater Association convened with the Colorado Baptist Church last week, commencing Thursday morning. The men held their meetings at the Baptist building while through the kindness of the Methodist ladies held their meetings in their house of worship.

This is a body of churches in three different counties, Taylor, Nolan and Mitchell. Fifty three in all who send representatives every year that they may report to each other their work besides that these churches employ two missionaries who preach in the destitute places and help to organize churches when they become strong enough. And each church has, or should have a part in paying their salaries.

Mr. U. Collins, a big hearted layman of Abilene was elected moderator, Mr. E. Keathley, also a layman of Colorado, who has as much interest in carrying on the Lord's work as his own was re-elected clerk, and Mr. J. I. Griffith a still bigger layman with a sunny disposition and an eye for business was re-elected treasurer. Most of the reports were good and pledges were cheerfully made to carry on the work for another year.

Interesting and edifying sermons were preached by different pastors. On Friday night Dr. J. D. Sandifer, President of Simmons College in Abilene gave the report and explained the work of that college.

He is not only a good speaker but a fine Christian gentleman and his words carry weight. This college has grown to be the equal of any in the South. At the close of Friday's sessions Mr. G. D. Adams had a wagon load of watermelons from West Texas fame, grown on his farm, on the parsonage lawn and treated the entire body.

Saturday morning was largely given to Dr. W. F. Fry to tell of the work of the Girls Industrial work in Simmons College. This has been added the last few years to the college to enable poor girls to get a college education by doing their own house work. This year efficient teachers have been employed to teach them Domestic Science and Home Economics.

Saturday afternoon the missionaries, Revs. Lindsay and Green, made their reports and they were both encouraging and inspiring. The Board members also had their meeting and laid out plans for the next year's work. The Association then adjourned to meet next October with the Roscoe church.

OCTOBER.

Once upon a midnight dreary, while I burrowed, growing weary, into many a thrilling story of the battle of the kings; while I nodded, having read them till I think I could have said them, all at once I heard the rustle and the fluttering of wings. "Tis some visitor," I muttered, being good at guessing things.

Ah, distinctly I remember it was early in September, and each separate dying ember of the city of Louvain seemed to glow upon the pages in the way a thing engages one's attention when he rages and inclines to raising cane. When the savagery of ages sort of seizes on his brain—it was then I heard the rustling, now becoming very plain.

It was not at all uncertain, so I pulled aside the curtain, and a dove in some disorder had alighted on the sill, where it rested very still, with a bullet through its bill, and its pinions singed to nothing, but the unembellished quill. "Tis the peace dove," I adventured, feeling something of a thrill.

In that solitary haven I recalled the poet's raven, and I know the bird before me carried sorrow on its tongue—had a message on its tongue, which it sorrowfully sung, and I set about to find it, for the night was fairly young. I remember even laughing with the thought that it was "Stung."

Thus it was I got to guessing, while continually pressing my request for information on the symbol of The Hague; but its wit was very vague. It had somehow lost a leg, and its head deprived of feathers, was as barren as an egg. It was pitiful with famine, it was resolute with plague.

"Tis," said I, "thing of fancy, a raven and Nancy, by what commandancy does your hobby sing?"

"Have you thought the raven are deaf to cannon the house of arbitration melancholy door? Or are they onward just as bravely as a peace bird?"

"Nevermore!"

"What illusions have been sundered? We have naturally wondered if Carnegie would despair, has he chucked the whole affair? Do they talk peace anywhere on the seven seas of ocean or the unrepenting shore? Is the palace still kept open, with a welcome at the door?"

"Nevermore!"

"We have quit that monkey business" said the singing and shaken bird. "There is nothing in it, truly; it is patiently absurd. I reported back to Andy, and he said an awful word. But don't feel badly for him—he is not so sad the noo; he was making armor, too, in the old and palmy days, and it doesn't matter truly. He was playing it both ways."

The eager calf will sniff the air And show us what is new to dance, And in the offering everywhere.

The hosts of Autumn will advance. The wild goose going down the sky Will signal ranges to the frost; The dread mosquito, come to die, Will sell its life at awful cost.

The corn and other friends of man Will chase the tyrant Hunger past, The brave cove oyster in the can Will sound a military blast, The bitter will exceed the roar Of any cannon made by Krupp, And tins of soup, hurled through the door, Will blow the soda fountain up.

October has always been a beautiful month of the year, and it is not too much to say that it is the best of the year. It is the month when the sun is just beginning to warm, and the air is just beginning to cool. It is the month when the leaves are just beginning to turn, and the colors are just beginning to show. It is the month when the harvest is just beginning to come in, and the crops are just beginning to ripen. It is the month when the weather is just beginning to be what we need, and the season is just beginning to be what we want.

lith, meaning the approach of Winter with the full moon. This infuriated the Romans, who had named it October from the Latin octo (eight), and had subsequently made it the tenth month in order that there might be apples to bob on Halloween. The result of their indignation was a race war in which the Latins under Numa Pompilius were arrayed against almost all the rest of Europe. The allies were defeated, and all their calendars were burned at a big celebration and bonfires on the Roman Campagna.

It was on the 12th of October that Columbus discovered America. Weary of war and the quarrels of kings, this intrepid Italian mapped three caravels and set out to discover a place where people could live in peace. The sea had never been crossed, and it contained a great many perils; but every time he and his men thought of turning back their resolve was renewed by the rumble of cannon in their rear, and they so came to San Salvador in this month of the year. Except for the probable necessity of killing the Indians who already inhabited the new land, it seemed satisfactory, and Columbus returned and so reported. The rush for Plymouth Rock and other promising fields for colonization set in at once, and it has never stopped.

Across the peaceful seas of night the Hunter's Moon will sail serene, nor anyone shall dynamite that pretty cruiser from the scene. There is no war where man is not—it is original with him. All else except this bloody spot is fairer than the cherubim. The gentle art of shedding blood is not at home among the stars. One cannot even hear the thud of battle on the planet Mars. The days are filled with joy and peace; the nights are beautiful with song. There are no armies and police, nor is there any matter wrong. Our earth monopolizes that; they have to look to see it here. They never have a royal spat beyond our own forbidding sphere. We take the cake for acting so of all the worlds around the sun, and if the rest could make the throw they'd like to hit us with the bun.

At any rate, the verdant glade will turn a bright and cheery red, and wild duck dinners will parade above the hunter's head. The mothball driven from the fur, will rally around the summer shirt; the bullfrog, stopping to demur, will show us how to shovel dirt. The new school ma'am will make the bold, unconquered bully hawl for mush, the cow will shiver with the cold and don a thicker set of plush; the farmer, bringing in his hogs, will leave us in a limousine; the candidate in homely togs will tell what keeps us poor and lean; the haze of autumn will complete the filmy glory of the day; the quail will wake us with the sweet, shrill temper of his roundelay; the gold leaves, glowing as they turn, will render beautiful the air, and pickled pig's feet will return to glorify the bill of fare.

There is no other reason quite so beautiful as that ahead, When all the world is frosty white.

As day comes bounding from his bed The thought of cider is enough To make a poet seize his lyre; The hickory, turned gold and buff, Is all that beauty could desire, The smell of cracklings on the breeze Will make a rosebush hide its face, The wistful beauty of the trees Will soothe and charm us for a space.

The county fair will fill the sky With aviators and balloons, And night will know the hue and cry Or dogs and hunters after coons.

Indian Summer is so-called from the fact that it was then the Indians always went on the warpath, and this is almost equally true of white men. There will probably be very few quiet spots on the globe during the month, and with Europe going it full tilt on one side of us, Mexico raging along the south border and the Japs scourging the Pacific, we will do well to keep out of it ourselves. Congress will probably adjourn about the 15th, though one cannot tell about Congress these days, when something breaks out almost every minute. Some of the Congressmen, now the rivers and harbors bill has been zepplined, don't much care to go home at all. The moon will be full on the 4th. The 15th will be an anxious day for all of the Kings engaging in the European war, for it was on that day in 1815 that Napoleon arrived at the Isle of St. Helena, there to spend the rest of his life. October's birthstone is the opal, which means hope; but people born in October are very strong characters and do their own hoping. Theodore Roosevelt is a good example. He was born on the 27th under the influence of Scorpio, the eighth sign of the zodiac. Scorpio people have great endurance and usually continue to run for office after people have quit paying any attention to them. The first 22 days of the month are under the influence of Libra, the seventh sign. Libra people are very conservative, and are not saying what they think of our Mexican policy yet. October 13th will be the anniversary of the birth of the United States navy, which looks as if it would have to be born again in the light of what is proving effective in sea fighting abroad. Halloween will recur on the 31st.

Then sweet November will return, With Winter's scouts beside her, And we shall turn from war's concern To fixing apple cider.

CHARLES OF RUMANIA DEAD

First King of the Rumanians Passes Away at Ripe Old Age.

Petrograd, Russia, Oct. 10.—King Charles I of Rumania died today. He was Rumania's first king. The story of his career spanning 75 years is that of a German Prince elected to govern a Latin people, out of which experience Rumanians or those who have followed the fortunes of that buffer state will recall much that is stirring if not romantic.

Prince Charles was born a Hohenzollern, an older branch of the family than that of Emperor William of Germany, but none the less proud of its blood. He was the son of Prince Charles Anthony of Hohenzollern Sigmaringen, who voluntarily resigned the Hohenzollern regentship in favor of the Prussian crown and subsequently became prime minister of Prussia.

It was while Charles was serving, at the age of 27 years, as an officer of high rank in the Prussian guard, that the Turkish provinces of Wallachia and Moldavia united to call them selves Rumania and, casting their eyes about Europe successfully took the advice of Napoleon III, and invited young Charles to be their Prince.

FOR THE PROTECTION OF YOUNG GIRL TRAVELERS.

A movement has been started in favor of requiring all railroads to employ matrons to travel on passenger trains to advise young women who may be traveling alone and need assistance. All the leading railroads have at their principal stations matrons to look after the welfare of women, and in many of the leading cities churches employ representatives, including deaconesses of the Methodist church to guide and protect women, especially young girls who may be travelling alone. For years the transatlantic lines have employed matrons to look after single women and young girls traveling alone, and it is the general rule of all leading companies to berth such passengers in sections of the ship by themselves, to assure them of privacy. Special attention is also paid to young girls who come with the immigrant class. It hardly seems necessary to involve either the steamship or railroad lines, therefore, in additional expense for matters which have been so carefully safe guarded.—Leslie's.

Now that William Waldorf Astor has given $100,000 to the English Red Cross maybe he will get into the nobility. War is a powerful leveler.

The Telephone "S. O. S." Saved the Farm

"One day last fall my wife and I started for a drive, leaving the house deserted. A short while after we'd passed Jones' place, Mrs. Jones saw smoke coming from our roof.

"She ran to the telephone—Got Mrs. Reed who operates the switch-board located in her home. Mrs. Reed called all the nearby people on the line (two long rings—the emergency signal,) and they put the fire out with little damage."

A Telephone on the Farm connected with the Bell System is a protection and safe-guard in all emergencies.

Saturday afternoon the town was crowded with cotton pickers striving to slough their money. The Mexican element was largely in evidence—in fact, the larger part of the crowd was composed of them. It is noticeable that they are good spenders, like their brothers in black. They usually get rid of all they have and always let "manana" take care of itself.

CONSUMPTION TAKES 350 PEOPLE DAILY

Over 350 people succumb to consumption every day in the United States. Science proves that the germs only thrive when the system is weakened from colds or sickness, overwork, confining duties or when general weakness exists. The best physicians point out that during changing seasons the blood should be made rich and pure and active by taking Scott's Emulsion after meals. The cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion warms the body by enriching the blood; it peculiarly strengthens the lungs and throat, while it upbuilds the resistive forces of the body to avoid colds and prevent consumption. If you work indoors, tire easily, feel languid or nervous, Scott's Emulsion is the most strengthening food-medicine known. It is totally free from alcohol or any stupefying drug. Avoid substitutes.

Dear Sir:—About eleven months ago I was taken by something thought to be rheumatism, and the use of one leg. I consulted physicians; they told me it was incurable and advised me to have the leg amputated. Unwilling to part with leg, I commenced using medicines advertised for the above disease, with no effect; but after taking two bottles of McCrosky's Tonic you left W. C. Sappington for me, my health was greatly improved, and after taking the third bottle I am able to walk without my crutches. You may use this if you see fit. Anyone doubting this can write to me and I will answer them, provided a stamp for postage is inclosed.

Why Not Publish It!

When you want a fact to become generally known, the right way is to publish it. Mrs. Joseph Kallans, Peru Ind., was troubled with belching, sour stomach and frequent headaches. MOORE-HELTON.

On last Saturday, Mr. J. B. Moore and Miss Ruby Helton, both of the Cedar Bend community, thinking the time and opportunity propitious for the consummation of their mutual affection, and wishing such incidents as parental knowledge and consent played the Gretna Green surprise upon their families and friends. Proceeding to town and procuring the necessary warrant from the State of Texas, they dragooned Rev. Lamb, a clergyman in their service who was attending the Baptist Association here at that time, and soon went rejoicing and happy on their way.

The bride is the daughter of J. M. Helton, a prominent citizen of Cedar Bend, and former County Commissioner. Mr. Moore is a prosperous young farmer of the same community and both have many friends who rejoice with them in their new found happiness and wish them every blessing and prosperity.

What Would You Do.

There are many times when one man questions another's actions and motives. Men act differently under different circumstances. The question is, what would you do right now if you had a severe cold? Could you do better than to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy? It is highly recommended by people who have used it for years and know its value. Mrs. O. E. Sargent, Peru, Ind., says, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is worth its weight in gold and I take pleasure in recommending it." For sale by All Dealers.

THE SHADOWLAND.

Mrs. Payne of the Shadowland Theatre is making great improvements in the picture show. She is putting in an inclined floor and seating it throughout with the best grade of opera chairs. The entire house will be furnished up and put in first class condition. She is now showing new and interesting features and plays to crowded houses every night. It is her intention to build a small balcony in the rear of the house for Mexicans and negroes, devoting the entire lower floor to the whites. Mrs. Payne deserves much credit and a liberal patronage for the manner in which she conducts this place of amusement. It is clean and comfortable and nothing but the best pictures are shown. She allows no fake travelling people to hunc the public with "special films" or vaudeville performances, and conducts the house in the very best manner.

GIVING CHRISTMAS PRESENTS TO WAR ORPHANS OF EUROPE.

"Inasmuch."

One of the saddest, most soul harrowing results of the awful war in Europe is the suffering and the privation that must fall upon the children and the widows of those brave soldiers who lose their lives in the war, or who are so wounded or maimed that they will be unable to provide for the needs of their dependent loved ones.

To meet in some degree the sorrow in these homes, the Christian Herald, of Chicago, Illinois, has suggested the sending by the children of America, of a ship loaded with Christmas gifts for the orphaned children. This will not only bring joy to the children themselves, but will also shed a ray of sunshine into the gloom that envelops the hearts of the widows. It is proposed that the plan shall be both national and international. Appeals will be made through the Sunday schools, and the seventeen millions of Sunday school scholars and teachers in the United States will be asked to co-operate.

President Wilson, Vice President Marshall, Secretary of State Bryan and other government officials have praised the plan. Ambassadors of the warring nations at Washington have assured the "Herald" officials that the boat laden with toys for the war orphans, which will sail under the Stars and Stripes and a white flag on which will be inscribed the word "Inasmuch" would be welcomed by their respective nations.

Vice President Marshall, commenting upon the Christmas ship project said: "This is one of the few times in my life I regret not having any children. If I had I should try to impress upon them that so great is the blessing of peace in America, so disastrous the war in Europe and so near kin the world that not only from their abundance if they had it, but from their dire necessity if they had not more, I should beg of them to take and give to their brothers and sisters across the seas. The idea of sending these gifts is an inspired one. Out of it, let us hope the God of Peace will soon supplant the God of War. I hope the 'Herald' will permit some of us to remember that men are but children of larger growth, and that our slight tokens of sympathy may go on board the same ship, to be bestowed regardless of creed or nationality."

The sending of such a ship on such a mission is one of the surest proofs of the neutrality of our nation, and of our desire to manifest the true spirit of helpfulness and brotherly love. It is a practical proof of our acceptance of the definition of true religion as given by James: "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this: To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world."—Christian Observer.

WHAT COLUMBUS MISSED.

When old Columbus reached these shores

In fourteen-ninety-two, he saw by scores of fierce Indian tribes he saw by scores And bears and wildcats too. But they were not a circumstance to what he'd have to face. He had arrived by any chance in this swift year of grace.

We thought he in spirit could come back and mingle in our life. He'd soon be hustled from the track and forced to quit the strife. For tougher things than savage bands And prowling beasts of prey.

Would make for him on every hand And scare his wits away.

The trolley cars would pick him up and the autos run him down, well-distracting noises would fill his cup and jostling crowds would frown; but fear would be ever at his throat, And terror stay his feet, For a dozen times they'd "get his goat" As he went through the street.

His privilege he'd quickly waive, We know beyond a doubt, And seek again his quiet grave, No more to venture out.

And if a record could be had Of thoughts within him hid, We're sure 'twould be, "Gee whiz, I'm glad I landed when I did."

ALLISON LIQUOR LAW RECEIVES A SEVERE JOLT

SHIPMENTS ALLOWED FOR LAWFUL PURPOSE.

Austin, Tex., Oct.—A blow of severity was dealt the Allison liquor law of the last legislature today by the court of criminal appeals, when that tribunal held that intoxicating liquor may be delivered into dry territory when it is shown that such liquor is not to be used for the violation of any laws in Texas. This important holding was in the case of ex parte Elmer Peede, from Kaufman county, whose case was today reversed and the relator discharged. Peede was agent of the Wells-Fargo Express Co., and was convicted of delivering four quarts of whiskey shipped from an interstate point to a Mr. Laird, which it was charged was in violation of the Allison liquor law. Before the liquor was delivered to Laird Peede required a sworn affidavit that the liquor was for his own use and not for the violation of the law and under these circumstances the court of criminal appeals held that it was not a violation of the law. The opinion written by Associate Justice Harper and concurred in by Justice Davidson, holds that under section five of the Allison liquor law it is only a violation of the act to make interstate shipments when such liquor is to be used or possessed in violation of the laws of this state and in the Peede case it was shown that the liquor was not to be used for that purpose. The effect of this decision is far reaching as it will permit the delivery of liquor into dry territory when it is proved that the liquor is not purchased for the purpose of violating the law. The court upholds the constitutionality of the law.

It Becomes Thick, Wavy, Lustrous And all Dandruff Disappears—Hair Stops Coming Out.

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanser" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre, and luxuriance.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair.

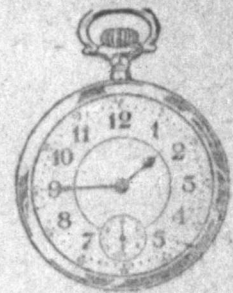

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots invigorates and strengthens them, its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.
