A WELL FOUNDED KICK.

Every canon of good sense and of sound business principles has supported the idea that the Radford spur track should be extended across West Second street, not more than 250 feet, in order that the track might serve three indispensable industries where it now serves only one private business occasionally and another regularly.

The reason this spur track has not been extended before now, is as nebulous as it is unsound. Laying within 200 feet of the dead end of this spur, are three of the most important industries that contribute to the support of the town—a cotton gin, an ice factory and a feed and coal yard, fuel for all which must be handled twice and hauled from the main siding of the railroad, while the dead end of a spur track is within a stone's toss of all of them.

Mr. Scott makes the statement that the extension of the track would save him at least $125 per month in drayage, not counting the loss of time and other business inconveniences. The ice factory is handicapped to such an extent by having no rail-glide loading facilities, that its development is confined to supplying the strictly local demand. The Watson Gin Company is similarly handicapped. It must haul every pound of fuel and material the plant consumes from the main sidings.

The above industries have made repeated representations to the proper railroad authorities, but so far, little encouragement is given them to hope that the railway company will ever do anything for their relief. They have offered to give the right of way and make the road bed ready for the rails, if the railroad company would only lay the track and maintain it.

If the request to do this greatly needed work requires to be in the nature of a public demand, the Record thinks there would be little trouble in getting up a largely signed petition to this end. The matter might then be competent pabulum for the attention of the State Railroad Commission. It required such leverage as this to materialize our fine passenger station.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

To the Master, Wardens and Members of Mitchell Lodge No. 563, A. F. & A. M.:

Your committee to draft resolutions of respect touching the death of our late brother, J. H. Huston, beg to submit the following:

Whereas, the Grim Messenger, Death, has again visited our lodge and summoned to the celestial lodge above, our beloved and diligent Brother, John H. Huston, and

Whereas, his faithful performance of every duty imposed upon him and his cheerful conformity to all the usages of the craft, marked him as a just and upright Mason. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That in the death of Brother Huston this lodge has lost a true exemplar of our order, the local craft a skilled and faithful workman, the community at large a useful citizen. Be it further

Resolved, That in token of the esteem in which he was held, and as a public expression of our sense of loss, these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this lodge, a copy sent the family and that they be published in The Colorado Record.

Respectfully submitted,

BRING ON YOUR WILLOW WOOD.

St. Louis, Dec. 19.—The manufacture of artificial legs for shipment to the European belligerents has been delayed by the scarcity of willow wood. Harry Dawson, a local manufacturer, said today that he could not get any more seasoned willow wood for several weeks and that for this reason he had delayed accepting a contract for 150 artificial legs a month.

Willow wood is seasoned by drying in the air for a year. Experiments

VILLA QUITS.

Famous Rebel Leader Will Either Come to the United States or Go to Europe.

El Paso, Dec. 18.—Gen Francisco Villa has given up as hopeless his campaign against the de facto government of Mexico according to authoritative advices from Chihuahua. The followers who still remain faithful to the man once all-powerful in north Mexico have been warned to "take care of themselves" and are said to be gathering from all directions.

Many, it is said, are preparing to make their peace with the Carranza government.

Villa, in addressing the council of war at which his determination to abandon his cause was made public, is said to have declared that he would no longer sacrifice men needlessly. He is said to have been urged to abandon the revolutionary movement by his staff and his advisors, and also by his wife.

Just what the plans of the insurgent leader are have not been made public, although he is said to have declared he would come to the United States were he permitted, if not permitted, go to Europe.

In fact, it is but five years since he roamed that same territory as a bandit, with a price on his head by General Porfirio Diaz. His real name is Doroteo Orango, and he was born in Las Nieves, Durango, in 1868. His parents were of the peon class of Chihuahua. His personality and traits of leadership were even then apparent for he soon attracted a number of desperate men, and changed his name to Villa and lived as a bandit by pillaging landowners. Many stories are told as to the reason why Villa became a bandit, the most circulated being to the effect that he was outlawed for the murder of an army officer who had wronged his sister.

When Francisco Madero took the field against Diaz, Villa voluntarily cast his lot with the Maderistas and performed such valiant service that Madero was forced to recognize the peon leader.

After the retirement of Diaz, Huerta as commander of the army under Madero, was sent to the north to put down the Orozco rebellion. He and Villa clashed and Villa was taken to Mexico City under arrest for insubordination. While in prison there he taught himself to read and write. Madero saved him from immediate execution and later he made his escape to the United States. When the north of Mexico rose against Huerta, Villa made his way across the Rio Grande into Mexico with two companions, six "borrowed" horses, seven dollars in money, and a small supply of corn and beans. Inside a year he was the head of a well organized force.

Los Angeles, Dec. 18.—The report from El Paso that Gen. Villa has decided to abandon further action against Gen. Carranza caused a stir today in the household of Mrs. Juana Villa, the young woman who arrived several months ago with a baby girl and said she was his wife. Members of the household profess to discredit the report. Andras Sierrias of Torreon, who has acted as an agent of Mrs. Villa, said that no word had been received for three weeks. At the time the chieftain said he was on his way to Chihuahua to renew his fight against the de facto government.

MITCHELL COUNTY TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The teachers institute for Mitchell county, beginning December 13th and continuing through the week, was without doubt the most successful and helpful from every view point in the history of the institution.

Every feature on the program was carried out with the evidence of thorough preparation. The address of the week was delivered by President Standefer, of Simmons College. He spoke to the institute twice on Wednesday; in the morning on "Pedagogical Margins" and in the afternoon on "Character," his latter talk being of much wider scope than his morning address, was heard by many citizens of the town.

An inter-scholastic league was organized with the following officers: President, J. T. Elliott, Lorraine; Vice-president, Claud Hooks, Westbrook; Secretary, Miss Florence McAfee, Colorado; Treasurer, W. C. Martin, Lorraine. The League will meet sometime in the spring at Colorado.

County Superintendent, J. H. Bullock, did the honors of host in his official capacity and won yet higher praise from everyone connected with the institute for his uniform urbanity and general helpfulness.

SARAH BEHNHARDT REPORTED DYING.

London, Dec. 21.—Sarah Bernhardt is reported to be dying, according to a dispatch from Paris to the Telegraph. Mme. Bernhardt has never fully recovered from the shock following the amputation of a leg last February. Reports of an improvement in her condition were invariably followed by others that her health was falling. On December 5, she became seriously ill, her physicians announcing that she was suffering from congestion of the lungs. Mme. Bernhardt is now 71 years old.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system. To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and rebuild your strength. Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

SECOND NOTE TO AUSTRIA IS SENT BY UNITED STATES.

Washington, Dec. 19.—The new American note to Austria-Hungary regarding the sinking of the Italian steamship Ancona, is understood to have been cabled to Ambassador Penfield for presentation to the Vienna foreign office.

Secretary Lansing and other officials of the State Department declined to divulge any information regarding the case. From other reliable sources came a strong intimation that the final draft of the note had been completed by Secretary Lansing during the day and had been put in code and started on its way over the cables.

A veil of secrecy has surrounded the communication ever since a White House messenger carried a preliminary draft from President Wilson to Secretary Lansing last night. However, it is known that the secretary spent considerable time last night and today at work developing the ideas the President had outlined. As completed the note is believed to have been considerably more lengthy than the first. Unless there are unforeseen developments, the note should be delivered in Vienna by Wednesday night. It will be made public when Secretary Lansing is advised that it has reached the Austro-Hungarian foreign office.

DON'T GAMBLE ON COTTON.

The South fed herself in 1915 and as a consequence produced a small cotton crop which sold at satisfactory prices. A big crop the year before sold at poor prices, and without feed or food, put Texas in the hole. We had the same war in 1914 as in 1915, and we are likely to have it for a year longer. The difference in results is the difference between food-feed-cotton farming and all-cotton farming.

The man who relies upon all-cotton farming in 1916 is speculating on weather, boll weevil and war. That's a desperate chance. The man who relies upon food and feed crops for his sustenance and makes cotton his surplus will have something for paying debts, or for accumulation, whether cotton sells for 15 cents or 5 cents.

The cotton crop of 1915 was fully five million bales less than the crop of 1914, and it proved to be all that the world would buy at profitable prices. If the war continues there will not be demand for any more cotton than was produced in 1915, even if the war ends, the exhaustion of Europe will be so complete that the spinning industry will not become normal for many months.

Food-feed-cotton farming is safe farming.

All-cotton farming is a gamble.

Don't gamble.

HOW FAR NORTH WILL THE BOLL-WEEVIL DO SERIOUS DAMAGE?

With the boll weevil making an unusual eastward advance in Alabama and Georgia and a very considerable northward movement from Oklahoma eastward to north Alabama, many cotton growers are asking as to the probable effect of the weevil in the northern half of the cotton belt.

Of course, in attempting to answer this question, the only safe guide must be the experiences of similar sections to the westward that have already had the weevil for a number of years. While it cannot be unqualifiedly asserted that two counties possessing identical climatic, soil and labor conditions will be affected by the weevil in like degree it certainly can be asserted that such will probably be the case. Granting that this is a reasonable supposition, let us see what has been the experience of the western part of the northern half of the cotton belt under weevil conditions.

A very careful investigation of the ginning reports issued by the United States Census Bureau shows that nowhere north of parallel 33 1-2 north latitude (a line running east and west approximately through Atlanta, Ga., Birmingham, Ala., and Paris, Texas) has any county suffered because of the weevil a greater decrease in cotton production than occurred during adverse seasons before the weevil came. If this has been the case in the humid, timbered areas of Arkansas and north Mississippi, it certainly seems reasonable to expect about the same results from the weevil in all newly invaded sections north of parallel 33 1-2.

It must not be inferred from this that the weevil will do no damage in the territory under consideration; for, in all likelihood, the weevil will eventually go as far north as cotton is grown and will, particularly during wet seasons following very mild winters, affect the crop very considerably. However, on an average this damage will be far less serious than in the extreme southern part of the cotton belt. In fact if we assume that the weevil is "100 per cent efficient" in destructiveness along the Gulf Coast, this "efficiency in destructiveness" gradually and regularly decreases to the northward until the extreme limits of cotton production are reached in Kansas, Missouri, and Kentucky, where it is very close to zero.

It must be understood that what has been said here does not apply to a strip from 75 to 100 miles along the Atlantic seaboard, for here the influence of the nearby ocean radically modifies the climate, making it probable that the weevil will be more serious than might be expected were this influence absent.—Progressive Farmer.

OUR BROTHER'S KEEPER.

(Bisbee Review.)

In El Paso, Texas, a man lay ill in the last stages of tuberculosis. His wife, who had been doing washing all day, had gone to town to earn a bit more for her family by washing dishes in a restaurant. The two little boys, one 4, one 3, had said goodnight to their father and tumbled into their bed across the room in the little cabin.

The father fell asleep and was awakened by smoke. The roof had caught fire from the chimney. He tried to call the children but the fumes stifled his weakened voice. He had not been able to move more than his hand for days, but somehow he managed, inch by inch, to drag himself off the bed and to take a step or two toward the children before he fell unconscious. The children burned to death. The father is in a serious condition. The mother is on the verge of a mental collapse.

When one studies a case like this with a view to preventing future accidents of similar type, one is lead in many directions.

Why did the roof catch fire? Because the cabin was so flimsily built as to be unfit for human habitation, but the community was careless enough to let humans inhabit it.

Why was the mother away? Because the family needed her small earnings badly, and the community was careless enough to allow her to go out at night on one job after a day spent at another one.

Why couldn't she earn enough at one job to keep the family comfortable? Because she had not been educated by the community into any sort of skill. Her labor was rough and untrained and worth but little.

Why couldn't the father support the family? Because he was dying of the white plague. The whole country is careless enough to let people contract and die of tuberculosis, a perfectly preventable disease.

This kind of thing happens right along every day everywhere. Often the circumstances are not quite so ghastly, but they are bad enough. Fires and disease and unskilled labor and malnutrition and bad housing are all preventable. Each person thinks it's the fault of some one else.

And Cain said to Jehovah: "I am not my brother's keeper."

THAT KNIFE-LIKE PAIN.

Is Only One of Nature's Warnings of Weak or Disordered Kidneys.

Have you a lame back, aching day and night? Do you feel sharp pains after stooping? Are the kidneys sore? Is their action irregular? Use Doan's Kidney Pills—the medicine recommended by so many Colorado people. Read this case:

Mrs. Eual Elms, Oak street, Colorado, says: "I suffered with my kidneys nearly all my life. My back was in terrible shape at one time. It was weak and lame and there was a dull, constant ache through it. Often I had sharp, shooting pains that felt like a knife cutting me. If I sat down for any length of time, could hardly get up and I found it impossible to lift the lightest weight. The kidney secretions hardly passed at all and my hands and feet swelled. There were puffy sacs under my eyes and I had fierce headaches. Doctors' medicine and all other remedies did not do me any good and I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills. One box cured me and for the last year or more I have been free from all of these ills."

SMITH URGES TAX ON WAR MUNITIONS.

Washington, Dec. 17.—The Department of Commerce has been called upon by Representative W. R. Smith, of Texas, for information as to the amount of war munitions being manufactured in the United States and the amount exported. Mr. Smith believes that war munitions ought to be taxed on the basis of production, and after looking over the court decisions has reached the opinion that a tax on the production, even though the production is exported, is not an export tax within the meaning of the Federal Constitution. Senator Gore of Oklahoma has asked the Treasury Department to classify the munitions, with a view of working it into a tax to help meet the deficit and to provide additional revenue.

The Administration has let it be known it did not want munitions included in the tax schedule that is to be worked out by Congress this winter. One of the reasons advanced by the leaders is that the United States is a large purchaser of war munitions and probably will be a larger purchaser in the future, and that any tax that is laid against that class of commerce would be a tax against the government itself. Those who are favoring taxing the munition output contend that the portion the government would be required to pay is small compared with that which the foreign countries would pay under the assumption that the manufacturers would add the amount of the tax to the invoice.

Considerable sentiment is gathering for the United States to manufacture its own munitions of war and several bills are now before Congress looking to this being done. A number of resolutions also have been offered asking information upon the industry from the standpoint of governmental purchase, the view being to determine whether it is feasible for the government to enter the field. Those who are asking a thorough investigation say that unless it was clearly feasible for the government to become a manufacturer for its own benefit, the scheme should not be attempted. Munition manufacturers are said to be behind the resolutions for investigations. That they have profited by reason of the war more in proportion to the capital invested or effort given is said to be without question from the amount in dividends declared since the European war began.

"Imports into the United States from abroad have been so materially curtailed that our revenues from imports are greatly reduced," said Representative Smith in a recent statement. "To meet the deficit various schemes of taxation have been suggested, to nearly all of which more or less objection has been urged. I can not think of a more just and equitable tax in the situation than a tax on the manufacture of arms, munitions and other materials, because the war has brought unprecedented prosperity to those engaged in the industry. The cause for the deficit in revenue is the cause for their prosperity. Then why not require these manufacturers to make good this deficit at least in a large part. Such a tax would be constitutional and no doubt produce a large amount of revenue."

FAMILY IS MURDERED AND BURNED.

Yorktown, Dec. 20.—One of the most fiendish crimes in the history of Dewitt county came to light here this morning when it was discovered that the entire family of John Moye, consisting of himself, his wife and four children, had been murdered and their home burned.

Moye, who was a polish farmer, lived about five miles from Yorktown, about half way to Nordheim, and his family consisted of his wife, who was an American, and four children—three boys and a girl, and all, apparently, were murdered while they slept and the home burned to conceal evidence of the crime.

An early morning passerby noticed the smoking ruins and supposed that the house had been burned during the night, but a call on the neighbors developed that the Moyes had not been rescued and for evidence the bodies showed that the family had been murdered before the house was fired.

Officers here, at Nordheim and Cuero, were notified and hurried to the scene and one by one the charred bodies of the victims were dug out of the ruins. Although badly burned and charred absolutely beyond recognition, it was found that their skulls had been crushed in, apparently with some blunt instrument.

Moye, about 40 years old, his wife and baby girl, about 2 years old, were on the ruins of an iron bed. On the framework of another bed in the same room the bodies of a boy and girl were found. On the ruins of a bed which was in another room was found the body of another child.

Bloodhounds were brought to the scene but there had been considerable passing by the excited visitors and they were of little use, though they followed several trails away from the scene. Officers think that a definite clew may be found very shortly.

She has just arrived. Bring along a straight-jacket and a ton of ice." Five boys and one girl is a fairly promising start for a young man like Bro. Porter. However, congratulations on the fruition of long deferred hopes.

SOME FINE POULTRY.

A. C. Gist, living out on the Snyder route, believes in the principle of "the whole hog or none." He is satisfied only with the best. And being quite a poultry fancier as well as looking to the more commercial aspects of the industry, is always injecting new and better blood into his flocks. He received on Tuesday morning five pairs of pullets and cockrels from the famous and prize-taking strain of Airhart's single comb Rhode Island Reds, for which he paid the price of ten real iron men per pair. Already breeding the thoroughbred Rhode Island Reds on his place, he purposes to produce still better birds by admixture with the Airhart strain.

There is a move afoot to have another exhibit of poultry of county-wide scope some time in February in Colorado, and Mr. Gist gives it out cold and flat, that he will be in the running with some classy birds. Nor is he alone in this emulation as to who can best raise chickens. There's G. W. Hooks, out Cuthbert way, who has some front rank poultry himself, and others and yet others there are in Mitchell county who have seen that this, one of the most important and profitable industries in the United States, has been woefully neglected in West Texas and the entire state, entailing a loss, estimated on the basis of the amount of money sent out of the state for chicken and egg products, of something like $40,000,000. And that's some spending money, neighbors. Citizens like A. G. Gist, G. W. Hooks and many other good women of Mitchell county have realized that now is the time for all good chicken raisers to come to the aid of the country.

MODERN WOODMEN OF AMERICA ELECT OFFICERS.

On Thursday night of last week the local lodge of Modern Woodmen of America was constituted and officers duly elected, but the Record had gone to press before the meeting adjourned. The organization is known as Colorado Camp No. 13768, and following is the roster of officers elected:

Consul, C. A. Harlow; Adviser, W. C. Simms; Banker, J. A. Free; Clerk, E. F. Ford; Escort, C. Rose; Watchman, O. O. Shurtliff; Sentinel, W. C. Bush; Physician, C. L. Root; Managers, Jim Plaster, G. W. Webb, and J. T. Hardy.

The organization starts out with much enthusiasm and bright prospects of growth. District Deputy, L. C. McNatt has done much good work for the order in the community and is pleased with the outlook for this lodge.

DUGAN'S COMEDIANS.

This excellent company played a three-nights engagement at the Opera House—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. On Monday night "Plain Molley" was well received by a fairly good audience. While of course Miss Granger in the title role and Mr. Dugan as lead, were the best played parts, their support was excellent and the play enjoyed throughout. The specialties between acts were all new, clean and entertaining. Mr. Dugan as a violinist deserves special mention, as he was encored time and again, and was specially requested by a large number to play each night. On Tuesday night "Peg 'O My Heart," with Miss Granger as Peg, was enthusiastically received by a packed house. Wednesday night "Bought and Paid For" was equally well received. The band concerts were splendid and the orchestra selections were well rendered and highly appreciated.

This company will play a return engagement, being here December 30, 31 and January 1. Those who have not attended the plays of this week should see them next week. See their announcement on first page.

LAND FOR SALE.

I have 60 acres good sandy land, well improved, half way between Lorraine and Colorado, will sell for $25.00 per acre if sold by January 1st.

12-31-c HUBERT TOLER, Lorraine, Texas.

STORES CLOSED SATURDAY.

Saturday being Christmas Day and a national holiday, all business houses will be closed throughout the day. Do your purchasing of things needed for the day's dining on Friday. If not inspired to do this from a sentimental motive, be considerate of those who serve you in a business way. They will enjoy the holiday as much as will you; therefore order your service accordingly.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

My gates were opened and stock taken out of the pastures. One black 4-year-old mule, braded T U on left shoulder; one sorrel mare, branded U T on left jaw. Also one big red sow. Last seen in the pasture about December 9. Will appreciate any information and give warning to all trespassers. MRS. W. K. LEWIS.

DISTRICT COURT.

The regular December term of the District Court met on Monday of this week with Judge Beal on the bench. District Attorney, W. P. Leslie at the prosecuting bar, Walter Carter, court reporter, and Earl Jackson, clerk.

The grand jury was empaneled, sworn in and given an oral charge. The jury is as follows: Ed Dupree, J. W. Phillips, Z. T. Lasseter, E. H. Hamilton, W. R. Morris, D. C. McRea, S. D. Vaughan, A. D. Powell, A. E. Maddin, Tom Scown, S. H. Hart, N. T. Womack. The jury retired and selected Ed Dupree as foreman and have been behind closed doors all the week having made no report.

The court took up the civil non jury docket and has disposed of practically all the cases. The court adjourned until after the holidays.

HOW TO COMBAT THE GREEN BUG ENEMY.

College Station, Texas, Dec. 20.—Here are some suggestions from F. B. Paddock, State entomologist at the experiment station, A. & M. College, as to how farmers may combat the green bug or grain aphid. Watch your fields carefully and if insects of any kind are observed send specimens to the office of the State Entomologist, College Station, for information as to whether they are green bugs or not. If your fields are infested the wheat plants will change to red or yellow color.

Infested areas should be plowed under and rolled or, if straw is available, spread this over the ground and burn it. Mr. Paddock has received authentic information concerning outbreaks in a number of sections in North Texas.

The Quinine That Does Not Affect The Head

Because of its tonic and laxative effect, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE is better than ordinary Quinine and does not cause nervousness nor ringing in the head. Remember the full name and look for the signature of E. W. GROVE, 25c.

THE REFLECTIONS OF A MARRIED WOMAN—are not pleasant if she is delicate, run-down, or over worked. She feels "played out." Her smile and her good spirits have taken flight. It worries her husband as well as herself.

This is the time to build up her strength and cure those weaknesses or ailments which are the seat of her trouble. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription regulates and promotes all the proper functions of womanhood, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, melancholy and nervousness, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and strength. It cures those disorders and derangements incident to womanhood.

Mrs. LUCYDIA ARMSTRONG, 3512 Dallas Avenue, Dallas, Texas, says: "My mother used Dr. Pierce's medicine over thirty years ago and cured her of all her ailments. I have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription during my married life and found this remedy was all that was needed."

See Doss for Christmas books.

Our friend "Smokey" Beal says that old Santa Claus rather overdid his generosity this time. A new place of business, a big slice of the general prosperity, and a blushing ten-pound girl Wednesday night, all coming at the same time, calls for a degree of thankfulness, up to which mark he feels a trifle short of fittin'.

Don't overlook the Pathe service to be inaugurated at the Opera House Monday night, December 27. "Who Pays?" will be the attraction, a four-reel feature of unusual merit.

Mrs. A. E. Campbell was called to Oklahoma Wednesday night on account of the serious illness of her sister.

Mrs. J. L. Shepherd leaves Sunday to visit relatives in Beaumont and Huntsville.

Miss Fannie Farmer, teacher at Roscoe, came in Wednesday evening for the holidays.

ROBERT WARWICK IN "THE FACE IN THE MOONLIGHT."
A French aristocrat loves Jeanne Malloche, a peasant girl, but is compelled to marry his cousin, Alice de Fontenelles. Jeanne dies soon afterward, leaving a son, who is kidnaped and raised by a band of ruffians. Alice's son, receiving every advantage, is raised as an aristocrat.

Twenty years later, Victor, the young aristocrat, becomes a captain in the King's army. His half brother, Rabat, has degenerated into a criminal. Strangely enough they look exactly alike, though Rabat is ignorant of Victor's existence.

Victor is engaged to the niece of Munier, who becomes associated with the Napoleonic conspiracy. Munier becomes associated with Rabat.

Being unaware of the existence of Rabat, Lucile believes her lover guilty of a murder which she sees Rabat commit at a meeting place appointed by Victor. Rabat's face in the moonlight almost causes Lucile to abandon all faith in Victor.

Victor is arrested for the murder. Lucile learns the truth and forces her uncle to intercede. This stays Victor's execution, but he is charged as a political prisoner, and ordered shot.

Victor's release has caused the arrest of Rabat for the murder. He is to be beheaded. Both Rabat and Victor's execution are scheduled for the same day.

Lucile, knowing of her uncle's part in the actual murder, forces him to intercede with Napoleon, thus saving the life of Victor. Rabat meets his fate. Munier escapes from the country. Victor and Lucile are happily married. Shadowland Saturday, Dec. 25th.

NAVY "EQUAL TO MOST POWERFUL" FAVORED.

Washington, Dec. 21.—The American Navy should be "equal to the most powerful maintained by any other nation of the world," not later than 1925, in the opinion of the Navy General Board headed by Admiral Dewey.

The annual report of the board, made public tonight, discloses that this naval policy was formulated by the body in July last in answer to the following proposition propounded by Secretary Daniels when the Administration reached its decision to enter upon a campaign of national preparedness:

"What the navy must be in the future in order to stand upon an equality with the most efficient and most practically serviceable."

To Get Rid of the 'Poisonous Gases and Fermenting Food.'

A good long fast will do this sometimes. A trip to the mountains. Tramping. Roughing it. Yes, very good remedies. But are you going to avail yourself of either one of these remedies. No? Then the next best thing is to try a bottle of Peruna. Take it according to directions. You will have a natural appetite. All gas and fermentation in the stomach will disappear.

Read what Mrs. Emma Bell, Box 204, Fort Pierce, Florida, says: "I was taken suddenly with swelling of the stomach and bowels, and great distress. Very painful. Three doctors gave me no relief. Could not eat anything. Everything soured. I was starving to death. I began taking Peruna and was soon strong enough to do work. After taking five bottles I can truthfully say I am well. I gained twenty pounds."

Pat Bullock, of Iatan, was a business visitor here Tuesday. Miss Hattie Petty is a victim of la-grippe this week. Messrs. J. W. Bird and A. Petty attended the funeral of Mr. Huston in Colorado Sunday. Pauline Felker is quite sick this week. Mrs. Smart and Miss Zinnia were visitors to Colorado last Saturday. Miss Marie Cope visited Miss Hattie Conaway, of Colorado, several days last week. Willie Brooks is on the sick list this week. Miss Thelma Hudson is home for the holidays. The Baptist ladies are packing a box for Buckner Orphans Home. The church and Sunday school made a cash offering of about $55 for the home last Sunday. Miss Roxie Harding, of Vincent, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Green, this week. Mr. P. P. Armstrong is sick this week. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Shelton will spend the holidays in Arkansas. Karin and Wendell are visiting their grandmother in East Texas. School was dismissed Wednesday until December 30. There will be a Christmas tree at the Baptist church. Everyone is invited to attend and help make the tree a success. PURITAN.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO YOU

THANKS most heartily to my friends, customers, for your liberal patronage during the year just closing. This, indeed, has been one of our most satisfactory and successful of all previous years. For all of this I heartily thank you, one and all, and wish for you a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

MEETING TO PROMOTE FEED CROP ACREAGE.

The State of Texas as a whole has profited enormously from the results of this year's crop, our cotton being made with less expense than ever before; and, in view of the decrease in acreage in the whole State, we therefore by producing a smaller crop, we have turned the price of cotton from six and eight cents to the neighborhood of twelve cents. Without question, a large number of our farmers have learned the value of diversification, but the great danger is from the present high price of cotton inducing a large number of bankers to finance and our farmers to put their land more largely into cotton than they have this year. On every hand, particularly in West Texas, we see new land being put into cultivation for the apparent purpose of raising those crops that have produced a good profit this year.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AND MANUFACTURERS ASSN.

We are calling a meeting of the business men and bankers throughout the State to meet with us at the Dallas Chamber of Commerce & Manufacturers Association Building on Wednesday morning, the 29th inst., at 10 o'clock, for the purpose of organizing a campaign to bring about safe and sane farming for 1916. Yours truly, LOUIS LIPSITZ, Pres. WM. G. BREG, Chm. Agricultural Com. Ice cream sets, tea sets, toilet sets and serving sets, in silverware, at Johnson's. And the prices will surprise you. Gift books of all kinds at Doss'.

BROOKS SQUARELY IN RACE FOR SENATE.

Dr. S. P. Brooks has resigned the presidency of Baylor University a position which he has held for the last fourteen years. It is understood that he has done this in order to push his campaign for the senate. Dr. Brooks is not only one of the leading educators of the nation but is an orator and student of great ability and the people of Texas are going to know that he is very much in the running before the end of his campaign. He may prove a winner such as Woodrow Wilson.—Sweetwater Reporter. No. 326. The last auto number registered at the clerk's office is 326 in the name of Dr. W. H. Henthorne.

Why I Believe in Poverty" is the best pink tea enunciation in book form of Son-in-Law, Edward Bok, editor of the Ladies Home Journal and business partner in the Curtis Publishing Company. Why Eddie believes in poverty is as great a riddle as that put forth by Samson to the Philistines, and it needs a "Samson's heifer" also to solve it.

Dr. S. P. Brooks is now fully committed to the senatorial race. He will be a new element in the politics of Texas. He has no masters to serve, no henchmen to pay. The Record hopes he may prove such another surprise to the machine as did Woodrow Wilson—another school master. Dr. Brooks is a clean man and stands for clear-cut and specific things.

Tuesday, the 21st was the shortest day of the year, but the Record force did more work than on the 21st and 22nd of June, the two longest. You see, its getting Christmas time, and the oldest of us are but little boys just before Christmas."

JURIES, SEX AND JUSTICE.

Before a jury of twelve men at Wetaskwin, a small wheat town in Alberta, there appeared a woman charged with murder. She had killed her husband's mistress. This mistress had been living under the same roof in the lawful wife's home until the outraged wife ended the intolerable situation.

The jury found the wife guilty of murder and the judge sentenced her to be hanged by the neck. There is no record of any punishment inflicted upon the husband.

Almost at the same time a jury in Cranbrook, Alberta, passed upon a similar case. Returning from work, a mechanic found his house disordered by a rival and shot the intruder dead before his unfaithful wife's eyes.

The jury of twelve men acquitted the defendant. The judge endorsed the acquittal; he expressed the hope that the dead man's fate would help to protect the sanctity of the Canadian home. In the light of these decisions suffrage takes on new meaning. Apparently militant suffragettes are sadly needed to preach the fundamental truth concerning equal rights to both sexes in Canada.—Sunset Magazine.

The man who doesn't own an auto these days, is either so rich he has a contempt for such cheap transportation or is the possessor of a flying machine instead. The latest to disqualify for either class, is C. H. Morgan the expert linotype operator of the Record. He now cranks up, backs and fills, hits mother earth only on her protruberances and can reel off technicalities relating to differentials, transmission, vacuum feed, carbureters, magnetos, et cetera, with the gibberness of the most venerable auto liar. Its a regular bug when one gets it.

THE ONE GREATEST BOOK.

One of the most refreshing, consoling and long remembered customs in a family, is the daily reading aloud of a portion of God's word. "There is no one home memory that clings more steadfastly to a wayward child, nor one that exerts a more impelling influence toward reformation, than his recollection of the sacrifices before the home altar by a venerable father or devout mother. Corollary to this influence are the sparkling gems of Holy Writ that recur to his mind in every condition of life. When he hears a passage quoted by a stranger that he first heard read aloud in his home, he feels that he has met an old friend—a friend of his friend—a freemasonry of sympathy is at once established. A knowledge of the bible, aside from the spiritual power, leads out to the very broadest culture and accurate conception of the truth of things. Its philosophy is applicable to every condition and emergency of life; its consolation equal to every sorrow and every disappointment; it lays bare the frailties of human nature with a merciless scalpel; it convicts the wrongdoer by his own testimony and justifies the righteous by his own acts.

Longfellow once wrote: "see some good picture—in nature, if not on canvas—hear some good song or piece of music or read a fine poem every day, and at the end of the year your mind will shine with an accumulation of jewels as will astonish even yourself." And where can one find greater pictures than with which the bible abounds? Where, grander or loftier poems than the Hebrew Parallels afford? Where stately music than throbbed from David's humble harp—crude was the instrument, but a master smote its strings. More truly be it said of the bible as was said of the works of Shakespeare, "it is an intellectual ocean toward which all rivers of thought ran, and from which today the continents and isles of thought, receive their rain and dew. In it was garnered the fruit of all thought past, and the seeds of all thought to be."

THE TRUTH AT LAST.

Again is wisdom justified by her children's habits. Our personal taste for genuine old limburger cheese has been held a vice by protesting friends, but we have all along known that the earnest and persistent microbe, bacillus limburgeritis, was a deadly foe to all other germs of whatever name, pedigree or previous condition of quietude, and here's our vindication: "Monroe, Wis., Dec. 17.—Physicians of Green county, which had the lowest death rate in the state last summer, attributed the healthy condition of the community to the eating of limburger cheese. Last year 3,040,564 pounds of this cheese was produced in the county and as a staple of food it largely displaced meat. The quarterly report of the State Board of Health, just issued, gave Green county a death rate of 7.2 per thousand, compared with 9.2 for the state at large."

We have long known of its virtues, conducting especially to great longevity. The assumption is not controverted by history, that Enoch, his young son, Methuselah, Seth, Noah and other sprigs, who rode a stick horse and pranced around in the tail of a goatskin shirt at the age of 250 years, were all and severally addicted to the regular diet of limburger cheese, though mayhap under a different label.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

O. E. S. Adopt Resolutions on the Demise of Mr. Samuel Gustine.

Whereas it has pleased our Heavenly Father in His wise providence to remove from our midst our beloved Brother, Samuel Gustine, and

Whereas, Brother Gustine was a zealous member of our chapter, foremost in every good work of the order. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That in the death of Brother Gustine this chapter has lost one of its most devoted and faithful members, and that we extend to his bereaved wife and relatives our deepest sympathy and condolence in the loss of a devoted husband and relative, assuring them that in this life he lived so as to make us know that he had seen the Light in the East and we feel assured that he is now basking in the sunlight of His presence. Be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our minutes and a copy of same be furnished his wife. Fraternally submitted,

MORE MOVING.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hutcheson moved in their new home this week. Mr. Jack Smith has bought the house they vacated and is moving in this week.

JOURNALISM AS SHE'S TAUGHT.

Two of the blinding lights of Texas journalism have recently been delivered of utterance by the midwife of Public Speech, which are alleged to be guideposts to the rising generation of newspaper-makers. In an address before the students in the school of Journalism of the University of Texas, one of the "leading journalists of Texas" said: "A journalist must give his readers what they want. The greatest newspaper man in the country became great because he has written what the people wanted." And yet, in the very teeth of the above presumption, we have read in the paper this speaker edits, the assertion that the chief end of a newspaper was the education and direction of its clientele. By the standard laid down in his address to the students of the State University, the chief aim of a newspaper is to become a mere bander. Quite probably, his assestrophe to the "greatest newspaper man in the country" referred to Joseph Pulitzer or William Randolph Hearst, both shining exponents of his cult.

Pulitzer came to this country from Hungary when a young man and in order to avoid the possibility of being deported as an undesirable alien, jumped overboard and swam to shore at night to avoid the immigration officers. He found work in a restaurant in Cincinnati, where he discovered that seven customers in ten ordered "ham and—" regardless of the offerings on the menu card. When he broke into the newspaper business at St. Louis he announced that he would run it on a "ham-and" basis—give his readers what they wanted. He paid for his financial success with his health, eyesight and happiness.

On the same ship with Pulitzer there came another poor immigrant boy from Hungary. He did everything openly and conscientiously. He also got into the newspaper business and gave his readers what they NEEDED instead of what they wanted. He relieved the famine in India more than once by sending a ship load of food and being the almoner of the whole Christian body of America. He was the friend of the poor and oppressed everywhere. He accumulated a large fortune in spite of his charities, and his passed word in financial deals was accepted as another's bond. When he died a few days ago every newsboy within the radius of Dr. Scharff's influence attended his funeral and brought a modest floral offering.

Pulitzer gave his readers what they wanted without any effort to better them, while Dr. Scharff gave them what they needed and probably didn't want. One descended to the level of those to whom he pandered; the other pulled his readers up to his own plane. The vital difference was Character. And a newspaper that does not build for itself a character is as poor as a man without one.

The scintillation from the other blinding editorial sun—Hon. Lee J. Rountree, President of the National Editorial Ass., is a philippic against Hiram Maxim and other gun makers. Hear the Hon. Lee J. fulminate: "The road to hell is strewn with the bones of such greedy, avaricious men." We hope the Hon. Lee J. attaches as little seriousness to the above declaration as most of us do who know him. He may have acquaintance only with that road to hell which is paved with the bones of greed and avarice and flanked with gun powder and Maxim guns; but discloses the narrowness of his experience in presuming that is the only highway to Gehenna. If the Hon. Lee J. will apply to this office, he can learn of divers paths that take a strange hold on hell that are paved with nothing rougher than good intentions and flanked with hours and primrose dalliance. We prefer to think that instead of speaking from first-hand excursion knowledge, the Hon. Lee J. was merely giving one of his orotund and mouth-filling periods its last impromptu rehearsal.

But seriously now—if the above extracts are an earnest of the standards being taught in the State's school of journalism, the funds of the people are being devoted to base uses, indeed.

PILING OSSA ON PELLION.

Whatever opinion one may have of President Wilson's ideas of statecraft, one cannot help having some sympathy for the man on account of the epithets thrown at him. The standpatters call him coward; the German sympathizers, hypocrite; the militarists, molly-coddie; the pacifists, militarist; and so on through the dictionary. It has remained, however, for Mr. Roosevelt, at the close of one of his characteristic diatribes, to cap the climax by calling him a Byzantine logothete. Waving consideration of the fact that this was a terminological inexactitude, it still raises the question, is Mr. Roosevelt trying to annihilate an opponent with a word, or is he merely booming the sale of dictionaries?—The Public.

"TELL IT NOT IN GATH."

The spectacle of a pretendedly reformed man continually exploiting his former degradation either on the platform, in type or from the pulpit, in mistaken efforts to warn others and effect their reformation, is not only disgusting to those of like experience, but defeats the very end for which the recital is made. Such people seem to revel in their former sin more than exult in their latter decency. With repetition they soon sanctify their cussedness and degeneracy which becomes finally their chief stock in trade. Alleged ministers of the gospel of the Billy Sunday type; reformed drunkards, dope fiends, gamblers and what not, who go over the country preying like vermin upon the morbid credulity of that class of people who haven't the strength of character to commit an overt sin, teach such weaklings more of depravity by their reformatory efforts than the latter ever dreamed existed.

The policy of the Salvation Army is to prevent this sanctification of the filth of the slough. When a man is genuinely regenerated, his present decency is not established by acclaiming his past sinfulness. If Lizzie leaves a life of crime and pursues an honest and clean course, she is not allowed to dangle the hideous skeleton of her past before the eyes of those the Army is trying to also rescue. Her present acts must justify her profession. The recital by a minister of the gospel of his early sinful experiences, affords to the very people he tries to reach, an excuse for procrastination. If God is willing to wipe out the responsibility for the past and impute to the regenerate sinner a saving portion of His righteousness; if the associates of the redeemed man are willing to forget his shameful past, we submit that a decent appreciation of these unmerited favors should keep him from bragging about them.

Have you bought that poll tax receipt as yet? It is better to get it now, while you are doing your Christmas shopping. For a little while after the holidays you will feel too poor to invest in anything. While that rich feeling is with you provide yourself with that which will give you no end of pleasure next spring and summer when the weather and the political campaign begin to warm up simultaneously.—Fort Worth Stock Reporter.

"Lean upon me," says the "Sick Man of the East" to his German ally. "I have abundant cotton, food and the wherewithal to supply all your material needs." A broken stick, indeed.

Let us frame your picture in a neat and up-to-date manner. H. L. Hutchinson & Co.

THE COBBLER'S GUEST.

While the cobbler mused there passed his pane
A beggar drenched by the driving rain.
He called him in from the stormy street
And gave his shoes for his bruised feet.
The beggar went and there came a crouf,
Her face with wrinkles of sorrow sown,
A bundle of fagots bowed her back,
And she was spent with the wrench and rack.
He gave her his loaf and steadied her load
As she took her way on the weary road.
Then to his door came a little child,
Lost and afraid in the world, so wild,
In the big, dark world, catching it up,
He gave her the milk in the waiting cup.
And led it home to its mother's arms,
Out of reach of the world's alarms.
The day went down in the crimson west,
And with it the hope of the blessed Guest.
And Conrad sighed as the world turned gray;
"Why is it, Lord, that Your feet delay?
Did you forget that this was the day?"
Then soft in the silence a Voice he heard;
"Life up your heart, for I kept My word.
Three times I came to your friendly door;
Three times my shadow was on your floor.
I was the beggar with bruised feet;
I was the woman you gave to eat;
I was the child on the homeless street."

THE CLUBS.

Hesperian.

Honoring the Hesperians, whose guests they had often been, Mrs. S. D. Vaughan and Mrs. L. E. Lasseter were their hostesses at Mrs. Lasseter's last Friday afternoon. Mrs. M. K. Jackson was leader and the regular club program was carried out, which was the conclusion of Browning's Pippa Passes, Night, followed by the questions and discussions on it. Christmas carols were read by Mrs. Merritt, Mrs. Ratliff and Miss Jo Dry, then, at the request of Mrs. Vaughan, all gathered around the piano and sang carols, followed by a selection by Mrs. Oscar Majors. An interesting contest on the suitable material for the dresses of the wives of the different men of different callings was enjoyed. Mrs. Barcroft displayed the greatest knowledge of such matters and was given the prize, a paper bag not to be opened until she reached home. All were then invited to form a line and march into the dining room at a given signal. When the doors were thrown open a lovely Christmas picture was displayed. The whole house had been decorated with wreaths and Christmas bells, but this was the climax, with the mistletoe and cedar with a beautifully decorated Christmas tree in the rear. After all were in Mrs. Dorothy, in a few pretty words, gave everybody a Christmas greeting and announced that everybody would receive a present from the tree. They were then called out and distributed by the little daughters, Dorothy and Marie. They were wee little dolls and a stick of candy, and brought back childhood memories. A delicious salad course with cake and coffee was then served by the hostess.
Besides the members the guests were Mesdames Oscar Majors, Judd, H. L. Hutchenson, D. N. Arnett, J. W. Shepperd, A. L. Whipkey and Miss Ruth Oliver.
At the business session the club sent five dollars to the state president for the Belgium relief fund and decided to play Santa Claus to all in need or distress they knew of in a substantial way.
The committee on Christmas seals reported a good sale. This all goes for the State Tubercular Sanitarium at Carlsbad.
Standard.
Mrs. Looney was hostess for the Standard. The lesson was:
Roll Call—Quotations from Australian writers.
Australian History, Chapters 22, 23, 24.—Mrs. Smoot.

Paper—Country and Climate of Australia—Mrs. Burns.
Paper—The Future of Australia—Mrs. Gary.

Social hour. Refreshments and adjournment until after the Christmas holidays.

Bay View.

The Bay View had a pleasant meeting with Mrs. J. L. Shepherd, with Mrs. D. H. Snyder as leader. The program was:
Roll Call—Quotations from Shakespeare.
The entire study hour was given to Cymbaline, which was completed.
Miss Borev was a guest at the social hour. Refreshments of hot coffee and a salad course were served. This is the last meeting until January.

A SURPRISE WEDDING.

Last Thursday Mr. Buchel Lovejoy and Miss Ruth Richards were married at the bride's home in the Shepherd community.
This was a surprise to even the nearest friends of the couple. The groom came in for Rev. W. L. Williamson and a few gentlemen friends accompanied them to the home where the ceremony was performed. The happy pair had their first meeting when in school together at Tyler a few years ago and later met in Abilene and just a short while ago Miss Richards moved to this community and Cupid finished his work.
Mr. and Mrs. Lovejoy will be in Colorado a short time and will then make their home in Lubbock.

MISSION STUDY.

The Baptist Mission Study Class met with Mrs. W. R. Lindley last week. The lesson was on "China of Today." Mrs. Smoot told of the good being done by the missionary physicians. Mrs. Smith told of the educational work and Mrs. Williamson of the evangelistic work. Mrs. Martin and Mrs. McEntyre were appreciated guests. At the social hour the hostess and her daughters, Mrs. Charters and Mrs. Sadler, and Mrs. Burdine, served a salad course with hot tea and coffee.

CARD OF THANKS.

I wish to express my appreciation and heartfelt thanks to my friends and neighbors who so kindly ministered to me and my husband during his recent and fatal illness. For the lack of words to express the gratitude of my heart, I will only say "God bless you."
MRS. A. J. HAMILTON.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The Presbyterian Missionary Society had an interesting meeting with Mrs. Maddin last week. After the Mission Study on China, "The Child in the Midst" was reviewed. A new book will be selected for the New Year. A delicious salad course was served at the social hour.

BAPTIST CHRISTMAS TREE.

There will be only one Christmas tree at the Baptist Sunday school this year and it will be in the main auditorium on this evening (Friday) at 7 o'clock. All primary and beginners please take notice and come to the main room.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank the good people of Colorado for their unflinching kindness and continued expressions of sympathy during the illness and on the death of uncle and father, John Huston. May everyone of you be ministered to as devotedly should sorrow or affliction ever overtake you, which we pray, may be spared you.
FRANK LUPTON AND WIFE.

SURPRISE SHOWER.

On last Saturday evening Miss Leslie Rankin's Sunday school class, headed by their teacher, gave her a surprise shower. They quietly marched to her home and knocked at the door when she opened it she was pelted with packages. After her surprise wore off they were invited in and helped open them. They proved to be personal gifts for this prospective bride and will ever be cherished by her.
Claudia Smith is on the sick list this week.
Lester Ratliff, student of Simmons College, is home for the holidays.

DEATH OF J. H. HUSTON.

After a lingering but intermittent illness of many weeks, the spirit of J. H. Huston answered the final call last Saturday, December 18th, at 11 o'clock a. m., and winged its flight to the vast realms of eternal rest. Deceased was born in Rockingham county, Virginia, July 24th, 1837. He married Miss Sarah Ann Blankenship of Richmond, Virginia. They came to Hill county, Texas in 1875, moving to Comanche county in 1875, where they resided until 1895, when they removed to Mitchell county, where they lived until both were called home. Mrs. Huston preceded her husband on July 4th, 1913.

There was no issue from this union, but an adopted daughter became the wife of Mr. Frank Lupton. Mr. Huston served throughout the civil war as a Confederate soldier. Since coming to Colorado, he lived a quiet, unobtrusive and christian life, highly esteemed by all who came in contact with him. He was a consistent communicant of the Episcopal faith by the rites of which ritual his funeral services were conducted at the church by Rev. G. C. Rafter, after which his mortal remains were taken in charge by his Masonic Brethren and consigned to their last resting place with solemn and impressive ceremonies. He is survived by a brother in Virginia, a daughter and four nephews, to all whom the Record extends condolence, assuring them that the benison of this good man will rest eternally upon them.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

On Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock Mr. C. W. Broyles, of Fort Worth, and Miss Leslie Rankin were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Rankin. The house was tastefully decorated for the occasion. In one corner of the parlor a beautiful improvised altar was erected over which rested a beautiful wedding bell. At the appointed time Mrs. M. K. Jackson played the wedding march and the couple marched in from the rear and stood beneath the wedding bell facing the pastor, Rev. R. A. Clements, who pronounced the words that made them one. After congratulations and best wishes, refreshments of home-made cake and chocolate were served by the bride's Sunday school class.
The bride wore a dark blue coat suit with accessories to match and carried a beautiful bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.
The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Rankin and is worthy of the best that this world holds, as she has shown her true nature by the self-sacrifice and devotion to her mother and by so doing has strengthened her own character and laid a foundation for true service in her own home.
The groom is a young business man of Fort Worth. He is the district manager of the Southwestern Telephone Company. They were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. They left on the westbound train for El Paso for a few days and will then be at home in Fort Worth.
The Record joins their friends in wishing them a long life of peace, prosperity and happiness.

P. R. SMITH.

A WARNING TO COUNTRY BOYS

There died the other day in a hospital in Denver a young man, the son of an Oklahoma farmer. The farm was too tame and prosy for him. The lot of a farmer's boy no longer appealed to him. He was a good singer and the applause of a cabaret touched his vanity and so he drifted along on his downward career until in a drunken brawl he was shot.

While awaiting the summons of the Angel of Death he thought of the loved ones back on the old farm in Oklahoma. He thought of his parents and of the different trend of his life if he had given heed to their advice. He remembered the school house by the roadside and the little church in the grove over by the graveyard. It was there where his sister Nellie was buried and thither he had gone every May day to place upon her grave the choicest flowers of blithesome spring. On yonder hillside was the humble home of his grandparents and it was there he had so often visited and it was these old-fashioned folks who had so often plead with him to be a good boy and obey his parents. In a farm house at the place in the timber where the roads crossed lived a rosy-cheeked country girl to whom he had made love just as awkward, carefree boyhood was emerging into the buoyant expectancy of young manhood.

As he tossed upon his bed of pain far away from those whom he loved, with none but strange voices about him and none but strangers to administer to his wants, his memory reverted to the old farm home and he thought of the hollow mockery that had been his portion since turning his back upon the homely pleadings of his father and mother and there came an inspiration into his soul. In stuttering feebleness he asked his nurse for a pencil and paper and he wrote a farewell message to the country boys of America. An angel could have done no better. Here is his final appeal:

"Keep from the glare of the bright lights.
"Smiles beyond twinkling glasses are false and ruinous.
"The so-called gay whirl is only a headache.
"Stick to the farm, it is the only content in the world.
"A country-raised chap who tries to go the city pace is out of his element.
"Good friends who will stick when the clouds gather are never found where license takes the garb of merriment.
"The leer of the vampire makes a man forget self, home, friends and leads only to the gate from which there is no return.
"Never discount your health for a few nights of revel.
"The man who sleeps while the world is working and plays when the world of good men and women are sleeping cannot long keep stride, for even if he has millions nature will take her toll and lead him to the madhouse or the grave.
"Music mixed with liquor was never intended. When women without character are added the youth who is tempted is beaten before he starts the game.
"And with such a message upon his lips the poor boy's spirit took its flight into the presence of the Almighty Father. May it not be that the Recording Angel dropped a sympathetic tear and washed away the stains that were upon his soul? A young man who could write such an appeal as he was just stepping into the boat to be taken by the oarsman across the silent river of death compassion deserves.
"Young women, because the appeal is to you also, give heed to the dying appeal. He had seen both sides of life. The apparently dull, prosy career of a country boy and the gay whirl in the city had both been his portion. He knew what he was talking about when he said:
"A country raised chap who tries to go the city pace is out of his element."

IN OLD INDIA

ALTHOUGH the railroads run up and down the length and breadth of India, and autos are not unknown, the rough cart drawn by the sacred bull is still a common sight.

Occasionally we are obliged to call upon one of these picturesque primitive conveyances to deliver TEXACO Oils.

Our business in India includes not only the sale of large quantities of burning oils to the natives, but the supply of lubricants to the big cotton mills and other industries, and a great many other oil products.

This distant business is held by the quality of TEXACO Products. They must pay their way in such markets by their economy.

That is why TEXACO Petroleum Products are in demand the world over. That is why your neighbors ask for them and why you should use them.

There is a TEXACO Agent near you. Let us serve you through him.

MADAM, ARE YOU SICK?

Here's a Guaranteed Way of Getting Well.

Many a fine looking woman already casts a hag's shadow because she is sick and neglects herself.

Women are learning. Already thousands and thousands have found the way to relief and restored good looks and healthful condition.

Two generations Dr. Thacher has been helping the women of the South to the heritage of health and beauty.

Stella-Vitae is a woman's tonic. It corrects irregularities and relieves conditions peculiar to women.

It builds them up. It improves appetite, aids digestion, creates rich, red blood, quiets nerves and clears up the complexion.

Don't be blue, nervous, sick or run down. Get a bottle of Stella-Vitae from your dealer.

WHY YOU SHOULD USE CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

Because it has an established reputation won by its good works.

Because it is most esteemed by those who have used it for many years, as occasion required, and are best acquainted with its good qualities.

Because it loosens and relieves a cold and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition.

Because it does not contain opium or any other narcotic.

Because it is within the reach of all. It only costs a quarter. Obtainable everywhere.

London, Dec. 16.—The Turco-German campaign against the Suez Canal and Egypt is reported in preparation, says a dispatch from Rome. Three hundred thousand Turkish troops are said to be already concentrated for the Turkish aggression against the British at Kut-el-Amara in Mesopotamia, is reported from Constantinople.

THE MIDDLEMAN.

"The middleman is the one who makes all the confusion in this question of supply and demand," said the off-hand economist.

"Yes," replied the man with the double chin. "But what are you going to do about it? You can't possibly ignore the waiter and do business directly with the cook."

DAVIS MAKES MAIDEN SPEECH IN CONGRESS.

Texas Urges Printing of Report of Industrial Relations Commission.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Representative J. H. Davis, of Texas, made his maiden speech in the House of Representatives today when he urged adoption of a motion to print 200,000 copies of the report made by the Committee on Industrial Relations and 10,000 copies of the testimony taken at the hearings. The "copy" was wheeled into the House cloakroom on a small truck and made a pile several feet high, when unloaded. The printing bill, according to estimates, would run from $50,000 to $100,000.

"While I am not familiar with your rules and the rules in which you have run before," said Mr. Davis, "I understand this to be a very inopportune time for any man to become parsimonious of a matter that the whole country and the civilized world have got their eyes upon. There are more than forty thousand farmers in my state who are interested in the developments made in that investigation as to the land monopolies of Texas, and they are anxious about it. The Federation of Labor, bankers and business men of the state have insisted that this report and the proceedings of the commission must be put in such tangible shape that they can get the facts, and that the whole matter must be put before them. The press paraded the fact there were two carloads of it, and that it ought to be sent to the junk pile. I want to notify you right now, that if there is a man from Texas who votes to have this go to the junk pile he will meet me on the stump when he gets back to Texas in the next campaign."

In the testimony is that taken by the commission in Texas touching the land tenant conditions there. The report and evidence was referred to a committee and the motion to print went out on a point of order.

THREE SHOT IN SIGHT OF CROWD

Dallas, Dec. 20.—Matt Steers, of Oklahoma, who shot and seriously wounded his former wife, Clara Buckel, and accidentally wounded a bystander, Sam Pondrum, of Dallas, before shooting himself in the head about 6 o'clock this evening, died here tonight at 10 o'clock at the City and County hospital. The shooting took place in the Richmond dairy lunch, 1621 Elm street. Pondrum sustained a broken arm from a stray bullet.

Steers died in the City and County hospital in the next ward to where his former wife lay, probably fatally shot through the back. She was alive at midnight.

WHO'S WHO IN SOCIETY.

Mrs. O'Brien, newly rich, vainly aspires to social prominence, an ambition in which her common, chess-loving husband does not sympathize. Pretty Mary Ellen, the daughter, and a Jap butler constitute the household.

One day, Mrs. O'Brien sends out invitations to a party which the Van Dusens and Van Astorbills refuse to attend. While she is mourning this loss an automobile breaks down in front of the house and a slender young man who introduces himself as Lord Algernon Ste Clair seeks refuge while his car awaits the repairman. Mrs. O'Brien scenting a noble match promptly invited him to stay for the party.

That night weird things happen. The stranger who has been invited to spend the night, slips into the library in time to see O'Brien much excited over the appearance of a white hand that has deftly poked through the portiers in search of the electric switch. In another instant the stranger throws O'Brien to the floor, and Lord Algy, revolver in hand, stands over them. There is a scuffle and the stranger disappears, gun in hand, through the French window. An hour later Lord Algy, in his room, cautiously draws a string of pearls from his pocket, only to turn and face the gun of the stranger, who raises his head from back of Lord Algy's bed. Shadowland, December 27th.

WILL BE GREATEST EVER.

Preparations for the coming National Western Stock Show, which opens in Denver on January 17, and continues until the following Saturday, are being pushed vigorously. Entries are so numerous that the Association has been compelled to arrange with the stockyards company for increased facilities. Additional new cattle sheds are being erected. It is expected that there will be in the pure bred cattle classes about fifteen herds of Shorthorn, and over twenty herds of Herefords, with Angus and Galloway cattle showing stronger exhibits than ever before.

This will be the first big live stock show held in the past two years, and there is more than usual interest among the stockmen over the competitions in the various breeds. The big herds have been unable to get together, and it is promised that there will be some surprises when the ribbons are hung.

The horse show will also be much larger and stronger than ever before, and will include some of the greatest stables in this country.

The railroads have already announced the usual low rates for this occasion, and Denver is planning to take care of the largest crowd that has ever come to the show.

VARNA WRECKED BY SHELL FIRE. Report to London Says Troops Are Landing Following Bombardment

London, Dec. 21.—The Daily Chronicle reports the capture of Varna, Bulgaria's chief Black Sea port, by the Russians. It says the bombardment of the Russians silenced the Bulgarian guns and laid the town in ruins. The garrison suffered heavily. The Russians then according to the report, landed infantry and artillery without loss and in sufficient force to hold the town against Bulgarian attack.

Should the capture of Varna prove true it would mean that the oft repeated intention of the Russians to land on Bulgarian soil either by way of the Danube river or on the Black Sea coast to take the Bulgarians and Turks and their Teutonic allies on the flank has been accomplished.

The Bulgarian port of Varna is on the Black Sea, a few miles south of the Rumanian border. It is a railway terminus. This city and Burgas, fifty miles further south, are the principal Bulgarian Black Sea ports.

On several occasions since the beginning of the Teuton drive through Serbia it has been reported that the Russians would attempt an invasion of Bulgaria from the sea and it has been said forces were being concentrated for this purpose at Odessa.

Previous dispatches reporting Russian naval demonstrations before Varna or Burgas, presumably preparatory to an effort to land troops, were not borne out subsequently.

MARLIN BANKER FOUND DEAD; GUN IS BY HIS SIDE.

Marlin, Dec. 21.—The body of J. C. Clark, a banker here, was found in the back yard of his home this morning. He had been shot in the chest. A gun was lying by his side. He is said to have been in ill health for some time.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Patron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side. The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair. At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work." If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

A MONEY-MAKER AND A SOIL-BUILDER.

Thousands of cars of lima, pink and navy beans, as well as black-eyed peas, are shipped yearly from California, returning to the west coast millions of dollars of outside money.

And strange as it may seem, considering the millions of Texas acres adapted to their growth, a large proportion of these things come to Texas, costing the Texas consumer all the way from five to seven dollars per bushel.

And besides the value in beans and peas, the bean and pea straw has come to be regarded as of great value in a fattening ration for meat stock. Hence it would seem that our farmers, in working into diversified farming which they are doing, should not overlook the money-making, soil-building scheme of beans and peas, which may be grown successfully without irrigation down to a twenty-inch rainfall. GIVE THE LANDLESS MAN A CHANCE.

(The Houston Chronicle)... The plan which has been adopted in the Sugar Land territory of selling improved farms is a very hopeful sign that landowners are at last awakening to a realization of the fact that if the large, unsettled areas are to be settled in this generation, the plan long followed of selling raw land on one-third cash and one, two and three years for the rest at 8 per cent must be abandoned.

All around Houston and far beyond are scores of monuments of financial tragedies for the men who undertook the hopeless task of making homes on land bought on terms which it was impossible to meet.

Every man who loses his cash payment, then loses his land and is left in debt, becomes a "knocker" of Texas and a missionary to spread for her a bad name wherever he goes.

If a man buys raw land he must build a house and barn and fence in his land, and do it all at a cost greater than it would be to the landowner. Then why not prepare the farm ready for the buyer and add to the original price what it costs? The proposition is as broad as it is long.

One sensible feature of the new plan is that interest is put at 6 per cent instead of 8, and what is even more sensible is that ample time is given for any industrious man to pay out without running the risk of losing the land and his money.

The land will normally increase steadily in value and when a few notes have been paid the rest at 6 per cent will be worth a premium in the money markets of the East and there will be no safer security in the world.

The plan of preparing farms ready for the buyer should be adopted everywhere. It is the especial, indeed essential, need for East Texas and all other parts of the State where timbered areas are to be settled.

While some buyers came after selling high priced lands in other States, and often in other portions of Texas, there are many others who can not pay cash down and have money left for supplies, and that is the class of men who need the chance to get a home. What if they pay nothing down if they subject the land to cultivation and settle a new family where there was none before and add a new asset to the community?

They will turn crude, raw land into cultivated land, and if they fail to meet their payments the seller cannot lose.

That hundreds of thousands of acres of fertile land should be fallow and idle in Harris county is a reproach to the business men in Houston and is testimony to the fact that landowners are holding their lands at prohibitive prices, and will neither use them themselves nor give the landless men a chance to get a home.

This condition will not be permitted to continue always. The people need homes, and what they need, they generally find a way to get. The history of the Anglo-Saxon proves the truth of this statement.

KILLING OFF THE PRAIRIE DOGS.

The extermination of prairie dogs over large areas has been practically completed, according to the report of the Bureau of Biological Survey, just published by the United States Department of Agriculture, and wide stretches of valuable grazing lands have been entirely cleared of this pest. In national forests in Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Oklahoma, more than 95 per cent of the prairie dogs have already been destroyed. Active campaigns are still in progress in Arizona, New Mexico, Montana and South Dakota, and in the Rio Grande forest in Colorado.

The average cost of distributing poison on areas infested by prairie dogs has now been reduced to less than 5 cents an acre. In cases where reinfestation has made it necessary to go over the land again, the cost has not exceeded 3 cents an acre. Poisoned oats have been found to give the most consistent results, except in the Coconino forest in Arizona, where a species of blue-stemmed grass is abundant. The prairie dogs are so fond of this that they care little for grain whether poisoned or not.

The Biological Survey is also carrying on work against ground squirrels, pocket gophers, jack rabbits, moles, mountain beavers, pine mice and crayfish, as well as against wolves and coyotes in the west. The crayfish, which are so injurious in parts of Mississippi and Alabama, can be kept away at an annual expenditure, it is estimated, of 25 cents an acre or less after the lands have been thoroughly treated.

While endeavoring to destroy these and other pests, the Bureau is also encouraging an increase of population of beneficial birds. The results of the second bird census in the spring of 1915 showed that bird life can be largely increased throughout the country. Where efforts are made to protect the birds the population increases rapidly.

Of the new national bird reservations established during the past year, two are in Washington, and one in Minnesota. In all sixty-seven such reservations are now in charge of the department. With few exceptions the conditions on them are said to be very favorable to the increase of bird life.

FATHER IS CHARGED WITH KILLING DAUGHTER AT PARIS.

Paris, Dec. 20.—T. R. Walton, aged 46, father of Miss Pauline Walton, who was brutally murdered at the family home last Saturday morning while in bed, was arrested today charged with the crime. He was spirited away from Paris on the southbound train for fear of mob violence. Walton protested his innocence. He has been formally charged with the murder of the girl. Physicians' examinations show that she may have been attacked before she was killed. A man's derby hat was found outside the house, footprints on the ground and on the window sill of her brother's room, but her own room window scene was nailed down. Neighbors declare the father's actions toward his daughter were suspicious. Great excitement prevails over the tragedy. It has been learned that Walton has been placed in the Greenville jail for safe keeping.

RED CROSS TO AWARD PEN- NANTS TO BEST SEAL SELLERS.

The states, cities, towns and villages selling the largest number of Red Cross Seals per capita will be given pennants in their respective classes by The American Red Cross and The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, as announced in a bulletin issued today. Last year's competition was limited to cities, towns and villages, but for the 1915 Seals Campaign pennants will be awarded to states as well.

To avoid pitting villages against large cities, they have been divided into ten classes, as follows: Population less than 600; from 600 to 1,200; from 1,200 to 2,000; thence to 8,000; thence to 25,000; thence to 50,000; thence to 150,000; thence to 1,000,000; and over 1,000,000.

A handsome silk banner in red and white will be awarded to the city, village, town or county anywhere in the United States and territories which shall make the highest score in sale per capita in its class. The populations considered are the Federal estimates for 1915.

WARNING TO MITCHELL COUNTY FARMERS.

In view of the almost inevitable ravages of the boll weevil in this county next year, and the present fact that several agents are selling cotton seed to the farmers of the county, for next year's planting, I publish this warning. If you order seed from other sections be absolutely certain that you thoroughly disinfect them with bi-sulphide of carbon (high life) as soon as the seed are received. The danger of the presence of the boll weevil is great enough from its travels westward, without inviting and speeding its presence in imported cotton seed.

Growing Trees Forty Years!

F. T. Ramsey, of the Austin Nursery, Austin, Texas, has been actively engaged in growing fruit and ornamental trees in Texas for forty years. He can name and describe from memory several hundred varieties of peaches, over a hundred of plums, and others in proportion.

His tests and experiments have placed our nursery in the forefront in introducing new and valuable fruits. For instance, our LEONA Peach will far surpass Elberta anywhere, and should be planted in place of Elberta from Central Texas north.

SMITH PEACH is the surest bearer in the world. It should be planted from Central Texas south.

Our HAUPT BERRY paid one man 1760.00 per acre. The most valuable crop grown, for home or market.

QUADRENNAL FESTIVAL.

Although the great Quadrennial Festival to be held in El Paso in the fall of 1916 is fully ten months away those in charge of it are already making preparations for the big event. The festival will include the annual convention of the International Farm Congress and the International Irrigation Congress, the Soil Products Exposition and the formal dedication of the completed Elephant Butte Dam.

Both the International Farm Congress and the International Irrigation Congress have established offices in El Paso and the publicity bureaus of both are actively engaged in the preparation of advertising matter of all kinds, calculated to let the dry farmers and irrigationists of the world know what is being done in the way of furthering the interests of both.

The Soil Products Exposition from a strictly agricultural point of view, will be the greatest agricultural fair ever held on this continent if not in the world. The exposition is held under the auspices of the International Farm Congress and the Soil Products bureau of the Farm Congress is preparing circulars for distribution among the farmers of the several states of the American Union as well as of Canada, Cuba, Australia, France, Great Britain and the countries of South America urging them to begin now to prepare their exhibits for the El Paso show next October or November.

Inasmuch as the great bulk of the exhibits will be from the comparatively nearby states and particularly from Arizona, New Mexico and Texas, steps are being taken to encourage the farmers of those states to get ready to compete for the ribbons, cups and cash prizes which will be offered.

In the opinion of the managers of the Soil Products Show, it is quite important that there be not only a great number of competitors but that those who intend to compete begin at once the selection of their seeds, the preparation of the ground, the spraying of the trees from which they expect to gather fruit to be shown, etc.

In order to encourage the boys and girls of the southwest and of more distant farming communities, special prizes will be offered competing Moys' Corn Clubs, Boys' Pig Clubs, Boys' and Girls' Berry and Small Fruit Clubs and Girls' Canning Clubs. The amount of these prizes has not yet been fixed but assurance is given that they will be well worth while.

Special prizes will also be offered for the encouragement of improvements in dairying methods in the southwest and those who contemplate entering into competition for these prizes are urged to begin grooming their dairy cattle thus early for the show in order that the records of production which will be exhibited will bring them into the prize-winning class.

Special prizes will be offered for the encouragement of beef breeders and hog growers and for the breeders of the better grades of range cattle, all of which leads to the belief that the live stock department of the big El Paso show will constitute one of the largest live stock exhibitions ever made in this country.

All persons interested or who contemplate exhibiting live stock, or soil products are urged to write the secretary of the International Farm Congress Chamber of Commerce Building, El Paso, Texas, for further and more detailed information.

The tonnage of passengers, mail and express over the T. & P. road just before and during the holiday season, produces a congestion that almost equals stagnation. The Sunday morning eastbound arrived at 12 o'clock, the eastbound morning train on Monday was late a trifle of 12 hours; so that the train bound in the same direction with the same increasing ratio of lateness on Tuesday morning, would arrive some time Wednesday. At this rate the Christmas morning train will come in about New Year. Why change the schedule? Just drop out a week or two of the calendar on such occasions.

THE EDITOR'S FIG.

As we have told of several pigs and hogs belonging to other parties it will surely not be amiss to tell about our own pig. First because editors as a rule are not in the habit of having pigs in the pen, and if some of them had one they would not have him long, because starvation or pressing debts would soon get him. Ten months ago a little black porker came into this world on a ranch south of Talpa. In time we located and gave for him a year's subscription to the Post, Farm and Ranch and Holland's.

This last Monday we had the gentleman slaughtered, he being a well-rounded animal 10 months old. After death and the loss of all his blood he weighed 385 pounds, and we feel safe in claiming that if weighed alive he would have easily classed a 400-pounder. Therefore he weighed 1-3 pounds for every day he was old. As near as we can figure after deducting cost of pig, cost of feed and killing we realized a profit from our investment of between $12 and $15. To this we might add the satisfaction of knowing just what we are eating and cooking with and the pleasure of seeing the porker grow from a wee mite of a thing to a genuine hog. He was fed on slop, cane, threshed maize and finished up with two bushels of corn. At no time was he confined in a small pen, but had the run of a good-sized lot where he could always get good water to drink. Not being in a position to supply him with green pasture we substituted cane and found he would eat almost as much of this feed as a yearling steer. Can any of our editor friends beat this record?—Talpa (Texas) Post.

The Record is anxious to try if someone will furnish the pig. We have a good sized lot and an abundance of good drinking water.

SHE VISUALIZED HERSELF.

Mistress McGinniss and her friend, Mrs. O'Leary, both devout Catholics, were on their way to early mass and confession. As they approached the church, they beheld two boys coming out of the Father's house turning handsprings down the walk, whereupon Mistress O'Leary observed to her friend, Mrs. McGinniss: "And do you mind, Mrs. McGinniss, the penance the Father is putting on the byes, and me without a stitch of underclothes on me body."

BEAR THIS IN MIND.

"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy by far the best medicine in the market for colds and croup," says Mrs. Albert Blosser, Lima, Ohio. Many others are of the same opinion. Obtainable everywhere.

ROBBING POSTERITY.

One night as supper was about to be served Farmer Greed said to his five small sons, as he held knife and fork over a juicy steak:

"How many of you will take ten cents apiece and go to bed without supper?"

With visions of tops, marbles, candles and other things dear to the youthful heart, they answered in chorus: "I!"

In the morning they appeared ravenously hungry. Whereupon Farmer Greed asked: "And now who will give ten cents for his breakfast?"

One morning as the country was about to be settled old Farmer Monopoly asked his fellow citizens:

"How many of you States will take two dollars an acre for your lands and send your settlers West?"

With visions of bridges, railroads and public buildings needed by the youthful commuters, they answered in chorus: "I!"

In the next century the citizens appeared ravenously land hungry. Whereupon Farmer Monopoly asked:

"And now who will give two hundred dollars an acre for this land.—Bolton Hall in The Public.
