CARRANZA AGAIN ASKS AMERICANS TO QUIT MEXICO

Latest Note Reiterates Demand For Withdrawal of the U.S. Troops.

PEOPLE DO NOT WANT WAR.

Mexico City, May 23.—A note from the de facto government of Mexico to the government of the United States demanding the immediate withdrawal of the American troops from Mexico was dispatched to Washington today. The note states that the Mexican people do not want war with the United States, but that they are ready for war rather than to have their national honor and sovereignty trampled.

The Mexican government is informed, the note states, that more American troops continue to cross the border. The communication declares that the Mexican people look upon this movement as more than a mere punitive expedition and as a violation of national sovereignty.

The note was sent to Washington this morning by special messenger.

Two thousand students met today and appointed a committee to wait upon General Carranza and assure him of their support in case of foreign invasion and to ascertain from him the present international situation.

Carranza informed the students that the difficulty with the United States was a diplomatic matter and that pending its solution he was unable to discuss it.

He said, however, that a note was being sent to Washington and that on the reply of the United States to this note depended the final outcome.

Heavy Troop Movements.
Washington, May 23.—The action of the Carranza government in ordering 30,000 troops into northern Mexico instead of 10,000 agreed upon by Generals Scott and Obregon, was regarded by army officers today as a menace to the United States.

No explanation was given in official reports announcing this heavy troop movement, but two views were generally expressed. They were: First, that Carranza, by assembling the largest army he has yet had in the vicinity of the border, hopes to demonstrate to the United States his ability to protect the American side from invasion, thus making the continued presence of American troops in Mexico unnecessary.

Second, that Carranza, by a show of force outnumbering the American troops in Mexico, plans this troop movement to back up his demand for have been made by cattlemen of this

BRANDIES FIGHT APPEARS ENDED

Washington, D. C., May 24.—The senate judiciary committee voted, ten to eight, today to report favorably to the senate the nomination of Louis D. Brandies to be associate justice of the supreme court. It was a strictly party vote.

No plan as to when the nomination will be taken up in the senate has yet been formulated. Senator Cummins of Iowa, was the only member of the committee not present. His vote, however, was recorded against confirmation.

IN THE STATE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION SAN ANTONIO

W. C. Wear Elected Permanent Chairman by a Small Majority. — Anti-Saloon Leaguers Disappointed

San Antonio, May 24.—The Bailey-Ferguson forces won the preliminary skirmish in the state democratic convention here this afternoon when after almost three hours of discussion and an extended roll call by counties, the majority report of the organization committee recommending the selection of Judge W. C. Wear as permanent chairman was adopted by an official vote of 428 to 406.

Scenes of confusion followed the announcement of Judge Wear's victory. His selection is expected to clear up to a large extent the doubt which has existed in the convention as to the future program of Texas democrats as respects prohibitionists and the Anti-Saloon League of Texas. The disappointment of followers of Thomas H. Ball, Dr. Barton and others was keenly evident, while the opposing forces saw a way to clear up the work of the convention within a short time, something in the nature of a political stumbling block having been put aside.

All other temporary officers were made permanent.

Roll call voting was then taken up on the so-called Ferguson proposition of electing delegates at large by naming one from each of the sixteen congressional districts, the number to comprise Texas's complement of eight delegates and eight alternates.

Vote on the election of delegates at large proposition showed another Ferguson-Bailey victory by a substantial majority. The count was 446 for and 389 against. In spite of this demonstration, Mr. Love still claims he has a fighting chance to be elected national committeeman, basing his claim on the number of delegations which he says have been instructed for him. Governor Ferguson, it was said, would take the platform again this afternoon to fight the Love candidacy on the grounds that instructions for Mr. Love were given under alleged misrepresentations.

At 1:15 p. m. the convention adjourned until 3 p. m.

ABILENE STRIKES OIL.

An oil well that is variously estimated at from fifteen to twenty-five barrels was brought in Tuesday morning six miles south of Abilene on the lease held by the Hunch Oil & Gas Company, composed of Abilene people. The Frank P. Fox Company is sinking the well.

Shortly after midnight Monday, at a depth of 1890 feet, the first oil sand with a small flow of oil was struck. After exerting the usual precautions in such cases, the drillers kept on until the second sand, at a depth of 1920 feet, was struck. This brought a natural flow of oil, estimated variously from 15 to 25 barrels a day. One of the drillers declared that it was "25, natural," but more conservative estimates placed the flow, based on pressure tests, at twenty barrels or thereabouts.

LOST BANDIT BOBS MAIL CAR.

Shreveport, La., May 22.—The mail car on the Texas & Pacific train en route from New Orleans to Fort Worth was entered by a lone masked man shortly after 10 o'clock tonight as the train was leaving Grand Cane, a station about twenty miles south of here. The robber at the point of a pistol placed an empty sack over the heads of the postal clerks after which he leisurely rifled the registered mail in the car.

RETURNS FROM INCOME TAX ESTIMATED AT $120,000,000.

Washington, D. C., May 25.—Returns from the income tax for the incoming fiscal year are estimated at approximately $120,000,000 in revised figures being compiled by the treasury department. The exact amount within a few thousand dollars, probably will be known within the next few days.

The expected return of $120,000,000 is $30,000,000, or over 40 per cent. more than officials estimated when congress convened.

WIN OR PERISH IS ENGLAND'S RESOLVE.

London, May 22.—The Morning Post devotes its daily editorial to President Wilson's North Carolina speech and says:

"The President gave utterance again to his deep-seated ambition to play peacemaker in a war-distracted world."

The Post urges that all such peace talk is out of place at the present time.

"The conception," says the Post, "is no doubt an exalted one but is based on the illusion that a compromise is always possible between two belligerents. There are some antagonisms which in their nature are irreconcilable and this is a war in which there can be no compromise without involving disaster as great as defeat itself. What would Lincoln have said in the midst of his implacable struggle if some well intentioned friend had stepped in to urge compromise and conciliation? The people of this country believe they must win or perish and they are determined at any cost to win."

PLAYING FOR THE GALLERIES.

Cheap actors are accustomed to "playing to the galleries"—to the noisy mob occupying the lowest priced seats in the theater.

In these times of unreason, unrest, suspicion and envy, it has become the fashion for notoriety seekers in every walk of life to play to the galleries.

Well meaning theorists and idealists alike with the yellow press and muck-raking magazines, play to the galleries when they spread the seeds of distrust among a satisfied and contented people.

Demagogues in our state legislatures and at the national capital play to the galleries when they cater to those who claim to control the labor vote while well knowing that the workmen are the most independent of all our voters.

Clergymen play to the galleries when they preach sensational sermons on political topics, taking their texts from the politicians and not from the word of God.

College professors play to the galleries when they champion freakish fads originating in the burning brains of well-meaning but daffy crusaders of the Don Quixote type.

The raw material that enters into a pound of paper is principally rags, and a pound of clean rags is worth 2 cents at the paper mills. This editor took the trouble to get the quotations and 2 cents was the answer. Yet the advance, in the price of paper, on account of "the scarcity of raw material" in the past six months has been over six cents a pound, on a ten cent average, something over four cents more than is now offered for the raw material. As in paper, so in other lines; the manufacturers are simply taking advantage of the consumer's helpless condition and advancing prices just as their greed suggests, and there is no good way to stop them. But when that gentleman who is supposed to eventually acquire a monopoly on accumulated heat gets through with some of those raw material fellows, they will be thoroughly and eternally cooked.—Yazoo County (Miss.) ADDRESS TO CITIZENS OF 16TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Judge W. R. Smith, our very efficient congressman, is willing to serve our district for another term. His long experience has added to his natural ability the essential factor of powerful influence he now has in congress and the nation. He is incorruptible, wise and industrious.

Few members of congress have ever been so constant in devotion to duty. In the present trying times he has always been a strong and willing supporter of our great democratic president. This is an occasion when we must retain his services, for there are in congress men even from Texas who have failed our party. They should be retired and such a true patriot and pure democrat as Judge Smith re-elected.

His services are appreciated by the citizens of this district. Those who know him personally will support him strongly and we say to those citizens who have not been able to make his personal acquaintance, that the only reason he has not been in the district to know them all is that the duties of his office are so confining and have been so fully carried out, he has been unable to leave Washington to campaign. Nor is it wise that he should be required to do so. Certainly if we compel him to remain constantly in the district in order to be elected, we would be depriving the party and ourselves of his wise counsel and services at Washington. We believe all good democrats in the district see this truth and that no one who is not an egotistical self-nominated place hunter, who for selfish reasons should want to go to congress and would be willing to sacrifice the interest of the district and party to gratify his personal ambition, could induce them to fall in support of Judge Smith.

Judge Smith and his friends depend on his long record of successful accomplishments for our benefit and the wisdom of the democrats to re-elect him. We hope he will be able to go over the district, at least partially, to meet those who do not know him, and so assist his friends and democrats to keep him in congress. It is no time to send any raw, inexperienced, un-influential, self-nominated, unknown men to congress. The power of members of congress to serve the people depends absolutely on their ability and experience.

Judge Smith's service and record prove him to have that power in a superlative degree, and we must keep him there, in order that we get the benefit of his wisdom and knowledge. He stands as high as any man in congress and is an honor to the district and democratic party.

We believe the thoughtful citizens all over the district appreciate these facts and will cast their ballots to retain Judge Smith in the position he so ably fills.

As citizens and democrats, we appeal to all others to give our present representative an undivided support, thus serving ourselves and the Nation by keeping at Washington a most powerful, honorable, incorruptible, industrious and pure patriot. You would not change a skilful doctor, an able lawyer, a good cook, a loyal friend, simply to give an untried man a chance.

SAYS BOYS WERE POISONED.

Mr. Dan Ernest, a brother of one of the unfortunate young men who died last week in Plainview as a result of drinking a poisoned decoction, states that it is his belief that the young men were poisoned deliberately by one of the men who is dead. Mr. Ernest says that his brother who died, was also confident of this and told him so on his death bed.

Mr. Ernest is employed at the City Garage here and left immediately for Plainview upon receiving the message stating that his brother was in a dangerous condition. He found that a number of people in Plainview were also of the opinion that the poisoning was the result of the avarice of one of the men who wished to secure control of some property belonging to one of the victims. When he (the plotter) found that others were also drinking of the deadly fluid, he drank it himself, doubtless feeling that suicide was preferable to getting caught and punished by law.

Mr. Ernest states that the account of the unfortunate occurrence as it appeared in last week's issue of the News created the wrong impression. The young men had not been on a drunk and were merely intending to take a social drink with the others when the deadly fluid was passed around that cost them their lives.

Tuesday morning of this week it was reported that no more of the young men had died although several of them are very ill. Physicians state that any of the men who drank as much as a couple of spoonfuls of the stuff would die, although they might live thirty days or longer after being poisoned. Contrary to usual first reports, it has been found that thirty young men had indulged in the fatal fluid instead of seventeen as was at first thought. One of the most pathetic features of the whole affair is the sleepless nights and constant wailing of the unfortunates. The only hope held out to them by physicians is to "keep walking—don't sleep unless you absolutely have to." The steady tramp has been going on almost constantly, and the strained, drawn look on the faces of the victims denote bodily fatigue and mental anguish.

Neal A Douglas visited Plainview last Friday, and he stated that he heard a physician tell one of the young men that there was no hope for him. "It made my heart sad to see the look that passed over the face of the youth," stated Mr. Douglas. "There he was—still up and going—yet under the sentence of death—and one of the most horrible deaths at the last that one can conceive of. Those who have passed away all had the most painful convulsions just before death relieved them. Mud Brock, one of the dead, fell on the streets while attempting to walk off the effects of the drug, and bystanders turned away tearfully, unable to look upon the heart-rending sight of the young man in his terrible suffering."

What was at first a steady tramp, tramp, is now a tired and spiritless shuffle. Let us hope that it will not be in vain, and that the death angel will be satisfied with the harvest he has reaped for a moment's indiscretion.—Mottley County News.

The pachydermatous hide of a four-fushing politician may shed the darts of his fellows and come back in kind. But when the good ladies of the land sharpen a stick and get behind him, he's a gone goner, for fair. Cyclone Davis may get his flubdub over the plate with the host of others who are tarred with the same stick; but his specious sophistry falls flat with the ladies. In nearly every exchange we get these days are found resolutions of condemnation by the different chapters of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, of his slights in congress, and calling on the patriotic voters of Texas to sit down on him with a smashing thud. And b' gravy, they'll do it!

The present orlaffe efforts of one U. S. Senator, Jeems Vardaman, of Mississippi, to discredit President Wilson's military policy, and his violent opposition to all things on the military program, recalls to our mind the harlequinlike antics of this same Vardaman at the beginning of the Spanish-American war. He was one of the first to throw himself into the yawning breach, on the assumption that the country demanded its noblest blood. He made application to Governor McLaughlin to raise a regiment and go to the front. The governor turned him down and Vardaman laid it to spiteful jealousy, of which he made political thunder and lightning. He was then a man of blood and preparation. But he got his pawnshop title of "Colonel." Incidentally, we heard Jimmie make his first public speech at a May Day festival in Montgomery county, Mississippi, and haven't had the heart to hear one since. He's not the first one who found the congressional waters fathoms over his head and couldn't swim.

We saw a list of the latest advances in drugs and chemicals this week, which included many of the time-tested household medicaments for emergency use. Having a prescription filled now-a-days, calling for such intensive, rare and dangerous elements as alum, borax, moth bales and castor oil, gives a fellow the same feeling as being held up by a footpad. It was perilously near petty larceny before the last war advance, but now the simple act of taking money for filling a prescription almost constitutes a felony. What's the matter with christian science in rebutting the high cost of getting sick and dying?

The police department of Dallas, Texas, seem less concerned about the "mysterious" murders that have occurred in that peaceful burg, than over the ankle gazers, who infest the street corners. A sweeping order has gone forth to hale all male persons into court, caught so much as looking at a lady's pedal extremities.

Several subscribers have ridden us on a rail, figuratively writing, for omitting in last week's Record, the good rain that visited this section last week. The reason, brethren, is thusly: Time was when a rain in West Texas was at great and uncertain intervals, as angel visits, and those in other states who had investments or kin in this section went on a regular whiz when the newspapers announced a genuine wet rain in West Texas. But like the need of the Rangers, that's now an anachorism. Conditions have become so well regulated and adapted to the agricultural needs of this country, that the occurrence and recurrence of a good rain is a matter of course. Instruments of writing are no longer drawn conditioned on "if it rains." Hence it is, that calling attention to the mere rainfall might raise a question in the minds of "outlanders" as to its regular and dependable occurrence in this section. Just as pertinently mention the diurnal rising of the sun or the hebdomidal arrival of Sunday.

If the present prospects materialize, Mitchell county will produce more and better hogs and poultry this year than during any three previous years. Everybody is bragging on his and her fine chickens and pigs. The Record folks have one friend living south of town, who by his own confession is a hog raiser and then some. We are assured of this statement, because he promised to bring in one or two or three of his very finest pigs two years ago and present them to the paper, free, gratis, for-nothing, without pay. We fixed up a snug pen for them and made a nice trough wherein they could scourge and eat. We have fixed it up again this spring, because the first fixin' rotted down. But we'll "git them all pegs yet."

"Nothing in the world can take the place of persistence. Talent will not; nothing is more common than unsuccessful open of talent. Genius will not; unrewarded genius is almost a proverb. Education will not; the world is full of educated derelicts. Persistence and determination alone are omnipotent."

Now that Abilene has struck oil, what's the matter with exploiting the country adjacent to Colorado. Salt and oil are nearly allied in the mineral kingdom, and we still adhere tentatively, at least to the homely philosophy that "where the hen scratches, there the bug's bound to be."

WE CAN NOT FORETELL.

The editor of the Record appreciates a sincere compliment from a friend as much as any weak mortal, and is himself an apostle of the gospel of helpful words; hence the following notice of a recent article in the Record by a friend of "auld lang syne," tends to smooth out the wrinkles of the face and stiffen the spine:

"Here is the way editor A. H. Weston of the Colorado, (Texas) Record, views the Mexican situation. Editor Weston is well known in Mississippi, having lived at Oxford for many years. He is a man of deep learning, and what he says on any subject is worth considering, although you may not agree with him upon some things.—Yazoo County (Miss.) News."

Thanks, Major; thanks again. We have known you since the time you pranced around the block on a stick horse in a shirt with an abbreviated narrative. We didn't believe then the "ugly duckling" would prove a veritable swan in personal grace and pulchritude, say nothing of becoming a captain of finance. But we can't sound the future with the plummet of human prophecy. Some of the most promising friends and associates of that long ago have sadly disappointed our expectations. One of them was sent up for ten years—to the U. S. Senate; another did time as governor of Mississippi; another lives today by overt pillage—he's a doctor of medicine; and we could extend the list of others who have burglarized success in various forms and broken into the "best circles of sassiety." No sir, we can't tell.

An exchange reports the desperate illness of two men at Childress from "swallowing whiskey believed to contain poison." Now, what do you think of that? What, in the name of science and human experience, could be put into whiskey that could make it more poisonous than it naturally is? The process might be slightly hastened by admixture of cyanide of potassium, carbolic acid, brucine or Star navy, but the inevitable result would not be changed. The grim humor of the above statement reminds us of an incident of a negress of the nether world who cautioned the drug clerk to be "mighty keeful and not mix no rank pisen wither modicum of cocaine." It also finds a parallel for stupidity in the oft expressed warning given by well meaning but weakly scarry people against cigarette smoking. "Did you know," admonishes one good brother who never smelt anything stronger than bonaset tea and Jerusalem oak candy in the springtime, "that them cigareets is doped up with pisen." No, we didn't know it, nor he either. He'd read something of the kind in one of the Portland, Maine, family magazines that exist by advertising "secrets" an old maid should know, recipes for making whiskey at home and love powders, and potentially believed every word of it. Now, what we would like to know is this—what you put into tobacco to make it any worse than it naturally is. If you don't believe this, try a chew or pipeful of any perfectly pure "Forked Deer Leaf" or of "Aunt Hully's Delight," and if you don't think any kind of pisen would make it better, call at this office and we'll pay the doctor's bill.

The Whipkey Printing Company received the abstract and title to the property formerly owned and occupied by the City National Bank this week. In this connection, the management of the Record desires to state that it is not the intention of the company to move from its present location, for some time, at least. The recently acquired property will be leased in the meantime. The plant is quite conveniently and agreeably located in its present quarters and the moving of the machinery is a matter to be deferred long as possible. So, for an indefinite time, the Record will do business at the same old stand.

The committee on church union of the late general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in session at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., recommended strongly union with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The division in the mother church, was not because of the civil war, but occurred nearly a score of years before that time. Overtures have heretofore been made toward healing the breach, but until now was never seriously considered. The resolution looking toward union, was addressed not alone to the southern branch of the church, but as well to all the variant divisions of the great denomination. And thus does the christian world tend to final union. The two divisions of the Presbyterian church in the south practically became one several years ago, and a closer relation is noticeable among the churches in the missionary fields abroad. When that prophetic time comes, when "the earth shall be filled with His knowledge and glory as waters that cover the sea," it will be upon a common faith and practice. Not since the days of the great Boniface, when there was a united Christendom, do we read of the conversion of entire nations.

"HARK, FROM THE TOMB."

News comes from Washington, that Senator Charles A. Culberson delighted his friends and admirers last week with "all his old time vigor and demonstrated that mentally and physically he is capable of serving the people of Texas for another term." The occasion was a meeting of the Texas delegation which had gone to Washington to secure federal aid for the celebration of the 200th anniversary of the founding of the city of San Antonio, Texas. But hear the senator's own testimony, with name and price of the medicine deleted:

"This is the first night," Senator Culberson said, "that I have been absent from home since I have been restored to health, but I could not resist the temptation to be here to add my voice in behalf of such a splendid undertaking, which means so much to the future of all Texas." We should like to get another testimonial about Christmas as to the permanency of his restoration. Somebody once said something about a habit the devil has, but it has no connection with the above. It might however, be paraphrased to read: When the race is on An athlete sure he'd be; When the smoke clears up— A relaxed athlete, he.

No office within the gift of the voters of Texas is more crucifying than that of Attorney General. No matter what he does he is damned with half-praise by one half of the people and damned without the benefit of doubt by the other half. If he does not absolutely extirpate the trusts and corporations, root and branch, the rank and file swear he has sold out to the interests. And if he does all he possibly can to scotch the trusts, they damn the attorney general by claiming it is cheaper to compromise with a good fine and regard it cheap at that. The trusts try to produce that impression—and do it frequently—that have gotten by the attorney general. It is therefore the easiest thing in politics for the fellow who wants to be attorney general for the first time, to find thunder against the incumbent, when quite likely he himself could not do half so well. Looney has done extremely well with his office, and unless an aspirant for his place has dealt with the same opposition Looney has the past four years, he is merely making promises for the performance of which he can give no guarantee.

GIANT AND JOKE.

A Washington newspaper correspondent, himself from the state of Mississippi, sends the following as a true reflection of the estimation placed upon the two senators from that state: "Williams, the plain, unassuming intellectual giant, true at all times to the best interests of his country and party is held in the highest possible esteem by all, loved by friends and admired and respected by foes. Vardaman, on the other hand, is a monumental joke, a man of over-weening personal egotism, glorying in his efforts to appear as the best dressed man in the Senate, who is never heard of except when relieving his system of some of the bile against the president, even to the extent of charging him with ulterior motives, who is quick to rush into print in tirade against any member of the state's delegation in the House who dares vote his own convictions, who openly caucused and hobbobbed with the rankest of republicans in his fights against party measures."

The Record acknowledges receipt of the May and June numbers of St. Luke's Journal, published in the interests of St. Luke's Episcopal church of Denison, Texas. The name of Rev. Harold G. Hennessy, appears as editor, and his individuality peeps through every paragraph.

Young man, you cannot make a success in life unless you work. Older men than you have tried it and failed. You cannot stand around the street corners, smoke, tell stories and sponge on someone else without making a failure of life. You must learn a trade or get into some honest business. If you don't you will become a chronic loafer, and there is no place in the world for loafers. Do something, no matter how small or how low the wages, it will be a starter. Help yourself and others will help you.—Prattville Progress.

"How ready Texans are to give a square deal; how quick to accept amends for wrongs," apostrophizes the San Antonio Light. Yes indeed—how ready. Vide the recent square deal they gave the court after it had done its full duty at Waco, the center of christian education and refinement!

"Peace and Prosperity" will be the keynote of Governor Glynn's address at the opening of the national democratic convention, as well as of the platform. The legislative record of the Wilson administration, particularly the currency bill and its attitude toward business and labor, will be stressed.

The unprecedented and continuous fighting around Verdun for the past three months, is beginning to tell upon the endurance of the German troops. The French made the most spectacular attack in the history of the war last Monday afternoon and regained every position and trench the Germans had occupied since the offensive began. When the moment came for the attack, the French infantry which had been trained for this specific drive, sprang from their trenches with a shout and advanced singing the "Marseillaise" hymn.

Farm land values are increasing almost by leaps and bounds. Figures made public by the department of agriculture show that values for the United States, taken as a whole, increased 25.7 per cent last year. The figures are based upon reports from the department's field agents. The average value of farm lands without improvements is estimated at $45.50 per acre, compared with $40.85 a year ago; $40.31 two years ago; $38.10 three years ago, and $36.23 four years ago. The percentage of increase in the far western states was 11.

CENTRAL CIRCLE.

The Central Circle of the M. E. Church entertained their husbands last Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cooksey. It was to have been on the lawn but the rain prevented and an informal but very enjoyable time was had indoors. The spelling bee was one of the leading features of entertainment and it was decided that many of them could not laugh at high school pupils on account of their spelling. The refreshments were in boxes and each box numbered and numbers drawn to see who their partners were.

Of course you know this is the thing to do. Send us your laundry and end your troubles Colorado Steam Laundry.

HONORING FORMER COLORADO LADIES.

On Monday, Mrs. John W. Moorar entertained with a dinner at the Barcroft complimentary to four former Colorado ladies who are now visiting their parents and friends here. They were Mrs. John Beall Gray, of El Paso; Mrs. J. B. Waskum, of Dallas; Mrs. Harvey Bell Lindsay, of Oakland, Cal., and Mrs. Marcus Snyder, of Pecos. The honorees were all young ladies here together and were of Colorado's most popular ones and still retain their popularity among their many friends. Although they live far apart they have their summer visits at the same time and many pleasant events are given in their honor. On this particular occasion the entire day was devoted to their entertainment.

The meal was a most elaborate turkey dinner served in Barcroft style. The centerpiece was of the most perfect carnations and ferns while corsage bouquets of carnations and ferns rested near the engraved place cards for each guest.

Besides the honorees covers were laid for Mesdames F. M. Burns, R. H. Looney, Tom Morrison, George C. Rafter, C. A. Arbuthnot, W. B. Crockett, J. W. Moorar and Miss Moorar. The afternoon was spent in the home of the hostess. Games, readings and music were the diversions. In the late afternoon light refreshments were served and the shadows were lengthening before the goodbyes were said.

HONORING MRS. BLANDFORD.

Last week most of the social affairs were given complimentary to Mrs. C. C. Blandford, of Fort Worth, who is visiting here. Mrs. Blandford was for years a leading worker in her church and other public work here and her many friends were glad of an opportunity to again renew their friendship with her.

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Crockett entertained with 42 in her honor. A very pleasant afternoon was spent and after the games ice cream with strawberries and cake were served.

On Friday her daughter, Mrs. Royall G. Smith, entertained informally in her home for her. The intimate friends brought their work and the time was spent in pleasant conversation and work. A lovely salad course was served.

On Saturday Mrs. Burns entertained in her hospitable home with a five-course luncheon. Covers were laid for fifteen. The table was most tastefully decorated with cut flowers.

Practical Economy

Baking powders made from alum or phosphate may be bought for a trifle less than Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, which is made from cream of tartar, derived from grapes.

Alum powders are not only cheap, but they differ greatly in leavening power.

If a cheap baking powder is used for a fine cake and the cake turns out a failure there is a waste of costly materials worth more than a whole can of the cheap baking powder.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder produces the finest food, and its use, therefore, results in an actual saving.

WINS HISTORY PRIZE.

Last week in writing up the events for the closing of the school one important event was overlooked. It has been customary for several years for the D. A. R. to award a five-dollar gold piece to the one making the highest grade in U. S. History and arouses a good deal of enthusiasm in the boys and girls. This year Master Maxwell Thomas won the distinction and the Record joins his friends in congratulating him on this honor.

ENTERTAINED THE CLUB.

Monday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dawes entertained the Choral Club with a picture show party. They have been practicing hard recently on the Rose Maiden which they give this week, so the treat was the more enjoyable.

BUNKO PARTY.

Mrs. Lewis Adair entertained with a Bunko party at her home Tuesday evening complimentary to Misses Ewell Gary and Frances Sanderson. Punch was served during the games and ice cream and cake at the conclusion. Miss Sanderson, who has been here the past two years with Mrs. R. Gary attending school, leaves this week for Cisco.

THERE WAS A TIME.

There was a time when I could scoff—
As I shall not scoff again—
At the pleasant faith and the sunny creed

Of the old-time Bible men.
There was a time when I thought it strange

They should believe such things—
But, oh, there's life we all must live,
And what a change it brings!

I love to read of the doubters new
Who go to scoff but stay—
In the spell of that light on the lifted brow—

To cross their hands and pray!
For I have gone as they have gone,
And I do not scoff—I know

There is something more than an empty creed,
And I do not want to go!

There was a time when I thought it smart
To sneer at the things men said
Of walking the way of the fleeing heart

Where the feet of the Savior tread,
But when one suffers and when one aches

There's more than he thought in creeds,
And faith grows up through the soil of pain

To take the place of the weeds.
The change will come to the hearts of all,

When they will not scoff again
At the simple trust and the sunny faith
Of the old-time Bible men!

There was a time when I said, Oh, no!
But the years have taught me "Yes"
And that is the way it will be with all
Ere the end is reached, I guess!

You are cordially invited to attend all these services, and urged to settle once for all this most important question.

Services every night at 8:30, and in the afternoon at 4:00 o'clock for the children.

Save the Gears

The engineer in charge of a large warehouse and compress has this to say about

TEXACO CRATER COMPOUND The Great Gear Lubricant

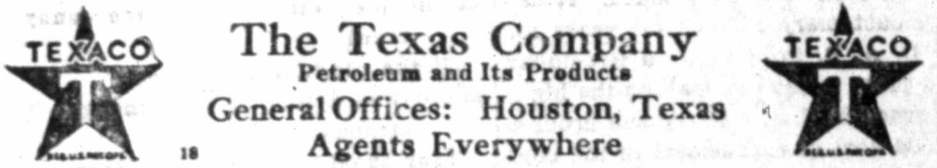

"We use Texaco Crater Compound on our large 6-inch Herring-Bone Gear. It doesn't sling off, gives a cushion effect, and should perpetuate the life of any gear on which it is used.

"We are today ordering another barrel.

"The 'Hydro-Electric' Press on which this Compound is used is the first of its kind to be put in operation in the world; a great deal of the success and smooth operation of this Press is due to the use of CRATER."

TEXACO CRATER COMPOUND is a lubricant which is protecting heavy duty gears in all classes of work. It is particularly adapted for cooker gears, of oil mills, cotton compresses, tractors, and other heavy equipment.

It is one of the special lubricants from our line of high-grade lubricating oils for all purposes.

FROM THE FORWARDING BASE.

Hallie McSpadden left here some weeks ago for El Paso, thence to Columbus, N. M., where he secured a position as driver of a government truck supplying the expeditionary army in Mexico. Following is one of his letters to his home folks, relating his experiences and impressions at the supply base:

Columbus, N. M., May 15.

Everything is clean and sanitary here. Two large shower bath houses provided, hot and cold. Everybody will be vaccinated. There are ten or twelve truck trains down in Mexico; one came in today. Had been gone three and a half weeks. They sure were rusty.

We go to the band stand at night and hear the martial music. There are fifteen different bands here and they all certainly do make music. The last truck train I went out on, went only as far south as Casa Granaes, which is 122 miles south of the border. Some of the trains go through to the front. The one coming in today, had been to San Antonio, 100 miles south of Parral.

Friday, May 19.—Just got back all "o. k." It is some rough road but my truck was put in the lead by the trainmaster, the last day out. The first day I brought up the rear, and the dust was something awful. There were only four trucks in this train and fifty guards. The Sixth Cavalry came in today, about 1,165 in all. This is the troop that made the long dashes and was engaged in the fight at Parral. Soap is 15c per cake and ice cream 25c per dish. No saloons here.

The government does not allow them on reservations. Some bootleggers were recently caught and sent to the Leavenworth pen. About 75 gamblers have been deported from the state. I am well pleased with my job; it isn't nearly so bad as other work I have done. Thank Miss Nellie Riordan for the nice testament she sent me.

WAREHOUSING ELIMINATES COTTON DAMAGE.

When we consider the vast damage done to the cotton crop by exposure, and the mode of handling it before it is marketed, I cannot see how any reasoning man can combat the warehouse system, which will decrease such damage to a large extent if not eliminate it entirely. Especially, when such warehouse system carries with it a plan, making the cotton receipts easily available as security should the owner desire to borrow, the necessity for such warehouses is all the more pertinent. I go further and state that should it not become necessary for the farmer to ever borrow a dollar on his cotton, those who work their families—wives and children—in the cotton patch, and after the cotton is ginned put it out in an open yard, and in most cases, a mud-hole, commit a crime that is almost unpardonable, whereas, if they would warehouse their cotton, they could save enough country damage in most instances, to pay for the picking.

EXPENSIVE READING.

A Belgian banker now in Paris says that the chief luxury of life in Brussels is the purchase of London and Paris newspapers, which can be had easily if one will pay the exorbitant price demanded.

The Times of London is worth 32 francs ($6.40), the Temps of Paris 22 (4.40), the Matin of Paris 20 ($4) and the other French papers 18 francs ($3.60). The penalty for being caught with one of these papers is not severe and is usually not enforced against persons of good standing, but the penalty for the agency which distributes the papers would be very severe.

INTERESTING SOUVENIRS OF TRAVELS.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Mitchell received last week a large number of pictures and postal cards taken by their son, Lee, while stationed at South American, Trinidad, Haitian and Panama ports. The pictures of interesting features at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and of the Panama canal, through which his vessel proceeded, are the most informing of the same places we have ever seen. One series of the pictures in particular, was humorously interesting. It represented the arrival and pranks of Neptune and his court, which occurred when the ship crossed the line of the equator. When a vessel crosses this line, all discipline is for the nonce discarded and the ship's captain and all other officers are at the not very tender mercies of the fabled sea god.

Every passenger and member of the crew who crosses the line for the first time are initiated. A large square of sail cloth is usually tied up by the corners on deck and dumped full of sea water and all hand lubbers are made deep water salts on the spot. A barber carrying a razor made from a sythe blade and a slush bucket full of soapsuds and tar, with a whitewash brush, makes his appearance and holders "Next!" just like any Colorado Figaro. Passengers have precedence and are seated in a chair by a couple of husky jacktars. The barber asks the victim what he wants, and on opening his mouth to say "nothing," that cavity is daubed full of soapsuds and tar, and the barber brandishes his razor with a yell and goes at him. This is only one of the time-honored stunts that await every one who crosses the line for the first time. Ladies, of course, are always excused only as witnesses. On the occasion of Lee's crossing, Secretary McAdoo and wife were aboard, and it required quite a deal of diplomatic conversation to get him off.

Some of the Trinidad pictures show ex-President Roosevelt on board the Tennessee, on which ship Lee was radio operator. Nearly every sailor and other enlisted man on our naval vessels have a kodak, and the collection of pictures they gather, makes a library of information in itself. One of the pictures showed Lee himself posing against some patriotic monument in the city of Santiago, Chile. It shows him to have grown a foot or so upward and to have spread out in girth like unto a barrel, and gives evidence of his perfect physical condition.

This collection is only one of many he has sent home since joining the navy in the fall of 1913. His parents are preserving them in an album, which will in later years afford infinite entertainment to friends as well as to themselves.

TRY IT! SUBSTITUTE FOR NASTY CALOMEL.

Starts Your Liver Without Making You Sick and Cant Not Salivate.

Every druggist in town—your druggist and everybody's druggist has noticed a great falling-off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tonic is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tonic is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tonic is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle costs 50 cents, and if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness, and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tonic is a pleasant tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take Dodson's Liver Tonic instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition.

COMMENDABLE EXAMPLE.

Teacher of the rural school at Coke county, has set an example for his pupils that could be with great profit and interest to the teacher in West Texas. We had his name and picture, to point the moral we shall and adorn this plain tale beginning of the school last year to the children about edge cut and conserving things, and in order to make more forcible, proposed lesson: A small pig was the joint contribution of the teacher and teacher, a command for his pigletship, when requested to bring a pig to eat than for themselves. The pig to feed the pig. That for as few pigs in West every child was on his as to generous contribution of the school were interested in a rising market for pigs just at that time.

The Record has never heard or read of anything that it more heartily endorses than the above incident. That teacher is worth more to that community for the lessons of practical citizenship he teaches the children than for all his literary accomplishments and experience. Doubtless some thing of the same kind will be done next year by these children, and more of the same kind the next year. The Record heartily commends the example of this Coke county teacher and his pupils to the emulation of every rural school in Mitchell county.

NOTICE OF BANKRUPT'S PETITION FOR DISCHARGE.

In the District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Texas, at Abilene, in the matter of T. I. Brown & Company, Bankrupts, No. 489 in Bankruptcy. Office of Referee.

Abilene, Texas, May 20th, 1916. Notice is hereby given that T. I. Brown & Company, a firm composed of Thomas Irvin Brown of Lorraine, Texas, and James Madison Bennett of Sweetwater, of the County of Nolan, and districts aforesaid, did on the 20th day of May 1916 file in the Clerk's office of said Court at Abilene a petition setting up that they have been heretofore duly adjudged bankrupts under the act of Congress approved July 1, 1898; that they have duly surrendered all their property and rights of property, and have fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the order of the Court touching their bankruptcy, and praying for a full discharge from all debts provable against their estate in bankruptcy, save such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

On considering the above mentioned petition, it is ordered that any creditor who has proved his claim, and other parties in interest, if they desire to oppose the discharge prayed for in said petition, shall, on or before the 24th day of June, 1916, file with the Referee for the Abilene Division of said district, a notice in writing of their opposition to a discharge in the above entitled cause.

AN APPEAL FOR AID.

So severe and protracted has become the drouth in the section of which Falfurrias is the center, in Brooks county, that Governor Ferguson has been appealed to for help. Texans will recall that one of the most distressing drouths ever experienced in this state, prevailed throughout this same section in 1892 and 1893. Government aid then became necessary. In order to avoid a repetition of that call, the press of the state is requested to come to the aid of these people by giving publicity to their condition.

Employment agencies are requested to do what they can in placing these people where they can earn an honest living until better conditions prevail in their own home. It is suggested that farmers and railroads needing unskilled help, write or wire Hon. L. P. Strayhorn, Falfurrias, Texas, stating how many men are wanted and giving full directions as to where they shall be sent and the kind of work they are expected to do.

On June 16th of last year, a strip of country between Colorado and Lorraine was devastated of its crops by hail. Many farmers ploughed up and replanted their cotton. Others allowed the beaten-down cotton to stand, it came out amazingly and did better than that which was replanted. Considerable hail fell Thursday of last week and in some localities did material damage to the crops, orchards and gardens. The damage was not, however, nearly so extensive as on last June. Owing to the backwardness of the season and cool weather, many farmers think it would be better to replant on the advent of warm weather than take the chances on the indifferent and weakly stand they now have. The great scarcity of good seed will deter many from ploughing up their present stand and replanting. Never in the history of cotton raising in this section has seed of dependable quality been so scarce and high.

When the town of Temple was laid out by the Santa Fe railroad, there was not a tree on the townsite beyond a few stunted mesquite bushes. A census of the trees of the town was taken this month, when there were found to be 30,579 beautiful trees within the city limits. In the town of Post, up in Garza county, there are 36 miles of beautiful trees, chiefly of the Carolina poplar variety. There is maintained a big nursery of several hundred thousand trees to supply the demand of the settlers on the Post lands.

THE ISSUE SQUARELY STATED.

The temperance committee of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church which is now in session at Saratoga Springs, New York, has gone a step further than that organization has ever gone before by reporting in favor of the submission by congress of a prohibition amendment to the federal constitution.

That this is the logical outcome of existing conditions every candid man whose vision is not in total eclipse should perceive.

It is not worth while to discuss the question whether the people of the United States have the power, through amendment of the federal constitution, to adopt national prohibition. The man who denies the inherent right of the people, acting in their sovereign capacity, to put an end to any admitted curse, is too deeply enslaved by prejudice to listen to reason. Happily he is an eccentricity.

The question of expediency is always one for debate, and careful consideration. The question of right is not.

All men whose opinion is worth anything at all admit that the drink evil is the worst that blights the world, and that any measure which will tend to lessen its injurious effect would be a universal blessing.

If prohibition is a good thing for a precinct, it is a better thing for the county, still better for the state, and best of all for the nation. There can be no gainsaying this. Prohibition is either good for all, or not at all.

A law against gambling which made an exception of McLennon, Tarrant, Dallas, Harris, Travis and Bexar counties would be looked on as a monstrosity, even by the gambler.

The law against liquor stands in principle on an exact parity with the law against gambling. The only difference is that there is a much greater need for the law against liquor than for the law against gambling.

Gambling slays only thousands, while liquor is slaying its hundreds of thousands.

Liquor is a universal curse. It requires a universal law.

The call for the submission of a prohibition amendment to the federal constitution is so general that the senator or congressman who votes against it must assume the position that he has a personal right to place limitations upon the right of self-government. The man who sincerely believes in self-government is willing for it to exist when the people go as he does not, as well as when they go as he goes.

There are many statesmen in this country whose idea is that popular government is a great thing as long as the people vote with them, and who are ready to destroy it the moment they find themselves in a minority.

The demand for the submission of a national prohibition amendment is going to put our system to the test. The final action of congress upon it will determine whether the people really rule in this country, or whether special interest of any sort may deny them the right to rule.

The federal constitution was amended in order to emancipate the negro.

The question now up is whether the federal constitution may be so amended as to emancipate the white man.

Gentlemen in congress, and gentlemen who aspire to go to congress, it is up to you to declare whether you are really in favor of a government of the people, by the people and for the people, or whether you stand for a government of yourselves by yourselves, and for yourselves.—Waco News.

You may have tried others; now try the Chalmers agency for your auto tires and other accessories.

CULBERSON WOULD NOT EVEN HAVE VOTE ON PROHIBITION.

Sherman, Tex., May 20.—The following letter, which is self-explanatory, was sent yesterday to Senator Culberson by the writer:

Senator C. A. Culberson: In your recent letter to me published in the daily press of Texas, you say, "So strong is my conviction that the states should retain all the police powers reserved by the federal constitution, that I am opposed even to submitting the amendment (prohibition) to the states for ratification." I thank you for this clear statement of your position, and feel that I have rendered Texas a service by giving you a chance to make it.

Having in mind that the submission of this prohibition amendment to the federal constitution, would at once precipitate simultaneous campaigns in forty-eight states for the election of legislatures that would ratify or reject the amendment, and thereby give the people a chance to express themselves for and against national prohibition, I had hoped you might be democratic enough to vote for the submission of this amendment so the people whom you serve might express their will on the matter, although I expected that you would personally oppose its adoption when submitted. To refuse to submit the question is in effect to deny the people a chance to be heard, and I submit without argument the following which ought to be self-evident to every unbiased mind.

1. That a servant of the people ought to be willing to hear "his master's voice" at any time on any question.

2. Your stand against the submission of this amendment will tend more to the preservation of the liquor traffic than to the preservation of state sovereignty and people rule.

3. And therefore every voter in Texas who is more interested in the preservation of the liquor traffic and its strange hold on the government, than he is in the preservation of state sovereignty and the rule of the people, will know whom to support for United States senator; and those who are more interested in the preservation of state rights and government by the people than in saving the booze trade "from the wrath to come," will know whom not to vote for.

If I were disposed to be ironical I should say "Upon what meat hath this servant of the people fed that he hath become so great," as to assume to be the guardian of five hundred thousand Texas voters as if they were little children who must not be allowed to express their will on a great issue vitally affecting their welfare, lest they make the fatal mistake of voting to abolish the booze trade in all America and thereby save the nation the immeasurable waste in men, money and human efficiency, which it entails. I hardly think you will be able to convince a majority of the five hundred thousand Texas voters that they can not be trusted to pass on this question.

You prophecy that "The surrender of these powers to the federal government will reduce the sovereign states of the Union to the level of mere provinces" is rank and untimely "hot air." Hot air, because for sixteen several times, the states have "surrendered" powers reserved by the federal constitution on other questions, and they are still "sovereign states and not mere provinces." If sixteen "surrenders" have not reduced the sovereign states to mere provinces, one will hardly do so. This new "surrender" scare-crow is too transparent to intimidate many. Better call a caucus of liquor-serving politicians to devise a more plausible one.

In addition to being pure buncombe, this prediction is gratuitous and untimely in this connection. If you care to risk your reputation by urging this kind of nonsense against national prohibition, the time to do it is after the question has been submitted to the people.

Your reference to primary instructions to senators is irrelevant and immaterial. The people ought not to have to sand bag their servants with special instructions to secure their right to a hearing on this question.

Your reference to the vote on submission of the Texas prohibition amendment is equally irrelevant, but you might "keep your ear to the ground" and you will hear a different noise in the near future.

For the present let us stick to the one question of your refusing to trust your constituents to express themselves on national prohibition, by voting against submitting the amendment to them for their ratification or rejection.

Come to Texas, Charley, and tell the people about it a few weeks prior to the primary, July 22.

Respectfully, H. A. IVY.

Matinee every day at Shadowland.

Judge C. H. Earnest informs the Record that tentative arrangements have been made for the erection on his recently acquired property opposite the new hotel of a one story, pressed brick store building fronting 140 feet on Second street and 100 feet deep. It will be the largest single storeroom in this section of the country, and will accommodate an immense and varied stock of goods. The architect, who made the plans of the new bank building, is working on this building also and was expected here this week, when the final plans for this big business house will be determined on and the contract for construction closed.

All kinds of galvanized iron, zinc, tin and other sheet metal work done promptly and satisfactorily by R. B. Terrell.

Much complaint is being made of petty thievery around private residences of the town. It is not safe to leave the house unlocked, and whatever thing movable is left outside at night disappears by morning. Particular attention seems to be paid to the accumulation of that species of property commonly known as "junk" and every piece of brass or copper that is gettable, with hammer or wrench is gone as soon as this Fagin Gang can locate it. We have personally noticed the abstraction of every faucet valve and oil cup from the premises of the gin just back of the Record office. Unless this species of deviltry stops, some mother's darling boy is going to limp in home some night and there'll be a hurry call for the doctor to come quickly and bring his big tweezers to pick out number 4 shot from the back of Jimmie's tummy and environs.

A SPLENDID RECORD.

Rev. R. A. Clements is as successful builder of architectural structures as of spiritual mansions. When he began plans to enlarge the Methodist church last year, the prophets of evil and failure began to afflict him. They predicted that the undertaking would entail a debt overhanging the church for a long time; that its aggressiveness in other lines would be dulled and its enterprises handicapped. Rev. Clements was in to see us this week, and announced that work of razing the old parsonage began last Monday morning, which would be replaced by a two-story, eight room, brick veneer building, costing about $2,500.

Mr. Clements also told us, that before a lick of work had been struck on the parsonage, the entire cost of remodeling the church building had been discharged—not one dollar was due on it. This is a remarkable record, and Bro. Clements will have built for himself a monument in the hearts and history of the local church that will endure for years to come.

JUDGE BEALL ANNOUNCES.

Judge W. W. Beall this week submits his name to the voters of the 32nd Judicial District for renomination at the July primary, for the office of district judge. He is rounding out his first term in that office, and the Record is gully of no exaggeration in thinking that few district judges have ever made a better record than he, for impartiality, fairness and expedition in disposing of cases. He is of the kind who gets things done. That he should have gained the political enmity of some, is perfectly natural. The temptation to visit upon the presiding judge disappointment over the issue of a case, is one of the abiding weaknesses of humanity. Judge Beall speaks to the voters of Mitchell and other counties of the district in a card in this issue of the Record.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

The fourteen-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cook living in East Colorado, was quite seriously injured last Friday night while riding a bicycle, in that part of town. It was after night and he met an automobile with very bright headlights, which blinded and confused him, with the result that he failed to get out of the way of the machine, which struck him and the bicycle he was riding. Medical aid was summoned and the boy removed to the Phenix sanitarium, where he is now doing very nicely. A fracture of the skull was sustained, but no complications have intervened, so that his recovery is practically certain, with no sequelae.

THE DAY AT CAR.

Last Friday marked the closing exercises of the school at Car, under the supervision of Prof. W. R. McAfee and Miss McAfee. This is one of the most successful rural schools in Mitchell county, and the community and visitors always anticipate something out of the ordinary when any exercises of their school occurs. And last Friday was no exception to this rule. We had arranged to be present, and were much disappointed on seeing the lowering clouds, cold weather and drizzling rain, early Friday morning. We reluctantly stayed at home, but sent a dependable hand in the reportorial as well as gastro-nomic line.

The Record's representative paid high compliment to the exercises, every feature of which was of high merit. After the more intellectual aspect of the day was enjoyed, the inner man was regaled as the good people of that community know so well how to do so. Of course the candidates made the occasion one for a big killing in the vote getting line. The aspirants for the county judgeship occupied the center of the stage and the bulk of the time. Judge Bullock said he did and Judge Coe said he didn't, and the round ended with neither convinced. The other candidates on hand, did their turn and thanked the people for not taking the law into their own hands.

The weather cleared up toward noon and proved to be auspicious both for the school exercises and candidates.

FOR DISTRICT JUDGE.

Sweetwater, Tex., Apr. 22, 1916.

To the Voters of Mitchell and other counties of the 32nd Judicial District:

Gentlemen—Having received several inquiries as to whether I would again run for the office of judge of the 32nd Judicial District, I take this means of announcing to you that I shall be a candidate for that office, and solicit your consideration.

I have served you a little over three years, and have greatly enjoyed meeting the people of your county in their attendance at court. It, however, is not for me to say whether I have given you satisfaction as such officer; but I have endeavored at all times to give the people of this district an honest, conscientious and economical service, and feel that I have so administered the duties of the office.

Thanking you for your past consideration, and for whatever support you may see fit to give me at the approaching primary, and pledging myself to serve you faithfully should I be again elected, I beg to remain,

Very truly yours,
W. W. BEALL.

This Energetic 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers Lives a Long, Vigorous Life

Raw might has been refined into the glamour of easy, sparkling flight.

The new 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers represents the engineering alchemy that wrought the wonder.

Crankshaft speed of 3400 revolutions per minute is, as far as we know, the highest ever developed for American stock car use. Engine speed plus might equals performance.

3400 r. p. m. is the magic factor in the equation of this distinguished Chalmers car that produces force fused with flexibility.

This tremendous engine speed is attained with absolute safety. The 2 7-8-inch crankshaft, though heavy, is balanced to the weight of a hair.

All excess weight has been removed from the aluminum pistons, piston rods, and all reciprocating parts.

The swirl of gas is as rapid and efficient in the upper galleries of the engine as in the lower; cylinders 1 and 6 contribute as much dynamic energy as cylinders 3 and 4.

Every gallon of gas that the nostrils of the carburetor inhales into the aluminum lungs of this remarkable beast means 18 miles of easy, mercurial going.

She takes hills like a fox on a frosty morning. Spirit, sparkle, response, obedience, and momentum are the golden by-products of her great engine speed. Raw might alone would mean her sacrifice.

You get all the features of performance you have always wanted most in a motor car.

She accelerates as instantaneously as electricity can transmit the impulse from foot to engine.

Feats of performance that you've never before seen, or known, or guessed are inherent in her.
