BEGUN ON A PHONE

By OSCAR COX

There is nothing so pleases a girl as to get behind a screen where there is no possibility of being discovered and trying one of the opposite sex as she would never dream of treating him as her identity known. Ralph Harding, a youngster who was, to say the least, by no means bashful, was called to the telephone one day—a party wire—and a soft feminine voice asked, "Is this Mrs. Partington?"

"No; this is not Mrs. Partington."

"What is your number?"

"My number is 846, party W."

"Oh! I've got the wrong letter. I called 846 R. Excuse me."

How much often depends upon a trifle!

"No excuse needed. I assure you. Indeed, I must ask you to excuse me."

"What for, please?"

"Keeping you talking longer than is necessary to your purpose. The sound of your voice is pleasant to the ear."

A slight chuckle informed Mr. Harding that he had not given offense. The chuckle was the only reply, but it encouraged him to go on.

"We are frequently called to answer calls of 846 R. I suppose it is very easy for an operator to make a mistake in a letter."

"Quite so."

"Are you on a party wire?"

After some hesitancy the lady answered in the affirmative.

"Do you have the same letter as I?"

"My letter is 'M.'"

"And your number?"

Again the chuckle, but no other reply.

"Beg pardon. My question was thoughtless."

This was not true, as the girl well knew. If he had the number and the letter it would be possible for him to learn her identity.

"It wouldn't be proper for me to be chatting over the phone with a stranger," said the voice, "if he knew who I was, but since I am unknown I suppose it's no harm."

"How do you know that I'm not a very disreputable person?" asked Harding.

"By your voice. There is nothing that bespeaks refinement or the want of it so surely as the inflection of one's words. I defy any one not born and brought up in the highest class to assume the accent of one of that class."

"Thank you. You are repaying me for what I said to you with interest. Isn't it strange that I can hear you speak as plainly as if our lips were only an inch or two apart?"

"Another chuckle."

"But, not being able to see you, I am obliged to rely on my imagination for a picture of you."

"What do you think I am like?"

"One of Titian's pictures—fair skin, dark eyes and a tinge of mellow sunset in your hair."

"I'm not like that at all."

"Well, then you're a brunette."

There being no reply, Harding asked if he was "getting warm," as the children say in hide and seek games. But the lady, who was evidently guarding herself against identification, declined to favor him with a reply.

"I wish you would give me something by which I could find out who you are," he said.

"I am a lady."

"And, while a lady may talk to a strange man unknown, she would cease to be a lady if she became known, I suppose."

"Exactly."

"Very well, there is a chance according to your definition of a lady, of your ceasing to be one."

"How is that?"

"If ever I meet you and you say word to me I shall know you by the voice of yours, which has a melody. It I have never heard in a woman's voice before."

"Oh, my good gracious!"

"Therefore pray that I shall never meet you."

"I will. You're simply flattering me. I don't believe you could tell me by my voice at all."

"We may test that, and without your giving me any clew to your identity except what I have, your voice."

"How?"

"I'll tell you my name and whether I live and give you any other information of myself that will enable you to find me, you remaining unknown to me. This you may contrive a meet with my suspecting it. If I recognize you by your voice, you are a lady. Is it a go?"

"She did not say whether, Oil."

"Go or not, but he gave dependably."

"Some persons he knew still local."

"A point, and he automobile."

"The Best Car."

"The Garage."

"The Light."

PLAYING THE GAME

Life, in a way, is a game that we all must play, and the way we play it makes or mars our happiness and that of others.

Tragedy and Comedy are often separated by a hair line; Humor and Pathos jostle each other, so close they come; and tears and laughter often blend.

It all depends on the point of view. If we look up, we see the moon, stars the beautiful clouds in the sky; if we look down we see the earth, the crawling insects, the narrow streets, the common things.

If we climb to the top of a high tower, we can see beauty everywhere. The town is a fairy land; the sea is a wonderful mirror in which the face of earth is reflected.

To play the game aright, we need the happy faculty of seeing the goodness and wisdom of all happenings. The knowledge that we are much better off than many; not the feeling that we are worse off than the majority.

The bright side of the shield must always be carried uppermost. The rainbow at the end of the cloud must be implicitly believed in.

We must ever be Mark Tapleys; never Gradgrinds.

It is all very simple and easy when one has chosen and started on the right road. An early start is desirable. The morning hours are loveliest, the most refreshing. Nature awakens gleefully. She never sulks.

We turn our faces toward the rising sun. A night's rest and forgetfulness have obliterated the stains and scars of the battles of yesterday. Sleep has "knit up the ravelled sleeve of care."

—Farm Life.

WHEN MUSTERED OUT.

There will be gains for the young militiamen for whom the bugle has sounded; gains that in many cases will far more than offset their losses. Suddenly they have learned that there is a bigger boss in these states than business—obligations which all the ordinary obligations salute and give way to. Suddenly they learn that there is a mortgage on their time and strength and skill prior to all the liens that it has been the effort of their young manhood to satisfy. Suddenly, after being held fastened to a task for years, they find themselves shifted from their vocations to what has been their avocation, and with nothing to do but to be a soldier.

It is an immense change; a snapping of all the little chains that restrict life; a change of thoughts, duties, associations and physical and mental habits; a chance to develop in new ways; a general revaluation of men and things.

All men will not profit by it equally, and some will be hurt by it. But to very many it will be stimulating and developing, leaving them better citizens and broader and more valuable men than it found them. They will have opened a great window of life and looked out, and that is worth while.—Life.

It is estimated that D. W. Griffith took more than 3,000,000 separate scenes for the original make-up of his great spectacle "The Birth of a Nation." These were subsequently assembled into the story as it now appears in dramatic form upon the stage and reduced to a total of approximately 200,000 distinct scenes. As each scene lives before your vision for an infinitesimal part of a second, you can understand why such a tremendous number is required to cover an evening's entertainment of nearly three hours. This picture will be shown at Colorado opera house, together with the orchestra music, written expressly for it, on Monday and Tuesday, November 27th and 28th.

Wilson Re-Elected

mittee, claimed the following states for the Democrats with a total of 312 electoral votes: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, West Virginia, Washington, Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

New York, Nov. 8.—Early today both Republican and Democratic campaign managers claimed victory. It then seemed that Wilson was certain of 232 electoral votes and Hughes certain of 215.

These states with 84 electoral votes were doubtful:

California, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Oregon, Washington, Wyoming and West Virginia.

Full results may not be known till noon.

The Republicans seemed to have the best prospects in Indiana, Minnesota, Oregon and West Virginia.

Except in California the Democrats appeared to have the better of it in other doubtful states.

New York, Nov. 8.—9:40 A. M.—Result of the election was still officially in doubt early today with a decided drift toward the re-election of President Wilson.

New York, Nov. 8.—At 8 o'clock this morning returns which were still incomplete made Wilson reasonably certain of 232 votes in the electoral college and seemed to give Hughes 218. There still 81 votes in doubt, 266 being required for election. These states were counted for Wilson: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, and Virginia—232.

For Hughes were claimed Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Iowa, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Vermont, Wisconsin and Wyoming—218.

At 5:15 A. M. returns from Cheyenne took Wyoming from the Hughes list and placed its three electoral votes in the doubtful column with Wilson leading.

These states were doubtful: California, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Oregon, Washington and West Virginia—81.

From doubtful states returns were coming slowly and there were indications full result not be known before noon. Chairmen of Republican and Democratic committees each claimed victory for their candidate. The Republicans seemed to have best prospects in Indiana, Minnesota, Oregon, and West Virginia. In other states listed as doubtful except California the Democrats appeared to be leading.

At this hour Republicans had not overcome Democratic majority in House of Representatives nor in Senate. With about 100 congressional districts still to be heard from Republicans had made net gain of eight members in the house but late returns from New York indicated that two of these might be reversed. With net gain of eight it would leave house with Democratic majority of seven. In senate Democrats showed losses from New York, New Jersey and Maryland. Indications were they would lose two senators from Indiana, one from West Virginia and possibly one each in Ohio, Montana and Arizona. The Democrats however gained three senators from Rhode Island, Delaware and Utah.

Conceding all probable Republican gains would give net Republican gain of seven in senate and leave the Democratic majority at two. South Dakota and Nebraska adopted state wide prohibition as probably did also according to incomplete returns, Michigan and Montana.

Later.—At 9:50 A. M. Thursday, Nov. 9th, the Dallas News sent this: "Minnesota, California, New Mexico, New Hampshire, doubtful. Wilson has very narrow lead in California and Minnesota. Results in doubt."

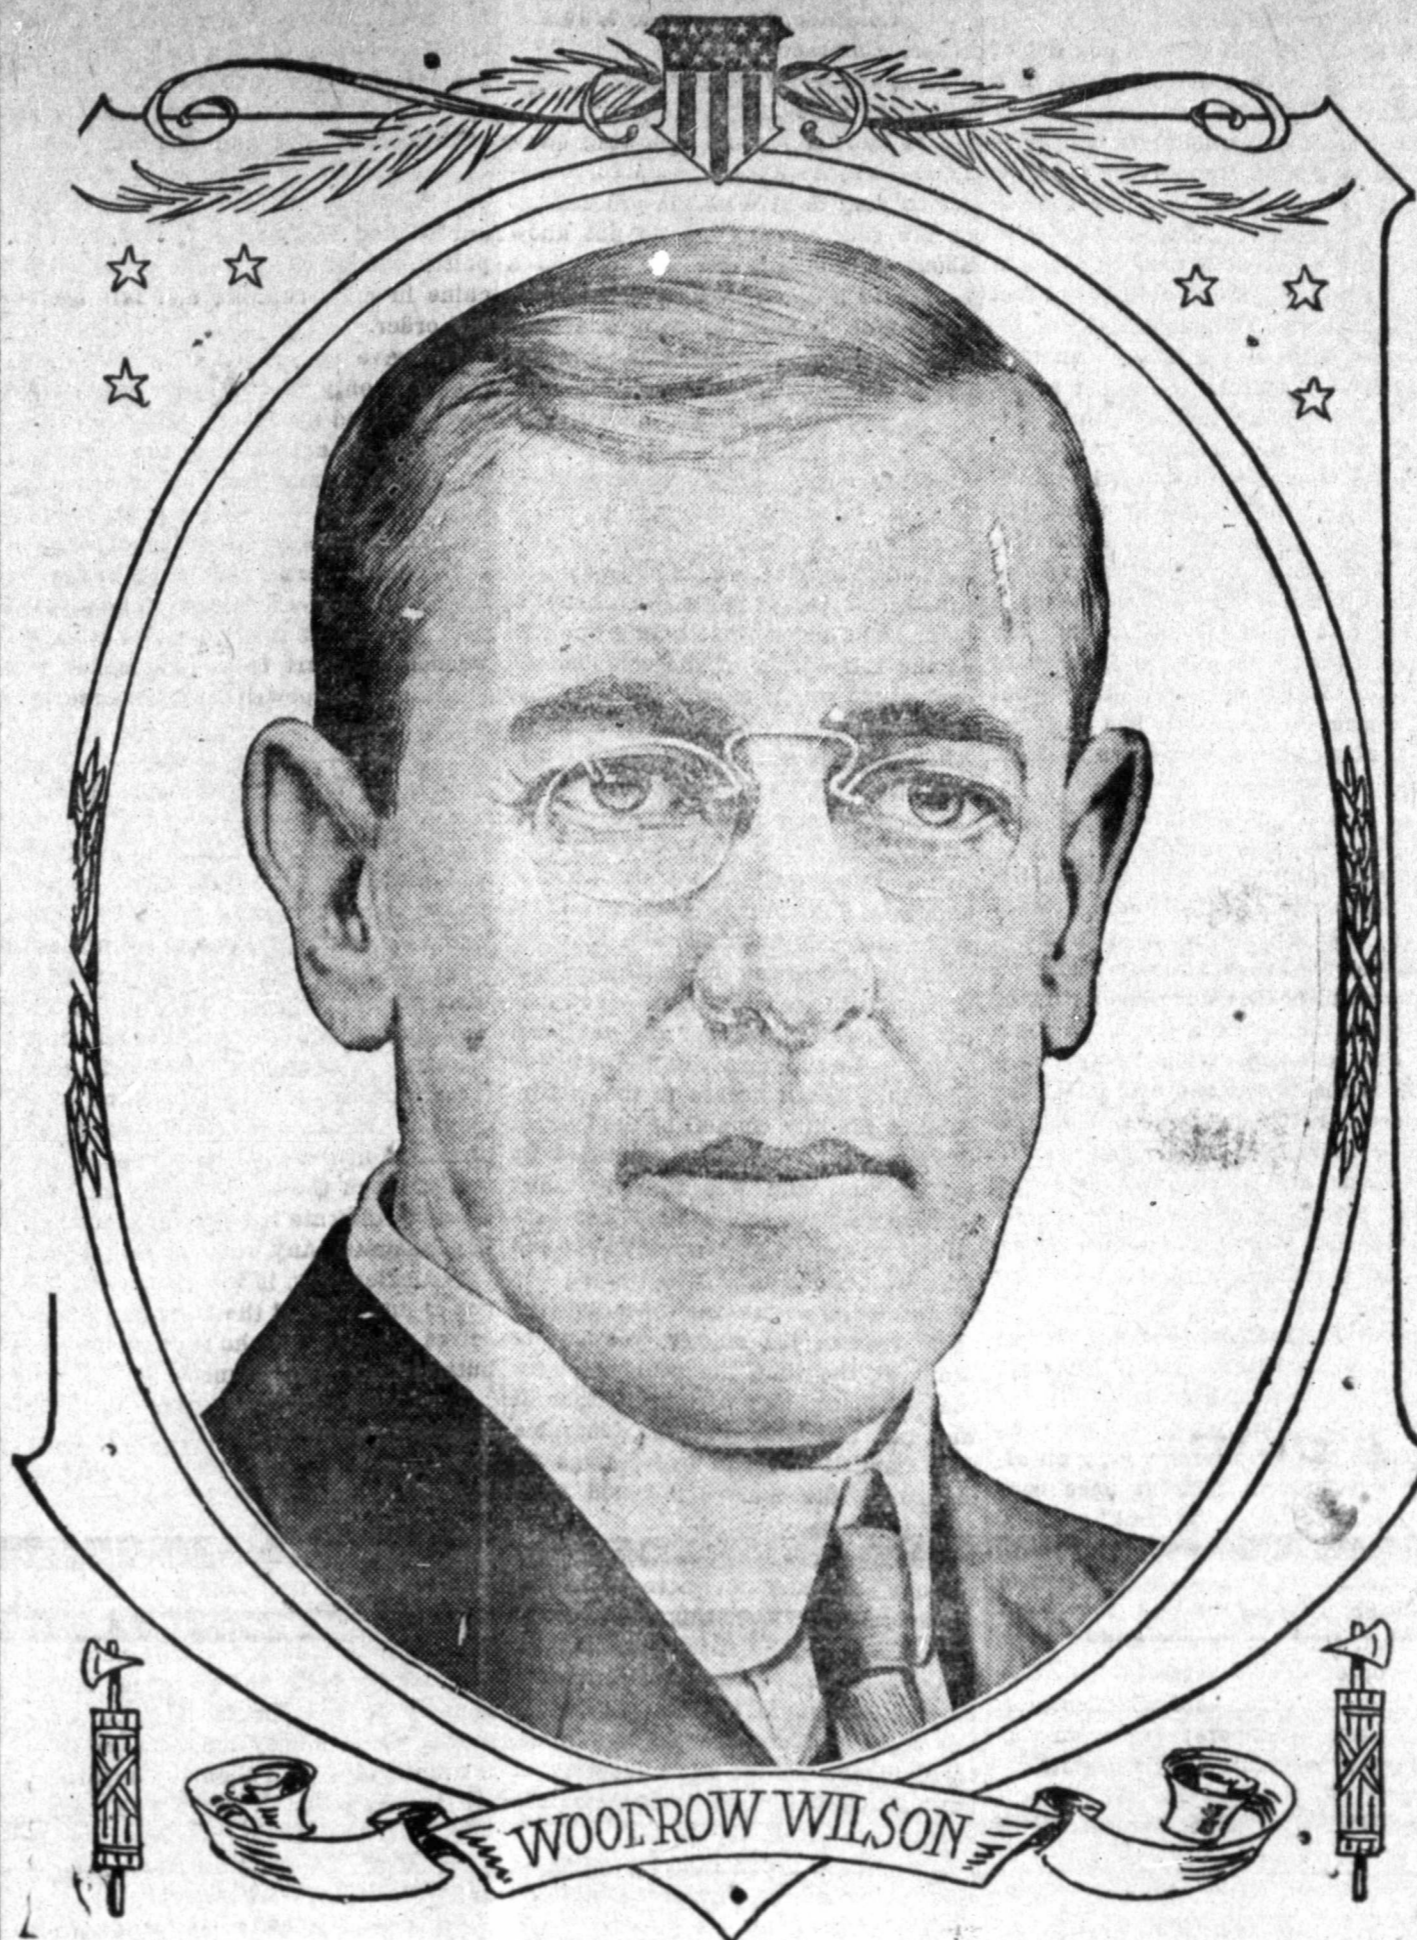

10 A. M. Thursday the Associated Press reports: "Wilson carried Washington and Idaho, Hughes wins in West Virginia. Tabulating New Hampshire votes gives Wilson unofficial lead of 93 votes."

Fort Worth Star-Telegram wires "Wilson almost certain."

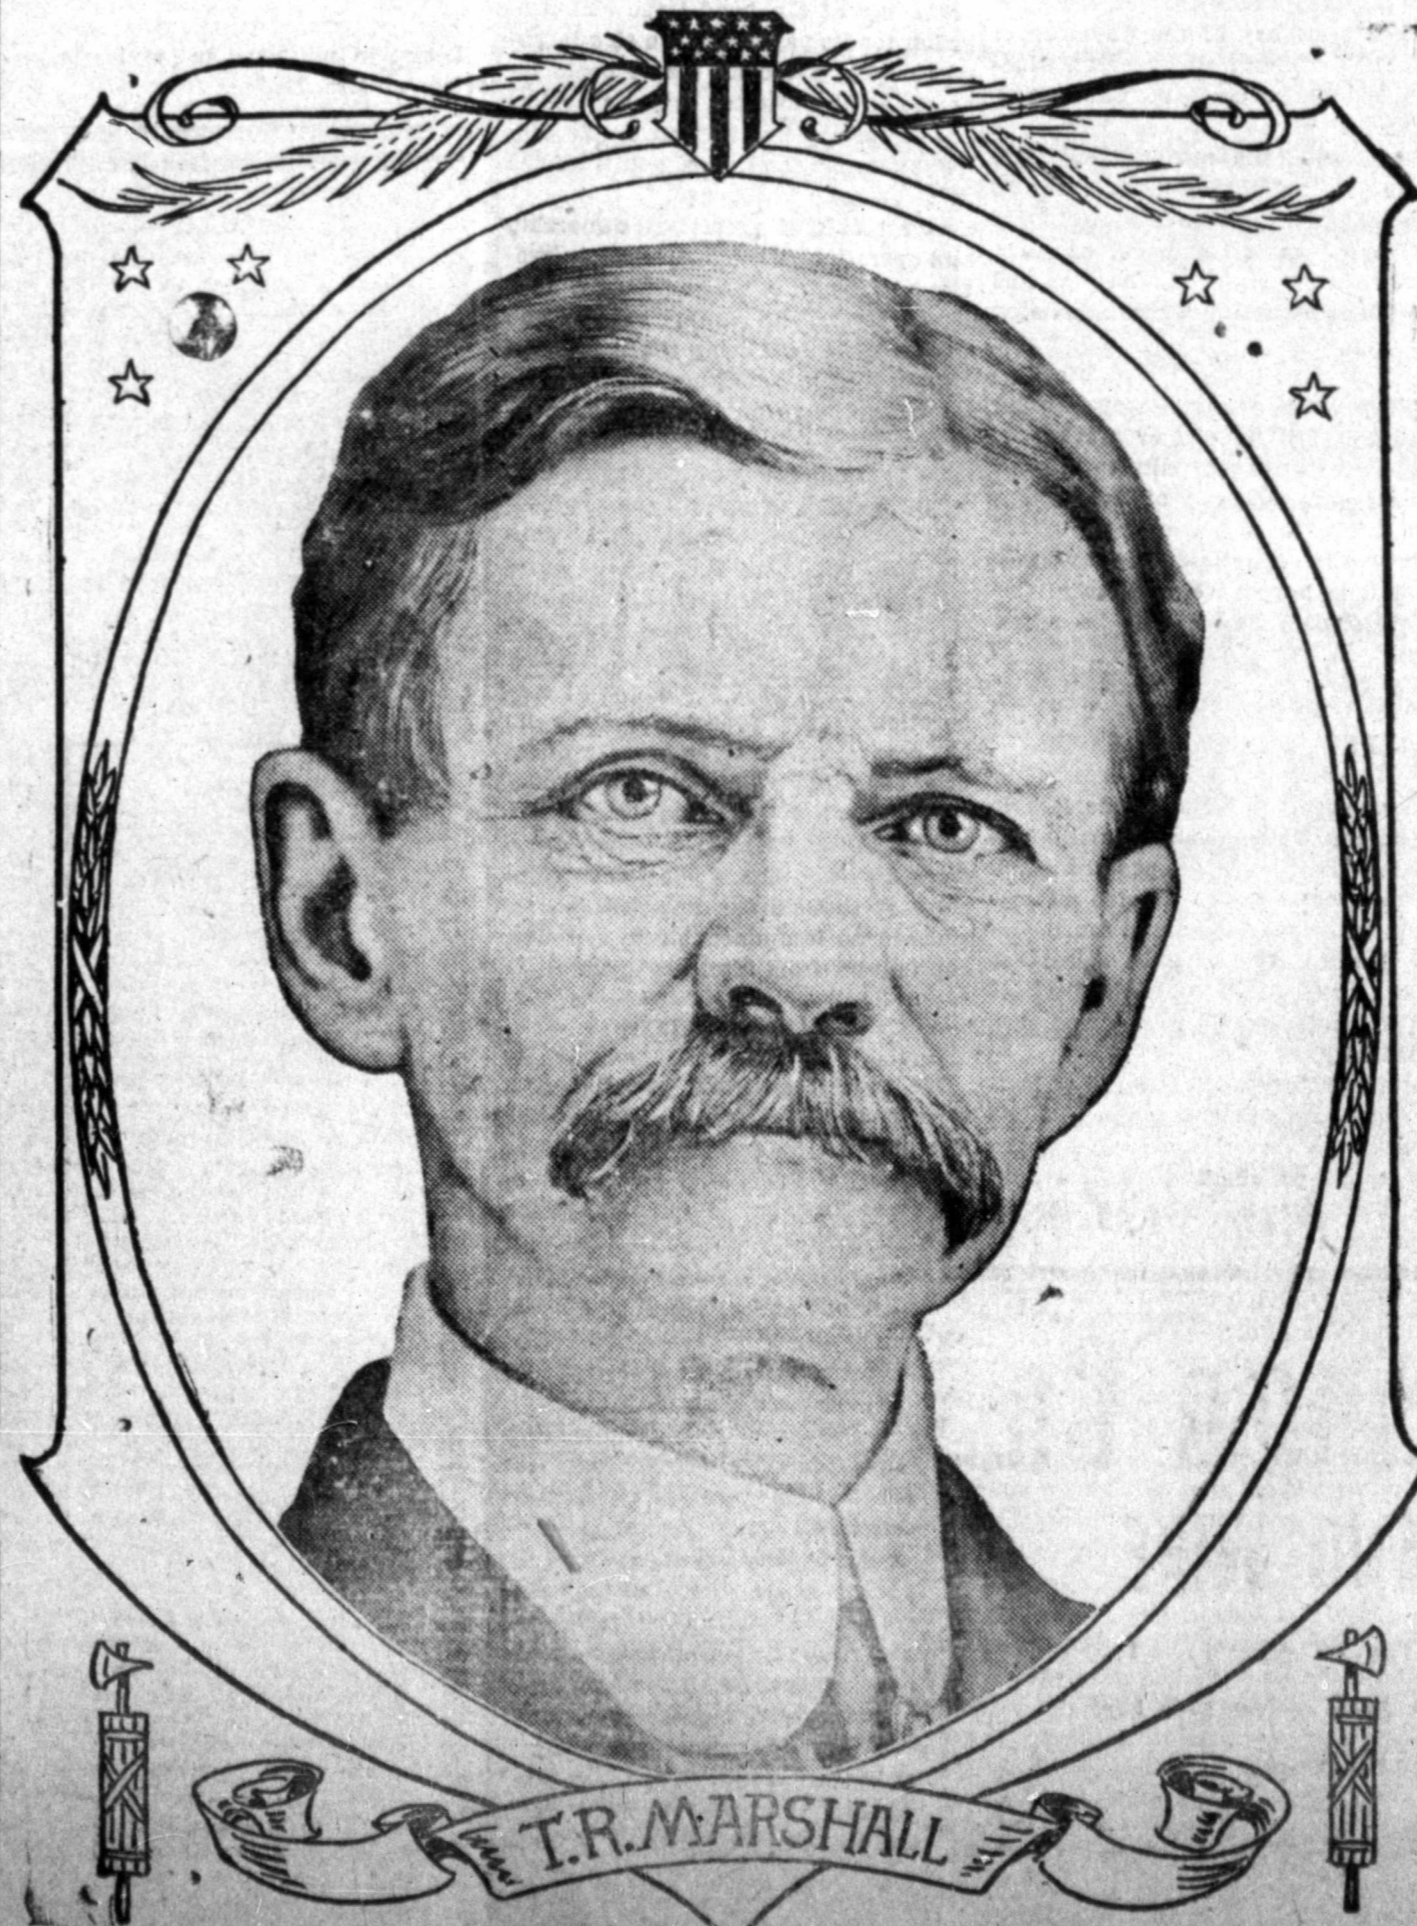

Associated Press to Postmaster at 10 A. M. Thursday reports Hughes 239 and Wilson 240 electoral votes.

Later report from Washington says Wilson wants only 10 and Hughes 28 electoral votes. Wilson can win with either California or Minnesota.

McCormick says Wilson can win without either California or Minnesota.

The Men of the Hour

A Doll's House

By ELINOR MARSH

Train robberies, which had quieted down during the early part of 1916, broke out with renewed vigor in the autumn of that year. One of these attacks was not only well planned, so far as getting treasure was concerned, but in getting away with it.

Jim Charney was the leader of the band that made the attack and chose the field of enterprise by personally investigating different points on the railroad he proposed to operate on. He discovered a cave concealed by thick undergrowth where a party of men might hide. So far as he could learn, no one knew of it. He proposed to rent a train as it passed within a few hundred yards of this cave. A part of the force would make off on horseback while another part with the plunder hid in the cave. A posse would follow those who had ridden away while the men in the cave waited till the excitement had died out and then make off.

The robbery was eminently successful. The train was stopped and the plunder taken from the express car. The robbers made off through a wood, dropping the treasure into the hands of four men who made their way to the cave unseen. Those who had ridden away were followed but not captured.

A surprise awaited those who had gone to the cave, among whom was Jim Charney, the leader of the gang. He had not been to the cave since he had discovered it several weeks before. On entering it he saw a doll in a little bed and several articles of doll furniture beside it.

The presence of this inanimate combination of china and sawdust caused a commotion on the part of the robbers. Some of them, fearing that their presence there might be discovered, were for moving at once. But Charney argued that the region of the robbery would be filled with persons moved by curiosity, if nothing more, and that any move for the present would be dangerous. If the child came to play in the cave she could be taken and held from giving information of their presence.

Little Margy Bickford, who lived on the other side of the rise from the mouth of the cave, was the child who had made the place a playhouse. On the afternoon of the robbery she started to go there to get her doll and bring it home. Coming to the rise, she passed over the roof of the cave, where there was a break in the rock that formed it, not sufficient to let in light, but through which sound might pass. The robbers had closed up the mouth of the cave and supposed that they might talk with freedom. At the time Margy was passing over the break in the roof they were discussing whether they should get out or remain where they were. The question was a matter of life or death with them, and their arguments were by no means subdued. Margy, hearing voices in the bowels of the earth beneath her, turned and ran back home as fast as her little legs would carry her. Her mother, seeing that the child had been frightened, questioned her and was told that some men were in her playhouse and would take her dolly away with them.

Mrs. Bickford had heard of the train robbery, and it was not long before she began to suspect the truth concerning the voices her daughter had heard in the cave. She went at once to a neighbor and reported the case. Unfortunately most of the men thereabout had gone off after the robbers, who had ridden away, and not enough men could be got together to warrant attacking an unknown number of desperadoes ensconced in a cave, so nothing was done except to station a boy of sixteen to watch the hiding place.

Charney decided to remain where the robbers were only till midnight, then to walk to the nearest station two miles distant and board a train that would stop there at a few minutes after 1 o'clock.

Billy Simpson, who was on watch, saw them leave the cave. He followed them to the station, near which they waited till they heard the train coming, and then went up on to the platform. Billy went to the rear car unseen by them and got aboard at the same time they did. There were four men in the gang, but they took separate seats. They paid the conductor their fare, and he passed on to the rear car, where Billy informed him as to the nature of the passengers who had just got on the train.

The conductor wrote a telegram, which he gave to Billy, instructing him to get off at the next station, five miles distant, and send it, believing that his own motions would be watched by the robbers. On reaching the station Billy stepped off on the dark side of the car unseen, and the train went on. The agent was in bed, but Billy routed him out, and the telegram was sent to a sizable town ten miles distant.

Meanwhile the conductor directed the engineer to slack speed that sufficient time might be given for preparation for a capture.

But few men could be got together in so short a time, and they were disguised, having boarded the train and went on with it. The robbers began to leave it one by one, thinking they were unsuspected. This rendered their capture easy, and they were all seized without a fight.

Little Margy, who had saved $40,000, was adopted by the express company. Billy was given a handsome reward and later a position on the railroad.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

We have over 1000 good citizens of Mitchell county who owe us from one to three dollars each on the paper, and we ask all to come see us within the next thirty days. Cotton selling at 11c and seed at $40, surely the newspaper man ought to get a dollar. Print paper has more than doubled in price, and everything else in proportion, yet we have not advanced the price of your paper. Consider this as a personal request to you and come in to see us. The Democratic slogan is, "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party." The Record's slogan is, "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the paper."

Who can doubt that Dallas is an enterprising burg? Its bad element can give the Apaches of Paris pointers in all the phases of crime. Not content with slugging unwary pedestrians and knocking out their gold teeth and fillings, they now are panning out the preachers. One of them held up a negro preacher one night last week on whom he realized 15c in money, a song book and a testament.

Mrs. L. B. Walker of Lorraine was canvassing in Colorado Monday for funds to assist in building a house of worship for the Southern Presbyterians in that town. Mrs. Walker and five other ladies have set themselves the noble task of raising the sum of $200 for this purpose, and are making a memorial quilt with the name of every contributor of only the embroidered on one of the stars of the quilt pattern. This little band of devout people have generously contributed to the building of a house of worship for every other denomination in that community, and now feel that their zeal if not their numbers is equal to erecting their own vine and fig tree. It is a worthy cause and any assistance given it will be greatly appreciated.

The love of a dollar or indifference to it will disclose a man's real self quicker and better than any other test. We may associate with a fellow for twenty years in the church, in the lodge room, on the street and in society, and still know absolutely nothing of the real man. We may think him a fairly good sort of chap; he always has his best side turned to us. But have a business transaction with him, when it comes down to doing the clean, square and manly thing when he can't be made to do it, when it comes to doing right because it is right; when it comes to going against his own interests because it's the right thing; then he shows his real nature as a man; whether he is a giant or a pigmy. You can get his dimensions in a minute under these conditions, when a lifetime association with him in all the organizations that propose to cultivate the moral side of man will reveal nothing of his real nature.

The little triangle of park on the Texas & Pacific right of way in the city of Abilene, is proving a decided advertising factor in that town's publicity. The Dallas News recently ran a picture of the little park under the heading of "civic attractiveness." The station grounds of the Santa Fe railway at San Angelo, are equal to a letter of credit and gilt-edge introduction to strangers and travellers arriving in that city. It is a veritable beauty spot and produces a most favorable impression on those seeing it for the first time. It is worth more both to the railway company and the city of San Angelo than ten times its cost and upkeep, by attracting business for the former and as a recommendation of the latter. A like beauty spot at the passenger station in Colorado, would prove no less a profitable investment for the railroad than it would an advertisement for the town itself. And now that the road and its policy toward the patronizing public have fallen into other and possibly less Fagin-like hands than its former managers, we will furnish our hope of securing that little park and spur extension.

Better be sure than sorry. Before putting up stoves see that your stove pipe is new and safe. Terrell makes a specialty of this work.

AND THEN DRIVE SOME.

Limberger cheese laid away in cupboards and refrigerators will drive away rats.—Exchange.

Quite so. It will drive a dog out of a tan yard; it will drive a spike in a brick; it will drive a tramp away from a meal of victuals; it will drive a mule through a barbed wire fence; it will drive a herd of cattle over a precipice; it will drive a negro away from a chicken roost or a man to insanity who stays five minutes within ten feet of its presence.—Camden Herald.

Quite so again. But the man who has never leisurely munched a salt pretzel, the while toying with a settling stein of cold larger beer between munches, knows nothing of the eternal fitness of the lowly and persistent limberger. Without its odoriferous and oleaginous lubricating admixture with the other ingredients of a furtive and inexpensive lunch, the formula would be a fizzle from mere chemical incompatibility. Say what you please, the limberger has its place and is able to speak to its own defense.

WUFF!

It is a regrettable fact that at the age when their grandmothers were being taught modesty, refinement, purity of speech and thought, and all of the domestic and economic virtues for which they were famous, the present day girls are vying with each other to see which one can select the sorriest burr head boy to fall in love with, acquiring a proficiency in rag time music, and a vocabulary of street corner slang.—Mineral Wells Index.

A sentence within a sentence. And, too our grandmothers lived to a ripe old age of seventy or so and died with a flock of grandchildren and great-grandchildren within reach. Although but few of them had the advantage of a broad education, yet they have been known to converse intelligently on almost any subject without once saying "Believe me" or "Listen!" or "Beg pardon?" or "Take it from me."

Grandmother used to be a person to tell your troubles to and kiss away the hurt, but very few of the present-day crop of weaker vessels will live to see grandchildren.—Abilene Reporter.

WEST TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

In obedience to an impulse shared by every newspaper publisher and editor in the great empire embraced between the 100th parallel of longitude and El Paso, and extending from the rim of the caprock to the Rio Grande, the West Texas Press Association was duly organized at San Angelo, on November 4th. The chief factor in the culmination of this needed organization, was Mr. Leroy Wilke, the most efficient secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of that city, himself a wide-awake and successful newspaper worker.

He induced the managers to designate the last day of the big fair as "Press Day" and invitations were sent every editor and publisher in West Texas to attend on that day and join the association. Quite a number were on hand, and the association duly organized. The roster of charter membership was left open in order to give every newspaper worker in West Texas an opportunity to come in without the payment of dues. The next annual meeting will be in the city of San Angelo during the fair, when it is hoped every paper in the congressional district will be represented. A list of the officers appears in another column of this paper.

A FEW IMPORTANT FACTS.

There seems to be no inconsiderable misunderstanding among tenants regarding their right to pasture stock on the crops they have made on places rented on the third and fourth basis. Several persons have asked the Record to find out the general status of the tenant in this regard and give it publicity.

After getting the opinion of a lawyer on the matter and reading the letter of the law, it is evident that the tenant has no right to pasture land leased for farming purposes without the consent of the landlord. And even after the crop has been gathered to the utmost divisible limit, the freehold may be injured by turning in of stock. These points, however, are easily arrived at, by mutual understanding between landlord and tenant.

Another question that is frequently misunderstood, is that of selling out a crop to a third party without the knowledge and consent of the landlord. The law is, that when a tenant disposes of his crop, he automatically forfeits his contract with the landlord, and the landlord has the right to take immediate charge of the crop and premises, and to appoint whomsoever he will to care for the place and gather the crop. This is the plain law expressed in popular vernacular.

HE WANTS TO KNOW.

The Record is in receipt this week of the following inquiry:
Colorado, Texas, Nov. 7, 1916.
Editor Colorado Record:

As a reader of your valuable paper and a tax payer in the city, I wish you would answer me the following question:—Why is it that you have failed for so long to give us the proceedings of the City Council? I do not know about others, but for me, it was a source of a great deal of satisfaction to be able to keep up with what was being done by our servants, who are doing so much gratis, for us.
Yours Kindly but Anxiously,
"HONEST ENQUIRER."

So far as the Record is responsible for the lapse in publicity regarding municipal legislation, receipts, disbursements, and other functions pertaining thereto, it has an invulnerable alibi. The Record has gladly published the full docket of the commissioners' court every month for the past ten years, and will do so indefinitely, when the docket is available. The Record will always be glad to publish the proceedings of any court, council or body that has the power to levy taxes upon the people of Mitchell county and the town of Colorado. It is the people's business, and in many counties and towns publication of this information is mandatory and the newspapers are paid for the publicity.

For several years the Record was cheerfully given access to the minute book of the city council of the City of Colorado, and regularly published its proceedings, and was told by many readers that the information they contained was of great interest to the tax payers of the town. The Record has offered to do so several times, but for some reason, the matter was not in shape at the time the requests were made. Assuming naturally, that it was not the wish of the Honorable City Council that its proceedings be published, the Record desisted from asking for its minutes.

In this connection, the Record wishes to state, that the increase in the municipal tax levy this year to 97 cents from the constitutional limit of 65 cents of last year, without any public explanation to the tax payers for the raise and reasons for the same, came in the nature of a surprise, it not a shock, to a majority of the smaller tax payers of the town.

The Record heard of the raise from a citizen who had proffered his taxes on the basis of last year's levy—65c—when he was informed that he would be compelled to pay 97 cents this year. No explanation of the raise was vouchsafed him, he said. The Record then consulted an attorney, who had charge of the recent suit on the old bond issue on behalf of the city, and from him learned the facts in regard to the refunding of the bond issue and provision for its payment. We also learned by what authority the 31 cents increase in the city tax levy was made. His statement was verified by the City Secretary and the Record published the facts several weeks ago.

The result of municipal ownership and operation of the water supply system of the city is today merely a matter of rumor with the tax payers, who would appreciate being taken into the city council's confidence, at least to the extent of an annual financial public exhibit.

So far as the Record is concerned, it would be glad to publish the proceedings of every meeting of the city council, believing that they are of more interest to the people who pay the freight, than to any other class. And in all fairness, we submit the question—What commercial or industrial corporation would consent to have its business attended to by officers of its own choosing, without an occasional accounting for the condition of the business? A city corporation is no more nor less than a joint stock company of the citizens and tax payers, and are no less amenable to criticism and inquiry from interested parties.

FAIR WARNING

We give it out cold and flat. The very next son-of-a-bitch that comes into this office and looks like he is fixing to say something about repairing typewriter, had better arrange for transportation to the junk pile with the city scavenger before he hits the door. Before we brain him on the seat of his pants, we'll give him a fit with our "evil eye." Drat the whole litter of 'em.

We've bought three several breeds and styles of typewriter since directing the spiritual destinies of this paper. Not one of them had been worn into smooth running order before some agent guy blew in and calmly informed us out of the corner of his mouth, that we had made a fatal mistake in buying the kind of machine we were trying to write on, and would be galled up by trading in our machine for about one-fifth of its cost, for one of his. And about the time we were getting onto the curves of the new machine, in would blow some fellow with a dirty shirt and a hair-cut coming his way; look over our typewriter, turn it up-side-down, pull up her (steamboats, locomotives and typewriters are classed as feminine in gender and reference because of the noise they make) clothes, point out evidences of dirt and neglect, shake his head at its wretched state and look at us with a criminal indictment in his hard-boiled eye, and say, that for the paltry sum of $5 he would put the machine in good running and fair spelling order.

We have up to this time fallen for the bait, only to find after the faker had collected his money and gone, that the repaired condition of the typewriter was a deranged sight worse than its hopeless one. We had our positively last experience in this line of bunko this week. We've took the cure, and intend to take a leadpipe billy to the next burglar of this type that tries to wrench us apart from real money by putting our typewriter in a worse fix than it was.

AND NOW FOR THE SICK MAN.

Now that the election is over, there will likely be something doing in the cactus patch to the south of us. The renaissance of old Villard and confessed weakness of Caranza, together with the evident facility of any kind of international conference between this country and Mexico, demand that something definite be done, and that quickly. Enough of the true condition of things in the interior of Mexico filters through the Anahuac line on both sides, to indicate its wretchedness and hopelessness. Any remedy that could help Mexico now, is worth beyond the power and skill of the Mexicans themselves. There is no hope other than in outside help and counsel.

The most acute phase of the national malady is economic. The peons have no incentive to stop looting and brigandage. In the present condition of chaos they can take a living wherever they can find it with impunity; whereas under the usual Mexican normal conditions, the taking of a handful of beans meant years of peonage. There is no work, and no money in the country to pay for it, if there were work. Good money must be put into a country first and then the opportunity to work for it given the peons, with safety of life and security of what they work for. All other measures and policies overlooking these fundamental needs, will prove as abortive as the half-baked and shuffling methods already tried by so-called statesmen of that country. Opportunity to work in safety and money to pay for it, being given, all the other ills that afflict that irresponsible country, will fall into line for solution in their turn.

It is the poor little country newspaper that is caught between the devil and the deep blue sea in the present gripping crisis of high priced material. He may have stood at his post for a quarter of a century faithfully chronicling the happenings of his community and holding fast to the traditions of the fathers on the tenets of government, always standing for the right in upholding the integrity of his community on every question touching its civic, aesthetic or moral welfare, never for one week missing an entrance to the homes of his patrons, always bearing the seal of honest effort and hard work. But now, when the war dogs of Europe are spreading consternation over two-thirds of the world's surface and the price of everything touched by human hands has advanced 200 to 360 per cent., his patrons expect him to continue his work at the same old scale. Everything that goes into the makeup of his products (the finished newspaper and the finished job) has advanced in proportion to all other raw material, and besides that, (no editor has yet learned how to get along without eating a little and wearing a few clothes) everything he uses in the way of food and clothing he has to pay the advanced price. If indeed the country newspaper is a worthy institution it is fully justified in asking of its patrons a compensation for its services in keeping with the advance in all other lines of industry. Don't you think so?

"LET THE WRITING PEOPLE WRITE."

In renewing his subscription to the Record, Judge John A. Slescher, editor of "Leslie's" asks that we "observe the correct spelling of his name." Fortunately we are able to do so by reason of its being printed on the letterhead, rather than gathering it from the autograph. Thanks, Judge, just the same.

It is a wonderful thing to be happy. But it is a more wonderful thing to be happy and know it. If you are the former, why not the latter, an exchange observes. You go this way but once, so don't wait until the sunshine is blotted out by some trouble to realize how happy you were. Don't always be rushing after something else and always thinking, "By and by when I get this or that I shall be happy." Be happy now.

Quality You Can See for Yourself

Quality in a motor car is frequently no more than a doubtful claim of the maker.

Dort quality is actual working quality that shows itself in results.

The high speed, long stroke motor carries the Dort through—regardless of road conditions. The Westinghouse two-unit electric starting and lighting system, found on no other car in this class, always responds. The big 50 1/2 inch full cantilever springs in the rear ward off the jolts. The crank and cam shafts, made extra heavy, always eliminate vibration. The deep upholstery is always comfortable. The sturdy frame is always dependable.

You don't have to take Dort quality "on faith." It is apparent the moment you lift the hood. The results are evident the moment you start the car. See this quality for yourself. Send for booklet.

A NORTHERNER'S TRIBUTE TO THE SOUTHLAND

Though much has been written of the South, it seems to me that this part of our country is less understood than any other part. Certainly the South itself, feels that this is true. Its relationship to the North makes me think of nothing so much as that of a pretty, sensitive wife to a big, strong amiable, if somewhat thick-skinned husband. These two had one great quarrel which nearly resulted in divorce. He thought her headstrong; she thought him overbearing. The quarrel made her ill; she has been for some time recovering. But though they have settled their difficulties and are living again in amity together, and though he, manlike, has half forgotten that they ever quarreled at all, now that peace reigns in the house again, she has not forgotten.

There still lingers in her mind the feeling that he never really understood her, that he never understood her problems and her struggles, and that he never will. And it seems to me further that, as is usually the case with wives who consider themselves misunderstood, the fault is partly, but by no means altogether, hers. He, upon one hand, is inclined to pass the matter off with a: "There, there! It's all over now. Just be good and forget it." While she, in the depths of her heart, retains a little bit of wistfulness, a little hurt feeling which causes her to say to herself: "Thank God our home was not broken up, but—I wish that he could be a little more considerate of my feelings, sometimes, in view of all that I have suffered."

For my part, I am the humble but devoted friend of the family. Having known him first, having been from boyhood his companion, I may perhaps have sympathized with him in the beginning. But since I have come to know her too, this is no longer so.

And I do think I know her—prudent, sensitive, high strung, generous, captivating beauty that she is! Moreover after the fashion of many another "friend of the family," I have fallen in love with her.—Julian Street in Collier's Weekly.

COLORADO ASTONISHED BY SIMPLE MIXTURE

Colorado people are astonished at the INSTANT action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-ka. ONE SPOONFUL removes such surprising foul matter it leaves almost ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas. Because Adler-ka acts on BOTH lower and upper bowel, a few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble.—W. L. Doss. Adv4

TIME TO THINK.

A man who built a bungalow with his own hands acknowledged that he hadn't the skill to hone a razor.

This was nothing to his discredit. We are not all endowed with the same gift. Some have the gift of tongues, some of scientific knowledge, some of finance, medicine, law, and some of theology.

What this world needs is the right man in the right place. This nation needs most of all a statesman for a statesman's job.

What would be thought of a clerk, machinist or barber who should undertake to solve the problems of astronomy or to make the rounds of the physician in administering to the sick?

Yet under our form of government we can and do elect to our lawmaking bodies men with no legislative experience, no conception of the limitations of the law and no business knowledge—men with smooth tongues and persuasive ways, persistent seekers for public place.

As a result, we enact laws one year that must be repealed the next, because they will not stand the test of the courts. All the time and money spent in such legislation is worse than wasted, and the patient taxpayers foot the bill.

Still worse, we have laws so unfair, inequitable and destructive that they cripple business, handicap trade and restrict commerce, and once more the taxpayers foot the bill.

Even our friendly relations with foreign nations are endangered by loose legislation. Thus we are becoming the laughing-stock of diplomatic circles.

The craze for lawmaking that has encumbered the statute books with a mass of undesirable and unnecessary laws is the natural result of a system that tolerates mediocrity in high places.

The oppressive and constantly increasing burden of taxation, national, State and municipal, has become a very serious matter. Who is to blame? Let the thinking people think.—Jno. A. Sleicher, in Leslie's Weekly.

10-CENT "CASCARETS" BEST LAXATIVE FOR LIVER AND BOWELS.

Don't Stay Constipated, Headachy, Bilious, With Breath Bad or Stomach Sour.

No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels; how much your head aches, how miserable and uncomfortable you are from a cold, constipation, indigestion, biliousness and sluggish bowels—you always get relief with Cascarets.

Don't let your stomach, liver and bowels make you miserable. Take Cascarets to-night; put an end to the headache, biliousness, dizziness, nervousness, sick, sour, gassy stomach, bad cold, offensive breath and all other distress; cleanse your inside organs of all the bile, gases and constipated matter which is producing the misery.

A 10-cent box means health, happiness and a clear head for months. All druggists sell Cascarets. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too.

THE KNOCKER.

The Salt Lake City Times gives us a definition of the Knocker which, though severe, rather hits the nail squarely: "After God had finished the rattlesnake, the toad, and the vampire. He had some awful 'substance' left with which He made the 'knocker.' A knocker is a two-legged animal with a corkscrew soul, a water-logged brain, and a combination backbone made of jelly and glue. Where other people have their hearts he carries a tumor of rotten principles. When the knocker comes down the street honest men turn their backs, the angels weep in heaven, and the devil shuts the gates of hell to keep him out. No man has the right to knock as long as there is a pool of water deep enough to drown his body in or a rope to hang his carcass with. Judas Iscariot was a gentleman compared to a knocker, for after betraying his Master he had enough character to hang himself, and a 'knocker' has not.

ALL CHILDREN LOVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS

Give it When Feverish, Cross, Bilious, For Bad Breath or Sour Stomach

Look at the tongue, Mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without gripping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative," they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt. Adv4

KEEPING AHEAD.

It was an American business firm who some forty-three years ago showed the world how to perfect the medicinal properties of cod liver oil and make it pleasant to take which immediately popularized cod liver oil throughout the whole world.

Not content with this great success, however, Scott & Bowne have continued to evolve methods and machinery to keep Scott's Emulsion finer, purer and richer than the imitations which appeared after their plans, and today every precaution that human ingenuity can devise is employed to keep Scott's Emulsion the finest and purest medicinal food in the world.

The refining of raw cod liver oil as practiced with the crude equipment available along the Norwegian coast has never squared with the ideals of Scott & Bowne and they have just completed a spacious refining plant adjoining their laboratories in Bloomfield, N. J., which is refrigerated to the climate of Norway and equipped with unusual sanitary devices which will forever insure a supreme quality of cod liver oil in every bottle of Scott's Emulsion and place it above and beyond all commercial substitutes which may contain the usual suspicious or adulterated oils.

SAN ANGELO A GREAT TOWN.

We visited San Angelo last week for the first time in several years. We were prepared for many improvements, but like the Queen of Sheba touching the glories of polygamous old King Sol, the half had not been published even in the red-rooster editions of friend Murphy's Standard. What we saw (saw, mind you) fairly staggered us. Buildings that we had looked upon a few years ago as "doing credit to the city," show up today like adobe deserts beside a marble skyscraper. Streets that were then shoe-mouth deep in impalpable lime dust, are today paved with Nicholson blocks and asphaltum, along which the purring limosines of the plutocratic sheep and cattle men, tool with liveried chauffeurs in innocuous insouciance. The public buildings of the town, one of the surest measurements of a community's civic pride, are the equal of any city in the state. Excepting possibly San Antonio, no finer nor more attractive postoffice and federal court building exists in all West Texas, than in San Angelo.

Its parks, drives and other beauty spots, are yet in the formative stage, but when fully developed on the lines laid out, will compare with the very best of them in the larger cities. The topography of the town, in conjunction with the ever-living North Concho river, lend themselves to quick and easy beautification. In this special respect, Nature has met men half way; but in the purely agricultural aspect of the contributing territory's potentialities, man has been compelled to carry the heavy end of the burden. This is evidenced by the sparseness of farms, except in the immediate river bottoms. But the glory of the town and that of the country that supports it, lies in their matchless advantages as a wool market and cattle raising section. With other towns of West Texas that have for the nonce enjoyed the reputation of being the "biggest cattle shipping point in the southwest," this distinction moved westward with the projection of the railroads. Not so with San Angelo. There abides inherently in the town and in its traditions, the very spirit and genius of the old sheep and cattle days: It will remain headquarters for the wool market of the southwest so long as that industry survives. While to the genuine as well as to the modern imitation cowpuncher, "redlicker with ham-and" will never taste just the same elsewhere as in good old San Angelo.

But we have "som'at agin" the town. There was but one rift in the lute that caused a discordant wheeze in the otherwise harmonious symposium of evident prosperity. Of course it is that abandoned street railway that ramifies throughout the town, and the owner of which, we understand, after making practically every dollar of his great wealth from the development of the town and section, preferred to abandon his investment and franchise rather than extend the line to meet the growing demands of its patronage. Be this as it may—somebody is going to play the Good Samaritan to the wounded industry and reap a fortune for himself as well as serving his day and generation. On our return to San Angelo next fall (d. v.) we fully expect to joy ride on it at least a quarter's worth, at our own expense.

Any mention of San Angelo, retrospective or otherwise, would be like playing Hamlet with the Melancholy Dane left out, without special mention of Pat Murphy, the owner, publisher, editor and general Poo Bah of the Standard, which swings the golden censor and officiates in the office of High Priest and Prophet for that bulky town and section. Pat Murphy is an Irishman; he admits it himself publicly, though his name is slightly misleading as to his racial traits. (Confidentially, we've personally suspected Pat of being rinctured with the heresy common to most Orangemen.) Tradition has it that he "hoped" dig the trenches in which both Concho rivers now run; but Tradition will have to show us. For today, like Moses, when he had waxed an hundred and twenty years old, his eye is not dim, nor his natural strength one whit abated.

NOW LOOKOUT.

When a cold hangs on as often happens, or when you have hardly gotten over one cold before you contract another, lookout for you are liable to contract some very serious disease. This succession of colds weakens the system and lowers the vitality so that you are much more liable to contract chronic catarrh, pneumonia or consumption. Cure your cold while you can. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a great reputation. It is relied upon by thousands of people and never disappoints them. Try it. It only costs a quarter, and it is obtainable everywhere. Adv

DAIRY SHOW AT DENVER.

One of the most interesting features of the next annual National Western Stock Show at Denver, which opens on January 20, will be a full-fledged Dairy Show. The rapid development of the dairy industry through the Rocky mountain states has made this feature of the annual show an absolute necessity. The coming exhibition will be held under the auspices of the Colorado State Dairymen's Association, and will contain dairy cattle of all the principal breeds from practically all of the Rocky Mountain states. A full classification has been provided, with more than $5,000 in premiums. The show will have the support of the principal breed record associations, and it is expected that it will be of wonderful value in the dairy industry in the west.

Austin, Nov. 2.—Gifts from John Sealey and Mrs. R. Waverly Smith of Galveston to the Medical Department of the University of Texas, amounting to $387,000 were duly acknowledged in resolutions passed by the Board of Regents when they met in Austin, Oct. 24. These gifts consisted mainly of the John Sealy Hospital, newly remodeled and equipped, and a woman's hospital used in connection therewith. In acknowledging this large gift to the University, the Board of Regents say, "A gift of this nature, made for the beneficent purpose indicated, entirely without solicitation upon the part of any of the friends of the University but purely because these generous friends of the institution and lovers of mankind have felt moved so to do, is deserving of the highest tribute of respect and appreciation upon the part, not only of the representatives of the University of Texas but for the entire commonwealth."

MISTAKEN INDEPENDENCE

No, Sir! You can't be forced to do any thing—except by physical power. You can stand out in the middle of the prairie and freeze to death, or sit down and starve to death, while being continually asked to share the fire with others or invited to come up to the table and eat. And some people are inclined to boast that such exhibitions of resistance indicate an independent spirit. There is no independence about it. The quality of independence is always linked with reason. Of course such as here cited would be extreme cases, but the same spirit is seen every day in the year in a milder form. There are many men who take a delight in snubbing any suggestion for public improvements of any kind. They feel secure within themselves, and as to "public" interests, let the "other fellow" attend to that. And nine cases out of ten what ever material weight such men may claim, has come to them through the operation of public enterprise. Such men are not "independent", but they are dependent—take the public away from them and they would be as the wandering Jew.

For Winter Colds

You need a tonic. Strength is required to overcome the trouble. Let that tonic be one that is especially valuable in catarrhal conditions, and you can conquer the cold. A cold is acute catarrh; it may become chronic. Chronic catarrh frequently becomes systemic, involving the stomach and the intestinal tract, as well as the nose or throat. It means stagnation.

PERUNA IS INVIGORATION

It clears away the waste matter, dispels the inflammation and tones up the system. For forty-five years it has been used in catarrh by thousands of grateful sufferers, who willingly tell the world of their relief. Peruna's long history of helpfulness is the best evidence that it is what you should take.

Liquid or tablet form for your convenience. Manalin is the ideal laxative and liver tonic. In tablet form it is delicious to take, mild and effective, without unpleasant effects, and will not form a habit. Liquid, 35c and $1.00; tablets, 15c and 35c. THE PERUNA CO., Columbus, O.

LOCAL NOTES

Mrs. B. F. Mills, the old reliable millinery establishment, still pleases its patrons.

No niftier block of business houses can be found in any town of West Texas than that made up of the new Laney houses and the City National Bank's new home. It would do credit to any city in the state.

Buy your ice cream from Ben Morgan—contains no oils, no condensed or evaporated milk. Nothing but sweet cream.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. It stops the cough, and headache and works off the cold. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. W. W. GROVE'S signature on each box. 25c.

The work on the City National Bank building will show up more from the present stage forward than heretofore. The heavy construction part of the work is out of the way. The setting of the tile floor in the lobbies, the placing of the stairway and openings with the finishing coat on the walls, constitute the bulk of the work to be done aside from putting in the bank fixtures. Another month will likely see the completion of the building and its occupancy by the bank force. The Record confidently expects this popular institution to celebrate its installation into its new home with some kind of swell function—and we've never yet been disappointed in our expectations of it doing the "most properest thing" in epoch-making contingencies.

A CONSIDERABLE BLAZE

Fire Destroys the Winn & Payne Business Block Tuesday Night—Good Work by the Fire Boys.

Just after the circus exhibition last Tuesday night, and while a majority of the citizens of Colorado were hearing the election returns announced at the opera house, the air was shattered by the most demoniacal quavering blast of the switch engine handling the circus train at the station, accompanied by several pistol shots. It then broke on the understanding that a fire was in progress in the business section of the town. After some delay, the regular driver being absent, the truck got under way, and on the scene.

By this time, the roof of the Winn & Payne warehouse on the east side of the brick building, had burst into flames, and it was evident that the property could not be saved. The efforts were made to confine the flames and protect the adjacent building as much as possible. The wind from the south, which had been high all through the day, had by this time somewhat abated, else the entire block from Walnut to Elm and north to Second streets had inevitably gone up in smoke. But the fire boys did excellent work and soon had the metal-roofed part of the block under control, but this meant the loss of the brick part of the structure, which was to windward of the original fire.

But a small part of the stock and furnishings of the Winn & Payne business was saved, the great bulk of it consisting of iron findings, gasoline engines, meta' work, plumbing material, hardware and metal working machines. Nothing of this nature was saved, but not all of it is a total loss. The burned-over stock will doubtless salvage no small amount. The property is a total loss, which Mr. John T. Johnson, the owner, assures us was fully covered by insurance.

Winn & Payne were not made whole by their insurance, as we understand that only $4,000 were carried on their stock. Another regrettable feature of the loss is that a deal had been consummated for the sale of the business to J. P. Hunter, and delivery to have been made on November 15th. We also learn that no inventory had been made of the stock, fixtures, accessories, etc., at time of the fire.

The location made vacant by this fire, is among the most eligible and valuable in the city, and the acquiring of this property for the erection of the new hotel building, was favored by many citizens of the town. It is valuable property with nothing on it. When seen Wednesday morning by the Record, Mr. Johnson was non-committal as to his intentions in rebuilding. But the Record believes it will not remain unimproved very long after another good crop is made in Mitchell county. Charlie Taylor lost approximately $100 by the fire, his bill posting outfit, material, etc., having been stored in the warehouse, with no insurance.

Collateral Blazes.

About 2 o'clock Wednesday morning another alarm was turned in and a small blaze extinguished in the rear of Coughran's store, and still another just before six o'clock near the same locality. About 1:15 in the afternoon, still another alarm was given and the fire truck made a quick run to the same block, where an incipient fire was going in one of the stalls on the west side of the Webb wagon yard warehouse, between the manger and the wall. This was also quickly extinguished, but the recurrence of these small blazes in places protected from flying sparks tended to create a suspicion that all was not accidental or aftermaths of the original fire, the origin of which no one accounts for.

ALVA HICKMAN'S LEG BROKEN.

While going hunting in an auto party last Tuesday, Alva Hickman and Billie Moeser met with an accident a few miles below Jolantha. One of the front wheels of the car was smashed and the car overturned several times in descending an embankment. Alva's leg was caught by the car and broken just above the ankle joint.

A telephone message to town brought a car to his assistance and he was brought home about four o'clock Wednesday morning, another car going down later and brought in the worked one. Billie Moeser escaped unhurt from the mixup. Alva is doing very nicely and expects to be on his old job again within a jiffy and a little more.

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK.

Acts Like dynamite on a sluggish Liver and you Lose a Day's Work.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel with 50 cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate. Children and growa folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.

A PERFECT DAY IT WAS.

If we owed a man a perfect day and he would not accept last Tuesday in full payment of the debt, he might sue to his heart's content. The conjunction of a national election, the biggest circus on earth, a rip-roaring fire, a fist-cuff between two firemen as to which should do more hard work—all topped off and dashed with a refreshing shower of gracious rain, comes just about as nearly filling the bill for a perfect day in a country town, as fate and the blunderings of man can do it.

EAT WITHOUT FEAR OF INDIGESTION OR SOUR, ACID STOMACH

Instant Relief! "Pape's Diapepsin" Ends Your Stomach Trouble Forever.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps, head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women to-day know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary. Adv's

COLE BROTHERS CIRCUS

The best circus treat the people of Colorado and vicinity have enjoyed in ten years was the two exhibitions of Cole Brothers' big show here last Tuesday. Its date in conjunction with the national election, brought a big crowd to town, with the peaceful bent of saving the nation and having a good time simultaneously—and they did both.

The street parade was an unusually fine one, both as the number and beauty of its horses and the caged menagerie. The elephants of which pachyderm there were three and the half dozen fine specimens of both kinds of camels, attracted much attention. Both performances were given to capacity tops. It was the only circus that someone, assuming to be used to better things, did not pronounce "rotten." Everyone who attended said it was a good show.

BUSINESS MEN NEED SPIRIT OF '76

SHOULD LEAVE LESS MONEY AND MORE LIBERTY TO POSTERITY.

Good Citizenship Can Build an Empire Upon a Rock.

By J. S. Cuffina

Chairman Texas Economic League.

The business men of this country have been accused of being cowardly, indifferent and selfish in their relations to government, but the average business man has perhaps had less to do with shaping the political policies of the country than any other class of citizens, and therefore very little responsibility for the present state of affairs can be laid at his door. The most serious charge that can be successfully lodged against him is that he accepts slavery in preference to sovereignty in his citizenship, and there is nothing so dreadful or so difficult to overcome as voluntary servitude. But as a whole he is to be pitied rather than condemned. He cannot tell whether he is honest by consulting his conscience. He must ask his lawyer. The right to think has been legislated out of him. Individuality has been torn from him by law. He is but a ghost of the citizen created by the Constitution of the United States. Not only have liberty and freedom become vague and uncertain terms subject to contradictory interpretations of those who hold office, but so complicated has the citizen's relation to government become that human rights is a floating substance moved by the current of legal opinion, and the remedy lies in a more active, patriotic and responsible citizenship.

The business men of this nation need the spirit shown by the business men of '76, when Robert Morris, the nation's wealthiest citizen opened his purse strings and said, "I will give all I have to my country except my integrity," when John Dickinson the wealthy farmer stepped forward and said, "It's my duty to leave liberty to my children, but not my duty to leave wealth to them," and Benjamin Franklin over 70 years of age when called by the Continental Congress said, "I am old and good for nothing, I am but the rag end, take me for what you please."

Men and Money Needed

I want men to join me in the work of the Texas Economic League in giving the rag-ends of their lives and a part of their money to getting this country back to the Americanism of Washington and the liberty of Jefferson. There are many of us in Texas who need to leave less money and more liberty to our children. I believe I make no mistake

Optometrist and Optician

In saying that the general trend of business men of wealth in this country today is to reverse the statement of Morris, Dickinson and Franklin. The readiness with which some of our citizens plead guilty to business crimes, suggest the conclusion that they are willing to give their country their integrity if they can keep their money, and it seems to be universal conceded by most business men that it is their duty to leave wealth to their children, but not their duty to leave liberty to them.

I am not one of those who believe that the solution of this problem lies in business men making laws, holding offices and sitting upon juries, although it is a laudable thing to do, and a duty that no good citizen should shirk. This country could survive the ordeal if we did not pass another law for ten years, and it was never contemplated that the people should depend upon office holders to preserve their rights. The contest for liberty has always been between government and the citizens, and bad government is always the result of bad citizenship. Neither do I believe that the liberty and freedom of this country can be preserved by endowing foundations, universities, churches and libraries. Greece gave us the most polished and powerful products of the human race, and while the world, ignorant savages destroyed her government, and led her mad minds captive to foreign countries—the result of bad citizenship. Palestine gave us the mightiest religious teachers in all civilization, and while the world was marveling over her faith and her miracles, infidels and heathens destroyed her Temple and threw her prophets in prison—the result of bad citizenship.

The pages of history abundantly prove that neither the fertility of the soil nor the business sagacity of the people are sufficient safeguards for the preservation of safe government. The Ptolemies of Ancient Egypt established a powerful dynasty in the most fertile valley on the globe, but it withered and died as a result of bad citizenship. The mighty Caesar established in the Roman Empire the world's greatest financial center and all nations and all men paid tribute to the money powers of Rome, but the nation crumbled and fell as a result of bad citizenship. Good citizenship can build an empire upon a rock and bad citizenship will make a desert of the most fertile country on the globe.
