GLIMPSES OF THE PAST.

From the Colorado Clipper of November 9, 1901, Rehashed in the Light of the Present Day.

Hec McEachin was vice-president of the publishing company and editor of the paper at this date, and a sprightly journal he made of it. The Colorado Clipper of those days was regarded as one of the most readable and attractive country newspapers in West Texas, and this writer heard of it long before he came to the town. McEachin was in himself, a character. We knew his father and his father's forebears back in the piney woods of old Miss. Hec was always up high in his genealogical tree, wedged fast between two recalcitrant limbs. After leaving Colorado in 1901, he went to Fort Worth, where he was connected with the Livestock Reporter. Thence he drifted to Weatherford, later to El Paso, and is now living the "simple life down on his farm" somewhere in Parker county. This is the information we received upon enquiry of him in El Paso recently.

The central school building had but recently been completed and the urgent need of a high school was being aired. Prof. I. A. Skinner was at this time superintendent of the school and Judge W. B. Crockett, ex-officio county superintendent of public instruction.

A rousing teachers institute was held the Saturday before, a minute account of which the paper contained. Among the leading educators present and participating, we notice the names of Prof. John Henry Basden, Misses Mamie Riordan, Ida Harrell, Anna Roe, Bessie Reese, Mary Chatfield, and other teachers who are not now here. The fortifier in re as well as suaviter in modo for the occasion, were furnished by Dr. N. J. Phenix and J. M. Dorn. The Doctor is still the unflinching fount of these accomplishments so necessary for ceremonial occasions.

County Judge Crockett broke the ice, as it were, by a short talk on the importance of public speaking, and ease with which it could be acquired, giving demonstration in propria persona.

Miss Harrell read "an exhaustive paper on Primary work". Miss Avert stressed the importance of "correctly teaching fractions."

Prof. John Henry Basden (we quote the ancient text literally) read a "very timely and informing paper on why parents should visit the public school." He maintained that parents should evince as much common sense and interest in school matters as they do in daily business affairs. (The Record agrees with the professor in his every argument on this occasion.)

Miss Bessie Reese's paper dealt with "Discipline," and was to the effect that "without discipline in the school, nothing could be accomplished. Her paper was truly a most excellent one."

Miss Louise Smith, in her paper on "Punishment in the School," agreed with the Wise Man in "who soareth the rod disletheth his own child, but he that loveth him, chasteneth him betimes."

Miss Ella Dwy gave a paper on "Art in the Public Schools," which was heartily endorsed by all who heard it.

Miss Mary Chatfield told "How to Conduct Recitations," which evinced that she had received the same careful instruction she endeavored to impart.

Prof. John Henry Basden, Misses Reese and Chatfield, constituted committee on program for the next institute.

The paper contained an account of the death of Charley Wilson, the well known tailor, and the finding of his body by Dr. Phenix, after he had been dead about two days. His shop was then on the corner opposite Judge Coe's present home. Mr. Wilson was the father of Mrs. Nellie Schroeder, and an Englishman.

Zeke Doyle was one of the unique characters of the community then. His fame rested largely upon his fantastic skill as a trick banjo player, and he was immensely popular with the younger fry. A visitor to the primary department of the public school was asked by the teacher to try out the pupils on off-hand questions. The visitor asked who was the greatest man who ever lived. One kid answered "McKinley, because he was killed." Another took a shot at Henry Longfellow, because he wrote poetry. The last one pinned his admiration to "Zeke Doyle, because he belongs to Molly Bailey's show and plays the banjo."

Miss Luana Knott and Mr. T. S. Taylor were married in Fort Worth, the consummation of quite a romantic courtship.

The gentlemen members of the Baptist church gave a tea on Thanksgiving day to the ladies of the church, which was a great success.

The total shipments of cotton from Colorado up to the first week in November were only 1,100 bales.

The Colorado contingent of the Baptist State convention held in Fort Worth, were: Col. Thomas Q. Mullin, H. C. Caldwell, Mrs. M. B. Smoot, and others not mentioned by name.

G. M. Elkins and A. S. Henry, were offering for sale on the ranch, full blooded Hereford bull and heifer calves at $40 round at weaning time.

Dr. W. K. Lewis had just perfected his new "spraying machine, which would revolutionize the cattle industry on the great plains of Texas."

Rev. O. G. Jones had been installed pastor of the First Presbyterian church the preceding Sunday, at Big Spring. Rev. Henderlite of Colorado, presiding.

J. D. Stoneham had returned from an extended trip west, as had Don Carlisle from Old Mexico.

The rumor was rife that the Texas & Pacific road would "shortly put on a double daily passenger service to El Paso." The building of the Rock Island into that city from the east had touched the old Tee-Pee's conscience.

The state railway commission had evidently been after the old Reliable with a sharp stick, as witness this: "For several days this week the west-bound passenger trains have been on time, doubtless due to the recent notice served on all railroads by the state railroad commission."

Thomas Q. Mullin & Co. were the leading insurance advertisers in that issue of the paper. Geo. Sidbottom was teaching band music and located at the St. James hotel, which hostelry was conducted by A. R. Earnest.

A hurry call came from the Lasky orchard, where J. O. McCreeless lived, that a coyote wolf had come into the house and wouldn't go out.

The arrival of a son and heir at the Winfield Scott home in Fort Worth (he had but recently moved from Colorado) was chronicled with many congratulations.

The play "Quo Vadis" had just been given at the opera house to capacity.

W. S. Stoneham had built three additional rooms to his house on the hill.

Col. H. Wright "ran in from his litan ranch for supplies and reported everything as lovey and the goose as hanging high."

A heavy frost and considerable ice was reported on the 5th instant.

F. G. Thurmond was attending to very important litigation in the court at Sweetwater.

S. E. Waskom, Tom Morrison, W. C. Winston, and Col. H. Wright were prominent litan visitors.

Mrs. Mary McDougall and children of the City of Mexico, had visited Mrs. A. J. Payne.

The river was getting over a "rip-roaring tear."

Conrad Harness was shipping heifers to Barstow.

One could then go to Snyder by the hay-burner route for $1.50; round trip for $2.50, and it took all day to go. But now to go there in two hours by auto, costs all you've got.

Pete Scoggin was "coming down from his Kent county ranch." Martin Dies was coming and going on important business.

W. R. Felker had just purchased the W. T. Scott cattle and leased the HS ranch.

Dr. Phenix was giving the X-ray treatment for the first time.

The local gin had turned out but 200 bales of cotton to date.

Wul Mullin was organizing a lodge of "Royal Tribe of Joseph."

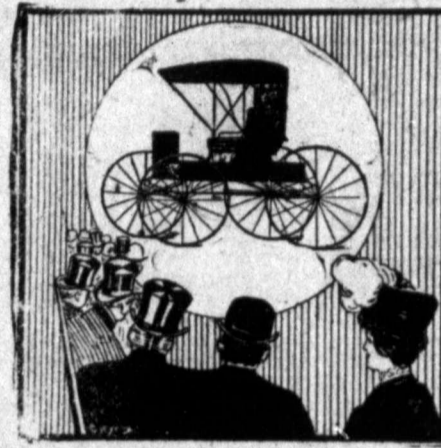

Captain Jeffress was at that time as busy a man as he now claims to be—simply rushed day and night.

are among the most eligible in the city, and attractive business houses on them would hardly lack tenants. There is ample room for two facing on Walnut street, after the rebuilding of the old brick part of the wrecked buildings. The front and side walls of this latter seem to be sound and stable enough to use in a new structure. The Record fully expects to see the building of these new business houses in the near future, if present commercial conditions continue.

JUDGE TIMMINS' SUCCESSOR.

Judge John Wood Timmins, judge of the 51st Judicial District Court for 28 consecutive years, and a resident of San Angelo since 1882, dropped dead in the Landon Hotel lobby Sunday morning shortly before 10:30 o'clock. Death was almost instantaneous and was attributed to heart disease.

Governor Ferguson announced the appointment of C. E. Dubois of San Angelo as judge of the Fifty-first judicial district, filling the vacancy occasioned by the death of Judge J. W. Timmins.

2,615,828 BALES GINNED TO NOV. 14

FRUIT TREES THAT BEAR.

For every section where fruits grow there are certain varieties that never or rarely fail to bear. This is especially true of peaches. For over forty years we have been observing, selecting and testing hundreds—yes thousands—of varieties for the different sections of the Southwestern part of the United States. No matter where you live, we really believe we can send you more varieties of extra value on your land than can be found anywhere else. Better to buy one Leona than to have two Elbertas, given to you. Our Smith peach has never failed to bear. It is sweet.

The Haupt berry, a cross between a blackberry and a dewberry, is a wonder. For quantity, quality and dollars we put it against the world. Other berries cheap.

We have a great stock of hardy native and foreign shades, evergreens, shrubs and bulbs. Make your home grounds beautiful and comfortable.

Mr. G. W. McCroskey:

Dear Sir—I am so well pleased. I had indigestion for a long time, and in September I began taking your tonic and took two bottles, and have not been troubled since; besides, I had another spell and shortness of breath. The doctor called it neuralgia of the stomach, and it cured me, and I have not been bothered since.

GOETHALS TO RETIRED LIST.
 Washington, Nov. 15.—Maj. Gen. Geo. W. Goethals, governor of the Panama Canal Zone, will pass into the retired list of the army on his own application, dating from Nov. 15, 1917. Army orders show President Wilson has approved his application for retirement after forty years' service. The order of retirement affects only General Goethals' military status and does not operate to relieve him of his duty as governor of the Canal Zone, preliminary to his retirement. He probably will be succeeded by Lieut. Col. Chester Harding, engineer corps, now acting governor.

WILL OVERCOME CANAL SLIDES.
 Washington, Nov. 15.—The prediction that earth movements in the Panama Canal will be overcome "finally and for all time" is re-affirmed by Maj. Gen. Goethals, governor of the Canal Zone, in his annual report to the war department. This will be accomplished, General Goethals says, "Notwithstanding the calamitous howlers and in spite of the disastrous predictions of the 'know-it-alls.'"
 Referring to the slides, the general says he is moved to go into the subject again only because of the many false reports that have been published.

CONSIDERING WHO GRANDPA WAS—WE'RE NOT SO BAD.
 In the October American Magazine, Sid says:
 "When I was about ten years old I went to an animal show where there were fifteen or twenty monkeys, mostly small, in one cage. But among them there was one very large monkey, four or five times as big as any of the others. I don't know who invited him, or how he came to be there, but he made his presence felt, as we shall see.
 "When feeding time came, the keeper appeared with a large bundle of cabbage leaves which he threw into the cage, a few at a time. I then saw the advantage of being a large monkey in a cage filled with small monkeys for as fast as the keeper threw the leaves into the cage the big monkey grabbed them and held onto them. When some of the little monkeys criticized him he merely showed his teeth and went on with his work.
 "After he had acquired all the leaves that had been thrown into the cage he gathered the whole supply together into a pile and sat on top of the pile. Then he ate all that he wanted—and perhaps more than he wanted. He did not eat all the leaves that had been passed into the cage because his stomach would not hold so many, but he did his best. After he had swallowed all that he could, he lost interest, yawned and walked away. Then the little monkeys scampered to the remaining pile of leaves and got what was left—but not without bickerings and inequalities among themselves.
 Although the big monkey made himself unpopular, both inside and outside the cage, he was not sensitive about it. Indeed, why should he be? Inside the cage where he understood the language, size and strength were the only things worth having. There wasn't a monkey on the premises that did not really envy him—not a monkey that did not wish to be like him. Outside the cage were a lot of two-legged grumblers resembling monkeys—but why worry about their unintelligible mutterings, especially since they were shut off from the cabbage leaves by good substantial bars!
 "Perhaps this little story about brute force and brazen selfishness will remind you of some human being who make an occasional bad showing. Don't be too hard in your judgments, however. Be patient. You must not blame them if they show monkey characteristics once in a while. You know what that famous high-brow Darwin and his successors have taught us—that men and monkeys descend from the same ancestor, namely, a certain brand of ape. The work of transforming us from apes began four or five million years ago, but I would not go so far as to say that the job had been entirely finished. Lots of time will be required. It takes more than a jiffy to get off one's all fours. This world 'human,' you know, is a comparatively recent degree that has been conferred upon us."

A CHANGE IN BUSINESS.

Sam Majors concluded the deal this week with Jas T Johnson, whereby he becomes the owner of the jewelry and watchmaking business of the latter. Invoice of the stock was finished Wednesday and Sam took charge of the business. This puts him in position to greatly enlarge his sphere of activity and profits accordingly. Sam has been raised in Colorado and connected with this line of business all his life working for several years for his father before embarking for himself. The success he has made of his smaller business is a prophecy of success in larger scope. He will move the stock from John L Doss' Pharmacy to the West side of Ben Morgan's confectionery.

HEE SON SUBJECT TO CROUP.

"My son Edwin is subject to croup," writes Mrs. E. O. Irwin, New Kensington, Pa. "I put in many sleepless hours at night before I learned of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mothers need not fear this disease if they keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house and use it as directed. It always gave my boy relief." Obtainable everywhere.

OTHERS THAN THE CAT—

Homer Robinson, who has been holding down a responsible position in the chief train dispatcher's office at Big Spring, the past several months, came "back home" last Friday for a short recuperation. It does seem that anyone who has once drunk of the water of the Colorado river just where it flows (when it flows at all) past the town of Colorado City, never wholly get the antitoxin from the system. It is not only an antitoxin against the manifold maladies that infest other localities, but is a call back to Colorado. While in San Angelo recently, we renewed the pleasant association with Rev. Norman F. Marshall, who is rector of the Episcopal parish in that city. He has a beautiful home, a handsome church and is very popular with his people as well as with the community at large. To everyone with whom we talked, Rev. Marshall seemed to be the most influential ecclesiast of the city. He is of that type of man who can "walk with kings nor lose the common touch." We incautiously asked Mr. Marshall a leading question. Granted his present environment and state of church, we asked if under the same conditions, Colorado would not appear as "green pastures and still waters", he quoted that scripture from Luke about the temptations on the Mount. And we got behind him.

WESTBROOK ITEMS.

The memorial monument will be unveiled and dedicated to the memory of Ollie Rivers Lassetter, by the W. O. W. on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, December 1st. A selected choir, consisting of Dr. C. L. Root of Colorado, Dr. W. H. Butler, Leroy Gressett, Sam Bullock, and Arlan Clinton; Mrs. A. L. Robinson, Misses Estelle Petty, Ross Leach, and Ruby Campbell of Colorado, will give special music. Reading by Mrs. S. H. Cramer of Colorado. Talk by Rev. L. Jackson. The Bible study Saturday and Sunday, conducted by Dr. W. F. Fry, Bible teacher at Simmons College, was well attended. These were interesting and instructive and very much appreciated by the people of Westbrook, who insist on Dr. Fry coming back soon. A union meeting, consisting of all denominations of this place, will observe Thanksgiving at the Baptist church Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock, November 28th. Rev. Guy B. Duff, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Colorado, will deliver the principal address. Special music has been arranged for this occasion by Mrs. A. L. Robinson, Mr. J. W. Bing and Mr. Sam Bullock. Everybody is invited to attend. Mrs. T. Y. Pool is real sick at this writing. She was taken Saturday night with a severe attack of pleurisy. Mr. and Mrs. Wright are in from the east, visiting Mrs. Wright's brother, Mr. J. E. Skelton. The Ladies Aid will give an entertainment at the auditorium Friday night, December 1st. FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1916.

The press of England, France and even Germany, is heartily commending the re-election of President Wilson.

Since the old Tee & Pee has fallen into the hands of receivers, Lancaster & Wright, there is a noticeable picking up in the service. Among the improvements may be mentioned the running of "specials" when the regular trains are so many hours overdue, as well as a seeming readiness to answer natural questions propounded by the anxious and traveling patrons of the road. We have heard unofficially, that many comprehensive improvements and betterments are in contemplation by the new management.

Another concrete example of the profitlessness of a lack of civility. The election of President Wilson turned upon the result in California; the result in California is turned upon the vote of the city of San Francisco, and largely the good women of that city. The result in San Francisco turned upon the fact that Candidate Hughes failed to do the civil and polite thing to Governor Hiram Johnson, who, backed by the women, rolled up for Mr. Wilson a majority of 15,000 in that city alone. The lack of a handshake lost Hughes the presidency of the greatest nation on earth.

Not since the incumbency of Andrew Jackson has a democratic president succeeded himself. Grant was the only republican president who served two entire terms. Not since the time of Jackson has the democratic party had the opportunity to fully test out its policies. By the time the laws enacted by a one-term democratic administration were put in operation, it was hurled from power and the whole thing undone by republicans. If the performances of President Wilson during his first term are an earnest of what he can now more easily accomplish, the next four years of his administration should be the golden age of American prosperity.

Pressure from the business interests has been brought to bear upon President Wilson to change the date of Thanksgiving to an earlier day, so that a greater interval might elapse between that day and Christmas; but he has refused to consider the suggestion, rightly holding that the latter part of November, which sees the completion of all the harvests, the result of the various elections and the right tang of ozone in the air, is the fittest time and season for expressions of thanksgiving. Thanksgiving Day, as a holiday, is not fixed, but depends wholly upon executive proclamation. Except the president issue his proclamation fixing the date, there would be no national day of thanksgiving. In this, President Wilson is right, as he so eternal is in all his positions.

The collective community does more for the individual, than any individual can possibly do for any community. Financial or social circumstances can not even up the balance. Every citizen of Colorado is indebted to the collective citizenship for advantages and opportunities that he could never create, or bring to pass. And every citizen is obliged to the community at large—to the general welfare—to do his full part in promoting the public good. There are many of us who can help but little financially in the public undertakings for the community's progress and development, but sympathetic help in the way of creating public sentiment for such reforms, prepares the way for them, and often is more efficient than money alone. The great question should be with each one of us—Am I a help or a hindrance to the town's progress; do I help carry the common burden or am I depending on my neighbors to carry me and my load?

Oh, you Old Jap! Come again; our hopes and money both depend upon your visitations with the sprinkling pot.

NO SPLIT IN CALIFORNIA VOTE.

San Francisco, Nov. 21—With eight counties missing, the Republicans admit that there is little likelihood of the electoral vote in California being split.

THIS IS THE DOCTRINE

"Nothing but pure sentiment is holding Texas together in a single commonwealth. What can east Texas know about the needs and the necessities of West Texas?"—Waco Morning News.

The Record is glad to have so able a champion as the editor of the Waco Morning News agree with it regarding the necessity of dividing the great state of Texas at no distant day. It is inevitable, not for political purposes, but economic ends. The machinery of the state is too unwieldy, while the domination of one party for half a century, does not make for efficiency in the public service or conservation of the people's rights. So long as the eastern and the northern parts of the state can dominate legislation, and so long as the state has any sort of public domain left it, just so long will the land of West Texas be haled to the block like an ass, bridled and saddled for the benefit of the east and north Texas exploiters.

When east Texas wanted a state capitol building and had no money to build one, it was easy to hang up 3,000,000 plus acres of the finest farming land on God's footstool in exchange for a pile of stone, yet unfinished and condemned as unsafe and unsanitary after about 26 years of abuse and neglect. In the light of present developments, the equivalent given by east Texas legislators for the shell at Austin, is astounding in its profugacity.

West Texas should have the benefit of land located in its boundaries. It should also in simple justice, have the benefit of the two Congressmen the increase in its population and development made possible. But politicians in the state legislature, having axes to grind, have refused since the last federal census, an overt violation of the law, to redistrict the state. A simple act of justice would be to divide the 13th and 16th congressional districts and give West Texas four representatives in Congress instead of two.

As our esteemed contemporary has wisely observed: "Nothing but pure sentiment is holding Texas together in a single commonwealth."

SPOKEN VS. WRITTEN WORDS

There is a gulf of difference between what you say with your tongue and what you say with a pen—and yet, get away with it. The written word does not admit of the interpretations and shadings which may be given the words verbally expressed. It is not so easy to put a smile in what you write as in what you say face to face. You may say things about a man or a woman and smile away the sting, but when the same words are put into cold ink, they become an insult. So long as you talk about a man, it is only individual opinion, but when your remarks are put in print, they somehow are regarded as the expression of public opinion crystallized.

Words spoken are not recorded except by the memory, and that faculty is but poorly developed in the most of us. When writing you place your thoughts on record, subject to close and repeated analysis. The party affected has a chance to stop and think about what you have said. He will weigh your remarks. Words off the tongue come fast and at times, furiously; but when they are used in letters or in print, care should be taken as to what they imply as well as what they express. When recorded on paper they have a most troublesome way of returning to plague one, when he would have them forgotten.

Hon. Joseph Weldon Bailey is out in an interview disapproving the Adamson eight-hour law, against which he urges this bromide: "If it is a wise arrangement to limit a day's labor to eight hours, I can see no reason why the men who cultivate our farms should be excluded from its benefits." To our mind this is the purest Tommyrot. There is no present law regulating the length of a farmer's days labor. The industrious ones are up before daylight and quit when too dark to see a furrow. The shiftless ones work just as short hours as they please without let or hindrance. Any attempt to regulate the hours of an independent worker and regulate his pay, would be trenching upon the socialistic utopia. The alleged statesman who confounds the working conditions of employees with those of independent callings, is lacking in logic as well as an intelligent conception of things.

It is now rumored that attorney-general Gregory and Posemaster-General Burleson, may resign from the cabinet before March 4th, prox. Cone Johnson, also, who holds a position in the department of justice, is reported to contemplate resignation soon. Mr. Gregory is spoken of in connection with one of the vacant federal judgeships in Texas, while Mr. Johnson wishes to resume his law practice at Tyler.

HO, FOR NEXT YEAR!

The farmers of Mitchell county and of West Texas generally, have already put the crop results behind them and are looking steadily forward to plans for 1917. More land is being put under the plow; more small grain will be planted; more hogs will be raised; more poultry cared for with higher standards; better cows will be fed and milked; finer spirited horse and mules will be bought and raised, than ever in the history of this section. If we can only get sufficient rain or snow to put deep moisture in the ground, it will require but little rainfall at proper intervals, to make another record busting crop in this bully country. Where else on the face of this earth with an average rainfall of less than five inches could such a showing be made as was made this year in Mitchell county? There are numbers of farmers who have made one bale of cotton to four acres on less than two inches of rainfall. Some of them made good feed, watermelons, peanuts, blackeyed peas and other vine crops, on less than one inch rainfall. The proof of these statements are on exhibition at the Chamber of Commerce with proper authentication in every case.

This kind of a record could not have been possible a few years ago. It is not that the soil has become more fertile, nor the seasons more regular or auspicious. The answer, in the opinion of the Record, is to be found in the improvement of cultural methods. We are aware that there are some who are unalterably opposed to anything that smacks of "book farming", and resent any instruction that emanates from a school. The Record is not an apologist for anything the commissioners' court does in the interest of the tax payers of the county; but in our opinion, no money has ever been spent to greater advantage, with more good to the greatest number, than the employment of a farm demonstrator. If he had given instructions to only the crops seen personally by the Record during the past summer, his work had been a splendid investment by the county.

The encouragement Mr. Dulin has given the women, boys and girls of Mitchell county, and the resultant increase in taxable values traceable thereto, is worth all the county has paid for his services. The man who, directly or indirectly, causes two heads of feed to grow where but one grew before; who encourages the raising of two hogs where none were raised before; who shows how the land can be kept from washing where it washed before; who instructs how one bale of cotton or bushel of feed can be produced with half the labor required to produce one before—the man who does this for any section, is not only worth his hire, but is a benefactor.

The services and time of the county demonstrator are yours; you can have the benefit of his experience and knowledge for the asking; you are paying for it, and the fault is your own if you do not take the benefit. Talk with him about your plans and methods, your soil and its peculiarities, and you'll be repaid an hundred fold. Again: not one word the Record has ever said about the county farm demonstrator and his work, was instigated by him or were our intentions known to him. Our remarks and commendations of his work have been based absolutely alone upon our personal inspection of what he has DONE, not GOING TO DO, and he has never had the slightest knowledge of what we intended saying. This much in simple justice to Mr. Dulin.

FRANCIS JOSEPH DEAD.

London, November 22.—Emperor Francis Joseph died last night at 9 o'clock at Schoenbrunn Castle, according to a Reuter dispatch from Vienna by way of Amsterdam.

The first intimation received here that Emperor Francis Joseph's health was again the subject of solicitation was contained in a dispatch dated Nov. 12, emanating from a Vienna news agency, which reported that the Emperor had been suffering for some days from a slight catarhal affection.

Subsequent reports from various sources, more or less conflicting, represented that his condition was becoming worse, but none of them indicated that his illness threatened to reach a critical state, and from Vienna came assurances that he was still able to give audiences to one or more ministers daily.

What gave credence to the suspicion that his condition was much graver than the official bulletins indicated was the report, which still lacks official confirmation, that it had been decided to associate the heir to the throne, Archduke Charles Francis, in the government of the country, and that he was to assume the position on Dec. 2, on the sixty-eighth anniversary of the Emperor's ascension to the throne. So far as is known here, Archduke Charles is still at the front in command of the army.

Let us pull for our town—
'Tis the best ever found;
A place we can truthfully brag on
Be we humble or rich,
To the very last ditch,
Let us hitch ourselves up to the wagon.

Let us go after things—
And get 'em, by jings!
Let none prove a selfish old toady,
Jar loose from that dough—
'Twill come back, you know—
For good things are always shipped—
C. C. D.

LOOKOUT FOR THEM

The wisest lawgivers and most exacting reformers have never been able to suggest protection against the innate liar and thief. Both we have always with us, ramifying through every grade of society, business and even the church itself has not become so firmly established by its good works as to attract both classes, who assume membership as a wolf assumes a lamb's skin and the burglar a disguise. The falling is dual in its nature; as the thief is of necessity a liar from the impulse of self-preservation. Thievery is an institution in itself—nicely graded, perfectly oiled and always on the job. Every community has this evil to contend with, and every community finds itself more or less outwitted by the knaves who prey on honest men and their property. A thief is contemptible, mean, vile, and despicable whether he or she operates modestly within a select circle and modest area or gets into the international game. He is a thief just the same—an outcast, a delinquent and social menace.

While this is true, and while there is usually no extenuation for that divine maxim in morals—"thou shalt not steal," it seems to us there are some phases of the industry which are just a bit more reprehensible—which are so miserably mean as to merit particular scorn and contempt. When the poor in purse and worldly goods are preyed upon—when a set of underworld thugs will take, under cover of night, from people unable to bear the loss, their daily bread or whatever they may have to eat more than the immediate hour's need, the utter villainess of thievery takes on new emphasis.

To this class of petty malafactors, it seems that our peace guardians could better give attention than to a surreptitious game of "come-eleven-seven" among negroes in some gulch or outhouse. Many citizens have recently complained of losing articles left out of doors or in automobiles at night. Everything that can be considered "junk" or has a salable value is a likely mark for the covetous eye of some Gehazi of petty commerce. They take everything not found bolted down and regard nothing as bolted down that can be pried loose.

"JUSTICE WITH HEART IN IT."

President Wilson has a way of putting things that brings out his meaning so that a child can understand the thing he says. When he declared that "All class feeling should be wiped out" and "Justice with Heart in It" established he spoke words that but few will heed, but nevertheless he was striking at the foundation of the nation if it is to stand for ages. Labor, so called, and capital, so called, must recognize the principle which the President advocates. We believe that all men should be classed as "laboring men." If we had our way there would be no distinction between the man who labors in a ditch and the man who labors in an office, store or state house. The word is a misnomer when applied to the man who digs ditches, builds houses, etc., alone. It creates in the mind of the ditch digger the impression that there is a gulf between him and the man who directs the large store, law office, or manufacturing plant. He does not think of such persons as laborers, nor does he know they labor longer hours than he. If the men who pay the wage bills and the men who receive the money could be brought to President Wilson's conception of relationships our national life would be secure. All are laborers and need to recognize the call of the hour to establish "justice with a Heart in It."—Abilene Reporter.

The statement that 20 cents per pound for cotton is the highest since the civil war, is going the round of the papers. This is a mistake. In the fall of 1865 the price of strict middling cotton was as high as $1.60 the pound on the Memphis, Tenn., market. The price steadily declined every year after that until it reached the level of 12c. The first bale of cotton this writer ever saw marketed, was sold by his grandfather in Holmes county, Mississippi. That was in 1871, and we distinctly remember the price as 27c per pound.

DOCTORS MEET IN CONVENTION.
Small Attendance Does Not Keep Convention From Being One Full of Interest For the Visitors Present.

The semi-annual convention of the Big Spring-El Paso District Medical Society met in this city Tuesday morning with very unfavorable weather conditions to combat. The attendance was cut down by the inclement weather, as it kept many doctors from coming who intended to make the trip in automobiles.

However, there was a goodly number in attendance and the convention was going on merrily all the same, with interest good and everybody taking a hand.

Dr. J. M. Britton of Cisco, president, was in attendance. Dr. J. D. Davis of Roby, vice president and Dr. N. J. Phenix of Colorado, secretary-treasurer, were also here.

Practically all the local physicians and surgeons were at the Knights of Pythias Hall for the convention, and spared no pains to make their guests feel at home.

The morning session began with the call to order by President J. M. Britton. Dr. J. C. Burkett invoked divine blessings on the assembly, and Mayor E. N. Kirby made a characteristic speech of welcome on behalf of the city. Dr. R. P. Glenn welcomed the doctors on behalf of the Taylor County Medical Society, Dr. Pickard, to whom the speech was originally assigned, being busy elsewhere. Dr. T. J. Ratiff of Colorado responded for the visitors, taking the place of Dr. R. G. Davenport of Snyder. The regular program was carried out as nearly as possible.—Abilene Reporter.

The physicians of Colorado who attended the convention have returned and report a good time and a splendid meeting.

Five regiments of the National Guard have been ordered home from the border, but their places will be taken by contingents from other states.

WILSON TO URGE SAME RAILROAD LAWS.
Washington, Nov. 21—President Wilson's recommendations for railroad legislation in his address to Congress will be practically the same as that embodied in his special address last August when the nation-wide strike was pending; it was learned after a meeting of the cabinet here today.

In his August address, the president made six recommendations, two of these being for an eight hour day on railroads and for a commission to observe the operation of the law. The others were not acted upon.

FURTHERMORE, CARNIVALS

It happened in an Orient town. The nomadic carnivals came to amuse the people and show its wonders. There was a welcome for it—from some folks. Incidentally it meant to make some money.

It had the usual attractions that line the average carnival midway. Among those "usuals" was a forty-plus show with a bunch of high steppers—of feminine gender. This particular show was well patronized and made money hand over fist.

There was a Baptist church in that town, and incidentally a Baptist pastor. He went to the show. He found out about its character, and being of a discriminating mind decided that it was one thing that the community did not need. He dared preach on it—told the plain truth about it. People pricked up their ears and listened and their sense of responsibility for the morals of the community of which they were the major part asserted itself. A meeting of the citizenship was held and the pastor presented the facts to the people who had indulgently passed by the show and judged that it was all right, thinking surely nothing immoral would be licensed. The pastor was not always a preacher, but at one time had been the county's representative in the prosecution of violators of the law. He got a line on this particular aggregation and discovered that just prior to their advent in his town the whole bunch had lain in jail for a term on charges of immorality and gross violation of law. The proprietor of the "attraction" was present and suavely begged the people to go ahead with the meeting and not let his presence embarrass them; they gave him his option of going to the county bastle or going on a pilgrimage to greener pastures. He chose the latter and decamped with the whole aggregation, it less time than it takes to write it. And thus a community was rid of a moral and physical menace through the hardihood of a Baptist preacher. His name is no secret if you ask.—Western Evangel.

WILSON PROCLAIMS THANKSGIVING DAY.

Suggests War Sufferers Be Not Forgotten on Thursday, November 30.

Washington, Nov. 15.—President Wilson today formally by proclamation designated Thursday, November 30th, as Thanksgiving Day.

The President's proclamation follows:

"It has long been the custom of our people to turn in the fruitful autumn of the year in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for his many blessings and mercies to us and to the nation.

"The year that has elapsed since we last observed our day of thanksgiving has been rich in blessings to us as a people, but the whole face of the world has been darkened by war. In the midst of our peace and happiness our thoughts dwell with painful disquiet upon the struggles and sufferings of the nations at war and of the people upon whom war has brought disaster without choice or possibility of escape on their part. We can not think of our own happiness without thinking of their pitiful distress.

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do appoint Thursday, the 30th day of November, as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer and urge and advise the people to resort to their several places of worship on that day, to render thanks to Almighty God for the blessings of peace and unbroken prosperity which he has bestowed upon our beloved country in such instated measure.

"And I also urge and suggest our duty, in this our day of peace and abundance, to think in deep sympathy of the stricken peoples of the world upon whom the curse and terror of war has so pitilessly fallen and to contribute out of our abundant means to the relief of their sufferings.

"Our people could in no better way show their real attitude toward the present struggle of the nations than by contributing out of their abundance to the relief of the suffering which war has brought in its train.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington, this seventeenth day of November, in the year of Our Lord 1916, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and forty-first.

THE TIME TO SAVE MONEY.

Presumably every young man knows as a physical fact, that he can do nothing next year which he cannot, in some degree, do today. He will not grow wings or overcome the law of gravitation, or subsist without food. But he is always figuring a future in which his mind will act differently. The time will certainly come when he realizes there is no future, but only an indefinite extension of today. The important question is whether that time will come early enough in life to do him any particular good.

A lazy man cannot possibly make himself industrious in the future; or a tipping man sober; or an extravagant man economical. If it is done at all he must do it at an immediate present moment—at some "right now." No man ever saved a penny in the future, or ever will. He has got to save the penny in his hand at the moment or he will be broke to the day of his death. That is clear enough to anybody who will think about it. To save the penny in hand he must resist the temptation to spend it. Imagining himself next year as resisting the temptation to spend a handful of pennies will do him the same good that the drunkard gets out of imagining himself sober next year. Every year that he does not resist weakens his ability to resist.

The spending business is as much a matter of habit as tipping. It is within the knowledge of everybody who has the ordinary circle of personal acquaintances that, after a certain time, the man who lives up to the limit of his income—which, about nine times out of ten, means a little beyond—accepts that as a normal condition and just automatically spends whatever he gets.

At twenty a man lives largely in an imaginary future. At thirty he seems still to have fairly incalculable powers and opportunities to draw upon. At forty he begins to realize what he fully knows, probably, at forty-five—namely that he has already spent his future, in the sense that he has largely shared and fixed it; so that it will contain nothing essentially different from what he himself has already put into it.

If he can realize by thirty that he is spending his future every day it will be a good thing for him.—Saturday Evening Post.

GIRLS! THICKEN AND BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR AND STOP DANDRUFF

Try This! Your Hair Gets Wavy, Glossy and Abundant as Once.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, softness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this. Adv5

There is no agricultural product that is so neglected as American cotton. The careless wrapping, the sampling abuses, indifferent storage, and country damage all combine to illustrate in a most striking manner the utter disregard of consequences and careless indifference which exists in the handling and marketing of this important and valuable crop. In no other case does a farmer care for his product from the time it is planted in the spring until it is harvested in the autumn and then expose it to all kinds of weather and abuse.

A BISHOP'S ADVICE.

At the closing session of the West Texas Conference at Uvalde on October 23rd, Bishop Mouton in scathing terms denounced some of the modern evangelists. Judging by the chorus of "amens", his sentiments were endorsed by a large number of the ministers present.

"Be careful about evangelists you bring to your town," admonished the bishop.

"What I say about evangelists does not apply to all, but it applies to many. Some of them go into the revival business because they are failures as pastors, and they go into it to make money."

"Don't let evangelists say things in your pulpit that you would be ashamed to say yourself. I would rather have smallpox come to my town than some revivalists I have heard. I do not know where this kind of preaching is going to end. Let me say to you, 'Preach the gospel and ask God to bless the gospel you preach, be men of prayer.' See if you can't hold a revival yourself."

NATURE WARNS AGAINST USING CALOMEL.

The sickening, nauseating feeling that follows the use of calomel is the natural result of disarranging your entire system. Doctors everywhere are agreeing that the action of calomel is much too strong, and leaves the body sick and weakened.

LIV-VER-LAX is a wonderful substitute for calomel, that has all of its good effects and none of its bad ones. It acts soothingly but thoroughly on the liver, cleansing it of bile, and ridding the entire system of stagnating poisons.

LIV-VER-LAX is strictly a harmless vegetable compound, and is guaranteed to give satisfaction or your money will be returned. Insist on the original, bearing the likeness and signature of L. K. Grigsby. For sale here at 50c and $1.00 at W. L. Doss' drug store. Adv11

WORTH ALL THEY COST.

The British navy, greatest in the world, has a fleet of first line ships that have been in action but once since the war began, and even then the full strength was not developed, but the very existence of those formidable ships has turned the whole course of history. With the exception of the Queen Elizabeth, used in the Dardanelles, the grand fleet did not go into action for nearly two years, and yet it held the British empire together and was the single dominant factor in a world war in which millions of men were engaged on land.

RUSSIA'S POPULATION GREATER.

(From the Galveston Tribune.) Russia's population is said to have increased 2,800,000 during the war, the total population now being given at 182,182,000. This is considerably more than the combined populations of Germany, Austria, Bulgaria and Turkey. The czar's supply of cannon fodder would seem to be quite adequate.

MANY IN COLORADO TRY SIMPLE MIXTURE

Many Colorado people are surprised at the QUICK action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-ika. This simple remedy acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel removing such surprising foul matter that ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas. A few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble. The INSTANT easy action of Adler-ika is astonishing.—W. L. Doss. Adv6

RAP AT CHURCH MEMBERS.

"The divine philosophy as demonstrated by church members makes more infidels, skeptics, agnostics and other ticks than Tyndall, Huxley, and all others of the infidels," said Rev. E. J. Forsythe in the Milwaukee Tabernacle, comments the Milwaukee Sentinel.

"The bad sermons which people preach with their lives have more influence than the bad sermons preached by preachers with their lips," he continued.

"You pray in the morning and gossip in the afternoon; you go to church one day and cheat the next, you make a holy show of yourself on Sunday and oppress the poor on Monday; the trouble with the churches today is that they do not know how to use all the machinery they have. My experience has been that the working of the average young people's society is a joke."

It Always Helps

says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Cardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill."

Another shower Wednesday morning trailed off into a light fall of snow, which melted ere it reached the ground. But every drop of moisture that falls in any form in West Texas is just that much of a blessing. It only lacks about two weeks of nasty, wet and disagreeable weather, scattered at proper intervals throughout the 52, to make this section an ideal farming country.

ANOTHER GOOD RAIN.

Up to Tuesday morning there had not been any rainfall in Mitchell county or Colorado since October 13th, at which time this section received more than three inches of precipitation. Soon after daylight Tuesday morning, to the accompaniment of thunder and lightning, the gracious rain came down tumultuously for nearly half an hour. All the gutters were running like mill races and water standing in all low places.

The rain, of course, did no good to what cotton remains to be gathered, but there is not much of it yet in the fields. The wheat and other grain planted after the rain of five weeks ago, will be greatly benefitted. The fall and winter plowing will be made much easier and more profitable by the rain. Stock water will be replenished, while fall gardens will fairly hump themselves. All in all, the rain was abundant basis for additional thanksgiving on next Thursday.

THE WILSON JUBILATION.

After the Record had been printed last Thursday evening the untimely democracy of Colorado and Mitchell county foregathered in this city, to fittingly celebrate the victory of President Wilson and the continuance of his policies.

A procession of automobiles, representing the different Democratic states, was the chief feature of the parade. The continuous boom of anvils and flare of colored fire gave emphasis to the patriotic outlet. After the parade, short talks were made by L. W. Sandusky, T. H. Roe and others. There was noticeable, not only a spirit of jubilation, but an air of contentment with the outlook for the next four years. The re-election of President Wilson guarantees the stability of our national prosperity through his coming term of office, by which time the Record believes the Democratic party will have become so firmly entrenched in the confidence of the voters of the nation, that democracy of the Wilsonian type will have charge of the national government for many years to come.

We don't think Friend A. L. Scott did us like a side "pardon" should do another. We were talking together for the good of the order' only about three hours before he did it, and to our discerning eye there was nothing in his port or conversation that aroused our suspicions as to the designs upon one and his duplicity with another. He knew full well the information as to his precipitate matrimonial designs would be hailed by us as a bolt of good news from an unexpected source, just on the spur of putting the paper to print. But he withheld the news. We could forgive that feature of the matter on the score of his modesty and timidity. But when we recall how both of us felt and talked about President Wilson not taking us into his confidence, while we were spilling great goblets of sympathy for his "loneliness and brokenheartedness"—all the while he was flirting with a silk skirt and stockings. Oh, well, the longer we live, the more we unlearn.

IT'S A PLEASURE TO SHOW YOU OUR GOODS

J. P. Majors

The Record job department has been overjoyed the past two weeks with a variety of bookwork, besides the ordinary run of commercial printing—but more than snowed under with rush orders—and that's the only kind local patrons want—is a mixed blessing. Why wait, friends, until you come to your last piece of stationery, your last billhead, statement, envelope or sheet of paper before rushing in and giving an order to be filled within the next hour or so? Like grindings at the mill, job work takes its turn ordinarily.

TRY IT! SUBSTITUTE FOR NASTY CALOMEL.

Starts Your Liver Without Making You Sick and Cant Not Salivate

Every druggist in town—your druggist and everybody's druggist has noticed a great falling-off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Livertone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tone is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle costs 50 cents, and if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness, an constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take Dodson's Liver Tone instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition.

Most of the constructive work on the Trans-Siberian Railway was in charge of a woman.

Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and bad colds—turn them out to-night and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never knew the misery caused by a lazy liver clogged bowels, or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret to-night straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.
