$200,000 Painting For United States. London, Sept. 3.—The Daily Telegraph has "the best authority" for announcing that the Pembroke Mantegna, which was offered for sale at Sotheby's, has been purchased privately for America.

At the last moment Sotheby's accepted on behalf of the Pembroke family "a huge offer" for the panel. The exact sum is undisclosed, but the Telegraph says it is known that the Pembroke family always stood out for $200,000.

The panel, which is confidently attributed to Andrea Mantegna, is of Judith with the head of Holofernes and is only twelve by seven and one-eighth inches. It was originally in Charles I.'s collection and was then catalogued as a Raphael. The king gave the picture to Philip, fourth earl of Pembroke, in exchange for a portrait by Bellini and a picture by Parmigiano.

The Mantegna panel will be the highest priced picture of its size in America. There are only three undisputed Mantegnas in this country. One is the "Adoration of the Magi," belonging to the John G. Johnson collection in Philadelphia; another is the "Madonna and Child" of the Altman collection in the Metropolitan museum, New York, and the third is the "Madonna and Child" of Mrs. Jack Gardner's collection in Boston.

Uncle Sam Hires Girl Swimmer. New York, Sept. 4.—Gallant Uncle Sam, who so greatly admires beauty and bravery, has appointed Miss Dora June Wheeler an instructor of swimming in the federal life saving corps at the Ocean Beach station, Fire Island, N. Y. Miss Wheeler, who is nineteen years old, will receive a salary. She is the first young woman to be honored by the government with such an appointment, it is said.

Miss Wheeler was on the porch of her mother's cottage at Ocean Beach was not a summer morning two years ago. She had on a bathing suit, but wore walking shoes. Charles E. Holden of White Plains, N. Y., who was also summering at Ocean Beach, went into the surf, which was frothing high. A wave swept him off his feet, and the undertow seized him and carried him out.

The alert Miss Dora saw Holden's deadly plight. She did not wait even long enough to unbutton her shoes and kick them off, but in she plunged after him. Battling the big breakers, she reached him. He was unconscious. Another fierce fight against the undertow and the plucky girl dragged Holden up on the beach. Only the use of a pulmotor revived him.

Mr. Holden gave Miss Wheeler a fine gold watch, gratefully inscribed; the Ocean Beach association gave her a handsome ring, and the Life Saving Benevolent association of New York presented to her a medal and $25 in gold.

Club For United States Officers. London, Sept. 5.—Lord Leonfield's house in Curzon street has been placed by the owner, as a member of the Pilgrims' club, at the disposal as a clubhouse for United States army and navy officers coming from or going to the front. Hospitality is likewise extended to accredited Americans engaged in war missions for the government.

"There is not another big London house which would lend itself so admirably with so little rearranging to the purposes of a first class club," said Harry Britton, chairman of the Pilgrims club and originator of the idea of an officers' club. "When I proposed the idea to a committee of the Pilgrims they were most enthusiastic and left me a free hand to arrange the details. As soon as minor matters, such as the installation of a luggage elevator and the like, have been completed the club will be ready, which will be in plenty of time to receive the first arriving guests. I want especially to establish a first rate information bureau. I also wish the library might have liberal provision of American newspapers from all parts of the country. If my newspaper friends in the United States will put my name on their mailing list addressed to 9 Chesterfield gardens it will help us to have ready home papers for the officers from different localities."

The magnificent house, facing south, runs along a whole block. One first enters a big square hall opening into a corridor, whence a beautiful marble staircase leads to a large gallery suitable for a lounge. The gallery, like the stairs, is hung with Leonfield's rare tapestry and adorned with statuary. The gallery is flanked by a large dining room and a splendid library overlooking a large garden. The floor above has a large ballroom suit and drawing rooms with silk hangings. The two upper floors are devoted to commodious bedrooms, while in the immense basement there is every culinary facility and plentiful servants' quarters. Altogether the house will become one of the finest appointed, most convenient and centrally located clubhouses in London.

Peanuts Great War Food. Washington, Sept. 5.—The humble peanut, eaten casually when one happens to pass a vendor's cart, is coming into its own in this war, according to officials of the food administration.

For peanuts make peanut butter, which, it is predicted, is going to play a more important part in the dietary, as ordinary butter is conserved in line with the food administration's milk saving campaign.

Peanut butter has 26 per cent of protein, 30 per cent of fat and 24 per cent of carbohydrate and affords a total of 2,500 calories per pound. Thus peanut butter has a marked nutritive value. Peanuts have been forging ahead anyway, for since 1890 the culture of peanuts has increased rapidly in this country. Then the peanut acreage was 516,654. Only last year it was 1,245,000, and this year it is 2,001,000.

Shelled peanuts yield from 40 to 50 per cent of oil. This edible oil, it is stated, compares favorably with olive oil and is used for culinary purposes and also for making oleomargarine. An important feature of the peanut crop from the standpoint of the food administration is that it is a crop of which the production may be stimulated to almost any extent without undesirable after results in the disposal of the crop.

Cost of Outfitting. Washington, Sept. 6.—Those who have received commissions in the United States army are viewing with grave concern the high cost of being an officer.

Prices for the bare essentials have taken a tremendous jump since the declaration of war. Previous to April 6 an officer of the United States army could plan to get outfitted for from $135 to $150. Now it costs from $250.50 to $350.50, according to a well known outfitter to army officers, even if the very lowest prices are quoted. His figures for different articles follow:

Table listing costs for various items: Overcoat and raincoat $100.00, Service hat 4.50, Olive drab shirt 8.50, Service coat 18.50, Service breeches 9.00, Two pairs of shoes 11.00, Leggings 5.00, Revolver 20.00, Saber 12.00, Belt 5.00, Insignia 3.50, Dispatch case 9.00, Incidentals and extras 50.00, Saddle and spurs 45.00, Halter and bridle 10.00, Riding gloves 7.00, Mount accessories 28.00, Total $350.50

and Events

London Tower Sliding. London, Sept. 3.—A report presented to the National Physical laboratory at its annual meeting declares that the Tower of London is sliding into the Thames.

"Observations on the growth of cracks in the buildings of the tower have been continued," the report says. "There have been no serious disturbances, but careful examinations have revealed that movements of the wall have taken place, presumably in the nature of a slide toward the river of the whole block of masonry."

It is further explained that the entire fabric of the structure moves appreciably with the rising and falling tide, making it impossible to carry out certain operations needing delicate equilibrium.

Policewomen For United States Camps. Boston, Sept. 5.—Appointment of women to aid in police work in towns where army training camps are established is being considered by the Massachusetts Christian Temperance Union.

It was asserted at a conference of the general officers of the union members of the advisory board, ways and means committee and superintendents of welfare work that the laws were never so good for the protection of the army from drink and vice evils as at the present time. Plans have been laid for raising $10,000 to be used as a W. C. T. U. war welfare fund.

Remains as Russia's Ambassador. Washington, Sept. 4.—When the Russian special war mission to the United States came it was headed by Professor Boris A. Bakhtmetief, who is to remain as ambassador, the first to represent the new democracy at Washington. Although under forty years of age, Ambassador Bakhtmetief has had a varied career. After graduating as a hydroelectrical engineer he became an instructor and later professor in the Petrograd Polytechnic institute.

About thirteen years ago he came to this country and took up practical work in hydroelectric installations. He returned to Russia an American enthusiast. Under the old regime Professor Bakhtmetief was chief representative in America of the Russian central war industries committee. Officially he is still head of that committee. He left this country six months ago for a temporary absence. After the revolution last March he was appointed assistant minister of commerce and trade. The new ambassador speaks English fluently.

Vegetable Soups or Purees. Soup is not necessarily made from meat stock. Vegetable soups or purees are made by boiling potatoes, beans, peas or other vegetables until soft, mashing through a sieve and then heating with a little liquid (water, milk, soup stock or whatever seems desirable) and flavoring. Using leftover vegetables for such purees is an economical practice. Milk soups, which are really milk thickened and flavored with some vegetable, fish or other food, to give flavor and perhaps thickened still more with a little flour or stale bread-crumbs, are both nutritious and appetizing. They furnish also an excellent means of using up skim milk. Those who wish to bring down the cost of food should remember that skim milk, a cup of which contains as much protein as a cup of whole milk, is far too valuable a food to be overlooked.

Fruit Acids as Mouth Cleaners. Unless the teeth are very badly damaged or eroded the acids of fruit, such as that contained in grapes, oranges, lemons or apples, will be found to be a satisfactory mouth wash. The advice of a dentist should be sought, however, to determine the condition of the teeth and to decide whether an alkaline or acid wash is preferable for the individual case. But there is no question, according to the Popular Science Monthly, as to the efficacy of the food acids in removing quickly and entirely the mucous films that are the first stages of dental decay.

An apple eaten in the evening will cleanse the teeth mechanically and chemically and if followed by vigorous brushing will protect them from bacteria during the night.

American Youth Must Preserve Ideals Unsullied

By President A. LAWRENCE LOWELL, Harvard University

REMEMBER that, while war evokes heroism, it has also its brutalizing side, its appeal to elemental instincts. Do not lose your personal standards in the long, monotonous drudgery that precedes the storm of battle, in the outburst of exultation or depression that follows it or in the pleasant relief of a short leave of absence from the front in the allurements of a great city. Remember that your men, too, will come home, and strive to keep them from temptation.

HELP ON EVERY AGENCY THAT SEEKS TO GIVE THEM HEALTHY RECREATION IN THE DREARY ROUND OF LIFE IN CAMP AND TRENCH.

Encourage them to keep in touch with home and to preserve their ideals unsullied, so that, whether you return yourself or not, your influence will have its true reward not only in assaults repulsed and trenches won, but also in lives that may far outlast your own.

We must fight by the side of our allies until we can inaugurate a reign of justice and peace in the world; until, to use Lincoln's words, "WE MAY ACHIEVE AND CHERISH A JUST AND LASTING PEACE AMONG OURSELVES AND WITH ALL NATIONS."

Men Afflicted With Nervous Ills Do Not Make Soldiers

By Dr. THOMAS W. SALMON, Medical Director National Committee of Mental Hygiene

IT has been recognized for a long time that individuals with certain physical defects were thereby rendered unfit to be soldiers. It is not so widely recognized probably, but equally true, that men with certain nervous and mental diseases or with certain NERVOUS OR MENTAL MAKEUPS CANNOT BE MADE INTO RELIABLE SOLDIERS.

It is interesting to note the change in the attitude that has taken place in regard to the so called cowards. Just as formerly the so called criminal was supposed to be just bad and vicious, the so called coward in armies has likewise been considered a thing of ignominy, and just as careful examination and study of the personality of criminals in police and prison laboratories has shown that many criminals are so largely because of factors which they cannot control on account of nervous and mental makeups, just so it is found that the COWARD AND DESERTER IS FREQUENTLY AN INDIVIDUAL WHO IS NERVOUSLY OR MENTALLY SICK AND IS UNABLE TO WITHSTAND THE RIGORS OF ARMY LIFE.

Submarine Will Be Ruled Out of Warfare When Peace Comes

By JOSEPHUS DANIELS, Secretary of the Navy

I DO not think there is any doubt that the submarine will become a useless, discarded type of war craft in the future. It will be a useless thing because we have got to make it so in this war. Furthermore, it will be put in the SAME CATEGORY WITH THE STILETTO AFTER THE WAR AND ABSOLUTELY RULED OUT OF WARFARE BY CIVILIZED NATIONS.

Remember that this war is not going to end until those same civilized nations are sure of themselves in declaring that the barbarities which have developed in the last three years have ended for all time.

BUT FOR THE PRESENT WE ARE CONCERNED CHIEFLY WITH THE PROBLEM OF MAKING THE SUBMARINE USELESS TO THE ENEMY, WELL.

Be No Educational System

Dr. P. P. CLAXTON, United States Commissioner of Education

SCHOOLS and other agencies of education must be maintained at whatever necessary cost and against all hurtful interference with their regular work except as may be necessary for the national defense, which is, of course, our immediate task and must be kept constantly in mind and have right of way everywhere and at all times.

If the war should be long and severe there will be great need in its later days for many young men and women of scientific knowledge, training and skill, and it may then be much more difficult than it is now to support our schools, to spare our children and youth from other service and to permit them to attend school.

THEREFORE NO SCHOOL SHOULD CLOSE ITS DOORS NOW OR SHORTEN ITS TERM UNNECESSARILY.

When the war is over, whether within a few months or after many years, there will be such demands upon this country for men and women of scientific knowledge, technical skill and general culture as have never before come to any country. The world must be rebuilt. This country must play a far more important part than it has played in the past in agriculture, manufacturing and commerce and in the things of cultural life—ART, LITERATURE, MUSIC AND SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY.

Colored People of Nation Appreciate Advantages of Education

By Dr. THOMAS JESSE JONES, United States Bureau of Education

IN the fifty years since freedom was decreed negro illiteracy has decreased from over 90 per cent to 30 per cent, nearly 1,000,000 colored men are now farmers of varying degrees of independence, a quarter of a million own their own farms, and the total acreage of land owned by negroes aggregates 20,000,000 acres of fertile soil. These facts are indisputable evidence not only that the colored people are capable of progress, but also that their white neighbors have looked with favor upon their struggles and in MANY INSTANCES HAVE ACTUALLY GIVEN SUBSTANTIAL AID TO THEIR ENDEAVORS.

As the negroes are the primary element that gives rise to the problem, so are they becoming more and more an important factor in its solution. Their contribution includes both an increasing financial support and an ever larger proportion of the teaching force.

IT IS PROBABLE THAT THEIR TOTAL GIFTS AGGREGATE ABOVE $100 ANNUALLY OVER AND ABOVE THEIR SHARE OF THE PUBLIC TAXES.

Drying Fruits and Vegetables an Important War Measure

By CHARLES LATHROP PACK, President of the National Emergency Food Garden Commission

THE drying of vegetables and fruits is a means of preventing heavy loss of perishable food products this summer.

Drying is a process within the reach of every American household. It is simple, easy and sure. It involves little or no expense and comparatively little time. All the housekeeper need do is to make an occasional visit to her kitchen or her outdoor dryer to watch the temperature to which the food is exposed. IN THIS WAY SHE MAY PROVIDE FOR THE WINTER NEEDS OF HER HOUSEHOLD WITHOUT SACRIFICING PRESENT ENJOYMENT.

There has never been a time when drying was as vital as this year. The war makes food thrift imperative. The production of foodstuffs will be unusually abundant because of the widespread planting of food gardens brought about by the campaign of the food garden commission. Not less than two million of these gardens are now thriving. Nature will yield more vegetables than the people can consume during the summer.

TO SAVE THE SURPLUS IS A NATIONAL NEED. BECAUSE OF THE EUROPEAN SITUATION THIS NEED BECOMES INTERNATIONAL AS WELL.

MARTYRS TO GIRDLES.

A Native Protest Against Feminine Fashions in Japan.

A caustic Japanese critic, Saito Man, has this to say in the Tokyo Advertiser about women's fashions in Japan:

"Archaic costumes, especially those universally worn by ladies, demand reform. The indigent world can be clothed out of the materials wasted in gorgeous kimono sleeves. Nothing is so absurd as the long, heavy, pendulous sleeves attached to a girl's holiday kimono. They serve no purpose, impede locomotion and are a pitiful spectacle. The girdle is more cumbersome and expensive, especially those woven in one piece of heaviest silk."

"Formerly the latter were only worn at weddings and state affairs; now every geisha has one. Every wife must have one to sport at the theater. In price this maruobi varies from 30 to 1,000 yen ($15 to $500) and upward. To girdle it requires all the strength of a well built husband or father. I do not know any Japanese woman who ever succeeded in putting on one herself."

"It is over three feet wide, folded into half that width when worn, and its length is three times the full height of its wearer. In weight it is terrific, thickly embroidered as it is with golden threads. It is chiefest attraction in the whole dress scheme of Japanese womanhood. One might as well ask a woman to discard her hair as it. Every well dressed Japanese lady is a martyr to her girdles. Her entire waist is covered with layers of belting. From the viewpoint of health the girdle (obi) is a most vile contrivance, as every doctor asserts."

OUR ORGAN OF BALANCE.

When It Becomes Affected It Produces an Attack of Vertigo.

When any one feels dizzy and perhaps almost about to faint his brain cannot properly control the working of his eyes. They may move round from side to side, perhaps independently instead of together, and so it may look as if things were spinning around.

Another reason for dizziness has to do with a wonderful part of the body near the ear and without which none of us could sit upright, much less stand, though few people have ever heard of it. This organ, which used to be thought to have something to do with hearing, really controls our balance. In some people it is affected by disease, and these people constantly suffer from dizziness and a feeling that everything is spinning round and round.

As every one knows, we can make ourselves dizzy and so think everything is spinning round by whirling around ourselves several times in one direction. This disturbs the organ of balance, and this disturbance gives us the feeling. If you turn round the other way you put things right by restoring the original state of affairs within the balancing organ. The name for the feeling that things are spinning round is vertigo, and "vert" simply means "turn."—Kansas City Star.

INVESTING MONEY.

When "Safety First" and Not Large Returns is the Object.

"A conservative policy would prompt all buyers of securities to invest at least a portion of their capital in government issues or some other form of sound bonds," says Leslie's Weekly.

"Many investors have a preference exclusively for stocks because the latter may render a higher yield or may fluctuate more widely, thus offering larger chances for speculative profit. Dividend paying shares of the seasoned sort are not to be belittled, and they will perhaps always form the major portion of the average investor's purchases. There is reasonable safety in them."

"But firmer 'cornerstones of fortune' are found in the better class bonds. These are not necessarily gilt edged, but they are well secured. In times of prosperity the issuing corporations have no difficulty in meeting interest charges. In times of depression dividends on stocks may be suspended, but the enterprise must pay interest on its bonds or submit to foreclosure. And in such event the bondholder rarely suffers loss. Their high degree of stability and safety commends good bonds as an indispensable part of any well established estate."

What a Billion Means.

If a railway train proceeding at the rate of a mile a minute had been at the dawn of the Christian era started around the earth on a straight track, its object being to run 1,000,000,000 miles without stop, it would have been necessary for that train to circle the earth 40,000 times, and it would not have come to the end of its journey until nearly New Year's eve, 1628, sixteen centuries after Christ was born. During its frantic flight it would have seen the Saviour live and die; Rome rise, flourish and decay; Britain discovered and vanquished by the Roman legions, and London and Paris built. It would have proceeded on its journey throughout the dark ages. It would have witnessed the birth of Columbus, the discovery of America and have a couple of hundred years yet to continue.—Los Angeles Times.

Ingenious Bridge Building.

In constructing a series of small bridges over the streams which intersect many of the roads of Sumatra a rather unusual course was followed. The builders used timber stringers and made abutments of piles of burlap bags filled with cement and sand. Shortly after the bags had been put in place heavy, soaking rains converted the whole into a mass of solid concrete.

FROM POWNAL, VERMONT.

Letter from Mrs. John W. Moor, who has been spending the summer in Vermont.

"Gentlemen.—After the 1st of October please send our paper to 196 1/2 Juniper Street, Atlanta, Ga. We will leave Vermont soon after the 1st, as it is getting pretty cold up here. On the 10th of September we had a hard freeze that made ice as thick as window glass, and since then have had several frosts; so of course all vegetation is gone, and we are getting anxious to get into a warmer climate. Mr. Moor has improved steadily since coming to Pownal, but we are equally anxious to get back home again. After all there is no place like Texas, and no people on the face of the round globe equal to the people of Colorado. We will stop in New York and Washington and spend the balance of our time in Atlanta, with John, and then hurrah for Texas.—Mrs. Jno. W. Moor.

UNION ITEMS.

The long looked for rain hasn't got here yet, but we are still looking. The general topic of talk for some time has been concerning some one going off to hunt work. But who would have thought of such men as Prof. Halbert and George Bynum going off to hunt work?

The working crowd on the new school house has "swunk" up so one can hardly tell who's there. Yet, in the face of all their drawbacks, the work is going on very nicely. There was one accident, and that was when Uncle Jake Chesney, while working on a high scaffold lost his footing and let something like 200 pounds of his averdupoise come in contact with a pile of rock, which bruised him up some. He says he took the backstep, but we suspicion that he was trying to cut the pigeon wing.

Rev. Jackson informs us that he was mistaken about his last appointment being his final one—he will have another appointment.

The Sunday school was well attended last Sunday and the lesson was interesting. ELI

YES, LIFT A CORN OFF WITHOUT PAIN!

Cincinnati Authority Tells How to Dry Up a Corn or Callus So It Lifts Off With Fingers.

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freezone applied directly on a tender aching corn or callus, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callus loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain. A small bottle of freezone costs very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house. It is fine stuff and acts like a charm every time. Adv. 4.

FORT DOUGLAS, UTAH.

A letter from Chas. H. Womack who is at Fort Douglas, Utah, says: Received your letter, and was glad to hear from you. The papers came today, and you can guess whether I read them. We get the Salt Lake papers every day, but they haven't the news for me like the Colorado Record.

You bet we are having a time, although things are not as new here as they were at first.

I've been to the Y. M. C. A. every night except one and seen good movies, or heard lectures and singing. I'd be out of luck if it were not for the Y. M. C. A.

We don't have to work on Saturday evening unless we are on special duty. All we have to do on Saturday is scrub the quarters, clean our rifles, make a pack, march out to the field, pitch tents, let the captain inspect them, then strike tents, roll our packs and march back to camp—it only takes about three hours to do this.

I want to beg your sympathy for I've got to work in the kitchen tomorrow. When a fellow has that job he is on "K. P." (kitchen police) That doesn't mean we've been "bad boys"—the company takes turn about—three every day.

I am sorry to hear that so many people had moved away, but they'll come back when the rains come.

Say, we are not starved, as some people think. We just have Oodles of good things to eat—every day too.

GIRLS! WHITEN SKIN WITH LEMON JUICE.

Make a Beauty Lotion for a Few Cents to Remove Tan, Freckles and Sallowness.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply you with three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Squeeze the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle, then put in the orchard white and shake well. This makes a quarter pint of the very best lemon skin whitener and complexion beautifier known. Massage this fragrant, creamy lotion daily into the face, neck, arms and hands and just see how freckles, tan, sallowness, redness and roughness disappear and how smooth, soft and clear the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless, and the beautiful results will surprise you. No 4 Adv.

COLORADO WOMEN

We need your patronage if we are to keep our laundry business up to the high standard we desire. We have lost many of our best customers, by the removal of our young men to the training camps. Many of the families who patronized us have gone and we would like to have you give us at least a part of your work. Investigate our prices and our service and see if we cannot save you money as well as continue to give employment to our force of expert workers.—Colorado Steam Laundry.

When everybody is on the water wagon willy nilly, what will the professional demon fighters do for a living?

In the year 1909, I took a severe case of the latter. I then took a bad cough. I had taken all kinds of cough remedies but got no relief. I then decided to try Peruna. I used five bottles. The Record, has had all kinds of trouble this week trying to do the work ourselves in order to stay within the expense account and have made a failure in both instances.

The National Sheep and Wool Bureau wants to have sheep on the White House lawn. Why not include a few bovines and frighten away the suffragettes?—Portland Oregonian.

The bright light seen in the heavens about eleven o'clock Monday night was only a German airplane with a searchlight locating the town of Colorado. In six months from now it will require a more powerful searchlight than this to locate many of these West Texas towns.

A most important principle to go by is never to buy anything until you have the money to pay for it. In business, advertising and such affairs, naturally, a man must sometimes use credit; in fact, modern business is built on the credit system;
but that is a wholly different story.
It may be all right to buy a herd of cattle for ten thousand dollars on credit, but to buy a fountain pen or some silk handkerchiefs for four dollars on credit is absolute idiocy.
Wait till you get the four dollars before you spend it. Beware of the credit giving merchant, who knows your father, and is glad to trust you.
The boy that runs a bill at the drug store for soda-water or cigars needs a club. Never buy anything because, you think you may need it sometimes and can get it cheap now. Buy only what you need now, and cannot do without; and when you buy it go to a first class store and pay a good price for it.—Ex.

THE RECORD'S BIRTHDAY.

With its last issue the Record rounded out the twelfth year of its publication, and begins the thirteenth more favorably entrenched in the confidence of its clientele than ever before. The paper has earnestly endeavored to keep just a few jumps ahead of the rapid development of the county—to lead rather than follow; to be a moving force rather than a movable one, and has striven to direct instead of bending to popular sentiment.

Whatever measure of prosperity the paper has enjoyed has been invested to multiply its capacity for serving its readers. It has "stayed by the stuff" through seasons of fatness and leanness with equal confidence and endeavor. It has ever preached the gospel of Good Spirits, potently believing that West Texas would come into its own, and become one of the most attractive, profitable and pleasant sections of this great nation.

And notwithstanding the past year
of unprecedented drouth, our faith in the country is as abiding as ever.
This is year is not a regular incident
but rather a calamity—a condition heretofore unknown, and more than possible will never occur again.

Abiding in the belief that the confidence and energy of the paper would finally win out, the Record management has built up, probably the most complete plant to be found in any Texas town of like size. Its splendid new building on Oak street has been completed and moved into,
in which it is better situated and equipped than ever before, to print a good newspaper, and to do the general run of printing, for a number of West Texas towns.

What material profit has been gained by the management, has been put back into the business; and every dollar that the Record has ever made has been spent at home, with our home people. Our employees have been principally home people, and they and their families have profited as well as the employers. Our merchants have received back, in exchange for merchandise, the very money that they had paid us for advertising and printing. The Record is as much a business concern, and fixture of Colorado, as any store or bank in the town. The management has always tried to run the Record along business lines—an honest exchange of value received for every dollar that it has ever earned.

But above all else we have striven to make the Record a welcome weekly visitor in the homes of the people who read it.

But the accomplishment of all these things has depended as much upon the loyalty of the paper's friends as upon its own merits and efforts. We can make the paper no better than its friends help us make it. By using its columns for business publicity, for the dissemination of community news and exchange of ideas, the paper will become a clearing house for the business, social and educational well doing of the town and county.

Thanking its friends and patrons for the uniform courtesy and generous support accorded it the past twelve years and pledging its best efforts to still better service, we enter upon this new business year more greatly handicapped than ever in the history of the business, but if hard work, faithfulness to duty, and stick-to-itiveness will pull us through, we will be right here with those that weather the storms, and hope to reap
the reward with them, when West Texas comes back.

And by this token the Record hopes under the same management to greet its selfsame readers when it shall have served them even still more faithfully on its twentieth birthday. In the language of poor Rip Van Winkle: May we all live long and prosper.

B. Y. P. U. PARTY.

The B. Y. P. U. quarterly social took the form of a moonlight lawn party. This was held with Miss Mabel Smith. Quite a nice crowd gathered with well filled baskets, and after a social chat, "eats" was the main feature of the evening. These quarterly gatherings do much to keep up the interest and enthusiasm of the membership.

YOUNG PEOPLES SOCIETY.

The Young Peoples Missionary Society of the M. E. church, met with their leader, Mrs. E. A. Barcroft, last week. Their lesson was on guilelessness. BIBLE CLASS.

The women organized bible class of the Baptist Sunday school met with Mrs. T. J. Ratliff last Friday. Quite a large number were in attendance. The bible lesson on Security and Comfort was conducted by the president, Mrs. C. H. Lasky. Besides the regular business they decided to "pound" Mr. and Mrs. Barnett, an aged couple who are sick, with a Sunday dinner. Poems found during the week's reading were read after the business period, by different members of the class. Mrs. Gustine is to lead the next meeting.

BUSINESS MEETING.

Last Tuesday the Hesperian Club met in business session at the home of the president, Mrs. M. K. Jackson. Plans were completed for the open meeting which is to be held at Mrs. Sam Majors this week. Each member is to invite a guest. The guests are anticipating a most enjoyable time as the Hesperian club and hospitality are almost synonymous.

MISSIONARY STUDY.

The M. E. Mission Study Class met at the church Monday afternoon. Their new book, which they are to study this year—African Trail—had not yet arrived and the time was spent studying the sixteenth chapter of John. The books will be here before the next meeting and all members are requested to be there for the first lesson.

DON'T GIVE UP.

Discouraged Citizens Will Find Comfort in the Experience of a Colorado Woman.

Experience is the modern instructor.

Profit by the experience of others. It may save your life.

The experience of friends and neighbors.

The testimony of Colorado people will bring renewed encouragement. Here is a case in point:

Mrs. H. L. Bostwick, Second St., Colorado says: "Several years ago I had occasion to use a kidney medicine and I got Doan's Kidney Pills. They proved perfectly satisfactory in every way. I gladly advise any one to get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Charters & Sadler's drug store, if troubled by back aches and irregular action of the kidneys."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Bostwick had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. Adv.

PROMOTION EXERCISES.

Last Sunday was promotion day at the Methodist Sunday school in the Junior department. This class of six marched from the basement up to the main school, and after the examination were honorably promoted to the intermediate department. Their examination was a general bible drill, memorizing the 23rd Psalm and the ten commandments. Those who passed were: Isla Dorn, Clarice King, Mary Bell George, Mary Jackson and Gressett Collier.

Mrs. A. L. Whipkey, who has been agent for the Ladies Home Journal for twenty-five years, asks that you let her send in your subscription for either the Journal, Saturday Evening Post or Country Gentleman. In all that time she has had fewer than a half dozen complaints. It is her pride to send subscriptions for these publications. Renew your own subscription and send the Post to some soldier boy—he'll appreciate it.

SCOUTS ON HIKE.

Last Friday evening the boy scouts were all in a hurry to get home from school so as to get ready for their hike for the night. Soon blankets and other necessary things were ready and the boys were waiting for "Captain" Person's orders. They went to Earnest's pasture where they spent the night. The boys were turned loose for a good time and they had it. A wash pot was taken and a Brunswick stew was the main dish, and as heartily enjoyed for breakfast as dinner. The boys reached home Saturday morning, tired and happy. Seven of them qualified as "Tenderfoot." This makes thirteen who have come up to all requirements.

MOONLIGHT PICNIC

A crowd of young folks enjoyed a moonlight picnic at Seven Wells Monday night. The usual good time was had. The unusual occurred as they were coming home and saw the big meteor fall.

ACID IN STOMACH SOUR'S THE FOOD AND CAUSE INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" Fixes Sour, Gassy, Upset Stomachs in Five Minutes.

You don't know what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt if sick, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented and turned sour; head dizzy and aches; belch gasses and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin to neutralize acidity and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have dyspepsia. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps the stomach sweetened, and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a amaze instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless antacid is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it stops food souring and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Your stomach will digest your meals

PARENT TEACHERS ASSM.

The Parent-Teachers Association met at the high school building Tuesday at 4 p. m.

Quite a number of mothers were present. All the new teachers joined the Association. All seemed interested in the work and are anxious for the best possible co-operation between teachers and parents.

Mr. King told of some of the things he wished to see accomplished this year. Some of them have already been done and others are soon to be realized. The school board allowed $75.00 for books for the fifth, sixth and seventh grades, and the children of these rooms served lunches for one week to purchase book-cases for these books.

He stated that Wednesday had been designated as mosquito day, and asked that the parents help in this work, as the mosquitoes are a veritable nuisance. All agreed to help in this much needed work, and it is to be hoped that there will be such a concert of action that they will be a thing of the past in a very few days.

Many things needful for the school were discussed, but for the lack of funds most of them were postponed. The Association agreed at the beginning of the year to work on the library and most all money taken in has been set aside for that purpose.

Nearly all present responded to roll call—My ambition for the school this year.

Mrs. M. K. Jackson had a splendid paper on The Objects of a Parent-Teachers Association. Telling most interestingly of some of the things it did and did not stand for.

GO TO SUNDAY SCHOOL DAY

The Baptist Sunday school observed last Sunday as Rally Day. The program was on Missions. This was combined with patriotic songs and recitations. The Junior boys and girls gave the "Flag and Cross" showing their love and devotion for the Flag and the Cross. The Cross was formed by ten girls in white, while the boys stood behind with flags. The wee ones told of What Little Things Can Do, in their sweet, childish way. Recitations were given by Lee Jones, Jr. "The Slacker;" and Scottie May

One of the most touching parts of the program was the names of the boys in army service who had at one time, been members of the Sunday school, and special prayer for them. Fifteen former pupils are in the various departments of the service. 241 were present.

THE WRITING IN THE SAND.

They dragged her to the Master's feet

Abashed with shame and numb with dread.

"We know the law that Moses wrote, but judge you her," the fierce mob said.

She stood deserted and abhorred,

The world-wide type of such as she, While in safe haunts and pleasant

The partner of her guilt went free.

In her scared eyes the wonder grew That she alone the shame must know

Yet dumb she waited, breast a-heave, To feel the mob's first stinging blow.

Then Jesus said: "The sinless one May cast the stone that's in his hand"

And while the conscience-stricken mob dispersed

He stooped and wrote upon the sand.

Wrote on the sand the mystic line The probing ages fain would scan;

Perchance the wondering woman read The letters dim: "Where is the man?"

The woman climbs her Calvary here, Outlawed and scorned and set aside;

Each day, with sneer of good and bad Her spirit is re-crucified;

A CHILD HATES OIL, CALOMEL, PILLS FOR LIVER AND BOWELS

Give "California Syrup of Figs" if Croup, Spleen, Feverish, Constipated

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics.

Now you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt. Adv7

Yesterday our friend was here: today he is not here. Where is he now? The mystery of death has intervened. Faith assures us that all is well with him; but still a host of unanswered questions throng us. Is he still himself? How conscious is he now of this world and of us who are left behind? Has his personality passed over the great gulf with him? Shall we again know him, in the peculiar relationship of personal friendship? These are the mysteries hidden even to faith, and unsolved by reason. The only shaft of light that shines upon the immortality of the soul streams from the open grave of the righteous.

Money we Must Have To Pay Our Past Contracts

We are at sea so far as knowing what is best to do. We do believe that we are facing an ocean of icebergs, but we do not believe we will sink as the Titanic and the Lusitania did, but it seems to us that we are being torpedoed by every issue that befalls man. Our men and boys are not yet at the firing lines but are so near there that we can imagine that we hear the rumbling of the cannon and can see the Americans waving the Red, White and Blue over our enemy. Do you consider us an enemy or a friend of yours? The thought we wish to hand you is: Do you want us to remain in business at the present locations, or move to parts unknown? The LOST WORLD

BY A. CONAN DOYLE

Copyright, 1912, by A. Conan Doyle.

SYNOPSIS.
Edward Malone, newspaper man, is in love with Gladys Huntington. She tells him the man she loves must do some brave act. Malone gets an assignment to interview Professor Challenger, explorer. He gets to see the professor, but is roughly handled by that worthy when he learns Malone is a journalist. After the combat, however, the professor relaxes somewhat and invites Malone in and offers to tell him about the Lost World provided the interview were not published. A note book he had picked up in South America is the key to his story. It had belonged to an American explorer, he explained. Among other curious sketches, it contained one of a giant prehistoric animal. An indistinct photograph of a rocky pinnacle similar to a sketch in the book was further evidence the professor showed to Malone. The professor attends a scientific meeting, where he challenges ridicule by offering to direct anybody chosen by those present to the place of mystery. Lord John Roxton, Professor Summerlee and Malone volunteer to go. Challenger meets them in South America, and they start for the interior of the Amazon country, meeting with numerous strange vegetation and at last are forced to cut their way through a bamboo brake. They reach the cliffs of their destination, ascending them with difficulty. Bridging a chasm with a large tree, they cross to the other side. A treacherous guide cuts away their "bridge," and they are marooned in the Lost World without any way of escape. Penetrating the wild country, they meet with the first of its secrets—two huge dinosaur break in on their vision and then disappear. They are attacked by huge, ferocious, batlike creatures they recognized as pterodactyls. Lord John in a heroic effort scares a carnivorous dinosaur away from the camp by dashing a piece of flaming wood in its face.

Surprise and Horror.
EVER since the mysterious visit which had been paid to our camp we always returned to it with some misgivings. However, on this occasion we found everything in order.
It was about this time that I had an inspiration. My eyes chanced to light upon the enormous gnarled trunk of the zingko tree which cast its huge branches over us. Surely if its bole exceeded that of all others its height must do the same. If the rim of the plateau was indeed the highest point then why should this mighty tree not prove to be a watchtower which commanded the whole country? Now, ever since I ran wild as a lad in Ireland I have been a bold and skilled tree climber. My comrades might be my masters on the rocks, but I knew that I would be supreme among those branches. Could I only get my legs on to the lowest of the giant offshoots then it would be strange indeed if I could not make my way to the top. My comrades were delighted at my idea.
"Our young friend," said Challenger, bunching up the red apples of his cheeks, "is capable of acrobatic exertions which would be impossible to a man of more solid though possibly of a more commanding appearance. I applaud his resolution."
"By George, young fellow, you've put your hand on it!" said Lord John, clapping me on the back. "How we never came to think of it before I can't imagine. There's not more than an hour of daylight left, but if you take your notebook you may be able to get some rough sketch of the place. If we put these three ammunition cases under the branch I will soon hoist you on to it."
He stood on the boxes while I faced the trunk and was gently raising me when Challenger sprang forward and gave me such a thrust with his huge hand that he fairly shot me into the tree. With both arms clasping the branch I scrambled hard with my feet until I had worked first my body and then my knees on to it. There were three excellent offshoots, like huge rungs of a ladder, above my head and a tangle of convenient branches beyond, so that I clambered onward with such speed that I soon lost sight of the ground and had nothing but foliage beneath me. Now and then I encountered a check, and once I had to shin up a creeper for eight or ten feet, but I made excellent progress, and the booming of Challenger's voice seemed to be a great distance beneath me. The tree was, however, enormous, and, looking upward, I could see no thinning of the leaves above my head. There was some thick, bushlike clump which seemed to be a parasite upon a branch up which I was swarming. I leaned my head round it in order to see what was beyond, and I nearly fell out of the tree in my surprise and horror at what I saw.
A face was gazing into mine at the distance of only a foot or two. The creature that owned it had been crouching behind the parasite and had looked round it at the same instant that I did. It was a human face—or at least it was far more human than any monkey's that I have ever seen. It was long, whitish and blotched with pimples, the nose flattened and the lower jaw projecting with a bristle of coarse whiskers round the chin. The eyes, which were under thick and heavy brows, were bestial and ferocious, and as it opened its mouth to snarl what sounded like a curse at me I observed that it had curved, sharp canine teeth. For an instant I read hatred and menace in the evil eyes. Then, as quick as a flash, came an expression of overpowering fear. There was a crash of broken boughs as it dived wildly down into the tangle of green. I caught a glimpse of a hairy body like that of a reddish pig, and then it was gone amid a swirl of leaves and branches.

"What's the matter?" shouted Roxton from below. "Anything wrong with you?"
"Did you see it?" I cried, with my arms around the branch and all my nerves tingling.
"We heard a row, as if your foot had slipped. What was it?"
I was so shocked at the sudden and strange appearance of this ape man

I Nearly Fell Off the Tree in My Surprise.

that I hesitated whether I should not climb down again and tell my experience to my companions. But I was already so far up the great tree that it seemed a humiliation to return without having carried out my mission. I did not mean to quit.
After a long pause, therefore, to recover my breath and my courage I continued my ascent until I had topped all the trees of the forest.
The sun was just above the western sky line, and the evening was a particularly bright and clear one, so that the whole extent of the plateau was visible beneath me. It was, as seen from this height, of an oval contour, with a breadth of about thirty miles and a width of twenty. Its general shape was that of a shallow funnel, all the sides sloping down to a considerable lake in the center. This lake may have been ten miles in circumference and lay very green and beautiful in the evening light, with a thick fringe of reeds at its edges and with its surface broken by several yellow sandbanks, which gleamed golden in the mellow sunshine. A number of long dark objects, which were too large for alligators and too long for crocodiles, lay upon the edges of these patches of sand. With my glass I could clearly see that they were alive.
From the side of the plateau on which we were slopes of woodland, with occasional glades, stretched down for five or six miles to the central lake. I could see at my very feet the glade of the ignominious, and farther off was a round opening in the trees which marked the swamp of the pterodactyls. On the side facing me, however, the plateau presented a very different aspect. There the basalt cliffs of the outside were reproduced upon the inside, forming an escarpment about 200 feet high, with a woody slope beneath it.
Along the base of these red cliffs, some distance above the ground, I could see a number of dark holes through the glass, which I conjectured to be the mouths of caves. At the opening of one of these something white was shimmering, but I was unable to make out what it was. I sat charting the country until the sun had set and it was so dark that I could no longer distinguish details. Then I climbed down to my companions, waiting for me so eagerly at the bottom of the great tree. For once I was the hero of the expedition. Alone I had thought of it, and alone I had done it, and here was the chart which would save us a month's blind groping among unknown dangers. Each of them shook me solemnly by the hand.
But before they discussed the details forward, I was beating heart whenever I often did, the crash of breaking branches as some wild beast went past. Now and then great shadows loomed up for an instant and were gone—great, silent shadows which seemed to prowl upon padded feet. How often I stopped with the intention of returning, and yet every time my pride conquered my fear and sent me on again until my object should be attained.

At last (my watch showed that it was 1 in the morning) I saw the gleam of water amid the openings of the jungle, and ten minutes later I was among the reeds upon the borders of the central lake. I was exceedingly dry, so I lay down and took a long draft of its waters, which were fresh and cold. There was a broad pathway with many tracks upon it at the spot which I had found, so that it was clearly one of the drinking places of the animals. Close to the water's edge there was a huge isolated block of lava. Up this I climbed, and, lying on the top of this block, I had an excellent view in every direction.
Lake Gladys—my own lake—lay like a sheet of quicksilver before me, with a reflected moon shining brightly in the center of it. It was shallow, for in many places I saw low sand banks protruding above the water. Everywhere upon the still surface I could see signs of life, sometimes the gleam of a great silver-sided fish in the air, sometimes the arched, slate-colored back of some passing monster. Once upon a yellow sand bank I saw a creature like a huge swan, with a clumsy body and a high, flexible neck, shuffling about upon the margin. Presently it plunged in, and for some time I could see the arched neck and darting head undulating over the water. Then it dived, and I saw it no more.
My attention was soon drawn away from these distant sights and brought back to what was going on at my very feet. Two great creatures like armadillos had come down to the drinking place and were squatting at the edge of the water, their long, flexible tongues, like red ribbons, shooting in and out as they lapped. A huge deer, with branching horns, a magnificent creature, which carried itself like a king, came down with its doe and two fawns and drank beside the armadillos. No such deer exist anywhere else upon earth, for the moose or elk which I have seen would hardly have reached its shoulders. Presently it gave a warning snort and was off with its family among the reeds, while the armadillos also scuttled for shelter. A newcomer, a most monstrous animal, was coming down the path.
For a moment I wondered where I could have seen that ungainly shape, that arched back with triangular fringes along it, that strange, birdlike head held close to the ground. Then it came back to me. It was the stegosaurus—the very creature which Maple White had preserved in his sketchbook and which had been the first object which arrested the attention of Challenger! There he was, perhaps the very specimen which the American artist had encountered. The ground shook beneath his tremendous weight, and his gurglings of water resounded through the still night. For five minutes he was so close to my rock that by stretching out my hand I could have touched the hideous waving hackles upon his back. Then he lumbered away and was lost among the bowlders.

HARD WORK FOR CUPID.
Roumanian Farmers Try to Keep Their Sons From Wedlock.
The Roumanian farmer doesn't think much of matrimony. A bachelor hasn't missed much, in his opinion. And when his son gets the marrying bee buzzing in his bosom the Roumanian dad is apt to take a hickory club and beat it out of the young man's system.
That's why the Roumanian youth when he is in love never confides the happy secret to his father. He goes and tells his mother, for women still believe in love and marriage, although they lead from the altar to the wash-tub. But the father has faced the idle heels and the plow handles so long in his hard struggle to feed the hungry mouths opened to him by marriage that he has forgotten he was once a lover signing lover's tales. He is about as much in favor of state wide matrimony as a sick boy is in favor of castor oil.
So the son tells his mother. The mother feeds father the best dinner she can cook, and when the old man is in a mellow mood she breaks the sad news about her boy. If she is skillful enough she wins his grumpy consent, and he calls in his two best men friends. These two go with his son to the girl's home. Perhaps she has heard nothing of the love affair, but when she sees them coming she guesses what's up. Her father entertains the visitors, and if he lets the fire go out it means he has taken this method to turn them down cold.
Roumanian wives all have silk dresses or silk shawls. Their husbands do not lay the silk for them; the women raise it themselves.—Exchange.

Spend a Few Minutes With the Funny Fellows

After the Ceremony.
"This was given to me for a wedding present by my aunt, and I don't like it. I wonder if I could get her money back."—Life.

An Obstructed Order.
Owens—How do you do, Mr. Shears?
What can you show me in the way of a new suit today?
His Tailor—Your bill, sir. That is decidedly in the way of a new suit.

Different.
"Why, a year ago you told me this place was easily worth $15,000. Now you estimate its value at less than $10,000."
"You must remember that I was trying to sell it to you then. Now you want me to sell it for you."

The Idea.
"Good gracious, John, why did you allow the agent to persuade you to take a cottage with no more ground than this?"
"Because, my dear, I did not go into this deal with any selfish idea of territorial expansion."—Baltimore American.

Identification.
"I shall try to leave footprints on the sands of time," said the man who is earnest, but not original.
"Very good," replied the absent-minded criminologist, "but thumb prints are now considered more reliable."—Exchange.

Absentminded.
Mrs. Flatbush—Is your husband absentminded?
Mrs. Bensonhurst—I should say he was! Why, this morning he set the alarm clock at 6 and then forgot what he had set it for.—Youkers Statesman.

Chance Visitors.
"Is there such a thing as a new thought?"
"Maybe there is and maybe there isn't," replied the cynical man. "Some people entertain a thought so seldom that whenever one strikes them they get the idea that it's new."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Bonehead.
"G'wan, nigger, you all ain't got no sense now." "Ain't got no sense? What's dis yere hold for?" "Dat thing? Dat ain't no hold, nigger, dat's jes yer button on top er yo' body ter keep yer backbone from unravelin'."—Lamb.

In Money Terms.
"I say, Mike," said Pat, "a revolution must cost some 'thousands of pounds."
"Ah, not at all. Sometimes it only costs about 25 shillings."
"How ever do you make that out?"
"Well, you see," said Mike, "sometimes the king loses a crown and the people a sovereign."—London Tit-Bits.

IN REEL WORLD

Suggests Periscope For Beer.
Douglas Fairbanks recently received an unsolicited horoscope from a Hind prophet in New York city. The mystic gentleman from the orient took numerous pages to sum up the Fairbanks career, and the star read it with increasing wretchedness until he came to paragraph 32, which read: "He remains young looking very late in life, and his complexion, rather of a creamy white, is often tinted by blushes. His hair is chestnut colored and curls at the end." Whereupon Douglas sat down and replied: "Dear Mr. Prophet, you had me worried for awhile, but my complexion is not creamy white, and it is never tinted by blushes; also my hair is not chestnut colored and it does not curl at the end. If the remainder of your prophecy hasn't any higher batting average than paragraph 32 why should I worry? Next time you write me a horoscope you'd better get yourself a periscope."

Grand Old Lady of the Screen.

Ruby La Fayette Is Seventy-three and a Talented Actress.

She supported Booth, Barrett and McCullough, traveled as "stock star" in the days when cities in the west maintained their stock companies to be visited by a new star every time the play changed, and she later owned her own company, traveling through the middle section of the country, and now she is acting in photoplays. Ruby La Fayette at the age of seventy-three is having a new experience, even though she has been a dramatic entertainer since the early sixties. She took a leading part in the photoplay entitled "My Mother." Surely an ideal type for the name role.

Jane Can't Be Cheated.
You can't cheat Jane Lee. Jane, the famous movie kiddie, was selling tickets recently for the Actors' fund fair. The man to whom she sold her first ticket gave her three nickels and a dime. She showed the money to Mother Lee, who told her it was correct. The next purchaser gave Jane a quarter. Jane gave him a frigid stare. "That ain't 25 cents," she insisted. "Here, this is it." She pulled out her three nickels and a dime.

Jackie's Movable Front Yard.
Jackie Saunders is the only film star that has a movable front yard, and it's the biggest yard in the world too. It just simply won't behave. This wonderful front yard of Jackie's is nothing less than the Pacific ocean. When she steps out her front door she's in the ocean, and so she doesn't have to worry about cutting the lawn.

Flickerings From Film
It is all any movie comedian can do to keep up!
Comedy waff paper hangers are coming into the movies again.
Hospital scenes in moving pictures are generally of few days and full of trouble.
Jackie Saunders will not announce plans for her fall and winter work until after her vacation. The popular girl is enthusiastically preparing a surprise for her admirers.
Irving Cummings is one of the latest to make pictures for himself. He is now in the upper part of New York state selecting locations.
Dan Mason spoke nothing but German dialect during twenty-five of his thirty-five years on the stage.
Mollie McConnell, who is to Jackie Saunders, is called the "studio mother." Aside from playing matronly parts, she is all that the name implies for the men and women connected Cholly—Mr. Jones, I cannot live without your daughter.

Easily Fretted.
"I try to be optimistic, but it's a hard struggle sometimes," said Mr. Gadspar.
"For instance?"
"Well, I find it most difficult when some blithering idiot slaps me on the back so hard he knocks the breath out of me and then tells me to 'cheer up.'"
—Brooklyn Citizen.

Blessed Immunity.
Ethel surprised her mother by her interest in a statue of the Venus of Milo.
"Oh, I wish I was that lady!" she exclaimed.
"Why, dear?" her mother asked.
"Cause then people wouldn't always be saying to me, 'Don't bite your nails, dear.'"
—New York Times.

She Was Right.
"I did my best to be entertaining," said the young man in a voice of sorrow.
"Did you succeed?"
"I'm afraid not. I recited Hamlet's soliloquy. She looked at me reproachfully for several seconds, and then exclaimed, 'I don't think that's very funny.'"
—Washington Star.

Cause For Worry.
"You must take exercise," said the physician, "and by all means worry less. Play golf."
"Doctor," replied the patient, "you mean well, but a man who plays my kind of golf game can't help worrying."
—Argonaut.

WE DEPEND UPON YOUR JUDGMENT.

We depend upon the judgment of the people. Time does not permit a thorough tabulation of a complete list of the reduced prices in this advertisement. Everything will be reduced and marked in plain figures, showing the actual reduction. Your common sense judgment will enable you to see the importance of taking full advantage by purchasing large quantities. Remember that it's the small prices in the store and not the big price "figures" in advertisements that count. After looking at our low prices you will buy all your winter needs here.

Now is the time to "stock up" on service-ble merchandise.
