LETTER FROM W. O. JACKSON U. S. S. LOS ANGELES

Experiences With Submarine and Other Interesting Things.

U. S. S. Los Angeles, care P. M. New York City, N. Y., Oct. 18, 1917.

It has been twenty-eight days since I got any mail, but the time is coming when I will have some letters to read.

I saw a ship sink while I was commanding her, after we had been at sea nineteen days. It sank in 11½ minutes after it was hit, and there were fifty-one of the crew and six officers, making a total of fifty-seven men that went down with it. We were in less than a hundred yards of it when she went down. We were shot at but did not get hit; the torpedo went in front of us a few feet. It was seen coming and we swung to our left. Had we gone straight on possibly there would have been two boats sunk. The submarine was sighted by several men on our boat, but it disappeared in less than a minute, so we did not get any shot at it. All this happened Oct. 10, 5:45 p. m., 1917.

Talking about and reading of war is quite different from seeing it and being where it is. I had no idea that a ship the size of that one could sink as quick as that one. It was about one-fourth larger than U. S. S. Los Angeles. It was the largest boat of the bunch, and there were eleven of us. The group divided that morning and ten went to France and eleven were coming to England. After the excitement, boats went every direction and there were only five of us got together next morning.

There were several boys who did not sleep that night, and we who did kept all of our clothes on—even to our shoes and hat.

I talked with a boy the other day who has had two ships to sink under him and yet he is healthy.

I wish that I could stay over here a whole week and look around. There are several things worth looking at, but I only got eighteen hours and night was taken out of that. It was raining next morning and we were 35 miles from London—four hours railroad travel; so you see that I did not see a great deal. There were very few lights burning over the town. They put them out so the Germans couldn't see the town when they make their air raids. When there is a raid on, the people go down under the ground about 100 feet, in places they have fixed for that purpose. I did not see where any bombs had dropped. All the Germans who were in these air machines are chained and locked in.

One of the boys of this boat was over at the hospital near here and there were some German boys there who had been brought down by English guns, and they said that the people in Germany did not want to fight, but they either had to fight or be shot. There is news here that some Germans are refusing to go in the submarines and all that refuse are shot.

The people over here in England think that war will be over in the spring.

There are some kinds of food that these people here can't get much of, such as sugar and flour. Their tea you can't drink, and when you go in to a restaurant and order a meal you get one slice of bread and it not white—something like graham. A man told me last night that he had a family of ten and he was only allowed one pound of sugar a week, and no syrup. That is the truth, though it may sound like a joke. I don't think that meat, potatoes, vegetables and fruits are short. There are several people here who wish they were fed like the U. S. sailors and then these boys on this boat think we are not giving them their allowance.

We have not had any air raids since we have been here. They work on moon-light nights, and it is dark nights now.

We are at Port Victoria, Sheerness, England, Friday, October 19. We left at 9:15 this morning and I can hear the big guns firing in the air, and see the shells burst. They are shells that they shoot at aeroplanes, and this is only a test of the guns. There are no machines up now. The shells look like they are a mile high when they burst.

Plymouth, Eng., Oct. 22.—Well, it seems like we are doing most of the running at night and tie up in day time, at least last night was the third night since we left Sheerness, and we are now in port at Plymouth. We may stay here a week as we are waiting for a convoy.

Oct. 22.—There are eighteen boats in our group, one more American boat with us and we left two American boats at Plymouth, one gun boat and one oil tanker. After sailing until Sunday night, we all separated, sailing in different directions. The first morning we met a group of twenty-five ships going over. The torpedo boats that brought us out will take them back.

Nov. 8.—We passed a small oil barge this morning that was about 75 feet long and had nobody on it and looked to be loaded. It was painted war color. I believe we should have sunk it, but we did not shoot at it. We reported it by wireless, but did not get any acknowledgement.

Next day.—Just before and after supper, a sail ship was sighted off a good way.

Nov. 13.—Back at American port once more. I am now in New York have not been off the ship yet, just got here yesterday. I got my mail last night. I had just seventeen letters. One boy got fifty-three, all from four different people—they must have written every night after supper.

Well, I enjoyed my trip fine; would not take $1000 for it, but don't care for any more. I have seen all of that war that is good, really there was no good part, but you know why I am here.

You asked if I have begun smoking No, I have not, but still eat candy when I can get it. There was a boy came on our ship yesterday with candy, and the first thing I did was to buy some good chocolates. You can hardly get candy over in England, I only ate a few bites, and it was not good; but I have not forgotten how to make rudge yet.

I am sending you a little souvenir from London. It is not much, but something you can use.

I got Mr. J. H. Greene's letter and one from Miss Dry, secretary of our order.

I have been off this ship twice in the last fifty-two days. I had three hours liberty at Plymouth and tomorrow at 1 o'clock will go over and look at this, the largest city in the world. Not long ago I was in the second largest city. I wish you were here so we could look at the sights together.

I am the only cook on the ship now. There are two of us but the other one is gone ashore to be back tomorrow at noon, then I go. There were four of us but the baker and head cook got sick and have been sent to the hospital.

We are in sight of the Statue of Liberty, but it is smoky weather and I can't see it plainly.

A pilot came on this ship to direct us up to the dock, we moved about one half mile and just as we got there he fell dead. I did not see him nor hear his name. He was not of the ship's company.

WEST TEXAS REMINISCENCES. (By and Old Ranger)

CHAPTR V.

Sometime in November we arranged for a scout West. Finding our supply of ammunition short, the Lieut. sent two men to Comanche for a mule load, with instructions to meet us at a certain point of timber east of where Baird is now located.

The scout arrived at the designated point the evening before the boys were to be there.

Late the following evening they arrived reporting that they had followed an Indian trail from Rattlesnake Gap in Comanche county, to a point about five miles Southwest of where we were camped. We were off early the next morning, taking a guess at the direction the Indians would go, we intersected the trail in a few miles.

There seemed to be about thirty head of horses on the trail, keeping almost due west, crossing the flat near where Abilene now is, touching the breaks at the Cat Ears for water, as there was a good spring at that place. Here the trail increased to about one hundred head, continuing west to a point northwest of where Escocoe is, they seemed to have stopped to graze. Here we lost the trail and after spending several hours in a futile effort to locate it, we headed for Lone Wolf mountain, a little south of the general course of the trail. We did this in order to be sure that we were south of the trail.

We stopped at a point north of where Loraine is now located, a short while before night, to wait for some of the boys that had gone in further to the south in search of the trail.

We decided to take advantage of the circumstances and kill fat buffaloes, as we had been rushing the trail so that we had but little time to cook and had been living on a brown sugar and crackers for some time. So this writer and one other man rode out a short distance to the north, where we found a small herd of buffalo, quietly grazing. We selected one of good flesh and called him at long distance, and in walking out to where he fell we crossed the trail. We hurried to cut out a few choice pieces of meat and go back to camp and report our find. While waiting for the boys to overtake us we prepared a feast of buffalo hump.

Taking the trail next morning it turned more to the north, crossing Deep Creek not far from where the town of Snyder now is. Here the trail increased to about 300 head and we were convinced that there were white men in the outfit, as we picked up a letter at their camp on the bank of the creek, from a young lady in Ohio, to her father, with all names torn off.

Following the trail from here to the northwest to a tributary of Bull Creek, we came to an old camp, and from all indications there were about 400 head of horses. Here we found several blankets, one quiver and other trinkets that were curious to us. Failing to get the trail off, we decided to hang up till morning, and sent out spies. Two of us were sent out with a good field glass, and just before sundown we located a camp about five miles to the west of us.

Feeling sure we had located them we kept very quiet during the night, and kept close watch over our horses. We were off next morning early for the prey, but instead of Indians, we had located a camp of surveyors. Here we learned we were following 160 red men with about 500 head of horses. They had raided the surveyors' camp just four days ahead of us, but as they had no horses and nothing to fight for, the Indians passed them up. While this was being done the surveyors had a chance to count them.

These surveyors were camped about twelve miles above where Gail is now located. After talking with the surveyors, we decided as there was only 32 of us, and our horses were badly jaded, that we had better not go any further; so we turned to the south, down the breaks, and after traveling three or four miles we camped till the next morning. When we started on the return to Camp Kinney in Stevens county.

Here the trailers were set free, that is they could break ranks at will. So, as the two trailers the spy and the Lieut. had stepped off the evening before and saw four or five bears, we asked the Lieut. to send the scout on in charge of the sergeant, while the four of us tried our hand at bear hunting.

It was not long until we became separated, and knew nothing of the whereabouts of each other, and turned the bear hunt into a man hunt. After a time all succeeded in getting together, except one of the trailers, who was riding a pack mule. He had succeeded in finding a bear. Bruin was busily lapping at the time so to make sure of his shot he dismounted to take a shot. The pack mule refused to stand for the sport, so when the gun fired the mule went one way and the bear the other, and left the hunter on foot.

The mule refused all entreaties until he had got back to where we had camped the night before.

Arriving at a point just west of where Gail is now we stopped to wait for the lost man, who came up about 2 p. m.

Here we took stock and found that we had chuck enough to last us only a very short time, and as our horses were so badly jaded we would be compelled to travel very slow.

By the time we had gotten back into the neighborhood of Fort Phantom, we were out of everything except salt and coffee, and as we had not only the advance guard of buffalo as we came out and they had passed on to the south, we failed to meet any on our return. We killed a few deer along the way, but they were too poor to cook without some help in the frying pan. So we were practically out of grub till we got down on Battle Creek, where we found and killed a fat cow. This was mighty good after a four days heat on salt and coffee.

WANTED—Good milk cow for her keep. Will take good care of her. See or phone Will E. Warren.

WAR WORK AT NAVY YARDS.

Nearly 55,000 appointments were made to the forces of mechanics, helpers, and laborers at navy yards and other naval establishments during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917, and since that date appointments have been made in increased proportion.

An appropriation of $7,500,000 is now being expended in the enlargement of the great naval gun factory at Washington, which, when completed, will furnish employment for 4,000 or more skilled mechanics, in addition to the 8,000 already at work in the plant. In this mammoth factory, one of the best equipped and most interesting in the world, are built the great guns for our war vessels, which carry to every country the message of America's ability to protect herself and to safeguard the rights of her citizens wherever they may be.

The new naval aircraft factory at Philadelphia, which will be completed this month, will also employ about 3,000 men.

The workers who man such plants are of a superior class, and they feel a personal pride in turning out products that will stand the test of conflict with the arms of other nations. A considerable part of the building of war vessels is also done in Government yards.

The United States Civil Service Commission, which is charged with the task of recruiting the ranks of the great civilian army, through its widespread organization is furnishing the men as they are needed. In certain trades, particularly those connected with shipbuilding, there is usually a shortage. Sailmakers, copersmiths, shipfitters, anglesmiths, blacksmiths, and machinists are especially needed. Women to operate power sewing machines are also in great demand. The representatives of the Civil Service Commission at the post offices in all cities are the official recruiting agents for this as well as other branches of the civil service. The commission urges competent mechanics to offer their services to the government at this time of great need.

Col. Roosevelt's support seems to have been about as valuable to Mayor Mitchell in New York at it was to Judge Hughes.

WAR TALKS

By UNCLE DAN

Number Four

Military Training Necessary for Safety and Defense.

"Say, Uncle Dan," said Billie, "Jimmie and I have been looking up about war in the encyclopedia at school. We found that in the war between Germany and France in 1870-71, Germany lost in killed and wounded 280,000 soldiers while France lost about six times as many, and besides that, she lost every battle. We asked Professor Stoen why this was. He said that the German army was highly trained and ably commanded, while the French soldiers were poorly trained; and that their war department was honeycombed with jealousy and politics; that the officers were not much good, and that's why France lost the war and everything else. What do you think about it, Uncle Dan?"

"Well," said Uncle Dan, "Professor Stoen is right. By itself, France lost that war, together with two of her best provinces—Alsace and Lorraine—and had to pay a billion dollars indemnity money. France today learned her lesson by that sad experience, so she put in universal military training, and as a result, her soldiers now know how to fight and how to protect themselves. They are losing less men in the war than the Germans. France also put politics out of her war department, so that expert authority, instead of bureaucratic stupidity, now directs the army. The result is, France has one of the best and most efficient armies ever assembled, and this shows what thorough training and good leadership means in warfare. This saved France in this crisis, as well as the liberties of the world."

"As war is now conducted, there is no place for an untrained man. A body of 10,000 well trained soldiers properly handled could defeat five times their number of raw recruits and do it every time with comparatively small loss to themselves. Proper training alone will reduce the death and casualty rate one-third of what it otherwise would be, and right here is an unanswerable argument for universal military training."

"Our government has no moral right to force her men into war service without properly training them for it. To do so is simply murder, hence the frantic effort that is now being made to give her soldiers some training before they are sent to the front. If we are to win this war, it will take trained men to do it, and it will take trained men to win any other war that may come upon us in the future. If we must fight, let us fight to win and not to lose."

"That's the stuff," said Billie. "Continuing, Uncle Dan said: "Our government has expended about $300,000,000 to set up cantonments and training stations in order to train the men called by the selective draft. When these men are trained the training stations should be immediately filled with younger men, say those in their nineteenth year, to receive six months of intensive military training along the lines of the Chamberlain bill. This will be of immeasurable benefit to them individually. It will do them more good than any other two years of their whole life; it will make them strong, manly, self-reliant, quick to see and quick to act; it will equip them for a successful life. In short, it will rebuild American manhood and will also give the government a body of trained men to draw from in case it is necessary to defend our flag and country. We must settle this question of universal military training immediately, otherwise these training camps may be demolished. The adoption of universal military training will be notice to the world that from then on we will be prepared to defend ourselves promptly and efficiently, and this will do more to keep us out of war in the future than anything else we could do."

"Do you think, brother," said Mrs. Graham, "that there will ever be another war?"

"I have no doubt about it," said Uncle Dan. "So long as men are selfish, so long as nations are ambitious to acquire territory, so long as population presses and demands more room, so long as there remains a scramble for world trade—so long wars will be. When the time comes that we reach the high plane for which we hope and dream, when all will recognize the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, then, and then only, will wars cease. When that day comes doors will need no locks, banks will need no vaults to protect their treasures, but that day is a long way off."

"The only safe and sane plan is to be able to defend ourselves at all times. Therefore, every citizen should insist that senators and congressmen shall provide for universal military training, so that never again shall the country be caught so completely unready as this war found us. Fortunately, in this case, our enemy has been held back, so we have had a few months in which to prepare. This advantage probably will never come again. It is however our salvation today."

"Because she was ready, Switzerland is an island of peace in a sea of war. Safety first is good, but safety always is better. In strength there is safety. You never saw a tin can that is safe to the tail of a bulldog. There is a reason."

 Word was received here early Wednesday morning that Mrs. J. W. Walker, of this place, died of pneumonia, at Coahoma, about 5 o'clock Wednesday, Nov. 14. Mrs. Walker was formerly Miss Dora Westfall. She was married to Mr. J. W. Walker seven years ago. To this union one baby, a girl, was born, who died in infancy. Mrs. Walker was a member of the Baptist church of Westbrook, and was widely known as a loyal christian woman, whose loss will be deeply felt by the church and her friends. JAKE SHUFORD WRITES.
 Jake Shuford has been in the serial corps at Pensacola, Florida, but is now on his way to France and writes from Philadelphia, Pa.:
 "My pal and I have been looking over the town tonight, before we leave. We took in a good show, the first in a long time.
 We had a nice trip up here from Pensacola. Our trip was uneventful with the exception of one of our fellows deserting. He has been caught already. He will very likely get a long term in the federal prison.
 The last letter I had from Joe stated that he was in Dallas.
 My discharge (or I should say my hoped for discharge) went up in smoke when we received orders to pack up for foreign service. So I will very likely be flying Christmas day on the other side.
 Each one of us took a farewell flight at Pensacola before we left. One of my boy friends cried when he told me good bye at the station. Everyone likes me in the bunch, and every one at the station that knew me. It sure makes you feel good when you have lots of friends.
 I will write as often as I can and will let you know my address at the earliest opportunity. For I will be very anxious to hear from home. Tell everybody farewell. Tell dear old dad that I will make sure to write him often. Will also take out some good insurance for you and papa.
 Must close for the present.—Jake.
 Sidney Shuford is at Camp Bowie in the infantry and Joe will enter the service next month, making three brothers doing their bit.

FROM THE WEST.
 Seminole, Nov. 19, '17.
 Please change the address of my paper from Vincent to Seminole, for the time being.
 In Howard we had plenty of wind, dust, some salt water, and plenty of good wood. In Gaines we have plenty of wind, sand in any amount wanted, good supply of good water (in wells), no wood, but fairly good supply of surface coal. No doubt you have heard considerable said about the surface coal on the plains and sand hills of West Texas. I know but little about this coal and hope to know less. From what I see or if I think a family of three in number can do fairly well with this coal; one to shovel it in, one to take out the cinders, one to sit by and keep warm if the room is extra tight.
 When Mr. Hoover gets through with his other articles of commodity and tackles the surface coal problem he will be puzzled, and need counsel, of course he will call his best man, Mrs. Hoover. When she takes in the situation she will say, "Herbert, we will lift the embargo and put it on the free list."—Dick Dobbs.

DEPUTY SHERIFF NOW ENDORSES IT.
 J. D. Patton Says Tanlac Ends His Troubles of Twenty Years Standing.

"I suffered for twenty years with rheumatism, indigestion and a chronic liver trouble, and spent hundreds of dollars for different kinds of medicine trying to get well, but it only took three bottles of Tanlac to straighten me out and make me feel like a different man," said J. D. Patton, of Keefton, Okla., a man well known in that section and also in Rains County Texas, where he served as deputy sheriff for several years. Mr. Patton is now deputy sheriff of Muskogee County, Okla., and holds large farming interests here.
 "It's an actual fact," he continued, "I was hardly ever free from rheumatism and was so full of misery most of the time I couldn't rest or sleep at night to amount to anything. The main trouble seemed to be in my shoulders and the awful pains were due, I think, to the condition of my liver. I couldn't eat to do any good and had to be very careful about the little that I managed to force down or I would have hours of suffering afterwards. I fell off twenty pounds in weight and got into such bad shape it was a burden to look after the work on the farm and attend to all of my other business. I kept getting worse all the time and had just about given up hope of ever getting any-"But three bottles of Tanlac have done me so much good I haven't had an ache or a pain since I finished taking them, and honestly I don't feel like the same person. I have a good appetite and I can eat anything I want and it all agrees with me, too. I have gained back all of my lost weight, sleep like a 'og at night and when I get up in the morning I am full of nergy and attend to my business without a bit of trouble.
 "My wife is so pleased with the results that I have gotten from Tanlac that she bought a bottle for herself today. We know just what it will do and feel satisfied that there isn't another medicine in the world just as good."
 Tanlac is sold in Colorado by W. L. Doss, in Loaine by Garland and Elliott and in Westbrook by J. H. Board (Adv)

NEWS OF MITCHELL COUNTY SOLDIER BOYS.

The 2nd Caisson Company, 315th Supply Train, is now at Camp Travis, Texas. It contains a number of Mitchell county boys and the following will be interested to their friends over the state.

The 2nd Caisson Company have recently moved to their permanent barracks and under the direction of Lieut. 1917. A recreation room has been set up in the barracks for the members of the company. Tables and writing material, a piano and victrola have been purchased and help to pass away the long winter evenings. An orchestra is being organized and will be second to none by the end of the year.

In addition to the recreation room foot ball, volley ball, base ball and boxing outfits have been purchased and games are being planned with other companies in this part of the camp.

The Second Caisson Company have been under quarantine for the past week on account of several members being sick in the base hospital with mumps. The quarantine is for 21 days and during that time no passes to town will be issued and the boys are forced to stay at the barracks when not at drill.

The twice a week swimming lessons have been discontinued in the company on account of the quarantine. The boys have become accustomed to the cold weather swims and all hope the quarantine will be lifted so the swimming can be continued.

Of the boys who are in Camp Travis, eight are in the 1st Caisson Company and are doing well and in fine condition. The drilling and camp life generally is agreeing with them, and many are gaining in weight on what their Uncle Sammy is giving them to eat.

Plenty of games and field day exercises afford the boys healthy recreation and out door sport.

Following are the Mitchell county boys in the 1st Caisson Company: F.

W. Brown, John Cargill, Cullie Logan Will B. Mathews, Nelson McClellan, Walter Washburn.

J. W. McGuire says: Privates R. H. Bennett of Loraine and J. W. McGuire of Colorado, are the only Mitchell county boys belonging to Motor Co. No. 2, 315th Supply Train. While most of the boys are located near by and are getting along fine. We are kept busy a greater part of the time at drilling, guard duty, kitchen police, etc. We find that our greatest task is trying to do some of the calisthenic exercises that are required of us.

We have Wednesdays and Saturday afternoons off, to visit San Antonio and other places. The Y. M. C. A. is doing a great work here among the boys. Its there that we are provided with free writing material; games of all kinds; good entertainment each night, and religious services on Sundays. We couldn't get along without the Y. M. C. A.

We enjoy getting the Record each week. It's like getting a letter from home.

WHAT ABOUT YOUR CHILD'S SCHOOL?

Is your child going to an up to date country school? Is the school your child attends a home-like place? It should be. You can help it to become such.

Is your child being taught what he should be? Why not drop in at the school house occasionally? The teacher will be glad to have you.

A kind word establishes a bond between you and your child's teacher which will help greatly to fill up the gap between the school and the home.

Then, again, a word of explanation from the teacher, given in a friendly talk, will give you a practical understanding of many things you probably do not understand in connection with your school.

Why not plan a little surprise for her by dropping in at the schoolhouse some afternoon with other patrons? Let good will and friendliness prevail.

Probably a short program has been prepared for you by the teacher as a sort of patron's day entertainment. This program might consist of the regular school recitations, one subject by each class, which will show the school in its everyday fashion. Our entertainment, consisting of songs, recitations, readings, and even short playlets might be given by the pupils. Nevertheless visit your school and see the specimens of work by the pupils.

There must be co-operation. So help to make your school more interesting this session.

WON'T FEED PEANUTS TO THE HOGS.

"Tell the farmers of Texas to stop feeding peanuts to hogs. Tell it to them in just as strong language as you can possibly use. Tell it to them today and keep on repeating the message."

That was the emphatic suggestion made by Phil Armour of the great firm of Armour & Co., in Chicago.

"That sounds funny to me," responded the reporter. "I was under the impression that peanuts were full of oil and would fatten anything that could eat or digest such rich food."

"That is the trouble," responded Mr. Armour. "They fatten the hogs and make the meat soft, and nearly all fat instead of part fat and part lean, as desired by every packer."

"It has gone to such an extent," continued Mr. Armour, "that we have been forced to issue bulletins telling all our customers that we will not pay for peanut fed hogs on the same basis as other hogs. In other words, we buy all hogs now subject to inspection after killing. If they have been fed on peanuts and are soft and fat we pay far less per pound for the product."

Mrs. P. O. Stuchell Tells How She Cured Her Son of a Cold.

"When my son Ellis was sick with a cold last winter I gave him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It helped him at once and quickly broke up his cold," writes Mrs. P. O. Stuchell, Homer City, Pa. This remedy has been in use many years. Its good qualities have been fully proven by many thousands of people. It is pleasant and safe to take. Adv.

WHY GERMANY CLINGS TO ALSACE-LORRAINE

The average person when he reads German pronouncements that they will war on forever rather than consider giving up Alsace-Lorraine, taken from the French after the war of 1870, thinks it is due to a natural reluctance to give up something taken by conquest. But there is more than a sentimental reason animating France with a keen desire to regain her lost provinces.

The chances are Germany would not have made war, and would not have been in the position to make war, if it had not been for robbing France of Alsace-Lorraine.

By taking these provinces Germany took over the Sarre basin with its great coal fields. It is true Germany already had a considerable portion of the coal fields of Europe, but the advantage of the Sarre deposits is their location. The big thing the Prussians gained was the Briey and Longwy iron deposits. How important these fields are to Germany is indicated by the fact that in 1913 of 28,000,000 tons of iron ore extracted in the German empire, 21,000,000 were from the mines which once belonged to the French.

Furthermore, the possession of Alsace and Lorraine gave the Germans a convenient point from which to spring upon France and seize the important coal and iron fields that still belong to that country.

The whole thing, therefore, gets down to a coal and iron basis. Allow Germany to hold Alsace and Lorraine and she is allowed to possess forever iron fields essential to her war-making ambitions. Moreover, she is enabled to cripple the great French democracy by marching at once into the fields where are the sources of greatest supplies of French coal and iron.

The demand of France that her stolen provinces be returned to her virtually amounts to a demand for an insurance policy for the peace of Europe. France wants to live at peace with her neighbors. She will never be allowed to, so long as an unscrupulous Prussian controls all the iron she needs.

Take away the iron fields and Prussia is like a savage dog whose teeth have been extracted.

A prominent credit man recently said that he considers A Merchant who still clings to Horse and Wagon Delivery a Bad Risk.

The profit and loss account of America is being written by machinery. Methods that made men rich yesterday will make them poor today. The nose-bag has no place in a progressive community. With corn at one dollar a bushel and gasoline at twenty odd cents a gallon the most extravagant truck is a money saver. But the is the thriftiest truck ever built. A penny counter, a general expense reducer. The greatest single force for better business that the past year has witnessed. At this moment when conservation of energy, time and dollars is so vital to national welfare, when merchants are making so many unexpected outlays—the Maxwell is fighting for economical administration, laboring day and night at a minimum wage and furnishing competent and reliable transportation at the lowest load-cost at which goods have been carried in our time. • Maxwell maintenance and repair bills are the lowest of record. It furnishes American Commerce, never so sadly in need of labor, a truck which even a boy can operate and understand. Just the right size for the average firm. 2400 pounds. But muscled for giant burdens. Worm drive—a feature hitherto associated with the highest priced trucks. Sold under the same guarantee as $5000 trucks are. Electric lights and generator. 10-foot loading space. 16 miles to the gallon. The lowest priced one-ton truck in the world and sold on liberal terms. $985; and it will earn its cost out of the savings it effects. Pays its way from day to day.

AN OLD MAN'S STOMACH.

As we grow older and less active, less and less food is required to meet the demands of our bodies. If too much is habitually taken, the stomach will rebel. When a man reaches the advanced age of 85 or 90, you will find that he is a light eater. Be as careful as you will, however, you will occasionally eat more than you should and will feel the need of Chamberlain's Tablets to correct the disorder. These tablets do not contain pepsin, but strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. They also cause a gentle movement of the bowels.

TEN THOUSAND STENOGRAPHERS WANTED BY THE GOVERNMENT

Special to the Record.

Abilene, Texas, Nov. 15, 1917.—Hon. John A. McIlhenny, President of the Civil-Service Commission, Washington, D. C., recently wrote to Draughon's College, Abilene, urging that College to help the United States Government now being in need of ten raphers, both men and women, the Government now being in need of ten thousand stenographers and many many bookkeepers, at salaries ranging from one thousand dollars to twelve hundred dollars to begin on.

In his letter Mr. McIlhenny urges young men and women who are not trained for government office positions to begin now to take the necessary training, as the prospect is that the demand will continue indefinitely.

Draughon's Abilene College is also receiving many calls from railroads and many other important business concerns for bookkeepers and stenographers.

To show its patriotism, Draughon's Abilene College is offering a FREE civil service course, in connection with shorthand and bookkeeping, and low rates to all who desire to prepare at College, or by mail, for these good positions. Adv.

WANDERINGS OF A RECORD MAN.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Whipkey returned home Monday morning from a ten day's trip down in Central Texas, and report an excellent trip. We were wined and dined and automobiled all the time, and came back replenished sufficient for at least two weeks. We visited the old home at West and enjoyed a most excellent time with old friends. This is a small town, and seems prosperous. The seven saloons are fixing to close on December 1, as it is in McLennan county. We visited friends in Waco and took in the Cotton Palace. We are indebted to the Waco Times-Herald for courtesies extended to us. The Cotton Palace is a wonderful and unique exposition, and is almost equal to the Dallas fair. We witnessed the A. & M. and Baylor football game, and enjoyed other features of the exposition very much.

We next visited Granger, where we at one time owned a paper, and where we were married. Here we were taken in charge by Mr. and Mrs. McClellan. Mrs. McClellan was Mrs. Carrie Hardin when she lived here at Colorado. From here we boarded the big six Overland car and made a 30 minutes run over to Georgetown, and visited a sister of Mrs. Whipkey; visited their farm and spent several days most pleasantly. From here we were taken in their Buick six to Jonah, and stayed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Salyer. J. B. is a brother of Mrs. Whipkey. One day was spent in his big pecan grove down on the Gabriel river; dinner was spread on the ground and more than twenty-five relatives and friends enjoyed an old time family reunion and picnic.

We were speeded from here in Mr. Salyer's Hudson, to Taylor and enjoyed the stay there. We then began our homeward trip; stopped again at Waco, visited Camp McArthur; spent Saturday in Dallas where our son, Walter met us, and all came over to Fort Worth Sunday, spending the day with Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Robertson (Mrs. R. is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Whipkey). We visited Camp Bowie, a sight well worth seeing; saw the airplanes and flying squadrons, aviation camps, etc.

Our creditors may wonder how we could take such a trip. It was made possible only by us having railroad mileage, Cotton Palace passes, even passes to the foot ball game, and automobiles and grub furnished by relatives and friends, and as our time out here was worth nothing, we came out ahead on the trip and enjoyed a most excellent vacation.

Mrs. John Hurd and baby, of Post are the guests of Mrs. S. T. Shropshire.
