ORDINANCE WILL AFFECT DEALERS

FOOD PRODUCTS ESTABLISHMENTS REQUIRED TO OBTAIN LICENSE.

Proprietors of all food products establishments operating within the city limits of Colorado will be required to obtain a license or permit from the City Board of Health or subject themselves to penalties, under provisions of an ordinance passed by the City Council Monday night, convened in adjourned session by F. M. Burns, mayor pro-tem. This ordinance, designated "An ordinance creating a Board of Health and defining food products establishments and requiring the licensing of same," provides that "No person, firm or corporation shall hereafter establish or maintain within the city limits of the city of Colorado any food product establishment without first having obtained a license or permit."

In defining "food products establishments" it is outlined that grocery stores, markets, hotels, restaurants, confectionery stores, fruit stands, bakeries, soft-drink stands, and all places at which food products, either animal or vegetable, liquid or dry, may be offered for sale or consumption as food, are affected.

These licenses are to be issued upon recommendation of the City Board of Health, which board is to be governed in these matters upon recommendation of the city health officer, following a personal inspection of the plant.

Employees of these establishments are also affected by the provisions of an ordinance passed Monday night. This ordinance requires "all persons employed in food products establishments to be examined by the city health officer, showing such employee to be free from all contagious, communicable or infectious disease," etc. Persons violating these provisions are liable to fine of from five to one hundred dollars.

An ordinance creating a Board of Health, which was introduced several weeks ago, was also passed. Provisions of this ordinance designate who are members of the board and define its duties. The Board of Health is composed of the following:

Dr. T. J. Ratliff, Dr. J. E. Root, Jr., Mrs. J. G. Merritt, Mrs. P. C. Coleman and J. C. Prade. The mayor is also a member of the board and under provisions of the ordinance will act as chairman. The city health officer and the city marshal are named as ex-officio members.

The council has not yet designated an appointment as city health officer. It was stated at the city hall Tuesday that this appointment would probably be made at an early meeting of the council. Dr. T. J. Ratliff, a member of the city board of health, is county health officer, and in the absence of a city health officer for Colorado, has jurisdiction in such cases wherein the public health of the city may be jeopardized, such as development of contagious diseases.

FORMER COLORADO CITIZEN "HITS IT RICH" IN OIL.

J. R. Collier, for several years a citizen of Colorado and now living at Troup writes The Record that he has "struck it rich" in the oil game, stating that a 400 barrel well has been brought in on his property near German.

"As soon as the money begins to come in," he writes, "I will run over to Colorado to see you good people and tell you all about it."

FIRE DESTROYS HOME IN WEST COLORADO SATURDAY.

The house occupied by Hub Green and J. T. Moore in West Colorado near the Lambeth gin was destroyed shortly after noon Thursday of last week in a fire originating from an oil stove. Household goods belonging to the two families were also destroyed. This was the second time within the week that fires originated in Colorado homes from oil stove explosions, the other being at the home of R. U. Bean, in the eastern section of the city.

It was stated Monday that losses on both the dwelling and household effects were covered by insurance.

MELBA SLATON, DAUGHTER LOCAL BANKER, DRINKS ACID

Melba, age 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Slaton swallowed a portion of carbolic acid Wednesday just before noon, and for several hours was in a serious condition. Mr. Slaton stated Thursday morning that the child had improved during the night and was considered by attending physicians to be out of danger.

The child had been playing with a bottle about the home Wednesday morning, Mr. Slaton stated, and remarking she was going to get another one, went into the cloak room, climbed onto a trunk and took from the family medicine chest a bottle containing carbolic acid. Removing the stopper she placed the bottle to her lips and swallowed some of the poison, the amount being estimated as being equivalent to a teaspoonful.

Mrs. Slaton immediately gave the child an antidote of vinegar, and medical assistance was summoned. The child's mouth does not appear to have been very badly burned by the acid, but a bad burn was made on her chin.

NEGROES WHO BURGLARIZED COLORADO STORE ARRESTED.

Two negroes giving their names as Arthur Jones and Jesse Franklin of Temple, said by Sheriff W. J. Chesney to be responsible for the burglary of the Colorado Bargain House on the night of December 23, were placed under arrest at Hamlin Monday by Will Johnson, city marshal, and are now in jail at Anson.

The two were arrested by Johnson on suspicion of having burglarized a store at Hamlin. Among the loot recovered from the negroes by the officers was a pair of shoes with the name "Levy Brothers" affixed to the inside. Learning of this Mr. Chesney wired the Hamlin authorities that no doubt the shoes was a part of the loot taken from the store at Colorado and in company with I Levy, a member of the local firm, went to Hamlin. Mr. Levy identified the shoes, a ladies coat, two handbags, some hats, a leather coat and other articles as among the articles stolen from the store there on December 23rd.

A number of silk shirts, which were also taken from the Colorado Bargain House at the same time, was not recovered, and it is the opinion of Mr. Chesney that these were disposed of by the negroes at Altus, Oklahoma, since it developed they went there soon after the local concern was burglarized.

Chesney stated that the negroes deny their guilt in connection with the burglary at Colorado. They admit, however, that they were in the city at that time, coming here from Sweetwater.

Entrance into the store was effected by forcing the skylight and swinging down from the roof. It is presumed the visitors left through the front door, which can easily be unlocked from the inside. The burglary was not discovered until on the morning of December 24, when the store was opened for the day.

UNDERWRITERS COMPANY MOVES OKLAHOMA OFFICE.

It is reported from Oklahoma City that the Underwriters Producing & Refining Company has moved its offices from Tulsa to Oklahoma City and has offices in the Colcord Building. The Underwriters Company has acreage and producing properties in Oklahoma and Texas.

The Underwriters Producing and Refining Company is a Delaware corporation with a capitalization of $1,000,000.

Among their Texas holdings is extensive acreage and two producing wells in the Colorado field.

DORA FARMER IS DEAD FROM SHOTGUN WOUND.

Dick McCoy, farmer of near Dora, several miles southeast of Colorado, is dead as the result of a gunshot wound inflicted last Friday afternoon about o'clock at his home. Death is reported to have been instantaneous. McCoy was forty years of age and leaves a wife and seven children.

It is reported that the dead man had been in poor health for some time and was also brooding over financial affairs. He has resided in the Dora community for several years.

TRAVELLERS DRILLING IN HARD LIME AT 2671 FEET.

Travellers No. 1, on the Landers ranch, 12 miles southeast of Colorado, was drilling in hard lime Wednesday afternoon at a depth of 2671 feet when visited by a representative of The Record. The deeper cuttings in this well are causing local oil men to await final developments with special interest, it being considered that a good well will be brought in.

Dr. Edward Hill, geologist of Reno, Nevada, who has been spending several days looking over the Colorado field, believes that a good startum of pay sand will be drilled into in this well.

BENEFIT PROGRAM MONDAY NIGHT AT BEST THEATRE.

A benefit program of motion pictures will be given Monday night at the Best Theatre, under the auspices of the local chapter, U. D. C. Proceeds are to go to benefit fund for the ex-service tubercular home at Kerville. The Colorado ladies comprising the local chapter plan to raise sufficient funds with which to construct a cottage large enough to accommodate six men.

An admission charge of 30 cents for adults, and 15 cents for children will be made. Since the proceeds are for benevolence there will be no war tax charges.

Special music by local talent. Show your appreciation of the former service men who are now tubercular by liberal patronage of the benefit program at the Best Theatre Monday night. You will see a good show and at the same time contribute something for the material welfare of these men.

SIX INCH TUBING LOWERED AT MORRISON NO. 2 WELL.

The crew at Morrison No. 2 have completed setting the six and five-eighths casing and pulled the outside casing, preparatory for placing the well under a test by the pump. Tubing rod is on the ground and the pump will be assembled and ready for operation early next week, it was learned Thursday morning.

Oil in this well was standing 1200 feet deep Thursday, an increase of 200 feet during the week. Operators believe production will exceed that of T. & P. No. 1, the discovery well.

Gas continues to flow from the discovery well and information file with the Chamber of Commerce on Thursday was that the pressure showed a slight increase over that of one week ago.

Messrs. Sloan and Knight, representatives of the Renotex Oil & Land Corporation, left Wednesday night for Fort Worth on business. They will return to Colorado tonight and plan leaving Saturday for San Francisco.

SCOGGINS ESTATE CLAIMED BY 'HEIR'

B. F. SCOGGINS FILES PETITION WITH PROBATE JUDGE HALL.

B. F. Scoggins of Gibson, Mo., claims himself to be the sole heir to the I. D. Scoggins estate in a letter received Wednesday by J. C. Hall, judge of the probate court. In this letter, Scoggins advances the information that he had recently learned of the death of Mr. Scoggins and desired to file application for control of the estate left by the pioneer cattleman.

"As I have just learned of the death of I. D. Scoggins, which occurred on January 2nd at Post Sanitarium, at Post City," writes the Missouri man, "and as I am the only heir, I would like to put in my claim for the estate."

Judge Hall stated Thursday morning that since he had received information that Judge Ed. J. Hamner of Sweetwater and Sug Robinson of Post were named in the will of Mr. Scoggins as administrators of the estate, he would refer the application of B. F. Scoggins to them, and would also notify the Missouri claimant to the Scoggins estate to take up his petition with these men.

Judge Hall stated that he knew nothing whatever as to the merits of the claim of B. F. Scoggins, and said that since the estate is under jurisdiction of the probate courts of Scurry and Kent Counties, he was at a loss to understand why the matter was taken up through his office.

The Pete Scoggins estate comprises thousands of acres of valuable grazing lands in Kent county, well stocked with good cattle, in addition to large holdings in bank and other stocks and bonds. Mr. Scoggins was one of the principal owners of the First National Bank of Snyder.

COLORADO RETAIL MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION IS PLANNED.

Organization of a retail merchants association at Colorado is being planned among representatives of local retail merchants, according to information given The Record Tuesday. It was stated that practically all merchants of the city had expressed themselves as favoring the organization.

The Lord's Supper will be observed in the morning. Morning worship, 11 a. m. Evening worship, 7 p. m. Sunday school, 10 a. m. Junior B. Y. P. U., 2 p. m. A hearty welcome is extended you.

RIG STRUNG AT FIRST LOCATION ON LITTLE TRACT.

D. D. Wertberger of Tulsa, rig contractor, completed the derrick at Little No. 1 location late Wednesday. According to a statement of S. A. Sloan, representing the Renotex Oil & Land Corporation, who are to develop this property, drilling will be commenced there within the near future. The corporation also owns lease acreage on the Conoway lands, adjoining the Little tract. This well is to be drilled three miles southwest of Westbrook.

The Renotex Oil & Land Corporation is also negotiating a drilling contract on the Wulfjen ranch.

SPEEDERS.

The speeders are being "talked about these days as never before. Whether it will do any good is another question. The Brownwood Bulletin observes:

"Some startling opinions were expressed the other day by District Judge E. B. Muse of Dallas, who was angered by the recurrence of accidents, fatal and near-fatal, from the speeding automobiles. The Dallas Jurist said:

"Sometimes I feel that the speed-

COUNTY COURT JURY TO BE EMpaneled MONDAY

The jury panel, summoned for County Court, will be empaneled on Monday morning. Judge Hall stated Thursday that it was expected to complete the jury cases now pending by Wednesday afternoon. A few non-jury cases of minor importance were disposed of this week.

ers who endanger the lives of the pedestrians ought to be shot by the pedestrians. I think the law of self-defense would be a good plea in such cases. There is no difference in a man shooting a gun down a crowded street than for a person to drive an automobile recklessly under the same conditions. The man who operates a car while drunk ought to be hanged, in my opinion, when he strikes down and kills an innocent person.

"Strong language to come from the bench. But, after all, isn't the Judge correct? The speeder is potentially a killer, and a careless killer. The rights and privileges of his fellows means nothing to him; their very lives are of no value to him. Is any punishment too great for him, then, for the speeder whose carelessness and selfishness causes the death

OPERA HOUSE

Dorothy Dalton in "LA PACHE"

An amazingly vivid picture of the night life in Paris—of the spenders in garish cafes, of the strange "half-world" of the fierce Apaches.

Two women. One rich, frivolous and worse; seeking the sparkle of life in the pleasure palaces of the Boulevards; longing for love from the man who had tired of her.

Another poor unfortunate, seeking escape from the "Apache King" who was blighting her, body and soul.

One night, these two women meet. The good one, trembling from a wild Apache dance. The other, crushed with shame and disillusionment. When the two men, their "masters," meet, two worlds of Paris rush together!

The rest is a story you won't forget. Come!

PRE-HISTORIC REMAINS ARE UNEARTHED NEAR COLORADO.

J. Brown, manager of the Reynolds ranch twenty-five miles north west of Colorado, brought to The Record office Saturday a collection of petrified bones recently unearthed on the ranch and considered by Mr. Brown to be remains of animals inhabiting that region thousands of years ago.

The collection is on display at the Colorado National Bank.

"These are the bones of a wampus" stated Mr. Brown, "and geologists tell me that in regions formerly inhabited by the wampus, we almost invariably find oil."

"The past year, we know has been one of many blessings for each one of us," says the Whitney Messenger. "It has been a year replete with a big measure of prosperity, happiness, contentment for most all of us. Its real sorrows and adversities have been indeed few. Are we thankful and appreciative as we should be for all these, or do we merely accept them as solely the reward of our own merits and forgotten the source which endowed us with the ability to achieve whatever success we have attained? Another year is here before us. We are facing some real problems, but there have never been problems so grave but what have been solved by Americans. And are we not Americans? If we have made mistakes in the past, let us rectify them. If we have overlooked opportunities, let's recover them. Let us profit by our mistakes of the past and face the future with a full measure of courage and fortitude and our problems will be solved."

BIG EGG YIELD.

"From a small flock of hens I now get 20 to 25 eggs per day, whereas before giving them Dr. LeGear's Poultry Prescription, I only received three or four. Its cost has been repaid to me over and over." So writes Mrs. J. W. Montgomery, Tunnell Hill, Ga.

You should increase your yield now, while prices are high, through Dr. LeGear's Poultry Prescription. It is a tonic which builds up the hen's strength and vitality, and stimulates the egg-producing organs.

TELL THE TRUTH.

Whoever sent in the dope from Fort Stockton to the El Paso Herald relative to the big oil well there must have been ory-eyed sure enough. Visitors and investors going there expecting to find a well producing 5,000 barrels of oil daily and instead find the well is not flowing at all, and if flowing, a very small amount, will go away disgusted and a few more trips will put the public in the attitude of those who went to the rescue of the boy sheep herder of whom every school child of a few years back are very familiar. It would do much more good to advertise a fifty barrel well and show a hundred than to advertise a 5000 barrel well and not be able to deliver the goods when those interested arrive.

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CAR IN AMERICA

THIS STORE FOR SALE

The principles of success in business are old as business itself.

They are: Have saleable merchandise at a saleable price; deal squarely with folks,

—and Keep on Advertising

An advertisement today will reach a certain number of folks who are in the market for your goods. They may call at your store, may purchase, may like your way of doing business and tomorrow forget all about you, unless you keep reminding them you are still in business.

A store may build up a good business and may have a list of customers a mile long. But folks don't live forever; neither do they always stay in one place and if a store does not continually reach out for new business, there will come a day in the not distant future when its list of customers will not be a mile long, nor a very large fraction thereof.

Instead of advertising "This Store For Sale," the stuff in it should have been advertised. Then there would have been no necessity of going out of business.

BROADDUS & SON

J. Frank Norfleet and Son, Pete, Here Saturday En Route to Huntsville; Tell 'Man Hunt' Experiences

J. Frank Norfleet, Hale Center Nemesis, and his son, Pete Nor-fleet, also of Hale Center, spent the day in Colorado Saturday meeting with friends here. The Messrs. Nor-fleet were en route to Coke County for a short visit with his father.

While in the city Saturday Nor-fleet was busy relating to friends here his more recent experiences in running down and bringing to justice the gang who a few years ago swindled him out of $45,000 in a fake stock sale. Recently he located W. B.
Spencer, a member of the gang, in Canada, but the man escaped when a confederate slugged Mr. Norfleet.
Norfleet followed Spencer to Albany,
New York, where two companions of Spencer were arrested just after the trio had swindled an Albany citizen out of $17,000. Spencer effected his escape by jumping from the second floor of his hotel.

"William J. Burns is at present handling this matter for me," Nor-fleet stated, "and we have Spencer located and I expect to hear announcement of his arrest any time."

In speaking of Joe Furey, who is accredited as having been the "master mind" in the swindles in which Norfleet lost his money, he said: "I have just received a message from Furey in which he promises to refund to me the amount that I lost to him and his associates, if I would agree to use my influence toward getting him out of the peni-

DANNY, THE DIP.

Danny had just decided that life was not worth living. Old Bill Craddock, the detective and Danny's worst enemy, had been watching him so closely that he could not ply his profession in his allotted territory.
His partner and greatest friend, Lorry Tumble, a clever swindler, had performed a job too much, and had been sent up the river for a few years. This had caused Danny to do his own planning and with Bill Craddock's blockade, Danny had lived very poorly for several weeks. In addition to all this, Danny's best girl had just turned him down coldly, so Danny was in a fine rage; and when he found that his girl really meant what she said, the rage turned to sorrow and Danny, as we said before had just decided to end his life.

The decision was reached just as Danny was crossing Brooklyn Bridge.
He walked on for a short time and then suddenly fell into the river. He landed in a beautiful dive and went under to a great depth and found that drowning was not so easy as he had supposed. He came up in a short time to find that against his will an excited crowd of pedestrians had sounded a warning and an East River life saving crew was on the way to save him, he was saved and taken to his lodging.

This ineffectual attempt to drown was followed by an attempt to hang himself. He tied one end of a short rope around his neck and the other to a hook in the ceiling, then jumped off the bed. He regained consciousness in a short time to find that in his kicking around he had pulled the hook out before he had become any near dead and had only succeeded in making his neck raw and sore and spraining his ankle.

After a restless night's sleep, Danny decided to go to a place where some convicts were being worked and attempt to set one of them loose in that manner insuring a speedy death for naturally the guard would shoot him.

He went up to a convict against earnest protestations of the guard and started to cut the chair that fastened them together. The guard ran forward and opened fire with his winchester, but was such a miserable marksman that his shots all went wild, and Danny left the scene of action unscratched.

Danny rode back to the city in a very disconsolate frame of mind. As he was walking along the street studying another method his fertile mind had devised suddenly a bright something on the ground caught his eye. He picked it up and sweated in the sun trying to decipher the inscription on the label, but finally his labor received its reward, and he reached the conclusion that the contents were Hydrochloric Acid diluted for laboratory use. He sniffed the contents and pronounced it pretty deadly and as it had a skull and cross bones on the label he concluded to take it.

After several weeks of suffering in a down-town hospital the doctor pronounced him out of danger, but Danny was fully cured of the least lingering desire to die and had concluded that life was worth living.

He went out into the sunshine one bright June morning in an entirely different frame of mind. He was a new man. He bought a morning paper to look for the "help wanted" advertisements for laborers on a construction gang building an office building on lower Broadway. He went down to apply for a position when suddenly a section of wall collapsed and a shouted warning came too late. Danny was caught beneath an avalanche of brick and mortar.

He was carried away in an ambulance and an article in the evening paper read: "A terrible accident occurred on lower Broadway this morning when the city's most notorious pickpockets was killed by a falling building. The terrible catastrophe occurred this morning about ten o'clock. It is one of the swiftest in history or the said victim would not have been caught. He is very swift when being sought after, as detective Craddock, Williams, Burke, Sims, Holmes, and Hawkshaw will affirm if asked."—Zack Stroman.

COMPTON PRITCHETT CASHIER CITY NATIONAL BANK

The name of Compton Pritchett was omitted in the article published in The Record last week reporting the annual directors meeting of the two national banks of Colorado. Mr. Pritchett, who during the past year was assistant cashier of the City National bank, was elected cashier.

OUT BUFORD WAY.

And we are experiencing that "grand and glorious feeling" for it has rained. Not hardly so much as we perhaps needed, but enough to create the feeling. The consensus of opinion is that we had about one-half inch, but all soaked up as it fell, and wet the round about 3 inches on an average. Here's hoping that other part of the 3 inches comes during the next two weeks.

Mrs. Homer Ellis, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Curry, was carried to the Colorado sanitarium last week and operated on for appendicitis. She is improving as fast as could be expected. We hope to hear that she has been able to leave the hospital by the time our next letter goes to print.

Mrs. Sam Bedford learned that her mother, Mrs. Killian, was sick and on Tuesday morning early, Mr. Bedford phoned to Alvord and the report was that she was resting better. Later in the day, however, another message came by wire for Mrs. Bedford to come at once and she left on the night train for the east. We hope to hear that Mrs. Killian is not real serious, and will be improving when Mrs. Bedford reaches her bedside.

The remodeling of the White church is about completed. The building is not so large as was but well braced and on a good foundation. The roof now has the modern bungalow effect. The church yard is to be terraced up and that will finish the work for the present. The congregation expects to paint the building later on.

Mr. Ralph Prentice and nephew of J. B. Prentice, is visiting in the latter's home this week. He is on his way from Brownwood to New York, where he made his home since being discharged from the army.

Grandma Prentice is somewhat improved since our last letter.

Bro. H. S. Walton was visiting in the community last Monday.

We had our election of officers in the Sunday school Sunday morning after an unusually interesting study hour about Elijah, the good prophet warning Israel of the great sin and his flight from the presence of King Ahab and the wicked queen, Jezebel. His sojourn in the mountains near the brook Cherith, and then his journey over to Zidow. The great miracle of the meal barrel and cruse of oil, and we note there are many interesting lessons to follow. We can't understand just why folks don't go to Sunday school and study and think about these great characters of old.

The following were elected as officers and teachers for the ensuing year: H. B. Palmer, superintendent; James F. Bodine, assistant superintendent; Martin Miller, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. J. F. Bodine and Mrs. S. H. Franklin, teachers of the bible and senior classes; Mr. Bodine and Miss Nellie Powell teachers of the young folk's classes; Miss Richard and Mrs. Ida Holt teachers for the juniors; Mrs. Essie Blachard and Mrs. Franklin teachers for the card class and cradle roll.

It has been definitely decided to divide the young folks class and start a contest that will wind up in a S. S. picnic in the late summer, the victors to have the spoils. In this way we hope to have an interest stimulated that "passeth all understanding." We expect to announce other plans later on.

We learn that Mr. L. J. Jackson has moved to his farm north of Buford, where Mr. Martin lived, and Mr. Shepard has moved to the Hunter farm vacated by Mr. Dockery, also

Mr. Hall of near China Grove has moved to Mrs. Essie Blachard's farm; some of our folks have moved out and we didn't learn their destination.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Angel of Northern New Mexico are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Jones. Mrs. Angel is the second oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jones. George says things look "kinder natural" out Buford way.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hughes and family attended the funeral of little Jack Robinson, who died in San Antonio and was buried in the I. O. O. F. cemetery in Colorado. The deceased was a nephew of Mr. Hughes.

GETTING OUT OF THE BOG.

A statement recently issued by the Federal Reserve Bank at Dallas shows a reduction of about $43,000,000 in rediscounts, with the Reserve Bank at Dallas by member banks of the eleventh district since January 1.

At the same time it was announced that for the first time since April, 1920, the eleventh district Bank had no money borrowed from other Federal Reserve Banks.

This is pretty substantial evidence that the Southwest has been paying its debts, notwithstanding the ruinously low prices which have prevailed on cattle and farm products for the past year.

Paying debts at the rate of four million dollars per month under the conditions that have prevailed in the Southwest is a record to be proud of. It illustrates the fact that the people of this section are not only solvent, taken as a whole, but they are working out of an exceedingly difficult financial situation.

The Federal Reserve Bank started the present year with a huge amount of rediscounts on hand from member banks and in many instances this paper represented greatly inflated values. The bankers of this section faced the necessity of reducing loans without precipitating a panic. That they have succeeded admirably is shown by the Federal Reserve Bank statement.

The Southwest faces the new crop year in much better condition than a year ago. Not only has the district paid back money borrowed from other districts but the beginning of the new year will find the bank of Dallas with nearly fifty million less of rediscounts.

The Eleventh Reserve District is out of the bog of inflated credits and it is safe to predict that better times are ahead. The Southwest has taken its losses and is on a sounder financial basis than at any time in two years.

"Plant a Tree" is the slogan of the Colorado Civic League.

That Colorado sorely needs an adequate sewage system and an extension of the water system is a fact to be acknowledged by any one who is understood as considering the best interests of the city with fairness.

It kind of depends on the man. For example a miniature of Washington brought $9,600 while a picture of us, though it were big as a barn door, wouldn't bring enough to pay for the frame.

The city of Colorado is losing hundreds of dollars through rapid depreciation of the surfaced streets within the corporate limits. We must fall upon some plan for salvaging this loss and make repairs while repairs can be made.

The Record will support that candidate for mayor who pledges a constructive administration. And by "constructive" we mean an administration that would demand recognition of a program for street improvement and the extension of the water and sewer systems of the city.

And there is another score to the credit of Colorado and of which we should all be proud. That is the high efficiency of the public schools of the city. Did you know that there are only thirty-four other high schools in the great commonwealth of Texas with the same affiliation as the high school in your city?

The Civic League is just now devoting special effort to encouragement of "The City Beautiful" slogan through recommendations that property owners in Colorado plant shade and ornamental trees and shrubbery about their premises. And they desire the name of all property owners co-operating with them in making Colorado an example of civic attractiveness. If you will plant a tree, or trees, notify J. Riordan.

The Colorado Record observes that 1921 is going to be a humdinger to the man who puts forward the right sort of industry. We believe The Record is right. The crisis of low prices and short money has passed. We are entering upon an era of sane and sound business. We certainly believe that the American people are coming in for a large bunch of prosperity during the next future years. However, the man that sits around on the street corners and curses the government will be broke like he has always been.—Lockney Beacon.

The Thirty-Seventh Legislature was convened last week at Austin and The Record sincerely trusts that the session shall be marked with sensible, business legislation from the beginning. Those representatives of the people at Austin should become possessed with at least some of the spirit of reconstruction through which the country is now passing, and unite in the endeavor of accomplishing the benefits for the State at large, rather than to follow a policy of private aggrandizement and the promotion of class interests. West Texas shall demand recognition of two meritorious acts—the establishment of a West Texas A. & M. College and redistricting of the State. Senator Homer P. Brelsford of Eastland, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and Porter A. Whaley of Stamford, manager of the chamber, are among the champions demanding recognition of West Texas at Austin.

"We regret to learn of a disposition in a few counties to try to get along in 1921 without a county agent, or with a less efficient county agent," says the Stephenville Tribune. "Such a policy is like dropping the pilot just as the ship enters the most dangerous seas. It is like shutting up the light house just as the storm comes on. The farmers of the south will need the help of the county agents more in 1921 than ever before. And they will use him more than ever before. In the first place, they need his help about production. How much cotton acreage will be cut is problematical, but it is certainly going to be cut. Farmers are going to grow a diversity of crops, and they are going to need guidance in new fields of effort. They are also going to grow more livestock, and here especially they will need the agent.

If Colorado expects to make any municipal improvements during the year, it is high time that arrangements were now in the making for these improvements. Of course, when laws governing the amendment adopted in the November election, removing disabilities we now have in voting additional municipal bonds, are passed by the Legislature, we be offered relief, but even in that we must wait several months before attempting anything of a constructive nature. What should be done, if the best interests of the city are to be considered, is to apply to the Legislature, now in session, for a special charter, in which provision for protecting the material interests of Colorado would be specified. San Angelo, Sweetwater, Plainview, Amarillo, Cisco and other incorporated municipalities we might mention are operating under the provisions of a special charter. Colorado will very soon become the commercial metropolis of a thriving territory if its citizens will but take on a little pep and augment the natural advantages of the city with the spirit of a progressive citizenry.

"From day to day for the last few weeks The Telegram has presented unchallenged facts and figures relating to the enormous profits being made from cotton after it leaves the hands of the producer," says the Temple Telegram. "Prior to launching of this campaign for profitable prices to the farmer, and since its inauguration, Associated Press dispatches have from time to time told of fabulous dividends being declared by the big cotton manufacturing plants in the Carolinas and in New England, and in some instances—if what has been told congressmen is true—earnings reaching the stupendous ratio of from 1800 to 3000 per cent have been made in certain years during this era of high prices. Dividends of 100 per cent have been very common for the last several months. Evidently there is money in the manufacturing end of the cotton industry. Spinners along the Atlantic coast—some of them in a section where the natives never saw a stalk of cotton—have waxed opulent in late years and are continuing to wax opulent. But is there any particular reason why the South should work hard to grow the cotton at a loss to ship it to another section where it may be manufactured into goods at a tremendous profit?"

Business is picking up. Texas will likely get three additional congressmen.—Waco Times-Herald. If so, in the campaigns of the future, it is to be hoped that the three additional congressmen will be the possessors of backbone, courage and conviction. In the campaigns of 1920 Rufus Hardy and Claude Hudspeth found themselves. They declared their preferences. They came out in the open. They walked in the middle of the road. It is well for even a congressman to know "where he is at."—Fort Worth Record. The Record is right. All public officials should come clean with the boys who elect them. For years we have had lawmakers, some who "toted fat" and some who merely played politics, regardless of public welfare. Hudspeth, of course, did his best.—Sweetwater Reporter. Well, didn't Rufus Hardy do his best for the candidates of his choice and according to his convictions? Now, why should a man be an artful dodger in politics—a man who has been elected to congress or any other office by the voters of the district or the state? All the Democratic congressmen voted to override the Wilson veto of the war finance board. "The King is dead; long live the King." This is a reminder: There is an issue coming in Texas that is certain to be a burning issue—the tariff. There are free traders who call themselves Democrats. There are Democrats who are for a tariff for revenue only. There are others who insist that if manufactured products are to be protected raw materials of Texas must be protected. There is no way that the politicians of Texas may be able to sidetrack the issue. It is already here. Should the Seigel apportionment bill be enacted by congress there will be twenty-one congressmen elected in 1922. Unless the surface signs are misleading there are many Texas districts that will elect representatives who will favor the protection of the raw materials of the commonwealth. This for the eighteen sitting members. This for Senator Culbertson and Sheppard.

JUST COMMON SENSE.

As is usual at this season the newspapers are full of reviews and forecasts as to business conditions, which happen this year to be of more than ordinary interest because of the general state of uncertainty which prevails in the public mind. And in reading these reviews and forecasts one is struck by the strong and sustained note of optimism which dominates them. Bankers, merchants, manufacturers, economists, statesmen and all the big men who should know in fact—see a bow in the sky. True all speak frankly of the present business depression, they analyze it and its causes from various angles, but all see—or profess to see—only clearing skies and a bright and sound future. So universal in fact is this note of optimism that one is inclined to wonder what all this bother has been about. If things are going so well, why has there been so much gloom and fear and talk of hard times we wonder? The question naturally presents itself then, are all of these big business men talking confidently to conceal their anxiety—whistling in the dark, so to speak? And it is not exactly easy to find an answer to the question.

Big business men have a way of talking in generalities of things outside their own sphere and of laying down dogmatic propositions regarding the things of which they deem they can speak with authority. The average man can make little of the generalities and acceptance of the other is a take it or leave it matter. But occasionally one of these big business men applies a fundamental fact to an existing situation in a manner so concise as to be unescapable. That is what John G. Lonsdale, a St. Louis banker, did in a brief appraisal of the business situation which was printed recently in the Morning Times.

"Wealth is a matter of property—goods, commodities, buildings, and lands," said Lonsdale. "Wealth can not be decreased by writing down values as expressed in dollars. The United States never before had as much wealth as today. But the exchange of goods and commodities has temporarily halted—largely through the psychological effect of price declines. To use the common term, people have stopped buying. When will they start buying again? I think to a moderate degree by early summer."

Mr. Lonsdale might have added that the exchange of work for wages also has been partly interrupted, but in the main he covered the entire ground. His expressed belief that conditions will be getting back to normal by early summer is, of course a mere matter of opinion. He may be right or he may be wrong. That isn't the part of his statement which is of paramount importance. The thing he said which every person should get firmly into his head is that we have more wealth than we ever had before—wealth that can not be taken away from us or destroyed. And since that wealth exists, inevitably normal conditions must return.

El Paso Times. Yes, the wealth is still here and that's the main thing.

What Is A Bank?

A bank is much more than merely a safe place for keeping funds, for handling checks, for collecting drafts, etc.

A bank should be regarded as the intimate helper, advisor and friend of the customer, ever ready to co-operate in every proper way, to extend necessary accommodation as required, and to protect his interest in every way that lies within its power.

This is the kind of service that we endeavor to render—and we invite you to make your connection with us with such service in view.

VEEXATION OF SPIRIT
 "WHEN I was in business," said the retired merchant, "I never had time to read much, and I used to look forward to the glad day when I could revel in literature. I felt sure I'd be entirely happy. I used to jot down the titles of books I intended to read, and when I retired from business I had a list as long as the Russian battle line.
 "And now that I can read all I want to, I don't get any enjoyment out of books. They bore me—the worst way. I get sleepy as soon as I begin to read, and my wife comes and tells me my snoring is disturbing the neighbors."
 "It's that way with everything we look forward to," observed the hotel-keeper, sadly. "Man always will be, but is never blest, as some half-baked poet remarked. Young Gooseworthy was in here last evening, bubbling over with happiness. There wasn't anybody around, so he took me into his confidence. He's going to marry Gwendolin Jmalong, next month, and he's perfectly satisfied that his married life will be one long stretch of sunshine. He seems to have the idea that he's going to do something original when he gets married, but the idea isn't new. Men have been getting married ever since Christopher discovered Columbus, Ohio, and every doggone man jack of them had the idea that everlasting bliss was going to be inaugurated on the wedding day.
 "I listened to Gooseworthy for three hours, and hadn't the heart to say anything that would dampen his enthusiasm. His twittering recalled the long vanished days when I was getting ready to be married. I felt about it then just as he does now. I thought the person opened the gates of paradise when he joined two loving hearts. My wife lived up to all the plans and specifications, and was and is one of the best women in the United States, but I hadn't been married three months before I had a sneaking conviction that the man who gets married is a chump.
 "A good many optimists say that a married man doesn't need any more money than a single one, if he marries the right sort of woman, but they might as well go to the blackboard and demonstrate that two and two make two, instead of four. I fell for that cheerful theory when I was married. I was earning enough to keep myself comfortably, and never had any financial worries. I could have been buried for less money than it took to be married, and the expenses from that time forward were double what they used to be, although my wife was so economical she used to make waists and such things for herself out of my superannuated shirts.
 "Oh, doggone it, there isn't any unadulterated happiness in matrimony. I wonder that young fellows like Gooseworthy don't look around them, and contemplate the dejected appearance of the majority of husbands. But even if they did, it wouldn't do them any good. I suppose, for they are full of pipe dreams, and they think the girls they are going to marry are different from all other girls, and that they will prove exceptions to the general rule.
 "I had a wise old uncle in those halcyon days, and about a week before the wedding day, he backed me into a corner and handed me a dust-proof package of wisdom. He tried to lead me into taking a sensible view of the future. He talked about the cares and responsibilities that would be mine after the wedding, and wanted to know if I felt equal to them. He tried to show me that I wasn't going to marry an angel, but a human being like myself, with a human being's faults and frailties.
 "I let him get that far, and then I told him that his gray hairs alone saved him from having his head re-modeled, and said I never wanted him to darken my door, and he never did. I had to darken it myself, with wal nut stain. But many a time afterward, I recalled his wise words and wept over his grave."
For A Persistent Cough.
 Some years ago H. P. Burbage, a student at law in Greenville, S. C., had been troubled for a long time with a persistent cough which he says "greatly alarmed me causing me to fear that I was in the first stage of consumption." Having seen Chamberlain's Cough Remedy advertised he concluded to try it. "I soon felt a remarkable change and after using two bottles of the small size was permanently cured."

Pure Bred Lone Star Cotton Seed

The COLORADO NATIONAL BANK has secured a limited amount of PURE BRED LONE STAR Cotton Seed for planting next season. It is important that you book your next year's seed NOW, as the demand for this staple Cotton will be far above the supply.

These seeds are Certified Pure Bred & guaranteed FERTILE by the Cage Seed Co., of Austin, Texas.

CAGE SEED COMPANY, AUSTIN, TEXAS
 Gentlemen: The past week I have sold ten bags of your Lone Star Cotton off of the four hundred acres I planted for you this season. It brought me a premium of from twelve dollars and fifty cents to fourteen dollars per bale premium, due to the heavy lengthy staple it produced. It ran from one and sixteenths to one and three-sixteenths inch staple. I want two hundred bushels of your best Lone Star Seed again to plant the same land again next year. With best wishes, I am Very truly yours, (Signed) W. B. BINGHAM.

Coming His Way!

Merchants and manufacturers endorse pure-bred cattle because they make business better. They buy electric-lighting plants; farm power; machinery; pianos; household conveniences—power washers, sweepers, churns; better buildings; better homes. They buy improved roads and more efficient schools.

Farmers raise pure-breds for the same reason. They like to be prosperous and pure-breds will make them so. Better cattle widen the margin between the producing cost and the selling price of beef; they make their own market as breeding stock.

Don't let a pure-bred bull go to waste in this community. Remember that the poorest pure-bred is better than the best scrub. He is easier to feed, he makes better beef, and he will pass his money-bringing qualities on to his get. Only the pure-bred can make the cattle industry stable and certain of steady return, year after year.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, whose cooperation enables us to present these advertisements, has long been an ardent supporter of the pure-breds, because they pay the farmer who raises them. This dominant weekly of farm service studies for you every aspect and every problem of your business and the conclusions at which its trained investigators arrive can be accepted as thoroughly reliable. These investigators say: "Buy Pure-Breds."

In the next 52 big issues (which will come to you for just $1.00) the editors will tell you why.

Life History of Pete Scoggins

By Felix Franklin, in Amarillo Tribune

Felix S. Franklin, Fred Horsbrough, George Boles and Joe Sneed of Amarillo have returned from Snyder, at which place on Wednesday they attended the funeral of Pete Scoggins, an old time cattleman of that section. Speaking of the man in whose honor the Amarillo men made the trip to Snyder, Mr. Franklin said:

"Pete Scoggins never made a public profession of religion, but his soul was white and clean, a fact evidenced many times throughout his life. He was as tenderly sympathetic as a woman, as brave and fearless as a leader at the battlefield—his loyalty to his friends is one of their most sacred memories. It has been said that a man to be a real cattle man in the older days had to be a blend of all the outstanding characteristics of a real human being. Certain it is that Pete Scoggins had these in rare measure.

"About forty years ago I met Pete for the first time at a roundup. I was then in Crosby county, and our roundups in this section of the state came twice each year, about the first of April in the spring, and in the fall about the first of October or November. These were participated in by all of the men for seventy-five or a hundred miles around. We met and knew each other. From this initial meeting, there grew up between Pete and me a friendship that endured to the day of his death, and following his passing, the memory of the real worth of the man lingers with me as a precious possession.

"A native of South Carolina, Pete Scoggins felt the urge of the frontier. He spent all his money in railroad fare coming to Dallas, which at that time was the terminus of the Texas and Pacific road. From Dallas without funds, and possessed of nothing more than a strong body and a set determination he set out to walk to the ranch of "Smokey" Brown in Cole man county. The entire trip was made on foot. His none too strong shoes gave out on the march, and a farmer on the way supplied him with sacks with which to wrap his feet. Thus, he reached the Brown ranch barefoot, sore tired and worn, but in no measure discouraged. After working for Brown for a number of years, he removed with him to Kent county, and following still further service as a cowboy, began the acquirement of a few cattle and small areas of land."

"When I first met Pete he owned about two hundred head of indifferently bred cattle, and a very little land, if any at all. But he early realized that if a man would stay in the game of cattle raising, he must also possess the land. This determination led him in his persistent efforts for acquirement, and at the time of his passing he owned somewhat more than thirty thousand acres and thousands of cattle. Although interested in the homes and families of his friends, Pete never was married.

"The families of his partners shared his kindness in rare degree—he was their friends. When death removed a partner, he settled the affairs of the partnership, according to the estimates of the family. He was beloved of every man who shared with him the fortunes of the cattle game, and when their children thru fate, were orphaned and their wives widowed, they became the objects of his special care.

"Some idea of the magnanimous spirit of Peter Scoggins may be gathered from the statements of Rev. M.

C. Bishop, pastor of the Baptist church in Anson, who conducted the funeral. He declared during the sermon that while all of the bequests and kindly benefactions of the dead man are not known, for he did much of his work quietly, a sum in excess of one hundred thousand dollars has been invested in the field of general good. While not a member of any church, every edifice of public worship in Snyder represents an investment by Pete Scoggins.

"Just shortly before his death in the sanitarium in Post City, when one of the ministers was calling on him, Pete said to the man of the Lord. 'I have not invested my life, as I should have done. It has been poorly spent, but thanks be to God, my house is in order—I have nothing to fear in the land to which I go.' He never withheld support from a worthy cause. He realized the worth-whileness of that which is good, even while himself making no personal claims to a godliness.

"A number of years ago, a brother died in the old home state of South Carolina, leaving a son and three daughters. A little later the mother died, and it was then that the great rough cowboy, found his way back to the native state, taking into his tender care the orphans. They were brought to the Texas ranch. The girls were placed into a good home in Snyder while the boy went to the ranch with his uncle, where he learned to love the ranch life and cattle happiness. These four children of the dead brother are the sole heirs of Pete Scoggins. They learned to love the uncle tenderly, and his passing was as great a shock to them in their maturer life, as was that of their own parents in their earlier years.

"It is with a tender feeling that I recall my last visit to Pete's home about two years ago. I noticed that his style of expression was changed, he had mellowed with the flight of years. I noticed that a copy of the scriptures occupied a place of prominence on his table. I remarked: 'Pete what book is that you have there?' With a twinkle in his eye, he told me that the Bible meant more to him than in the years gone by. He told me that the Book told of a new heaven and a new earth, and indicated to me that his faith in the story of the Book was active and was proving a shaping influence on his thoughts. This delighted me, for I recalled the time when many of the early cattlemen gave little attention to the teachings of the Book.

"Bowed under the weight of years, their hearts softened through the trials of life, their goal posts established in stable soils of eternal hope, old-timers from many points gathered to do honor to the memory of a good man, called in the ripeness of his years to his reward. Kin Elkins, now eighty-eight years old and living at Endee, New Mexico, was telling me of his preparations to come to the funeral when he heard that our noble hearted friend had passed away. His wife remarked to him 'Kin, isn't that an awful distance to go?' 'I told her no, that it was only fifty yards, when it was to attend Pete's funeral—and that's the way I feel about it too.' This was the spirit shown at the funeral among the men who had personally known and loved Pete.

"My heart is too full of it all, the memories, the revival of the scenes of other days incident to meeting with former associates beside the body of our fallen friend. Those old times came rushing backward, and I lived again among the cattle, associated with the men who as younger fellows made possible the foundations of numerous fortunes, and rendered delightful our present living conditions, through overcoming the obstacles of their times.

"The story is too long, it would require too much space. A real man has gone, and in the hearts of the old timers there is a void—we learned to esteem him as he esteemed us. It was a great gathering of men who dared to tackle and overcome primitive conditions. Following is a partial list of the former friends of Pete Scoggins who could not absent themselves from the funeral.

"Joe Stokes, Big Spring; Oscar Kelly, Post City; Jeff Isaacs, Snyder; Jake Raines, Crosbyton; Rollie Burns of Lubbock; George Wolfarth, Lubbock; George Colvin, Fort Worth; Judge Hammer, Anson; Beale Sneed, Paducah; Doc Knox, Post City; Geo. Elkins, of Double Mountain; Bert Brown, Spur; Chalk Brown, Spur; Walter Roy, Snyder; George Duckworth, Post City; I. M. Boren, Post City; Billy Nelson, Snyder; Norman Rogers, Post City; I. K. Millwee, of Plainview; John Mason, Post City; Joe Sneed, Amarillo, Rich Miller, of Gail; Fred Horsbrough, Amarillo; Elmer Long, Gail; Bob Willoughby, of Post City; Andy Long, Fort Worth; Kin Elkins, Endee, New Mexico; Jake Maurer, Colorado City; Wright Moad of Deermot; Dick Arnett, Colorado City; A. W. Clark, Fort Worth; Jake McCall, Fort Worth; Ben Plasters, Colorado; Dr. P. C. Coleman, Colorado.

"As already indicated, this is but a partial list, hundreds of friends were there. The memory of the hour with its association, will linger, while lasts with me of the old timers. Our ranks are thinning, but we have the pleasure of believing that we have been an important factor, speaking for the whole of the old-timers, in making this section of the southwest a better place to live. We honor the memory of our departed friend and are better men by reason of our having known and loved him."

Bad Cold and Cough Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Several years ago C. D. Glass, Gardiner, Me., contracted a severe cold and cough. He tried various remedies but instead of getting well he kept adding to it by contracting fresh colds. Nothing he had taken for it was of any permanent benefit until a druggist advised him to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He says "I was completely cured by this remedy and have since always turned to it when I have a cold and soon find relief."

HIGH SCHOOL BOY CHARGED WITH THEFT FROM MAIL

Alfred Schock, a high school boy of Sweetwater, was arrested at Sweetwater late Friday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Willis Barbee on the charge of theft from the mail boxes at the Sweetwater post office, and according to the officer made a confession of his guilt, and conducted the authorities to various niches in the city where the loot had been hidden.

It is claimed that operations of the boy extended over a period of six months before finally being detected. His plan was to open boxes of the various business men and of the banks at the Sweetwater post office, taking parcels and also letters. Thousands in dollars in checks and valuable correspondence directed to one of the Sweetwater banks was among the stolen loot. Among the articles recovered are shoes, hosiery, and hundreds of kodak films directed to Sweetwater photographer. In sending these films to be developed, customers would include the amount of charges in cash, which ranged from a few pennies to as much as a dollar. It is also claimed that hundreds of Christmas packages which disappeared have now been accounted for.

ORDINANCE BARS TENTS FROM THE BUSINESS DISTRICT

Under the provisions of an amendment to the ordinance regulating construction of buildings in the business district, passed by the City Council Monday night, tents are to be hereafter barred from this zone. The zone, as outlined in the original ordinance, includes all property north of Main Street to Third Street and from Pine on the west to Chesnut Street on the east.

This amendment was adopted in response to a petition recently filed with the City Council by club women of the city requesting that some regulation be made of the various tent shows and carnivals that have frequented Colorado.

WHITTEN NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH AT MEXICAN'S HANDS.

H. T. Whitten, Sweetwater merchant, owes his life to a faulty pistol cartridge.

Late Saturday afternoon Mr. Whitten detected a Mexican in the act of stealing a cap from his store and when he stopped the man a gun was brought into play. The pistol was scrapped. The Mexican pointed directly at Mr. Whitten.

Members of both the sheriff's department and the city police got on the wild Mexican's trail and located him near the city lake, west of the Santa Fe depot, where he was arrested by Sheriff Barbee as attempted to flee from a small ditch. He was unarmed when caught, but officers have an idea where he left the gun to which Mr. Whitten owes his life.

According to the brief story told by the would-be slayer he is about 24 years of age and resides at Colorado, Mitchell county. At present he is a guest of Nolan county.

Mr. Whitten stated to a representative of the Daily Reporter last night that the Mexican was leaving his place of business with a cap that he had stolen and became greatly enraged when the theft was discovered. Mr. Whitten stated also that he was exceedingly thankful that the cartridge proved to be a "dud."—Sweetwater Reporter.

BREAD WILL DROP TO 10 CENTS NEXT MONDAY.

Effective Monday, January 24 bread prices in Colorado are due for a drop of from 15 cents to 10 cents a loaf, according to E. H. Hurd, proprietor of the Hurd Bakery in this city.

"We are now able to purchase flour at lower prices than heretofore" Mr. Hurd stated Wednesday, "and will give the public of Colorado who use loaf bread the benefit of the saving."

The Hurd Bakery is among the attractive food establishments of Colorado. Bread, pies cakes and delicacies of various kinds are baked twice daily, and in a most sanitary way. Especial pains has been taken by Mr. Hurd to protect the products of his ovens from dust, and visitors to the place are impressed with the aspect of sanitation throughout.

The people of Colorado can find no better bread than the home products, and then, there is good argument supporting the slogan, "trade at home."

NEW BUSINESS.

We have bought the apple and potato business next door to the fire station and are adding a line of fresh vegetables and will run this business in connection with our Big Spring house. Our endeavor will be to keep as nice a line as the market affords and the trade demands. We furnish you nice goods and courteous treatment and will appreciate your business and influence. We have on hand today nice California Lettuce, Jumbo Celery, Apples, Oranges, Bananas, Coconuts, Onions and Potatoes and expect a nice lot of green stuff from South Texas today. Mr. Enslin will be in charge of the store but the buying will be done by J. R. Creath at O. Lambeth Grocery.

This line of goods is very perishable and the losses heavy. We are therefore compelled to sell for cash. We do not deliver nor credit anyone. Bring your basket and your money, as Mr. Enslin has orders not to let anything out without the cash, as it takes spot cash to buy these goods.

RED DEP'S PHILOSOPHY

"One reason we respect the Bull Dog is that he finishes what he starts."

We started something here when we opened up our lumber yard and that is to give full measure for every dollar you spend here. We have been sticking to this policy and we are going to see it through to the finish.

To have your respect and confidence means a whole lot to us. That is why we are anxious to treat you right. Good lumber and building materials are the only kind to buy and that is the reason we carry them. They are cheapest in the long run.

PIANO BENEFIT ON TUESDAY EVENING JANUARY 25th.

Mrs. Josephine Obenchain, of Dallas will give a program of Negro Dialect and Plantation Stories at the High School Auditorium for the benefit of the

PUBLIC SCHOOL PIANO FUND

Admission—Children 30c; Adults 50c

It gives me much pleasure to say that I regard Mrs. Josephine Obenchain of Dallas, as being surpassingly gifted as a reader of Plantation Sketches. Her purpose, in such readings is to preserve the negro dialect, in its old-time simplicity, dignity and winsomeness. Her readings, therefore, are not only fascinating entertaining, but also distinctly educational. She is remarkably well qualified for her task. The community is indeed fortunate that is able to secure her for such a reading.—Geo. W. Truett, Pastor First Baptist Church, Dallas, Texas.
