

CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN WILL BE INAUGURATED IN CITY

Judge R. H. Looney, mayor of Colorado, met with the Lions Club Friday to discuss with members of the club needed clean-up and sanitation measures for the city. Speakers addressing the meeting pointed out that scores of places were to be found within the corporate limits on which refuse had been allowed to collect, a condition contributing much to the destruction of any civic pride the city might have and also making of Colorado a place of unwarranted hazards in the way of sanitation.

That refuse, including old tin cans and rubbish of every description, was to be found in some of the alley ways in the heart of the city was charged. The statement was also made that on First street fronting the passenger station, old broken down automobiles and other unsightly refuse were to be seen, all of which contributed much toward creating an unfavorable impression on the visitor.

The request was made that the city co-operate with the club cleaning up the town. In discussing ordinances affecting these matters, the request was made that if ordinances were already in effect here, that they be enforced, and that if no suitable ordinances were in effect, that the city pass them and demand that they be observed.

Mayor Looney spoke of his appreciation for the position taken by members of the club and expressed his desire to co-operate with the citizenship of the town for a cleaner and healthier Colorado. In the absence of any members of the city council, the mayor could not speak for them, but assured the Lions that the council would be found ready to co-operate with the club in any practical solution of the problem.

Following a called meeting of the council Friday night, at which the suggestion from the Lions Club was discussed by the council, Judge Looney stated that the city would superintend removal of refuse from the city to the municipal dumping grounds. Co-operation of the civic organizations of Colorado will be asked in causing the refuse to be collected at convenient locations.

In connection with the campaign to clean up the city, some of the local business men, both in the Lions Club and out of it, are suggesting that efforts be made to move the Mexican quarters from its present location on West Second street. The place is declared by some to be the worst eye sore in the city, from both the consideration of sanitation and civic attractiveness. Just what can be done in this matter, however, was not known Wednesday afternoon.

It was stated at the Lions Club Friday that only three of the Mexicans owned the property on which their shacks were located, and that the others were "squatters." Many of the Mexican shacks are on property owned by the Brown Estate and the local representative of the Brown heirs stated that he would favor moving the Mexicans to some other section of town.

When the new viaduct is completed it will be one of the best structures of its kind in West Texas and those who are demanding that some provision be made for moving Mexican quarters declare that property adjoining the bridge should be converted into a beauty spot, rather than permitted to continue in its present surroundings.

DANNER LOSES IN FIRE AT IATAN LAST WEEK

The small general store at Iatan, recently purchased by E. C. Danner of Westbrook, burned to the ground last week, the building and contents being a total loss. Danner had recently purchased the business and restocked the store. He left in the afternoon for his home at Westbrook and at eight o'clock that night the building was discovered in flames. Nothing was saved and no insurance was carried.

CITIZENS PREDICT COURT HOUSE BONDS WILL CARRY

Prediction that the court house bonds of $115,000.00, to be voted upon in Mitchell County Saturday will carry by a large majority is made by scores of citizens from various sections of the county in statements made to The Record during the past week. In every community, however, according to these citizens, opposition to the proposed bonds has developed but it is believed that a substantial majority of the citizenship will endorse the issue.

"I was against the proposed bond issue and was taking advantage of every opportunity to use my influence against them until I made a personal investigation into the needs for a new building," a prominent citizen stated while in Colorado Monday. "The report came to our community that the claim that the issue would not increase taxes was a mistake and that the old building could be repaired at a nominal cost. A visit to the old court house convinced me that it was not the proper thing to do to attempt repairs and a talk with my County Commissioner put me right on the tax."

Another citizen who changed his opinion as to the merits of the proposed bonds is D. T. Bozeman of Cuthbert, who was in Colorado Monday. Mr. Bozeman came to Colorado with no other thought than to vote against the issue, because he did not fully realize the needs for a new court house.

Bozeman went to the court house, examined the foundation and outside walls and then looked through the interior of the building to the third floor. "The claim that the old court house is setting on a rotten foundation, which in many places may be easily kicked out from under the building with your shoe, is a fact," Bozeman said afterwards, "and according to the way the old building looks to me it is liable to fall at any time. Of course we need a court house and I shall vote for the bonds."

In addressing a mass meeting here a few weeks ago, J. J. Ridens, Mayor of Loraine, made a strong appeal to the general public to support the proposed bonds and predict the people of Mitchell County, among the most progressive in all of West Texas, would appreciate the real need involved and vote the bonds by a large majority. He predicted that citizens in the east end of Mitchell County would roll up a heavy majority in favor of the issue.

The report reaching Colorado Saturday that some one had started circulation of the claim that a contractor had agreed with Commissioners' Court to construct the proposed building for $65,000 and equip it for $11,000, was dismissed by Judge J. C. Hall and others interested in the campaign as being nothing more than propaganda intended to defeat the issue. "There is absolutely nothing to such claims," Hall stated, "and I see no occasion for these kind of reports. The amount asked for in the election order is based upon estimates furnished Commissioners' Court by competent architects and every dollar will be judiciously expended in case the bonds are authorized."

BOY SCOUT WORK HERE WILL BE DISCUSSED TODAY

Reports of activities of the boy scout movement at Colorado and addresses dealing with the importance of this work will constitute the business program at the Lions Club luncheon today at the Barcroft. Rev. W. M. Elliott, Colorado scout master, W. B. Crockett, his assistant, and others identified with the movement, will address the Lions.

In an address delivered a few weeks ago before the Lions Club, Rev. Mr. Elliott stated that he considered the boy problem the greatest problem confronting the American people today. "The boy is the man in the embryo stage," the minister stated, "and as the boy is reared, so will the man be."

Facts About The Court House, The Proposed Bonds And The Tax

In that the court house and bond questions may be placed squarely before the voters of Mitchell County by men who are acting unselfishly and who are competent to make the statements they do, we request that you consider the following signed statements, by J. C. Hall, county judge; F. F. DuBose, engineer in charge of bridge construction in the county, and Frank Banack, engineer in charge of sewer and water extensions at Colorado. Each of these engineers have had several years practical experience in varied kinds of construction:

January 23, 1923.

To Whom it May Concern:

I have been in Mitchell County since June, 1922, and have had an office in the Court House at Colorado, Texas. During this time, I have had many opportunities to observe the construction of the court house building.

In my opinion the building is one of the greatest fire traps I have ever been through and do not believe any of the valuts which hold the county records would stand throughout a fire, due to a very inferior grade of brick, of which they are constructed. The foundation of the building are very poor, which is indicated by cracks over all windows and doors throughout the building and it would be a very unwise and uneconomical policy to attempt to remodel the present structure. It is my opinion, based on fourteen years of construction experience on public work and public buildings, that any board would condemn this structure for public use at once, should such a board be appointed.

FRANK F. DuBOSE,

Associate member American Society of Civil Engineers. Resident Engineer State Highway Department, Colorado River Bridge.

Colorado, Texas, January 23, 1923

To Whom it May Concern:

I have this date carefully inspected the foundation and outside walls of the Mitchell County Court House and believe the building a public hazard. I found the foundation rotten and falling away and the walls cracked in several places. I consider the building wholly unsafe and according to findings, it would be impractical to attempt repairs. The Court House is liable to fall at any time.

FRANK BANACK,

Resident Engineer

Colorado, Texas, January 23, 1923.

To Whom it May Concern:

There seems to be some misunderstanding about the bonds. It is the intention of the Commissioners' Court location of a new court house should the people vote for in case the bonds carry to build the new building in the center of the lot where the present court house now stands, on account of the jail being situated as it is, it seems to the court that it would be impracticable to move to another site. The Commissioners' Court of this county is now making an assessment of 25 cents on each $100.00 valuation for public improvements in this county, and the $115,000.00 bond issue will take 11 cents of this fund to pay off these bonds, hence there will be no raise in taxes on account of these bonds.

J. C. HALL,

County Judge Mitchell County, Texas.

Because of the fact that the old court house bonds were retired in 1922, the tax sufficient to carry the new issue will not increase the tax rate in Mitchell County one penny, now or hereafter. Commissioners' Court have officially declared such to be true.

The present building is a veritable fire trap and may burn down at any time, placing the records of Mitchell County at a hazard. Wainscoting and plaster on the second floor of the building are scorched and blackened from smoke and heat coming from chimneys leading from stoves on the first floor.

Why not visit the court house and see whether the foundation is rotten and falling away, the plaster is lying in debris about some of the rooms, look through the cracks in the outside walls, extending from top to bottom, and you will find that every statement made is correct. In the face of these conditions, why not support the bond issue Saturday?

OLD COURT HOUSE SHOULD BE CONDEMNED, IS CALLED

That the Mitchell County court house is a veritable fire trap and because of the condition of the foundation and walls a menace to public safety, was declared by F. F. DuBose and Frank Banack, resident engineers who inspected the building Tuesday. DuBose is a consulting engineer with fourteen years experience and is attached to the State Department at Austin. Banack is resident engineer representing Myers & Noyes of Dallas, one of the leading engineering concerns of the State.

"I am sincere in the statement that I hesitate to enter the court house, because I know the building to be unsafe," Banack stated. "I was entering one of the doors a few days ago and several brick, falling from a broken arch above, barely missed my head. It would not be surprising to me to learn that the building had crumpled and fallen to the ground."

"I have noticed more than once," DuBose said in discussing the court house, "that during a high wind the cupulo on top of the building would sway to and fro at least six inches. I do not believe there is an engineer, contractor or builder but who after inspecting the building would honestly declare it unconditionally unsafe."

During his fourteen years experience as an engineer, DuBose stated he had served several times on official boards appointed to inspect buildings. "I have never examined a building that I considered a greater hazard than the Mitchell County court house," he stated, "and there is not the least doubt in my mind but that this building would be condemned today should your Commissioners' Court appoint a board to investigate the building and recommend their findings."

BILL HAYDEN, RAILROAD EMPLOYEE, DIES MONDAY

The remains of Bill Hayden, 35, who died at the Colorado Sanitarium Monday morning from injuries received Thursday of last week in an accident at the Morgan Creek bridge, five miles west of Colorado, were buried Thursday after attempts to locate relatives of the dead man had failed. It was learned Tuesday that he was supposed to have a brother in the U. S. Marine Corps.

Hayden, attached to the bridge crew of the Texas & Pacific Railway Company working out of Colorado, was injured when a heavy timber crashed down the embankment at the Morgan Creek bridge, carrying him with it. His right leg was mangled and he was injured otherwise.

He was brought to the Colorado Sanitarium and Sunday afternoon Dr. P. C. Coleman, local surgeon for the Texas & Pacific, and other local surgeons determined to amputate the mangled limb in the hope of saving Hayden's life. He died at 1:30 Monday morning.

Pending attempts to locate relatives of the dead man, the body was held at the undertaking parlors of J. H. Greene.

ACREAGE BEING BLOCKED FOR TEST NEAR LORAIN

Acreage is being blocked for a test near Loraine, according to information received by the Colorado Chamber of Commerce Wednesday. The report stated that contract to drill had been made between land owners and representative of an independent operator, on condition that 3,000 acres could be secured. The required acreage was practically assured, the report received here stated.

BAND CONCERT NOT HELD SUNDAY ACCOUNT OF RAIN

Because of the muddy condition of the street and the further fact that the Sweetwater band could not come to Colorado Sunday afternoon on account of the muddy condition of the roads, the band concert, advertised for 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon on the street near the City National Bank, was not given.

ADVANCE 25 CENTS BARREL MITCHELL CRUDE RECEIVES

An advance of 25 cents per barrel for Mitchell County crude was posted this week. H. L. Lockhart of the Rio Grande Oil & Refining Company of El Paso, who is spending the week in the field, stated Wednesday. Lockhart stated that an additional advance would be probably posted within the next few days.

The Rio Grande Oil Company are taking production from wells in the Underwriters block near Westbrook for shipment to El Paso for refining. The company is running the crude by pipe line from the field to logging racks at Westbrook. According to Lockhart the company will ship twenty-five cars of this crude to El Paso during the month of January, each car containing 250 barrels. This is in addition to the crude used as fuel at drilling wells. Every well in the field at which drilling is progressing, with the exception of Richardson No. 1, is using Mitchell County crude for fuel.

The Lou-Tex. Company test in Scurry county has derrick up and the crew is stringing tools to spud. The Gulf Production Company has derrick up at location in Block 14 of the O'Keefe Subdivision and are moving tools in. California Company has rig up at their Morrison No. 1 in Section 27, Block 28.

At Smith No. 1 the crew has completed nudging in to shut out water and were cleaning out Thursday preparatory to resume drilling. Looney et al, are drilling at 400 feet in their Texas & Pacific No. 1 in Section 28, Block 28, Morrison No. 3 is drilling at 1235 feet.

Bill Thomson returned from Fort Worth this week and stated that he would resume drilling at Kelsey, et al Badgett No. 2 next week. This test is down about 600 feet. W. H. Badgett reports that Bowser & Reed are to drill test adjoining the salt and gas well at once. Bowser is in Fort Worth this week, according to Badgett, to complete preliminaries for starting the test.

Richardson No. 1 of the California Company is drilling at 2350 feet. The test of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, Foster No. 1 at Iatan, is down 3675 feet and is the deepest well in the field. Coleman No. 1 is still standing in oil within a few hundred feet of the top and will be shot at some time within the near future, according to announced plans of Fletcher & Duty, owners of the well.

Production of Morrison No. 2 was given Wednesday at 185 barrels per day. LeSurre One is making 75 barrels and T. & P. No. 2 80 barrels. Zilpha Morrison No. 1, recently placed on the pump again, is reported to be making 30 barrels. The discovery well, T. & P. No. 1 brought in in 1920, is still making from 12 to 20 barrels per day.

PRISONER ARRESTED HERE DELIVERED DALLAS OFFICER

Floyd Lindley of Bonham was arrested at Colorado Tuesday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff R. C. Dale upon advices from the sheriff at Bonham. Dale stated Wednesday that the prisoner, a young man 25 years of age, was wanted at Bonham, Dallas, and Mexia on charges of highway robbery, murder and automobile theft. He was delivered to an officer from Dallas who was here Wednesday.

A car claimed to have been stolen at Dallas was recovered by Dale when he placed the man under arrest. "Lindley was well equipped for hi-jacking," Dale stated. "I relieved him of two pistols, one a .41 and the other a .45."

Dale received a card through the mail Tuesday morning, giving a description of the man and offering a reward of $25 for his arrest. He went down town and within a few minutes had his man. The officer from Dallas paid the reward.

S. A. Sloan left Thursday night for San Francisco on business. Mr. Sloan is in San Francisco in the interest of development in the Mitchell County field.

WEST TEXANS MANIFEST MORE INTEREST IN RADIO

The past few weeks have seen a rather renewed interest in radio equipment in Colorado and Mitchell County. Several Coloradans have installed receiving sets within the past few days and interest in the wireless is becoming more general.

One of the reasons why the interest in wireless broadcasting has not only been holding its own, but is constantly spreading, is to be found in the improved quality of the material which is being sent out by the broadcasting stations. In the early stages of the broadcasting experiments, the then comparatively few owners of receiving sets were more concerned with the technical programs of hook-up and adjustment than with the character of quality of the matter which they were receiving. As the radio audience grew, and particularly since its tremendous development beginning something over a year ago, there came into the field a large number of persons whose interest in the technical side of the operation of their receiving sets was not as keen as that of the pioneers. Ready-made sets, which anybody can operate as they are with little knowledge of the details of their construction, have come into the market; the amateur who hooks up his own set, once he has finally found his pet lay-out gives himself little further trouble about its technical arrangement. Both he and the ready-made set operator are content to use their outfits "as is" and concentrate on what they can get. And so for them the radio receiving set has become less a piece of apparatus to be tinkered with in making constant experimental changes and adjustments, but more an instrument ready to be "turned on" at any time when the user feels in need of entertainment—somewhat like a phonograph or a player piano, but with a vastly larger range of selections to choose from by tuning in on this, that or the other station. The interest has thus come to centre more in the programs and less in the technique of the receiving set.

One of the difficulties has always been that the person listening in was not in responsive touch with the broadcasting station. No doubt every radio fan has felt this lack of reciprocal contact. The broadcasting stations, on the other hand, were in the corresponding predicament that there was no spontaneous reaction from their audiences. They tried to meet this situation by suggesting to their hearers that they let them know by postcard or by letter how they had received the matter sent out and thousands of such postcards and letters have been received by radio stations. The trouble, however, was that they contained commendation or comment on matter long since past and gone and were therefore largely in the nature of post-mortems.

It is not known who started it, but some ingenious person found the remedy for this one defect which stood in the way of complete action and reaction between audience and broadcasting station—and once he had found it, it proved to be, like many such discoveries, extremely simple. He turned to his telephone, called for Western Union and sent a telegram to the broadcasting station expressing his appreciation of the program to which he was listening, and within a few minutes the broadcasting station had received the telegram and in turn was reading it out to its hearers. Here was a live contact between the audience and the station.

MITCHELL FAIR DATES SEPTEMBER 20-21-22

Dates of the Mitchell County Fair for 1923 was announced Monday by J. A. Sadler, president of the fair association, as being September 20, 21 and 22. Sadler stated these dates had been selected following conference with officers and directors of the association. The dates will fall on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

This will place the Mitchell County Fair to be held just one week before the West Texas Fair at Abilene, which opens on Monday, October 1 for one week. It is the plan of the fair association here and the Chamber of Commerce to carry an exhibit from the Mitchell County Fair to the fair at Abilene. Last year the exhibit from this county was awarded third place and a cash prize of $100.

FARM BUREAU FEDERATION HAD GOOD YEAR IN 1922

The State Farm Bureau Association had a successful year in 1922, according to W. W. Porter, secretary of the Mitchell County Bureau, who returned Monday from Dallas where he attended the annual business meeting of the association last week. Other delegates from Mitchell County to the convention were Lee Drake of near Lorraine and Wood Walding of the Longfellow community.

Reports submitted by officials at the convention showed that the association pooled between 70,000 and 80,000 bales of cotton during the present season, Porter stated. Of this number approximately 40,000 bales have been sold at prices entirely satisfactory to the members. Cotton is by no means the only product being handled by the commodity organizations of the Texas Farm Bureau Association, according to Porter. Livestock, poultry, alfalfa hay, syrup, melons and potatoes, represent other commodities pooled successfully last year.

Statistics submitted at the annual meeting showed that during the past year the association lost 43 members by death, while more than 1000 new members were enrolled in the State. Texas headquarters are now in large quarters at St. Louis and Irvin streets, Dallas. Porter stated, and better equipped than ever to handle the affairs of the organization.

LIONS REQUEST COUNTY TO PROVIDE FOR BRIDGE LIGHTS

Following the statement before the Colorado Lions Club Friday at the Barcroft that no provision was being made by the county to install conduits for wiring the new Colorado river bridge, the motion was unanimously adopted that Commissioners' Court be requested to yet place the conduits in the structure. It is understood that the city will maintain lights on the structure, on condition that the county make provision for installing them properly.

F. F. DuBose, bridge engineer, stated Friday that while it was then too late to place conduits for wiring pedestals on either end of the structure, the lights could be installed from the supporting girders to the center.

County Judge Hall stated Friday afternoon when approached in the matter that he had every reason to believe that the commissioners would order the conduits installed. Hall was out of the city several days of this week, but stated he would be represented in negotiating with the contractors by U. D. Wulfjen, commissioner of Precinct No. 1 and president pro-tem of the Commissioners' Court.

Everything Points to the Greatest Spring Demand for Ford Products in Company's History

1,202,517 Ford Cars and Trucks were delivered to retail purchasers in the United States alone during 1922—

Actual deliveries for last month greatly exceeded any previous December in the history of the Ford Motor Company—

It was the ninth consecutive month in which more than 100,000 Ford Cars and Trucks were retailed—keeping the Ford Plants working at capacity to meet dealers' requirements—

In many parts of the country dealers are already finding it necessary to specify later delivery dates on certain types because there are no reserve stocks to draw from—

Commercial users, business houses and farmers, anticipating their future requirements, are placing orders and taking delivery of Ford Cars, Trucks and Fordson Tractors to insure against delay—

Everything points to the biggest shortage of Ford Products this Spring that has ever existed—

The only way you can be sure of obtaining delivery of a Ford Car, Truck or Fordson Tractor is to list your order immediately—

We have given you these facts as they actually exist so that if you are planning to purchase a Ford Car, Truck or Tractor for use this Spring or Summer, you can list your order now and take advantage of our dealer's first opportunity to make delivery.

Dry Check Artist at Big Spring

A stranger worked the 'dry check' game in Big Spring Wednesday and left in an automobile, purchased with one of his worthless checks for parts unknown about 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening. Posing as a restaurant proprietor, here to purchase the Palace Cafe, he purchased a used automobile giving a check for $75 and his note for the balance. Dry checks for gasoline and other things followed. He used the name of Morgan in signing the checks.—Big Spring Herald.

A Five-Minute Sermon on Church Advertising

Did you ever think of the church as a business proposition? Why should a church always be considered a subject for charity? How often have you heard men say: "I don't go to church very often, but when I do go they are always begging for money. That's the reason I don't go often."

It's a narrow point of view, of course, for a church needs money to run it, just the same as a business. But why shouldn't a church be run as a business and be independent and not dependent? It can be, but business methods must be adopted.

All successful businesses advertise. The greatest competitor of the church on Sundays—the movies—advertises liberally. You have attractions in your church. You have a story to tell. You have a minister who can preach with a punch. The "regulars" may know it, but it isn't the "regulars" you want to reach—it's the "irregulars" and the "never-wuzers."

The church should cease to be dependent. It should go after business ministers who have tried it have been well compensated. Suggesting this advertisement should appear in this paper this week.

FIRST REFORMED CHURCH This Sunday Evening at 7:45 THE REV. JOHN KNOX ALLEN, D. D. will preach on "OUR TOWN"

Front Seats Free. Rear Seats, Ten Cents Each. You'll be surprised. Come out and hear a worth-while sermon. A special invitation to all. We would like to see YOU in church. Special music.

Don't you think it would help? Wouldn't it start some talk about the church? Wouldn't the people say, "Well, I guess the church people are waking up?" The cost of the advertisement would be small, but the results would be big.

Think it over. Why shouldn't our churches stand on their own feet and be run in a businesslike way? Why shouldn't the people be educated to the fact that it takes money to run a church, that it is not a charity organization and that people ARE EXPECTED to contribute to it.

What would this town be without churches? You would not live in it, for it wouldn't be a fit place to live in. You need the church. The church needs you and the church needs advertising.

Poultry Expert Outlines Policy For Growing Healthy and Vigorous Birds

It will only be a question of a few weeks before people will be complaining of poor fertility and low hatchability of eggs. This causes a great loss to poultry raisers in Texas each year, running into several million eggs. It is, therefore, well to consider this question before it is too late.

Many people are obliged to keep their chickens confined year after year in small yards. The first thing we would do in a case like this is to make arrangements with some of our friends in the country to raise our breeding stock. Accordingly we would sell some of the eggs from our choicest hens and have them hatched and send them out on the farm to be raised on free range. In this way it is possible to keep up the vigor and health of closely confined stock.

Free range breeding stock produces more fertile eggs and the chicks are stronger and healthier. They are easier to raise with smaller mortality, and they are more profitable after they are raised. Close confinement will mean dead germs in the egg shells at various stages of development during incubation. We are learning every day the importance of allowing breeding stock free range.

A lack of exercise is also a common cause of infertile eggs. To prevent this we use a ten-inch deep litter on the floor in which all of the scratch grains are fed. This litter should be clean, dry, loose and deep, so that the cracked grains will fall down and force the hens to scratch for every particle of the feed. The drinking dishes, dry mash hoppers and nest boxes are all raised at least 18 inches above the floor. This is done to cause the chickens to get more exercise by jumping from the floor up to the nests, dry mash hoppers and drinking vessels. The more exercise they get, the healthier they will be and the more fertile eggs they will produce.

We consider exercise one of the prime essentials to the production of fertile eggs. A very common cause of infertile eggs and also poor hatches is a lack of green food. We consider it important to provide our breeders with an unlimited amount of green food. Green food contains vitamins, an essential to the production of fertile eggs, and healthy chicks. Last year in California poor hatches were so common, and the loss from this source so great that experts were called in to help locate the trouble. The cause was finally diagnosed as lack of green food. As soon as this was provided the trouble was over. This meant several hundred thousand dollars to the farmers and poultry raisers of California. Do not be afraid of feeding your poultry too much green food. Green is an appetizer, aids and increases digestion and contains the vitamins so essential in the production of fertile eggs and vigorous chicks.

Breeding stock that is kept housed all winter can not be expected to produce fertile eggs. Let them run outside all winter. Never confine them in their houses or for even as long as a week at a time. The only exceptions we would make is in very cold and wet weather, when it is well to keep them up for a day or two. It ought not be necessary to coop them for longer than a day or two at a time. In ordinary cold weather they should be allowed to run out. They may not lay quite as well but their eggs will hatch better and the chicks will be much stronger and healthier.

Age of Breeding Stock Yearling hens make the best breeders. Hens that are old generally get too fat when properly fed, and hence will produce many infertile eggs. Pullets that are immature will also produce many infertile eggs, and especially will they produce weak chicks. When the pullets have been laying long enough so that they are producing an egg weighing close to two ounces each, their eggs may be used for hatching purposes. Using old and inactive male birds is another common cause of infertile eggs. When a male bird is more than two or three years old he should be discarded or placed with a very few hens. A mating that is too large, that is, too many females to a male, will also produce many infertile eggs. A mating in which there are too many males will also cause a large number of infertile eggs. Remember that the male bird is one-half of the flock. He should be healthy, vigorous and strong. One that can crow loud and long, and very frequently.

Every winter, if the winter eggs are not gathered often enough, and this results in their getting chilled. Such eggs when they are candled later after they have been in an incubator for a week, will show perfectly clear or infertile. Chilled eggs will always mean a poor hatch. The same applies to overheated eggs. The eggs must be kept in the proper temperature, or they will not hatch properly. The ideal temperature in which to store hatching eggs is as close to 55 degrees as possible. Eggs that are saved for any length of time should be turned once a day.

Eggs that are older than five days should not be used for incubation, and a week or seven days should be the limit. After that time they deteriorate rapidly. Many poor hatches can be traced directly to the fact that the eggs were too old. Some people think eggs three weeks old are fresh eggs. We had one man bring eggs to our hatchery under the impression that any egg under a month old was considered a fresh egg, good for hatching. The fresher the eggs the better. Fresh eggs will develop strong and healthy chicks, old eggs will surely develop weak chicks that are hard to raise.

In feeding breeding stock remember that one of the greatest feeds to produce fertile eggs is milk in any form. Not only will the eggs be more fertile, but the chicks will be larger, stronger and healthier. There is no question about the soundness of this statement. It is an absolute fact. Those that can not secure milk we recommend feeding a commercial feed that contains a percentage of dried buttermilk. An egg mash that contained dried buttermilk is a better feed for breeding stock than one that does not contain this important constituent.

A big crowd witnessed the basketball game between the Sterling and Colorado high school teams last Saturday afternoon. It was the finest game ever witnessed in Sterling. While Colorado outmatched Sterling in height, weight and number, yet they were no match for the lithe-legged, swift armed, keen eyed and clear brained Sterling boys. The Colorado boys are a fine bunch and they did splendid work when they held a score of 4 to Sterling's 15. That they were allowed to score at all is evidence that they are good players. They made the young Sterling Whirlwinds hump themselves to hold down the scores. You have got to hand it to Prof. Reed as being some coach.—Sterling City News-Record.

"SEEING IS BELIEVING," COLORADO MAN DECLARES

Among the citizens of Mitchell County to report to this office this week that an investigation of the present court house had thoroughly convinced them that the only practical solution would be to vote bonds and build a new one was J. C. Hooker. Hooker stated Wednesday that he heard the claims that the old building could be repaired and to satisfy himself went to the building and looked it over.

Hooker found that no misrepresentations had been made through the columns of this paper as to the actual condition of the building and that the claims of it being a fire hazard and beyond repairs were true.

Scores of leading citizens through out the county are learning the true status of the court house proposition and are using their influence to carry the bonds Saturday. It is believed that the bond issue will carry by a good majority, but those who are in favor of the issue cannot afford to be too sure in the matter. There is a strong effort being made to defeat the bonds and very citizen of the county who would support them is urged to get as many out to the polls as possible. Let's make the victory for a greater Mitchell County a decisive one.

At the meeting dates for holding the various fairs in West Texas will be set so as not to conflict, and conferences will be held with representatives of attraction and concession concerns.

Sadler and Ratliff stated before leaving for Abilene that nothing will be left undone by them to make the Mitchell County Fair much bigger and better than last year.

WEST TEXAS MAKING RECORD IN GROWING COTTON
(By Hamilton Wright in West Texas Today)

The editor has for some weeks written to these columns something of the movement that has become ramified and significant pertaining to the vastly increased acreage that will be sown this spring to cotton. As a matter of fact, by way of explanation, it should be mentioned that the growing of cotton in extreme West Texas and along the Pecos Valley in New Mexico has been desultory and insignificant. But the experimentations carried over the period of last year were so signal successful and profitable that it appears at this hour that all East New Mexico and all extreme West Texas will engage in the cotton business on a colossal scale. Such items of development have appeared in several previous articles.

The foundation for branching into a new agricultural venture seems to be the startling success of 1922. For instance, the achievements of a few farmers have turned farmers everywhere about into cotton growers. One case, typical of many, might be interpolated here to show the trend of the times in Eastern New Mexico.

It is Homer Dungan. He lives four mile southeast of Artesia, N. M. On 12 acres he gathered 15 bales of cotton in 1922. Each of the bales weighed 500 pounds. The aggregate brought him over $2000, giving him a net profit of $125 an acre.

True, this cotton was irrigated. But only one watering was necessary to bring the crop to fertilification. This application of water was at the time of planting. In other words, the planting might be resembled to planting after a heavy rain.

For the first time in history Artesia gathered 700 bales of cotton in 1922. But that figure will be extended into the four figures in 1923 with proper seasons. The drift to cotton has been wholesale and instant. Observers at Artesia are of opinion that more cotton will be planted about Artesia in 1923 than in any other one section of New Mexico. If such opinion may be taken as a criterion, New Mexico in 1923 will ascend as mercury in the thermometer and quickly gain an enviable place in the list of the greater cotton producing states of the union.

COMMISSIONERS START COURT HOUSE CAMPAIGN

To members of Commissioners' Court is due credit for starting the campaign to vote bonds with which to build a new Mitchell County court house, it was stated Tuesday by citizens of Colorado who had kept up with the movement from the start. That a new court house was sorely needed and should be built was agitated by members of the court for a year before the election was finally ordered, it was stated.

A member of the committee, appointed at a mass meeting of Mitchell County citizens held here several weeks ago to discuss the needs of a new court house, stated Tuesday that when the petition asking for the election was presented to Commissioners' Court, a member stated, "We have been ready to endorse such an election for a year, but did not desire to take the initiative in the matter, preferring to act only as our constituency directed."

The mass meeting at which resolutions were passed declaring the needs of a new court house and requesting that petitions be circulated asking Commissioners' Court to order a bond election, was attended by representative citizens of the county. Prominent citizens of Lorraine, among them being S. E. Brown, Mayor Ridens, Geo. Hutchins and others, all of whom enthusiastically endorsed the bond campaign.

Three episodes will be shown at a time making five big shows in all. The Best Theatre fully realizes the vast influence such a popular star has over the community and since Jack is such a whole-hearted, sterling, clean man himself, the management has decided to admit all boys whose baptized name is Jack free to these performances. Also all girls whose sweetheart is named Jack will be admitted free, commencing next Monday and Tuesday.

20 INCH RAIN REGISTERED AT COLORADO SATURDAY

Rainfall totaling twenty hundredths of an inch fell at Colorado Saturday night. The rain fell very slowly, practically all of the precipitation going into the ground as it fell. During Sunday and Monday the streets were muddy for the first time since November. A light snow fell Monday morning but melted as fast as it fell.

From Spade came the report Monday that approximately one inch of rain fell there during the night Saturday. In other sections of the county no rain at all fell. D. T. Bozeman of Cathbert was here Monday and stated that no rain fell over that community.

Only five more days, excluding Sunday, January 28th, remain in which taxes may be paid if the taxpayer would eliminate the penalty of ten per cent which will be tacked on to all tax assessments not settled by midnight Wednesday, January 31st. The taxpayer must also obtain a poll tax receipt by that time, or be denied the privilege of voting in any elections which may be held during the year 1923.

A big rush is expected at the tax collector's office during the last two or three days before the expiration date and those who are in the rush should not grumble in case they are asked to wait in line for their turn to settle off.

MITCHELL GIN RECEIPTS 22,187 JANUARY FIRST

Gin receipts in Mitchell County January 1st totaled 22,187 bales, according to a report received Tuesday from the Department of Commerce at Washington. January 1st, one year ago, 22,962 bales had been ginned in the county.

A few weeks ago the Colorado Chamber of Commerce estimated that gin receipts in Mitchell County from the crop of 1922 would approximate 22,000 bales. According to the above figures, the total will be about five hundred bales above that estimate.

BRICK USED IN COURT HOUSE MADE ON GROUND

Brick from which the Mitchell County court house was constructed were made in Colorado at the time the building was erected in 1882, according to citizens of Colorado who were living here at the time. This is given as one of the reasons the old structure is in such poor condition. The brick are claimed to be only common mud brick and not hardened by kiln drying process. Engineers investigating the foundation Tuesday morning found that many of the brick supporting the building were literally decayed and could be easily crumpled into dust. It was found to be an easy matter to push brick out of the foundation with little pressure in several places.

There are other buildings in Colorado made of brick manufactured here. Among them is the old two story building on Walnut street, now owned by Judge Coe. This building was erected about the same time of the present court house.

Queer Feelings
"Some time ago, I was very irregular," writes Mrs. Cora Robie, of Pikeville, Ky. "I suffered a great deal, and knew I must do something for this condition. I suffered mostly with my back and a weakness in my limbs. I would have dreadful headaches. I had hot flashes and very queer feelings, and oh, how my head hurt! I read of CARDUI The Woman's Tonic and of others, who seemed to have the same troubles I had, being benefited, so I began to use it. I found it most beneficial. I took several bottles . . . and was made so much better I didn't have any more trouble of this kind. It regulated me."
Cardui has been found very helpful in the correction of many cases of painful female disorders, such as Mrs. Robie mentions above. If you suffer as she did, take Cardui—a purely vegetable, medicinal tonic, in use for more than 40 years. It should help you. Sold Everywhere. E 90

Early Chicks More Profitable, Former A. & M. Poultry Husbandman Claims

(BY F. W. KAZMEIER)

There is no question in my mind that most people do not appreciate the importance of early hatching. Next Fall and Winter eggs will again be a high price and everybody with chickens will be wanting them to produce great numbers of eggs. Now is the time to prepare for this. Most people, however, are not going to heed this suggestion, bring their chicks off late and next Fall and Winter belong to the complaining list, of those who are not getting any eggs from their chickens, for no apparent reason.

To get good Winter egg production we must have a large flock of early hatched pullets. It seems to be a well established fact that the hens will not produce many eggs during the Fall and early part of Winter, because they are moulting and have not completed the job of renewing their plumage completely. Moulting of hens is very much the same thing as a cow going dry. The dairyman realizes he must have a certain number of cows coming fresh. If a dairyman lets all his cows go dry at the same time he would have considerable trouble getting a year-around supply of milk. He plans ahead and arranges that some cows come in with a new supply of milk throughout the entire year. The poultry man ought to do the same thing. We know that during the fall and winter months eggs are the hardest to get and therefore bring the highest prices.

The early chick is worth three May and June chicks. The successful poultry raiser raises a large number of early chicks and as a result sells broilers and eggs when the majority of people can not do either. For this reason these bring high prices and help to swell the profits. We back up our belief in this by starting our large incubators holding 10,000 eggs at one time. These machines are in operation at this time. We realize that there is money in early chicks, and will raise several thousand early hatched chicks again this year.

We have often heard people say they wish they knew how to get winter layers. In our experience we have found that the best way of getting winter layers is by hatching from hens and pullets that lay in the winter time. If you practice early hatching you can not help but hatch from those that lay in the winter time. This is another reason for practicing early hatching.

If you can not hatch at this time, at least take sufficient interest to go through your flock and leg band all the individuals that lay in the months of December and January. You will find them to be the best layers in the flock and also more able to transmit winter laying ability to their off spring. When you come to making up your breeding pen, use the ones that have leg bands and indicate that they were the ones that had the breeding to produce eggs in December and January. The more eggs a hen or pullet lays in December and January, the better layer she is. Not only will she lay more eggs but she will actually lay many more dollars worth of eggs because an egg in December is worth as much as four or five eggs in April.

We raise each year over 5,000 chicks and always a number of late hatched chicks. We have found that the late hatched chick is not as vigorous and strong. It seems to be hatched in a weaker condition, probably due to the fact that the hen producing the egg is not as strong late in the season after she has produced a large number of eggs than earlier in the season when she has just begun to lay. This is no doubt true. It stands to reason that a hen lays vitality out of her system every time she lays an egg, hence the early egg is sure to produce a stronger chick than the late egg. Every time a hen lays an egg she reduces her vitality for the year until after the moulting time when she takes time to renew her energy, feathers and vigor. The hatching egg in May and June does not produce as strong a chick as the egg laid in February and earlier. For this reason the early hatched chicks invariably do so much better, and the late hatched chicks do so poorly. The late hatched chicks are so often claimed to sleep themselves to death. This is no disease it is nothing other than a lack of vitality. Raise early hatched chickens and avoid all of this trouble and loss. The early hatched chicken is easier to raise, and with a smaller mortality, and after raised makes a more profitable pullet and hen. This has been proven time and again so that it can not be doubted any longer.

We must realize that as a general average in every 100 chicks that will be approximately half cockerels. These must be disposed of early and to advantage. It seldom pays to raise them to maturity, excepting a small number that may be used or disposed of as breeders. The large numbers must be sold on the market. We often hear what are we going to do with all the cockerels? The best thing to do with these cockerels is to market them as broilers when they weigh from 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 pounds. The chicks from the medium and heavy weight breeds may be at certain seasons of the year kept until they weigh as much as two pounds each. The Leghorn broiler should be marketed when he weighs 1 1/4 pounds, because after that he loses in value as a broiler, by developing largely into bones and feathers, making an unprofitable gain and also becoming worth less per pound. A 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 pound Leghorn broiler makes a juicy broiler and brings a good price. They should, however, be sold at that age, because that is the only time a Leghorn cockerel makes a good meat chicken. The early broiler brings from two to four times as much per pound than the late hatched broiler, in fact some times it is a job to sell late hatched broilers at any price. We are not fortunate to be situated close to a good market that a large city affords hence we do not realize the highest prices for our broilers, unless we ship them, which is of course, an added expense. Last year we received 75 cents each for our Leghorn broilers weighing one and one-fourth pounds at our place, people coming out after them, because they could not get them any other place, for all that were hatched in January and February.

March hatched broilers brought 35 cents each and some times more or less. The price was proportionately decreased the later the chicks were hatched. In June we sold broilers weighing one and one-half pounds for as low as 15 cents per pound. So that a late hatched broiler would bring about 25 cents each and early hatched broiler would bring 75 cents each. One early hatched broiler would bring as much as three late hatched broilers. In fact the late hatched broilers are raised and sold at an actual loss, while the early hatched broilers are raised and sold at a handsome profit.

The successful poultry breeder practices early hatches because the early chick develops in time to win at the Fall and Winter shows. The fancier can practice early hatching from this standpoint if for no other. When you see a well developed cockerel and pullet at our fall and early winter shows you may know at once that that chicken was hatched early, and hence won over the late hatched chick. There is no question but that the early hatched chicks will have more chances to win at the shows and poultry exhibitions.

If you study egg laying contest reports you will at once discover that the early chick wins in the majority of cases. The early chick starts laying as soon as it reaches the contest grounds. This gives it a considerable lead, that the late hatched chick seldom can overcome. The late hatched chick can not produce eggs until it is mature, a chicken must be mature before it may be expected to produce eggs.

The most successful poultry raisers produce eggs and chickens when the average man and woman are not on the job. In this way he or she gets a product that can be sold when the market is not flooded and when the produce is scarce and hard to get. At these times or seasons of the year eggs and chickens bring high prices and are in demand.

Not only is the early chick most profitable, but it may be raised with a smaller mortality on account of its superior vitality. Often the late hatched chicks must be sold at an actual loss.

The success of the poultry business to a very large extent depends on early hatching. Get your chicks off and growing early in the year. It is true that Leghorn chicks hatched in January and February may go into a so-called neck moult in September, but even in this case they produce a great number of eggs in July and August and again in November, December and January, and will be far superior to the late hatched chick. Proper care will keep most of the too early hatched pullets from going into a partial moult.

A Hudson automobile, belonging to C. T. Harness, was wrecked when the machine collided with a Buick car being driven by Jack Carter at corner of Fifth and Chestnut streets Tuesday morning. The Hudson car was being driven by Blandford Harness. The Hudson car is said to have turned completely over and landed upright in the street. The other machine was not badly demolished.

How that the Harness boy escaped injury is problematical. He escaped with only minor injuries and a general shake up. Carter was not injured in the compact.

This kind of made me nervous and I couldn't stand the least noise. Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in our family with good results, so I started taking them. WESTBROOK ITEMS.

Young-Griffith.

Sunday evening at 7:30, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cope, Mr. Mart Young and Mrs. Mildred Griffith were united in marriage. Rev. Tatum officiating. Only the family and a few of their most intimate friends were present. Mr. and Mrs. Young left Wednesday morning for their new home near Colorado. They have a wide circle of friends here who wish for them a life of much happiness and prosperity.

The usual good health of our town and community has been greatly shattered by the flu and lagrippe most every home has from one to three cases in it. While quite a few have been real sick, no serious cases have been reported.

L. Hazelwood had the misfortune of breaking his arm just above the wrist Tuesday while cranking a big truck. Mr. Hazelwood was out in the oil field when the accident happened.

S. W. Bernard, who has been in El Paso for the past ten days returned home Tuesday.

W. J. Thomson returned home Tuesday from Tulsa, Okla., after spending several days there on business.

L. H. Murphy has sold the meat market to Jack Stalling, who will take charge at once. Mr. Stalling is planning to open a cafe in connection with the market.

Henry Riley of Breckenridge is having a string of tools unloaded and moved to the California Company's location on the old Hastings section north of the Morrison No. 2. We are told that Mr. Riley has the contract to drill this well.

The Gulf Company has their rig builder here and have most finished their rig four miles north of the Badgett No. 1. They are having tools and camp equipment moved out and will soon be ready to begin drilling. Contractors Airhart & Hasting have about finished delivering rig and tools to the location one and a half miles south of Ira. All the rigs in the Westbrook oil field have made good progress this week and things are moving at Westbrook with a renewed energy. Looks good for a real boom in the near future and already the merchants in Westbrook are realizing what it means to their town as business is real good for this time of the year and is getting better each week.

One thing we need most of any is a supply house to take care of the increasing demand for oil well and pump supplies. We think this is a real good time for some one to get in on the ground floor in this line and it would sure make some one good money.

There is many new faces in our town each day and we cordially invite more at any and all times. Will be ready to assist them in any way possible to help them make good in Westbrook.

Colored Ministers Alliance

The colored ministers alliance met at 11 a. m. Tuesday with president in charge. A song was sung after which prayer was offered by A. Barnes. Scripture lesson Matt. 5:18.

COLORADO MAN WITNESSES MANIAC SHOOT UP TRAIN

S. A. Sloan of Colorado, who left here Thursday night for San Francisco, was a witness to the shooting of three men by a maniac on a west Southern Pacific passenger train in New Mexico Friday. Some time before the man became wild and commenced to shoot at passengers in the car in which he was riding, Sloan had become suspicious of his actions and going to the rear of the train, suggested to the conductor that the man should be watched.

The man, named Sprague, left the train after mortally wounding three men and was later apprehended and shot in a lonely desert twenty-five miles away by a posse of New Mexico and Texas officials and cowboys.

A dispatch from El Paso to the Dallas News Saturday gave the following information concerning the tragedy:

Testimony of S. A. Sloan of San Francisco and Glen C. Hewson of Tucson, contained in the report was declared by railroad officials to give a complete narrative of the murders.

Sloan, who was seated in the smoking car chair, immediately opposite Sprague, prior to the shooting related details of the actions of the demented man of whom he was in fear for some time. A short time before the shooting according to his account, Sloan went to the rear of the train to report to Conductor J. F. Waddell that he feared the man might become violently insane at any moment. Waddell, according to his story, mentioned the matter to Turner, who was seated in the car, and requested that he go to the smoking car and watch the insane man until he completed taking of a number of tickets. Turner complied immediately and accompanied Sloan to the smoking car where he seated himself two seats behind Sprague while Sloan returned to a seat opposite Sprague.

The demented man, who had been addressing persons passing by in the car with the request that he be permitted to return to his home in Mobile to his wife and seven children, addressed a number of remarks to Turner.

Sprague demanded that he be permitted to leave the train and declared that Turner and others in the train were trying to kill him and had been since the night before.

Turner replied that he and the others were friends. Without further argument, Sprague drew an automatic revolver and fired at Turner, the first shot went directly through the heart, causing instant death.

Walking to the front of the car, the demented man fired point blank at Brown, killing him instantly, and walked causally to the other end of the car and fired a third shot, killing P. O. Cochran. Neither of the victims was given an opportunity for resistance or fight. Sprague walked to the vestibule and reloaded his gun.

Alighting from the train, Sprague fled across the desert. When last seen after the shooting he appeared to be staggering as if exhausted from the hard running.

EXTENSION DEPT. OFFICIAL PLEASED WITH WORK HERE

Miss Helen M. Swift of College Station, district supervisor of home demonstration work, spent Thursday at Colorado on business. Miss Swift was highly pleased with the progress being made in Mitchell County under direction of Miss Laceywell.

"You have one of the most progressive counties within my district," the supervisor stated. "It is out of the ordinary for one of our agents to make the showing you have in this county in so short a time. I visited several of the rural communities today and find the boys and girls and women keenly interested in the work and I have the full confidence that much good will result."

Miss Swift praised the County Federation, the Colorado Civic League and other organizations for co-operation with the county home demonstration agent. "No matter how hard our agents may work and how efficient they may be," Miss Swift stated, "they cannot do creditable work unless given co-operation by the people they are striving to serve."

Miss Swift left Colorado Thursday night for Lubbock and stated she planned visiting a number of West Texas counties before returning to College Station.

OIL NEWS AS REPORTED BY THE BIG SPRING HERALD

Material for derrick, etc., for the Gulf Production Company's Crawford No. 1 on lot 14 O'Keefe subdivision in Mitchell County, is now being moved to location and drilling on this test should be started shortly. This location is about two miles north of the Badgett No. 1 which has been attracting much attention as a salt water gusher and gasser.

Petroleum gas continues to issue from this well along with the daily output of about 6,000 barrels of the saltiest water ever encountered. The gas at this well continues to burn but can now be controlled.

Rig is up on the location of the Lou-Tex Company on the line of Mitchell and Scurry Counties.

The new test well on the Marcus Snyder ranch, to be drilled by Snyder-Looney and associates, is being spudded in this week.

The rig for Ray Knight's Dupree No. 1, on Sec. 33, block 29, has been completed and drilling will soon be under way.

The Coleman well No. 1 is being plugged back and will be given a shot between 2730 and 2780 feet. This well has been standing 2200 feet in oil and it is thought it can be made to flow after the shot.

They are still endeavoring to shut off the water in Smith No. 1 so drilling can be resumed.

The California Company is drilling on their Richardson No. 1, south of Colorado, below 2250 feet.

The Magnolia Company is making steady progress on their Foster No. 1, south of Iatan.

Underwriters' Morrison No. 3, near Morrison No. 2, the steady producer, is drilling below 360 feet.

Considerable interest now centers on McDowell No. 4 of the General Petroleum Co., on the McDowell ranch south of Big Spring.

The attempt to form a base on which to set casing by pouring concrete into this well, about Christmas time, proving unsuccessful a second attempt was made, but it was found that this also proved unsuccessful when the well was examined after the cement had been allowed to remain undisturbed nearly fourteen days.

H. D. Conley, one of the trustees, who is in charge of operations here, then decided that they would attempt to shut off the water by means of a packer. The packer was immediately ordered and has been installed and if it is successful in eliminating the water trouble we should be able to know within the next few days whether or not McDowell No. 4 is going to be a real oil well.

The most promising oil sand possible has been encountered and if the water can be successfully eliminated there is every reason to believe that an oil field will be developed in that territory.

The crew at the Enders-Cushing well No. 1 on the W. F. Cushing ranch, southeast of here have been trying to recover a joint of casing lost in this well. They were successful in fishing portions of this casing—one section about sixteen feet in length and an eighteen inch length. It was decided to drill up the small section remaining in the well. When this is completed and the hole deepened a trifle, the task of setting casing to cut off the water will be undertaken.

H. H. Enders, president of the company, and those on the job are confident that this well is going to be brought in a producer.

ABILENE FIRE CHIEF IS INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Two bills of indictment, one charging transportation of intoxicating liquor and the other theft of an automobile casing, were returned against Frank Ferrier fire chief and fire marshal of Abilene by the Taylor County grand jury in session last week, it became known Monday. Bond in the sum of $500 was set Monday by District Judge W. R. Ely. In the case in which transportation of liquor is charged and Mr. Ferrier made bond. The other case has been transferred to the county court of Taylor county and has not yet been set.

Ferrier has been head of the department for the last several months, and prior to that time was on the police force there. He is well known throughout this section of the state.

Announcing the Continuance of Business of

Campbell's

(Incorporated)

AND OUR PLANS FOR IMMEDIATE RE-STOCKING THE STORE WITH NEW SPRING GOODS

Buyers now on the way to New York and other Northern and Eastern markets to select New Spring Merchandise for every section of the store.

The announcement that this store is going to "carry on" under the same ownership and management, tho in a larger way, will be welcome news to thousands of its patrons as well as the public at large in this city and the country around.

Our efforts to dispose of the store have not been met by an offer which we considered at all reasonable, thus leaving us but one course to pursue in the premises—restock the store and continue business.

When we announced our intention of going out of business, we planned to reduce the stock to about its present proportions, and then sell it in bulk to someone who would continue the business. The first part of the plan was successfully carried out. However, we were unable to secure a satisfactory offer for the stock and fixtures, therefore, we have decided to buy new stock for all departments and resume our activities with renewed zeal.

And now there is a brighter side to the picture; while our plans could not be carried out to their logical conclusion, the benefits resulting from the attempt have been beyond calculation. We refer to the recent successful sale, which has been of untold advantage to thousands who attended, and who secured their winter needs at a tremendous lowering of prices. To us it means the almost complete clearance of winter merchandise, thereby placing our stock in the best possible shape for the arrival of new Spring goods which are soon to take the place of the old.

In continuing the business we pledge anew the service and satisfaction which our patrons know so well and have learned to depend on at all times. To those who become our customers, dealing with us for the first time, we offer our record of the past and a pledge of service and value never excelled, bending every effort to offer you the best possible values always.

Our ledgers will be opened tomorrow and we solicit all prompt paying 30-day charge accounts. Merchandise charged during the remainder of this month will appear on February bills. However, in the future all accounts will be due the first of the month following date of purchase.

With unwavering faith in the policies we have pursued and which are in large measure responsible for the success of this store, we feel justified in announcing the continuance of Campbell's—the Store of "Quality, Value, Service." Abilene's Leading Department Store.
