

HUNT REVIVAL IS CLOSED AFTER 2 WEEKS SERVICES

The revival campaign conducted at Union Tabernacle during the two weeks ending Sunday was closed Sunday night by Dr. J. W. Hunt, president of McMurry College of Abilene. In his closing statements to the large number of people which crowded the building, Dr. Hunt expressed his sincere appreciation of the splendid co-operation accorded him and his song and musical leader, Sallie McCreless.

"I never regretted to close a revival more acutely than I do to end these services here tonight," he stated. "It has come to point where it requires a three weeks meeting for a city the size of Colorado. Somehow, men are becoming harder to reach than ever before, and with the interest manifested here tonight, I confidently believe that a great religious awakening would sweep this little city if we could only continue the meeting into next week. However, I cannot stay here all summer."

Both Dr. Hunt and the pastor, Rev. J. F. Lawlis, declared that the campaign had been more successful than outward indications would suggest. There was not an unusually large number of conversions and additions to the churches of the city, but the Christian people were awakened to a sense of their duty. At conclusion of the service Sunday morning, about fifty people pledged to establish family altar about their hearthstones again. At conclusion of the young people service at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon, about forty boys and girls and young men and young women consecrated themselves for religious work and formed a society to be known as "I Am Third." In taking the pledge admitting them into this circle, these young Christians declared that they would place God first, others second and self third in their life and work in the future.

The Christian college and the Christian home were heralded Sunday morning as the real foundation upon which the American people should build their government and society, if these are to stand. Going back to the early pioneer days of West Texas, Dr. Hunt gave in his gripping interest an impressive mental picture of arrival of the Quaker colonists who settled old Estacado, the frontier settlement in which the new college president grew to manhood and received his Christian training and education.

It was in June, 1881, that those hardy Christian pioneers, mounted the caprock and penetrated into the broad expanse of the Plains, where nothing except an occasional dug-out, the buffalo, prairie wolf and other wild life greeted them, and founded the settlement now known as Estacado.

Dr. Hunt told of the hardships and privations endured by those people during these early days. "The first lumber to be hauled out of Colorado City by those settlers was not to construct a store or a home or even a school," he declared, "but was to erect a church in which they and their children were to meet and worship God. I shall never forget, though only a mere boy, that first service we

HOWARD AND TAYLOR GIVE MAJORITIES TO ROBERTSON

Judge Robertson carried Howard county for governor by a majority of 121 votes, according to returns received by the Chamber of Commerce Saturday night. The Dallas candidate also carried Taylor county by a majority of 450 votes.

Mrs. Ferguson carried Nolan county by a vote of 1391 to 1373. She received a majority of 38 votes in Sweetwater.

Roy Warren, tax assessor, stated Monday that the work of making up the 1924 tax rolls would be completed by August 15th. This work was begun two weeks ago.

FIRST BALE 1924 COTTON RECEIVED LAST WEEK

O. D. Welch of several miles south of Colorado brought the first bale of 1924 cotton to Colorado late Thursday of last week. The bale was ginned by the Farmers Gin Company and sold to A. J. Coe at 27½ cents per pound. A cash premium of $25 was paid Mr. Welch by the Chamber of Commerce. The bale weighed 525 pounds.

Cotton will be coming in to Colorado regularly by the end of this week. Scores of farmers throughout the Colorado territory started picking this week and the crop is reported to be opening rapidly. Production in Mitchell county will be cut short from that of last year, owing to deterioration of the crop by continued hot dry weather.

CLIFTON HINES DIES AT MIDLAND FRIDAY NIGHT

Clifton Hines, 18, son of H. C. Hines of a few miles north of Colorado, died at the home of a sister at Midland Friday night following an illness lasting but a short time. Dr. T. J. Ratliff of Colorado, family physician, was called to Midland at midnight Wednesday to operate on the young man in the hope to save his life, but he gradually sank until the end came. The body was received here Saturday morning by J. H. Greene.

Funeral services were conducted at the family residence Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock by Rev. A. D. Leach. The body was buried at I. O. O. F. Cemetery.

EXCAVATIONS ON CHESTNUT STREET BEGUN TUESDAY

Curb and gutter lines were completed on Chestnut street Monday and the contractor started a crew of workmen excavating Tuesday to bring the street to grade preparatory to paving. The street grade is being lowered about two feet at Chestnut and Third street intersection.

SPEAKERS DENOUNCE KLAN AT RALLY HERE

The Invisible Empire, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, was denounced as the worst menace confronting the American people during the past fifty years by Judge R. H. Looney, mayor of Colorado, and Senator Joe Burkett of Eastland in addresses delivered by them at a Ferguson rally at Union Tabernacle Friday afternoon. Senator Burkett came to Colorado under auspices of the Colorado Ferguson club.

The rally was called to order by Col. C. M. Adams, who introduced Mayor Looney. After a brief address setting forth some of the conditions with which the Klan is charged and denouncing the organization as an outstanding menace to government and society in America, Judge Looney introduced Senator Burkett, who spoke for more than an hour.

Burkett was strong in his denunciation of the Klan and Judge Felix D. Robertson, candidate for governor carrying the stamp of approval of the organization. He charged that the issue of prohibition brought into the campaign by the Ku Klux Klan and its candidate was misleading and fostered for no other purpose than to sidetrack the real issue and elect their candidate as chief executive.

"The prohibition question has been settled in Texas and in America and the open saloon will never come back," he declared. "Zeke Marvin, leader of the invisible empire in this State, is retailing more whiskey from one of his Dallas drug stores than some of the open saloons used to sell." At this point Burkett quoted figures showing the number of pints of whiskey sold by Marvin last year, and the retail price received for same.

"When Mrs. Ferguson becomes governor of Texas, one of the first things she is going to do will be to close up the drug store saloons in this State," Burkett stated. The speaker was frequently applauded as he flayed the Ku Klux Klan and Judge Robertson. His address was heard by about 500 local citizens, many of whom were ladies.

HUNDREDS CHEER AS 'MA'S' LEAD MAINTAINS INCREASE

Two thousand people were attracted to the downtown district Saturday night to watch returns from the election as received and posted on bulletin board by the Chamber of Commerce. Like the campaign had been during the past two weeks, interest continued unabated and the crowd literally stood in the street for hours eagerly awaiting each revised report of the State election, which was received every fifteen minutes until 10 o'clock from the Texas Election Bureau at Dallas.

"Ma" Ferguson was shown to be leading Felix D. Robertson for governor when the first report was received from Dallas at 7:20, twenty minutes after the polls had closed. This report was issued at Dallas at 7:15, giving incomplete returns from thirteen counties. As the returns were posted on the board every subsequent fifteen minutes, Mrs. Ferguson's lead maintained a gradual increase and at 2 o'clock Sunday morning, when the Texas Election Bureau closed for the night, she was shown to have a majority of 78,000 votes.

It was evident that the Ferguson supporters were more strongly represented in the surging street throng than her opponent. From time to time as the bulletin was revised, showing the "sun-bonnet" candidate the recipient of a landslide, the night was filled with shouts of approval. As the night wore on, the Robertson supporters on the street gradually became less and less until the enthusiastic crowd became dominantly Ferguson adherents.

Returns from the state election were received jointly by the Chambers of Commerce at Colorado and Lorraine. The returns were received by telegraph at Lorraine and immediately relayed to Colorado by telephone. The service was much improved over that given the public four weeks ago on the night of the July primary.

As early as 9:30 Saturday night it had been determined that Charlie Thompson had defeated Judge Coe for county judge. Thompson carried Colorado, Lorraine, Westbrook and Spade by substantial majorities, running up a majority of more than five hundred votes. H. C. Doss was conceded the nominee for county treasurer when returns from Colorado, Lorraine and Westbrook had been received. Out of the returns received Saturday night, Doss was shown to have carried every box in the county except Westbrook. G. D. Foster maintained a steady lead over Mrs. Stella E. Bennett for county superintendent, running up a majority of over two hundred votes before complete returns had been tabulated.

Returns received before the local election bureau was closed for the night showed that Mrs. Ferguson had carried every box in the county except Westbrook, rolling up a majority of 344 votes over Judge Robertson. She carried Colorado by 114 votes and Lorraine by 110 votes. Out of 45 votes polled at Carr, Ferguson received 40 and Robertson only received three votes out of 44 polled at Landers. Robertson carried Westbrook by a vote of 116 to 77.

Lorraine polled the largest vote in its history, exceeding the number registered in the July election by 35. At Colorado the total reached 1,008, as compared with 1,015 in the July election. The Texas Election Bureau at Dallas estimated Sunday that the total vote polled in the State would establish a new record, exceeding 800,000.

NEW TESTS TO BE DRILLED IN OIL FIELD IN OCTOBER

According to preliminary plans of operators in the Mitchell County oil field, a number of new tests are to be drilled during the coming fall and winter season at locations to be made in October. Development is progressing slowly in the field at the present, due largely to the continued dry weather which curtailed the available water supply. At least five new locations are expected to be made during the month of October.

THOMPSON DEVELOPS BIG LEAD OVER COE FOR JUDGE

Chas. C. Thompson developed the strongest lead of any other candidate in the run-off primary election in Mitchell county Saturday, defeating his opponent, Judge A. J. Coe, for county judge by a majority of 524 votes.

Thompson received a total of 1,382 votes and Judge Coe 858 votes. Thompson carried Colorado by a majority of 301, he receiving 644 votes and Judge Coe 343. At Lorraine the vote for Thompson developed a more than two to one ratio. He received 464 votes and Judge Coe 223.

Thompson carried Westbrook 102 to 93, Spade 56 to 27, and McKenzie 10 to 4. Judge Coe carried Cuthbert by a vote of 55 to 33, Iatan 7 to 1, Landers 22 to 20, Carr 30 to 16 and Buford 54 to 36. By the above returns it is shown that out of the ten voting precincts in the county, five were carried by each of the two candidates for county judge.

G. D. Foster of Colorado received a majority of 275 votes for county school superintendent, defeating Mrs. Stella E. Bennett of Lorraine. Foster carried Colorado by a vote of 995 to 293, Westbrook 110 to 88, Spade 51 to 32, and Buford 78 to 16. Mrs. Bennett carried Lorraine 435 to 249, McKenzie 8 to 7, Cuthbert 46 to 41, Iatan 5 to 3, Landers 34 to 11 and Carr 30 to 17.

H. C. Doss is shown to have received a majority of 208 votes over Ocie Green for county treasurer. Doss carried Colorado 588 to 410, Lorraine 334 to 317, Spade 46 to 33, McKenzie 12 to 2, Cuthbert 53 to 24, Landers 29 to 18, Carr 24 to 21 and Buford 50 to 35. Green carried Westbrook 119 to 76 and Iatan 5 to 3.

The above figures are not official but are taken from returns received Saturday night by the Chamber of Commerce election bureau. It is believed that little change, if any, will be noted when tabulation of returns are made officially by the county executive committee, which is to be convened in Colorado Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Ferguson carried Colorado and Lorraine with substantial majorities over Judge Robertson for governor, but lost Westbrook and a few of the smaller boxes. The total vote for governor was, Ferguson 1234, Robertson 885, placing Ferguson's lead in Mitchell County at 344 votes.

Will Edwards, for lieutenant governor, and Dan Moody, for attorney general, developed strong leads over their opponents in this county. Edwards carried Colorado by a vote of 489 to 391 received by Barry Miller, his opponent. He carried Lorraine by a vote of 340 to 266. Moody received 676 votes at Colorado and Ward, his opponent, 181. At Lorraine Moody received 488 votes and Ward 118.

CREATION OF SECOND WARD SOUGHT BY LOCAL VOTERS

The need for creation of the second voting ward in Colorado is sorely felt, according to the Chamber of Commerce and county officials and it is very probable that steps toward creating another voting precinct here will be started within the near future. Total voting strength of the precinct is now 1300, making the work of handling the election by one election board very difficult. Election officers were until midnight Saturday completing returns of the election.

Sweetwater polled only 1228 votes for governor Saturday and there are three voting wards within the city.

DR. HUNT TURNS OFFERING INTO COLLEGE TREASURY

An offering of $548 taken Sunday for Dr. J. W. Hunt, president of McMurry College, as an expression of appreciation for the services he had given the community during the revival campaign closed by him here Sunday night, was diverted into the college treasury by him. He gave expression of his sincere appreciation of this consideration and stated that the money would be given the college.

DR. HUNT APPLAUDED AS HE FLAYS JOE BURKETT

Dr. J. W. Hunt, president of McMurry College, Abilene, was liberally applauded at Union Tabernacle Friday night during the religious services for the hour when he stopped to pay his respects to Senator Joe Burkett and Jim Ferguson and the Ku Klux Klan. The statements of Dr. Hunt came in rebuttal to an address delivered at the tabernacle that afternoon by Senator Burkett, in which Judge Felix D. Robertson and the Klan were assailed by the visiting speaker and Mayor Looney of Colorado.

"I know Joe Burkett," Dr. Hunt shouted after referring to some of the statements made by him and other Ferguson adherents during the campaign. "Why did not Burkett meet me here on this platform in joint debate?" Hunt challenged as he flayed the Ferguson speaker and Jim Ferguson and now then dropped a phrase of praise for the Klan. "You could not tie enough log chains on him or drag him onto this platform to meet me in a discussion of the issues at stake."

As the college president continued to pay his respects to the Ferguson line-up and speak words of commendation for Judge Robertson, the applause became more liberal, especially among those near the speakers platform, causing the meeting to assume the proportions of an interesting political rally.

Several times during the revival campaign, which closed Sunday night, Dr. Hunt had referred to the gubernatorial campaign from the platform. Judging from statements made by him, his attitude toward Ferguson and the Klan had resulted in some criticism among the Ferguson adherents. In expressing his appreciation for co-operation in the revival Sunday night, Dr. Hunt stated that the knockers, too, had done much to augment attendance and interest in the services. "If the meeting had continued a few days longer," he stated, "the knockers would have caused the crowds to become so large as to not be able to get under this tabernacle."

MITCHELL COTTON CROP IS MUCH BENEFITTED BY RAIN

The rain which covered Mitchell county Monday night will result in much benefit to the cotton crop, assuring a production of several thousand bales above the estimate of a few days ago, H. L. Atkins, county farm agent, stated Wednesday. Atkins, after making a careful study of crop conditions throughout the county, now places the 1924 cotton production estimate at from 25,000 to 28,000 bales.

"The estimate is based on normal fall season," Atkins stated. "In the event we have additional rain as needed, and the fall season is favorable for maturing a late crop, this county will harvest not less than 32,000 bales from the acreage we have in cotton. Of course we cannot depend too strongly upon the weather man in withholding the first injurious frost until a good top crop has had ample time to mature. An early frost, which we sometimes have in this part of the State, would, of course, cut the crop short."

"Then, too, with heavy rains during the remainder of the growing season we may expect some deterioration to the crop from depredation by the leaf worm, which has already made his appearance in scattered localities over the county. With proper precaution, however, upon the part of the grower we may reasonably expect to stop the worms in the event they do begin attacks upon the cotton."

The farm agent was elated Wednesday afternoon over prospects of this county making a creditable agricultural showing at the State Fair of Texas at Dallas in October. "I am finding some of the best specimens of grain sorghums on Mitchell county farms this week I have ever seen growing anywhere," he stated. "As to the cotton and other crops required in the score card, I am how of the belief we can carry a much better collection of field products to Dallas this year than we did last fall." Atkins stated that R. P. Price, chairman of the agricultural division of the Colorado Chamber of Commerce, had given his endorsement to sending the proposed exhibit to Dallas, in case a showing of real merit could be made.

The rain, which began falling shortly after midnight Monday morning, continued slowly for more than two hours and is reported to have been general over the county. At Colorado the rain gauged 81 hundredths of an inch. As much as an inch fell in some communities. It was the best rain to fall in this county in several weeks and already is reflecting on business conditions at Colorado, in that merchants and bankers are predicting a much larger crop production in the Colorado territory than previously estimated.

During the week local showers have fallen in some localities. Wednesday night another general rain fell over the county. The rain here Wednesday night gauged 71 hundredths of an inch, placing total for the week at 1.52 inches.

T. W. Stonerod, active vice president of the City National Bank, stated Wednesday afternoon that it was difficult to place an estimate on the value of the rain to crops. The small bolls will now mature, he outlined, and with a favorable fall Stonerod believes that cotton production will go to almost 30,000 bales.

Joe H. Smoot, cashier of the Colorado National Bank, is even more optimistic and states that he would not be surprised in case Mitchell County produces a 32,000 bale crop, depending, of course, upon additional rain and favorable conditions during the remainder of the growing season. Smoot recalled the unfavorable conditions prevalent during much of the summer last year, when the cotton crop was considered to be rapidly deteriorating from lack of moisture, but that a 30,500 bale crop was gathered.

Colorado merchants who have purchased heavily for the fall trade, and most of them have, are wearing a broad smile in anticipation of one of the best business seasons the retail trade at Colorado has had in years.

WEST TEXAS ELECTRIC CO.

FERGUSON'S LEAD HOVERS CLOSE 100,000 MAJORITY

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson's majority over Judge Felix D. Robertson for the democratic nomination for governor will reach at least 100,000 votes, according to a statement made by the Texas Election Bureau at Dallas Thursday. At that time Mrs. Ferguson's lead over the Dallas jurist was hovering around that number, with additional scattering returns to be received from some remote sections of the State.

Unquestionably this has been the most hectic and unique political campaign in the history of Texas, a campaign that attracted the eyes of the entire Nation, for it involved a woman candidate for Governor, a fight to a finish with the Ku Klux Klan and the husband of the woman candidate, James E. Ferguson, a colorful, dramatic figure for 10 years in Texas politics, "Farmer Jim" who was rated as a millionaire when he became Governor, who was impeached, who went broke, and who fought for seven years for vindication. It was "Jim" who led the fight to put "Ma" in the Governor's chair when the state executive committee and the Supreme Court refused to let his name go on the ticket.

The Fergusons made the issue the Ku Klux Klan, while Robertson made prohibition his chief campaign cry.

More stump speakers were turned loose in Texas in this campaign than in any previous gubernatorial contest. All of Robertson's opponents, in the first primary, of which there were eight, excepting George Dixon of Houston, threw their forces, their sinews and their voices in behalf of the woman candidate when Robertson and "Ma" Ferguson eliminated them. Robertson in public address admitted that he was indorsed by the Klan and that he was proud of it. The fight in its last days saw a break up of that powerful bloc led by the Love-Ball-Sells-Hicks quartet, the first two going to the Robertson camp and the last two enlisting under the Ferguson banner.

"It is the hood against the sunbonnet," yelled the Fergusonians. "Give us the bonnet."

"It is the whisky ring fighting good government," came back Robertson adherents. "No Ma for us; too much Pa."

But the hood lost to the sunbonnet.

Most of Mrs. Ferguson's strength was drawn from East and West Texas, where there is a large rural vote. In East Texas the Temple woman probably received 80 per cent of T. W. Davidson's first primary strength Robertson depended upon Dallas, McLennan and Tarrant Counties for his biggest showing, these counties being Klan strongholds.

Nevertheless the Temple candidate gathered more votes in Dallas, Tarrant and McLennan Counties than most political wiseacres expected.

McLennan County, former home of Robertson, accorded him a 2,000 lead. Bexar County went into the Ferguson column by a 4,000 majority, while Jefferson, former home of V. A. Collins, who vigorously fought Robertson on the stump, went for Robertson by 2,000. In the first primary Jefferson went to Robertson. No city in Texas witnessed such a determined fight as the one waged in Houston by cohorts of both camps and the returns reflect the contest for it is close.

Bosque County, where both Ferguson and Senator Earle B. Mayfield own farms, went to "Ma" Ferguson by 1,000.

Wichita County, where one of the largest votes was polled, and which was claimed by both Robertson and Ferguson, went to the latter by a little less than 1,000, according to late returns.

Here are some of the West Texas Counties that went into the Ferguson column: Runnels, Wichita, Haskell, Shackelford, McCulloch, Floyd, Hale, El Paso, Tom Green, Concho, Llano, Hardeman, Dickens, Mitchell, Callahan, Jones, Stephens, Wise, Cottle, Clay, Mason, Brown, Eastland.

Here are some of the East Texas counties that went for Mrs. Ferguson: Titus, Gregg, Cass, Henderson, Delta, Collin, Fannin, Harrison.

West Texas counties that stuck to Robertson include Potter, home of Adjutant General Barton, who opposed the judge; Hall, Donley, Lubbock, Parker. In the latter county Robertson was only 40 votes ahead, however. Other counties so far in the Robertson column are Hays, Bee, Smith, Anderson, Ellis County, won by Robertson in July, flopped over to Mrs. Ferguson by more than 1,000 while Fannin, also a strong Robertson county in July, also switched over to "Ma," giving her a lead of 1,200.

Where Robertson really lost was in the cities of Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco and Houston, where he was expected to land such a big vote that it would overcome the rural strength of Ferguson. While he led in those cities, his totals fell below the expectations of his campaign managers. Robertson was down town in Dallas Saturday night, remaining until 11:30 to hear the returns, and then, accompanied by his wife, went home refusing to make any comment whatever upon the contest.

HUNT REVIVAL IS CLOSED AFTER 2 WEEKS SERVICES

(Continued from first page) held in that church. The floor was not in place, but those Quaker families, my father and mother and their children being a member, met and sitting around on the floor joists sang those good old songs and listened intently as the old fashioned preacher told of the greatness and goodness of God.

From that beginning, a community noted for its progress and religious piety soon sprang into being. A college was built and men who had been educated in some of the leading institutions of the East were brought to instruct the young men and women in both the arts and sciences and the duty of religious living. Dr. Hunt was a member of the first class to graduate from this pioneer West Texas college.

In praising the Christian colleges of America for the part they have had in furnishing men and women to guide the destiny of the republic, Dr. Hunt stated that for the most part the real leaders had come from Christian colleges. "Woodrow Wilson, Harding, Bryan and others of their type came from the college in which the ideals of Christianity were considered along with literary training," he said. "There has never been a prohibition law written in Texas but whose writer was a man who one day stood as a boy to receive his diploma from such colleges as Baylor, Southwestern, Austin and T. C. U." Dr. Hunt declared Sunday night that he was proud of the charge made by some here that he was a "political preacher." "Jeremiah, and others of the outstanding prophets of the Old Bible, and Jesus Christ and his strongest followers in New Testament times denounced in terms to be understood the evil practices of the powers holding authority," he stated, "and the real supporters of the Christian religion will continue to denounce these evils so long as time shall last."

At conclusion of the last services a class of children were received for membership into the church. Rev. Mr. Lawlis announced that these, together with others are to be taken into the church Sunday morning at conclusion of the 11 o'clock service.

ATTORNEY STARTS BUGABOO TO GET SOME PUBLICITY

Declaring that the run-off primary Saturday so far as the nomination for governor is concerned is illegal, Charles M. Dickson, San Antonio attorney, Friday filed a petition with Frank C. Davis, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, asking that the committee refrain from canvassing the vote in the run-off and that another primary be held for the purpose of nominating a governor "according to law."

The petition will be taken before the State executive committee of the Democratic party at a meeting Sept. 1st, according to Chairman Davis. In the event of the petition is turned down, Dickson says he will instigate immediate action in district court.

The petition attacks the eligibility of Mrs. Ferguson for governor saying she could not serve, if elected. The constitution, and laws of Texas do not make any provision for a woman being governor, the petition claims. It also says she could not serve as governor because her name "got on the primary ballot by mere subterfuge, and that in fact her husband, James E. Ferguson is seeking the nomination for governor."

Dickson also claims that both Mrs. Ferguson and her opponent, Judge Felix Robertson, have failed to comply with the provisions of the election law of Texas relative to receipts and expenditures made for campaign purposes. He says neither are entitled for this reason to have their names on the official ballot of the run-off primary.

County Judge J. C. Hall and family have returned from Cloudcroft, New Mexico, where they spent several days on vacation.

I take it that you know whether you want to buy a monument from me or not. Therefore, I do not bore any one. I take pleasure in quoting you prices and showing you my designs whether you buy from me or not. I shall be glad to take my designs into your home for your inspection. I have been putting up monuments in Colorado, Loraine, Big Spring, Westbrook, Teesville and surrounding country since the fall of 1911. Write, phone or see me.

APPEAL FOR PROTECTION OF BOYS MADE BY SPEAKER

An appeal for protection of the boys from evil associations was made by J. E. Lewis of Dallas, field representative of the Y. M. C. A., in an address at the Lions Club Friday. Lewis charged that many times the boy was confronted with a double standard of morals by his father—the father advising his son to do one thing and then the parent turning away and himself doing the opposite.

The club established a precedent in poor attendance records Friday. Out of a membership of 40, 21 were reported absent. President E. H. Wign and members of the club who were present expressed their keen disappointment over this condition and urged that truant members be induced to attend the weekly luncheon meeting more regularly. It was stated that one reason for so many absentees was in the fact that several Lions were out of the city.

THE CRISTOVAL ENCAMPMENT

The Record man and some fifteen or twenty others from Colorado attended the Cristoval Encampment and spent a very pleasant ten days in camp on the banks of the Concho. July 6th to 16th has been set as the dates for meeting of the Cristoval Baptist Encampment next year. With a daily attendance of from 5,000 to 7,000 people, the Cristoval Baptist Encampment which had been in session for ten days, came to a successful close on Sunday night.

Charles Forbes Taylor, the English boy evangelist of Pasadena, was the principal speaker and by his earnest, soul-stirring sermons, and magnificent singing and beautiful whistling brought thousands to hear him day and night. His sermon on "How Many Monkeys Does it Take to Make a Man?" was listened to with rapt attention by fully 5000 people who indorsed his unanswerable stand against evolution.

Sunday morning a fund of about $3,800 was raised to pay the indebtedness of the encampment which was oversubscribed. Collections were made Sunday afternoon to pay expenses of Evangelist Taylor and he was also presented with a substantial birthday offering.

Dr. C. E. Burtis of Nashville, Tenn., director of the 1925 program of the Southern Baptist Convention, made an address Sunday at 11 covering plans of closing of the Baptist 75 Million campaign by November 29th.

Rev. E. F. Lyon, who is pastor First Baptist church at Vernon, declined to serve as president of the encampment any longer as he now resides outside of the territory covered by encampment and he thought the position should be filled by a local man. Rev. George W. McCall, pastor of First Baptist church, of San Angelo, was elected as president of the Cristoval Baptist Encampment Association.

The vice presidents of the encampment re-elected are: Revs. Millard A. Jenkins, Abilene; E. E. Dawson, Coleman; C. G. Howard, Cisco; Buren Sparks, Brady; W. C. Wilks, Brownwood. Four new vice-presidents are: Revs. H. H. Stephens, Winters; Alvin Swindell, Ballinger; M. C. Bishop, Colorado; J. H. Heard, Big Spring.

The Record has the largest stock of school supplies and at less price than last year.

Got the Result

Mr. Charles Moore, 2415 Eakin St., Dallas, well-known Texas citizen, says Karnak, the sensational new medicine, has freed him of two years of acute suffering from stomach trouble. "Indigestion and bloating had me so I couldn't draw a deep breath," says Mr. Moore, "and I was simply afraid to eat. I had to be always taking strong purgatives, too, and was so weak I could hardly get around. Karnak has fixed me up strong and well and for the first time in two years I eat anything I want. Karnak is a great medicine."

Baptist Revival. Under the leadership of Rev. Jno. G. Winsett, one of our well-known evangelists, the Baptist revival is progressing with marked interest. The Christian people are "betting on the line for God" as they listen to the earnest appeals of this consecrated man of God. The special prayer services are soul-thrilling. The young people in goodly numbers meet at the Baptist church every evening for a season of prayer. Come and enjoy the blessings with us. You will never regret giving back to God a few of the many hours He has so graciously given you. A gospel singer, Mr. Carroll of Seminary Hill, Ft. Worth, ably directs the music. Among the visiting workers this week are Mrs. MFT Osgood and Rev. and Mrs. Green of Big Spring, Rev. Ashford of Abilene and Rev. Lindley, pastor of the Bethel church. Rev. Foster the pastor filled his regular appointment at another point Sunday but will be here the rest of the time. Every Christian and non-Christian is cordially invited to attend every service. Your cooperation is appreciated.—Reporter.

Methodist Church. The spirit of co-operating was in evidence last Sunday, where the Baptist and Methodist Sunday school services are soul-thrilling. The young people in goodly numbers meet at the Tabernacle. Mr. Williams, superintendent of the Baptist Sunday school lead the devotional, on earnest prayer of Thanksgiving for the spirit-regret giving back to God a few of the many hours He has so graciously and for a continuance of co-operation of all the churches for the spiritual uplift of the entire community was offered by Mr. C. W. Palmer. Mr. J. M. Bruce, superintendent of the Methodist S. S. gave a short talk on the lesson topic, "what it means to be a Christian." The Baptist classes remained at the Tabernacle, while the Methodist classes took their usual places in the church. Our attendance numbered 210. With all teachers present. A number of our teachers are planning to take the teacher training course to be given at Colorado next week. We have long since realized the importance of trained teachers for the work of secular education. The church, too has recognized the necessity of trained teachers for the work of religious education, which is an even more delicate task. It is therefore offering courses of instruction from the teacher training department to enable teachers to understand the need of the pupil, and the proper training to be given in each stage of growth and development. Teaching is a work that requires all possible skill, the highest attainable efficiency. S. S. will meet at 10 a. m. next Sunday. If you have not formed the habit of attending Sunday school start next Sunday, attend regular for a few Sundays and we believe you will have created a desire to always attend Sunday school. We extend a hearty welcome to every one to worship with us.—Reporter.

LEAF WORM APPEARING IN SOME PARTS OF COUNTY

The leaf worm is making his appearance in some communities of the county, according to H. L. Atkins, county farm agent. Atkins suggests that farmers employ means of combatting the pests in order to retard any threatened damage to the cotton crop. In this connection the county agent issued the following statement for publication:

"About the middle of July specimens of the cotton leaf worm were found along the Gulf Coast in several localities. Although rather general in these localities, the infestation was not heavy and later reports of government agents show that it was sharply checked by drouth. The second generation which is very small is now laying eggs and the worms may appear shortly in other sections of the State.

"The farmers are advised to keep as close watch as possible for the first sign of the presence of these worms in the cotton fields. When discovered apply poison immediately especially if on late cotton. Calcium arsenate, arsenate of lead, or paris green may be used.

"When applied in dust form, calcium arsenate may be used without diluting. Arsenate of lead may be mixed with one-fourth as much hydrated lime to improve its physical qualities, thus permitting this poison to be more easily applied; it also possesses the advantage of adhering to the plants for a greater length of time. Paris green, when dusted, should be mixed in the proportion of one part paris green to eight parts of hydrated lime. Upon being used extensively paris green sometimes causes sores on the mules. This is due to the arsenic of paris green becoming dissolved in the perspiration of the animal. In making the above applications for cotton leaf worm, the well known pole and bag method is about as efficient as the more expensive dusting machinery.

"Where spraying is preferred to the dusting method of controlling the worms, three fourths pound of calcium arsenate or one pound of arsenic green, one-half pound is used to fifty gallons of water. In the case of paris green, one-half pound is used to fifty gallons and one pound of rock lime should be added to prevent burning the foliage."

COUNTY AGENT BEGINS WORK FOR FAIR EXHIBIT

Preliminary plans for collecting an agricultural exhibit to be shown during the State Fair of Texas at Dallas in October have been started by H. L. Atkins, county farm agent. Atkins states that while crop conditions are not as good as last year, he believes a creditable collection of products may be assembled.

It is not known definitely yet whether the Colorado Chamber of Commerce will foster the sending of such an exhibit to Dallas, it depending largely upon crop conditions. Officials of the organization have stated that Mitchell County will not exhibit unless the specimens to be shown should be of real merit.

The exhibit from this county at Dallas last year won a $150 prize, and cotton exhibited at the Southwest Exposition at Fort Worth won first prize in the State. Grain sorghums from Mitchell county won first prize at the Waco Cotton Palace last year.

COLORADO ENGINEER JOINS CORSICANA CONSTRUCTION CO.

F. F. DuBose, for the past several months a citizen of Colorado, left Wednesday afternoon for Corsicana where he is to become associated with the F. P. McElwath Construction Company, one of the largest highway construction concerns of the Southwest. DuBose will supervise civil engineering work on all contracts handled by the concern. At the present the company has road building contracts in Texas, Mississippi and Oklahoma aggregating $8,000,000.

DuBose is conceded one of the best civil engineers of the country. He was assistant state bridge engineer during the time Capt. J. J. Fauntleroy was state highway engineer, was county engineer of Dallas county during the time the present modern system of highways were constructed and has had charge of numerous large engineering projects in the State. He supervised construction of the Colorado and Lone Wolf Creek bridges at Colorado and was later retained by the city to supervise the street paving.

"I am not leaving Colorado by choice," Mr. DuBose stated just before leaving the city Wednesday afternoon, "But the McElwath Construction Company has tendered me an offer that I could ill afford to decline. I am coming back to Colorado as often as opportunity permits and I shall continue to be interested in this splendid little city. In that I may continue to have a small part in the welfare of Colorado, I have directed that my dues to the Chamber of Commerce be continued from month to month."

FALSE FIRE ALARM BRINGS FIRE BOYS OUT AT 1 A. M.

About midnight Sunday the baker on duty at Burk's Bakery fired up the furnace preparatory to baking the daily run of bread. A big volume of black smoke soon was issuing from the chimney above the furnace. A guest at the Central Hotel, who happened to be up at the time, noticed the smoke and believing the building on fire, turned in the alarm. The fire department made a run to the bakery only to find a roaring fire under the oven as the cause of the excitement. The alarm was given at 1 a. m. Monday morning.

WHEELBARROW BET ON MA AND FELIX PAID MONDAY

"Red" Andrews, one of the Robertson supporters in the run-off primary, paid off Monday afternoon.

According to the terms of a wager made between Andrews and R. H. Barber, the latter being a Ferguson supporter, the man losing was to cart the other up and down Second street in a wheelbarrow. Andrews lost and came to town Monday to make his wager good.

A wheelbarrow, decorated with crepe and jingling bells was "driven" into the street by Andrews. Barber mounted the vehicle and the parade was off. Barber wore a large placard with the words, "Ma." Andrews wore one with the words, "Felix." The incident attracted scores of people into the street and furnished one of the most amusing free shows billed in Colorado for months.

Fred Thompson and his famous white horse, Silver King, will be at the Best Theatre Friday and Saturday in "North of Nevada."

COLORADO'S BIG ASSET.

Colorado has a number of assets in the way of civic and service organizations which are contributing a large quota to development of the commercial, civic, religious and social life of the community. One of the most valuable of these clubs in the entire calendar is the Colorado Lions club, an organization which has inaugurated and fostered as many, if not more worthwhile undertakings than any of the others.

The attractive American Legion Memorial Building, a $15,000 brick and stone structure standing as a monument to the civic pride and patriotism of the citizenship of the city; the 22 blocks of Warrenite bitulthic paving and the white way street lighting system, the new Mitchell County court house, and many others of the smaller good things to be brought to this city came because they were first proposed and then successfully sponsored by those forty men who comprise membership of the Lions club. The Boy Scouts, the schools and everything pertaining to the consummation of a continued program of service to the city and those who live therein have found in the Colorado Lions a friend.

Last Friday only 19 of the 40 members answered to roll call at the weekly luncheon. It was explained that several members were absent from the city, thus excusing them, but to the contrary it was stated that several others were in Colorado, some of them on the street at the time the meeting was called to order. The evident lapse of interest among so many members, once so active in everything pertaining to the club and its programs, was deplored by the president and he has issued the appeal that the once live and active club be made the factor in the life of the city it used to be. To be sure the Lions Club will continue in Colorado in the future, as it has in the past. It has attained too much in the way of real civic work and leadership to fail. But it cannot be representative of the business and professional interests of Colorado unless its full membership maintain an interest in it. Business reasons is no excuse for absenting yourself from the club. Resolve now, and make that resolution good, that you will be at your place Friday at 12 o'clock noon and hit a bull's eye every subsequent week, in so far as being present and taking an active part in the entertainment and business programs. There are some Lions who do not attend any more except on the occasion of ladies night banquets and other special occasions. You cannot be a real Lion and follow that policy. Do not disappoint your president Friday. He is expecting you to be in your place.

EDUCATION AFTER THE WAR.

Quite apart from, but most pertinent to the great array of opinions concerning the profit or loss of the late war, including the charge from platform and through the press that the heralded growth in practices of immorality is largely traceable to cropping out of an immoral atmosphere by which the Americans were surrounded while fighting in Europe, is a statement made in the annual report of the Institute of Arts and Sciences of Columbia University.

This is to the effect that since the war there has been an immense increase of interest in education, and especially in the education of adults in social and economic subjects of national and international importance, says an Eastern exchange. Men and women of mature years are flocking to colleges and universities in unprecedented numbers, to study history, economics, international law and other things which were suggested by the war, or knowledge of which will better fit people to deal intelligently and efficiently with the issues involved in both war and peace.

This report is based upon actual statistics and is to be accepted as correct. That it indicates a great gain for civilization, and for national and international welfare, is obvious. We may couple with it, too, another report which was recently made upon equally good authority, of an enormous revival of interest among undergraduate college students in the classics and the humanities. This also is a result of the war; a reaction against the too great subordination of those studies to "practical" sciences which had long been characteristic of German education and which produced in great measure the state of mind in Germany which made the war possible.

It is a most lamentable confession, that so great a catastrophe as the war was necessary to effect this revival of interest in education. But there can be no question of the value of the revival, both for its own sake and for the influence which it must have toward the maintenance of peace. An ounce of sound instruction in national and international affairs is worth more than a ton of pacifist sentimentality. "Men, who know their rights, and, knowing, dare maintain," were described by the poet as "what constitutes a state," and the poet's vision was true. Men who intelligently know their rights as citizens of their own State, and who know what are the rights of the citizens of other States, will be the first and strongest to maintain their own rights and equally to respect the rights of others. Universal respect of rights is the strongest possible bond of peace.

Colorado merchants are receiving large shipments of stock for fall and winter business, which they are expecting to be large. Business has continued good at Colorado without interruption throughout the year and the outlook at present present a horizon lined with optimism. Colorado is destined to grow and hold the confidence of the public as being among the good commercial centers, where the customer finds what he wants and at a price in keeping with the demands of any legitimate competition.

Entertainment such as never before attempted by the Mitchell County Fair Association, will be provided fair visitors every day and night of the Third Annual Fair, September 25, 26 and 27. One of the largest entertainment organizations in the Southwest has been billed. The agricultural, poultry, livestock, commercial, art, culinary, boys and girls and other departments will surpass the records of last year. The fair management is expecting ten thousand people to attend the fair every day. Make your plans to come.

The Colorado public schools are to open one week from Monday with flattering promises of rounding out another successful school year. Prof. King and his faculty, however, cannot teach the kind of school they would prefer if patrons fail in doing their part. It is the duty of every patron—and other citizens, too, as for that matter—to co-operate with the faculty and school board in their work. Team work is just as much required in building schools as in building cities.

Colorado has six of the best cotton gins in West Texas and a cotton market holding an enviable distinction as among the best in the country. Farmers from a wide territory can make no mistake in bringing their cotton to Colorado to gin and market.

Judge Felix D. Robertson, in a statement issued to the press Sunday morning attributed his defeat for governor to the fact he failed to receive "enough votes." That, evidently was the reason!

The American Legion has a part in the annual fair queen contest. Every penny expended in casting a ballot in this contest will contribute to a fund to assist these boys in paying their building out of debt and also assist the fair association to finance its program of building up one of the best fairs in West Texas. Both the causes are worthy and should merit the support of the general public.

A 20,000 bale cotton crop is the estimate for Mitchell county, following the rain Monday night. Before that time the estimate was lower. The crop may produce more than that estimate. At any rate, conditions are not so bad out here in this part of West Texas as some of our citizens would lead you to believe.

The current number of The American Legion Weekly, national publication of the legion, has a picture and interesting story of Oran C. Hooker Post club house, located at Colorado. The former service men of Mitchell County have a right to feel proud of their beautiful building.

WOLK AND SON

CROPS AGAIN

Will some well-informed reader explain to us why it is that a wheat crop almost invariably turns out differently to its owners expectations? All over New Mexico and Texas reports come that the wheat crops are turning out from 25 to 33 percent better than was expected. Most of the time it turns out poorer than was expected.—Clarendon News.

It is said that West Texas can promise more and make less or promise less and make more than any country in the world. The real answer is that man is a poor guesser, and that he is inclined to be extreme in his guesses. He either touches the high mark or the low mark. Its the same way with cotton. The cotton is usually under estimated in Texas.—Snyder Signal.

It is a rather difficult matter to estimate the cotton crop in West Texas. Weather conditions out here are somewhat uncertain, although they are not any more so out here than anywhere else for that matter.

This part of the state gets a great of moisture first and last. When some way is found to conserve that moisture then this section will be an even greater agricultural country than it now is. The fact remains that this part of the State copes successfully with other sections in the raising of cotton.—Abilene Reporter.

Of course, a man can't guess right all the time. Furthermore, one day's rain can greatly change a crop out here. But you can usually count on West Texas to give a good crop.

At Open Car Cost ESSEX COACH

Built by Hudson

Genuine Balloon Tires
 Standard Equipment

The outstanding buying choice this year is "Closed Car Comforts at Open Car Cost." The Coach alone provides them. It is exclusive to Hudson and Essex. Everyone knows it gives highest closed car value. And because no other type or car shares its position it is the largest selling 6-cylinder closed car in the world.

Genuine Balloon Tires Enhance World's Greatest Value

Naturally when balloon tires had established their superiority Hudson and Essex would adopt them. They are now standard equipment. They add an even greater measure of riding ease, steadiness and good looks to the notable values of the Coach.

You see the Coach everywhere in increasing numbers. Everyone wants closed car comforts. They will no longer accept half-utility when all-year usefulness and comforts cost no more in the Coach.

In workmanship, materials and design both Hudson and Essex are of one quality—built in the same factories, under the same patents. Your choice between them will rest solely on the price you want to pay.

Consider how the growing trend to closed cars affects resale values. The diminishing demand for open cars means far faster depreciation in that type. As the wanted type, the Coach maintains exceptionally high resale value.

WOULD EXPUNGE RECORD

DALLAS, August 25.—An effort to bring about expunging from the records of Texas all reference to the impeachment of James E. Ferguson former governor, is favored by Barry Miller, of Dallas, who is apparently the democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, and if elected to that office would be president of the state Senate. Miller said today such a step should be started.

Miller said he thinks a resolution adopted by the legislature to expunge from the record the Ferguson impeachment would be sufficient. "I think it would be a legal way to remedy the situation," he said.

It was the impeachment of Ferguson and his inability to get his own name on the ballot as a candidate for governor this year in an effort to gain vindication at the hands of the voters, which put Mrs. Miriam Ferguson into the race as a candidate and brought her the democratic nomination.

PRESIDENT FAIR ASSN. IS PLEASED WITH CATALOGUES

"That is a fine specimen of typographical work and we are certainly pleased with the job," was the comment of Fred Brown, president of the Mitchell County Fair Association, in speaking of the annual edition of the fair catalogues which were issued from the Record office last week. Brown stated that a supply of the catalogues were held by him at the First State Bank, Loraine, at Mitchell & Danner's store, Westbrook and the Chamber of Commerce, Colorado, for distribution to interested citizens. Any one desiring a copy of the book may obtain same upon application to either of the above.

SCIENTISTS ANALYZE EARTH FROM TOMB OF JESUS CHRIST

That the earth from Christ's Tomb and analyzed recently by English scientists shows that no human body ever decayed there is their declaration upon completing the tests. This tomb still stands in a remarkable state of preservation near the scene of crucifixion as is shown by pictures made of it by Coleman Craig, associate editor of the Baptist Standard, while on his recent trip to the Holy Land.

Mr. Craig, has long been a religious journalist of Texas, and made this pilgrimage to visit the many places made sacred to the hearts of all Christians by the life of Jesus. The location of the manger, Jerusalem, the Mount of Temptation, the River Jordan, many other historic places were visited and pictures taken of them.

The devotional and song service for the conference will be under supervision of the pastor, and 15 minutes is to be devoted to this part of the worship at each service.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

Last Sunday was a good day with us, may the next be better. The revival season is over now and we begin an aggressive fall campaign. Regular services both morning and evening next Sunday. We hope to continue uninterruptedly from now on. With the vacation period at an end and with cooler weather we look for increased attendance and interest. We are planning a program to cover the entire fall season. We want every member of the church and as many more to meet us next Sunday morning in the Bible school at 10:00 o'clock. Let's make this a record attendance.

The subject for the morning sermon will be a continuation of the same general theme used last Lord's day, "The Fulness of the Gentiles," discussing that phase of the subject under the sub-head of "The New Covenant." The evening sermon will be devoted to a study of the "New Birth." Come and be with us. We are trying to keep ourselves and our studies within the lines of consistency and without running into extremes either direction. If this meets with your approval we will be pleased to have you worship with us. J. E. CHASE, Pastor.

METHODIST CHURCH.

Sunday school 9:45 a. m. We want three hundred and fifty present next Sunday morning. This means you and the person you can influence to come.

Preaching 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Please remember eight is late enough. We will hold the fourth and last quarterly conference Sunday at 4 p. m. and Rev. R. A. Stewart will preach at night. We want a good attendance at the conference.

Sunday morning we will take a class into the church and I am going to talk on Church Obligation and if any one wants to know what the Church stands for come to this service. J. F. LAWLIS, Pastor.

BAPTIST NOTES.

We very earnestly call the attention of the people of Colorado to the fact we are still having services at the Baptist church each Sunday morning at 9:45, 11:00 and at 8:00 o'clock. We have been broken into very much this summer in different ways but we are back on the job and want all the folks to be back in their usual places from this on. We want to speak Sunday morning on "The Transfigured Life." We appeal to all Christians to be present. We invite the mothers and fathers to invite their sons and daughters to be present. We want to help the spiritual life of the people and we cannot do so without a chance. Parents should become more interested in the spiritual life of their children. If your child is lost does it concern you? If it is serving the devil rather than serving God does it concern you? We will try to say something Sunday night that will help, too. Bring your friends along with you. M. C. Bishop, Pastor.

PLAINVIEW EDITOR GETS BROKEN JAW IN FIGHT

Jess Adams, editor and owner of the Plainview News, suffered a broken jaw and other injuries during an affray with a farmer at Plainview, late Wednesday afternoon. A charge of aggravated assault has been filed against Dow Nix, Floyd county farmer. Adams is in a local sanitarium and, although his injuries are not regarded as serious, he will be confined to bed for several weeks. Adams has been in the newspaper business in Texas for forty years and has served as Officer of the Texas Press Association and the Panhandle Press Association.

SWEETWATER BOY DROWNS AT ENCAMPMENT GROUNDS

Billy Jobe, 5, son of Will H. Jobe of Sweetwater, was drowned in the Concho river at Christoval Tuesday morning when he fell into the water from a platform extending over the river. Mr. Jobe and family were in camp at the Baptist Encampment grounds and Billy had gone out onto the platform to watch several men swimming and diving in the water. He went too near the edge and fell from the platform, rolled down the steep bank and into 25 feet of water. It is presumed that the fall rendered the boy unconscious.

The body was rescued within a few minutes but attempts to bring the child back to life through use of a pulmotor proved futile.

KLAN REPUDIATED.

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, nominated for governor by an overwhelming majority over Felix D. Robertson, declared in a statement at her home in Temple Saturday night that her victory was a clear-cut repudiation of the Ku Klux Klan.

She said: "I regard this as a distinct anti-klan victory and a clear-cut repudiation of the Ku Klux Klan. No longer can the finger of scorn be pointed toward Texas. It has redeemed itself. Not only is this true-but the victory will be of great assistance to the national Democracy and sustains the position taken by our great standard bearer, John W. Davis."

COUNTY BEGINS REPAIRS TO WESTBROOK HIGHWAY

A crew of workmen was started on rebuilding the Bankhead highway through the business district of Westbrook Monday. Under a joint agreement made by Commissioners' Court and the State Highway Commission, several blocks are to be newly graded and graveled. County Judge Hall stated Tuesday that the work would cost about $2,000.

Owing to the topography of the business district there is considerable damage usually resulting to the highway following a heavy rain. The town of Westbrook, not being incorporated, was not authorized to vote bonds to finance improvement to the street, the county and highway commission agreed to finance the work in connection with the maintenance appropriation for the highway in this county.
