

VISITING OIL MEN SEE BIG DEVELOPMENT AHEAD

Development of the Mitchell county field on a schedule never before attempted is seen by a number of prominent oil men who spent a visit here and in the oil field this week. Continued advances in crude quotations was one of the expressed reasons upon which this belief was based. The other was in the fact that Mitchell county is in direct line with the large producing oil and gas wells recently drilled in Reagan county.

The Anderson-Prichard Corporation and associated companies, controlling valuable property within proven territory in the field will drill several new wells on the leases controlled by them. The corporation owns the West Texas Refining & Development properties at Colorado and in the field and some of the largest producing wells in the county are on their properties.

J. Steve Anderson, vice president and general manager, and L. H. Prichard, president, respectively of the corporation were here this week from Oklahoma City. Mr. Anderson, in issuing a statement for his corporation Wednesday, outlined that no definite program had been accepted as affecting their holdings in the field, but that the acreage controlled by them would be developed.

Among the other prominent oil men to visit the field this week were A. S. Hickok, of the Hickok Producing Company, Toledo, Ohio; S. N. Sedwick, of the Atlantic Producing Company, Dallas; Garrett Donley and George Donley, of the Eastland Oil Company, Eastland; G. H. Amery of the Marlin Oil Company, and F. A. Bates, of the Phillips Petroleum Company, of Bartlesville, Okla. Mr. Sedwick expressed surprise at the size of the Mitchell county oil field, declaring that he had no idea of finding the number of producing and drilling wells here. He gave as his opinion the declaration that additional companies were to soon become identified with the field to have a part in bringing development up to the largest plane in history of the field.

Belief that continued development in this vicinity will assure realization of larger producing wells was expressed by some of the visiting oil men. The main pool underlying Mitchell county remains yet to be found.

Another of the old line companies evidently plans returning to the county and resume its identification with development. This is the Magnolia Petroleum Company, which corporation has a corps of representatives located at Colorado.

Fred Carey is spudding Moore No. 2 on the J. J. Moore lease near the town of Ira for the Northwest Company. The test is located 660 feet north of Moore No. 1, drilled in last year by the Col. E. A. Humphries interests and from which the best grade of crude yet found in the field is being taken. Carey stated Wednesday that he had completed rigging up and would begin making hole Thursday.

Rig is going up at location for Smartt No. 6 on the Sloan Oil Company lease. Drilling will be started at this test about March 6th.

The California Company will begin drilling at their new test on the Elder survey, section 15, within the next few days, it was stated Wednesday. This company has two tests on top of the pay in their Elder 2-1 and Morrison No. 12. The latter two wells are expected to be added to the producing line up early in March. Good progress is reported at Abrams No. 2-1 of the California Company, test recently spudded.

1,500 ACRES FARM LAND TERRACED SINCE JAN. 15T

"Tommy" Atkins, county farm agent, stated Saturday that he had personally supervised the terracing of 1,500 acres of Mitchell county farm lands since January 1. The demand for terracing is large, Atkins stated, and has recently grown to such proportions as to make it impossible for him to personally supervise all the work requested by farmers.

OLD COLORADO NATIONAL BUILDING REPORTED SOLD

Judge C. H. Earnest, interested with J. M. Thomas in ownership of the property at corner of Walnut and Second streets, known as the old Colorado National Building, authorized the statement Wednesday that the property had been sold to I. Colichman of El Paso. Colichman formerly lived at Colorado and for several years was engaged in business here.

Consideration in the deal was not made public, but it is understood that a price of about $20,000 was paid for the property.

The Mission Theatre, owned by J. S. Bonner of Colorado and John Victor of Abilene, is located in this building. The theatre management has recently expended several thousand dollars in making improvements to the building and equipment, making of the Mission one of the most attractive theatres in this part of the State.

TWO COLORED DISTILLERS IN MESHES OF THE LAW

Robert Keith of Colorado and Sam Brown of near Cuthbert, both colored, have been restrained of their liberty and professions by having become entangled in the meshes of the law. Both are charged with violation of the 18th amendment.

Keith was placed under arrest Saturday by Chief of Police Dick Hickman and Constable N. A. Pennington, after the officers had found 8 pints of corn liquor in the negro's possession. Brown, reputed as being an expert in the art of making shock beer, was arrested Sunday. Eight gallons of the favorite negro beverage was captured by Constable Pennington and Dick Gregory, deputy sheriff who made the arrest.

Following arraignment here both negroes were ordered held for grand jury investigation. Keith's bond was set at $500, which he furnished and was released. The bond of Brown, set at $750, had not been made Monday and he was mediating in the county jail.

NEW WEEKLY NEWSPAPER STARTED AT SWEETWATER

The Nolan County News is the name of a new weekly paper launched at Sweetwater by the Watson-Focht Printing Company, with Luther Watson as publisher and manager, Frank P. Hill, son of E. I. Hill, former district attorney, is editor of the publication.

The initial number of the News is an eight page well edited and printed paper. The management announces The News is to be an all home print paper of from eight to sixteen pages. With the weekly edition of the Sweetwater Reporter, this gives Sweetwater the second weekly.

PORTER ASSUMES CHARGE OF SCURRY COUNTY ASSN.

W. W. Porter, secretary-manager of the Mitchell County Farm Bureau, has recently been designated by the Dallas offices as manager of the business in Scurry county. The Farm Bureau is not yet organized in Scurry County and all business to be handled by the corporation will go through the Colorado office.

Porter stated Wednesday that an organization in Scurry county would probably be perfected within the next few months.

IMPROVEMENTS MADE TO TWO BUILDINGS ON SECOND STREET

Considerable improvement is being made to the Hughes buildings on Second street, which are occupied by the Colorado Grain House. Outside walls have been plastered with concrete and are being finished in the pebble dash effect.

WASHINGTON'S ANNIVERSARY IS OBSERVED AT COLORADO

Washington's anniversary was observed at Colorado Monday through closing of the Colorado National and City National Banks and the post office. Owing to the fact February 22nd, birthday of Washington, fell on Sunday, the national holiday was observed on the following day.

SPEAKER CHARGES SON IS BEING LED BY THE FATHER

The father and not the son is to blame for much of the delinquency charged to boys of today, Rev. W. J. Knoy of Dunn declared in an address before a meeting of Boy Scout workers at the American Legion building Monday night.

"There are few, if any of you men who have sons who can rightly claim to be guiltless under this charge," he said. "More times than you would ever consider you have corrected your son for some wrong act, when at the very time the son recalled in his own mind that he had witnessed his daddy commit the very deed for which he was being reprimanded"

Rev. Mr. Knoy made a strong appeal to the "big boys" to become real pals of their sons and set examples of citizenship and right living before the boys with whom they come in contact of which they would never have occasion to regret.

The third meeting of the class of men in scout training was held at the legion building Monday night with an increased attendance and interest over any of the previous meetings. The third troop was organized by Scout Executive W. S. Barcus. The challenge of a team at Snyder for contests soon to be staged was accepted and teams are being organized to compete for honors in the entries to be arranged.

DE MOLAY CHAPTER TO BE ORGANIZED AT COLORADO

Organization of a De Molay Chapter at Colorado is to be perfected within the next few days, it was announced Saturday by J. R. Shepherd chairman of the committee named by the local Royal Arch Chapter to supervise organization of a group of boys for this work. J. A. Buchanan, recorder of the lodge, will assist in completing the organization.

A number of boys and youths at Colorado and vicinity have expressed the wish to affiliate with the chapter, according to Shepherd. He expects to obtain enrollment of the necessary 25 applicants and file for charter within the next week or so. It was announced by the committee chairman that applicants for membership in the De Molay did not necessarily have to be sons of Masons.

WIRTZ AMENDMENT ENDORSED BY CATTLEMEN OF COLORADO

The Wirtz Amendment to the Robertson Insurance Law, which would stimulate business of the larger insurance companies in Texas and subsequently be the means of affording better interest rates on cattle and similar paper, is endorsed by cattlemen and business interests of Colorado.

The Colorado Chamber of Commerce is reported to be lending its cooperation to passage of the proposed amendment and recently endorsed the bill in communications to President Kokernot of the Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association and members of the legislature and senate.

The bill is scheduled to come up for action by the senate at Austin today.

RANGE CATTLE IN EXCELLENT CONDITION, MADDIN REPORTS

Cattle on the range are passing through the winter in good condition, A. E. Maddin, Colorado cattleman, reported here Tuesday morning. Maddin had just returned to Colorado from his ranch where a number of calves had been dehorned, and stated that the physical condition of the cattle industry in this county was all that cattlemen could reasonably expect.

Losses during the Spring from black leg will be small, according to Maddin. This statement is based upon the fact that cattlemen no longer depend upon fate to protect their herds from ravages of the disease but now vaccinate in the fall as a means of making cattle immune. A few years ago local cattlemen sustained heavy losses annually from the ravages of black leg among their herds.

POULTRY RAISERS SHOULD DEMAND PEDIGREED BIRDS

Poultry raisers who are led to believe that mongrel or mixed breeds are "good enough" are making a mistake that will take a big toll in both the production and revenue ends of the business, Fred Powell, of Westbrook, breeder of S. C. White Leghorns, declared while here Tuesday morning. Powell owns one of the best and most sanitary poultry breeding farms in the county and will devote considerable attention to the commercial end of the business, supplying eggs for hatching and baby chicks to the trade.

Mitchell county could easily be developed into one of the leading producers of standard bred poultry and poultry products of the State, according to Powell. He has made an extensive study of the poultry business and found that birds thrive just as well here as in any section of the country.

SEVERAL TESTS BE DRILLED IN HYMAN SECTION REPORT

The Hyman community, 25 miles southwest of Colorado, is due for considerable play by developers who believe oil is to be found in that section. H. S. Hyman stated while here Wednesday afternoon. Hyman stated that rig materials for Scott No. 1 of Sloan & Owens, first test to be drilled in that immediate vicinity, were being unloaded at location. This well will be drilled in Block 19 of the Lavaca Navigation Company survey.

WEST TEXAS ELECTRIC CO. STARTS HIGH LINE WORK

A crew of sixty men have been started at work on the West Texas Electric Co. high line extension from Colorado to Big Spring. The line will afford electric service to Westbrook, Coahoma and the Mitchell county oil field.

Death of Mrs. T. A. Morrison.

In the death of Mrs. T. A. Morrison Sunday, February 22nd, another of Colorado's pioneer citizens passed to the great beyond and many hearts were saddened at the going of this woman whose life was given to serve others. Mrs. T. A. Morrison was born in Hopkins county sixty five years ago. She came with her family to Mitchell county thirty-two years ago and has lived here ever since.

She was the mother of four children, three sons, two of whom are living, Earl and Will and one daughter, Mrs. Waskom of Dallas, and seven little fatherless grandchildren of which she had the care the past two years and whose hearts are bleeding for the loss of the dear one who loved them. All were with her at the last. Her daughter came several days before her death and stayed constantly by her bed side.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. M. C. Bishop, pastor of the Baptist church, at the family residence Monday afternoon and the body laid to rest in the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

The Little Sisters

The Little Sisters met in the home of Mary Bell Brennan last Thursday the 12th. A good program was given including a piano solo by Mary Bell Brennan and a reading by Willie Nell Rogers. Mrs. Dobbs gave the mission study lesson. The meeting adjourned for the social hour. The hostess served coffee, sandwiches and cake. The next meeting will be in the home of Nelda Garrett.—Reporter.

Class Organizes

Mrs. Merritt's S. S. class of the M. E. church met at her home Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of organizing. The following officers were elected: Exa King, president; Nelda Garrett, secretary; Sybel Kiker treasurer; Committee for visiting and social activities were appointed. The name of Key Clap was decided on. We selected our motto, colors and time of meeting. The hostess served sandwiches at the social hour.—Reporter.

MITCHELL COTTON SAID BE AMONG BEST IN STATE

There are localities in the Texas cotton belt producing as good staple cotton as Mitchell county, but few exceed in that respect, according to H. G. Hicks of Dallas, field expert representing the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association, who spent Monday on a business visit here. Mr. Hicks was in Colorado to confer with W. W. Porter, secretary-manager of the local cotton association, as to plans for the 1925 season.

This county is registering a strong ratio growth for the Texas cotton association, he stated. "Farmers of Mitchell county have not been slow to appreciate the advantages offered by our organization and scores of new members are being added from year to year. I am sure that the time is not far distant when the great majority of cotton producers of the South will place their commodity upon the market through the stabilized system of organized bargaining, such as offered by the Farm Bureau.

LIONS URGED TO ASSIST RAYBURN UNION REVIVAL

Strengthening of the moral forces of the community is easily the biggest business asset the merchant and business could acquire, and nothing serves to accomplish that goal more effectively than the successful revival. Rev. M. C. Bishop, pastor of the First Baptist church, declared in an address at the Lions Club Friday, in urging the Lions to lend their full co-operation in the Rayburn union revival, soon to be opened here.

The speaker outlined that the fabric of the business world was built upon confidence, displayed one in the other. Destroy that confidence and the world's business would crumble he stated. The revival to be conducted here by Dr. Rayburn for four weeks, beginning May 15, will make men more united in cherishing the demand for honest dealing and leave the community in a more stable condition if the varied interests of the city and county put their determined efforts into the campaign.

The revival is scheduled to open in about ten weeks. Five of the protestant congregations of Colorado are co-operating in plans for making the campaign one of the outstanding religious awakenings of the county.

NOTHING DISCOUNTS TRUCK AS SIDE LINE ON THE FARM

There is nothing to guarantee more profit to the farmer than a well cultivated truck patch, Jim Bodine, farmer of the Buford community, claims. Bodine stated here Saturday that he would plant considerable acreage to vegetables again this year.

During the past few years Bodine has cultivated a small truck acreage on his farm, growing the vegetables under irrigation by water from a shallow well. During the summer and early fall months he markets the products from this patch on the Colorado market and found the business to be most profitable.

MITCHELL FARMERS PLAN ENLARGING ON POULTRY

There is to be more flocks of standard bred poultry on Mitchell county farms this year than ever before, according to claims of the Chamber of Commerce, which organization is devoting considerable attention to promotion of the poultry industry in this territory.

Scores of farmers who heretofore have been content with growing a flock of mongrel chickens about their barn lot have awoken to the importance of producing pedigreed birds and will discard the old mixed breeds for one of the standard bred types.

NEW GIN BEING BUILT AT COLORADO BY W. & M. CO.

The Williams & Miller Company are to operate two gins in Colorado another season. Dirt for the new plant, which will be erected adjoining their present gin on West Second street. Both of the gins are to be operated from one power plant.

32,000 BALES GINNED IN MITCHELL CO. TO DATE

The 1924 Mitchell county cotton crop aggregated 32,250 bales, an increase of 1,750 bales over the crop of 1923, according to a statement issued Thursday morning by the Colorado Chamber of Commerce. The report showed that a total of 32,115 bales had been ginned in the county up to that date and it was estimated that 135 bales additional would be received at the gins, placing total for the crop at 32,250.

The six gins at Colorado are shown to have received 16,555 bales of the number reported. Lorraine reported 9,500 bales, Westbrook 3,457 bales and Buford 2,603 bales.

The gins at Colorado which have not closed down for the season will make their last run Friday of next week. One or two of the gins at Lorraine will operate only one or two days at weekly intervals before closing down.

ALLEGED HI-JACKER IS ARRESTED AT COLORADO

Yacoo Gonzales, charged with robbery at Midland, was placed under arrest here Thursday by Sheriff L. W. Terry. The Mexican was later identified as one of two hi-jackers who held up an aged citizen of Midland and relieved him of $200 in cash. $35 of the stolen money was found on the person of the prisoner.

Gonzales was delivered to officers from Midland who returned him there to face trial. The other hi-jacker was captured soon after the robbery had been committed.

Junior Missionary

On last Saturday afternoon, Mrs. R. N. Gary and her daughter, Mrs. C. C. Thompson, were delightful hostesses to the Juniors. It being regular mission study, also the birthday of our nation's first President, the program included a patriotic feature. Mrs. Garrett conducted our mission study from "Better Americans" Subject for the afternoon being "America the Beautiful." This was a very fine lesson. Extensive plans were discussed to make our own yards beautiful thus helping to make our town more beautiful. Mrs. Thompson gave us the story of the little girl, who wanted to have a real rose. Several of the little folks favored us with some patriotic reading, American flags decorated the rooms while little hatchets were given as favors. Mrs. Hart was a guest and favored us with some beautiful music and solos. Lovely cherry punch with delicious doughnuts were served at the social hour. 22 children present.—Reporter.

COUNTY AGENT EARNS HIS.

Our local county agent, H. L. Atkins, is next to the doctors in point of importance. When a cow, horse, sheep, goat, hog, chicken or dog gets sick, the owner seeks Atkins for advice—and the beauty about it is that the animal nearly always recovers. If the bugs, worms or grasshoppers are pestering the crops, "Slim" tells the folks what to do, and then goes and helps them do it. He helps the farmers lay out level lines for terracing, helps them to get the best seed for planting, and keeps in touch with the markets where they can get the best prices for their products. He has certainly made himself indispensable with the farmers and ranchmen. He more than earns his keep.

Harmony Club.

The Harmony Club met with Mrs. Frank Lupton. Her guests were Mesdames J. H. Greene, J. G. Merritt, R. B. Terrell, Edgar Majors, Jess Gage, C. E. Pritchett and D. C. Henderson of Wichita Falls. The hostess served tuna salad, crackers, potato chips, olives, fruit cake and iced tea. The meeting will be with Mrs. Sam Goldman next week.

Friends here of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Roddy have received the announcement of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Hallie Elizabeth to Lewis Milburn Carter, Saturday, February 14th at Corpus Christi.

IN SOCIETY AND AT THE CLUBS

Birthday Party.
Mrs. J. C. Pritchett entertained a crowd of little boys and girls last Friday in honor of her little son Joe's sixth birthday. An unusually good time was had in playing games and blowing out the candles on the birthday cake which was afterwards served with ice cream. Little hatchets were given as favors. Each little guest left a gift in memory of the day.

At Home.
Mrs. A. L. Whipkey and Mrs. O. B. Price were at home to their many friends last Thursday from 4 to 6 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Price honoring the daughter and sister, Mrs. Stansil Whipkey of Dallas, who was here on a visit. The house was decorated in pink and white, pink carnations were in the living room, while the dining room looked inviting with pink sweet peas. On the dining table was a dainty battenburg cloth in the center was a crystal basket of sweet peas and on the corners were crystal candle sticks holding pink candles. Mrs. Price greeted the guests at the door and Mrs. Whipkey introduced them to the honoree.

Mrs. J. H. Greene, Mrs. Henry Pond and Mrs. Walter Whipkey escorted them to the dining room where Mrs. T. R. Moody and Mrs. H. P. Ragan poured tea. Misses Marcella Price and Hazel Costin passed the plates with sandwiches, olives, macaroons and mints. Favors of miniature hatchets were given by Miss Loyce Price. A musical program was given during the hours. Miss Lois Warren played Grand Valse Caprice and Mennetonka. Other members were given by Mrs. Earl Powell and Miss Elnora Dulaney. Mrs. Roy Buchanan of South America sang Birds on the Wing.

Mr. Stansil Whipkey favored with violin selections with Mr. Joe Earnest at the piano. More than one hundred guests called during the afternoon.

Hesperian
The Hesperian Club met with Mrs. Sam Majors last week. Mrs. Merritt led the lesson on the Texas Revolution. Special topics were given by Mrs. J. M. Doss, Mrs. Leslie, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Majors.

The guests were Mesdames Wallace, R. W. Mitchell, Sam Goldman and A. B. Blanks. The hostess served a salad course at the social hour. Mrs. Jones will be hostess this week.

The Shakespeare
The Shakespeare club met with Mrs. Robert Brennan, Mrs. D. H. Snyder led the lesson on Romeo and Juliet and the Japanese problem in South America. At the social hour the hostess served ice cream topped with a cherry and cake on each plate was a red, white and blue hatchet. Mrs. Bennett will be hostess this week.

Standard
The Standard club met with Mrs. C. M. Adams. The lesson on the Revolutionary period was led by Mrs. R. N. Gary. An interesting discussion of the Alamo was participated in by the whole club. An elegant luncheon was served at the social hour. Mrs. M. Carter will be hostess this week.

Young People Meet.
The Young People's Missionary Society of the Methodist church met with Mrs. A. P. Baker Monday. Mrs. George Morgan conducted the Bible lesson from the 13th chapter of first Corinthians. Mrs. C. C. Thompson led the lesson from. In the Land of the Saddle Bag. The hostess served a salad course and coffee. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Tom Coffey.

U. D. C. Meeting.
The U. D. C. had the February meeting with Mrs. Jack Smith. After the usual business. Mrs. Gustine gave a very interesting sketch of Texas History. Mrs. C. E. Pritchett favored with piano selections. The hostess served chicken salad, pickles, hot buttered rolls and coffee. The March meeting will be with Mrs. R. N. Gary.

The 1921 Study Club
The 1921 Study Club celebrated its fourth anniversary with a 42 party at the home of Mrs. A. H. Dolman Friday night. The husbands of the members were the guests. The house was decorated in red hatchets and flags in keeping with George Washington's birthday. The idea was carried out in the refreshments and score cards. The refreshments were ice cream frozen with the statue of George Washington with his hatchet and home made cake. The celebration is an annual affair and the husbands look forward to it from year to year. The club will meet Friday at three o'clock with Mrs. Hooks at the home of Mrs. Buchanan. The next two lessons will be the program.

Aid Meets.
The Ladies Aid of the First Christian church met Monday with Mrs. Donnell. Mrs. Jones led the devotional exercise reading the 14th chapter of John. The flower committee reported flowers had been sent the sick members. After the usual business the aid adjourned. The hostess served refreshments. Mrs. W. B. Watson was a guest and gave her name as a new member. The next meeting will be the missionary society with Mrs. Sam Goldman.

Home Makers.
The Home Makers Club met with Mrs. Lester Manning Tuesday with a full attendance. The honorary member, Mrs. T. J. Ratliff conducted the program on needle craft. Missionary Meeting.
The monthly meeting of the Methodist Missionary Society was held with Mrs. Leslie Monday afternoon. There was a good attendance. The usual business was attended to. The pastor was present and helped plan for Cultivation Week as a continuation of the Centenary. The book for the study will be "Task Ahead." The weeks program will close with a pageant by the young people, giving an outline of what has been done with a glimpse of the task ahead. Each member pledged to bring five others and to try to enlist them in active service. The program for the hour was on Workers in China. Mrs. J. G. Merritt conducted the devotional period.

42 Tournament.
The school spirit was demonstrated by the patrons of the school last Thursday evening when they assembled at the grammar school building for the 42 tournament.

The good spirit was started by the excellent music by the Booster Band and continued throughout the evening. The hall was filled with tables, with score cards and favors in keeping with the day—cherries and hatchets. A program of readings, and music by the High School Syncoated Orchestra was given, closing with a minuet by six girls in costume. They were Loyce Price, Clippie Bennett, Edna May Powell, Laura Louise Pearson, Dimples Way and Beatrice Logan. They also assisted in serving the refreshments of sandwiches, George Washington pie and coffee.

Among those who worked to make it a success were Mrs. Everett Winn, Mrs. R. D. Hart, Mrs. J. L. Hart, Mrs. Millwee, Mrs. H. S. Seal, Mrs. B. F. Dulaney, Mrs. A. L. Whipkey, Mrs. McCleary, Mrs. J. L. Pidgeon and Mrs. Jack Smith.

P. T. A. Regular Meeting.
The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association will be held at the high school auditorium on next Tuesday at 3:00. ### To Make Rich Red Blood

Revitalize your worn-out exhausted nerves and increase your strength and endurance

Take Organic Iron; not metallic iron which people usually take, but pure organic iron—Nuxated Iron—which is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. One dose of Nuxated Iron is estimated to be approximately equivalent (in iron content) to eating one-half quart of spinach, one quart of green vegetables or half a dozen apples. It is like taking extract of beef instead of the round of meat. Nuxated Iron is partially pre-digested and ready for almost immediate absorption and assimilation by the blood, while metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron filings.

Millions of people anxiously are using Nuxated Iron. It will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. A few doses will often commence to enrich your blood. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturer if you do not obtain satisfactory results.

Beware of substitutes. Always insist on having genuine organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Look for the letters N. I. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—Lee Anderson, Royal Canadian Mounted Police sergeant, is sent to Stony range to arrest a man named Felly for murder. He is also instructed to look after Jim Rathway, reputed head of the "Free Traders," illicit liquor runners. At Little Falls he finds Felly is credited with having found a gold mine, and is missing.

CHAPTER II.—At the hotel where Anderson stops, a girl, obviously out of place in the rough surroundings, appears. A half-breed whom Anderson hears called Pierre, and a companion, "Shorty," annoy the girl. Anderson interferes, earning the enmity of the two men.

CHAPTER III.—The girl sets out for Siston Lake, which is also Anderson's objective. He overtakes her and the two men with whom he had trouble the night before.

CHAPTER IV.—Pierre and "Shorty" ride on, Anderson and the girl following. In the hills the road is blown up, before and behind the two. Anderson, with his horse, is hurled down the mountain side, senseless.

CHAPTER V.—Recovering consciousness, Anderson finds the girl has disappeared, but the finding of her hair, evidently hurriedly cut from her head where it had been caught by her falling horse, assures him she is alive and probably in the power of Pierre and "Shorty." On foot he makes his way to Siston Lake. There he finds his companion of the day before, and Rathway, with a girl, Estelle, a former sweetheart of Anderson's, who had abused his confidence and practically wrecked his life. Rathway strikes Estelle, and after a fight Anderson, with Estelle's help, escapes with the girl.

CHAPTER VI

Trapped on the Island

And instantly he began straining at the oars again, redoubling his efforts to gain the shore before the motor boat rounded the point.

And of a sudden his attention was attracted by something creeping along the opposite shore. It was a small canoe and a single man in it—Rathway!

It was impossible not to admire the courage that inspired the man after the drubbing he had received. Rathway was, of course, on his way to warn the expected party.

Lee drove hard for the left middle channel of the lake. The main body of Siston lake came into view, a vast expanse of shining water, the shores receding into the hazy distance, out of which a small, black object began to be visible, like a bug skimming the surface.

Now the canoe containing Rathway was almost abreast of him.

A few more furious pulls—ten, fifteen; now canoe and motor boat and promontory were all hidden behind the point of the island. Lee labored at the oars, turning the York boat's head toward the bank. Once there, they would be safe. But his strength was failing him. Curse the clumsy boat, which hardly seemed to move!

The putting of the motor engine had grown infernally loud. It added a horror of its own to that sense of pursuit which makes the bravest gain something of a coward, the added horror of the fugitive who hears the distant bay of bloodhounds.

Then suddenly the motor stopped. That meant that the canoe had come abreast of it. Rathway was passing the intelligence. And the shore was still a hundred yards distant.

There was no chance of reaching it unobserved. It would be neck and neck for it, and it was doubtful whether Lee could have escaped alone, much less with the girl and the pack to carry. He swung the boat's blunt nose toward the nearest patch of reeds. Twenty yards! He put all his strength into that last effort. Now the reeds were closing about him. In front of him a little open channel appeared. Using one shortened oar as a paddle, he drove vigorously, and found himself in temporary safety. A thick wall of reeds extended between himself and open water, rendering the York boat invisible.

Then the motor began to roar. The shouts of its occupants became audible. The motor boat had rounded the point. Lee had escaped discovery by the skin of his teeth.

And very cautiously, so as not to betray his whereabouts by any undue agitation of the reeds, Lee pushed the boat toward the island. His plan must now be to drive ashore, trusting to escape detection until midnight and to make the wooded shore of the lake in the darkness.

Through the reeds the marshy shore began to be visible, and a sandy spit projecting to the water's edge. Above it was a hummock overgrown with birch and red spruce, with a tangle of sheep laurel and birch and poplar behind it.

Lee worked his heavy boat noiselessly toward this spit. But suddenly he stopped. The motor boat was coming up the open channel hardly a stone's throw distant. He could hear Rathway in it, bellowing commands to his companions. He could hear the reeds rustling against the boat's side as she forced her passage through them.

"They're not in here!" he heard Rathway say with an oath. "Get into the channel and hunt up the island!" Lee, crouching in the stern of the York boat with his pistol in his hand, breathed a sigh of relief as the motor boat withdrew. The roar of her engine began to grow fainter. In a few minutes it had died away.

Lee forced the York boat ashore upon the spit of sand, and stooping, raised the girl in his arms and carried her into the shelter of the spruce thicket, where he laid her gently down. For the first time since her injury, he had the opportunity of examining her. Her prolonged unconsciousness alarmed him.

Lee Forced the York Boat Ashore Upon the Spit of Sand, and Stooping, Raised the Girl in His Arms and Carried Her into the Shelter of Spruce Thicket, Where He Laid Her Gently Down.

But she was beginning to revive at last, and, after assuring himself that the pulse beat fairly strong, he proceeded to make as thorough an examination as possible of her injuries.

He turned his examination first to the cut in her head. He tore strips from his shirt, went down to the water and cleansed them thoroughly; then, returning, he proceeded to wash and bandage it. It was a bad gash from a rock, and she had bled a good deal, which was a good thing, relieving the concussion which had no doubt been the cause of the prolonged insensibility. Having ascertained that she seemed to have received no bodily injuries beyond contusions, Lee examined her limbs. He saw that one knee hung awry. In a moment he had the garter off, and discovered that the joint had been dislocated.

Short of the setting of a broken bone, there are few operations more painful than the restoration of a joint into position, and Lee prayed fervently that the girl's unconsciousness would last until he had put to her service the knowledge which he had acquired with the Canadian army medical corps upon the western front.

It was unnerving, holding that white knee between his hands, so instinct with life, so fragile, delicate, so wonderful when viewed as a piece of mechanism which he was to manipulate like some clumsy journeyman, called in to repair the work of a master.

Fortunately Lee had assisted at precisely that same operation several times in the field; and, trying to disregard the moans of pain that came from the girl's lips as he proceeded, he fumbled with the displaced bone.

But that struggle was terrible, for the body of itself knows no dignity. Conscious, Lee knew that the girl would neither have flinched nor moaned; but unconscious she could not control the protests of the body, which had to be restrained by something almost brutal in its frank violence.

But Lee struggled on, feeling the shaft head of the bone scour the edges of the socket under the cap. A final struggle, the weight of his whole body and shoulders thrown to his task—and suddenly it was accomplished.

The joint slipped into position, the tortured body ceased its protest, and Lee rose, the perspiration streaming down his face.

Trembling in the nervous reaction from the struggle, Lee listened to the increasing noise of the motor boat again.

It rose to a roar as it passed again along the channel immediately in front of his hiding place, and gradually dwindled away.

Leaving the girl where she had fallen back into unconsciousness, Lee ascended one of the spruce trees and snuggled the channel. The motor boat was moving up the shore of the island along the edge of the reeds. It contained Rathway and two other men.

Another York boat was coming from the direction of the promontory. This contained three men also.

Six on the trail; and Lee guessed that they would leave no nook unsearched in their determination to locate himself and the girl.

He strapped one of the packs about his back, picked up the girl, and, thus encumbered, proceeded through the thick brush, making for the opposite shore, where he put the girl down in a small dellity where the growth was thickest. Removing the tin pannikin from the outside of the pack, he obtained water and poured some down the girl's throat. He noted that the swallowing reflex was present, a favorable sign in unconsciousness, as he had learned at the front.

Toward the middle of the afternoon the sun, which had shone brilliantly throughout the morning, went permanently behind the clouds. Another snowstorm was beating up. A few soft flakes began to fall.

Suddenly a distant hubbub broke out and continued. There was no mistaking what was meant. The York boat had been discovered.

The Free Traders began to beat across the island, calling to one another. Their voices gradually sounded nearer. Crouching beside the girl in the thick of the brush, Lee waited. At a distance he saw two of them pass through the trees and disappear. The shouting died away.

As soon as they had passed him, leaving the girl where she lay, Lee slipped softly through the undergrowth, making his way back to the sandy spit. His expectations were confirmed. The York boat had disappeared.

Reascending the spruce tree, he saw the two York boats moored to the motor boat in mid-channel, a man with a rifle seated in it on guard.

Lee made his way back, and waited while the afternoon wore away. The snow fell thicker. He took off his mackinaw and placed it over the girl. She was no longer in a coma, but semi-conscious, and unaware of her surroundings. She muttered and tossed; sometimes it was all Lee could do to quiet her. And the disjointed fragments of speech that fell from her lips indicated the same mental anguish that she had revealed to him during their ride through the range.

He shuddered to think of her mental agony if she had awakened to find herself a prisoner in Rathway's power at the promontory.

And even in the darkness of their desperate situation, he drew new hope from his resolution. And gradually his plans formed in his mind. Then night began to fall, and Lee breathed a vast sigh of relief. Unless his plans miscarried, they should be safe upon the mainland well before midnight.

These depended, of course, upon his being able to capture one of the boats. The best plan for the Free Traders would have been to have withdrawn them to the promontory, knowing that Lee could not swim with the girl across that stretch of ice-cold water. Lee felt sure that, in their eagerness, feeling secure in their numbers, they would encamp upon the shore, either beaching the boats or leaving them anchored under the single guard in the middle channel.

About half an hour after dark he set out on his investigations. He moved through the brush as softly as any Indian, and, booted though he was, hardly a twig cracked under his feet. Making his way toward the central portion, where the trees were sparser and the ground undulating, he soon discovered what he was looking for, the distant glow of a camp fire.

Four men were seated around the fire, drinking and conversing loudly. It was impossible to make out their faces in the darkness, but Lee waited patiently until the light of the fire fell upon each, and ascertained that none of them was bearded.

Rathway, then, was either in charge of the motor boat, with the sixth man, or had been forced to return to his headquarters, owing to his condition. Lee circled the camp, and discovered, to his joy, the York boat, beached on the shore about twenty-five yards distant. The men had not troubled to draw it up on birch rollers, where it would have been a matter of time and labor to float it again; it lay with its keel in the mud, careening to the lap of the little waves.

Lee cogitated. If the men got drunk that night, it might be possible to make off with the boat without arousing them. On the other hand the probabilities were that through fear of Rathway they would stay sober enough to guard it effectively. And the delay was telling upon his nerves.

He decided that at all cost it was necessary to make the attempt as quickly as possible.

He made his way back to the girl, strapped the pack on his back, and, taking her in his arms, began to approach the encampment by a circuitous route through the trees.

In the darkness, staggering over the uneven ground, and lashed as he was, the task was an all but impossible one. But, added to this, the girl awakened and began talking disjointedly, sometimes crying out in fear. It was almost impossible to quiet her.

She clung to him, moaning. For a whole hour he tried to assuage her terrors, until at last she dropped asleep again from weakness and weariness.

Once more Lee took up his task. Now the campfire came into view. The four men were still visible about it, shouting and quarreling; they were drunk, but not drunk enough to render escape without a fight possible.

Creeping almost inch by inch, to the extension of raspberry brambles, Lee followed it down to the water's edge and laid the girl down. He looked at her apprehensively for a moment, but her eyes were closed in sleep and her breathing was soft and regular.

He was within five and twenty yards of them before they perceived him, and then they seemed to take him for one of their party. Lee's impressions were of confused shouting and challenging. His coolness disconcerted and bewildered them; he was almost upon them before Pierre recognized him.

"By gar, it's dat d--n four-flusher!" he shouted. And on the instant Lee was into the thick of them. A tall ruffian grasped a rifle and rushed at him. Lee fired. The man, shot through the hand, dropped the rifle, and uttering a howl of pain, took to his heels in the undergrowth.

A second man was aiming at him. Lee brought the butt of his pistol down upon his head, and the man, collapsing in a mumbering heap, lay face upward upon the ground. Shorty was pulling desperately at a gun. Lee swung at him, missed his skull, but knocked him sidewise with a blow that laid his cheek open to the bone. Shorty dropped and lay still.

Pierre, who had made no movement of aggression, was staring at Lee stupidly.

"Hands up, d--n you!" Lee shouted. Pierre's arms went up to their full height. Lee frisked him, took his gun, took Shorty's and the third man's, and tossed them into the undergrowth as far as he could fling them. He stooped and picked up the rifle that the first man had dropped. And, within a few seconds of the opening melee, Lee found himself, by virtue of the surprise, master of the situation.

But there was no time to be lost, for the tall ruffian who had fled was howling somewhere along the shore, and all depended upon the nearness of the motor boat. Lee, covering Pierre, backed quietly to the place where he had laid the girl. He picked her up, and ran toward the boat with her.

Instantly Pierre's figure was blotted out in the darkness. Lee had set down the rifle when he picked up the girl; he placed her in the bottom of the boat, ran back and found it and threw it inside, together with the pack from his shoulders. He raised the heavy anchor. He threw all his weight against the boat, which receded in a trail of viscous mud until it was abreast. Lee leaped in, seized the oars, fired another shot in warning. All the while the wounded man was howling along the shore.

Lee pushed desperately with the oars till he was in deeper water. He pulled furiously for mid-channel. As he did so there came a sound that for one instant almost unnerved him, what with the psychological effect of that all-day listening to it—the chugging of the engine. Then, as he reached open water, he saw by the light of the pallid moon that issued for a moment through the storm-clouds, the black speck of the motor boat trailing the second York boat dimly.

But suddenly the rattling of the engine died in a splutter. The motor boat was about a hundred yards distant. The next instant the bang of a rifle confirmed Lee's hopes. The engine had either run out of gasoline or had become out of order.

Instantly Lee was pulling as he had never pulled before. Again the rifle sounded. Twice more. Now the motor boat was almost invisible in the darkness. Then, simultaneously with another discharge, something struck Lee a violent blow in the side that knocked him on his back.

He was up in a moment, and pulling with all his might, though he knew he was weighing everything. The Free Traders would not know that he was wounded, they would certainly abandon the pursuit as hopeless; he must carry the girl a mile into the forest, where the light of their fire would not betray them, returning for the pack in the morning. He suffered no pain, and seemed momentarily endowed with some extraordinary vitality, but there was a numbness in his side which seemed to be spreading upward.

He had no idea how serious the wound was; everything that was himself was set upon the completion of the last phase of his task, so that, if he died, the girl should at least come back to consciousness in the forest and not in Rathway's hands.

He struggled on, felt himself weakening, felt himself choking, and set down the girl in order to draw breath. But as he raised her again, he felt a sudden stab of agonizing pain, and something grated beneath his heart. He realized then that the rifle bullet had split one of his ribs, probably glancing off again, and that the bone had given way under the strain of the girl's weight.

In a way this reassured him, for a glancing wound of that kind was not likely to be a serious one. On the other hand, the agony was growing unendurable. Every step was now torture. Three or four times, when it seemed impossible to proceed, Lee was forced to set the girl down and, leaning against a tree, to gasp for breath.

Eternities seemed to be passing. All his left side was now a flaming hell of pain, which radiated from the wound throughout his body, and this was becoming an automaton, driven by the will. He was no longer conscious of muscular control over it. A hundred times he felt that the next step must be his last. And yet some monitor in the back of his consciousness kept insisting that he must complete the mile he had set himself, and would not let him drop in his tracks.

And as he staggered on, he was surprised to hear himself talking to himself, and he listened with mild interest, as if he were overhearing the remarks of a third person.

He heard himself solemnly addressing Estelle, thanking her for having relieved him of the last vestige of the love that he had once felt toward her. He had thought he loved her once, and that love, although unworthily bestowed, had not been wholly folly. Estelle had had many good qualities of heart; she was reckless and passionate, but there was nothing petty or mean about her. She was the daughter of a well-to-do lumberman, and she had been well educated; but there was some taint in her blood, some atavistic tendency that drove her upon wild and erratic courses.

For a while she had been on the stage, and had earned some reputation as a clever mimic. For a long time Lee had known nothing of the stories that were being circulated by all the gossips of the town, nor that her name was associated with that of a man named Kean, whom he had never met. Kean was one of a gang selling liquor to the Indians, and he had a wife in Chicago.

Lee learned, about a month before the date set for their marriage, that he was the commiseration and the laughing stock of the little community.

When, burning with anger, he went to confront Estelle, it was to find that she had been warned of his discovery, and had fled from the place—to Kean, the gossips said.

Lee never made any inquiries. As soon as possible he secured a transfer to another post; then he was sent to France, and his life had no room for feminine interests.

About ten months previously, however, while in the trenches, he had had a letter from Mrs. Kean, enclosing a copy of a marriage certificate. She was thinking of a divorce, and wanted to know whether he could give her any information about the couple. Lee knew nothing of either.

But the letter had shaken him a good deal, as had the meeting with Estelle that day as well. What an end for her!

It was a queer personality that talked, the fragments of the man whom he had once been, and Lee discovered that this lost portion of his personality was recalling to mind all sorts of queer things, quite trivial and unimportant episodes of that unhappy entanglement. And so one part of him held colloquy with the shade of the woman who was now nothing to him, while the other held the unconscious girl, and drove the lagging body onward.

And to his horror, in that dim light the girl he clasped seemed to take on the aspect of Estelle, and he found it was to her that he was talking.

But then he heard her moan slightly, and pulled himself together. This was not Estelle, it was his comrade of the range whom he was carrying. The phantom disappeared into the past, and once more Lee was aware of that odd sense of tender companionship. He rested her head more gently against his shoulder.

At last, when he was satisfied that he had gone the mile he had set himself, he laid the girl down gently on the ground, and, breaking off some spruce branches, he made a bed for her and wrapped her in his mackinaw again.

And with that it was all he could do to hold himself together while he examined his own wound as best he could.

He saw that it was a mere flesh wound. The bone had taken the force of the bullet, which had glanced off, and one broken end was working into the flesh.

He tore some strips from his shirt, and having brought the ends into position, bound them tightly. And then he dropped to the ground and the girl's feet and lapsed immediately into a delirious slumber.

DEATH OF H. F. SALYER.

The community was grieved to learn that on Thursday afternoon, February 12th, at five-thirty, death had claimed Mr. H. F. Salyer, a pioneer citizen of Williamson county. Mr. Salyer had been in ill health for about one month and continued to grow worse. Early Thursday morning he called his loved ones around him and told them that he realized the end was not far off and that he was prepared and ready to meet his Maker. What a blessed consolation is that to those who loved him and an assurance that those who trust in the Lord while living have no fear when the time comes for the soul to part from its temporary place here and to go into that great beyond. It was beautiful to see with what great patience and fortitude this grand old man bore his suffering and his every waking thought were not for himself but for the comfort of those who watched and ministered unto him.

All that medical skill and loving hands of friends and loved ones could do was done to give him relief but on Thursday afternoon the Great Physician saw fit to give him a more blessed and permanent relief and called him to that place where suffering and ills have no place in the divine plan.

At the last, Mr. Salyer's going was typical of the life that he had lived, quiet and peaceable. He closed his tired eyes in slumber to awake immediately in that beautiful isle of Somewhere promised to us and prepared for those who walk in the fear of the Lord while here below.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Taylor of the Christian Church at the home of Mrs. D. W. Queen, sister of deceased at four o'clock Friday afternoon. Interment following in the family lot at the Odd Fellows cemetery. The profuse floral offerings, words of consolation and telegrams received attested to the reverence in which Mr. Salyer was held.

Mr. Henderson F. Salyer was born in McGoffin county, Kentucky, on November 16th, 1849, hence he was seventy-six years, two months and sixteen days old. He moved to Georgetown, Texas, in January 1878 and has resided in Williamson county ever since. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. H. T. Davidson of Denton, Texas, and Mrs. N. M. McClellan of Georgetown. He was preceded to the grave sixteen days before by his only son, Mr. J. W. Salyer of Desdemonia, Texas. Three brothers and two sisters survive him: Mr. J. W. Salyer of Butler, Okla.; Mr. F. N. Salyer of Bakersville, Calif.; Mr. J. B. Salyer of Taylor, Texas; Mrs. F. B. Whipkey of Colorado, Texas and Mrs. D. W. Queen of Georgetown.

MORE EQUIPMENT.

The Colorado Record in a recent issue states that a new press has been added to the job department and that the investment in equipment, etc., is now about $50,000. This is quite a large investment for a weekly paper, but the business is there and the Whipkey's are realizing on their investment.—Dallas Auxiliary.

Snyder Paving Money in Bank

The money from the sale of Snyder's paving bonds is now in the Snyder National bank, the total amount being $51,023.47. Snyder's paving bonds sold for more perhaps than any other paving bonds that were ever sold in West Texas.—Scurry County Times.

SWEETWATER MAN WANTED IN CONNECTION WITH KILLING

From Sweetwater Reporter: Officers late Saturday were still hunting for S. J. Wilson, waiter in a local cafe, who is wanted in connection with the fatal shooting of Wayne (Cowboy) Robbins at Abilene about midnight Friday. Both Abilene and Sweetwater authorities searched for the man during Saturday but he has not yet been located, according to late reports.

Reports reaching Sweetwater were to the effect that Robbins was shot at 11:35 Friday night in the Abilene residence of Wilson in the presence of Mrs. Wilson. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson have two children who were witnesses to the shooting.

Wilson had been employed for several days at a Sweetwater cafe. He is reported to have drawn five dollars of his pay late Friday, telling his employer that he was going to Abilene but would return Saturday morning. He went to Abilene on the late east bound Texas & Pacific passenger train, police stated.

Early Saturday morning, Wilson returned to Sweetwater, went to the cafe and asked for his full pay. He drank a cup of coffee and told his employer that he had killed a man in Abilene. He added that he had already made bond. This was found to be untrue after Sweetwater officers got in touch with Abilene authorities.

By this time, Wilson had disappeared. Local officers believe that he might possibly return to Abilene or Sweetwater police to give himself up.

The slain man was also a former cafe employee in Sweetwater.

Night Coughing—How to Stop It

Night coughing which, through loss of valuable sleep, often makes you feel utterly worn-out and useless during the day, and by quickly weakening the system lays you open to the most dangerous infections, can now be promptly checked by a very simple treatment. People who have hardly been able to rest on account of coughing spells have found that they can sleep the whole night through undisturbed often after the very first trial.

The treatment is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery. You simply take a teaspoonful at night before retiring and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals the soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which is the real cause of the cough. The result is that you usually sleep as soundly as a babe the very first night, and the cough goes in a very short time.

The prescription contains no opiates or harmful drugs. Excellent for children as well as grown-ups. For coughs, chest colds, hoarseness, sore throat, spasmodic croup, bronchitis, laryngitis and bronchial asthma. At all good druggists. Ask for

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

An unusual amount of serious sickness among our church members greatly reduced the attendance last Sunday. We had the smallest audience for some time. We hope this condition speedily improves. Our sympathy, prayers and hopes for the speedy recovery of those now suffering are lovingly extended. Paul very truly stated that case when he said: "When one member of the body suffers, all suffer with it." We know many were unavoidably kept at home, but we feel some might have come who did not have an excuse they could conscientiously give to their Lord and Master, for staying away.

An estimate was made at the last meeting of the Pastor's Association, which disclosed the fact that based on the report from the recent census, only about one-third of the resident white population of the city are either enrolled, or attend religious service. This is appalling. It calls for real sober thinking. How may we reach the unchurched folks of this town?

We have service every Sunday morning and evening. We are trying to make the services attractive and beneficial to any and all who attend. The glad hand of welcome is freely offered all who avail themselves of the privilege. If you will not come with us, go some where else, but GO.

Next Lord's day evening at 7:30, we will continue our study in the series on the Nineteenth Century Reformation, and will study especially the life and labors of "Raccoon John Smith," of Kentucky. We believe you will enjoy the address. You are cordially invited to hear this sermon. Bible school in the morning at 9:45. Communion and preaching at 11:00 a. m.
J. E. CHASE, Pastor.

Presbyterian Church

We are glad to have Mr. Thomas back with us. He will look good to the Sunday school next Sunday. Mr. Thomas, we missed you while you were away, however were glad you could take the needed rest. Mr. Jerold Riordan did fine work as superintendent. We, as a Sunday school, are very proud of our two leaders. Our school opens at 9:45; every one on time all the time. Sermon and worship at 11 and 7:30; Christian Endeavor 6:45. W. M. Elliott, Pastor

All Saint's Church

Dr. F. B. Eteson, priest in charge of All Saints church will conduct a Lenten service Thursday evening, at 7:30 o'clock. Holy Communion will be celebrated Friday morning at 9:30. The public is cordially invited.

METHODIST CHURCH.

Sunday school 9:45 a. m., A. A. Dorn, superintendent. We had a good one last Sunday but we can beat that come on let us do it next Sunday. Preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Sunday morning the Sunday school will open with a missionary program, and the eleven o'clock hour Mr. Garrett will give us the missionary situation in our church at the present time in a ten minute speech. Our subject Sunday morning will be, What Shall I Do With Jesus, Which is Called Christ? Following sermon we will have the Holy Communion. At the prayer meeting on Wednesday evening we want to have a Church meeting. Some things demand that we get together and work out. Let everybody take notice and be present.

We will begin on Friday evening, March 6th at 7:30 p. m. on our book, The Task Ahead. We want the whole church to be present and join in the study and discussion of these topics. The topics for discussion the first evening, Friday, the sixth, are:

- Methodism and missions—Lawlis.
  - The Centenary Advance—Mrs. W. P. Leslie.
  - The Centenary Delinquency—W. H. Garrett.
  - Deficits in missions—Mrs. J. G. Marritt.
  - Our Present situation—Judge C. C. Thompson.
- This program will be continued through a part of the next week. Come to our services—the congregations are good and growing. We received four new members again last Sunday. We have received fourteen new in three weeks. Keep the good work going. This shows interest, prayer and some work. Every body come.

MRS. WALLACE REID'S SPECIAL PHOTOPLAY BE SHOWN HERE

One of the most interesting announcements of recent date is that of showing of Mrs. Wallace Reid's new motion picture special, "Broken Laws," which has been secured as a benefit performance for the Colorado Civic League, on Thursday and Friday of next week. After the death of her husband, the famous picture star, Wallace Reid, Mrs. Reid made the announcement that she would devote her life to the betterment of humanity through the medium of motion pictures. Her first success in this respect was "Human Wreckage," well known for its intense and dramatic dealing with the terrible drug traffic. "Broken Laws," her new picture production is entirely a different type of picture, and is said to strike closer to the hearts of men and women than any picture ever offered the American public. It is a powerful drama of mother love, and the elements that enter into the lives of present day society. It paints a picture so vividly clear, reflecting the innermost love of mothers and fathers, which in many events have been swayed to the wrecking point, and where the flutter of emotions becomes mirror to the souls of humanity and a guiding post to the throngs that travel this brief span of life, in making the world a better and safer place in which to live. To say that this picture is a universal success would be mildly putting it, according to the indorsements of Civic leaders, Municipal Officials and those prominent both state and Nationally in official and exalted positions, all over the United States. It was indeed fortunate that such a picture could be secured as a benefit for the Colorado Civic League, and such was only possible through the efforts of Mr. Bonner of the Mission management, who was extended special favors by the distributors in order to secure it. The Civic League now have tickets in their hands for sale, and they insist that every one interested purchase from them, as it means more to them in a financial way.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL NEWS ABOUT WESTBROOK AND VICINITY BY MRS. CORA GRIGGS.

Mrs. Griggs is also authorized to receive and receipt for all subscriptions for The Colorado Record and to transact all other business for the Whipkey Printing Company in Westbrook and vicinity. See her and take your County paper.

Mr. Rice our city marshal captured a still on the old Snyder ranch last week capturing four men, all of Colorado. The still seemed to be a portable one as it could be easily moved about. A very large box resembling a dry goods box all lined inside with sheet iron very strongly built was found to contain the still. Port holes were also visible in its steel sides so as to shoot from, but the officers caught them napping and Mr. Rice had half of them handcuffed before they knew he was anywhere about.

Mr. Oglesby who was cashier for the Baptist ladies at their chicken dinner here Saturday reported a good success for the amount taken is $47.00. There will be a trades day every other Saturday in Westbrook. Last Saturday was a big day here, people coming from every direction for miles around to witness the races, foot races, fat man's races, baby shows and other amusements is the order of these days. Come next Saturday week and bring your race horses and pretty babies, purses will be given to the winners. Every merchant in Westbrook will have something on sale these trade days this is the place to trade off what you don't want, to keep and get what you want cheap so bring what you want to trade and get what you want to get and enjoy the day besides. Libburn Oliver was carried to the sanitarium in Colorado Tuesday and had his leg re-set. Libburn was run over by a car in November and his leg had not healed. He will remain in the sanitarium several days.

BAPTIST NOTES.

Next Sunday will be the first Sunday in March. We want to start the month off aright by having a strong attendance at all the services. February was designated by the church to create sentiment about a new church building. On next Wednesday evening, at the church, the entire membership is urged to be present and then say whether or not we want to go further in the matter of building at this time. If you are for building we want you present or if you think best not to build at this time we want you present. All we ask is that the membership come together and express itself about the matter. That is all we want but we do want that and feel that we have a right from this church to know one way or the other. There has been considerable talk about building now, let's settle the matter one way or the other. Bring your friends to church next Sunday at both hours. M. C. BISHOP, Pastor.

COLORADO NEAR SCENES OF ACTION IN "LAST OF DUANES"

"No picture could hold greater interest for Texans than Zane Grey's powerful story, "The Last of the Duanes" recently produced as one of the great outstanding motion picture specials of the season," stated Manager Bonner of the Mission theatre, who will present the photoplay during the first three days of next week, beginning Monday at 1:30. This thrilling story portrays and epoch in the lives of men of might and daring—men who put law and order in the isolated frontiers of our grand and glorious state. These generals of the days when horsemanship reigned as the skill of the Plains, that so vividly marked the mile-posts of an expanding frontier in the Great West roamed the vicinities of our own thriving community. Colorado is not many miles distant from the thrilling scenes of this remarkable story of Texas Ranger activity. It will no doubt be one of the most inspiring treats of the season to local people to witness this Nationally famous motion picture spectacle.

Zane Grey's story is one of the most popular of his famous writings, and so faithful has the motion picture perpetuated this bit of historic romance, that the William Fox company has dedicated the picture to the "heroes of the Western Plains." Characters dear to the hearts of Americanism, like Sam Houston, David Crockett, General Custer, Kit Carson, Buffalo Bill, Daniel Boone, Pawnee Bill and many others. Tom Mix as Buck Duane is said to reach his greatest height of fame in Western roles in this master photoplay. He is supported by Marion Nixon and a prominent cast. The picture is to have a three days showing at the Mission theatre, beginning next Monday afternoon at 1:30. The management asserts that he expects the picture to please his patrons as thoroughly as any production appearing on the seasons releases, which no doubt can be taken to mean a stamp of personal approval.

FORD NEWS.

DETROIT, Feb. 23.—The Ford Motor Company enter trans-Atlantic shipping, operating its own fleet for carrying manufactured automobile parts to the company's foreign plants Edsel B. Ford, president, announced.

At the same time, Mr. Ford announced that the company has just purchased the steamer East India from the Emergency Fleet Corporation, as the first large unit in the proposed fleet to be put into foreign service.

"We have decided to enlarge our fleet to include large ocean going vessels which will enable us to ship to our European plants and will proceed with these plans at once," Mr. Ford said.

"Our decision in this matter has been prompted by the successful operation of our two small ships, the Steamers Oneida and Onondaga, during the last few months.

"These ships have been engaged in carrying automobile and tractor parts to our assembly plants along the Southern coast of the United States and to South America, taking on other commercial cargoes on return trips north. They were put into service on a rather experimental basis and have proven the feasibility of extending our own shipping service to Europe."

The East Indian, which the company has just purchased from the Emergency Fleet Corporation, is in the yards of the Sun Shipbuilding Company at Chester, Pa., where it will be reconitioned. It has twin screws, driven by reciprocating steam engines, but these engines will be replaced by Diesel engines of the modern type, Mr. Ford said. The vessel is to be entirely refitted and plans already made call for having it ready for service within six months.

The East Indian was built in 1918. It has three decks, is 485 feet in length overall, has a 58-foot beam, a capacity of 12,500 tons, a 28-foot draft and a speed of 12 to 13 knots an hour. It makes the fifth unit in the present Ford fleet.

The Ford Motor Company first entered the shipping field last summer when it acquired the Steamers Oneida and Onondaga and put them into service on the Great Lakes carrying ore and lumber from the Ford properties in northern Michigan to the River Rouge plant at Detroit. Later the big steel freighters, Henry Ford 11 and the Benson Ford, were added to the fleet.

The company sent its first ship to a foreign port November 5th last when the Steamer Onondaga, carrying a cargo of automobile parts sailed from the Rouge plant at Detroit for the Ford assembly plant at Buenos Aires, Argentine, South America. The Steamer Oneida followed a short time later with a cargo of manufactured automobile parts for plants at New Orleans, La., Jacksonville, Fla., and Houston, Texas.

The Oneida is at present in New York loading for another voyage to south coast assembly plants of the company. The Onondaga, which arrived in New York a few days ago with a cargo of linseed from South America, is to be fitted up for its inter-coastal voyage on which it will carry a cargo through the Panama

MEMORY TEST SUBMITTED TO STUDENTS OF HIGH SCHOOL

The memory test is considered one of the most effective means of determining the general knowledge of the student, whether he be enrolled in a class at high school or alone in his home trying to solve a cross word puzzle. If you are able to answer readily a battery of questions touching on science, history, invention and the like, the chances are in your favor that you possess a capable and thinking mind.

Thus the mental test which comes along once in a while for students of the high school to tussle with. The following battery of questions were propounded the student body of the Colorado High school last week and it would be interesting for you to know the high percentage of correct answers given. Try your hand at answering these questions:

- What causes a new moon?
- What is helium? Its Use?
- Name six trunkline railroads of Texas.
- Who invented the sewing machine?
- Why is linseed oil mixed with paint?
- Why is no delta formed at the mouth of the Amazon river?
- What and where is Shasta?
- Who wrote "The Call of the Wild"?
- Who invented the magnetic telegraph?
- Who constructed and laid the first Atlantic cable?
- What territory was known as "No Man's Land"?
- What is the number of the congressional district in which you live?
- How many senators in the U. S. senate? In the Texas senate?
- How long does a hen set to hatch hen eggs.
- If any dry material that easily burn is fired on a still day, the blaze goes straight up in cone shape, large end at bottom, why?
- Starting at Odessa (in Russia) give shortest all water route to San Francisco.
- Why does the growing of clover on land enrich the land?
- How many pounds of the following make a bushel; corn; wheat; cotton seed; sweet potatoes; red beans; Irish potatoes?
- What causes iron to rust?
- There is no such thing as color. Then, why do we seem to observe the various colors, red, blue, yellow, etc?
- If one chews a grain of corn it at first will be almost tasteless, but after chewing a little more, it tastes sweet. Why?

TEXAS EXES TO MEET.

As is the custom all over the world wherever a handful of Texas University students can gather, the Texas Exes of Colorado will celebrate Monday night, March 2, with a banquet at the American Legion Hut. There are something like thirty ex-students in Colorado, and with the An-Exes, or wives and husbands of Exes, there should be a good attendance. The banquet to be served at 8:30 is to be furnished by the women of the American Legion Auxiliary. Exes and An-exes who plan to attend should notify either Mrs. J. T. Pritchett or Joe Earnest by Friday night.

HUDSON-ESSEX LEADERS IN COACH FIELD, IS CLAIMED

"Hudson-Essex has built more than 200,000 coaches—and is rapidly on its way to the quarter millionth, declares O. B. Price, Hudson-Essex dealer. "And today at a time when the motor trade is only fairly active, the big Hudson-Essex plant is running night and day to keep pace with the volume of public demand for these enclosed cars at less than open car prices.

"This tidal wave of public demand for coaches answers completely the question, 'Who originated the coach.' The answer is: The motoring public. "The motoring public had been waiting for years for this type of car when Hudson-Essex engineers and built it. In the industry of course, Hudson-Essex was the first company to perceive this demand and to fill it. As a result Hudson-Essex has built nearly 200,000 more coaches than anyone else and has made its name almost synonymous with the coach. But after all the real originator of the coach was the motorist who long had wanted a closed car, not too heavy or elaborate or expensive.

"How remarkable it is to realize that closed cars in volume are only three years old—that it is now three years since Hudson-Essex introduced the idea of the coach, an enclosed car to sell at a new low standard of price.

"It is remarkable to think that up to the time of the Coach the automobile industry had made magnificent strides in all phases of volume and standardized production, except in the manufacture of enclosed bodies. Closed bodies were still made by slow and costly methods a century or more old. The Coach changed that—it was the first enclosed car which could be made under the same system of progressive manufacture which had brought wonderful economies elsewhere in the industry and made universal motoring possible. Thus Hudson-Essex offered closed car comforts at open car prices.

Old-Time Remedy Best for Heavy Coughs

Stubborn, racking, deep-seated coughs that refuse to yield to other remedies are often checked overnight with the old-time cough medicine that our parents and grandparents "swore by." In spite of modern discoveries nothing has been found to replace good old Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey for giving quick, sure relief for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, spasmodic croup and other throat irritations. Doctors say that the pine tar quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing, while the honey not only gives a pleasant taste, but helps soothe irritation.

But be sure you get the original Dr. Bell's and no other. There have been dozens of imitations, but the original is still the best. It often stops the worst cough in 24 hours. Contains no injurious drugs, so can be given even to young children. Insist on Dr. Bell's. Only 30c at any good druggist's.

of the death of Miss Lucile Woodard. Miss Lucile had been one of our number for only a few months, but even in that brief time we had all learned to love her. The sickness from which she died was not of recent origin, but it had seemed that since coming here her condition had greatly improved, and it was hoped that she would completely recover. The end, coming as suddenly as it did, was a great shock to her family and her friends. Surrounded by sorrowing relatives and friends, the mortal body of Miss Lucile, from which the immortal spirit had departed, was, on Wednesday afternoon consigned to its last long rest in the little new cemetery at Hyman. Rev. M. C. Bishop of the First Baptist Church of Colorado conducted the funeral ceremonies, paying an eloquent tribute to the life and character of Miss Lucile while on this earth, and voicing the confidence of an abiding faith in the certainty of her reward in the life beyond the grave.

Little Miss Ruby Britton, daughter of Mrs. E. O. Britton, has been quite ill, but we are glad to learn that she is now very much better.

Mr. G. D. Foster, County Supt. of Public Instruction, visited us one day this week, and while here left a petition to be circulated for two elections. One of these will call for the raising of the school tax from 50 cts. to 75 cents on the $100.00, in order that State aid may be had, and our school revenues increased to a point where a third teacher may be employed, and also so that bus lines may be established to bring to school those scholars living in the remoter parts of our precinct. The other will call for the voting of additional bond issue so that another room may be added to our building. We already have two rooms and two teachers, but some express doubt if another room and another teacher will fully serve our community a year from now. When it is remembered that as a community we are only two years old, and that our present building is only a little over a year old, we take pride in our record. We also believe that the fact that not one dissenting voice has been raised, not even by the large land owners of our precinct, most of whom are non residents and will not profit directly by our progress, is unusual.

Mr. Carl Lowry, of DeLeon, Tex., is having a splendid farm cleared on his tract of land directly in front of the school. Mr. Lowry with his family will move to his place here later in the year. The land will be worked this year by his father-in-law and brother-in-law, Mr. J. M. and J. F. Black, lately of DeLeon, now of Hyman.

Mr. George Foley, of Big Spring visited us one day this week. Mr. Foley is a contractor, and is now moving the Stoneham house to its new location near the Hyman store. It will be the future residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hyman.

Mr. Ed Crockett, of Cross Plains, Callahan County, was a visitor here a few days ago. Mr. Crockett is closing a deal for 200 acres of splendid land here. It is his purpose to move to this land the house in which he now lives, said to be one of the best farm homes in Callahan county. We expect him, and also his four brothers, all of whom are buying land here, to be among the leading spirits of our community when they get located here.

Timbers for the derrick for the oil well to be known as the Scott No. 1, to be drilled by Sloan & Owens, are being unloaded here daily. This well to be drilled on geology of Messrs. Udden & Udden, is located in the center of the northeast quarter of survey No. 6, of Lavaca Navigation Co., Block No. 19, belonging to Mr. Robert C. Scott. The elder Udden is the Dean of the Geological Department of the University of Texas. The drilling block was furnished by the four heirs of W. T. Scott, formerly a leading citizen of Colorado and Mitchell county. Three of these owners, Will T. Scott, John P. Scott and Mrs. W. A. Heusinger, now live in San Antonio, Texas; the fourth, Mr. Robert C. Scott lives at Hyman, where he is developing into farms several sections of the land belonging to him. We confidently expect to be able to report in an early issue of this paper the location of additional wells on this ranch. It is expected that the next location will be in an entirely different part of the ranch, 7 or 8 miles from the Scott No. 1, either on land belonging to Mrs. Harry Hyman or on some of the land recently sold by her. It looks now like 1925 might be a very important year for this new community.

Rev. Mr. Braman, of Big Spring, the Baptist minister who conducts services here, held his regular monthly services on Saturday night the 21, and morning and evening services on Sunday, the 22nd.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodard, and Mr. M. E. Woodard, of Waco, Texas, were here this week, attending the funeral of Miss Lucile Woodard. They are grandfather, grandmother and uncle, respectively, of deceased.

Mr. Frank L. Andrews of Hyman, is a recent subscriber to the Colorado Record. He says he must have all the county news and the best place he knows to get it is out of the Record. Everybody in this community ought to take the county paper.

Some work is being done this week on Hackberry Creek where the new county road crosses. This community is not going to be satisfied long with any kind of crossing short of a good bridge. Every pound of freight that comes into and goes out of this community must cross this creek, and the banks are too steep. There are 40 or 50 families here who must haul their cotton and other freight over this road. We are entitled to a bridge, and we are going after it, and if the merchants and business men of Colorado are awake to their interests they are going to back us up. It is not as far from here to Coahoma as it is from here to Colorado, and the gins and merchants of that town say they would like to serve us, and will do what is necessary to help us get a good road out that way. The trade of this ranch belongs to Colorado, and most of us want to see it go there, but we want a decent road to get over.

Smoke is seen daily now at the Douthitt well a few miles southwest of the center of this settlement. It is understood that this well is about 2100 feet deep, and looking good, several gas showings having been recently encountered.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Scott, who have been visiting in San Antonio, have returned. Mr. Scott is quite a golfer, took part in the State Tournament recently held in San Antonio. He was city champion of San Antonio and also champion of several different clubs there until recently, having forfeited these titles when he came out here to develop some of his land. He now says golfing may not be better exercise than grubbing, but that he likes it better.

FAIRVIEW FACTS

We have been having some awful windy weather for the last few days. The sickness is thinning out in this community now, except Mrs. R. A. Badgett and family, who have the small pox.

A large crowd of young folks went to Ira Friday night to a play. A nice program was rendered.

Miss Versie Pace and Miss Maxine Womack spent Sunday with Miss Gladys Jackson.

RUPTURE

Specialist will be in Colorado, Texas, from Feb. 27th to March 9th, inclusive, Hotel Barcroft.

Dr. Irven E. Johnson of Dallas, Texas, Specialist in the treatment of Rupture (Hernia) inventor of Ideal Surgical Appliances, is an expert and authority on this malady and its causes with 26 years of practical experience in this special work.

Dr. Johnson's method is mechanical treatment. His new device is known as the Ideal Surgical Appliance which works wonders with rupture in men, women and children. Do not neglect your children, prevent a life long-suffering. The time to cure is in youth. This appliance eliminates the necessity of the radical treatment (operation) which is more frequently attended with bad results than good. This treatment will not detain you one hour from your business, it is humane, something entirely different.

ADVICE AND EXAMINATION WILL BE GIVEN FREE

Dr. Johnson does not prescribe medicine nor diagnose chronic troubles. He only makes and fits his special appliances. No case too hard, no case of too long standing to be benefited. You cannot afford to miss this. This service cannot be had elsewhere at any cost. The price is not prohibitive, it is within reach of all. HUNDREDS are cured, ALL quickly relieved and benefitted. Some of which are right here in your midst. Ask me, it may be your neighbor or your friend. WHY go on suffering or taking the risk of a strangulated hernia when relief is at hand? It is my earnest desire to help you if you will be helped. Come any time. For appointment, phone 170. Ask for DR. JOHNSON. You will never regret an interview with him. Home Office: 840 Wilson Building, Dallas, Texas.

George Huth, who during the past several months has maintained a plumbing shop at Sweetwater, stated Monday that he would again open his shop here. Huth came to Colorado two years ago from Slaton.

The BULL'S EYE

Editor and Manager

Another 'Bull' Durham advertisement by Will Rogers, Ziegfeld Folies and screen star, and leading American humorist. More coming. Watch for them.

LOOKING at this Bull's picture here just reminds me of the Cattle Business, of which I am still in, in a small way.

Stock on the Exchange in Wall Street was never higher, Stock on a Ranch was never lower.

If a cattelman sold a Steer and they would let him weigh all the mortgages that was on the Steer with him, he would weigh 50 pounds heavier.

One Tenderloin Steak at a Hotel brings more than a Steer.

A quart of milk brings more than the Cow.

A Texas Long Horn brings $20, and one pair of Horn-rimmed glasses $25.

A Calf sells for $10 and its brains sell for $20.

The hide of a Cow brings $1 and one pair of shoes $18.

Two sacks of 'Bull' Durham is worth more than the Bull.

The only way to be in the Cattle business is with a picture of one.

Will Rogers

P. S. I'm going to write some more pieces that will appear in this paper. Keep looking for them.

MORE OF EVERYTHING for a lot less money. That's the net of this 'Bull' Durham proposition. More flavor, more enjoyment and a lot more money left in the bankroll at the end of a week's smoking.

DOG TAX NOTICE.

Article 48 and 54 of the City ordinance is as follows:

Article 48. It shall be unlawful for the owner or the harbinger of any animal of the dog kind, to harbor or permit such dog to run at large within the City of Colorado, without first having paid the City Collector an annual license tax upon each animal as follows:

On each male dog, $1.00.
On each female dog, $2.50.

Such tax to be due whenever such animals are found in the city limits.

Article 54. Any person violating and of the provisions of the foregoing articles pertaining to dogs shall be fined in any sum not exceeding $25; provided that the same shall not apply to dogs following countrymen and strangers through the city.

You will take notice that the ordinance regulating the keeping of dogs in the city of Colorado will be enforced, if you do not want your dog killed, you had better inform yourself as to the ordinance regulating the keeping of vicious dogs and female dogs in the city limits, and handle them as required by said ordinance.

Change of Life

"When change of life began on me," says Mrs. Lewis Lisher, of Lamar, Mo., "I suffered so with womanly weakness. I suffered a great deal of pain in my back and sides. My limbs would cramp. I didn't feel like doing my work, and there are so many steps for a woman to take on a farm. I was very anxious to get better. A friend recommended to me and I began using it. I certainly improved. I went through change of life without any trouble. I can highly recommend Cardui."

At the age of about 40 to 50 every woman has to pass through a critical time, which is called the Change of Life. At this time, great changes take place in her system, causing various painful and disagreeable symptoms. If you are approaching this period, or are already suffering from any of its troubles or symptoms, take Cardui. It should help you, as it has helped others.
