

COLORADO PUBLIC SCHOOLS FACE TERM MUCH PROMISE

SUPERINTENDENT NORMAN POINTS OUT FEATURES WHICH ARE LACKING

Superintendent Norman of the Colorado public schools submits an article for publication this week on the public school situation at Colorado. In the article he points out the fact that the citizens of this city are lending their enthusiastic support to every constructive program calculated to add to the growth and development of Colorado, but nothing of real constructive proportions has so far been definitely proposed for the public schools. The article follows:

As I see it, Colorado is like and overgrown boy largest at the pedal extremities and with hands so large as not to know what to do with them. Colorado has seen worse days. During the drouth and the war real estate values hit the rocks. With the return of good seasons for crops, and with the discovery of commercial oil the step from adversity to prosperity was so abrupt that many have not yet realized what has actually occurred. Property values have increased to several times their value six years ago. It is generally admitted in Colorado and talked elsewhere that Colorado is the best business town west of Abilene and for an equal investment, it surpasses Abilene.

In several respects Colorado takes on the appearance of a budding city. The paved streets are talked of from El Paso to Ft. Worth. They are the one largest advertising asset. The city lighting system is very creditable. The water facilities are adequate for the present population. Sewage and disposal plants are sufficient for present needs. The theatres apparently are commensurate with the size of the town. Colorado and Mitchell county have a splendid structure in their court house. Bonds have recently been voted to properly house the fire department and municipal offices. Hotel accommodations while not abundant, do not fall far short. Other creditable assets are: A fine newspaper and printing shop, a splendid laundry, the large tabernacle, oil mill, refinery, band, and organizations as the Chamber of Commerce and the Lions Club. While all the above are assets to make any city of less than five thousand swell with pride, yet in my judgment, the basic assets often overlooked are: The great trade territory with its fertile and comparatively virgin soil, the liquid gold—petroleum, the supply of which has doubtless merely been tapped, and last and of greatest importance is the great volume of business which has resulted in a large per capita bank deposits of her citizenship.

The assets before enumerated are essential to the progress of any community. In providing these the town has kept pace with its needs. There are at least three other institutions or assets, without which no town will long prosper. I refer to city parks, churches and the public schools. In providing these three Colorado has not kept pace with its needs as it has along other lines. However, we understand that the church situation will be taken care of this year. We have been advised also that property has been secured by the city for parking. Now as to the schools. In the first instance we wish it understood that there is a distinct difference between knocking and constructively pointing to the weaker points preparatory to enlisting the public to mend them. Again, the school situation is not unusual for it is very common for prosperous and growing town to provide for its schools as the needs arise.

It is too late to make plans to care for many of these needs for the coming session. There will be little opportunity to make large and visible improvement upon the present situation this year. It will be largely a

SEPT. 17, 18, 19 DATE FOR 4TH ANNUAL COUNTY FAIR

J. H. GREENE, PRESIDENT, TO RETIRE ACCOUNT HEALTH; BROWN SUCCEEDS.

The Fourth Annual Mitchell County Fair will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 17, 18 and 19, it was announced Thursday afternoon following a meeting of the board of directors at the Chamber of Commerce. The meeting was presided over by Miss Irma Sealy, second vice president of the association.

Resignation of J. H. Greene, president, was tendered and accepted by the board. In tendering his resignation Mr. Greene stated that he was acting upon advice of his physician who had ordered him to leave all work possible. Greene has been in delicate health for the past several months and plans taking a much needed rest. Fred Brown, president of the association last year and who was first vice president of the association, succeeds Mr. Greene as president. Mr. Brown is one of the most forward looking men of the county and has always manifested a keen interest in the fair organization.

A committee of C. M. Adams, R. P. Price, A. B. Blanks and Fred Brown was named to represent the fair association in supervising such plans as may be necessary to hold the fair this fall and determine the nature of amusements to be contracted for the three days. It is not yet known whether the association will contract for carnival attractions.

Departmental chairmen were named as follows:

Concessions, J. A. Sadler; Livestock, U. D. Wulfjen; Woman's Department, Mitchell County Federation of Women's Clubs; Boys and Girl's Agriculture, H. L. Atkins; Girls Clubs, Miss Sealy.

LARGE ICE FACTORY WILL BE BUILT IN COLORADO

A. G. Woody of Abilene announced Thursday night in an address at the Chamber of Commerce banquet that he and associates would begin at once the construction of a large and modern ice factory in Colorado. He praised Colorado for the progress being made on every hand and stated he and associates had determined to build the utility plant here in preference to all other West Texas cities.

It is understood that the plant will cost $60,000. Woody and associates recently stated to the Chamber of Commerce that they were coming to Colorado with no other one under any obligation to them. "We are not asking for any special favors, bonus, nor other special considerations. We have the money and will invest it in this town," he stated.

SCHOLARSHIP TO MISS STELL

At Sunday morning service at the Methodist Church, pledges to over half the amount for training at McMurry College of Miss Jessie Stell were made. Miss Stell has volunteered her life for missionary work, and it is the hope of the local church to assume her education at the above institution. After finishing school, Miss Stell will be given further advancement in training that will enable her to fulfill her mission, either in foreign or domestic service.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY STAR ATHLETE TO COACH COLORADO HIGH TEAMS THIS YEAR

This is Jim Cantrell, T. C. U. athlete, who will coach Colorado High school teams next year. He is letter man in football, basketball and track with the Horned Frogs and is one of the veterans who is largely responsible for T. C. U.'s record in the past two years.

COACH SIGNED FOR COLORADO NEXT TERM PROMISES MUCH

Big Jim Cantrell, signed to coach the teams of Colorado High school during the coming seasons, has made athletic history for T. C. U. in three sports every year he has played with the Horned Frogs.

In football, basketball and track Cantrell has been one of the best and is one of the veterans who carried the Horned Frog institution from the lesser athletic realms into immediate success in the big-time Southwest Athletic Conference.

"I sure will miss old Jim next year when it comes time to put those teams together again," said Coach Matty Bell of T. C. U. last spring in ruminating over his losses by graduation. The big fellow has been a wheel horse of T. C. U. athletics for four years and the Horned Frog mentor has plenty of reason to regret his departure to the West Texas town.

When Cantrell came to T. C. U. in the fall of 1921 he was a big and willing youth and little was known about him except that he looked like a promising athlete and that he was from Illinois. But his coaches found him a willing worker and a quick pupil, the two first needs of a good athlete, and soon had developed him into a great all-round man.

Under Matty Bell's teaching for the past two years he has not only responded wonderfully in actual performance but has learned Bell's tactics until he can teach them readily.

Cantrell will use with the Colorado lads the same systems which enabled Matty Bell to win second place honors in basketball for the past two years and to win third place in football one year for the Horned Frogs. That the Bell system is a good one is shown by the fact that those achievements were made with a school which was just getting started in the Southwest Conference. Cantrell intends to make it work with equal success in Colorado.

In football, Cantrell played full-back and did practically all of the place-kicking. His heavy lunges mixed with his ability to make quick dashes were demoralizing. It is a tragedy of Cantrell's athletic career that the 50-yard dash is not recognized for he is almost unbeatable in it owing to the quickness of his start although weight throwing is his event in track.

Big Jim Ready for Action

In basketball is where Cantrell rose to the heights with T. C. U. His height, his bulk, his accuracy in shooting, his long reach, and the willingness to get in and mix it when suffering from injury made him one of Bell's best men. When the Frogs were making their sensational fight for the championship last winter only to be nosed out by half a game, Cantrell was constantly in pain because of a loose-jointed shoulder but he played just the same.

Several times his shoulder popped out of joint while he was playing but he writhed in pain while it was being snapped back in place—and then resumed playing. It was a nifty performance.

In track Cantrell heaved the shot 44 feet in his last year of competition.

He was captain of the basketball team in 1924 when the Horned Frogs for the first time won second place in that sport with Texas University taking first place with their team of that year. In 1922 was elected to the honor of "representative student" of T. C. U. and a full-page picture of him placed in the college annual. He is a member of the "T" Association and joined the University Christian church last spring.

DR. COLEMAN RETAINED AS PRESIDENT OF C. OF C.

LAST FISCAL YEAR WAS BEST IN HISTORY, SPEAKERS DECLARE.

Dr. P. C. Coleman, for sixteen consecutive years president of the Colorado Chamber of Commerce, was again retained in that place by members of the organization in annual session at the Barcroft Hotel Thursday evening of last week. Speakers addressing the assembly praised the president for the constructive, and yet, conservative policies so well carried out by the Chamber of Commerce.

There was a decided change made in the directorate of the chamber when the 12 men to compose the board of directors for the ensuing fiscal year were named. There are six new names on this roster. Those elected are as follows:

R. Z. Price, Joe H. Smoot, T. W. Stone, A. B. Blanks, J. H. Greene, J. Raljh Lee, Joe Chemali, H. P. Ragan, J. Riordan, R. J. Wallace, C. R. Farris and C. M. Adams. The new board will meet at an early date to complete organization by electing a vice president, treasurer and secretary. Dr. Coleman and the other twelve men were elected on recommendation of a nominating committee composed of L. W. Sandusky, J. A. Buchanan and E. Keathley.

The annual banquet, which was held in the basement at Barcroft Hotel, was attended by a representative and enthusiastic number of citizens, Hon. C. E. Thomas, mayor and seven other citizens of Big Spring were present to represent their city at the meeting.

Dr. Coleman presided as master of ceremonies and after calling the assembly to order, Dr. T. J. Ratliff pronounced the invocation. In a few well chosen words the president in delivering his annual address, outlined some of the programs fostered and accomplished by the organization during the past year. The Secretary also delivered his annual address, covering work of the chamber during the period.

Addresses were delivered by L. W. Sandusky, J. M. Thomas, J. Riordan and M. S. Goldman of Colorado, A. G. Woody of Abilene, and each of the Big Spring delegation. Visiting speakers were especially profuse in their praise of this city and the constructive work being done in Colorado and Mitchell county by the Chamber of Commerce. They declared that Colorado was a city after which any other West Texas municipality might well pattern.

"I did not come to Colorado to address this assembly," Mayor Tomas of Big Spring stated, "But my mission and that of the other members of our party is to receive an inspiration. I have already received what I came for, and more too." Mayor Thomas stated that Big Spring was shortly to vote on a $60,000 street paving bond issue and planned other improvements. "We can consistently say that Colorado inspired us to do these things," he concluded.

The Colorado Booster Band came in for much praise by the several speakers. The appeal was made that the business and professional men of this city support the Chamber of Commerce stronger than ever, in that adequate funds be available through the Chamber of Commerce to easily finance the band and send the organization to Dallas to compete for State championship and to the next annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at Amarillo.

"I have enough ego in my system to make the declaration right here and now that when we go to Dallas in October to play with the champion band of East Texas for State supremacy, we will return home with victory written on our banners and sustain the faith the people of this county have in us," Director Goldman of the band stated in an address.

In discussing the budget for the ensuing year, speakers pledged to increase their membership dues greater

OIL INDUSTRY IS WORTH $150,000 PER MONTH

SPEAKER STATES ALL CRUDE BE REFINED IN THE COUNTY SOON

The oil industry in Mitchell county is worth from $150,000 to $160,000 per month to the citizenship of the county in the aggregate of business done, L. W. Sandusky, attorney for several of the Mitchell county operators, stated in speaking at the Chamber of Commerce banquet Thursday night. Sandusky declared that there were no figures available to intelligently estimate the amount of foreign capital expended in this county by the fraternity during the last five years, but that it would run into the millions.

"Mitchell county is indeed fortunate in having among its oil men one of the highest type of citizenry to be found in West Texas," Sandusky stated in delivering a eulogy to the fraternity. "They have met every obligation to the people of this county and should be met by Colorado with open arms. They are of a type of men who find no place in our jail and whose names do not appear on the criminal dockets of our courts."

Sandusky announced that after September 1st every gallon of oil produced in this county would be refined at Colorado. "Six weeks from tonight there will be no more crude oil shipped out of this county," he stated. "Every drop of oil produced in Mitchell county will be shipped to the markets of the world in a refined state."

OIL INTERESTS INVOLVED IN BIG DEAL HERE THIS WEEK

Anderson-Pritchard Oil Corporation and Hickok Producing Company announce that through their Texas organization known as the West Texas Refining and Development Company, that they have sold all of their producing properties located in Mitchell County, Texas, on which property there are ten producing wells. Leases being known as the East half of Section 21 and the North west quarter of Section 22, in Block 28, Township 1 North, Mitchell County, Texas.

The sale was made to the California Company, also they have sold a certain stock interest to interests identified with the California Company in the refining plant and pipe line system located at Colorado, Texas.

Refining plant is now being increased in capacity in preparation to take care of all crude oil produced by the California Company in the Mitchell County field as well as other crude connections now being run to the refinery.

The California Company production will be available for the refinery on September 1st at which time present crude contracts will expire.

The management and supervision of the refinery will be under the direction of Anderson-Pritchard Oil Corporation and offices of the company will be at Oklahoma City in the Colcord Building which is the present main office of Anderson-Pritchard Oil Corporation.

Mrs. A. L. Whipkey, society editor of the Record, is spending her vacation in Dallas. During her absence, Mrs. Stewart Cooper is serving the Record as city news editor. If you have any items of local or society interest, your phoning them to Mrs. Cooper will be appreciated.

than ever before, and urged that every citizen of the city lend his moral support and finance to the organization. A committee composed of A. B. Blanks, J. Riordan and M. S. Goldman was named to call on the public and enlist contributing members.

The band rendered a splendid concert in front of the hotel before the banquet was called to order and interspersed the speaking program with music as the evening passed. It was one of the best banquets ever given by the Chamber of Commerce.

COLORADO PUBLIC SCHOOLS FACE TERM MUCH PROMISE

matter of maintaining standards already established. It is not within the power of one man or group of men to revolutionize a school system overnight. By revolution we do not mean that what we have is not good, but we mean that we need more good things and need to rid ourselves of the bad. Peculiar local conditions have rendered it impossible for the outgoing superintendent to make a large outward showing. His work has been highly commendable since he started with nothing and offers us a fully affiliated school with laboratories and libraries. He leaves the ground in fine condition for others to sow and reap the fruits of his labor. We give credit where due. In tasks of this kind there are stupendous tasks before us. We shall be satisfied to enumerate some of our needs at present and discuss them in detail later. We are at the point that we may realize these educational assets within a year. They are: Adequate housing facilities—a high school building fully equipped for teaching the hand and head at once. A dollar tax rate which would relieve the school of constant financial embarrassment, and the school board of incessant criticism for raising values almost to their real level. The people of Colorado are getting off lighter in the payment of taxes to support their schools than in any town of similar size the writer knows of. These two are the outstanding material needs.

We are offering here briefly for later discussion a portion of our program for the ensuing school year:

1. Add at least three affiliated credits to our present list of sixteen.
 2. Add such practical courses as require little material equipment as will give students some choice in the selection of their curriculum.
 3. Establish a study hall so as to allow teachers time for conference with individual students, thus saving many from failure and loss to the school.
 4. Putting in effect a program of corrective physical exercises throughout the entire school.
 5. Greater emphasis upon public speaking including a course in same.
 6. Proper emphasis upon athletics and the provision of a suitable field for play.
 7. Giving of credit toward graduation for school activities.
 8. Publishing a page of school news in the local paper weekly.
 9. More adequately equipping our libraries and laboratories.
 10. Serving of lunches at school.
- These are a few of the principal objectives for the year. The fullest support and co-operation of patrons will be required to execute it. Colorado supports every other worthy cause most generously. We have full faith that she will respond to leadership for a greater and more efficient public school system.

PAYNE NOTES

We are sorry to say that since our last report, death came to Mr. Bill Ennis. He died last Thursday and was laid to rest last Friday evening.

Mr. Ennis was our Sunday school superintendent when our church was organized. We all appreciated the work he did for us until his health got so bad he had to give up the Sunday school. His death was sudden but God knew best.

There was a large crowd at preaching Sunday, and Sunday evening to hear the B. Y. P. U. from Loraine speak. We all enjoyed hearing them, and hope they will render another program for us soon. We haven't organized a B. Y. P. U. yet, but hope to soon. There was also a large crowd at preaching Sunday night.

Miss Grace Williams is back at home now. We were all glad to see her at home again.

There was a large crowd at the baptizing at Seven Wells last Sunday.

There was an ice cream supper at Mr. Flowers last Saturday night, everybody had a good time, and were given more ice cream than they could eat.

Miss Ruth Hays took supper at the Williams home Sunday night.

Several from Landers were at preaching last Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Hays visited Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Henderson last Sunday evening.

Brother Turner brought his two daughters with him this time. We were glad to see them back at Payne again.

Our next preaching day will be the second Sunday in August, instead of the third Sunday, on account of Bro. Turner will be holding a meeting at Silver.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hubbard and little son stayed all night with Mr. D. D. Hays and family last Saturday.

We hope to see all people from all communities at singing at this place Sunday night. Come on everybody and help out with the singing.

Miss Eva Hays took supper at Mrs. Ava Motts Sunday night.

 We are pleased to have such good attendance these hot Sundays. Good attendance at both Church and Sunday school last Sunday. The prayer meetings are well attended. Be with us next Sunday morning. The evening service will be at the tabernacle. Young people met at 7 o'clock.

 M. C. Bishop Pastor.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH
 We had exactly 100 in attendance at Bible school last Sunday and we are hoping to do better next Sunday. A number of our folks are away vacationing and we are mighty glad that they are able to "come apart into the desert place and rest awhile" even if we are not so fortunate. However there are enough left to reach our aim if they will all come.

The pastor has closed the meeting at Fairview and is back on the job. We had a good meeting at Fairview, good crowds, good singing, good results. We were delighted to meet so many fine folks out in that community. We hope to have them visit us occasionally.

After next Sunday regular services are to be resumed in the several churches. Lets all go to the tabernacle next Sunday night for the final Union service. It has been very pleasant and profitable time we have spent together. We believe we know each other better and will be able to do better work for having wroked thus together. Every body be in your place next Sunday.

PRESBYTERIAN S. S. PICNIC
 The Presbyterian Sunday school was delightfully entertained Tuesday afternoon at the Van Tuyl ranch with a barbecue, a treat from Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Maddin. In addition, a bounteous feast with all picnic trimmings was enjoyed and a good time had by all.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC
 On Tuesday night, the classes of Harry Ratliff and Mrs. White of the Baptist Sunday school enjoyed a werner roast at Seven Wells. The families of the pastor and superintendent were special guests.

At the same time, the class of Mrs. Bush had a picnic at this popular resort.

UNION SERVICE DISCONTINUED
 We, the pastors of the several churches that have been uniting in the Sunday evening services, after next Sunday night shall have preached once each and will not be able to complete another round, believe it is better for us to take up services in the several respective churches, do hereby agree to close out our union services with the Sunday night service of July 26. We desire to thank all those who have supported the services and trust that the same has not been without good effect.

MISIONARY MEETING
 The Central Presbyterian Mission Circle met with Mrs. Van Tuyl Monday. The unusually large attendance found it delightfully comfortable in Mr. Dawes' spacious studio, notwithstanding the heat of the day.

Our lesson took us from the sad scenes in war-outraged China to a happy Christmas celebration in a leper colony in Japan. A visit to Mexico gave us encouragement in the larger demand for Bibles, increased interest in the gospel message and the growing "Separatist" movement.

An interesting letter from S. C. Kellersberger in Africa, read by Mrs. Van Tuyl gave us an insight into the great work of the hospital at Bibango. Their greatest problem is the sleeping sickness. The newly discovered remedies are proving quite effective in the early stages but fail in the more serious cases.

A cooling ice served after adjournment of the meeting was most refreshing.

SCOPES FOUND GUILTY
 The Dayton, Tennessee case which has occupied so much newspaper space for the past few weeks was brought to a close Tuesday with a verdict of guilty, and a fine of $100 imposed. The trial ended in a tumult, as was to be expected. Thus far nothing tangible or determinative has resulted. The defense accepted the verdict and appealed the case and claim they will carry it to the highest court to secure a decision. Thus far it is estimated it has cost the defense above $25,000. That seems about all that has been gained thus far and the lawyers have gotten that. So far as the issues involved are concerned, they are just where they started in.

We have not been able to see how or where the Courts had jurisdiction over the real issues. In the final analysis the question of Evolution or the Inspiration of the Bible are not matters to be passed upon by the Courts but are to be fought out in the public forum and to be finally settled by the Word of Truth. A decision either way in the Courts will not dispose of the question.

The big colored people's union meeting at the colored school house conducted by the colored evangelist preachers, Rev. L. C. Collins of Waco Texas, and Rev. J. D. Washington of Abilene, Texas, is attracting considerable attention among the colored folks. An invitation is extended to everybody to come out and hear them, according to the leaders. They invite the white population to come and hear them.

The City Health Officer and the Civic League are asking the entire citizenship of Colorado to clean up.

TO PROPERTY OWNERS
 The City Health Officer and the Civic League are asking the citizens of Colorado to do something that will enhance the value of their property, beautify and make more sanitary the town without adding anything at all to their taxes.

The thing we are asking lot owners to do is to cut the weeds on their vacant property. There is a city ordinance (see another column) making this cleaning up compulsory, but we feel that if the owners will only realize how much this cleaning up will beautify the town, what it will do toward abating the fly and mosquito nuisance, and from a health standpoint, they will gladly comply with this ordinance.

Many lots next to business houses are most unsightly and unsanitary. Many in the residence portion are mosquito breeders and most unlovely to look upon. So for the good reputation of Colorado, as an answer to the request of your City ealth officer, and your Civic League, we urge you to cut weeds before the first of August. Do it now without waiting to be made to do so.—The Civic League.

UNION ITEMS
 For last week and this the weather is still dry. The cotton lice have about quit, and the cotton crop out our way is holding up very well. The older feed crops are suffering for want of moisture but the younger feed is promising. The garden and vine crops are also needing rain.

The general health of the community is good, and if it were a little cooler, everyone would be satisfied.

Mrs. Jim Barlow and children from Abilene are visiting in the home of Mrs. B. B. McGuire.

Mr. John Nichols, who was a resident of this community for many years but moved away several years ago; has recently moved back to the land of promise and at present is living on the J. B. Kitchen place. I feel sure that I voice the sentiments of all John's acquaintances when I say that we welcome him and his in my last writeup to quote as .athe family back in our midst.

I promised in my last writeup to quote some words of interest from Judge Tilman but will defer for the present. And now I will relate some of my experiences for the last few days and quit for the present.

Last week my boss and cook too, decidede to go fishing and left me to cook for myself or do without. I don't like to do either, but decided to fry a few eggs to keep me alive. I put in five eggs, a little salt, a little water, some milk, a little grease a good deal of butter, a pound of soda, and added a lot of flour. That's all I knew to put in. You can judge for yourself what kind of a mess I had. All of you men who want a job coking go to it, because I'm through. At the last of the week, however, I spent one night with my good old friend Mr. Jeff Clayton out on his chicken ranch and to say I had a pleasant time puts it too mildly. And to cap the climax yesterday I attended a barbecue and picnic in the Buford community given under the auspices of the Sunday school. You people who were not there think the Buford people know how to treat their friends, but I know they do. And they put their knowledge into execution. I never saw so many good things to eat before in all my life. E.H.

When Better Automobiles Are Built, Buick Will Build Them

No. 23

Question: Why is it that there are more than a million Buicks in use today?

Answer: Because Buicks are always popular with new car buyers and also because Buick's dependable construction results in a much longer life for Buicks than is ordinarily the span of service of a motor car.

WHO SHALL BE PRESIDENT OF TEXAS A. & M. IMPORTANT

The selection of a president for the Texas A. and M. College is an important matter. Dr. Bizzell, who resigned the position recently to accept the presidency of the University of Oklahoma, was an exceptionally fine president, and there should be no "let-down" in the quality of the man who fills the position.

The president of the A. and M. College should be farm-raised. He need not be what is commonly known as a "dirt farmer," but it is essential that he know enough about farming to feel a keen sympathy for our farm people and to have a sufficient grasp of their problems to enable him to lead the way in solving them. While there are other schools besides that of agriculture at the A. and M. College, agriculture is the big thing in Texas, and A. and M. is more of a farmer's college than any other college in the state. For this reason, we feel that it is imperative that the president of the college satisfy the agricultural requirements of the position first of all.

The president of the A. and M. College should have other attainments besides a sympathy for and a knowledge of agriculture. He must be a leader of men, a broad-minded man a diplomat, and somewhat of a politician in that he will have to use political methods at times in order to protect the interests of the college. But let no one get the idea that the Progressive Farmer thinks a politician should have the position. There is a difference between using political methods to help the college and using the college to help one's political aspirations. The president of A. and M. should put the welfare of the college first. Too many politicians use the jobs they hold as rungs by which they climb higher upon the political ladder. Let's not allow the A. and M. College to be used for any such purpose. All farmers should insist that the appointment of the president of the A. and M. College be free from the taint of politics.—The Progressive Farmer.

THE RISING TIDE.

The tide of race consciousness are ruled by laws which have not been charted; we see the effects thereof but we cannot tell whence they come. The world has been awakening to the fact of race for some time. It is the only irresistible internationalism now functioning among men. Race is an insurmountable, unavoidable human fact. The Chinese evidence it, as do the Jews, the Continental Africans and the Anglo-Saxon-Celtic peoples. The Chinese outbreak is essentially an expression of race. The point is, not to lose the point in fear or denunciation, but to study the development as we study natural changes in any other sphere.

J. D. COGHLAN TO SPEAK IN C. O. MOSER'S PLACE

C. D. Coghlan, special representative for the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association spoke at Snyder to a district court room full of farmers, business and professional men Wednesday afternoon. He spoke for an hour and twenty minutes on the subject of co-operative marketing. Mr. Coghlan's speech was well received and highly complimented by many before he left for Hermleigh. The people greeted the speaker on his arrival though they were disappointed that Moser did not keep his date.

The address was delivered in the Union tabernacle of Hermleigh and for an hour and fifteen minutes Coghlan sowed seed in fertile soil that will bring forth thirty, sixty, and an hundred fold.

The results of Mr. Coghlan's talk in Scurry county was that others join ed the association to pool their cotton for the next five years with those who are making co-operative marketing a success throughout the cotton producing states of our country.

E. M. Baldwin, District Director for district 17, comprising eleven counties, accompanied Mr. Coghlan to points above mentioned and made a short talk at Hermleigh that was well received and appreciated.

If the people will listen to men like Coghlan and Baldwin they will soon become informed about matters that are of vital interest to them and the result will then be the entire citizenship will profit thereby.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter McKinney have returned from a visit to Corpus Christi and Waco. They were accompanied home by their niece, Miss Rosalie Pritchett of Waco.

Miss Daisy Adams of O'Donnell visited Miss Frances McMurry.

Married, on Wednesday of last week, Mrs. Lou Kalb and Mr. George Harper.

HYMAN HAPPENINGS

This has been a dry hot week at Hyman, and while crops are not suffering, yet they are getting to where they could use some rain. Cotton is still growing and putting on fruit fast, and most of the feed is fine, but a good rain would help here, as elsewhere.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Moore, of Rotan, visited their niece, Mrs. E. S. Britton of Hyman the past week. They report the crops here as being better than any they saw on the road, and better than they left at home.

The contract depth of 3100 feet has been reached on the Bob Scott No. 1, drilled by Sloan, Owens and Stalker, and oil was not found. The well continues to make some gas. Drilling has been discontinued, and it is understood that arrangements are being made to drill the well to a deeper level.

Mr. A. J. Harper, formerly of Hyman, now of Littlefield, Texas, is paying a visit to his old neighbors here. He reports crops as being good in the section where he now lives.

Mr. Dan Lewis has about finished rigging up for drilling the Bill Scott No. 1, for Barum & Henshaw. He expects to spud in about the last of the week, according to latest reports.

The crop on the Lockhart place, just south of Beall's Creek, is probably the most talked of crop in the county, and it is a crop worth talking about. Cotton rows are almost a mile long, and stalks are almost lapped in the rows. This crop has never had a horse or a mule in it. It has never suffered a day, for work or for rain, and it shows it. Maize is just about ready to head, and is fine.

The rig is being built for the Minna Hyman No. 1, to be drilled by the Deeprock Company, in the Hayrick pasture. The drilling contractors are Case & Hoover, of Sterling City, and if they can drill a well as fast as they can get ready for it, it will not be very long before we will have a line on this part of the ranch. We are pinning our faith on this location.

Mrs. Harry Hyman expects to leave about the latter part of this week, or the early part of next, for a trip of several weeks to Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia.

Mrs. John Overton, of Lees, Glasscock county, is visiting her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Gates, of Hyman.

BUSINESS BUILDING FOR RENT

The building now occupied by C. M. Adams and the Hutchinson Company, will shortly be vacated, these people having secured other quarters where they will soon move. This building, it will be seen, occupies a frontage of 140 feet on Second St., and is 100 feet deep on Elm St. The design of this building was for one complete store building and has been so used for the past nine years. Owner prefers that it remain a store building, inasmuch as cutting it up into small stores will mar its effect and appearance. It is therefore offered for rent as it now stands. If not disposed of as it is, it is the purpose of the owner to subdivide and this work will be commenced immediately upon vacation by present tenants unless someone should want it as it is.

'C. OF C. BAND' NEW NAME FOR THE COLORADO BAND

M. S. Goldman, director of the Colorado Booster Band, announced at the Chamber of Commerce banquet Thursday evening that members of the band had voted to change name of the musical organization to "The Chamber of Commerce Band." Goldman expressed appreciation of every member of the band to the chamber for support always given the men and stated that the new name had been determined upon out of recognition of this support.

The band is in need of two bass instruments before going to Dallas this fall, Goldman stated. He pleaded for the people to support the Chamber of Commerce liberally in that sufficient funds be available to finance purchase of the instruments and send the band to both Dallas and the convention in Amarillo.

Be Not Deceived
Baths are good. Electricity also is good—for light, heat, and power. Never-the-less a person of ordinary common sense knows that neither a bath nor electricity will correct an old chronic defective spinal condition.
Your life and welfare each depend upon the condition of your spine, just as much so as the same depend upon your environment, intelligence, sunshine, air, water, clothing—and food that you eat. This being true, it is the better part of wisdom to use common sense and have that bad spine examined and corrected by a reliable expert in his profession near your own home town rather than go away and spend 3 or 4 times as much more money than is necessary. Think it over.

LOCAL BAPTIST PASTOR WRITES FOR THE RECORD

In the absence of the editor we have been asked to write something for this week's issue of the Record. Being limited in our scope of information we have decided to write along the lines of what we are most familiar. We take for a subject one the world needs to think about more than any other—THE NEW BIRTH. There must be something vitally wrong with a person whenever God comes out frankly and states to him, "Ye must be born again." Man is supposed to possess all he needs in the way of mind, brawn, and general ability to meet the problems of the toils of the day. Man knows how to meet his fellow man and deal with him. He knows how to enter the chambers of commerce and there deal with men of like passions as himself. Men can enter the intellectual world and place swords there with the intellectual giants. But God comes on the scene and declares man must be born again before he can see the kingdom of heaven. There must be something wrong somewhere if this statement is true and we all believe it now we will believe it later. What is wrong with mankind? If he cannot see the kingdom of God with out the new birth what is wrong with him? He has a good mind, a good body, a soul, with a kindly disposition towards his friends and loved ones. Is it that he must have all this present disposition made over or have some thing implanted within him that did not formerly exist there? Something must be done. What is it? He must have a new nature given him so that he will hate the things he once loved and love the things he once hated. He must be made a new creature in Christ Jesus. Somehow he must get within himself the nature and the disposition of Jesus Christ. He must be fixed so he can see God and His righteousness as Christ sees it. He must be made to so hate sin that he will forsake it and cleave unto righteousness. He must be so completely changed in mind that he can conform unto the ways of God and do His will.

There are two things about this new life we need to understand. God cleanses a sinner in regeneration. He declares him righteous in the act of salvation but that is not enough. Something must be done to him that will cause him to want to do the will of God in his living. So God renews within him a holy disposition. It is not enough to be saved but he must have given to him that holy disposition within he is made to hate sin. Some times you will find people who claim to be saved who do not hate sin. If they have been saved they lack the great essential which is given for the helpfulness in living the God-honoring life. We find, then, there are two parts to salvation. The cleansing and the renewing. The renewing of the Holy Ghost in the saved life. Some think that is what Christ meant when he spoke of being born of water and of the spirit. He meant a cleansing by the water of regeneration and the renewing of the spirit. Man would never do anything if left without the renewing of the spirit. It would be like putting a fellow on probation. He would not last long at his best. But God gives him something that is essential and vital.

Something is wrong with mankind and demands a rectifying as we can see each day. This something is nothing more nor less than SIN. There is a great cry today to minimize the sin question. They tell us times have changed. That may be true but the new times seem to have brought all the sin that the former times possessed with added volume in the new times. Human nature has not changed and that is what God has had to deal with all along the way. Human nature is sinful or full of sin. You see that expressed in the desires of the human being. Was it ever wrong to kill? You say it was. Was it ever wrong for men and women to have improper relations? You doubtless will say it was. Was it ever wrong to desecrate the Sabbath day? Some will say it was. Was it ever wrong to take the name of the Lord in vain? We are told in the Bible that Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever. The law giver never changes. Does the law change? When did God change His moral law and permit men to take liberties that He once forbid him taking? Men presumed upon God and intelligence. You note today sin is bolder than any other period of history in civilized countries. It has lost all sense of modesty. It never blushes any more. Women can dress in any manner they choose and even attend the house of worship with the larger part of their body showing without any seeming discomfort. You will sit and see men and women hug and kiss without blushing. Of course it is on the screen but it represents the real. There is no more sacred rights to property. Folks steal in open daylight. Folks violate law without little impunity. Sin defies God and right in a wonderful way today. Sin is proposing to do away with Christ's atonement and make a human plan of redemption for the salvation of mankind. The Modernists tell us that Christ was a good man and set an example for us to live and if we live a good life that is all that is required of us. Some have said if we make a great enough sacrifice we can thereby be saved. Sin is making a strong stand against all that is right. At the first it struck at Mother Eve and won her and now it has struck at womankind in general and it seems that it is winning. Women have let down the standards to a mighty low level. Nearly down to that of the lowest levels of the men. Men often speak of women doing things that are even questionable with men. Whenever women come down to the standards of the men you most certainly need a regenerating grace to come upon us in a mighty way. Nothing will relieve the present awful wave of sin except the change of the soul of the individual. God must save us before we will ever do much better than we are now doing. Ye must be born again. Marvel not that I say unto you ye must be born again.

The Epworth League Program. An icicle program will be rendered by the Epworth League Sunday evening, July 26th, at seven o'clock. This is a very effective original program and we are sure that it will be enjoyed by all. In conclusion, we will be favored by a bass solo by Mr. Stagnue, a member of the Ford quartet, also a duet by Miss Mary Lawlis and Miss Tommie Smith. Everybody come and keep cool. Turn whichever way you will and there is always an opportunity facing you with a chance to furnish the other fellow with what he wants. The man prepared to fill this "want" has opportunity hog-tied. We are not bad or reckless—we are so big and resourceful.

THE BOSS WRITES FROM LAMPASAS AND OTHER POINTS

"Aunt Rose and I left Colorado Monday evening, July 13th turning the nose of the old Hudson south. Stayed all night at Angelo, the city in Concho land. Tuesday took us on south through Eden. A place of this name is spoken of in the Bible, but after a hurried view of the place we are convinced that this is not that place, for there is no apple tree in sight, and no flaming sword in evidence guarding the entrance gates. We had a fine dinner at Brady, the county seat of McCullough County. Brady is a good town but as it is in the midst of the drouth stricken area was not much stirring and after a visit to the printing office and other places we decided that the prospects were quite gloomy and that the town was not near so good as Colorado. On south to San Saba, the city on the river of the same name, midst its large pecan groves and rocks and hills and historic recollections. The river looked so enticing and inviting that we stopped to fish but soon recalled the recent experience of one of the Record force in a week's failure so we drove on, next to Lometa on the Brownwood and Lampasas highway. Lometa, a small town in this county is in its death struggle for existence, its state bank closed its doors the day before and it was whispered to us that two of its largest mercantile establishments had quit just last week and it looked as though the end was in sight. As we struck this taravated highway we put the old sedan up to 35 and about 5 p. m. struck the "Texas Baptist Encampment" right in the middle and have mixed with notable personages every since.

No car trouble at all except the strangeness of the fact that after some eight hours at 35 the gas was exhausted. We are comfortably located in camp with two large tents, one a sleeping apartment, the other a parlor. We were joined in the camp by Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Queen and their two daughters from Georgetown and some Waco friends and the camp the past few days has looked like a commissary department.

As to roads, they were all good from home to this place, part being hard surfaced highways. As to crops, they were simply fine all the way from Colorado to Angelo. The Angelo people have the best prospect they have ever had. From Angelo south the crops began to deteriorate and the south edge of Tom Green, all of Concho, McCullough, San Saba and Lampasas counties are put in the absolute failure class. Tenant farmers here are in a precarious condition. Teams and crops mortgaged, no money, no crop, makes the outlook distressing and hundreds of people will migrate to the north and northwest this fall seeking employment. They all have heard of the good prospects in Mitchell county and all are talking of Midland, Lamesa and Lubbock. Have had quite a number to come to see us for the facts as to that favored territory and we have always boosted Mitchell county and Colorado.

The Texas Baptist Encampment
Anderson Park where the Central Texas Baptist Encampment is held, consists of more than one hundred acres of land situated in an artistic curve of the Sulphur Fork of the Lampasas River. This beautiful, ample park is owned by the Hancock Park and Assembly Co., a company of Baptists who hold this beauty spot of Texas for the use of Texas Baptists. It is one of the most famous camping grounds in Texas. God has put there, in abundant profusion, all that is needed to make an ideal assembly grounds for a summer retreat. It is densely shaped by great spreading pecan, elm and oak trees. Squirrels scamper about the park, birds sing gleefully in the friendly trees and fish disport themselves in full view in the limpid waters which surround the park.

To those natural features have been added the embellishment of art. Besides the gushing springs that are about the grounds, some furnishing health giving mineral water and others just pure water, has been added the city water, all of which is free to campers. Two immense swimming pools furnish ample bathing facilities for all. The Dickson Auditorium will seat three thousand people. Glass pavilions furnish suitable places for recitations. Attractive screened cottages are hidden away in shady nooks. Tennis courts, baseball grounds and croquet grounds provide for all suitable athletic sports. Constant sprinkling keeps down the dust, the weather is uniformly pleasant and the verdict of all is that you can scarcely find in all the land a more suitable place for a real summer outing.

A telephone and local post office on the grounds keeps us in touch with the outside world. People are here from all over the world. Cameron, Waco, Bartlett, Georgetown, Taylor and Austin being well represented. I send herewith the daily program that home folks may see how we pass the time:

- 6:00 to 7:30 a. m.—Bathing.
 - 7:30 to 8:30 a. m.—Breakfast.
 - 8:30 to 9:45 a. m.—B. Y. P. U. and W. M. U. recitations.
 - 9:45 to 11:00 a. m.—Sunday school recitations.
 - 11:00 to 11:45 a. m.—Practical church problems.
 - 11:45 to 12:15 p. m.—Song and worship.
 - 12:15 to 1:00 p. m.—Sermon.
 - 1:00 to 2:00 p. m.—Lunch.
 - 2:00 to 3:00 p. m.—Rest.
 - 3:00 to 6:00 p. m.—Athletics, bathing and general recreation.
 - 6:00 to 7:00 p. m.—Supper.
 - 7:00 to 8:00 p. m.—B. S. U., Laymen and Special Conferences.
 - 8:00 to 8:45 p. m.—Songs and worship.
 - 8:45 to 9:30 p. m.—Sermon.
- One of the features that was not advertised was to see this editor in a bathing suit doing water stunts.

The chief speaker is Dr. Henry Alford Porter, pastor of the Third Baptist church, St. Louis. He preaches the sermons each evening and Sunday morning. Dr. Porter is well known in Texas. He was formerly pastor of Gaston Avenue Baptist church, Dallas, and is now pastor of one of the greatest Baptist churches in the Southern Baptist Convention. He is one of our most popular preachers. He is one of the best speakers and entertainers we have ever heard. He tells many humorous stories and always makes the application in telling effect.

Another outstanding feature of the encampment is a choice hour of the morning's program each day, except Sunday, for the consideration of church problems. This occasion is a kind of church Clinic for the diagnosis and treatment of our church problems. At this hour, Dr. Jno. L. Hill, Editorial Secretary of the Sunday School Board, Nashville, Tenn., and Dr. J. T. Henderson, secretary of the Laymen's Movement in the Southern Baptist Convention, Knoxville, Tenn., alternate with each other on the program. These two great leaders in the South give us practical addresses on the prevalent church problems. This is a great hour for pastors as well as others, and is worth the cost of the trip to Lampasas Encampment.

We have met many friends from over Texas and the social hours in camp have been fine. Today we had as visitors Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harrod who worked for years on the McKenzie ranch and are well known in Colorado by D. L. Buchanan, Lay Powell and the McKenzies. He subscribed for the Record and we send herewith his name for the list.

We have had a great time here and now think we will move camp about Tuesday, July 21st for Breckenridge Park, in San Antonio. It is our purpose to camp there ten days and while there will radiate out to Georgetown and Waco to visit a few days each and at the end of July will likely start on our western sure-enough trip. For the present if an emergency arises and any one should care to do so write us in care of D. W. Queen, Georgetown, Texas. My next will be sent in from San Antonio.

WHAT IF CO-OP'S MILLION BALES HAD BEEN DUMPED?

What if the million bales in all the co-operative associations in the South had been dumped at the same time the non-members were dumping? Where would the price have gone? This is the thing that should interest members. So when you think that you have not received the last penny that you might have gotten, think of the above and make a guess as to what you would have received had there been no organizations in the South.

It is too bad that men who join themselves together for the purpose of working out the problems of a whole group, should have to give a large share to men who stand aside and watch the fight. But this is true of every movement of any size which has for its object the revolutionizing of any business. Whoever heard of the burden of any big public enterprise being spread over the entire people as it should be?—J. D. Eldridge, in The Progressive Farmer.

IN SUPPORT OF ATHLETICS

In many schools, the cry has been raised that athletics take up too much of the students' activities. That cry has particularly been ignored. Before, High School. The athletics have been there, it is true, but only half heartedly. Football, the greatest thing in the world to develop school spirit, has particularly been ignored. Before, the teachers have not had the time to develop a real team. That excuse is gone with the coming of Big Jim Cantrell. Colorado put out an excellent first year team last season, and things should go big this coming fall.

C. H. S. is indeed fortunate in having secured the services of Cantrell as athletic director this year. He is the very man for the job. He knows the major sports from one end to the other and is the kind of fellow who can get results. He's the man for the job. His ability, vim and optimism and fighting spirit that characterized his work at T. C. U. will develop successful teams if he has the support. All Big Jim is asking is for plenty of material. C. H. S. should be able to give him plenty of good material and the town of Colorado should give him far more. Lets help a good man do a good job. Athletics are worthy. Give your support this year!

A PROPHET.

25 years ago a Mr. "Punch" wrote an article for the Bonham and headed the article "In Year 2000." We reproduce the article as you read it, remembering it was written 25 years ago and of 100 years ahead.

March 1, 2000.—Editor and Readers of the Daily Favorite:

There has been a long time since I wrote for the Daily, giving items and happenings from a little place called Danner, Bonham, the me of the Daily Favorite was a small town then, but now it is a large city with Danner, Dodd City, Edhube, and Ravenna as suburbs. That was a long time ago—let me see—I believe it was about the years 1901 to 1907. And there has been some wonderful changes since then; changes not only with Danner and Bonham but with the whole world.

It seems strange to one living then, a full-grown 75 years ago to look upon the same world today with all of its discoveries, its wonderful inventions and progress. Why, there is a change in everything around me everywhere I go, and we do things so different from the way we did them then that I scarcely know myself, and I fear some of the readers who used to read my writings in the long ago will think I have gone crazy when I tell how we do things one hundred years later—and maybe I have gone crazy, for everything seems so strange now. It is almost like being in another world. I have been thinking for several years of writing again to the Favorite, but everything is so fast these days that one scarcely has time to think, and besides I will be a rank stranger to most of the Favorite readers of today. There may be a few left who will remember me, but, like myself, they are getting old, and it takes about all the energy they have to keep up with the new order of things. This is a fast age. Everything seems to be whirling through space at a rate never before dreamed of.

It is really amusing to me now when I can find time to think back 95 years ago on the time spent working and writing for the Favorite, and of how we used to get our mail in the old slow way, once a day, when the roads were not too muddy. Then came the rural delivery system of bringing our mail. We thought we were getting fast then. And the telephone, too; it seemed so strange—almost past belief—that we could stand at Danner and talk to our friends miles away over a little wire. Why, we thought we were up-to-date and a-flying then, but now we have the wireless telephone, and the old way of having telephone poles and wire strung along the streets and roads seem to us now as crude in their usefulness and convenience for talking as did the oxcart then beside the automobile or the automobile then compared with the airship now.

The difference in traveling now and in the year 1900 is truly wonderful. Our motive power for traveling then by water or by rail was the old slow power of steam, and we thought we were going at a great rate when we could take a trip from Texas to California or New York in three days and nights of bumping, roaring, rattling, jolting travel by rail with smoke and dust and cinders in our eyes. But this morning at 6 o'clock I purchased a ticket in San Francisco for Texas and boarded a through palace airship and here I am tonight at 8:30 o'clock in Texas writing this letter with no more tired feeling than going out to church on Sundays. We have through passenger airships, and we have mail express and light freight ships and several other kinds of smaller craft used for making short runs and pleasure trips. They are all run by electricity and none but the through vessels are allowed to run at the highest rate of speed and they must keep above the general line of mail, express and freight traffic. This is a precaution against wrecks from collisions with the more clumsy and slow freight vessels. Travel is much slower on the vessels which stop at all the larger towns and cities to take on and let off passengers, but it is cheaper and much nicer and safer than the old way of traveling by rail. We have no running off the track or getting dinged now and we scarcely ever hear of an accident. At first the traveling public were afraid of the airships and were slow about taking hold of such a novel and fast mode of travel, just as they were when the old clumsy railroad cars first came into use. It's a sight worth seeing to watch two monster airships meet in mid-air and change passengers. This is done only when some passenger receives a wireless message of an urgent business nature or in case of sudden sickness when the passenger wants to return home. In such instances a signal is displayed which means a change of passengers is desired, and the first vessel met going in the opposite direction slows up. Then we hear a buzzing noise and there is a sensation of a chill throughout the big machine. Slowly they move up along-side of each other, change passengers and are soon speeding on their journey through the air at the rate of two or three hundred miles an hour. How nice it is to travel now compared with traveling one hundred years ago. The track through the air is so smooth, with no steep grades and curves and rough, bumpy places. You just step off the streets of Chicago, New York, St. Louis or any other place, into a nice, comfortable parlor, where, after a few hours of unusual quiet and rest, caused from the dizzy sensation of being whirled through the air at such a high rate of speed, you step out on to the streets of Bonham, Texas, feeling as fresh as if just awakened from a refreshing nap on a spring morning. But the funniest thing is to see the mail and express vessels, which are never very high above the earth, putting on and taking off the mail and express. They never come to earth except at the starting and stopping points, but instead of coming down, they hover above the city like some huge bird of prey, while a wire cage is lowered by a strong cable which is wound around a windlass, and, like everything else, is run by electricity. The moment the cage is in reach the contents is dumped out, and the out (or up) going mail is piled in and away she goes for the next town. There has been a few damage suits against the government (for we now have government ownership of all public utilities) on account of the engineer starting his ship before the cage got above the houses and knocking off a few chimneys and occasionally pulling off a church steeple with the cage and cable. I could tell of many queer happenings of this kind, and some of them are really amusing, but it would make my letter too long.

There are so many strange things that I scarcely know just what to write about. But to the younger generations who have been brought up to keep pace with these new and fast ways, everything seems perfectly natural and they go about everything with an ease and grace that is truly remarkable and really wonderful to one who has lived since 1852 and was brought up in the old slow ways of 140 years ago. And while I am somewhat awkward to these new-fangled fast ways, and am sometimes lonely in my awkwardness and long to return once more to the old slow ways of my boyhood, yet I like these new ways. They are so fascinating. Everything is done by electrical machinery and everybody seems to have a sure-enough good time. If you want to go on a journey, long or short, you are not always about it, and it doesn't take all you are worth to make it. One cent a mile is the fare and the government is getting rich off its public ownership. The people get the benefit and the government makes a nice profit and is out of debt. In fact, we have no trusts, combinations, corporations and private national banking system to contend with and be robbed by.

Among the many other wonderful changes of which I wish to mention is that of the way we (or they for it is also strange to me that I can only look on) conduct religious services in this new age of fastness. When I was a boy each congregation had its minister or spiritual adviser—preacher as he was usually called—a devout man, and a man who was supposed to be well versed in the scriptures and able to expound and defend the teachings of the bible according to the will of God who had called him to preach. He could always be distinguished from the others of his flock by the long-tailed coat he wore, and nothing but highwater, sickness or death was supposed to prevent his appearance in the pulpit at the appointed hour to deliver his spiritual message of consolation to the good of his flock and make the fur fly from those who were yet out of the fold. Queer characters were these old-time ministers of the long ago, but they were good men. After he delivered his message then the choir, with sometimes the help of a discordant congregation, would stand and sing, "On Jordan's Stormy Banks," "There is a Fountain," and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," during which we would all go up and shake hands with our preacher, and we'd all get happy and such another time as we would have. But these times and ways have all passed away now and almost forgotten, save by an aged few who still go to church from force of habit, but who only sit and look on with an expression of sad longing in their eyes and a shake of their tottering gray heads which seem to say: "We don't know, but maybe it's all right—maybe so, but it seems mighty cold—mighty cold." But you see it's all in being used to a thing. If we are brought up to believe a thing is right, in our eyes it is right and the other fellow is wrong. So it is with this new way of conducting our religious services. When we get used to the new way, it's all right. I remember when only a few of our churches would allow an organ or choir service in them, and they were considered by many good and devout people to be in league with the devil for allowing it. But when we go to church now-a-days nobody but a back number looks for or expects to see the preacher or looks for the pretty girls in the choir. No sir; such things as these became old and were discarded during the twentieth century and today our preaching and singing is all done by machinery aided and made more impressive by illustrated object lessons in moving pictures which illustrates the sermon as it rolls out over the congregation in eloquent and pleading tones from the latest improved and seemingly perfect graphophone. The choir singing is conducted the same way. This is certainly hard on the young people who used to have choir practice for an excuse to meet and spark. The new way knocks that out. But I must get back to my graphophone church music. It is just simply grand—not a discord anywhere—everything to time and in its proper order. And how impressive are the constantly changing picture scenes of heaven and earth and hell. Why, the old-time fire and brimstone preacher isn't any more with his old-time eloquence and tears streaming down his cheeks as he portrays to a sleepy congregation the glories of heaven and the horrors of an endless eternity in the lower regions, using a jay bird who comes every thousand years from some distant shore a million miles away until this old world is carried away, one grain of sand at a time. And then at the close of the most eloquent appeal to the unsaved of his hearers he would exclaim in the most tragic tones: "And then my dearly beloved, unsaved and dying friends, would only just be sun-up in hell—the dawn of eternity." But it is all so different now. Everything is so nice and orderly and elevating. Why, we even say 'amen' by machinery now. And then we have no church rows over which pretty girl shall be organist, besides it's all cheaper than paying big salaries to ministers and buying pipe organs and song books. You see each church organization or each denomination has its headquarters or factory where they keep employed all the preachers of note and choir singers making new records of sermons and songs to suit any and all occasions, which are sent out over the country to the different churches as ordered. If we want an easier sermon and song service, we just order it. They are cheap, and with the best facilities for transportation, it only takes a few hours to get anything we want from New York, or any other place, and transportation through the air by express costs almost nothing compared with the old way. We can just send a wireless telegram to the nearest sermon factory at six o'clock this morning and our new sermon and song-records will be here ready for the 11 o'clock services. We can have a new preacher every Sunday if we want to, and besides we don't have to be bothered with taking him home to dinner. But with all this it does seem strange and somewhat amusing, too, to see the congregation stand with lowered heads while that great, big brass horn says the benediction. But I like the new way, for it never makes a mistake by using the wrong word—not a hitch in anything—and instead of passing the hat to pay the preacher, it is used to send for more records. A few Sundays ago some mischievous boys slipped a negro sermon and song record in the program of records already arranged for the day's services, and the fellow who manages the machine, not knowing what had been done, placed the sermon on as usual and started the thing going. As it takes about 40 minutes to run a sermon through, he stepped in to the anti-chamber to arrange other records, and the door being closed, he could not hear what was going on outside. Some of the congregation laughed outright, others snickered, some were dumfounded. One pious old brother stood it as long as he could and then made a dash for the machine, upsetting the big horn in his effort to stop the colored divine who was disturbing the holy sancti-

ary. The crash brought out the operator and there came very near being a riot in the congregation, when some one called for a song, and then every thing quieted down, the brethren, with their usual expression of Sunday piety and the sinners still giving way to sudden bursts of smothered laughter. The great machine was again set in motion, and the operator again went about his business behind closed doors, while the religious part of the congregation retreated through the front vestibule to the melodious strain of the latest dance-half cake-walk. It is need less to say the operator lost his job and those boys are keeping mum. Bit this old world—or rather its people—is growing better all the time and we will never get so good as not to enjoy a little fun occasionally. There is not as much crime now as there used to be, and people respect each other's rights more now than they did when I was a boy. The people now seem to count charter and manhood above fine clothes and a bank account. They seem to want to do right because it is right and not because the law says I must or I must not do a thing. Our laws are different and our parties are different from what they were when I was a kid. There is no room for the old-time disgruntled politician. He has had his day and is almost forgotten. The people are educated now to the point where they can vote intelligently and without his advice. We elect our officers now, from President down, by a direct vote of the people, and the voting is all done by mail, using penalty or election envelopes without postage. These envelopes are different from what they were when I was a kid. There is no room for the old-time disgruntled politician. He has had his day and is almost forgotten. STERLING CITY EDITOR WRITES ABOUT HYMAN

A visit to the little town of Hyman about twenty-two miles northwest of Sterling last Tuesday was a revelation to the writer. This place is in what is known as the A. P. pasture, a subdivision of the H. S. ranch, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hyman.

As the writer knew it thirty-eight years ago this was a stretch of fine land, but no one wanted it because cattlemen said that no water could be had on it. It was a large pasture, but the well, known as the A. P. windmill, was the only source of dependable water in the pasture.

A few years ago, Harry Hyman conceived the idea of selling the lands in this pasture to farmers. His offer was so liberal that today, nice farms and homes are to be seen in every direction. At nearly every home, a windmill furnishes plenty of water for the home. Vast fields of cotton and feed crops greet the eye in every direction. So good are the crops, that some of them could pay out their homes this season.

The "makins" of the future prosperous town of Hyman is nestled on a little hill just south of the old A. P. windmill which furnishes water for the enterprise. A well appointed grocery store and postoffice serves the colony in their lines. A good school house is nearby, where the kiddies of the colony have the advantages of a good school, for these people believe in education. Here the neighbors meet to worship. They worship after the manner of their fathers

It is the "old time religion" which prevails here.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyman are building better than they know. One day the children of this community will call their names blessed. They are doing a work that should be entailed more often. They not only induce settlers to come and make their homes there, but they help them stay there by giving them a chance to live through the period of home-building.

Hyman needs a road to Sterling, and ought to have it. The business men of Sterling will be standing in their own light if they do not immediately attend to this.—Sterling City News-Record.

NEW SALES RECORD MADE BY FORD IN MONTH JUNE

A new June sales record was established by the Ford Motor Company during the month just passed, when approximately 6,000 more Ford cars and trucks were delivered to retail customers in the United States than during the same month a year ago, which held the previous high mark for June.

Reports indicate a continued large volume of business through the summer months with a higher huying level than is usual during this season of the year. The outlook is for another record breaking month for July. Urgent requests for additional shipments have made necessary increasing the company's July production schedule, which now calls for several thousand more cars and trucks than were produced in June.

Sales figures just given out by the company show that the total sales for June were 195,300 Ford cars and trucks. Of this number, 176,256 represent domestic sales, as compared with 170,547 cars and trucks sold in June a year ago.

Buying conditions also continue good in the high priced car market. Evidence of this appears in the sales of Lincoln cars during June, with deliveries to domestic customers totaling 892, an increase of 95 over June a year ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Church are the proud parents of a fine five pound girl born on July 16th. She will be known in the future as little Miss Hazel Coleen Church. Steve is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Church of Colorado, and Grandpa Joe Church can now explain his recent antics about town. We thought he was drunk but now we know what was wrong with him. The mother of this fine girl was formerly Miss Lois Standifer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Standifer now of Stanton, but formerly of Colorado.

WHAT IS EVAPORATED MILK?

Did you ever stop to figure out the exact meaning of "Evaporated Milk"? The word "evaporated" may give you the idea that in the process of evaporation the milk has lost some of its valuable qualities. It hasn't. It has lost only water. Sixty per cent of the water is evaporated from the milk after it comes fresh from the cow.

The first step in processing the milk is the evaporation, when a portion of the water content is removed. The second step is the homogenization, which insures the cream being distributed evenly throughout the milk. The third is the canning. The fourth is sterilization, which takes place in the can when the milk is subjected to sufficient heat to destroy the bacteria. Thus evaporated milk remains as pure and fresh in the container as when it foamed into the pail in the farmer's barn.

Evaporated milk is now generally recognized as the freshest milk available to those not living on farms and producing their own milk. For freshness in milk means purity.

Transportation of milk from the dairy country to the city is well systematized and rapid and yet owing to the immense quantities of milk that must be rushed in daily, much of it must be obtained at considerable distances and a large per cent is necessarily some days old when it is delivered by the milkman.

Evaporated milk, on the other hand, is last night's and this morning's milk. From the dairy barn, always under rigid inspection, it is hurried by farmers to factories located in the heart of the dairy country and delivered when it is fresh. Evaporated milk is canned just at its "freshest moment," when it is in its finest state. It is never allowed to get old. The whole process from cow to can requires only a few hours. It may be interesting to know that the process of sterilizing takes place after the milk has been sealed in its containers. Once in its sterilized containers, there is no possibility of deterioration.

The sterilizing of evaporated milk insures its purity—it makes a safe milk for the children. Evaporated milk is boiled milk, and this makes it more digestible.

It may be used for any milk need with safety and economy.

For ordinary cream needs, use it just as it comes from the can. When rich milk is desired, add an equal part of water. For cooking and baking, two parts water and one part milk will usually suffice.

FAMOUS FORTS IN U. S. HISTORY

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Training School of American Generals

It is doubtful if any other post in the United States has known as many of our famous military leaders as Jefferson Barracks, Mo. When Jefferson Davis became secretary of war in 1853 he determined to form a regiment which would be the best in the army. Remembering the tradition of the army, which, from the close of the War of 1812 had sent to Jefferson Barracks the most promising young officers in the army, he organized at that post the Second Cavalry, later known as "Jeff Davis' pet."

The colonel of the regiment was Albert Sidney Johnston and its lieutenant-colonel was Robert E. Lee, destined for fame as two of Davis' greatest Civil war generals. At the same time there was organized there the First regiment of cavalry with Edwin V. Sumner (later a Union general) as colonel and Joseph E. Johnston (of Bull Run fame) as lieutenant-colonel.

In fact these two regiments gave to the Union and Confederate armies no less than 30 generals, among such men as John Sedgwick, J. H. Hardee, W. H. Emory, George Stoneman, E. D. Baker, "Jeb" Stuart, George H. Thomas Wesley Merritt, Carl Van Dorn and Kirby Smith.

But these are not the only distinguished names on Jefferson Barracks' roll of honor. There, too, appear Henry Leavenworth, Henry Atkinson, Stephen W. Kearney, John C. Fremont, Braxton Bragg, James Longstreet, Ulysses S. Grant, William Tecumseh Sherman, Philip Sheridan, Winfield Scott Hancock and Nathan Boone, a son of the famous Kentucky pioneer.

Jefferson Barracks also saw organized the original "rough riders" long before the days of Theodore Roosevelt and San Juan Hill. During President Van Buren's administration the Seminole Indians became troublesome and the President asked the governor of Missouri to raise two regiments of mounted Missourians, frontiersmen all, to serve against the Seminoles. From all parts of the state these horsemen poured in to St. Louis and under the leadership of General Gentry and Col. John W. Price they were organized at Jefferson Barracks and acquitted themselves brilliantly in Florida.

Jefferson Barracks was established in 1820, as Cantonment Adams (in honor of President John Quincy Adams), and during its existence of nearly a century has been an important military rendezvous in all of Uncle Sam's wars from the Mexican to the World war.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION THANKS PUBLIC FOR SUPPORT

The Parent-Teacher Association adopts this method of thanking all who had part in helping stage the bull game of last week for the benefit of the fund for the improvement of the school grounds. We regret, however, that the funds realized were far from sufficient to meet the needs. We can not but assume that the object of the game was not understood. With this as our conclusion we are offering further explanation herewith.

The school board has for the first time employed a teacher who will be able to direct the athletics commensurate with the size of the town and school. Since this has happened, and since all the grounds for such activities heretofore used are no longer available, it is up to the school to provide grounds of its own. Even if we had other grounds it is right that we develop the school grounds as a community center. The cost will not be great as the work will be done without profit.

A second objective is to sod and park the play grounds about the buildings. This work is already well under way and will be enjoyed next spring. The only argument needed to convince one of the wisdom of this is that it will be preferable to grass-burns and rocks for a play ground, and will result in a saving in shoes and laundry bills that will pay for it several times over within one year.

A soliciting committee of the Association will call upon the citizens to take care of this matter and there should be more than enough subscribed to take care of it. Colorado boasts of its records along other lines. What about the most important of all, the schools?

NEW WELL DOWN 600 FEET.

The California Company's C. E. Wood well, thirteen miles south of town is now down between 600 and 700 feet. The California Company is making a thorough test out of this well, the hole being 24 inches in diameter. It is said that they will go down either till pay sand has been reached or until all hope of getting oil has been abandoned.—Snyder Times.

Let the Chemist Weigh It

Hand the chemist a small piece of paper. Let him weigh it. Then write your name and let him weigh it again. He can tell you the weight of your signature within one ten-thousandth of a gram (28.3 grams equal an ounce.)

It is by such precise tests that the chemists of the Texas Portland Cement Company determine the exact proportions of the raw materials used in the manufacture of LONE STAR Cement.

This exacting supervision is maintained at every step in the process—in the wet-blending—in checking and rechecking—in the burning and final grinding.

Guess-work is eliminated. In fact, the chemist and superintendent know the exact condition of the material step by step during the entire nine-hour process. They can always come within one-tenth of one per cent of the quality at which they aim.

Result—a super-grade cement more than 50% above the requirements of the U. S. Standard Specifications.

Yet LONE STAR Cement costs no more.

It has our unqualified endorsement.
