SITE OF HOTEL COLORADO CLEARED FOR CONTRACTOR

CONSTRUCTION TO START AT EARLY DATE ON 5-STORY BUILDING

The old Malin & Colvin livery barn at Main and Walnut streets, reminiscent of early days in "Colorado City," has been cleared from the spot where it stood for more than forty years to give place to "Hotel Colorado," modern five-story hotel and theatre building to be erected by Colorado and Dallas interests.

E. E. Parkhurst, promoter of the hotel company, has been in Dallas the past week completing final details for actual construction. He and representatives of the contractors, the Churchill & Humphries Company of Dallas, are to arrive in Colorado this (Friday) morning. It was announced at the Colorado National Bank Wednesday that all details necessarily preceding actual construction work had been completed and the building was expected to be started immediately.

This hotel is considered by the Colorado Chamber of Commerce as one of the biggest development programs ever put across in this city. Officials of the chamber who have devoted considerable attention to the big project were very much elated this week over success of the venture.

The hotel is to be of fire proof construction throughout and embrace every modern convenience in hotel construction and equipment. Steam heat, hot and cold running water, private bath, private telephone and rapid speed elevator service are among the specifications named. The equipment for lobby and guest rooms alone will represent an expenditure of $35,000.

The theatre annex to adjoin the main hotel building on the north, will be forty feet in width, extending west along the alley to the west property line. This annex, to cost $35,000, will be among the best theatre buildings in West Texas. On the west side of the hotel proper, facing main street on the south, is to be erected a modern fireproof automobile building. This annex will be especially utilized to afford storage and service for hotel guests.

Erection of the new hotel, along with the Earnest & Thomas office building, started this week, will further the facilities of Colorado in bidding for headquarters offices of companies operating in the Central West Texas oil fields.

The hotel should be complete and ready for opening by the first of next year.

ATTORNEY QUITS OFFICE TO ENTER LAW PRACTICE

R. H. Ratliff, county attorney, authorized the statement Tuesday afternoon that he had definitely decided to withdraw his candidacy for reelection and would retire from politics to enter his profession as an attorney. Ratliff announced for reelection to the office of county attorney only a few weeks ago.

The county attorney is serving his second term and was a candidate for reelection to the third term without opposition. Ratliff was elected in 1922 and has held the office since, being elected for the second term two years ago without opposition. It was probable that he would have had no opposition for the third term.

"I appreciate very much the many courtesies accorded me by the public of this county," Ratliff stated late Tuesday. "The fact that I had been elected to the office for two consecutive terms and tendered support of my friends for the third term has been duly appreciated."

Ratliff stated that he was retiring from the campaign in favor of no candidate and had no idea who would be named as his successor. He declared that he had always striven to discharge the duties of prosecuting attorney while in office and had no apologies to offer.

200 METERS INSTALLED BY CITY SINCE JAN. FIRST

Since January 1, a total of 200 meters have been installed by the Colorado waterworks department, L. A. Costin, city manager, announced Tuesday. Costin stated that the city would continue this work until every customer of the department was connected with an individual meter.

Considerable extension is being made by this department in other respects. Water mains and sewer lines are either to be extended or have recently been extended to care for the growing demand of the city. An order was passed by the city council Monday night directing extension of the sewer mains to site of the new high school building.

A few weeks ago the city completed another well at the Northside Waterworks Plant, which has added seventy-five gallons per minute to supply taken into the mains. As the city continues to develop and demand for water increases, additional wells are to be drilled at this plant.

Farm Bureau Meeting At Court House Saturday

An important meeting of the Mitchell county farm bureau association is scheduled to be convened at the court house in Colorado Saturday afternoon at 2:30. At this meeting delegates to represent the county unit will be elected to attend the district convention, to be held in Snyder Saturday of next week.

All members of the county organization are expected to attend the meeting Saturday.

Riordan and Elliott To Give Reports of Meeting

J. Riordan and L. B. Elliott, delegates attending the annual Lions International Convention in Houston Monday and Tuesday, are expected to give an account of the convention at the club Friday at noon. They report the convention a big success.

Fred R. Newman of Greenville was elected district governor for the ensuing year and McAllen, in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, named as the 1927 convention city.

CONSTRUCTION WORK SOON BE STARTED ON BARCROFT

THIRD STORY AND REBUILD THROUGHOUT IS PLAN OF OWNERS

Actual construction work on the "New Barcroft" is to be started at an early date, E. A. Barcroft announced Tuesday morning. Mr. Barcroft stated that he and Mrs. Barcroft were to take over management of the hotel Saturday and expected to start contractors at work without delay.

Plans for the New Barcroft hotel specify the addition of another floor to contain thirty guest rooms. This will make a total of seventy guest rooms in the building. The present two story structure is to be rebuilt from basement up, making the place much more attractive and convenient for guests than it has ever been in the past.

"We are to spare neither expense nor personal effort in making of the Barcroft one of the best hotels in this part of the State," Mr. Barcroft stated. "We have an abundance of faith in Colorado and are pleased to announce we are to do our share in the building of an attractive city here."

L. H. Gaskins, Colorado architect, has charge of the projected improvement work. Gaskins recently announced that the lobby and kitchen were to be enlarged, along with the general program to improve the building from basement to roof.

Mesdames H. B. Broadus, J. T. Johnson, J. G. Merritt, Sam Majors, Ed Jones, A. L. Whipkey and Miss Jones will attend the Nolan county federation luncheon and meeting Saturday.

BUILDING PROGRAM OF CITY ASSUMES BIG PROPORTIONS

2 MILLION DOLLAR RECORD FOR 1926 IS QUOTA SET FOR COLORADO

Two million dollars in new construction in Colorado for 1926 is the quota fixed for the Mitchell county metropolis by the Colorado Chamber of Commerce. Announcement was made by the organization a few weeks ago that indications gave strong promise of such a record being reached during this year and continuation of the city's big development gives every assurance that such a record is to be attained.

Contractors are to begin work on Hotel Colorado at an early date. This building, along with the new high school, now under construction, the municipal building, just completed, the Thomas & Earnest office building, the several recently completed business buildings, together with the big quota of residences, will aggregate the first half of the year's quota. New buildings, either completed or contracted since January 1 is estimated to have represented an investment of $1,000,000.

In addition to the structures already announced for the business district contract has either been awarded or will be let within the immediate future for four modern business buildings. During the week there has been no let up in the large quota of residence contracts, for both new buildings and remodeling of old structures.

Among the buildings announced this week is the Hall & Ratliff building at corner Main and Oak street, a modern fire proof automobile home to be fifty by 100 feet in size. This building, to be completed August first will cost $15,000 and is to be the future home of the Mills Chevrolet Company. Judge J. C. Hall and R. H. Ratliff, county attorney, are financing erection of this building.

J. Brown, agent for the Texas Company, announces that he is to erect two modern service stations at once. One of the buildings, to be a model of beauty, will stand at corner of Third and Walnut streets. Brown purchased fifty by 140 feet at this location this week from Judge A. J. Coe. This building will be of Spanish architecture with cobble stone exterior finish. Special cobble stones for the building are to be shipped here from Cisco.

The second building to be built by Brown will stand at the end of East Second street, site of the old D. H. Snyder residence. This building is to be of brick.

Ed Womack announces plans for erection of a brick building on West Second street, immediately west of the Masonic hall. Across the street from the Womack building, C. H. Lasky is assembling materials for erection of a brick business building.

Davidson to Speak Here On Issues of Campaign

Lynch Davidson of Houston, candidate for governor, will deliver an address at Union Tabernacle Saturday afternoon, May 22, at 2 o'clock, according to announcement made here Monday by Davidson supporters. The Houston candidate hopes to meet a representative number of voters of Mitchell county at this meeting.

Local supporters of the former lieutenant governor are enthused over his coming visit to Colorado. Special advertising matter will be issued next week and efforts to draw a large gathering for this rally made.

Pastor and Delegates in Dallas For Convention

Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Chase, Mrs. J. Ralph Lee and Mrs. Bessie Wyatt, left Wednesday morning for Dallas where they will represent the Christian church from Colorado in the State Christian Missionary Convention which convenes in Dallas this week.

COTTON PLANTERS DOING EXTRA WORK THIS WEEK

Literally thousands of acres are being planted to cotton every day as farmers of the Colorado territory hasten to complete seeding their crops. Owing to continued cold weather, planting time at a well deferred date, farmers lost no time in their fields once the sun did shine out and warm the ground.

Even though the middle of May is upon us, this freak policy of the weather man continues to be in vogue. The first few days of this week it was generally believed that warm weather had arrived for keeps but not so. Tuesday night another "norther" broke loose, and Wednesday morning found the elements chilled. The warmth of fire was really enjoyed.

Much of the feed and grain acreage has been planted. During this week much of the planting done is cotton. The crop is coming up to a fine stand over the county and some planters have started working the young crop out for the first time.

"Crops are coming up in fine shape and looks as if we are to have a big crop year," sums up the general sentiment as expressed by farmers from over the county.

GIST WINS FIRST PLACE IN STATE ATHLETIC CONTEST

COLORADO WOLF STAR IS STATE CHAMPION IN BROAD JUMP

Huron Gist, outstanding star on the Colorado Wolves track last season and winner of district pennants in four events at the district interscholastic league contests at Abilene a month ago, has brought additional honors to Colorado High School. In the Texas University Interscholastic League events at Austin Saturday, Gist won first place in the running broad jump, covering a distance of 22 feet seven inches.

This was the first time the Colorado school had ever entered for State finals in the interscholastic league and winnings made by Gist were the source of much elation in school circles here. Big Jim Cantrill, coach, accompanied Gist to Austin and was present when the fleet runner and jumper took from all other contestants the coveted State prize.

Other winners in this event were Hale of Smithville; Powers of Edna; Phillips of San Antonio. Main Avenue High School, San Antonio, won State championship pennant by racking up a total of 13 1/2 points.

The distance made by Gist at Austin Saturday was eighteen inches more than the broad jump record credited to him at the Abilene district contests, when he covered 21 feet 1 inch for district championship.

In the elimination try-out tests Friday at Austin, Gist qualified for State finals in both the running broad jump and the 100-yard dash. In the latter, however, he lost to L. McCrary of Post, who ran the one hundred yards in 10.2 seconds. Gist made the distance in 10.3 seconds.

Brick Work to Start on School Bldg. Next Week

Brick masons are to be started on the Colorado high school building next week, the contractor announces. Structural concrete and steel has been completed to the second floor level and carpenters are assembling forms to the third floor this week. The large power concrete mixer and hoist should be filling these forms by end of the week.

Work has been delayed to some degree on this contract by rain and other unfavorable weather. Excellent progress, however, is being made. W. W. Whipkey, associate architect announces. The building is to be completed November 1.

Construction work is progressing on the Berry-Fee Lumber Co., office building, a two story structure on Pine street.

APRIL P. O. RECEIPTS FOR 1926 SHOW BIG INCREASE

PERCENTAGE GAIN OF 47.8 REPORTED OVER SAME MONTH IN 1925

A climb in postal receipts of 47.8 per cent for the month of April, over the figures reported for the same month a year ago is reported by Joe Y. Fraser, chief clerk at the Colorado postoffice. Postal receipts for April, 1925 were $1,642.09. For the same month this year the receipts were $2,427.41, an increase of $785.32, or 47.8 per cent.

For the four-month period ending May 1, of this year postal receipts total $7,979.95 as compared with $6,715.53 for the same first four months of 1925. This is an actual increase in receipts at the Colorado office of $1,264.42 for the period.

Postal receipts are to be accepted as an index of growth of the community served by the office, Mr. Fraser stated Monday, and the figures submitted by him reflect a substantial expansion of business conditions at Colorado and over the city's trade territory.

Considerable importance is attached by Fraser to inauguration of the government air mail service, opened between Fort Worth and Dallas and Chicago Wednesday. This service, he points out, should be of much importance to the Colorado public.

In giving schedules, postal rates and other information about the new air mail service, Mr. Fraser said: "Mail posted in the post office in order to be dispatched on train No. 6 will arrive in Ft. Worth at 6:30 a. m. The air mail leaving at 8 a. m., gives this mail plenty of time to catch the air mail."

"The rate of postage on air mail from Colorado to Chicago is 10c per ounce or fraction thereof. Mail for New York requires 15c per ounce or fraction thereof. Mail leaving Colorado in the evening will arrive at Ft. Worth 8 a. m. and in Chicago at 7:30 p. m. In view of the late hour of arrival in Chicago, a special delivery stamp should be used where it is not desired to have the letter wait for morning delivery on the following day."

"Mail for New York arriving at Chicago at 7:30 p. m., will connect with the over night air mail to New York and will be delivered in the early morning New York deliveries. The time of travel is cut 24 hours to Chicago and about 30 hours to New York."

"Mail leaving New York at 8 o'clock one night is in Ft. Worth at 5 p. m. the next day and in Colorado at 8 o'clock the next morning."

"Further information may be had concerning the air mail by inquiry at the post office."

Elder Harvey Conducts Two Funerals at Anson

Elder J. D. Harvey, minister of the Church of Christ, was called to Phantom Hill, Jones County, Sunday to conduct funeral of Mrs. James Wood.

Again Wednesday he was called to Anson to conduct funeral of R. H. Braden. Both were members of prominent Jones county families and were formerly served by the Colorado minister.

Elder Harvey is to deliver the baccalaureate sermon for the Leaders high school Sunday night. He stated Wednesday that owing to this engagement he would be unable to attend the special services here at the Methodist church.

Locust Street Extension Is Authorized by Council

Extension of Locust street two blocks north from Tenth to Twelfth street was authorized by the city council Monday night. The extension will be made to afford hard surfaced thoroughfare connection with the new high school over both Chesnut and Locust. Chesnut street is already hard surfaced north to the waterworks plant.

WORK BEGINS ON NEW 2-STORY OFFICE BUILDING

Excavations for foundation of the Earnest & Thomas two story office building were started Tuesday by the contractor, the J. M. Morgan Construction Company. The first car of cement to be used in foundation and structural forms was unloaded at the building site last week.

This new building is to be seventy-five by 100 feet in size. In architecture it is to conform to the Colorado National Bank building and be of fire proof construction throughout. The building will adjoin the bank on the south, facing Walnut street.

On the ground floor are to be three modern store apartments. The second story will contain eleven offices.

Ticket Sale Going Over Big, Sales Head Believes

With enthusiasm dominating every woman's federated club in the city, the Lions club, chamber of commerce, the schools and other organizations, there is little doubt but that the season ticket sale, opened Wednesday by the Colorado chautauqua committee, will go over strong, in the opinion of L. B. Collier, manager. Collier placed tickets on sale Wednesday morning at the drug stores and several individuals are working to place the quota at an early date.

The Colorado Drug Company store was designated as sale headquarters. All tickets issued to committee members and other selling agencies will be handled from there by Chas. R. Farris, committee treasurer.

"We have the best chautauqua program ever billed for Colorado and the people are already demonstrating their appreciation of such excellent entertainment," Mrs. J. G. Merritt, member of the committee, stated Tuesday. "The public are calling for tickets even before we place them on sale."

"I could have sold many tickets during the past few days," Rev. J. E. Chase, president of the chautauqua committee, stated. "Since an announcement of the program has been made a number of citizens have come to me to purchase tickets."

COUNTY IN BEST FINANCIAL CONDITION IN ITS HISTORY

AUDITOR FINDS ACCOUNTS OFFICIALS IN GOOD CONDITION

"The financial condition of Mitchell county is in A-1 shape, for the first time in history, and it takes the right kind of financing to make such a record," was the declaration of J. C. Newton of Houston, auditor representing the Rankin Audit Company, who completed an audit of all public accounts at the court house this week.

Newton stated that he had audited the accounts of this county for the past four years. "When I came here four years ago to make my first audit, I found the general and road and bridge funds $20,000 in arrears," he said. "Today each of these funds have substantial cash balances."

The expert paid a tribute to the officials of this county, for the conservative policy evidenced in expenditure of public funds and the accuracy with which they have kept all records entrusted to their care.

"I find that the accounts of every official here checks completely, a condition that I do not always find in Texas," he said.

Mr. Newton, after completing the annual audit here, left Thursday for Snyder where he is auditing accounts of Seury county.

The Colorado Printing Company, owned and managed by T. A. Leeman, is among the new industries opening for business in Colorado. The plant, an exclusive job printing office, is located in the Price building on Third street.

Leeman recently came to Colorado from Duncan, Oklahoma.

SEVEN LOCATIONS MADE IN VICINITY OF CHALK NO. 1

TESTS AROUND SHALLOW PRODUCER BE DRILLING AT EARLY DATE

Up to Thursday morning a total of seven locations in the recently discovered shallow field thirty miles southwest from Colorado had been made. These locations are in vicinity of the Owen & Sloan Chalk No. 1, completed a few weeks ago in section 113, of the Otis Chalk survey, for production of 200 barrels from between 1500 and 1600 feet.

Owen & Sloan, discoverers of the shallow field, the Magnolia Petroleum Company, Humble Oil & Refining Company, Marland Oil and Lockhart & Company, own leases on which the new locations have been made. Other companies, including both old line corporations and independent operators, control valuable acreage in vicinity of the Chalk well and these holdings are scheduled for development.

Rig has been completed at the Magnolia Petroleum Company location in section 114. This test will be drilled in the northwest corner of the southwest one fourth of the survey and is a diagonal offset to Owen and Sloan Chalk One.

Rig is up at location of Chalk No. 1 of the Marland Oil Company, in northeast corner of the southeast one fourth of section 113, same survey in which the discovery well was drilled.

Owen & Sloan are rigging up at their Chalk No. 2, at location in the northeast corner of southeast one fourth of section 113. This location is offset to Chalk One.

Lockhart & Company announce location for three tests in the field. Crew is building rig at their Chalk No. 1 at location in southwest corner of the northwest one fourth of section 114, offsetting Chalk One of Owen & Sloan. Another location is their Bob Scott One in section 88, two miles north of the discovery well. Crew is building rig. The third Lockhart & Company location is in the southwest corner of the northwest one fourth of section 97 of the Dora Roberts survey. This test is located two and one half miles northwest from the discovery well.

The Humble Oil & Refining Company location, among the most recent to be announced, is in the northwest corner of the northwest one fourth of section 123 of the Douthitt survey. Location is one half mile south of the Owen & Sloan well.

That a number of other locations are to be made in the shallow field is forecast by Colorado oil men. Drilling of the tests already announced will be the medium of causing a number of offset wells to be drilled, along with development planned by companies controlling acreage in that sector, and who have not yet opened drilling activities there.

Annual Report of Costin Accepted by City Board

Annual report of the city secretary as filed by L. A. Costin with the city council, was passed and accepted by that board at a meeting of the council Monday. A committee from the council of W. W. Whipkey and J. C. Pritchett was directed to cause the report and books of the secretary audited.

Big Spring Paving Fast Taking Form, Mayor Says

Paving in the business district at Big Spring is fast taking concrete form, Hon. Clyde E. Thomas, mayor of the Howard county metropolis, stated while here Tuesday. Judge Thomas was in Colorado representing the interest of a client in district court.

Things generally are humming at Big Spring, Mayor Thomas said. Considerable building is in evidence in both city and country.

Miss Pauline Pritchett has been sick for the past ten days, but is reported better.

Colorado Colonel Wins in Insurance Writing

DALLAS, May 13.—George B. (Colonel) Root of Colorado, district agent for the Southland Life Insurance Company, won fourth prize for production among more than 500 agents for the company, according to announcement made at the company offices here today. The prizes are awarded monthly and Colonel Root won his for business written during April.

Col. Root is one of the oldest agents with the company in point of service and is considered one of the company's steadiest producers, besides an outstanding figure in upholding the ideals of Southland agents "Service to Policyholders First."

It was recalled in Dallas today that Colonel Root is not a new character in winning worthwhile prizes. Back in the "good old days," when fine horse flesh was very much in favor, this West Texas man owned and trained some of the best turf animals in the country.

RETAIL MERCHANTS OF STATE TO DALLAS MONDAY

Several local business men are planning to attend the convention of the Retail Merchants Association of Texas which convenes at Dallas Monday. Many prominent speakers are on program and it is expected that more than a thousand members will attend.

The local Retail Merchants' Association was organized here last February and now has 76 active members.

TO MAKE 50 BUSHELS OF WHEAT PER ACRE, SAID

SNYDER, May 12.—"A hail storm is all that can keep me from making 50 bushels of wheat per acre now," says Giles Garner, champion wheat grower. Garner has 170 acres in wheat which now looks good for 7,000 bushels.

His optimistic statement speaks for the balance of the wheat planters of this section as well as all sorts of farmers and stockmen. Never before for many years have conditions been so wonderful and promise so much just at this time of the year. Every section of the county has been soaked and then re-soaked for the past few weeks. With the land in a splendid state of condition, the rain has been of unusual value.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO HOLD MEET JUNE 4TH.

FISCAL YEAR CLOSING MAY FIRST BEST IN HISTORY OFFICIALS CLAIM

The annual banquet and business meeting of the Colorado Chamber of Commerce will be held Friday night, June 4th, at the banquet room of the Barcroft Hotel, J. H. Greene, chairman of the entertainment committee of the organization, announced Thursday morning.

Greene stated that an entertainment program was being formed by his committee, announcement of which will probably be made next week. Orchestra music directed by Director Hewett of the chamber of commerce band, addresses by visiting speakers and other features are to be observed.

Annual reports of the president and secretary will disclose that the fiscal year ending May 1 was the most successful in history of the Colorado Chamber of Commerce, officials of the chamber claim. A number of worthwhile programs, affecting the entire citizenship of Colorado and Mitchell county, were successfully sponsored by the organization during the year.

A president and twelve members of the directorate for the ensuing fiscal year are to be elected. Owing to universal support of the chamber of commerce in this city it is believed that a record breaking attendance will be registered at the meeting.

GREATER MOVIE MONTH PLANNED, THEATRE PROPS.

Annual session of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Texas, Inc., closing in Dallas Wednesday night, was successful in every way, according to Mr. and Mrs. Ross D. Dixon, owners of the Palace and Mission Theatres at Colorado and who attended the meeting.

Plans for a comprehensive State-wide exploitation of "Greater Movie Month" this coming August was ordered by the convention with the approval of a $10,000 fund for advertising in the reputable newspapers and magazines of the State. H. S. Cole of Bonham headed the committee making these recommendations.

Possible resignation of the Texas association with the national body was foreshadowed in the empowering of a Texas delegation to the national meeting in Los Angeles June 1 to vote for such affiliation if they consider conditions warrant it.

A plea for co-operative work for better amusements in Texas was received from the Texas branch of the League of American Penwomen and President Cole appointed S. G. Howell, Dallas as chairman of a committee to confer with the Penwomen. Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller addressed the convention Wednesday and praised the work of the amusement men and commended them on their organization. Paul Baraco, Houston exhibitor, was another speaker.

Resolutions passed by the convention dealt mainly with problems of technical interest in the industry. The recently formed Dallas Theatre Managers Association and other units in the State association were incorporated in resolutions.

An ably produced cabaret number entitled, "One Glorious Night," featured the annual dinner dance held Wednesday night at the Baker Hotel, topping off an elaborate entertainment program. Twenty-five professional entertainers were in this big offering, given on a specially constructed stage in the crystal ball room of the hotel.

The first ice to be manufactured at the Texas Public Utilities Company plant, Main and Oak streets, will be on the market Friday, it was announced at the company offices Wednesday. The plant was started up Tuesday and the first "run" taken from the vats late Thursday.

The plant, erected in two units, represents an investment of $100,000. Company officials claim the Colorado plant to be one of the best in this section of the State.

GIRL IS DROWNED NEAR BALLINGER LAST WEDNESDAY

SAN ANGELO, May 12.—Miss Gyrene Freeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Freeman, was recovering here today from near drowning Wednesday when she plunged into the still swollen Colorado river near Ballinger, although not a good swimmer, in a futile attempt to save her hostess; Miss Coy Aycock, from drowning. Miss Aycock, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Aycock, ranchers, was buried at Ballinger this afternoon.

Miss Aycock stepped into the river at a point where she often had waded, but disappeared, the rise having washed out the stream. Miss Freeman owes her life to lodging on a sandbar downstream, where she regained consciousness.

Messages were confused and J. A. Freeman drove 36 miles to Ballinger in 35 minutes before he learned his daughter was alive.

ALMOST PERSUADED

In our last issue we stated that we desired to support a candidate for governor who could reduce the expenses of the government enough to remit our taxes. Now comes one candidate for Governor who says:

"I promise you, without reservation to cut the taxes of this State 50 per cent.

"I shall turn your penitentiary into a gold mine.

"I shall remove all taxes from your little car and put them on Lynch Davidson's limousine.

"The multi-millionaire oil man will be made to pay the taxes on the gasoline you burn in your small car.

"I shall see to it that your boys and girls have a plain, practical, Abraham Lincoln, Jim Hogg education.

"I shall remove the babies from our teaching force and put in mature men and women and raise their salaries by 25 per cent.

"I promise to do away with the text book nuisance. You shall have books at cost. No foreign book company shall profit on the Texas taxpayers while I am your governor.

"If elected Governor, the bootlegger shall cease to ply his trade.

The only way we can account for the modesty of this candidate is that he is a preacher and feels that he cannot afford to make promiscuous promises.

STORM AT WINDOM
Oscar Price received today the following letter from his friend W. L. Dowlen at Windom up in Lamar county.

Well we have just had one of the worst wind and hail storms thru here that I remember for a long time. It was about 12 or 15 miles wide by 25 miles long and extended clear down below Roxton and seems to have been worse in south of H. G. and near Petty, Dial and Roxton. It has cleaned most everything down there and below that 90 percent of farms around Windom will have to replant their cotton, as left it as clean as a floor. Think the wind and rain broke it off just about as bad as the hail. Think corn and oats will likely stand around here but near H. G., Betty and Roxton even got the oats and the corn. Estimate about 90 per cent of crops damaged or ruined.

Awful rain and don't think will be able to get in fields before Saturday or Monday if don't rain more, so we are sure going to be late this time. You all I guess have gotten stuff planted or about planted if it has not been raining.

Things don't look good here right now, but maybe come out O. K. in the wind up. Most all the barns and out houses have been damaged, roofs taken off and etc. Farmers Gin lost most all the East side of their roof, the little doctor's office across the street from our store blown from block, the east fire wall of the bank was all blown out, even down below the joints. Down around H. G. great many houses unroofed and think few deaths south of H. G., down near Roxton. It was just a hard straight wind, coming by puffs.

THE BIG HAIL STORMS
The oldest inhabitants in Dallas and North Texas say it was the biggest hail and the worst storm in the history of the world. They forget and the Record submits some history to keep them straight:

About twenty five years ago there was one at Italy, Texas, that practically destroyed every roof in town. And about forty years ago the hail killed 1,000 head of stock in Coryell county. But these were not in the class with the one of which we read in Rev. xxi, 21: "And there fell upon the men a great hail out of heaven, every stone about the weight of a talent, and men blasphemed God because of the hail, for the plague thereof was exceeding great."

A talent weighs 125 pounds, and it must have caused havoc with man and beast. We read in Ex. ix of one of the most devastating hail storms ever recorded, that not only killed men and beasts, but destroyed all the trees. And we also read in Josh. x how an army was defeated by the hailstones. This occurred on the same day that Joshua stopped the sun about one whole day and the moon in the valley of Aijalon.

The hail last Saturday did not spare the churches any more than it did the dance halls. Nature neither loves nor hates, and it sends the rain and the hail on the just and unjust.

DAN MOODY'S LOYALTY TO HIS MOTHER

I was asked by a friend to give the following for publication, as it gives a side light to the character of one of our nominees for governor.

While serving as county attorney and later district attorney of Williamson county, whenever Mr. Moody held court in Georgetown he roomed at my father's (Dr. Hutton's) and my father and sisters consider him one of the finest Christian gentlemen they have ever known.

His mother was an invalid during the time he was holding these offices and he always declined invitations for social engagements, and for Sunday dinners and went home to Taylor to spend Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night with his mother. And I understand he continued this loving practice through his campaign for attorney general.

His mother passed away soon after he assumed the office of attorney general and it was one of the regrets of his life that his mother was too sick to realize the honor that had been conferred upon her boy.

Additional delay in making permanent adjustment of the Mitchell county highway problem can only add more expense to the citizenship as a whole. With the present rate of surfacing the Bankhead Highway west from Colorado, many months will pass before Iatan Flat is conquered.

Mother's Day was truly successful as observed in Colorado. Successful from the fact that there were those among our sons and daughters to be prompted to better deportment in their life conduct because of the vision of Mother's inspiration for the good and true as reflected in the general program observed and from the further fact that many a mother was made to rejoice in the assurance that her son or daughter had resolved to be more nearly her ideal in the days to come.

Again The Record would direct attention of the farmers and farm boys of this county to the contest announced by the chamber of commerce. Some twenty-five entries remain to be made in this contest between now and June 10, if it is to become operative.

Continued rain has proven advantageous to the farm diversification program advocated by the Colorado Chamber of Commerce. Owing to delays in favorable weather conditions for planting cotton, scores of farmers have seeded additional acreage to grain sorghum, Indian corn and forage and feed crops.

Property increase of around $600,000 in Mitchell county property is forecast by County Judge Chas. C. Thompson. This is a good record, giving the evidence that Colorado and Mitchell county are developing along substantial lines.

Organization of a "Dan Moody" club at Colorado Saturday is being planned. State politics are beginning to take on new life here now and another few weeks is expected to witness a state of aggressive campaigning.

Colorado rejoices with Rev. Mr. Chase and members of his congregation in their attractive church building, the corner stone of which is to be laid Wednesday afternoon with Masonic ceremony. The Colorado public prides in everything calculated to make this a better community in which to live and in this nothing can excel the environ of good churches.

"Growing with Colorado" is the distinction coveted by the publishers of this paper. And, according to the numerous complimentary statements made by friends of The Record, both at home and abroad, this record is being achieved.

Yes, thank you, the Colorado Chamber of Commerce band, gold medal band of West Texas, will be in Amarillo for the big show. And, say, did you know that that fellow Hewest is a humdinger when it comes to knowing his stuff? He is one of the country's best band leaders and is building with enthusiasm over putting the Amarillo trip across in the usual "Colorado way."

JUDGEMENT

Dallas Morning News: Where would you place a voter who went into the Democratic primary, who scratched Ma and voted for Dr. Butte, but voted the balance of the Democratic ticket from Genesis to Revelation, so to speak? There are thousands who voted that way. Your opinion would be greatly appreciated as we all read S. P.

The above inquiry and affirmation comes from Hillcothe. It was propounded nearly a month ago, but the propounder shouldn't fancy that S. P. acquired all that time to come to an opinion. Cases in this docket must take their turn in the order filed. This docket isn't like the Dallas County District Courts, where a system of preferential ettings was established not long ago. Being a fundamentalist, State Press believes in the fundamental rule of rotation. Now comes the big verdict: A man who voted for Dr. Butte in 1924, and gained the Democratic nominee, was a Democrat with reservations. If he voted for only one Republican, out of a score of Democratic nominees, he was only one-twentieth Republican. It is a mathematical certainty. Such a voter can not morally be denied access to the Democratic primary this year, for he is Democratic in principle, and principles, not persons, are what the Democratic party is working for. Our tenets assert that our statesmen reiterate it. Self-preservation demands that the Democratic party shall not drive applicants away, but shall invite them to come in. Besides, there were so many who voted for Dr. Butte it would be inconvenient to lose them. On top of that, partisanship in that direction isn't unning as high now as two years ago. State Press is a bit florid in his thinking, at times, but underneath it all he is quite practical.

THE FEDERAL RESERVE

From Fort Worth Star-Telegram: The United States Federal Reserve is well into the second decade of its existence. Thus, since he banks composing it are operating under a 20-year charter granted by Congress, it has left but eight more years of its prescribed existence. The Federal Reserve Bank is not a perpetual institution. It will go out of existence on Nov. 17, 1934, unless its charter shall be extended. The country, therefore, must look on the Federal Reserve as an experiment to be reported upon. As such it is one of the most gigantic experiments in the history of economics. Bankers and financial interests generally criticized the legislation when it was pending in Congress. Opposition to new and untried schemes is a fundamental tenet of conservative business methods. But when the law was passed, the bankers and business men put their shoulders to the wheel and today have the satisfaction of knowing that their cooperation has helped to bring about one of the greatest constructive measures of modern times. That the Federal Reserve Bank is such a great constructive measure is the consensus of opinion called forth by approach of the time for making Federal Reserve legislation permanent. One banker expressed the sentiment graphically by referring to the Federal Reserve as "the backlog of the country's prosperity." The services of the bank are known to all men. Every patriot knows the service that the system rendered in making possible the financing of the war, every business man knows how the collection of his checks has been expedited and how he has been accommodated with credit even in what otherwise would have been periods of great stringency, every banker knows the added security and the added facilities which he has enjoyed. The Federal Reserve Bank has been attacked perhaps as bitterly as any other great organization in the United States. Much of this attack has arisen from political motives; much from lack of understanding stimulated for political purposes. The most bitter attacks, it will be recalled, arose in connection with the so-called deflation measures in 1920 and the consequent fall in prices. The Board was accused of deliberately inaugurating a destructive policy of liquidation, primarily against the agricultural interests. As a matter of fact, the Board issued frequent warnings against the overextended credit situation months before the Reserve banks were forced to take protective measures by raising discount rates. As a further matter of fact, as disproving the charge that the Federal Reserve, on behalf of "the money power," deflated the wheat farmers with especial severity, the truth is that he loans of Federal Reserve Banks fell more rapidly in the Eastern districts, where the paper was chiefly that of mercantile houses and industrial companies.

The Americans are the first people whom Heaven has favored with an opportunity of deliberating upon, and choosing the forum of government under which they should live. All other constitutions have derived their existence from violence or accidental circumstances, and are therefore probably more distant from their perfection, which, though beyond our reach, may nevertheless be approached under the guidance of reason and experience. Every member of the State ought diligently to read and to study the constitution of his country, and each teach the rising generation to be free. By knowing their rights, they will sooner perceive when they are violated, and be the better prepared to defend and assert them.—John Jay.

Gist, Colorado's athlete who starred so creditably at the University of Texas interscholastic league meet at Austin Saturday, is expected by his coach to do even better things. Nervous hot flashes "SOME time ago when in a very nervous, run-down condition," says Mrs. Martha F. Marlow, of Broken Bow, Okla., "I tried numerous remedies to try to at least to keep going, but I could not. I was weak and tired—just no good at all. My back ached and I had hot flashes until I was so very nervous I smothered. I couldn't sleep and I was never hungry, and I kept getting weaker. I couldn't stand on my feet. This was an unusual condition for me as I had been pretty strong all along. I knew that I would have to do something, and that pretty soon. "Some friend suggested that I take Cardui, and it certainly was a good suggestion, for after taking one bottle I could tell I was stronger and better. I didn't quit. I kept it up all through the change and did fine. I felt like a different person after I began taking Cardui." Cardui has helped thousands of suffering women. Sold by all druggists. ## A New High Speed Webb Perfecting Press Just Installed by THE COLORADO RECORD

Our New Press---A Model "A" Duplex A Bigger and Better Press to Meet the Growth of a Bigger and Better COLORADO RECORD

A STEP FORWARD

This issue of the Colorado Record—West Texas' leading newspaper—comes to you in a new size and is printed on a new press.

The Colorado Record is celebrating its popularity with the people of this community and a rapid growth by installing a new Duplex Web Perfecting Press, a press which required a week to erect with a crew of several men under the direction of J. H. Nord, representative of the Duplex Printing Press Company of Battle Creek, Mich.

This press weighs more than twelve tons, is absolutely the latest in printing equipment for newspapers in towns the size of Colorado and larger, and it is a marvel of precision with its many features for production and adjustment.

This press prints two, four, six or eight pages direct from a roll of paper at a speed of 3500 per hour, all in one operation, delivering the papers folded, ready for the carrier boys and the mails at the completion of its performance. This is in direct contrast to the capacity of our cylinder press which has been used many years to produce the Colorado Record. Our former press printed only four pages at a time at a speed of 1500 per hour. Sheets of paper instead of rolls were used in the former method and this meant that the paper had to be fed through the press sheet by sheet, twice, in order that it would be printed on both sides and then into the folder before it was ready for the mails. It can be readily seen that printing the paper now saves much time and labor.

The installation of this new press is a great advantage to our advertisers and the large number of readers also. Formerly it was necessary to make up four pages of the paper the day before it was issued in order that the first run could be made the morning of press day. Often it appeared that advertising would be light and the first run did not contain all the advertisements that it should contain. Then on the publication day the advertisements would start coming in and the last four pages would necessarily be crowded—many advertisements not securing the position they should have and much good news matter being forced out because there was not space enough to hold it. With this new press this condition is eliminated. All eight pages are made up at the same time and this makes it possible to give all advertisements good positions without being crowded and also to get all of the live news matter into the paper while it is news.

HOW IT WORKS

The new press is a complex piece of machinery, being a decided step forward in the press room as the linotype machine is in the composing room. Even persons who are not particularly interested in printing machinery will appreciate seeing this press in operation and our subscribers and friends are invited to drop into the office any Thursday afternoon about 3 o'clock and see this press in operation.

This press does practically the same work in the same manner as the perfecting presses in the large city offices, the chief difference being that the large presses print from stereotyped casts made from type pages, while our press prints direct from the type pages on a flat bed and gets better print, especially from half tones and higher grade cuts, than than the larger presses are able to obtain.

This press which is a marvel of mechanical skill and the many functions it performs in one operation is interesting to watch. The huge roll of paper will be noticed at the extreme right of the above picture. If unrolled this paper would reach approximately three miles. The paper is threaded over the web and across the bottom of the press to the left where it passes over the bottom bed where the type forms of four pages first come into contact with the moving paper. Going to the extreme left of the press the paper is carried by roller to the top, where it starts again to the right. In the picture the four pages printed on one side on the bottom can be seen. The paper now passes over the upper bed of forms, and the remaining four pages are printed.

The printing of the paper is now complete, but the press has not completed its work. Still traveling to the right the paper passes over a cutter which separates each individual newspaper, and traveling on it is gathered and enters the folder, which working with almost human intelligence, it folds, cuts and trims the paper and passes out the finished product in the chute at the extreme right ready for the mails. Four and six page paper are printed in the same manner. The serrated edge, found either at the top or to the sides of a newspaper, are a sure sign that it has been printed on a perfecting press and these are found only in the more modern and up-to-date offices of the country.

No more rapid development has been made in any line of industry the past quarter century than in the printing business and it has been the aim of The Record to keep "up with the procession." With our two Linotypes, our Duplex Perfecting Press and other modern machinery, no newspaper in the state is better equipped for the work in its field than is The Colorado Record.

The purchase of this press represents an investment of several thousand dollars and indicates the faith which the publishers of The Record have in Colorado and Mitchell county. This press will enable The Record to keep pace with the community and to issue a larger and better paper, truly representative of the community. The Record anticipates increased business activities in Mitchell county and we are now ready for it with the installation of this new press.

You are invited to drop in the office any Thursday afternoon about 3 o'clock and see this press in operation

The contest which has been running in the B. Y. P. U. closed Sunday night and the losing side will entertain the others at the Baptist Parsonage Thursday night. A large crowd is expected and a delightful time contemplated by the young folks.

Quite an entertaining meeting of the W. M. S. was held at the Methodist church Monday afternoon with seventeen members present. Every one seemed full of new plans and suggestions for the carrying out of our plans and two new members were added to the roll.

Mrs. G. H. Haylip has returned from a visit to her daughter in Dallas.

Mrs. L. E. Lasseter of Ft. Worth and her sister, Mrs. S. D. Vaughan and baby of Amarillo are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lasseter this week.

Billie Pirtle who received a broken arm in a car accident some six weeks ago was taken to Lubbock Sunday to be under the care of specialists at that place. We are sorry to say that the last report we had from him was that he had blood poisoning and that his condition was quite critical. Dr. Pirtle is with him and Mrs. Pirtle and Mable will likely go within the next few days.

The ninth and tenth grade Crusaders met with a number of visitors at the home of Winnie Eays Gressett Saturday evening, May 8, for a social hour. Both indoor and outdoor games were the chief features of the evening. Some excellent music was furnished by the different ones present, and refreshments of punch and cake were served. Every one expressed himself as having an enjoyable time.

On Monday, May 3, the first grade under the direction of Miss Bledsoe conducted the chapel exercises. The program which consisted of a May Pole drill, was well rendered by the little people.

The high school rendered its closing program Friday evening, May 7. The program consisted of a three act play, which occupied a full evening. The play, entitled "The Adventures of Grandpa," was well interpreted by the players. A large crowd attended and every one enjoyed the play greatly. The next program will be given on the evening of May 21 at which time the promotion exercises will be held and the prizes offered for the year will be awarded.

On Monday, April 10, the chapel exercises consisted of devotional exercises and a talk made by Mr. Terrell. There remains only one chapel exercise for the year, as school will close Friday, April 21.

HEADQUARTERS EIGHTH CORPS

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Texas, May 12.—"They always come back for more," says Rube Goldberg of his comic strip characters. Although he was not referring to C. M. T. C. students, he aptly described their attitude. This year in the 8th Corps area, a larger number than ever before have come back for more, because they realize the benefits derived; their parents knowing they are better boys for having attended, and the lure of getting back with the bunch in the good old C. M. T. C. makes other vacation plans seem insignificant.

In the 1925 camps held in the 8th Corps Area, 3000 young men completed courses and over 1100 of this number have applied to return to this year's camps. This is a large percentage when it is considered that many of them completed the C. M. T. C. training and are thus ineligible for further camps, and that a large number have written, expressing the desire to come again, but are prevented on account of sickness or other unavoidable home conditions.

Further information will be gladly furnished upon request, by the Chiefs of Staff, 80th Division, Ft. Sam Houston, Texas; 95th Division, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, and 103rd Division, Denver, Colorado or the C. M. T. C. Officer, Headquarters 8th Corps Area, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

ROBERT A. TAYLOR

Robert Anderson Taylor, one of Marshall's best known business men, died at his home, 208 East Bowie street, this morning at 12:20 o'clock after an illness of about a week.

Robert Anderson Taylor was born in Mississippi City, Miss., November 14, 1875 and moved to Jefferson with his parents about 1878, and after a few years residence in that city, moved to Marshall, where he made his home since.

For several years he was with Joe

Weisman & Co., in the store department, and about 22 years ago went on the road selling shoes for the manufacturers. About two weeks ago he decided to quit the road to go into the automobile business in Marshall.

He was a devout member of the First Methodist church and also a member of the Elks and Commercial Travelers.

Mr. Taylor was married about 12 years ago to Miss Ila Smith of Colorado, Texas.

The deceased is a grandson of Colonel J. B. Taylor, who was a prominent figure in South Carolina years ago.

He is survived by his wife, and mother, Mrs. D. A. Taylor; brothers, Pickett, John and Jinks Taylor and two sisters, Mrs. J. L. Pittard and Mrs. E. J. Spann, all of Marshall.

One of the touching scenes at the home today was the arrival of William Hubbard, an old negro, bent with age, one of the few survivors of the anti-bellum days, who was a slave during the war and afterwards with the Taylor family when the children were born, and who lives on his farm near Jefferson. He came over to attend the funeral of "his boy" as he called the deceased, whom he had nursed when a child.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 4 o'clock from the family residence with services conducted by Rev. Guy H. Wilson, pastor of the First Methodist church.

The following were the pall bearers: Dr. C. G. Kirkpatrick, Frank Armstrong, Franklin Young, Monte Allen, Will Michaels and Robert Motley.—Marshall Messenger.

DAVIDSON SHOWS JUDGE HE IS "LYNCH HIMSELF"

GARLAND, May 11.—Lynch Davidson's man-to-man electioneering tactics threatened to land him in jail here Sunday.

As he stepped from his automobile he reached for the sidewalk with his foot only to bump into Judge P. C. Cooper.

"I'm Lynch Davidson, running for Governor," said the candidate, reaching for the judge's hand.

The light was dim and the judge couldn't see well.

"Don't kid me, fellow," he said.

"I'll have you locked up."

When he was a justice of the peace here, Judge Cooper had a reputation for prompt enforcement of all laws, and when bystanders heard him threaten to have Davidson locked up they hastened to collect around the argument. Meanwhile Davidson was using all his salesmanship tactics to convince the judge that this was no frivolous affront to the bench. A newspaper friend of Davidson finally settled the argument by introducing the candidate.

I still receive your paper for which I truly appreciate and enjoy reading, but I would be very glad to find out the toner so that I could thank them. If you will be kind enough to advise I will gladly send postage. Kind regards,

MOODY FOR GOVERNOR CLUB BE ORGANIZED HERE

SUPPORTERS OF CANDIDATE TO MEET SATURDAY AT COURT HOUSE

"We are going to carry this campaign into every voting precinct of Mitchell county, organize the voters and carry this county for that distinguished statesman, Dan Moody, for governor," was the declaration of an enthusiastic supporter of the Williamson county man here Wednesday morning in issuing call for a mass meeting of voters at the court house Saturday afternoon to organize a "Dan Moody club." That the young attorney general will sweep Mitchell county in the coming Democratic election was also forecast by this strong Moody advocate. A man of such high ideals and of such proven integrity is just the type of leader needed in Texas, he said.

Every voter interested in this campaign is urgently requested to be at the court house Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, when the first step to organize Mitchell county for Moody will be taken. Ladies are especially invited.

At this meeting local speakers who have kept in close touch with the political situation in Texas, are to deliver addresses. These local friends of Mr. Moody are predicting that he will sweep the State in the Democratic primary election, to be held July 24 eliminating the other candidates and thus making the second primary unnecessary.

Teachers and Officers Meet

The teachers and officers of the Baptist Sunday school met at the home of Mrs. J. H. Greene last Friday evening. After the conference an enjoyable social hour was also enjoyed. Mrs. Wilkins and Mrs. Norman favored with music, piano and vocal. Following this the audience joined with them in singing old time songs. A contest of finding Bible quotations caused great interest and home made cake concluded the pleasant evening.

Party at Hut

The outstanding social event of the week was the party given at the American Legion hut Tuesday from 4 to 6 o'clock by Mrs. Frank Lupton and her daughter Mrs. J. B. Morgan.

The hostesses were assisted in receiving and entertaining their guests by Mrs. Edgar Majors, Mrs. J. H. Greene and Mrs. Bill Boudin. The hut looked inviting with bowls and baskets of roses. The library was used as the reception room. On the table was a dainty cover and a large bowl of roses. Bowls of roses were also on the mantle.

The form of entertainment was 42 and bridge. There were twenty-six tables of both. After several interesting games pink and white brick cream and squares of white cake with pink decorations were served by Misses Frances and Corrine Lupton, Nell Harper Greene, Rosalie Laelle, Katherine Gage, Alice Blanks and Virginia Stonerod to more than a hundred guests. Master James Lupton assisted his mother in punching the score cards.

WOLF THAT KILLED $30,000 WORTH OF STOCK SHOWN HERE

A black lobo wolf, credited with slaying over $30,000 worth of live stock in the Big Bend section in three years, was exhibited in Colorado this week by W. I. Evans of Wichita Falls. He captured the animal alive about four weeks ago, fifteen days after trapping a pup, believed to be one of the killer's three offspring.

Two Mexicans, whose torn and lifeless bodies were found in the mountains several months ago, were killed by the mother wolf while protecting her three pups, according to popular belief. The Mexicans met death near a cave in which the pack is known to have its den, and Mr. Evans believes a scar across the black lobo's nose was inflicted with a hatchet in the hands of one of the Mexicans. Traveling on burros, the Mexicans went into the mountains in search of the wolves without firearms.

The Federal and State government rangers in Brewster county offered heavy bounties for the wolf before she was captured, and government trappers from Colorado, Oregon and Utah joined in the hunt before, says Mr. Evans. One of these trappers, John Williams, recently captured a young wolf, thought to be one of the three pups. He was forced to kill it in order to remove it from the steel trap. Brewster county ranchman rewarded Mr. Evans with a purse of $185 for capturing the two wolves, but the federal and state bounties could not be collected because the pelts were not furnished as proof. Mr. Evans preferred to exhibit the animals alive. The mother wolf is said to be one of the first black lobos ever seen along the Rio Grande. Cream-colored animals are the most common of the type. The pup, about a year old, more gray, with white and black streaks. Toes on the left foot of each wolf are missing, showing that they have been trapped previously. The mother wolf weighs ninety-two pounds. She is not the largest ever trapped along the Rio Grande says Mr. Evans but is considered the most destructive animal that has preyed on live stock there in many years.

Eight years after the last shot was fired on the battlefields of France, the World War is taking its toll from the men who served in the United States army. Ex-soldiers with shattered bodies and broken nerves, many of whom are victims of the sudden and inexplicable terrors attendant upon shell shock, are increasing in numbers rather than decreasing, according to statistics in the hands of Miss Margaret McLean, executive secretary of the American Red Cross in Fort Worth.

"Since early in 1925 we have had more than 300 requests from the various regional offices of the Veterans' Bureau for aid in the location of former soldiers," Miss McLean said Wednesday. "Lately these requests have been increasing in volume."

Practically all of the men sought are entitled to compensation from the Government. A large percentage of them have been discharged from hospitals in the past year, while others have been missing for several years.

"In some of the cases, compensation had been stopped, but later legislation renewed it. In the meantime, however, the Government had gotten out of touch with the men, and did not know where to find them," Miss McLean explained. "Through the press contact department of the Veterans' Bureau has enlisted the aid of the Red Cross in this work."

As the bureau is interested in locating only those men who are entitled to further recompense, the burden for the mysterious forces which cause former soldiers to sever all connections between themselves and their families and former friends is laid directly upon the war. Bureau and Red Cross representatives both say, however, that the known cases are only a tithe of the total which could be traced to their origin in breakdowns caused by the strain of battle.

The Red Cross has been asked in the past week to assist in finding the following men: James Thomas McGowan, Chicago; Peter Povaletz, Charles Bollman, Lowell H. Stanzer,

Colorado and Her Citizenship Both Prize Winners, District Attorney Brooks Finds

Colorado is a dandy good town and the same is to be applied to the whole of Mitchell county, Hon. James T. Brooks of Big Spring, district attorney, says. Judge Brooks has been in Colorado during the past four weeks attending upon his duties as states attorney during district court, but has not been too busy to make some observations as to the type of town and citizenship to be found here.

Judge Brooks recalled that five or six years ago, Colorado was a small town of about 2,000 inhabitants. Back in those days, he said, Colorado was just moving along in the old ruts. There was no unusual development in either the town or surrounding country.

"But today Colorado is absolutely one of the best small cities I know of in West Texas," the district attorney declared. "I have just been walking over the city, taking note as to what you really have here. In the business section you have fifteen blocks of good substantial buildings, housing some of the best banks, stores, offices and shops to be found in this part of Texas. Your paved streets and white way have proven one of your biggest assets in cultivating civic pride and lending support to the building of a greater Colorado.

"But the growth of Colorado in a material way is not the only fine quality I find in this town. You have here in Colorado and Mitchell county a type of citizenship hard to discount. The same splendid ideals of citizenship and good government of which Colorado has so many years been famed, continues to rule public sentiment here, making this an ideal home community.

"The claim of your superior citizenship is to be sustained by the court records at the court house. A city of five thousand, surrounded by a thriving and prosperous farming, livestock and oil area, as you rightfully lay claim to, and holding the respect for good society and law enforcement that you do, is indeed fine.

"Why just look at the records in district court. When criminal district court was called Monday morning of last week, there were only a few cases pending and every one of them was based on a minor infraction of the law. The public of this city and county, he said to their credit, are standing with the officers in law enforcement and this silent rule of the majority is making law violation on the decline in this county.

"Then, again, your grand jury, after full deliberation, returned a small number of indictments. Another sign of the times that the citizenship of Mitchell county are of the proper kind."

Judge Brooks paid a tribute to the peace officers of Mitchell county. Diligence of these servants of the public in carrying into effect their responsibilities and making good on their oath of office, like the citizenship, is contributing much to discourage law violation.

The district attorney sees a brilliant future for Colorado. He stood in front of the chamber of commerce and looked across the street where workmen were clearing the site for Colorado's new five story hotel. Just across the alley north of the hotel site the contractor was assembling material for the Thomas & Barnett $40,000 store and office building.

"Erection of these buildings will be a distinct credit to the entire community," he concluded. "Erection of buildings of the type they tell me those are to be means that Colorado is fast merging into the city class."

Judge Brooks likes Colorado so well that during the present term of district court he leased an apartment here and he and Mrs. Brooks are temporarily making their home in Colorado until court is over. He failed, however, to consent to the charge that he had in mind the thought of leaving his home at Big Spring and moving to Colorado permanently.

"Big Spring is a mighty good town too," he said, "and the folks up there are like those here, the best in the West. You have outgrown us during the past few years, but watch Big Spring from here out. The big shallow oil field is in Howard county, we are paving our streets, erecting new buildings and opening up for big programs in general."

BAPTIST HOLDING ANNUAL CONVENTION IN HOUSTON

The seventy-first session of the Southern Baptist convention began in Houston at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. This meeting was preceded by the two-day session beginning Monday night of the Women's Missionary Union, auxiliary to the convention. The convention will last a week.

Dr. Fred F. Brown, Nashville, Tenn., former pastor of the First Baptist Church, Sherman, preached the opening sermon of the convention. Important south-wide committee reports to be given include that of the hospital commission, of which Dr. F. S. Groner is chairman; the relief and annuity board, of which Dr. William Lunsford of Dallas is secretary; the Sunday school board, the home and foreign missionary boards and the education board.

The Women's Missionary Union meeting opened with an elaborate pageant and educational program in the Houston City Auditorium at 8 p. m. Monday. Three business sessions held Tuesday and two Wednesday.

Rev. M. C. Bishop, pastor and Mrs. W. W. Porter, are representing the Colorado Baptist church at the convention. Rev. Mr. Bishop will return to Colorado in time to fill his pulpit Sunday.

ADVERTISING DEVELOPS THE UTILITY INDUSTRY

In a recent interview with Dempster MacMurphy, advertising manager of the Middle West Utilities company and secretary of the Public Utility Advertising Association, published in the Abilene Reporter Mr. MacMurphy is quoted as saying that development of public utility advertising in the past few years has been quite as remarkable as the development of public utility industry itself.

"The men who manage these utilities and their organizations have set up as just operating expenditures advertising appropriations which are spent in the proven knowledge that advertising pays," continued Mr. MacMurphy. "They made their advertising men ambassadors to the public viewpoint, establishing their function as a strict duty of public accounting in making available complete information of operations, financial results, plans and policies. They told these advertising men to keep open the doors of the utilities to the public and to the press, and to make clear the factors in providing public service.

"The result has been that electric light and power companies, which faced this decade overwhelmed with demands for extensions of service and without the means of financing owing to seriously impaired public confidence today have widely extended their services, by conduct rather than argument they are beginning to make political attacks upon them unpopular, they are properly and adequately financed and they stand high in public confidence. In the winning of popular understanding, overtures through every established channel were made, and yet the backbone of the appeal consistently remained—and always will remain—newspaper advertising. The reasons are all based on practical newspaper requirements, in which the impossible idea of purchasing editorial influence and opinion have absolutely no place.

"In my opinion, the service which the press offers industry of all sorts through its advertising columns is of quite comparable importance to the service which the public utility industry offers its customers. It is a tremendously constructive field of activity, for through utility newspapers advertising comes a better standing on the public's part of their great interest in utility business—an understanding that reflects itself in better service and faster growing communities."

Better Homes

The Better Homes week closed with an interesting program on different phases that make for better homes at the Baptist church last Friday evening. Thursday and Friday afternoons were spent in visiting some of the new homes in Colorado and the near by communities.

They were, indeed, well arranged homes with all necessary conveniences for health, comfort and time-saving devices. A hundred ladies registered at the homes and we feel that many failed to do so.

Don't forget the two specials at the Mission this week. Fred Thompson and Silver King in "The Wild Bulls Lair." "East Lynne" with an all star cast, one of the oldest stories ever written, also one of the best, this is a Fox Special with a special cast, 12 popular and well known stars.

RECORDS SHOW WEAK SPOTS TO POULTRY RAISERS

If the poultry raiser is to earn a fair return on his time and investment he must know his cost of production at all times. Although poultry and egg production represents a tremendous part of the nation's agricultural output, many of those engaged in it still follow haphazard methods, knowing only vaguely what it costs them to raise their chickens or to produce their eggs.

Poultry raising is a business and should be approached from a business standpoint. That means keeping records of every transaction in connection with the flock. The few unusually large poultry raisers appreciate the value of adequate records, but the small farmer or backyard flock owner needs them equally as much. No manufacturer would attempt to conduct his business with the meager records kept by a large majority of poultrymen.

Every poultryman's aim is to get the most eggs from his birds at the lowest production cost. Records are the first step in achieving that aim, for they assist in eliminating the boarder hens. Many poultry raisers who operate on a large scale trapnest their hens, and mark the egg production on a record sheet opposite the number of the hen. While trapnesting is the most accurate method of eliminating non-producing hens it is not always the most convenient method for small flocks, where it is impossible to have a permanent attendant present.

The Purina Poultry Book, trapnest record blanks, and colony house records are distributed locally thru the courtesy of the D. M. Logan & Son Company, distributors of Purina Chows.

Better read the ads this week and see who is who and when to buy. Quite a number of readers say the ads are the best news in the paper because they can see where to save money.

Speaking in the language of the football player, once in a very great while there comes along a player who is "All-American" and nothing else but.

Such a player is Ed Weir the left tackle and captain of the Nebraska football team, who will lecture on Character and Clean Athletics at the Chautauqua which is being brought to Colorado. Weir will speak on the fourth day.

Put Weir on a team of the greatest individual players in the country and put that team against eleven more of the same sort, and the chances are very good that Weir's presence would be noted, and that at once. He is that kind of a player—fast and furious, the kind of a player that makes life worth while for "All-American" pickers.

In addition to his lecture on Character and Clean Athletics, Weir explains and demonstrates some health building exercises—exercises that go for increased efficiency, better health, and leave a lasting benefit in a community.

Just now when great organizations of the country are turning their attention to the matter of increasing the efficiency and the good health of a nation, Colorado should be greatly interested in the coming of Weir.

Mc. says Governor Ferguson is governor of this state by choice of the people. Which Ferguson are you talking about? One of them is and one of them isn't governor at all. The one that is governor wasn't elected, the one that isn't governor was elected, but not as the choice of the people. It was a case of Ferguson or feathers, so the people took Ferguson. Just see what a real comedian that feller McGregor is, will you? Saying that our governor was the choice of the people. Will Rogers is more famous than Mc., but he isn't half as funny.

Then Mc. splutters around about the great things the present administration has accomplished, and says the treasury is just bulging with money. Darned if it shouldn't be considering the taxes we busted guys are paying. Hatcher says he "done it," Jim says he "done it." My honest opinion is that it hasn't been done, and if it has been done the credit belongs to the taxpayers themselves.

But Mc. overlooks a number of things. For instance, he overlooks the case of Yett vs. Nalle. Jim bossed that job. The highway mess, more money wasted and squandered by that one department than all other savings can equal. Jim bossed that job, or claimed that he did. Text-book mess, hundreds of thousands more wasted. Didn't Jim boss that job, also? Two thousand dollars out of the enforcement fund to a couple of jackleg lawyers that couldn't even get into court. Jim bossed that job. Pardon scandals galore. Jim bossed that job. Twenty thousand dollar fee as attorney for a railroad. For a lawyer without experience as a practitioner that required a lot of hard work, close application, etc., and kept Jim from giving proper attention to his duties as governor or by proxy. And there are just a whole lot of things Mc. overlooked.

Mc. just keep on fussing about the constitution, consistency, et bunk. Is there anything in the constitution relative to a governor by proxy? If not, then our present governor business by proxy is a gummed up, unconstitutional mess, isn't it?
—Don Biggers in The Limelight.

IN RACE FOR GOVERNOR WITH LIVE-WIRE PLATFORM

I am willing to accept the office of Governor of this State and hereby offer myself a living sacrifice on that altar. When I was very small they told me I would hold a more exalted office (if there are any) and called me George Washington as an aid to that end. Good material offered for the exalted position as Governor is not so plentiful as two years ago, so I feel encouraged and I'm sure the good people of Texas will fall over each other (I hope they will not get hurt) to get to the polls to vote for me. Each of the other candidates is reported to have said very bad things of all the others, and I believe all they say of each other. Perhaps I am prejudiced. I am honest, I shout it from the housetops. I am honest. If wrong, I'm open to conviction.

Here is my announcement. I was born of blue blood. My ancestors date back to Adam and Eve, who were pronounced good by the Maker, and I believe it, though some of the preachers of my church, heads of theological colleges, assure me that my ancestors date back thousands of years before Adam and Eve. Be that as it may, they include some of the Mayflower immigrants and F. F. V.'s, Bob Lee, Pat Henry, Abe Lincoln, George Washington, Queen Victoria, Julius Caesar and Biddy O'Riley, the daughter of J. Whitcomb. You see I'm not "of the common herd" as is Jimmie, and he admits it himself. But, in spite of his handicap, he has become a noted character in his later years.

Words are the poorest possible conveyance of intent. If good laws make criminals, I'll abolish all criminal laws, turn the penitentiary into a broom factory and keep a few of the best criminals to run the State farms and permit them to select their own overseers and thus save many thousands of dollars. I will pardon all the others—bootleggers, high-jackers, murderers, rapists, bigamists and wife-beating husbands.

If people show by their votes that they want light wines and beer, I am in favor of Government control, including rum and whisky, barrels of which are to be kept on every street corner, spigot attached, and large than I have had in these matters, but Government expense on a corner at every cross-roads in Texas. I admit, however, some of my competitors may have had more experience than I have had in these matters, but will keep an open mind for suggestions. That is fair, I'm sure.

I am in favor of economy, therefore I will abolish all State offices and administer the business of the State myself on a fifty-fifty basis, and thus save $15,000,000,000. I'm decidedly in favor of the klan, and in view of the economies I've suggested I am in favor of 150 per cent raise in the salary of the Governor. I'll make a law to that effect when I assume office.

I am in favor of a ten-year term for the Governor when the people invite Jimmie to vacate. Poor old Jimmie. It will be a sad day for him.

I'd appreciated it if the News would give my announcement your whole-hearted approval. I also invite all other periodicals to copy so that my candidacy will meet with triumphant approval at the polls in November.

IRISHMAN "BOOZE BOOSTER"

Was seen and heard on corner at Colorado Drug Co., Monday morning, dispensing a witty dish of Irish humor and railery; but in fact, the "Irishman" was just a wily tool of the liquor interests and, no doubt, they he claimed to be. Yes the "ole jolly" had the whole "map of Ireland" written all over his face. Naturally attracted considerable attention, for like King Cole, he was a jolly old soul. He remarked "If beer bottles had nipples on them I would be sucking them all the time." Now whisky and beer interests have their propagandists scattered like chaff all over America. The public can look for them from now by until they (liquor interests) go down their last time, never to rise again, after the election is over. "Watch, as well as pray."

The devil appears in many disguises, sometimes as an angel of light, so the Bible tells us. This time it was an "Irishman". And I believe it with all my heart and soul.
J. H. WIGINGTON.

WITH "ORPHAN BRIGADE" IN 1924; NOW FOR MOODY

The results of the first Democratic primary two years ago left about 300,000 of us political orphans. Ours was a serious dilemma. We had never been supporters of the Fergusons, and we were strenuously opposed to the domination of our party by a secret political bloc. At this psychological moment Mrs. Ferguson assured us that she wanted only one term of office for the vindication of her husband and to remove a stigma from her family. A happy solution of our trouble was present: Kill two birds at one shot; elect Ma for two years and eliminate the klan from politics. So we rallied to her support and elected her; without our help she would have led a forlorn hope.

Two years have gone by and it seems that the klan has very wisely taken itself out of politics; but, like the cat with nine lives, the Fergusons come back and want more vindication. The Legislature did its best to give the ex-Governor a clean bill of health, and it does seem that the people are well "fed up" on this vindication stuff. But some say Ma, by party usage, is entitled to a second term. She is no doubt a good woman, but it insults our intelligence to be told that she is more than the nominal Governor of Texas; her "wood and water carrier" sits in with the highway commission, is secretary to the Textbook board and is the medium and adviser in the distribution of pardons and offices and all important matters. Stripped of all pretense, the issue is, do we want James E. Ferguson to be the directing governor of Texas for a fourth term—to say nothing of an administrative record that is indefensible in some important features?

The ex-Governor is a past master in the art of belittling his leading opponent; this has been his chief trick in all of his campaigns. To read his recent lambasting of Dan Moody the uninformed world would conclude that the attorney general is no more than a little conceited, incompetent. The truth is, if an impartial commission was called upon to award a Carnegie medal to the Texas official who in the last four years had rendered the most heroic service to preserve our bill of rights and insure honesty in public service it would be pinned upon the lapel of Dan Moody. His record is written; the intelligent citizenry know it; ridicule will not efface it.

Being one of the "Orphan Brigade" of 1924, the writer gives it as his opinion that three-fourths of us are under the Moody banner.

ALL DEPENDS ON WHOSE OX GORED THE TICKET

Sundry observations in The Dallas News anent the political situation and fit punishment for anyone not wearing a well-worn and grooved collar and chain persistently and consistently, ever and always, offers new evidence of the time-worn slogan. "It all depends on whose ox is gored."

Some of us, in the enthusiasm of election argument, declared that only those with a warped intellect, a seared conscience or a withered soul, could while professing to believe in democratic form of government, follow after a secret society and unknown leadership in politics, and in the opinion of the then conspirators who captured the nominations, "bolted the ticket" and followed an independent endorsed by the republicans in the general election. (I was one of them).

Later when the other side won in the secret-society-in-politics argument, and secured the nomination of an estimable lady whose administration has been characterized by payment of State warrants when issued (for the first time in years), and in efficient collection of taxes to meet requirements and other desired ends in government, then the "bolters" of the former contest turn "regulars" and hurl sundry threats as to coming to the mourners' bench and going through the "dipping vat" as fit treatment to chasten proud spirits to give them the proper meek and lowly and humble attitude to again justify admission to the Democratic party.

It almost is to laugh. I believe in persistent, aggressive efforts to travel onward, forward and upward to catch up with changing political ideals. But is there any better, surer or safer method of getting desirable results than to each allow the other to be the judge and final arbiter of his own individual conscience and political morality. Let's be honest, anyway.

Stately Old Cottonwoods, Memoirs of The Past, Doomed as Development Continues

Again the death knell has been sounded for some of the sturdy old trees that have stood along the busy thoroughfares of Colorado since the early days of this historic West Texas city. A few years ago when the city was paving the business district, several of the old rustic cottonwoods, planted in their places more than forty years ago by the hands of pioneers, gave way to modern progress. Now three more of these memoirs of "Colorado City" must yield to the ax.

The three stately old cottonwoods facing removal from the places they have so faithfully held since 1883, stand along the curb on Walnut and Main streets, adjoining site of the new hotel. As this modern building is to tower upward, the old trees are to be leveled to the ground and forever pass out of public notice.

Ordinarily there is nothing sentimental about the fact that a few trees are to be cut down and dragged off to the dump heap or wood yard. Such is done many times every day. But in this specific instance, there is present and entirely different application in the order of things. These trees, dugged out of the ground along the banks of the Double Mountain river, hauled to Colorado in wagons and planted where they have since stood by the hand of founders of this city, played the role of creating among the citizens of Colorado a civic pride which has never died. From that early day down to the present, Colorado has held claim to being one of the most attractive home towns in West Texas, out of the fact that her citizens loved the environment of nature as portrayed in shade and ornamental trees, shrubbery, lawn and flower gardens.

Coloradans pride themselves in the beauty of their shaded streets. Few small cities have material examples of real civic attractiveness to surpass those nurtured and protected by the people of this town. This being true and tracing the origin of this good fact back to the days when our forebearers crossed the unfenced domain of the buffalo to the Double Mountain river, to dig out of the ground and transplant in the new home of their adoption literally hundreds of cottonwood sprouts, as the very inception of the beauty we hold today, the town will not fall in registering a sense of disappointment in seeing the old trees doomed.

As to beauty, as those seeking the fanciful see things, those old cottonwoods are absolutely devoid of attractiveness. The sturdy trunks are scarred from the thousands of attacks made up them with jack knife by the man and boy who sought shelter underneath their spreading branches all through the years. Disease and drought, too, have added their telling effect upon the old trees and from bottom to top may be found evidences of these deteriorating agencies.

The beauty, as Colorado will see in those old woody plants penetrates deeper than the exterior presents to ones physical vision. We hate to see them go because they are a landmark of "Colorado City", the pride of the West in the eighties. We hate to see them go because from the start our forefathers made with them, sprang the beauties of nature represented in tree, shrub, flower and other masterpieces of God's handiwork so prevalent along the streets of Colorado.

The old cottonwoods standing about site of "Hotel Colorado" are not the only ones which must be taken from their places. The tree standing at corner Second and Walnut, among the largest in the city, has finished its course and, along with the other silent memoirs of the past, must go. It has been overtaken by the ravages of time and abuses of man. It is dead!

The passing of these old trees follows in the path of every other element making up the past. In the face of modern development in this great empire we love to term West Texas, the uncharted plain, the buffalo and the Indian have long since turned toward the setting sun to be bone forever. As development continues, one by one these landmarks of the past must pass out.

NEW RECORD ESTABLISHED

The Texas state record for the number of life insurance applications written in a single month was broken during April by Earl P. Price, district agent for the Southland Life Company at Honey Grove, Texas. The former record of 101 applications written by A. C. (Tex) Bayless of the same company was bested by three, Price writing 104 during the month.

Price did not solicit the applications on a contest basis and did not even tell his prospects that he was out to best a record. His territory is a rural territory, Honey Grove boasting 2642 people and Fannin county, in which it is situated, being credited with 48,000.

The month of April in Texas was one of the wettest the state has ever known, 15 of Price's 26 working days being rainy days and the dirt roads being boggy and muddy.

Price averaged 4 applications a day, the largest being for $20,000; the total of his production being $157,500.

SEVEN WELLS NOTES

We want to say that farming is a real pleasure since the ground is in such fine condition.

Everybody is pretty well up with their planting and the feed is looking fine. Cotton beginning to show up. Unless something happens to the crops old Mitchell will soon be smiling over a record breaker prospect.

We were all made very sad last Thursday. When one of our teachers, Mrs. C. C. Cross, received a wire from her home town, McKinney, Texas, that her husband was very sick and for her to come at once. She left Thursday night at 9:30 o'clock to be with him. We regret so much to have to give her up. Our prayers go with her for his speedy recovery.

Mrs. Quinnie of Colorado will finish her school which will be out in two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. U. D. Wulfjen are having quite a lot of improving done to their home the past two weeks.

The deep well on the Wulfjen ranch is still causing quite a lot of excitement.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wallace and children from Midland have been down visiting since our last report. We all enjoy their visits so much.

Almost every body attended church at Colorado Sunday and Sunday night.

Mr. Will Brown is very busy lately trying to keep out of work.

KEMP RETURNS TO PREMIER

A mere mention of the name of Everett Kemp, and joy is brought to a host of friends and admirers of Kemp, who has won an enviable record by his irrepressible humor, and his masterful presentation of some of the finest works of modern literature.

Kemp is almost nationally known as the "man with the million dollar laugh" and he gained this title thru his humorous presentation of "The Man with the Bone Colored Whiskers."

Such plays as "Seven Oaks", "That Printer of Udell's" and "The Music Master" have lived and breathed under his almost magical touch of their characters, and now he comes with a brand new entertainment, even with greater messages, and greater humor than ever before.

Kemp has been with the Redpath Chautauquas for years. It is an inspiration to have a man of his calibre return to the Premier Chautauqua platform after several year's absence. He has become so well known by so many hundreds of people that his work has come to have an established standard of artistry.

It is especially fortunate that the opening day of the Premier Chau-

A Sensational Value

For you who would limit your motor-car investment to one of the lower-priced sixes, Walter P. Chrysler presents another sensational quality product—the new Chrysler "60".

Into this third great Six, Chrysler has injected the same degree of quality and value that has won such public acclaim in the other Chrysler cars—the "58", "70" and Imperial "80".

In the new Chrysler "60"—as in the "70" and Imperial "80"—are the same sheer brilliance of Chrysler engineering, the same high quality of materials, the same superior craftsmanship, the same rigid test and inspection, the same assured endurance and dependability.

The lower price of the "60"—the lowest price at which a Chrysler Six has ever been sold—is merely a difference of size, of speed capacity, of special performance.

This means that the "60" will outclass every other car in the field of the lower-priced Six—just as every Chrysler outclasses every other car in its particular field.

Sixty miles, and more, per hour unprecedented acceleration; gas economy of 22 miles per gallon; the striking beauty of Chrysler dynamic symmetry; astonishing riding ease and roadability; the safety of Chrysler four-wheel hydraulic brakes; oil-filter and air-cleaner; full pressure lubrication; seven-bearing crankshaft; road levelizers front and rear; roomy, luxurious bodies.

We are eager to number you among the thousands who have studied the new Chrysler "60" since its presentation here a week ago. See it; drive it; experience its unusual performance—and you will, we feel sure, no longer be content with any but the Chrysler "60" in its field.

HERE AND THERE

(By a Smart Guy)
In reading this stuff you put in the local names to suit. The editor is afraid to do so.—Ed.

Several of our weather forecasters who predicted an early break-up of a hard winter, have been noticeably silent of late. However, some reliable symptoms of spring can now be seen around town. Smoke is curling up from back yards rather than from kitchen flues. Heads covered with dust caps are bobbing about. Paling slats are being welded where parlor rugs hang over clotheslines, and the best looking furniture has been brought out on front porches to get the air. House cleaning may have gone out of style in places, but it continues to be practiced in Colorado. A good part of our male population still has to think up excuses for being scarce at this season.

Harvey Carter is laying the foundation for a two-room addition to his house on east Mulberry street. Will Deal, one of our realtors, has long argued that Colorado was due to grow in that direction, if any, and looks like he is right.

Jay Butler, head of our local bank has called for a special meeting of the Business Men's club for this coming Friday night. The object in view has not been divulged, and a good deal of surmising is taking place. Some think maybe the railroad has promised a new depot, but others can't stretch their imaginations that much.

Amos Higgins, who left Colorado twenty years ago to grow up with Kansas, rolled into town last week for a visit with his brother Frank at the old home on Main street. Amos said he had come back to renew his youth, and one of the first things he asked about was the little workshop in the old home attic where he used to spend a lot of his time. Frank told him it was just like he left it, and Amos pulled his coat and started for it. The old ladder to the attic was still there but when Amos climbed to the scuttle hole he found he had taken on so much weight he couldn't begin to get through. It was a terrible disappointment. Frank offered to make the hole bigger, but Amos said it was too late. He had seen the truth and he was trying to get himself any longer.

Joe Green gave the glass front in his grocery store its annual washing last Thursday. It changed the looks of things so much that just after he had finished, Professor Bundy, being a little absent-minded as usual, tried to walk through the glass instead of the door. He dropped the eggs he was carrying, but managed to save his eye glasses by straining his side a little in making the grab.

L. B. Elliott thought for a while last night that he was hearing something on his home-made radio set, but he found out later that the noise was caused by a flock of black birds roosting on his aerial.

Mention was made in these items last week about a stranger in town who was arousing suspicion by his curious actions. It turned out that he was a new hired hand on a poultry farm down on Willow Creek. Some woman in Colorado had ordered chickens, and on the way to town the hired man forgot the customer's name. When questioned by Marshal Hickman he explained that he had to stand and look at something real hard before he could think good. That was why he had stood around all day staring at things so hard. He was trying to think who it was wanted his chickens.

Ben Hobson, who runs the garage, lost two days last week in trying to sell Enoch Budd a Ford car. Ben undertook it against his better judgement, but had commenced to think he was making some headway. However, Enoch happened to think that four months have been lost off of the license for 1926, so he said he'd wait until the first of next year.

Miss Daisy Bell, our well known musician, meant to go up to the city today, but when she got to the depot she took a notion she wanted to wear her other hat, and in making the change she missed the train.

The newspapers report the sheep shearing season soon to start, but the hair hobbing season has been on all winter in Colorado.

CHRYSLER CUTS PRICE—HAS NEW "6"

Lewis Collier wanted to make sure that Chrysler would occupy the limelight this week so he sprung a double surprise on the boys—one a price cut on the Chrysler "70" and the other announcement of a brand new line of low priced light six cylinders, to be known as the "60."

Price cuts on the Chrysler "70" range from $50 to more than $200 on the various models.

The "60" entry, the fourth to bear the Chrysler name, is the lowest priced six ever sold by Chrysler. Following closely along the lines that have made the Chrysler "70" and the Chrysler Imperial "80" popular in their respective fields, it completes Chrysler coverage of the six cylinder field, and with the four cylinder model, represents the Chrysler line-up in the four major markets.

The "60" is not designed to replace some other model in the line, but is a wholly new creation, built to supply a definite need in the motor car field—the need of a six of exceptional quality and performance that could be sold at a low price and occupy a place between the Chrysler four cylinder car and the Chrysler "70."

That this new Chrysler "60" does provide such quality and performance is clearly indicated by a combination of features which are entirely new in the field in which the car will sell and which, Chrysler executives believe, make it stand apart from other cars in anywhere near the same price group. As the model number indicates the car has a speed of sixty miles and more per hour, and this alone indicates the quality, design, stability and precision of the new model. Some other features that are calculated to make it a notable addition to the Chrysler line and to the field of quality motor cars are:

Advanced six cylinder L-head engine, perfectly balanced, with shimless bearings and seven bearing crankshaft, insuring smoothness, steady pull at low speeds and economy in its consumption of gasoline and oil. As in other Chrysler models the crankshaft is balanced both statically and dynamically. Fuel economy, easily twenty-two miles to the gallon of gasoline.

Rapid, efficient development of full power, through the science of thermodynamics, an engineering achievement of the first rank; absolutely vibrationless power at all speeds; attainment of 54 horse power and a speed of sixty and more miles per hour by an engine of only 180 cubic inches displacement; Chrysler hydraulic four wheel brakes; full pressure oiling to all bearings; impulse neutralizer, not a balance, but a device that absorbs the natural impulse reactions common to all internal combustion engines; manifold heat control; complete water jacketing of each cylinder and valve; levelizers, front and rear, to eliminate all road shocks; silent timing chain! elimination of practically all friction at the junction of moving parts; tremendous flexibility, both in the engine and throughout the car; filters through which both oil and air must pass, removing the impurities from both; semi-automatic plus manual spark control; light weight combined with the road comfort of a far heavier car; driving convenience and ease that will appeal to men and women alike; easy parking, and balanced construction to insure easy riding at high speeds; plenty of room for five grown persons—wide doors, deep seats and plenty of leg room; utmost simplicity and accessibility of parts, insuring adjustments easy if required; full balloon tires; Duco finish in striking color combinations.

CHRYSLER REDUCES PRICES ON "70" $50 TO $200 PER MODEL

DETROIT.—Walter P. Chrysler, president of the Chrysler Corporation, announced the most drastic price reductions in the history of his company effective at midnight tonight. These reductions are on the six-cylinder "70" models and range from $50 to $200.

Mr. Chrysler adds to his announcement that in the accomplishment of these lower prices there is absolutely no change in engineering or manufacturing specifications or in equipment but that the reductions have been made possible by a tremendous increase in the company's six cylinder production. Retail deliveries of the Chrysler "70" for the first quarter have been 31 per cent greater than for the same period a year ago, with orders on hand assuring even greater increases in the coming quarters.

Observations Chronicled by An Interested Citizen Reveals Colorado Day and Night

(By Tom Q. Williams)

May 1st—And this is May the first—May Day. The first day of the last month of Spring and possibly the "lull before the storm" of the blistering days of June and the rest of the Summer. Even now the fore-runners of heat are upon us—the mesquite is just out and the other trees are in a full foliage of green. Even the hillsides of the country and the curbing of the city are full of yellow and purple and red and blue and white flowers, who seem joyous at the cessation of the cold winter blasts.

But where are the May Day festivities? The gala times when the young girls were attired in white dresses and pink dresses and marched around the May Pole and paraded before the May Queen, who was always the prettiest girl in town? It makes one sad to see May ushered in without witnessing one May Pole dance, but maybe we have become too sophisticated or too busy for mere May Poles.

Noticed the usual, if not even larger, number of farmers and country folks and ranchmen in for their leisure on Saturday. Some merely loafing, but the majority preparing busily for the coming crops. The trade of the farmers is the pulse of prosperity.

Straw hats for men are out in full sway, though some timid ones, or maybe pessimistic ones, still cling to the beaver or felt, for rains do ruin one's straw. The time will come soon methinks when the coolness of a man will be the necessity of the men folks—women of course, are always contrary to climate.

Was interested in watching some young boys tonight using marbles in a rather unique way. A cigar box had been so arranged that a hole about an inch square had been cut into one side and the remainder so fixed that it would remain steady on its side. The apparent owner of the box ran a miniature Casino. Other boys, who possessed the gambling instinct and a few marbles, would attempt to thump marbles through the hole in the cigar box. Each successful shot was awarded three marbles by the owner of the contraption, but each unsuccessful thump caused the marble so thumped to be placed in the coffers of the banker. Needless to say, his marble bag was full to overflowing.

That boy's parents need never fear for their son's poverty.

Did you ever notice the fewness of the number of cars parked around the hotel on a Saturday night? Maybe when the new hotel is completed, the traveling salesmen will choose Colorado as the town in which to spend their Sundays. A town is fortunate in proportion to the quality of its hotels.

May 2nd—Walked to town this morning to buy a newspaper. I feared that since church was in session, I would be unsuccessful in securing one. I found, however, that some of the drug stores rather consider the agreement to close during the hour of morning worship a dead letter. Will not people rise earlier on Sunday morning, if they know the news stands will be closed during church? Don't you suppose some of those folks would attend church, since they are already up and dressed, when they wouldn't otherwise? How about it?

The streets were full of out-of-town folks during the afternoon. Some seeming to enjoy the conversation of their neighbors and others riding and smiling and perspiring and stopping by for a cold drink now and then. Would that Mitchell county's roads were pikes! What a multitude of other towns' folks we would cater to on a Sunday afternoon!

Most everyone was super-excited when he heard an airplane was going to land on Colorado's outskirts and saw the automobile wash pell-mell through the main street. The old saying, "Ain't nature grand," will, I fear, soon have to be "Ain't inventions grand." How well it is for a person to be able to reach loved ones quickly, when it is vital.

Church at night. The singing festival must have been successful. Don't you suppose people will be happier this week because they sang a lot?

May 3rd—From all the posters and windshield signs, lots of people must think "Dan's the Man" surely enough. Dan's a clean man all right. He hasn't been in politics long enough to get very dirty. Another thing to recommend him is that he's from Williamson county, where the moral influences are rather good, and close enough to Austin to have kept up with affairs.

Most everybody is out in shirt sleeves. It's warm! Speaking of golf, I noticed where one store is selling three clubs and a bag for $7.50. Though I don't need but one club, I'm glad to see they are getting down into my class, so far as prices go.

By the way, did you ever see the postoffice when the floor was clean? I haven't but wondered if you ever did.

Late tonight I saw three blind musicians playing popular airs for an audience of wondering friends. Wondering because of their happiness. I have noticed but few people the last few days though possessing all five of their senses, as happy as this trio—and the woman seemed happiest of all, maybe because her husband was winning the applause of the audience.

May 4th—Coming events really seem to cast their shadows before. I happened to venture upon a quantity of arrows, whose legend was "Colorado, 1 Mile" or "Colorado, 2 Miles." Such mile-posts are just in the course of construction, but they indicate that Colorado is boosting for the multitude of expectant summer tourists.

The construction of new buildings seem to show conclusively the boom of Colorado, but a boom which seems to be controlled by demand and not exaggeration or longed-for activity. A new jewelry house, an auto sales agency, a filling station, a hotel, a storage house all indicate progress. Bring on the buildings!

The shower was right nice. The hot weather gave way before it and made an evening pleasant for strolling and sleeping.

Doesn't it seem a shame to commercialize so sacred an occasion as "Mother's Day"? It with Easter and Christmas and Thanksgiving seem to be the "happy hunting ground" of far-seeing business men. But do we need such commercialism to remind us that we love our mothers? Maybe we do.

May 5th—A morning nice and sprink-like and all the merchants and merchants' apprentices sweeping off the sidewalks. A few just a little behind the more industrious ones have to stop to keep from sweeping dust on the shoes of the pedestrians.

Another nice long shower—but enough's enough isn't it? Wonder what tomorrow will bring forth—rain or sunshine, glorious sunshine? Quien sabe?

SPEND YOUR VACATION IN A FORD

The advent of balmy weather is the signal for the great spring touring offensive and the vanguard of millions of cars freed of winter operating restrictions are beginning to be seen on highways and byways headed for "parts remote." The family car will behave with maximum satisfaction on these expeditions if treated to a bit of cleaning up and tuning up before the start of the season, advises the Ford Motor Company. This advice, although directed primarily to approximately nine million Ford cars now in service, is applicable to cars of all makes.

Probably the first feature of the car to be scrutinized is the cooling system, the Ford service bulletin advises. Radiator and jacket should be flushed thoroughly, and if there is any evidence of scale, filled with a solution composed of water and about one and one-half cupsful of soda ash and the motor run for a few minutes. This solution, in turn, should be thoroughly flushed out. An inspection should be made of all connections of the system to make certain that they are tight and any evidence of looseness or poorly fitting connections corrected, especially in the fan and bracket.

In order to remove all particles of carbon from the engine, it is good policy to remove the crankcase bottom cover and clean it thoroughly.

Gasoline is the life steam of the motor and care should be exercised that the various features of the fuel system function properly. The sediment bulb should be drained and cleaned and any slight obstructions in the feed line should be blown out.

The need of a thorough oiling and greasing is particularly urgent in the spring because of the fact that during the winter months, this attention is made unpleasant by cold weather. Here, Ford simplicity of construction will be appreciated by the owner for the accessibility of chassis points which require lubrication makes the oiling and greasing job the work of only a few minutes.

Tires will also probably bear some attention before the long tour begins. Every small cut or break in the rubber may harbor some small stone or piece of glass which is steadily working its way in toward the tube. A few minutes of probing will prevent many a puncture.

These features of the Ford car which require frequent and regular attention have been so simplified as to make it possible for the owner to keep his car constantly "in the pink." But for motor adjustment, replacement or other vital service, the owner is advised to place his car in the hands of the dealer from whom he purchased it and is best qualified to know its needs.

THE CHEVROLET ADVERTISES

One of the most important advertising conferences ever held in the automotive industry has just been concluded in the general offices of the Chevrolet Motor company, located in the General Motors building in Detroit. Chevrolet dealers from various sections of the country were called in for a two-day session during which all phases of the Chevrolet advertising plan were covered.

So satisfactory was this conference in its contribution of new ideas and advertising suggestions, based on dealers' experiences in widely scattered territories that plans have been made to arrange regular monthly meetings. The dealers will assist in making the Chevrolet cooperative advertising campaign the greatest plan ever produced for any group of retail merchants.

J. E. Grimm, Jr., advertising manager, presided at the meeting, assisted by members of his advertising staff. Talks were given on advertising art, preparations of copy, direct mail advertising and outdoor advertising.

The cooperative advertising campaign now under way in addition to the regular national schedule was reviewed. Dealers learned that through the cooperative plan, Chevrolet advertising is now appearing in more than 4,000 American newspapers, making every dealer, large and small a consistent newspaper advertiser. The vast circulation of these papers, tied up with the copy used in the national schedule, gives Chevrolet a great national coverage and assures uniformity of the message broadcast.

Aside from the product itself, Chevrolet officials said no other element had done so much toward increasing Chevrolet sales as the cooperative plan enthusiastically supported by the dealers.

Although 1925 was Chevrolet's greatest year, with sales totaling more than 500,000, the first three months of this year already show an increase of more than 70 per cent over the same period last year and April sales figures promise to eclipse those of the same month in any previous year.

McMURRY COLLEGE GAINS FIRST CLASS SENIOR RATING

ABILENE, Texas, May 12.—McMurry College was given first class Senior rating at the meeting of the Association of Texas Colleges at Ft. Worth, April 24. In other words, credits from McMurry will be accepted at full value at any other college or university.

This is a rather unusual accomplishment for so young a college, as this is only the third year of McMurry's history. The first year it was given first class Junior college rating, and with the addition of the other two years of work, more equipment, and new courses, first class standing has been attained. The college authorities have been assured of recognition by the State Department of Education within the next ten days.

Six B. A. Degrees, twelve diplomas from the Academy, and four diplomas from the Expression Department will be given in June.

Colorado Proud of Her Schools and The Student Body Attending Them This Year

Pride in her schools is the dominating characteristic abiding in the life of Colorado this week. Colorado is proud of the schools out of the enviable success attained in every department of work during the year now coming to a close and the splendid type of boys and girls making up the student body.

The school year to end Friday evening of next week when twenty-six girls and eighteen boys are to receive graduation certificates with impressive ceremony at the American Legion Memorial building, will stand out as the most successful Colorado has ever known, easily outstripping all former records held by the public schools of this city. In every department work has gone ahead without friction and the determination to attain the goal of commendable success has peculiarly dominated in forming the ideals of student, teacher and board member. The Parent-Teacher Association, too, has correlated in a splendid way with these other interests to make the year successful.

The Colorado schools have not only succeeded as would be seen by progress made by students in their class rooms. In the effective cultivation of good society, good sportsmanship and good ideals of citizenship, the Colorado schools have scored for another pennant during the school months of the past year. Our boys and girls making up the almost 1,200 young Americans dominating the campus rightfully are entitled to the many credits along those lines given them by the Colorado public.

In the athletic field, Colorado high has again scored, winning for the school the unstinted plaudits, not a lone of the folk of the home town, but of hundreds of lovers of good clean contenders for grid, cage, mound, field and track pennants in other parts of West Texas. Special credit is due the Wolves, who, under leadership of that masterful coach, "Big Jim" Cantrill, came out from their place of almost total insignificance at the opening of the season last fall, to champions in their class over every football team met in the pig skin melees from thirty-seven West Texas counties. In field and track events, Colorado claims one of the most promising track men of the Southwest in the person of Huron Gist, Wolf star and fleet track sprinter, who easily took first place in broad jump and track contests for the district at Abilene. At Austin Friday, this Colorado man qualified for the State finals in two events, by making the running broad jump, (not less than 19 feet, 6 inches) and covering the 120 yard dash in 10.2 seconds.

Critics have branded "Smilin' Through", the three act play to be given on the Premier Chautauqua circuit in Colorado on the night of June 7, "a classic of the modern age."

"Smilin' Through" played to capacity houses when introduced in New York, Chicago, San Francisco and intervening cities. In Frisco the receipts from the play reached a peak of $25,000 a week. Ford Highest in Quality

The quality of a motor car is largely determined by the materials out of which it is built.
Take, for instance, steel—which comprise the major portion of the materials used in automotive manufacturing today. No automobile can have more durable or more satisfactory steels than you get in a Ford.
The upholstery used in Ford closed cars contains a much larger percentage of wool than is ordinarily specified. Genuine polished plate glass is used for Ford windshields and windshields.
The story is the same for every item of material used in Ford manufacture. It is logical that such extreme care in the selection of materials should result in a car that is without an equal when it comes to enduring service.

Lowest in Price
Conditions that are unique in the automotive industry make Ford prices possible.
Every manufacturing operation is under direct control of the Ford Motor Company. Iron is taken from Ford mines in Michigan; coal from the Company's mines in Kentucky and West Virginia. Ford glass plants produce the glass for windshields and windows; wood comes from Ford timber tracts. Raw materials and finished products are carried over Ford-owned transportation routes; coke ovens, blast furnaces, a steel mill, foundries and saw mills—all are part of this complete organization.
Under any other circumstances, Ford cars would cost a great deal more than they do.

WILL ROGERS

Another "Bull" Durham advertisement by Will Rogers. Sing, fold, follow and screen stars, and leading American humorist. More coming. Watch for them.

The BULL'S EYE is a publication that goes to print. When does it go to print? It goes to print when ever there is something to print. A lot of papers, in fact to be exact, all of them, have a certain time to be issued, regardless of the news. If nothing has happened that day or that week they have to come out just the same. They want you to pay for them whether they are any good to you or not. Why should a paper be printed if there is nothing new to print?

Sing Sing don't electrocute a man at a certain hour every day. They wait until they get a good man and then electrocute him. They don't have a set time or custom, and that is the way the BULL'S EYE is operated. We don't go to press at ten o'clock tonight just because we went to press at ten last night. No, sir! We wait until we have something that is worth while to our myriads of readers. We get them accustomed to the fact that when they see the BULL'S EYE, they say to themselves, "The BULL has seen something worth while," and that is why the Paper is out today. Because it has news for you.

We saw a man smoking a sack of "BULL" DURHAM and he was getting so much satisfaction out of it that we feel it our duty to tell those that never used "BULL" DURHAM just how they too can get satisfaction.

TRIBUTE TO MOTHERHOOD PAID BY PUBLIC OF CITY

The regular morning and evening hours, the young people's organizations rendered two impressive programs at the church during the afternoon, the juniors at 3:30 and the seniors at 5:30. Spirit of the day was fittingly portrayed in each of these services.

At the Church of Christ, Elder J. D. Harvey, minister, paid tribute to motherhood because of her influence in moulding Christian character in the home and in the church. The services were impressive and in keeping with the spirit of the day, extolling the virtues of womanhood and motherhood.

"The greatest tribute one can pay to motherhood would be to turn from a life of sin and make full confession of Jesus Christ and obey the gospel, ever after living a devoted Christian life," Elder Harvey stated in delivering his invitation appeal to the unsaved as conclusion of his sermon.

Observance of the day began at the First Baptist church with a record attendance at Sunday school. It was noted that scores of mothers were accompanied to this service by son or daughter, some having come home from college to join in the program of honoring mother. The Baptists registered a record breaking attendance at Sunday, with over 400 in the classes.

Concluding the regular Sunday school period, an appropriate program was rendered in the church auditorium by members of the junior, primary and intermediate departments. This program consisted of readings and vocal and instrumental music.

Reading the Bible story of the Shumanite woman in 4th chapter of 2nd Kings, who rendered such a distinct service to the prophets of old in caring for their needs, Rev. M. C. Bishop, pastor, delivered a glowing tribute to the influence of a Christian mother and touched on the possibilities of her unlimited influence in doing good in the world. That Mother has always been cherished by the great men of earth, was stated by the speaker.

Concluding the day's program to honor motherhood a beautiful cantata directed by Mrs. Jas. Guitar was presented at the Methodist church Sunday night. Rev. J. E. Chase, pastor of the First Christian church, officiated at this service and the large choir, composed of singers from the several church choirs of the city, was directed by C. S. Thomas. A 15-piece orchestra furnished music. All churches of the city cooperated in this program.

Texas was among the first States to give official recognition to the observance of Mother's Day. For many years it was distinguished uniquely by the Governor granting a number of pardons to prisoners as a tribute to the compassion of mother love.

The origin of Mother's Day dates from 1906, when Miss Anna Jarvis, Philadelphia, lost her mother. Desiring to fittingly commemorate her mother on the anniversary of her death, Miss Jarvis wore a white flower and inspired others to take up the custom.

Then came extensive correspondence throughout the country, and today Mother's Day is observed in almost every progressive civilized country.

The first city-wide observance of the day was in Philadelphia in May 1908. In May 1913, Pennsylvania made Mother's Day a State holiday. On May 10 of the same year a bill passed the United States Senate and House of Representatives designating Mother's Day as a national holiday. At the same time it was widely observed in England.

Now there is an international organization, perfected by Miss Jarvis, and observance of the day is becoming more and more universal.

The white carnation became associated with those mothers who have passed on. In recent years it has become customary to honor living mothers by the wearing of a red or pink blossom.

Plans for observance of a Father's Day have been widely discussed, but as yet the movement has not become general. Many contend that mothers and fathers should be honored on the same day.

COLORADO A MUSICAL TOWN

Evidence that Colorado is a musical town was shown by the large appreciative audiences and the fine talent that put over the "Pop" concert at the Palace Theatre and the Cantata at the Methodist church during music week.

The "pop" concert at the Palace was a varied program of popular music by home talent. The cantata was a story of the beauty of friendship arranged originally from the Bible and named "The Little Home in Bethany." This cantata was given by a reader and accompanied by a choir of 50 voices and 15 piece orchestra. Colorado is not only musical but appreciative and co-operative from the fact that the large audiences were attentive and the splendid talent conspicuous. Colorado has a community spirit which is a factor in the progress of any town. Music is a binding feature of community life. Let us cultivate every phase of music, not only in our homes but the music of those about us, thus enlarging and beautifying the community spirit and the splendid talent of our own home town—Colorado.

CROP CONDITION REPORTED GOOD OVER WEST TEXAS

General sunshine and fair weather throughout the State have greatly improved crop conditions in Texas, according to reports compiled by the Department of Public Relations of the Southland Life Insurance Company. The compilation represents reports sent in by agents of the company from practically every county in the State.

The same conditions which have kept back planting of the chief crop—cotton—appear to have helped the auxiliary crops of grain and this, coupled with the fact that a much larger acreage of grains is in the ground, would indicate unusually prosperous conditions in Texas.

In prosperity and prospects the Panhandle counties lead the State. With eleven counties reporting conditions excellent and practically every one above normal a bumper wheat crop is expected and the condition of grass is above what it has been for years.

A close second is a belt through East Texas where conditions are reported unusually good. Above normal to excellent conditions are reported in the Rio Grande Valley where the late season has not had so much effect.

Central Texas appears to be slow and somewhat unpromising although conditions have improved during the past week. There is also a bad spot through that section of South Central Texas which was so badly hit by the drought of last year.

Business conditions are almost without exception reported to be normal or slightly above normal except in sections where no crop was had last fall. Fruit was killed in many places but, in the main, in East Texas appears to have survived.

The harvesting of every crop, outside of the irrigated districts, will be from two to four weeks late, according to the reports. This, however, does not prevent an optimistic tendency in the reports.

Business conditions reported from 95 to 100 per cent normal except in sections where no crop was had last year. Cattle raising country reports prospects booming. Conditions in Mitchell county were reported as follows: All crops delayed—good season in prospect.

THE WEST IS GROWING

Haskell—B. M. Whiteker, exhibit manager, West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will leave this city for Philadelphia on May 14, where he goes to assemble the All-West Texas Agricultural and Industrial Exhibit at the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition. Most of the material for the exhibit, the largest ever sent out from West Texas, has already been expressed.
