News Notes as Gathered From the Press
Of West Texas by The Abilene Reporter

The Abilene Reporter-News garners some interesting news notes from the press of West Texas, as follows:

A man wrote the Aspermont Star last week that he had collected a 20-cent bet made 35 years ago. At the round-up on Rock Creek in Stonevall county 35 years ago this man made a friendly bet with a neighbor on the sheriff's race in Haskell county. The bet was for 10 cents, and each better put up a dime. The 20 cents was turned over to a stakeholder, and apparently all parties to the affair forgot all about it for 35 years. The other day one of the bettors ran across the stakeholder in Spur, reminded him of the incident—and was very promptly handed 20 cents. "Cowboy debts don't ever run out of date," remarks the Star's correspondent.

Four miles of concrete paving had been completed on No. 30 north of Stamford in Haskell county last week, says the Haskell Free Press. About 1,300 feet of paving is being put down daily. It will be several weeks before the new work is opened to traffic. The Free Press says completion of the 30 clear across Haskell county is scheduled in 90 days, thus filling in the last link between Burk Burnett and the vicinity to the Mexican border at Del Rio.

The Robert Lee Observer thinks if the Hoover plan of debt suspension were made good for five years, and assurance given that no legislative body would meet in that time to harass business and industry with new forms of taxes, "prosperity would return in 30 days in such force as the world has never seen."

The columnist of the Cross Plains Review remarks that "we are still patiently awaiting the King's acknowledgment of our cablegram." The king referred to is an ex-monarch, Alfonso of Spain, and the cablegram was an invitation for him to pull up stakes and come across the big pond to settle in Cross Plains. The Review man says his home city wasn't foolin', either.

Stanton Reporter: "What has made this depression business seem severe on us is the fall we got. We were soaring at a mighty high elevation—making money hand over fist and spending it the same way. Buying everything on the installment plan that a salesman had to sell us at $1.00 down and $2.00 per month. None of us imagined there would ever be anything else for us to do when we needed a dollar, walk off in the back yard and pluck one off the peach tree or the sunflower stalk."

Terry County Herald, Brownfield: "Many calls are now coming from all over the country for horned frogs, or more appropriately speaking, horned lizards. The rep gained by Old Rip at Eastland has caused this innocent little reptile to become known and sought, all over the United States and Texas, especially West Texas seems to be his native habitat. They can be shipped any way with perfect safety and handled—the mail man and consignee with perfect freedom, as one has never been known to hurt a human unless they carelessly stepped on their horned heads barefooted. The City of Eastland certainly got a world of advertising out of 'Old Rip'."

The first Jones county farmer to repay his Federal feed and seed loan handed a certified check to the county agent last week and the check was forwarded to the office in St. Louis, reports the Stamford American.

The Winters Enterprise likewise reports repayment of the first crop

FARM BOARD LIMITS SALE
WHEAT TO FIVE MILLION
WASHINGTON, June 30.—The farm board agreed tonight to limit the sale of stabilization wheat during the new crop year to a cumulative maximum of 5,000,000 bushels monthly.

The board's new policy, following President Hoover's suggestion that the old one be reconsidered, specified that the limitation should not apply to sales to foreign governments or their agencies now being considered. The board added that it was not its announced purpose to make any immediate sale "even of those limited amounts at the present range of prices."

The board said, however, "it must be understood that if the world production should be altered radically by which the whole surplus could be disposed of, it is in the interest of the farmer that this should be done, but no such policy will be undertaken without ample notice and until the farmers' representatives can be consulted."

The stabilization corporation holdings are estimated at 200,000,000 bushels.

DEEP PLOWING ON SANDY LAND STOPS SAND BLOWING
SAYS THE COUNTY AGENT
Deep plowing on sandy land not only stopped sand blowing, but it doubled the yield of cotton, according to C. M. Cosper of Buford. Mr. Cosper had a 15-acre field that he flat-broke about 12 inches deep. Some of the clay soil was turned up on top, which practically eliminated all sand damage. The field the year previous had made a sixth of a bale per acre but last year it made a third of a bale per acre, and the year was not as seasonable as the year before.

The past winter Mr. Cosper broke the remainder of the field in the same manner.

Man and Wife Work Through College, Have Child and Graduate With Honors

TIFTON, Ga.—Poverty could not blench their romance nor quench the fire of their enthusiasm for an education. And now after four years of struggle, Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Collins have been graduated from State College here, tied for the highest honors in their class.

With wifely generosity, Mrs. Collins has permitted her husband to be awarded the honors, undoubtedly as a tribute to his fine courage in supporting her and their baby by rising at 4 o'clock many mornings and going to work.

Reared on a farm at Morven, Collins was accustomed to hard labor and long hours. And when he entered college he got a job as janitor which forced him to start his day at the crack of dawn and end it late at night.

After a childhood friendship, which blossomed into love during the freshman year of each, Collins married Lois Belcher, the girl with whom he had played years before in Morven. Together they faced life and the doubly difficult task of making a living and getting an education.

No one guessed that he, a poor young man working his way through college and supporting a wife, would shine as a student. But when they checked on the marks they discovered he was tied with his wife, both ahead of all others in their class.

Back in the fall of 1927 when they entered college, Collins got the job of janitor. By tutoring backward students he was able to make $62 a month. He courted Lois Belcher in his spare moments—and there weren't many.

On Christmas day they were married. There wasn't any honeymoon. They went to work. She was economical, and as they lived in a little house a mile from the college, they found they could make ends meet. They saved a little money and purchased a cheap used car in which to drive to work and their classes.

Collins gradually increased their income. He was appointed an instructor in the summer school. Eventually his salary for the year reached an average of $75 a month.

His wife, happy and cheerful, kept their home in order and cooked their meals. They studied together. Good humoredly they vied for excellence in their studies, the friendly rivalry which developed spurring them on to greater effort. Their instructors were proud of them.

In August, 1930, a baby boy was born. They named him Carlo, Jr. Forced to remain out of classes for a month, Mrs. Collins lost ground in the race for scholarship honors, and her husband forged ahead. She gradually overtook him during the year and when it was all over the race was declared by college authorities to be a "dead heat."

Now that they are through college they plan to teach in the public schools of Georgia. He is 27 and she is 21. Perhaps the friendly rivalry will develop again as they try to see which can get promoted fastest. They aren't going to be separated anyway. They've earned the right to be happy in marriage.

MIDLAND EXPECTING 10,000 ON THE FOURTH

This week-end will witness the most pretentious celebration ever held in Midland, and so far as available records show, it will be the biggest July 4 program in Texas this year, was the optimistic claim of Paul Vickers, Midland chamber of commerce secretary in Colorado Saturday. Four major events will take place in Midland next Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The four events are the July 4 celebration, American Legion convention, the West Texas championship tennis tournament, and the Sand Belt championship golf tournament.

The celebration will open July 3 with horse races, rodeo events and ball games, and the American Legion convention will last through July 4 and 5, and ball games are also set for both days. The tennis and golf tournaments will also last through Saturday and Sunday.

Seven free attractions besides the 53 barbecued beefs are offered on July 4 by the American Legion. Veterans of Foreign Wars, cattlemen and chamber of commerce. Three paid attractions are offered. The entire day from 8 a. m. to midnight will be occupied with programs, most of which will be without cost to visitors.

The barbecue is one of the biggest ever held in West Texas, and so far as records are available, it promises to be the largest held in Texas this year. Midland expects at least 10,000 visitors, as all West Texas is invited.

ACCIDENT AT RUDDICK PARK MONDAY EVENING
A little child of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fuller fell from their car at Ruddick Park Monday evening and was considerably bruised, but not seriously injured.

It is reported the car door came open while going up one of the steep hills at the creek and the youngster fell out. Fortunately, however, the child did not fall underneath the wheels.

News of the death of his sister, Mrs. J. A. Fain of Dalhart, remembered by many here as Miss Shelia Porter, was received by W. W. Porter Thursday morning.

Mrs. Fain had been ill for a long time. Mr. Porter left Thursday afternoon to attend the funeral, which is to be held either in Dalhart or in Vernon.

FAILURE TO MIX POISON PROPERLY MAY CAUSE HOPPERS TO DO DAMAGE

Failure to mix grasshopper poison properly may prevent the poison from killing the hoppers, the county farm agent stated Wednesday. Investigation has shown that where the hoppers were not killed that usually farmers were mixing the arsenic with the liquid part of the formula instead of mixing it dry.

The proper method of mixing the formulas, according to County Agent Foster, is to mix 25 pounds of bran and one pound of white arsenic together thoroughly. Squeeze six lemons in about two gallons of water; add one to two quarts cheap sorghum or cane molasses and the ground up lemon rinds. Then mix the liquid with the bran and poison and sow where the hoppers are eating late in the evening. Add extra water if necessary to make the mash moist.

Grasshopper damage sufficient to cause farmers to poison is reported on the following farms: C. H. Hudson, A. L. Maddin, G. W. VanZandt, Terre' McKenny, Foster Ranch, J. W. Watson, R. L. Solomon.

Canyon.—Erection of new $50,000 museum building for Panhandle Plains Historical Society, on West Texas State Teachers' College campus here, assured by Governor's approval of $25,000 appropriation.

Much Heralded Razorback of Arkansas Soon Doomed to Extinction, Is Claim

The razorback hog is going to rate a place in the hall of fossils in a few years, informs an Arkansas newspaper reporter, who bemoans the evident extinction of this once famous animal, that in the past has occupied a place of prominence in fiction and facts, especially when the scene was set in Arkansas.

Jim Greene and other Colorado citizens who hail from the home state of the razorback, expressed deep concern Monday when their attention was directed to statement that the once unlimited source of pork chops and fiction in that commonwealth had dwindled to such small proportions as to relegate it to the antique department.

It is no longer a common animal—even in Arkansas, where it was supposed to have been domiciled forever—but is now much sought as a rare species for zoos and collectors of odd strange and curious things.

The regular old Arkansas razorback hog actually commands a premium and is worth more in dollars and cents than the best corn-fed specimens of pure-bred swine.

S. E. Simonson and Charles Taylor of Gourd, Ark., have located nine of the old time razorbacks on the farm of Claude Seamons, in Vaden, Clark county. These they carried to Arkadelphia, where they attracted much attention as curiosities.

Taking their name from the once plentiful razorback, the University of Arkansas football team had to import a live animal from Texas last year when one was needed for a mascot.

This species of hog is bristly, grizzly and fierce looking. It stands high and is built for speed. It is said that pioneers in Arkansas preferred the razorback because it was able to outrun wild animals which infested the State in early days. They are hardy and survive the most severe winter without being fed by the owner.

Before the species became almost extinct, razorbacks ran in droves in the lowland areas along rivers and streams, living in the canebrakes where they often became wild and ferocious. They possess great tusks which they use when pressed in close quarters and have been known to tear hunting dogs to pieces in mortal combat—that is, dogs that did not know how to handle the hogs. Some pioneers owned hounds which were called "hog dogs," and they could lead a bunch of hogs into a pen most anytime. The dogs did not drive the hogs, but would circle around the bunch and let the hogs chase him in the direction he wanted them to go. "Hog dogs" have been known to sell as high as $250 each in Arkansas.

Sportsmen frequently visit Arkansas seeking a supply of the animals for use in stocking game preserves. They are hard to find, however, because farmers and livestock men have long since stopped raising hogs of uncertain pedigree.

OLD FASHION FOURTH FOR NOLAN CAPITAL

Sweetwater is going to go one better and celebrate the Fourth of July with an "old fashion" basket picnic and home coming of West Texans, Lon J. Geer, district manager for the Texas Electric Service Company and among the civic leaders in the Nolan county capital, declared while visiting in Colorado a few days ago.

"Bring along a basket luncheon, but come anyway, whether you bring the basket or not," Geer continued. "There will be plenty to eat for every visitor and we have arranged an entertainment program that will enthrall the old and the young."

PREPARING FOR GREAT OLYMPIC GAMES TO BE HELD IN JULY-AUGUST

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 1.—Application forms for tickets to the games of the Xth Olympiad to be held in Los Angeles from July 30 to August 14, 1932, are now being issued, according to the Los Angeles organizing committee.

Several hundred thousand special booklets containing the complete program of events and ticket information are ready for distribution to applicants.

For over a year the local committee has been at work with the official Olympic groups throughout the world in arranging the 135 separate program of events.

Three types of tickets will be sold, the Olympic Stadium pass, a season ticket for several of the individual sports and a ticket for single programs. Because of the historic character and educational value of the Olympic games, greatly reduced prices on all season tickets will be granted to children under 16 years of age.

The Olympic Stadium pass, admitting to 27 programs of events and designed to be kept as a souvenir and also admitting the holder to the same reserved seat in the Stadium during the 16 days the games are in progress, will sell for $22 to adults and for $11 to children when they purchased with one or more adult tickets. Thus the average cost for each event in the Stadium will be approximately 80 cents for adults and 40 cents for children.

A season ticket for boxing events in the Olympic Auditorium, August 9-13, will cost $12 for adults and $6 for children.

Cost of season tickets to the wrestling bouts, August 1-7, will be $9 for adults and $4.50 for children. Grandstand seats for the rowing events to be held August 9-13, at Long Beach Marine Stadium, will be $14 for adults and $7 for children. Applications for Stadium passes and season tickets will be acknowledged with certificates and tickets will be mailed after May 15, 1932.

TOM BLANTON OPPOSES PRES. HOOVER DEB PLAN

ABILENE, June 24.—Representative Thomas L. Blanton today denounced the Hoover moratorium debt plan, asserting that Americans are "more concerned with their own six million walking the streets without work."

In a statement issued here Blanton, who represents the 17th Congressional district of Texas, termed the president's proposal "an unprecedented usurpation of legislative power."

Blanton cited the $900,000,000 deficit faced by the U. S. treasury and charged President Hoover with forcing the United States to grant a moratorium to all countries while other countries are granting moratoriums only to Germany.

"No American opposes sane tariff for revenue to equalize cost production and maintain American standards of living," he said, "but the thousand million annually the Hoover administration is giving in tariff subsidies to contributors to Republican campaign expenses has built around us an impregnable wall that has stopped trading and now keeps Europe from buying from us."

"We must be charitable and generous to Europe, but we should begin by being charitable and generous to our own suffering Americans."

BEER RUNNER BURIED IN $20,000.00 CASKET: 35 CARS OF FLOWERS

NEW YORK.—Encased in a German silver coffin said to have cost $20,000, and preceded by thirty-five carloads of floral offerings, the body of Daniel Iamascia, Bronx beer runner slain by police last Thursday morning, was buried in St. Raymond's cemetery, Monday. Iamascia was a body guard of Arthur (Dutch Schultz) Flegenheimer.

Following the huge casket came seventy-five coaches with mourners and behind the coaches came fifty private automobiles. Twelve plainclothes men attended the funeral, in the belief that some of Iamascia's friends of the underworld might appear, but few known racketeers were present.

To permit the crowds to inspect the silver coffin, it was carried around the block surrounding his home before it was put in a hearse.

President Hoover's Plan Among Great Strategic Moves of Era, World Agrees

The proposal of President Herbert Hoover to effect a general moratorium for one year is among the great moves of this era toward world peace and world prosperity, says the Fort Worth Star-Telegram in its editorial columns Wednesday morning. The paper says:

If there remained any doubt in any American minds as to the advisability of President Hoover's step in proposing a general moratorium of one year on German reparations and allied debt payments it must have been dispelled by the chorus of rejoicing which has risen from the capitals of the world where statesmen have been worried night and day about the condition of world trade and the extent of the possible disaster should Germany crash under the strain of the reparations increased by the world-wide depression. Even in Paris, where the government must regard the Hoover proposal with an eye whose enthusiasm is somewhat dimmed by the consideration that if it is accepted, France must carry a bag second only in size to that which Uncle Sam will shoulder, values of commodities and securities soared upward in a manner revealing the strength of the tonic to confidence which the proposal contained. Like the first sweep of a fresh wind across a fog-bound way, the Hoover proposal lifts up the heart of the world, as much because of what is promised to follow as for what is already given.

It will be the greatest of calamities if the various governments and legislatures are not able to bring themselves to that degree of cooperation required to carry out the proposal which the President has made. The decision may be said to rest with two of the parties—France and the United States. France is a doubtful quantity because that country, if the plan is adopted, will be required to give up for the year a sum nearly equal to that which the United States would forego. This sum collection of which from Germany, France would forego is composed not only of indemnity payments but of absolute reparations payments, as levied under the Young plan as compensation for the great destruction wrought by German armies in Belgium and France. Fortunately, France's economic condition is very sound; more favorable than that of any other country in Europe at the present time. France can sustain the burden of the one-year moratorium without a great deal of shock or disturbance to its domestic fiscal situation, and the United States can carry its share with as little trouble. Great Britain's position will hardly be altered in either case, since payments to it from its allies which will be affected by the moratorium are matched by the payments that government is scheduled to make to the United States during the year.

There will be some members of Congress who will feel that the President has exceeded his powers in making the proposal, just as there were some members of Congress who felt that President Wilson exceeded his powers when he proposed another world co-operative endeavor at the close of the World War. But whether or not this is true, the fact remains that Congress can ill afford refusal to ratify the plan if the agreements of the other nations are forthcoming. To do so would be to intensify the menace the plan seeks to fend off and at the same time to discredit American leadership among the nations.

It is obvious, as the President points out, that the world can not receive the impact of the collapse of so important a unit in world trade as Germany without suffering great damage. On the other hand, it is equally obvious that what is most wrong with world trade is enfeeblement of confidence. The plan for a moratorium of payments as between the governments is admirably directed to achieve salutary results in both of the directions indicated. It would give Germany a breathing space, stave off the threatened collapse of the government there and the rise of Communism, and at the same time encourage the return of confidence by demonstrating that there is wisdom and courage enough in the world to take swift and decisive action when danger threatens world community. The moratorium proposed may not suffice for the purpose in mind. But that is not an important consideration at this time. A year of heightened confidence may easily build up trade so that no further measures should be required, the precedent will have been set and the nations will have been made accustomed to thinking in terms of cooperation.

It is obvious that France must agree to application of the moratorium to all German reparations payments, otherwise small purpose will be served. The reparations are of two kinds: One is unconditional, and the other conditional, the latter earmarked for repayment to Great Britain and the United States of the French debt to those countries. The latter may be postponed for a year at any time by Germany itself without consultation with any other country, in which case the countries to which the payments were due would be privileged to hold back similar payments on their debts to the United States and Great Britain. The crux of the plan, therefore, is the application of the moratorium to the unconditional reparations payments. If France should not agree to this proposition that country will be assuming the responsibility for a course which might wreck the economic structure of all Europe by bringing down Germany to ruin.

So far as the Democratic party as a congressional unit is concerned, there is no excuse of political advantage good enough to justify opposition to the President's plan. The greater part of the Democratic representation in Congress is from the Southern States. How the rescue of Germany, and perhaps all Europe from economic disaster would help the South is reflected in the sharp gains in the price of cotton which resulted from the mere announcement of the plan. Texas has a tremendous interest in the stability and prosperity of other countries, especially of Germany, which is one of the largest purchasers of our cotton. Collapse of the republic in Germany, with its inevitably industrial ruin, would cost the State of Texas millions of dollars. On the other hand, the increase in German purchasing power which would result from a strengthening of the republic and restoration of confidence would certainly put dollars into the pocket of Texas in increased cotton prices.

It will be a grave mistake if any Senators or Congressmen oppose the moratorium plan for political reason or from jealousy of the asserted prerogatives of Congress. It may be true that the President exceeded his authority by proposing to other nations a thing that could be accepted for the United States only by Congress, even though he was careful to point out that Congressional approval was necessary. If in matters of this sort the executive is subordinate to the legislative branch it is nevertheless the part of wisdom for the superior to approve the action of the subordinate whenever the results of that action promise to be beneficial, even though the action was taken without authorization of the superior.

San Angelo Youths 'Stepping Out' In Alamo City, Find New Use for Nail File

The San Angelo Standard publishes the following account of a visit of three ambitious youths to San Antonio:

San Antonio got a big laugh out of the visit of three San Angelo youths there last week-end. One went to the hospital after a woman had stuck him with a nail file. Lawrence Topperwein tells of the escapade in the San Antonio Evening News as follows:

Three young men from San Angelo were visiting in San Antonio. They took a car ride to the famous West Side, and landed in the hospital.

And it all came about when the three young men in question decided they wanted to see something of the big city, especially that part which bears an unsavory reputation. So they took the car in which they had driven from San Angelo and cruised about. The cruising was fine until they stopped on one of the nefarious side streets of the West Side where men are men and the women are equally hardboiled. They stopped one of these damsels and commenced a conversation tinged with what probably passes as clever repartee back home, but which struck the woman in question as anything but funny. In fact, she thought so little of some of the remarks passed that she took a small nail file and jabbed the driver of the car in the left arm several times just by way of reply.

The stabs had the same effect as a pinprick in an overinflated balloon. All the pep went out of the trio and they drove to the Santa Rosa Infirmary to have the wounds dressed. Police were called by hospitalers and found the youthful trio greatly excited over the event, and the general agitation was increased when the officers discovered that one of the young men from the wide open spaces was attired in a transparent silk shirt, fancy suspenders, a pair of Hollywood rompers, and his socks rolled down to the shoe-tops, revealing a pair of spindly shanks upon which the pubescent down of all his 17 years was waving in the breeze.

With a snort of disgust the officer left, hoping for bigger and better men in the coming generation.

Texas Cuts Intangible Assets to Rail Properties Five and One-Half Millions

AUSTIN.—Texas railroads will pay intangible assets taxes on $69,300,000 this year, according to figures released by the State tax board. This will be $5,455,569 less than the total on which taxes were paid last year.

The largest intangible assets tax levied on any Texas railroad will be paid by the Texas & Pacific Railway, $11,091,670. This was the same as the total on which the road paid taxes last year.

Reduction of $1,000,000 in the total on which the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe will pay was granted, bringing the total to $10,000,000. The Fort Worth and Denver City was assessed at $8,000,000, and the G. H. and S. A. at $7,946,180.

The intangible assets tax is added to the regular property tax as a levy on earnings computed over a five-year average. Levies on the intangible assets of bridge operating companies have not been completed because of the request made of the attorney general to investigate the intangible assets of the Red River Bridge company, operators of several toll bridges between Texas and Oklahoma.

All assessments against the railroads have been completed. The Texarkana and Fort Smith railway, which last year accepted an intangible valuation of $1,750,000, this year contested its reassessment at this figure. Last year the railway claimed it should be allowed to pro-rate Texas earnings over lean mileage in other States. This contention was overruled in the assessment agreement made last year. The board in making its 1931 assessments cut the Texarkana and Fort Smith assessment to $1,500,000.

Four railroads were relieved of assessment. They were the Beaumont, Sour Lake and Western, assessed last year at $300,000; Kansas, Oklahoma and Gulf, assessed at $23,265; Shreveport, Houston and Gulf, assessed at $40,916 and the Wichita Valley, assessed at $545,879.

The following assessments and decreases were ordered: Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe $10,000,000, decrease $1,000,000; Fort Worth and Denver City, $8,000,000, decrease of $50,793; Houston & Texas Central $5,128,960, decrease of $249,546; International Great Northern, $1,000,000, decrease of $1,000,000; Missouri-Kansas and Texas, $7,500,000, decrease $500,000; Dayton-Goose Creek, $99,960, decrease of $50,040; Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio, $7,946,180, decrease $717,937; Houston East and West Texas, $991,070, decrease $8,930; St. Louis Southwestern (the Cotton Belt), $208,893, decrease $293,134; San Antonio & Aransas Pass, $2,149,950, decrease $50; Texas & New Orleans, $2,923,220, decrease $63,374; Texas Midland, $188,295, or decrease $111,705.

No changes were made in the assessments of the following roads. Texas & Pacific $11,091,670; Chicago, Rock Island & Gulf $2,382,864; Panhandle & Santa Fe $2,000,000; Pecos and North Texas, $280,000; Abilene & Southern, $100,000; El Paso & Northeastern $800,000; Fort Worth Belt, $40,000; Galveston, Houston & Henderson, $227,545; Quanah, Acme & Pacific $250,000; Rio Grande, El Paso & Santa Fe, $110,902; Roscoe, Snyder & Pacific, $100,000; St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico, $1,600,000; Stephenville, North and South Texas, $71,412; the Weatherford, Mineral Wells and Northwestern, $79,890; Wichita F. & Southern, $75,000.

CONNALLY ASKS DENIAL OF FREIGHT RATE HIKE

MARLIN, Texas, June 28.—Senator Tom Connally dispatched a telegram to the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington Saturday which read: "Respectfully urge denial of proposed increase in railroad freight rates. Under present depressed conditions, transportation charges already are extremely burdensome upon agricultural products and commodities generally."

"It is to be expected that in such hard times carriers should suffer in reduced earnings just as practically every other business and calling in the land is suffering. To increase rates to a point which will guarantee normally profitable returns of carriers would unduly deepen the distress and depression under which all other lines of business are now suffering."

TEXARKANA FAMILY FOUND AFFLICTED WITH GLANDERS

TEXARKANA, June 30.—A family of five was under quarantine to-night after physicians reported that they were stricken with glanders, a rare disease.

Dr. K. M. Kelly, Miller county health officer, announced that E. A. Mulford, 40, Clara Mulford, 14, and Billy Mulford, 9, had positive cases. Other members of the family are Mrs. Mulford, 40, and Ernest, 12.

Health authorities declared that while glanders is common among horses and mules, it is rare among humans. Authorities said that only seven cases had been reported at the Bellevue-hospital, New York City, in the past 30 years.

Mulford came here from Hugo, Okla., about six weeks ago to obtain funds, and he traded horses. He told officials he understood one of the horses had glanders.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Russell were in Big Spring Sunday of last week.

Two winter hairy vetch and oat demonstrations in Cass county were grazed heavily up to March 15, and it is estimated by the county agent that they will yield three and one-half tons of hay per acre.

GIVES A METAL-LIKE COVERING

When you have applied LOWE BROTHERS FLOOR ENAMEL you will have a surface that is hard, durable, and one that will wear years and years.

In addition, it is easy to clean, a quality that is most appealing to the housewife. And it may be used on both wood and cement interior floors.

Another feature of Floor Enamel is that it is quick-drying. You can apply it in the evening and use the floor the next morning.

Floor Enamel may be used with equal satisfaction on woodwork—also on interior decks of boats and ships.

SISTERS MEET FOR FIRST TIME IN TWENTY-ONE YEARS

Mrs. B. W. Bradford of Winfield, Louisiana, accompanied by her grandson, Frank Ledbetter, arrived on Wednesday and are guests of her sister, Mrs. W. T. Hamm.

This is Mrs. Bradford's first visit to Texas and the first time the sisters had met in twenty-one years. She seems greatly pleased with the delightful West Texas breeze.

GOOD RAINS FALL SOUTH OF LORAINÉ

Good rains are reported by citizens from the Bauman, Sanders and Silver communities, south of Lorainé. Good showers fell in that section Monday and again Tuesday. The weather continues cloudy, with cool breezes from the south. Who could help but love West Texas, especially this year when heat is killing hundreds of people in other parts of the country?

MESDAMES HESTER AND MANLY HONOR VISITOR

Mrs. W. L. Hester and Mrs. C. H. Manly entertained with a 42 party at the Hester home, honoring Mrs. Frank Johnson of Abilene. Everyone seemed to have spent an enjoyable evening.

At 6 o'clock refreshments of ice cream and cake were served to Mrs. Anton White of China Grove, Mrs. Harry Cranfill, Mrs. G. A. Hutchins, Mrs. S. C. Harris, Mrs. Clyde Smith, Mrs. Wylie Walker, Mrs. E. P. Kuck, and Mrs. A. H. Nelson.

WARM WEATHER DOES NOT STOP BUSY BEE QUILTERS

On Thursday, June 25, the Busy Bee Quilting Club met by invitation at the home of Mrs. L. W. Rhodes, where a fine dinner was served and one of the largest quiltings of the season, continued throughout the day. Fifteen members were present and found three beautiful quilts to be made on their arrival.

PASTIME BRIDGE CLUB STILL HAVING GOOD TIMES

The Pastime Bridge Club met on Wednesday afternoon with Miss Lola Coffee. She had as her guests Mrs. Woodrow Pratt and Mrs. Jack Coffee, and Misses Inez Mayes, Julia Tartt, Lois Kinnison, Ethlyn Furlow and Josephine Cook.

After a series of games, in which Mrs. C. F. Spikes won high score, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Jack Coffee, served ice cream and angel food cake.

ACE HIGH BRIDGE CLUB TAKES TO THE WATER

The Ace High Bridge Club entertained with a swimming party last Monday evening. The young people met at the home of Miss Willie Fae Hall at 7:30 o'clock, and went from there to Joel's swimming pool, south of Roscoe. They were chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Williams.

he had enjoyed himself and started for home.

Those present were Misses Irene and Viola Brown, Estha Edwards, Lola Coffee, Bessie Hendrick, Willie Fae Hall, Julia Tartt, Francis Howell, Ethlyn Furlow, Reba Relft, Lois Kinnison, Ollie Manly, and Inez Mayes; Mesdames Ed Williams, Jack Coffee and Woodrow Pratt; Messrs. Ed Williams, Jack Mayes, Glen Coon, Floyd Coffee, Robert Hendrick, Maurin Edwards, Bruce Hart, Early McEnally, J. W. Howell, B. D. Smith, Woodrow Pratt, Chas. Spikes and Jack Coffee.

BAPTIST SUNDAY-SCHOOL IS GROWING

Our Sunday school is growing, both in interest and numbers, and yet there are many who live in or near Lorainé who do not attend any of these services. At close of the Sunday school, Miss Willie Fae Hall sang "Some Day He Will Make It Rain," with Miss Ethelene Furlow at the piano.

Our pastor, Rev. A. C. Hardin, chose as his text for the morning service, fifth chapter of Daniel, 27th verse, "Thou art weighed in the balance and found wanting." He drove the truth of this passage of Scripture home to the heart of each individual.

A number of B. Y. P. U. members attended the rally at the Colorado church Sunday afternoon, and we won the attendance banner.

A large crowd gathered at church Sunday evening to hear Jack Rosenthal preach. He is a converted Jew and an ordained Baptist preacher, giving lectures and doing missionary work. We greatly appreciate his consecrated life and his devotion to the cause of Christ.

We were happy to have a number of visitors with us Sunday. Rev. Hardin entertained the Intermediate and Junior boys of our Sunday school Wednesday and Thursday of last week, by taking them to Pecan Grove for a swimming party.

The W. M. S. ladies meet each Monday afternoon. Don't forget prayer meeting Wednesday at 8 p. m. Our pastor leads in this service.

LAYMEN HAVE CHARGE OF LAST SUNDAY'S SERVICE

The Methodist church had a good attendance at Sunday school last Sunday. All members are urged to attend regularly and help add to the services.

At the 11 o'clock hour the laymen had charge of the service. Their program consisted of several scripture lessons and "small sermons."

If you are not a member of some other church, remember that Methodist church wants and needs your presence at the services.

HUNDREDS DIE FROM EXCESSIVE HEAT IN ALL PARTS AMERICA

All America except the Far West and the New England seaboard suffered Tuesday from sizzling temperatures, as the sweltering spell invaded Eastern States, the toll of deaths attributable to the heat near 600.

Relief by Thursday was held out for only the Northwest. Elsewhere there were only vague hopes.

The weather man ran the gauntlet from snow flurries in Glacier Park, Montana, to temperatures of near 110 in the South.

A high pressure area over Washington was willing, weather prophets said, to cool its way eastward, but a stagnated low area over North Dakota kept the relief back.

Wheeling, W. Va., with a scorching 100, topped the heat's Eastern invasion, and it was 90 over most of New York.

The heat claimed its first Texas victim Tuesday at Greenville, Texas, with the death of Jack Moyer, who died in the afternoon after being overcome with heat at the shortening refinery, where he was employed.

West Texas, up to Wednesday night, had managed to steer clear of the extreme heat wave.

WORLD FLYERS DESCRIBE HAZARDS OF NOME FLIGHT, WORST OF LONG FLIGHT

NOME, Alaska, June 30.—Weather so bad it was impossible to see outside the cockpit of the plane, miles and miles of ice floes, and temperatures which almost froze them to death, were some of the dangers encountered by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty in their flight from Khabarovsk to Solomon, Alaska, the two globe circling fliers revealed during their brief stay there.

"The flight from Khabarovsk to Nome was the most dangerous and hardest hop of the entire world flight," Post declared. "Weather and flying conditions were absolutely against us all the way here."

"We left Khabarovsk and flew north over the sea of Okhotsk, then followed the Kanchatka peninsula north to Cape Navarin and thence across the Bering Straits to Solomon, making the flight from Khabarovsk to Solomon in 16 hours and 17 minutes, well ahead of our scheduled time for this hop."

"I flew for three hours and a half Sunday night with weather so bad outside the plane that I didn't see more than the glass on the cockpit of the ship in that time."

"I thought then I would a dam-sight rather croak flying across the Bering sea than crack the ship down south after I'm almost home. We managed finally to see enough light to guide the ship in safety. All the way across the Bering Sea we saw miles and miles of ice floes moving steadily northward into the straits. The cold and haze prevented us from going up to a higher altitude. We tried it once and almost froze to death."

Talking about Russia, he said, "The Soviets did everything possible for us and tried to speed us along as fast as we could go, hoping that we would break existing records to smithereens."

After taking on 100 gallons of gasoline the fliers took off for Fairbanks at 5:30 p. m. After getting into the plane and started to turn around they found the wheels were mired in the sand, but finally they got the ship moving and taxied down to the end of the field to turn into the wind. The wheels then sank into the sand and the ship nosed over, the propeller catching in the sand. It was bent on both ends.

Post immediately cut the motor, got out of the plane and began straightening the propeller with a wrench and hammer. In a few minutes he had done as good a job as was possible under the circumstance and were ready to take off.

Gatty was leaning over the propeller priming the engine when the heat of the motor ignited a charge of one of the cylinders, kicking the propeller over and striking Gatty just above the heart, almost breaking his ribs. As he turned to jump away the propeller turned again, striking him on the elbow and paralyzing his left arm, although no bones were broken.

He finally declared he was all right, jumped into the ship and they took off.

the improved living room work in Caldwell county. Of these 50 were home owners, and 86 were tenants. Natural light and ventilation were improved in 42 homes by adding 18 new windows and changing the location of 24 windows and doors. Better artificial light was provided for 11 rooms. Heat was provided for the first time in 14 of the rooms and better methods of heating worked out in 32 others. Eighteen walls were improved. Eighteen commercial rugs and 16 hand-made ones were added to the rooms. In 34 rooms new furniture was added, in eight 52 pieces were refinished, and in 48 it was rearranged. Draperies were added in 32 rooms. Undesirable pictures were removed from 36 rooms; useless bric-a-brac from 18 and useless furniture from 15. Pictures were rehung in 27 rooms. The cost of these improvements ranged from 30 cents to $78.60. Money to pay for many of them was made by the club women themselves.

onions, spinach, radishes, lettuce, cabbage, mustard, turnips, greens, carrots, collards and sage for family use and a surplus to sell and feed to livestock. She furnished 175 heads of lettuce, and large quantities of cabbage, carrots and turnips for the banquet served by the 4-H clubs to a convention in Graham in March, and an equal amount for a luncheon given during another convention there. She has also sold 75 bunches of radishes, canned 116 quarts of greens, given away quantities of other vegetables, and in addition fed green stuff from her garden to five cows and calves, three hogs and 125 chickens and turkeys.

TERRACING BY PARKER SAVES ALL MOISTURE
By terracing his farm last winter, J. H. Parker has saved practically every bit of rain that has fallen this year. Mr. Parker says they have had three good rains and while the middles stood full of water very little if any ran over the terraces.
Mr. Parker has about 75 acres under terrace lines and next winter he plans to terrace the remainder of the farm as well as build the old terraces higher and wider.

'The Sun Still Shines,' Reminds Farm Periodical in An Optimistic Editorial

Much of the feeling of depression that one finds throughout the Southland could be eliminated if the average citizen would decree that no longer would he entertain thoughts of gloom, editorializes "The Farm and Ranch" in its issue for last week. The editorial expression is reprinted as follows:

"For more than a year clouds of gloom have overshadowed the civilized world. The chronic pessimist has seen his worst fears confirmed and the professional optimist has worked overtime telling us that better times are just around the corner. Neither is contributing anything to actually effecting a change for the better, but the optimist always has the better of the argument, for better times are always just around the corner when times are bad. But he doesn't say which corner.

"Most of those who discuss the economic situation speak solely in terms of 'business,' meaning trade and finance, and it is all measured in dollars. But underlying all 'business' are the omnipotent forces of Nature in her manifold productive activities. From the beginning of time man created no material good except in cooperation with those forces, and nothing has come out of his crucible except the products of Nature in new form. Back to the elements of earth, air, water and sunshine may be traced all the tangibles of this complex civilization, and however we boast of our skill in analyzing or synthesizing, the greatest scientist must at least kneel before the powers of Nature even as the most ignorant savage worships the sun and the gods of sea and land which neither scientist nor savage understands.

"While gloom pervades the business world and reflects its dismal atmosphere into every walk of life we may well pause to inventory the resources from which all, at last, must draw. The earth still yields her fruits; the waters have not dried up, nor has the air been abated by one breath. Over all and activating all the sun still shines. Cooperating with Nature we still have the means of creating the essentials of life. New production will breathe new life into trade and finance, even despite the artificial and arbitrary mechanisms which burden us.

"To come down to concrete matters, we of the Southwest are already reaping the fruits of a new season. Texas has shipped 37,445 carloads of vegetables and fruit up to May 23—325 cars more than at the same date last year; West Texas has already sold $4,500,000 worth of sheep in 1931; the greatest small grain crop in history is being harvested, with prospects of 40,000,000 bushels of wheat and with proportional increases in oats and barley. There are more home gardens than ever before; more pasture and more feed crops, and more animals will be fed where the crops grow. Sixteen million pounds of wool are moving to market; good seasons are in the ground almost universally throughout the Southwest, and the prospects of good summer crops thereby greatly enhanced.

"As this process of drawing from Nature's own factory advances from South to North its force will be felt in every avenue of business. Money pent up in bank vaults for lack of use will find its way into circulation. Cars will roll to the marts with products of farm and ranch, and back again with those of the factory. Measured in dollars, 1931 may not reach the mark of other years, but the process of production and distribution and use will go on, and if the "depression" prevents some of the "normal" extortionate profits in certain lines of business, the country as a whole will shed no tears.

"The sun still shines, and earth yields her fruit. So long as that is true, other activities cannot stop. There will be no sudden turning of that mythical "corner" around which business is supposed to be hiding, but so long as the earth pours forth her bounty the race need not despair."

West Texas C of C District Leaders Meet at Stamford

District secretaries of the West Texas chamber of commerce, meeting at Stamford Saturday, approved the program of the regional organization for the year ahead and pledged the renewed confidence of their cities and districts in the reorganized chamber.

After a two-hour conference between the committee on group insurance and the secretarial advisory board, Manager D. A. Bandeen and his staff were authorized to adopt a plan and submit it to the various city chambers of commerce for approval of their officials and employees.

The breeder-feeder movement, highways, taxes, legislation, industrial development, mineral resources and oil and gas problems as they affect the regional group, were discussed at a luncheon.

Each of the district secretaries also is a member of some committee assigned to group work and was instructed by Mr. Bandeen to submit suggestions for a calendar of work for each committee for the ensuing year.

It was decided by the secretary advisers, that the regional body should avoid trade association problems. Two conventions will be held in each of the ten districts during the year. One for business and the other in the interest of membership. District secretaries attending were Ed Bishop, Delhart; A. B. Davis, Lubbock; John Boswell, Wichita Falls; Geo. Barker, Mineral Wells; J. Z. Martin, Breckenridge; Paul T. Vickers, Midland; S. W. Cooper, Winters, and Sim O'Neal, Coleman. Carl Blasig of Brady, chairman; John Hendrix of Sweetwater, and Mr. Davis and Mr. O'Neal were members of the group insurance committee attending. The staff was represented by Mr. Bandeen, Maury Hopkins of Plainville, assistant manager, and J. C. Watson of Stamford, publicity director.

TEXAS DEAN FAILS TO GET HIS CITIZENSHIP PAPERS

FORT WORTH, Texas.—His refusal to swear that he will bear arms for the United States in case of war, cost the Rev. Elihu Daniel Ryden, dean of Southwestern Junior College at Keen his citizenship papers here in local Federal court.

Judge James C. Wilson, in reply to Dean Ryden's point-blank declaration that he would not shoulder a rifle to defend the country, said that in that case he, the Judge, representing the United States, would not shoulder the responsibility of giving him the citizenship he sought.

COLORADO BUSINESS MEN COOPERATE WITH LEGION IN PLANS TO CLOSE 4TH

85 Sign Agreement to Lend Every Aid to Ex-Service Men's Program

Colorado will observe anniversary of American Independence Day Saturday by closing of practically every store, shop and office in the city. Business and professional interests of the city announced Saturday that they planned lending every cooperation to the American Legion in program to fittingly commemorate the Fourth.

Committees calling on merchants and shop keepers a few days ago announced that it was very improbable that Colorado would close for the 4th. Friday, the American Legion took official action on the matter and sent a committee of ex-service men to interview the merchants. The result was that 85 signed agreement to close for the day.

"Not only are these business and professional men to observe the Fourth through closing for the day, but they have agreed to fly flags and otherwise cooperate with our post in commemorating the event," Harry Ratliff, chairman of Legion committee, stated Monday. Other members of the committee were L. B. Elliott and Howard Rogers.

"The American Legion deeply appreciates the courtesy accorded us by every business and professional man visited," Ratliff continued. "Colorado is just as patriotic as any community in this Republic. The Legion is proud to be identified with such a splendid community in which the tenets of true Americanism dominates."

The Legion, in asking that local merchants observe the Fourth by closing, made it clear that former service men of the county were not in sympathy with any plan that might develop calling for observance of the holiday on any other day except Saturday. "If in event you do not plan closing on Saturday, July 4th, please do not close on any other day as a substitute and fly the American flag during any time not actually July 4th," the petition recited.

Pritchett Retires After 11 Years In Grocery Business

T. J. Pritchett, Colorado grocer for the past eleven years, retired Tuesday. He announced that he had made no plans for the future aside from the fact that he would not leave Colorado.

The Pritchett Grocery, on Second street, has been taken over by J. B. Pritchett and A. F. Shelton. The concern will be operated in the future under firm name of Pritchett & Shelton.

Shelton stated Tuesday that the store would be maintained at its present location until August 1, when they would move into the Wallace building on Walnut street, vacated a few months ago by Herrington's saddle and harness shop.

Shelton has been associated with the store for several years in capacity of buyer and assistant manager. His business associate, J. B. Pritchett, was until a few months ago an employe of the city.

Annual Barbecue Attended by 100 Lions and Guests

"It is always a pleasure for members of the Lions Club to have the privilege of entertaining the wives and sweethearts of our members, but in a unique way is this a distinct pleasure to welcome you to this annual ladies' night program."

That was the message delivered Lionesses and other ladies attending annual social gathering of the Lions Club Thursday evening at Ruddick Park, by Lion John E. Watson, superintendent of the Colorado schools, as he delivered the brief address of welcome.

President Dick Gray estimates that fully 100 people attended the affair. A chicken barbecue, served cafeteria style, was enjoyed by all. The president describes the affair as having been one of the most successful "Ladies' Night" programs given by the local club in several years.

Churches to Open Union Services On Sunday, July 12

The annual summer co-operative preaching services, sponsored by the Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian and Christian congregations of Colorado, are to be opened on Sunday evening, July 12, according to announcement made last Sunday evening by Rev. L. A. Webb, pastor of the Methodist church.

These co-operative services are held each summer. Last year the meeting, held each Sunday evening, were convened on lawn at the First Christian church. This year they are to be held at Union Tabernacle.

COLORADO CITIZENS RETURN FROM ANNUAL COWBOY CONVENTION

Miss Winnie Powell, official sponsor representing Colorado at second annual West Texas Cowboy's Reunion at Stamford last week, and others attending the celebration from here, returned to report the event a great success. The convention opened Thursday morning of last week for three days.

Frank Smith, local cattleman, was enrolled as a new member of the old time cow hand association. To qualify for membership in the association one must have punched cattle in West Texas prior to 1895.

LOCAL DELEGATES TO B. P. W. PARLEY NAMED

Mrs. J. A. Ferguson, Misses Lillian Pond, Ruebelle Smartt, Neta Mae Davis and Elizabeth Kirkpatrick have been elected by the Colorado Business Women's Club to represent that organization at the National convention at Richmond, Va., in July.

The club staged a program Friday night to raise money to assist in the expenses of the delegates. It was called a "Trip to Virginia," with the starting point at the home of Mrs. J. A. Ferguson, with a trip through Ruddick Park and business section of the town, ending at the home of Miss Ruebelle Smartt where a program was rendered on the lawn.

COLORADO IS SHUNTED TO CLOSE SECOND AS GAMES IN SUNDAY'S TILT ENDED

Texon Linksmen Again Take Up First Place in Sand Belt Tourney

Colorado is trailing Texon by the small margin of only ten points for first place in the Sand Belt Golf Association tournament, following tabulation of scores accounted for by the several competing teams in games played Sunday afternoon. The locals had occupied first berth temporarily, but were again shunted to second place when Texon renewed its winning streak Sunday afternoon to drub Midland 25 to 19.

Total winnings now accredited to Texon are 167 points, with Colorado chalked up a total of 157 points. Dopesters are giving out the advance information that Colorado and Texon are to be consistent contenders for final championship pennant, to be awarded at close of the regional tournament.

Colorado delivered another decisive defeat to linksmen representing the Snyder club here Sunday afternoon, with a score of 29 to 15, identical with that posted following the Midland-Texon bout. Colorado won all but one match in Sunday's game. Arlie Martin and Dick Billingsley lost to the visiting duet, while all other locals came out at the final hole with safe marginal leads over the Scurry county players.

Midland continues to hold third place in the district tourney rating, with a total of 121 points. Snyder is tagging all other member clubs and evidently is already routed definitely to the cellar.

George Tate Hurt When Horse Falls On Him in N. Mex.

George Tate, son of Mrs. S. H. Millwee, until recently a resident of Colorado, was seriously injured when the horse he was riding on a New Mexico ranch, fell, crushing the young man underneath. Details are meager, however, but information received here Tuesday indicates that the youth is in a serious condition.

Following the accident, George was removed to a Dallas hospital, where it is reported he was found to be injured internally. The boy attended Texas Technological College at Lubbock last year. Mrs. Millwee left Colorado a few weeks ago to join Judge Millwee in Dallas.

PASTOR AND FAMILY IN COOL COLORADO

Rev. G. T. Reaves, pastor of First Christian church, and family are taking a short vacation in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

The Record received a note from the Christian church pastor, early part of this week, saying: "We go through Carlsbad Cavern today, and then on to Colorado Springs. We expect to get back home Friday night."

RED CROSS STAMPS GO ON SALE HERE

Five thousand postage stamps of the special issue commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the American Red Cross, went on sale at the Colorado post office Friday. The stickers are of the 2-cent denomination.

The stamps were to have been placed on sale several weeks ago, but delay in printing them at the Government printing office necessitated the delay.

ONIONS DONATED FOR MIDLAND CELEBRATION

MIDLAND, Texas, June 30.—J. C. Ratliff, onion grower of Colorado, Texas, donated a crate of onions to the July 4 barbecue. These are large Bermuda onions. They are so large that 77 filled the crate. Ratliff sells his onions to Midland stores.

JOE EARNEST RECOVERING RAPIDLY FROM OPERATION

Joe Earnest arrived Friday from Dallas, where he had undergone an operation for appendicitis and is now convalescing at residence of his parents, Judge and Mrs. C. H. Earnest, East Third and Hickory streets.

Stricken in New York, Joe came to Dallas to submit to the operation. Mrs. Earnest was with her son when the operation was performed and accompanied him home.

Summer School At Colorado To End Saturday, July 11

Summer school will be closed Saturday, July 11, after seven weeks of good work upon the part of both students and teaching faculty, C. A. Wilkins, principal of the high school and member of the summer school faculty staff, stated Friday.

Students are doing good work in all departments, he stated, and it is evident that with few, if any exceptions, they will make required grades for promotion.

The school was arranged for students failing in one or more subjects during the regular school year, and others who desired to complete work in some special subject in advance and not have to carry it next term of school.

CALIFORNIANS RUSHING GRAPES TO MARKET

The Texas & Pacific railroad is now operating the fastest train ever run over its lines, and it's not a passenger train. It's a daily fruit express, rushing grapes to the North and East from California. The trains are composed of express cars, and a passenger coach for accommodation of the train crew. The express has right-of-way over all trains it is stated, and has a faster schedule than regular passenger trains.

It is judged by this that people in the North and East are eating lots of grapes, as it is against the law to make wine.

EMBLEMS AT MASONIC BUILDING MADE NEW

The four large electric emblem signs over entrance to the Masonic building have recently been made as new by a group of local Masons. The signs, illuminated emblems of the Blue Lodge, Royal Arch Chapter, Council and Eastern Star, had become somewhat marred from usage and exposure. They were taken down and newly traced with proper paint colors.

Colorado Masons doing this work were Ben S. Cooper, W. M. of Blue Lodge; Milburn Doss, W. L. Doss, Jr., Chas. Moeser, and Dean Phenix.

ALLEGED COLD CHECK ARTIST IS ARRESTED

A man, giving his name as M. C. Cauley and his home as Abilene, was taken in tow at Sweetwater the other day on charges of passing worthless checks. Cauley is said to be wanted by Mitchell county authorities on the charge that some of his "hot checks" were recently palmed off here.

Checks passed here and in Sweetwater were given for small amounts, usually in payment of merchandise bought at the store.

OFFICIALS INSTALLED BY MASONIC BODIES

Officials, elective and appointive, to serve in the Blue Lodge and the Royal Arch Chapter, Masonic bodies, were installed during ceremonies at the hall Friday evening.

J. Lee Jones acted as master of ceremonies installing officers of the Blue Lodge, and W. J. Chesney presided when the Royal Arch official group were installed.

Women Better Pay Than Men, With the Married Ones Less Dependable, Report

AUSTIN, Texas.—Men are less to be depended upon for payment of their credit accounts than women, and married persons are less dependable than single ones, if a recent credit survey made of 54 retail credit firms in Austin is typical of the universal credit situation. Arthur H. Hert of the University of Texas bureau of business research has examined 1,768 accounts in Austin firms which were charged off to profit and loss in 1930. The results of this survey Mr. Hert incorporated in an address which he delivered before the annual convention of the National Retail Credit Association at St. Louis, Mo., recently.

However, the fact that 66.4 per cent of the accounts were those of men and 33.6 per cent were accounts of women, and that 62.1 per cent belonged to married persons, and 37.9 per cent to single persons, indicates a close relationship between the marital status and the sex of the persons whose accounts were uncollectable, Mr. Hert declared.

"It has been estimated by many store executives that women do as much as 75 per cent of the shopping

WHEAT ACREAGE PRODUCES OVER 27 BUSHELS TO THE ACRE FOR HYMAN FARMER

H. Hyman Completes Work Of Harvesting Record Crop Last Week

Harry Hyman reports an average acre yield of 27.7 bushels from his wheat crop of 135 acres in the Hyman community. The grain tested 61.5 pounds to the bushel, an excess in quality of one-and-one-half pounds.

Farmers who visited the Hyman farm and inspected the wheat crop pronounce it as having been one of the most uniform ever seen in this country. Mr. Hyman, in Colorado Friday, expressed keen satisfaction over the results obtained. The only concern expressed by him was in the market price.

Hyman sold two cars of the grain Saturday on the Fort Worth market at 34 cents per bushel. He is selling a considerable amount of the grain to farmers and cattlemen of the Hyman and adjoining communities, who are sending trucks to his farm to receive the wheat.

ASSOCIATIONAL BYPU PROGRAM HELD HERE

Colorado First Baptist church was host to Mitchell-Scurry Baptist associational B. Y. P. U. meeting held Sunday afternoon. J. C. Smythe of the Scurry County Times at Snyder, presided.

Rev. J. E. McDermott of Westbrook delivered the principal address, speaking from the subject, "Hot Weather Religion." Music was furnished by the host church orchestra.

The efficiency banner was won by the young people's organization at Champion. Loraine B. Y. P. U. won the high attendance banner. Snyder will entertain the next meeting, to be convened Saturday, August 29.

FORT WORTH MAN IS GIVEN 9 LIFE TERMS

H. L. Bomberger, 23, Fort Worth, will have a long time to meditate now. He was sentenced Monday to 901 years in the penitentiary. The prolonged sentence came about when Judge Hosey sentenced the young man to 99 years in nine separate counts. He was charged with hijacking a bridge party at a Fort Worth home on the night of March 21.

The jury deliberated an hour and eight minutes in the first trial. Then the same twelve men were given the other eight cases against Bomberger. Four minutes later verdict of life imprisonment on each indictment was returned.

FORMER COLORADO BOY MAKES GOOD WITH U. S. A.

Samuel Womack returned Wednesday to Washington where he is an official in the Federal Research department. Womack, a former Colorado boy, will be remembered as a determined youngster who worked with unabating energy at whatever he might find to do to earn funds in financing his education.

After graduating with high honors from the Colorado high school, he entered Texas Technological College at Lubbock. He went to Washington last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Delaney and son have returned from Arizona, where they have been making their home for the past few months.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Dobbs and Miss Sybil Dobbs spent Sunday in Big Spring, guests of Mrs. Dobbs' sister, Mrs. A. D. Franklin.

GEORGE WASHINGTON Reminiscences of His Life and Heroic Exploits

ELECTED COMMANDER IN CHIEF

June 15, 1775, was a turning point in the affairs of the thirteen colonies, and a red-letter day in the life of George Washington, for on that day the Second Continental Congress, meeting in the State House in Philadelphia, unanimously chose George Washington as commander-in-chief of the Continental forces.

Examining the original Journal of Congress of that session, we read:

"Resolved, that a General be appointed to command all the Continental Forces, raised or to be raised for the defense of American liberty.

"That five hundred dollars per month be allowed for the pay and expenses of the General.

"The Congress then proceeded to the choice of a General by ballot, and George Washington, Esq., was unanimously elected."

John Adams, delegate from Massachusetts and destined to succeed Washington as President of the United States almost a quarter of a century later, was the strongest advocate of making the "Gentleman of Virginia" commander-in-chief. We have his own words to prove this statement:

"I had no hesitation to declare that I had but one gentleman in my mind for that important command, and that was a gentleman from Virginia, who was among us and very well-known to all of us; a gentleman, whose skill and experience as an officer, whose independent fortune, great talents, and excellent universal character would command the approbation of all America, and unite the cordial exertions of all the colonies better than any other person in the Union."

John Hancock, president of Congress, officially notified Washington of his election the next day.

WHEN WASHINGTON RAN FOR OFFICE

The vision of George Washington that always rises before us at every mention of his name, is the Washington of later years, the commander-in-chief of the Revolutionary Army, the man who presided over the Constitutional Convention, the first President of the United States. We forget that even George Washington had to pass through an early day of small beginnings, and that there must have been a first occasion when George Washington had to "carry his district," like any small-town office holder of today.

The Division of Information and Publication of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission has been at pains to furnish these reminders of Washington's first small entries into office, his first attempts at the statesmanship, in which he afterward proved himself so great.

In 1755, Washington had rushed back from Braddock's troops on an important errand. Braddock needed cash with which to pay off his men. His aide, Col. Washington, volunteered to get the needed money at the Virginia capital, Williamsburg. Incidentally he did obtain the 4,000 pounds (about $20,000) needed, but he obtained it by borrowing, since the paymaster was absent.

On his way back to Braddock, he passed at Winchester, in the Shenandoah Valley, and there wrote a letter to his brother, Jack, in which he toys with the idea of running as Representative of Fairfax county in the Virginia House of Burgesses. Evidently a turn for politics had overtaken him, as it had other members of his family. In his letter to Brother Jack, he reports that Major Carlyle had banteringly suggested that he run as burgess, but, before he will do so, Jack must first learn whether Col. Fairfax has any intention of running for the same office.

In December of that year, Lieut. Colonel Adam Stephen wrote a letter to Washington from Fort Cumberland in which he refers to Washington having been "insulted" at the Fairfax election, a reference which lends some authorities to the conclusion that Washington may have seen his way clear to run for office—but lost.

However, Washington's own poll list of the election for Fairfax county does not include his name; but it is among those who did not succeed at the polls in Frederick county, the frontier county with Winchester as its courthouse.

In 1758, Washington again offered himself as burgess from Frederick county, and this time he won, by a count of 310 to 45.

During both these elections Washington was away from his home county on public business, but in the final election this appears to have done no damage to his interests. It may be, also, that he owed some of his success to a capable manager, Col. James Wood; for Washington wrote a letter to Wood in which he expresses the warmest appreciation and gratitude for the services rendered. Thereafter George Washington had little opposition in the part he played in the Virginia House of Burgesses.

Students of history will be quick to compare the early political career of Washington with that of Abraham Lincoln. Each seems to have gained his first lesson in statesmanship from the chagrin of defeat. The difference between them begins with the fact that Lincoln was not military man but almost wholly a statesman. As such he suffered more defeat than Washington even though Washington was a candidate for office more often.

The point is that both mastered the arts of statesmanship, and learned it first in the hard school of winning votes against opposition. A simple operation in arithmetic discloses the fact that Washington entered the Legislature of his State at the age of 27 years. Thus his beginning in statescraft is almost parallel with his first military experiences.

BURIAL FLAGS FOR U. S. VETERANS

Under provisions of the World War veterans' act, any veteran of any war in which U. S. troops were involved, is entitled to have his casket draped with a U. S. flag.

The Postmaster at any county seat will furnish a flag upon due proof of the veteran's death and proof of honorable service.

The flag is wool and is five feet by nine feet and six inches.

SEVEN WELLS NEWS NOTES

R. P. ADAMS, Reporter
Excuse me, "Dad" Wallace, but I forgot that you were depending on this column to keep you posted on what takes place in your absence. We sure miss you at our store and at our services.

As has been before mentioned, the constant ticking of the clock, or the eternal "drip-drop" of water from the top may sometimes grow tiresome, so with nothing on hand to write about and no time to write it, this column was absent last week.

Things are certainly happening this time, and more things are to happen. For instance the "Grand Old Fourth" is to be celebrated next Saturday in many forms and fashions. Some will go to a shady place on a river or creek, where the water is there to remind them of our freedom as it trickles down through the rocks on its way to the ocean or be dried up somewhere in a sand-bed.

It is to be remembered on the 4th of July a statement was signed that "all men are born free and equal," when the Declaration of Independence was signed in 1776 our freedom was yet to be won. But thanks be to God, the battle was won and we have our Grand Old United States to live in as a result of that battle. Long live "the land of the free and the home of the brave," and may the Stars and stripes never touch the ground, should be the prayer of any red-blooded American citizen. Others will seek other forms of amusement. For instance, Lanier Bassham has his own way of celebrating "Independence Day" for further particulars you will have to ask him.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Echols and Miss Ola and Ruby Echols from Bonham; Miss Anna Wells of Mexia, J. E. Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Lou Allen of Midland, all visited with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wallace. We are sure these people had a nice time while in the home of southern hospitality, as is C. A. Wallace's.

The following have been on the sick list: Messrs. P. C. Hale, Click Hughes, Tiller and Ellis Browne. All of these but the latter have recovered and are up. Ellis successfully underwent an operation for the removal of his appendix. Tuesday morning he was reported doing nicely. For the first time, it was this correspondent's opportunity to watch an operation of this nature. It was indeed an eye-opener to one who had never seen it before. Dr. Root showed how the stomach can be opened and part of its contents taken out and placed back in; then the opening sewed up, and then the patient recovers—most of the time. If you have never witnessed a major operation it will be well worth your time to see it if you are given the opportunity.

Mrs. W. T. Elliott of Ringgold, Texas, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Elliott. She is enroute to her home after spending a month visiting in other places.

There is one thing this correspondent wishes to call attention to, and that is our Seven Wells railroad crossing in Colorado. It is a very dangerous one, and I think I voice the sentiment of the entire community and those who travel our road that there should be some signal to let us know when a train is approaching, other than the whistle. Perhaps if those in charge could really see and realize for themselves the danger, they would help us in some way.

We are pleased to announce that our community has in its midst a minister of the gospel, the Rev. Clarence Dossey. He has the "power" inside him and it is up to him to let it out. He occupied the pulpit at Payne last Sunday, speaking to a fairly good crowd—more than usual. He will occupy the same pulpit next Sunday and those of us who heard him last Sunday will want to hear him again.

Minister Harvey of the Church of Christ is holding a series of night services at our school house, and all the community is urged to attend. Remember our Bible school next Sunday afternoon at 3:50, followed by preaching services. It is regular appointment of Rev. Webb, pastor of Colorado Methodist church. As he is holding a series of revival services in town, it will be announced later whether or not he will preach.

Hyman Happenings

By MRS. EDGAR ANDREWS
L. W. Smith of the Magnolia Petroleum Co. of Colorado was here this week on business.

Otis Chalk of the Chalk community visited the Hyman's last weekend, accompanied by his grandson, Sonny Cole.

Last Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Hyman, Mr. and Mrs. Heusinger, Miss Mary Dalton and Sonny Bowen of Dallas went into Colorado and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Scott. Some attended to business, some attended the movies, and the young people were guests of Miss Bougie Scott for a winning party at the Country Club.

J. L. Patterson, representing the Sun Oil Company and located at Forsan, was here twice last week to see Mr. Hyman on business.

W. A. Heusinger left last Saturday for San Antonio on a short business trip.

Rev. J. I. Kelley, accompanied by Mrs. Kelley and daughter, were in Hyman Sunday afternoon. Bro. Kelley filling the pulpit afternoon and night and after the last meeting a short business session was held when Roy Davis Coles was elected secretary. Bro. Kelley preached two fine sermons, which were appreciated by his congregation. He announced that he would hold a protracted meeting here, commencing in August. The Baptists have announced they will hold a meeting here in July.

Rev. and Mrs. Kelley and daughter were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Andrews and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hyman while here Sunday.

A good many people from surrounding country have been here this week to buy wheat from Mr. Hyman, who shipped two carloads to Fort Worth this past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Coles and young Roy, who have been visiting Mrs. Coles' parents for the past ten days, returned home last week. The new screens Mr. Coles has put on the teacherage has added a good deal to the looks of the place.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hammonds of Seven Wells came to Hyman last Friday to visit their daughters, Mrs. H. H. VanZandt and Mrs. Jim Boyd and families. Their sister, Mrs. Charles Williams, accompanied them—as well as several others.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Dawson gave an ice cream supper last Tuesday night in honor of Misses Elsie VanZandt's and Mrs. I. Smallwood's birthdays.

Misses Roberta Nichols, Lorene, Helen and Florice Andrews, Lavoyce Lowery, Elsie VanZandt, Dorothy Dawson and Mira Smallwood attended the 4-H Club girls' rally day at Colorado Friday afternoon and Saturday. The girls report a fine time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Dawson were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Duke Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Andrews and little daughter, and Miss Dorothy Dawson, Ruth Jeffs, Mary Dalton, Lee Minor, Tiny Sparks, Harold Duke, Ernest Black and W. P. Jones were Sunday afternoon visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nichols.

Miss Helen Andrews spent Sunday with Miss Mira Smallwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindley were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. VanZandt last Sunday.

Terrell Minor spent last Saturday night in the home of H. U. Salley of Spade.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Yancy and Mrs. Bennie Black are visiting Mrs. Black's and Mrs. Yancy's father and mother in South Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Woodard.

Jim Black, who was quite ill last week, is able to be up.

Mr. and Mrs. John Black of Mason county are visiting here, and expect to remain a month or longer.

Consider your Adam's Apple!! Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

The great Lord Tennyson in a beautiful poem refers to a woman's Adam's Apple as "The warm white apple of her throat." Consider your Adam's Apple. Touch it—your Adam's Apple—That is your larynx—your voice box—if contains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple you are considering your throat—your vocal chords. Protect the delicate tissues within your throat. Be careful in your choice of cigarettes. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants! Reach for a LUCKY instead. Here in America LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette which brings you the added benefit of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process, which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays. It is this exclusive process that expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. These expelled irritants are sold to manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. And so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple."

Nimrods Warned to "Watch Their Step" When Invading Premises for Fishing

Colorado has for many years supplied to West Texas a goodly quota of the sportsmen who find as irresistible the beckoning of rod and reel during such days as these, and it might not be out of order for these local nimrods to consider well some of the recently invoked statutory regulations affecting the sport.

Land owners through which running streams pass are coming more and more to the point wherein the fisherman is looked upon as an intruder and of that type of trespasser meriting such penal reprisals as the law would authorize. It is now difficult to find a "welcome sign" along the Concho rivers in Sterling and Tom Green counties, report local enthusiasts of the sport. Land owners and lessees there are evidently up in arms against these visitors and promise nothing but prosecution to any disregarding the warning to "stay out."

Then, too, there is the ever-increasing number of laws regulating the sport that the man heaving away to the fishing hole should remember. West Texas streams are well policed by officers from the State Game and Fish department and their orders are to uphold the dignity of the law.

Different attitude is assumed by the statutes in different counties in this section of the State. Framers of some of our most recent laws, having to do with fishing in West Texas, deemed it advisable that they specify that such and such would be lawful in Tom Green county but entirely proper in another. Last week we published a brief summary of some of the recently made operative game laws, but give here a more general summary, noting peculiar conditions to be met in certain counties.

Tom Green county comes in for close restrictions under the new fish laws of Texas as arranged and amended by the last legislature. Fishermen are warned of a few pertinent changes by Jim Flynt, district game warden.

Fifteen and twenty-foot seines, common at present time throughout the State, are now illegal in Tom Green county, Mr. Flynt shows. The limit for this county is ten feet, and for the State twenty. A seine may be used for catching minnows only.

In this county one may catch but twenty-five fish of all species, for example, ten catfish and 15 perch, or eight bass and 17 perch. In this county one must throw back all minnows over three inches long, whether caught by hook or seine.

The limit in San Saba, Brown, McCulloch, Edwards, Coleman, Concho, Menard, Mason, Gillespie, Kimble, Sutton, Kinney, Uvalde, Real, Kerr, Comal, Val Verde, Bandera, Reeves, Ward, Loving, Pecos, Medina, Bexar, Hunt, Runnels, Rains, Williamson, Zavalla, Dimmitt, Lampasas and Llano counties is 35 fish of all kinds of fish. In these counties nets and seines up to 20 feet in length may be used to catch minnows for bait. Catfish caught in those counties may not be offered for sale.

Under the new fish laws, any manufactured bait or imitation of natural bait is classed as artificial and requires the $1.10 artificial license law. It is pointed out that all dough baits and stink baits come under head of artificial baits.

Out-of-State visitors are now required to secure a $5 license for one year and a $1.10 license for five days of fishing. Alien residents of Texas are also included among those who must take out the non-resident licenses for any kind of fishing.

The closed season on bass and crappie in the fresh waters of Texas is during March and April and on rainbow trout from January 1 to May 31.

Among the most common violations of the fish laws is that of catching undersized fish. Freshwater bass must be 11 inches long and crappie 7 inches long to comply with the law. All shorter than that should be turned back into the water when caught.

The individual limits are: Bass, 15; crappie or white perch, 15; goggle eye perch, 35; bream 35; or outside of Tom Green and other counties having special restrictions, not an aggregate of more than 50 of all kinds. It is unlawful to possess at any one time more than 30 bass, 30 crappie or white perch, 70 bream; or 70 goggle-eye perch.

It is unlawful to catch or attempt to catch fish by any means other than ordinary hook and line, set hook or trot line, artificial lure, set or drag net and seine of not less than 3 inches square mesh. During March and April no nets or seines may be used except for catching minnows intended for bait.

Other laws making it unlawful to catch fish by hand, or by the use of

Ardmore Flayed By Mexican Press On Decree of Acquittal

The Mexican press devoted its lead editorials Sunday to strong criticism of the acquittal at Ardmore, Okla., Saturday, of Deputy Sheriff W. E. Guess, charged with killing Emilio Cortes Rubio, nephew of President Ortiz Rubio, on June 8.

Under the title, "The Shame of Ardmore," Excelsior termed the shooting an "infamous and cowardly act" and blamed the acquittal on a "partial or ignorant jury, perhaps influenced by racial prejudice."

"It would be unjust," Excelsior said, "to blame a whole people for the error or partiality of one of their courts, hence our comment is directed against the nameless justice (?) of Ardmore and against certain notorious vices of the lower class American police who in some states are guided by a savage spirit to kill."

Innumerable abuses have been committed in Mexico, the paper admitted, "but we cannot recall a case of Mexican police assassinating honorable youths of a foreign country here in the double character of distinguished guests and students of outstanding good conduct. Nor, which is still more scandalous, that the assassin was acquitted, throwing an infamous suspicion upon the innocent victims."

"That which will bring protests from decent men in United States and Mexico, was left for a deputy sheriff of Oklahoma and a partial or ignorant jury of Ardmore to do," Excelsior's comment was similar to that printed in other papers.

El Nacional quotes Aaron Saenz, secretary of industry, thus: "All comment should take the form of energetic protest. It is said that in a country of presumed justice a thing like this should happen and should go unpunished."

Christofor Ibanez, secretary to the President of Mexico, declared the acquittal at Ardmore would not encourage other Mexican students to enter the United States. "If two American students had been assassinated in Mexico," he said, "we would have proceeded with vigor against the assassins."

Manuel Riva Palacio, a National deputy, made the shortest comment: "Reciprocity is indicated."

MISS TRENA MILLER NEW PRESS OFFICER

ABILENE.—Miss Trena Miller of Rotan, is the new secretary-treasurer of the West Texas Press association. She succeeded Geo. F. (Jimmie) Smith, former publisher of the Times-Signal at Snyder.

The transfer was announced from Colorado by W. S. Cooper, president of the association, Smith's resignation having been forwarded to him. Miss Miller is active in the public life of Rotan, as secretary of the chamber of commerce and Lions club, and has been a valued worker in the West Texas Press association, which holds its 1931 convention at Lubbock, August 14-15.

The retiring secretary-treasurer, who is not now in the newspaper business, led in the organization of the West Texas press, and at the Abilene convention last year was presented with a traveling bag by his fellow scribers.

Fred Whipkey And W. P. Buckner, Wife At Boulder, Colo.

BOULDER, Colo., June 26.—Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Buckner, of Georgetown, Texas, arrived in Boulder yesterday and registered for the University of Colorado summer school. This is their fourth year as summer school students, and both will graduate. Prof. Buckner is principal of the Georgetown school. Mrs. Buckner teaches Spanish.

Mr. Fred Whipkey, an uncle of Mrs. Buckner, drove them here. He called at the office of The Camera today to renew acquaintances with the editor.

He is engaged in the newspaper business and "joined the staff" of The Camera. He will contribute some articles concerning his impressions of Boulder and its mountains as compared with Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Buckner and Mr. Whipkey are located at the Joseph Klemme residence, 1045 Regent, for the summer.

Tribute Paid Life Of Col. Herring By Colorado Citizen

West Texas lost one of its most valuable citizens in the death of Col. C. T. Herring at Amarillo, Monday, Dr. P. C. Coleman, president of the Colorado chamber of commerce and a close personal friend of the late civic leader and cattleman, said in tribute to the life of Col. Herring.

Colonel Herring was the first president of West Texas Chamber of Commerce and for many years had been outstanding as a leader in development of his city and section.

D. H. Snyder, Colorado cattleman was another citizen to pay tribute to Col. Herring. "Another great man who in his lifetime made a material contribution to progress in West Texas," has gone to the last round-up," Mr. Snyder said of him.

Members of his family were attending funeral services of Mrs. Herring when the late capitalist died, following a brief illness. Col. Herring was 81 years of age and had spent his entire lifetime as a citizen of Texas. He leaves an estate computed to be worth $10,000,000.

IN DEFENSE OF THE PAST
The older one grows the more that person lives, talks, and writes in the past.

To me—and I believe to the average reader of this column—the past and particularly the people of the past, are usually more vivid and understandable than the present and the people of the present.

I have been criticised severely by some of these Northern papers. Some people get an idea I am trying to post as an historian or something.

SOME OBSERVATIONS
A town in New York State has passed an ordinance requiring all men to grow a beard.

References to historical personages can be easily overdone. Nevertheless, we never know the thing that we most want to know about great men or prominent men until after they are dead.

I used to love my garden. And lately through it tread, Until I found a Bachelor Button In Black-Eyed Susan's bed.

FOX FILM DEPICTS ALLIED METHOD BEATING U-BOATS
Recounting in a thrilling manner the Allied fight against the submarine menace, and combining this with a unique romance between an American naval commander and a German secret service agent.

What do we know about the present-day successors of these worthies? Almost nothing! I understand that there is to be a series of contests soon for the so-called heavy-weight championship, but I know nothing about the fighters, except, vaguely, their names.

POISON FORMULA
The county farm agent suggests the following formulae to fight grasshoppers:
Twenty pounds of bran.
One pound of Paris green or white arsenic.

College and University Men in Military Camp
College and University men who are attending the Citizens Military Training Camp at Camp Bullis, Texas, seem to realize more fully the real value of this training.

Churches, even in the days when frowned upon, were also more than religious houses of worship. There, too, the people gathered because they needed a common meeting house.

College men, or men who have worked and lived in close association with large groups of men, can understand this more readily than others and are more willing to cooperate with the officers and men of the regular army who are their instructors.

stand that there is to be a series of contests soon for the so-called heavy-weight championship, but I know nothing about the fighters, except, vaguely, their names.

Since my removal to the North and my close and intimate connections with Bobby Jones, I have taken up golf and playing daily on the New York courses with men high up in the game, and as I ponder over the problem of human life, its vanities and vexations, I think of projecting these verses:

I like the game of golf, I think, as well as any man;
I seek the links to play around as often as I can.

With all there is to fret about and try the human soul,
I will not let the game of golf destroy my self-control.

Minds are like parachutes— they function only when they are open.

We are constantly confronted with that old stuff about the present age going to the dogs. The truth is, there is more activity today in the interest of the human race than any time since the pessimists coined the canine idea.

Why not feature the good in our front windows? Certainly that plan would persuade more prospects to step in and look over our stock

THE FOURTH
By JANE MATHIAS
Just what does the Fourth of July mean to you? Just what should it mean? Only a "grand and glorious fourth!"

Compare our country with Russia. Russians are now suffering because there is forced labor. America—the home of the brave and the free—is a young country compared with Russia, but look at the vast difference.

College and University Men in Military Camp
College and University men who are attending the Citizens Military Training Camp at Camp Bullis, Texas, seem to realize more fully the real value of this training.

America. Stephen Girard organized a great private banking business in 1812. So well established as the nation's financial center did Congress consider Philadelphia that the first mint of the new country was set up here.

Philadelphia of today are confident they have a city in every way worthy of its position as the third metropolis of the United States.

I think my last letter left me in Philadelphia, unfinished— The soft patter of moccasined feet over a wilderness trail!

From Philadelphia to New York by stage coach in the early Eighteenth Century—a three-day journey, four fine coaches starting daily.

Two years later the first steam ferry is operated between Philadelphia and Camden. Here, in 1809, the first railroad track in America is laid—in the yard of the now-forgotten Bull's Head Tavern.

Immediately on his arrival here in 1683, Penn set about establishing Philadelphia as the focal point of the ocean-borne commerce of the world coming to America.

Churches, even in the days when frowned upon, were also more than religious houses of worship. There, too, the people gathered because they needed a common meeting house.

Business Registers Improvement, Says Report Issued From National Capitol

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Business is passing through a period of convalescence in which the painful process of recuperation and repair is proceeding slowly in some directions and quite swiftly in others, says Frank Greene in his current monthly review published by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

One of the most encouraging developments recently, he says, has been a strengthening of the business morale—a necessary prerequisite to general business recovery.

In the list of real changes for the better, Mr. Greene suggests that first place should be given to those lines which have accepted the present situation and gone to work to make the best of things as they are and not as they appeared to be a short two years ago.

"There still seems to be nothing basically wrong with the idea," he declares, "that the cure for low prices lies in the quotations themselves; and that, given attractive enough prices, there is business to be done. Supporting this view it may be suggested that the textile grades cotton, silk and wool, are doing nearly as large if not, indeed, in some cases, a larger business than a year ago and some of them almost as much as two years ago.

"Two really important things have taken place so far this year, both a bit unpalatable but unavoidable if the work of upbuilding is to go forward.

"One has been the spreading out among consumers of some of the benefits of the declines in wholesale prices. Notwithstanding the disagreement which developed among manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in May as to whether cuts in retail prices were a full reflection of the reductions made earlier by the producing and wholesale branches, the improvement in chain, mail-order and department store sales seems to evidence public recognition of the progress made in this direction. Certainly the returns by some large grocery chains showing large increases in tonnage distributed, accompanying small fractional decreases in value of sales, seem proof of this. The small decreases or, in numerous cases, actual gains in sales over last year by large chains or department stores are further proof that this trend is proceeding.

"The second unpalatable but unavoidable incident of the present depression is instanced by the controversy as to whether wage scales in certain lines should be reduced.

"The Department of Labor has given out totals of the number of those suffering cuts and perhaps this is conclusive evidence of the facts, even if it were not already known that cuts in time of hours have accomplished the same result. These discussions of reductions are, however, not really new and have been known in previous times of stress when the pressure for lower costs could no longer be ignored.

"The planting and growing season in this country has progressed to a point where it is beginning to take form. While not uniformly favorable—the subsoil is too dry in the spring-wheat Northwest where the crop shows the lowest condition in years—the general situation is good, possible exceptions being California,

Georgia and Virginia. From New Jersey west to the Missouri valley the situation seems about at its best, partly due to the contrast with a year ago when the Ohio valley was entering the drought period.

"A rough survey of May trade and industry seems to indicate that wholesale and jobbing trade marked time during the month while in retail trade the passing of the spring peak in buying and the cold, rainy weather during half of the month caused a decline of perhaps five per cent. Industry as a whole seems to have shown a slight gain. Collections improved in a fair degree, while crops made about the best progress of all, perhaps eight per cent.

"Two of the three great textile manufacturing industries, silk and wool, stand out as still going ahead in manufacture. The calculated approximate consumption of silk in May was 10.4 per cent ahead of that in May, 1930. For five months it was 4.6 per cent ahead of last year and only 1.7 per cent below that for the like period of 1929.

"Consumption of raw wool for April was 18 per cent above March and 29.6 per cent above April a year ago. For four months the gain over the like period of 1930 was 28 per cent.

"Cotton mill operations in April, as measured by active cotton spindles gained 1.8 per cent over March and was five per cent below April a year ago. For the first four months of the year, spindle hours were 11.6 per cent below the like period of 1930. Estimated yardage in April was 4.9 per cent below April, 1930.

Former Mitchell County Man Files To Wed 4th Bride

J. T. Taylor, 75, a resident of Sweetwater and former citizen of Mitchell county, evidently is not concerned over the uncertainties of wedded life. He has recently filed for license to take his fourth bride.

The 75-year-old groom, who was divorced from his second wife in Mitchell county last October and who married again in December, was granted a divorce from his 50-year-old bride of six months in Judge Fritz Smith's court at Sweetwater Tuesday. On the same day he filed application for a marriage license for No. 4, Mrs. Lulu Walls, 58, of Capitol.

Last December Taylor filed application for a marriage license and came back the next day and had the name of the bride changed to the woman who is the current divorcee. He sought to divorce her at the April term of court, testifying that she told him on his wedding night that she "just married me for half my money." The divorce was not granted until the present term, however, because Taylor had not lived in the county six months.

Southwest Cowboys Organize for 1932 Reunion To Be Held at Stamford, Texas

STAMFORD, Texas.—After three days of eating from chuck wagons, and swapping tales of yester years, cowboys of more than 35 years ago Saturday re-elected Colonel R. L. Penick of Stamford president of the Texas Cowboy Reunion, and prepared to leave for their homes in widely scattered portions of the State.

Three nights and three days these veterans of the range spent in frolicking in cowboy fashion to turn again for the ranch lands which they call home.

They elected L. C. Proctor of Midland first vice president; George Gilkerson of Lubbock, second vice president; Judge Chas. E. Coombes of Stamford, secretary, and Starke Daugherty of Anson, treasurer.

Walter Cousins of Dallas was elected historian and instructed to prepare data on the cattle industry, ranches and brands, and to write biographies, sketches and reminiscences.

Frank Rhoades of Throckmorton was named ranch boss of the reunion. He will have charge of preparations for next year's camp.

Nine members were elected to the board of directors, as follows: Clyde Burnett, Benjamin; John Davis of Throckmorton; Dip Holmberg, Dumont; George Boles, Lubbock; Houston Ward, Swenson; Lee Ribble, of Crowell; John Gist, Odessa; Gent Owsley, Stamford, and Tom Lemmons, Haskell.

In adopting the bylaws, the group extended membership to wives and widows of pioneer cowmen who have lived on a ranch as long as 35 years. Plans were also made for the organization in order that younger cowboys might participate in the reunion.
