BAND ANNULMENT DECREE IS RECALLED BY CITY WHEN CITIZENS FILE A PETITION

Council Members Express A Desire to Cooperate With Public

Order passed by the city council July 16, cancelling contract with Roy Hester, band director, was reconsidered by unanimous vote at a regular meeting of the council Monday night. Motion to recall the previous action was made after petition signed by several hundred citizens had been presented.

Members of the council made it clear that the city was ready to lend every consistent cooperation to the public in maintaining a municipal band, so long as musicians of the city made it possible for such an organization to function. The re-instating order is not to be made permanent, unless this requirement is fully complied with.

Resolution passed by the council July 16, ordering that contract with Roy Hester, band director, be cancelled after 30 days, was not suggested as a means of economy, members of the council explained Monday night. The city moved to annul this contract when it was clearly evident there was no longer a municipal band functioning.

"There are to be no fences nor other barriers as between the senior and junior bands hereafter, and this reinstatement edict is for the exclusive purpose of organizing and maintaining at Colorado a municipal band, with free access for membership extended to all qualified musicians alike," was the declaration of J. A. Sadler, member of the council and named by Mayor Hutchinson as a member of the band commission. Sadler was appointed after resignation of J. Lee Jones, former member, was accepted.

The council made no check of petitions requesting that the cancellation order be recalled, to ascertain the number of citizens endorsing the same, but it was reported that a total of 883 names were on the document. Forty-three citizens declined to sign the petition, it was stated.

Original contract made between Mr. Hester and members of the band commission a few months ago is to be continued, with such additional provisions as members of the commission, in carrying out wishes of the city, may deem advisable, after conferences with Hester and local musicians.

Primitive Baptists Arriving For Meet Opening Thursday

Primitive Baptists from a wide section of West Texas have begun to converge at Colorado for opening of the Providence Associational meeting Thursday. The meetings are being held at local Primitive Baptist church in East Colorado.

J. F. Richardson of Robert Lee, moderator, was among the first arrivals. Rev. T. A. Dunn of Crosbyton, pastor, along with several other preachers and church leaders, are here for the three days meeting.

REV. ELLIOTT LEAVES FOR KERRVILLE MEET

Rev. W. M. Elliott, pastor of First Presbyterian church, left Monday for Kerrville where he is attending State Synodical meeting for men of the church.

The Colorado pastor drove through by motor car. He expects to spend several days at Camp Kerr, near Kerrville.

HURON DORN ASSUMES CHARGE TAILOR SHOP

Huron Dorn announced Friday that he had acquired ownership of the tailor shop at 236 Walnut street, operated during the past few months by Dolman Brothers. The plant was sold by Dorn to Dolman last September.

The business is being continued under management of Mr. Dorn.

ATTEND MASS MEETING TUESDAY

The Record wishes to endorse the call of County Judge A. F. King for the Mass Meeting that is to be held Tuesday morning, August 4, at 10 o'clock, at the Palace Theatre, and urge the people of Colorado and Mitchell County to attend. This meeting is called to formulate plans for the celebration to honor pioneers of this county on the fiftieth birthday, August 21-22.

We know that times are hard and, of course, an elaborate celebration is out of order. On such an occasion as this we are inclined to favor a family affair, with the citizenship of the county and former residents as the family. We are not in favor of the hullabaloo that often accompanies celebrations of other types, however, we would like to see an old-fashioned, get-together reunion.

We have expressed some of our ideas in regard to celebrating Mitchell County's and Colorado's fiftieth Anniversary and the people in general will have an opportunity to express their opinion publicly at the mass meeting next Tuesday morning, August 21-22, is rapidly approaching and there is no time to be wasted in planning for this great celebration.

On August 14 the Colorado Record will publish a history of this county in pictures, showing some of the old people and scenes of early days. This paper, heretofore has been telling the history of Mitchell County with words, but in the August 14th edition we will tell it with pictures and as much descriptive matter as possible.

COMMISSIONERS COURT IN MOVE TO REDUCE BURDEN OF TAXATION IN MITCHELL

Tax Rate Cut of Nickel Made Monday; Rigid Economy To Be Followed

The commissioners' court of Mitchell county is going to do everything within its power to reduce the burden of taxation and in making for such goal will demand the most rigid economy in expenditure of all public funds.

County Judge A. F. King outlined such a policy Monday afternoon just after having written into minutes of the court order setting county rate at $1.00 for 1931. This was a reduction of five cents from the rate of a year ago.

The court authorized reduction in the tax rate in face of a slump of $680,642.00 in aggregate property values from the totals for last year. Mitchell county valuations in 1930 were $9,400,030.00. Values on which the dollar tax was fixed Monday totaled $8,719,388.

There may be some slight alterations from total property values for this year, as listed above, the county judge stated, owing to fact the court had not completed final check on all conditions, as originally made and accepted, or as changed by order of the board of equalization. However, such change, if any, will not effect the tax rate figure, King explained.

The following schedule for 1931 taxes, giving levies for the several funds, was announced by the court:

Jury fund	$.02
Road and Bridge (working)	.30
Road and Bridge (sinking)	.25
General Fund	.25
Court House (sinking)	.08
Court House and Jail	.10
Total	$1.00

BUGS GOT HIS PEAS AND OTHER PRODUCE

The small green bugs that have wrought havoc in grain fields of the county during the past two weeks, were evidently choice as to the menu demanded when hordes of the insects invaded the farm of Jim Bodine at Buford.

Bodine, in Colorado Wednesday, stated the insects first appeared in his maize, but deserted the grain for his truck patch. They practically destroyed his peas and other produce.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASSES CONVERGING AT COUNTRY CLUB FOR ANNUAL FETE

Water Carnival, Melon Menu And Other Attractions Are Announced

Members of men's Bible classes of the several churches of Colorado were to meet at the Country Club Thursday afternoon for annual joint picnic. J. Ralph Lee, director of the water carnival, estimated that an attendance of 150 men would be registered.

"It is strictly a stag affair and no females are to be allowed," Dick Gray, member of the Baptist class and chairman of one of the directing committees, stated Sunday morning. Gray, in making announcement of the affair before members of the Methodist Sunday school class, said, "It is very probable that we Baptists may baptize some of you Methodists as a feature of the impromptu program."

Golf is to be the first attraction for the picnic. This program is to begin at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Visitors not owning clubs will have these supplied at the club house. Any interested member is invited to enter the golf tournament.

Beginning at 7 o'clock the visitors are to be entertained with a water carnival, under direction of J. Ralph Lee. He requests every visitor to bring a bathing suit. "For those not having bathing suit, the committee will furnish granny caps," he explained. "We are going to expect everybody to have some part in this water carnival."

At 7:30 the melon slicing will be in order. Choice watermelons selected especially for the occasion, will be supplied in abundance for everybody. N. A. Rogers is in charge of committee charged with responsibility for serving this menu.

All pastors and Sunday school superintendents are being invited to attend. Members of any of the several cooperating classes desiring to invite guests should inform the committee, in that ample provision be made to take care of them.

COUNTY TO RECEIVE SUM OF $83,525 FROM STATE SCHOOL APPORTIONMENT

$17.50 Per Capita Same As In 1930, Is Announced From Austin

Mitchell county will receive the sum of $83,525.00 from the State scholastic apportionment for the next school year, figures computed here Friday show.

Announcement was recently made by the Department of Public Education, Austin, setting per capita apportionment for this year at $17.50. Scholastic population in the county, as approved by the department, totals 3,630.

The rural school districts have a combined scholastic population of 1,731, Miss Ruby McGill, county superintendent, reported. Colorado is second with an enrollment of 1,333 scholastics.

DORN METHODISTS IN TWO-WEEKS' REVIVAL

Revival meeting will be opened at Dorn Methodist church Friday night. Rev. L. A. Webb of the Colorado Methodist church will do the preaching. The services are to continue two weeks.

Rev. Mr. Webb will be in his own pulpit Sunday morning, but will preach at Dorn Sunday evening.

REV. MORTON IN 5TH REVIVAL AT CUTHBERT

Rev. Bascom Morton of Abilene, evangelist holding revival meeting at the Cuthbert Methodist church, has conducted successful evangelistic campaigns there before. He stated Thursday night that he was entering upon his third meeting there.

Musicians of Colorado have been assisting in the song services.

Fiddlers of Half Century Ago Asked To Attend Jubilee

A couple of fiddlers who, in 1881, just fifty years ago, furnished music for a special cow hand reel at Grand Central Hotel in Colorado, are to be brought back to Colorado August 21 and 22 to make music for another enactment of the square dance so much in vogue during those days.

Those wielders of the bow are A. J. Payne of Slaton and Wes Allen of Fort Worth. Payne, visiting in Colorado Sunday, agreed to retrieve his aged fiddle and bring it along with him to the reunion. Allen had not informed the committee whether he would be able to join the Slaton man in the special music feature.

"I remember very distinctly that dance here 50 years ago, in which Wes Allen and myself made music for the merry-makers," Payne stated. "That was just 50 years ago and the reel was given at the Grand Central Hotel, the pride of West Texas in those days."

COLORADO BUSINESS MAN VICTIM OF HEART ATTACK FOLLOWING BRIEF ILLNESS

Rees Jones, 32, Died At The Family Residence Here Saturday Morning

Rees Jones, 32, associated with the Sam Majors Jewelry store here for the past six years, died at the family residence in North Colorado at an early hour Saturday morning, following a brief illness. He was stricken only a few days before with heart trouble.

Funeral services were conducted at the First Presbyterian church on Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock with the pastor, Rev. W. M. Elliott, in charge. Burial was in I. O. O. F. cemetery, east of the city.

Deceased was a native of Arizona but came to Texas several years ago where he had followed his profession as a watch-maker. Six years ago he came to Colorado from Lamesa and had been employed with Sam Majors since.

Surviving are his widow and an only brother, Milo Jones, jeweler of Sonora, Texas. Mrs. Jones was at the bedside of her husband when the end came Saturday morning.

Pall bearers, selected from among close friends of the deceased, were Lester Mannering, W. W. Cagle, Ralphie Farris, Sam Armstrong, Sam Majors and John Smith. Honorary pall bearers were Urrpert Townsend, Lamesa; Jap Baldwin and W. A. Crawford of Midland; Herman Windley of Coahoma, and A. E. Maddin, Dr. Grady Whitmore, and Dr. P. C. Coleman of Colorado.

Milling Company To Merge Into Jobbing Trade August First

The Colorado Feed Milling Company, effective August 1, is to be distinctive new features to service offered by the corporation and extend its trade territory to cover much of this section of the State, it is announced by Chas. C. Thompson, president.

Chas. A. Kyle, for some time associated with the Marshall Mill & Elevator Company, has recently come into the corporation and will be known as vice president. Kyle will devote his entire time to the sales department. Roy E. Warren, treasurer, will continue as plant manager.

The corporation will offer for sale at retail and wholesale, flour, grain, hay, feed and salt.

COUNTY AGENTS WILL RETURN FROM A. & M.

W. S. Foster, county farm agent, and Miss Abbie Sevier, home demonstration agent, are expected to return Sunday from College Station, where they are attending annual Farmers' Short Course. The agents are expected to be back in their offices at the court house Monday.

COUNTY JUDGE CALLS FOR MASS MEETING HERE AUG. 4TH TO ARRANGE PROGRAM

Pioneers Should Be Honored, King Outlines in His Proclamation

County Judge A. F. King issued proclamation Wednesday morning calling the citizenship of Mitchell county to convene here August 4th, at 10 o'clock a. m., to discuss program for honoring "Old Timers" who are to be guests of Colorado on August 21, 22 and 23.

The meeting will be convened at the Palace Theatre, King outlines, and every citizen of the county entertaining a feeling of gratitude for those pioneers who made contribution in development of the city and section are urged to attend.

"We consider it an obligation upon the citizenship to honor these citizens at that time," the proclamation states. "Their ranks are thinning and ere the passing of many more years the rugged men and women who first came here to lay the foundation for our splendid civilization and development of today will have come to the end of life."

"We are entering upon the fiftieth anniversary of organization of the county and certainly now is an appropriate time for us to join with others in celebration commemorating our pioneer citizens."

King recalls in the proclamation that due to financial depression it would be impractical to attempt an elaborate program commemorating the 50th anniversary of Mitchell county and honoring its early citizens, but such a physical condition must not effect the esteem in which everyone of them should be held by those living here today. "Just an old-fashioned get-together, with the usual Mitchell county hospitality dominating," is the way the county judge puts it.

The committee is anxious to obtain names and addresses of every known "old timer," in that direct communication with them be made and a personal invitation to attend the celebration be extended.

SCHOOL TRANSFERS MUST BE MADE BEFORE AUGUST FIRST STATUTE PROVIDES

Only One More Day of Grace Remains For Patrons To Register Change

In the event there be some parents or guardians having overlooked attention to having scholastics transferred from one school district to another, The Record again reminds that these transfers will not be legal after the last day of July, which is Friday of this week.

Scholastics not transferred according to law prior to that date will not be eligible for free tuition. It is further pointed out by school authorities that no child not listed on the scholastic census is entitled to receive free tuition in the public schools.

BUGS "CONSIDERATE" OF FORMER SHERIFF

The bugs were somewhat considerate and left a goodly share of grain in the field of W. J. Chesney, he reported while here Tuesday afternoon. Some damage resulted to his grain but Chesney stated that he would gather a good crop, unless something developed later to take damage toll.

Chesney, a former Mitchell county sheriff, is finding that after all there is nothing perhaps, to discount the farm. He was a farmer before being called into politics by his neighbors and friends and once out of office hid away to take up his place as a tiller of the soil again.

FORMER CITY ENGINEER IN COLORADO FOR FEW HOURS

Frank F. DuBose of Shamrock, formerly city engineer at Colorado, was here for a short time Tuesday morning. DuBose, accompanied by his brother, Liles DuBose, was en route home from a trip to El Paso.

Revival Meeting At McCall Mission Is Closed Sunday A.M.

Revival services at the McCall Mission Methodist church, East Colorado, were concluded Sunday morning with baptismal services at the church. Ten people were given the vows and accepted into membership. The Rev. L. A. Webb conducted the services.

The little East Side church was built a few years ago by local Methodists and ladies have conducted services there regularly since. Sunday school is held there each Sunday morning.

"It was one of the great inspirational services I have been privileged to have some part in," Rev. Mr. Webb said Sunday in reference to the closing service at the mission. In addition to the ten new members, eight mothers came forward to have their babies given baptismal rites.

FARMERS AT HYMAN FIND EVIDENCES THAT RABBIT POISONING WAS SUCCESS

16 Men Account for a Total Of 53 Bunnies Found In Their Fields

The recent rabbit extermination campaign by farmers of Hyman is said to have been successful to the extent that the animals are no longer depredating on crops there. Sixteen of the farmers cooperating in recent poisoning drive report that they have accounted for 53 of the pests.

The campaign was launched under personal direction of W. S. Foster, county farm agent, and Joe B. Lindsey of San Angelo, district representative of the U. S. Biological Survey and rodent control.

Twenty-five farmers of the community met the government agents at Hyman school house. There special poisoned baits, made up of salt and strychnine placed in holes bored in two-by-four timber blocks, was prepared. These were then left in fields and along trails frequented by the rabbits.

A few days later 16 of the farmers made an inventory of the results obtained. They found that 53 rabbits had been killed and in every case the animals had let up in their destructive attack on the crops.

Farmers reporting having found dead rabbits in their fields were listed by the county farm agent as follows:

- L. P. Adkins, C. F. Black, Frank Andrews, E. B. Vanwinkle, W. E. Jackson, Jim Taylor, Sam Nichols, L. H. Duke, C. L. Smith, H. H. Van Zandt, and J. S. Boyd.

Frank Taylor, C. L. Boyd and Carl Lowery reported they found no rabbit carcasses in their fields, but announced that but little if any damage had been noted in their fields since the poisoned bait had been placed.

BUYERS WILL ATTEND DALLAS STYLE SHOW

Several buyers for Colorado stores plan attending the advanced Fall and Winter Style Show to be given in Dallas next week, some of whom will continue to St. Louis and New York markets before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Berman and Mrs. H. P. Ragan from the Max Berman Department Store, are to leave Sunday for the Dallas show. L. Landau of the West Texas Dry Goods Company, will represent his store at the show and will go from Dallas to New York.

MILLS AT POST TO OPERATE FULL TIME

POST, Texas, July 28.—For the first time in two years, the Post-Tex mills, one of the few cotton fabric plants in this section, is to be operated on full time basis, or a 55-hour week, effective immediately. The mills distribute an annual payroll of approximately $250,000 and specializes in the use of Texas-grown cotton.

REVELATION OF CREATOR'S GREATNESS CAME THROUGH SORROW AND ON CALVARY

Rev. Alex B. Hanson Pictures Beauties of Service In Union Sermon

All the beauties of creation, depicting the handiwork of a divine genius, as one admires the universe, the green trees, the flowers and all these things that reflect the glories of God, fall short in giving a true revelation of God's greatness when compared with His compassion and love for lost humanity, the Rev. Alex B. Hanson, pastor of All Saints Episcopal church, outlined in sermon Sunday evening at the tabernacle.

"Seek and ye shall find," a quotation from the Master, was read by the Rev. Mr. Hanson as his text. "The beauties and wonders of earth's handiwork cannot compare with the cross in the revelation of God to mankind," he said.

"God did not render His great contribution through the making of the beautiful as seen about us every day, but His revelation came to man through sorrow and on calvary's cross."

The speaker plead for a closer devotion to Christian service. "We always find more than we look for when in God's service," he continued. "When we set out to do good in the Master's service, we make for heaven here on this earth through the dispensing of happiness among those about us."

The farmer does only one-tenth of the labor required for making a crop, the Rev. Mr. Hanson declared. He outlined that God wrought much work in the formation of soil in which the seed is sown, the bringing of many tons of water from the sea up into the clouds to be released in form of rain to make the crops grow and brings the sunshine and other essential agencies without which no farmer could produce a crop.

This was the second Sunday evening cooperative service being held at Union Tabernacle by the churches of Colorado. Rev. Mr. Elliott, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was in charge. Special musical numbers were presented under direction of Tommy Dawes, musical director.

Rev. Yost Benjamin, a member of the St. Louis Presbytery and a missionary having endured harrowing experiences in the Far East for ten years, will fill the pulpit next Sunday evening. The visitor is to relate some of his experiences among savage peoples to whom he went as a messenger of the church.

Youth Injured When Gas Line Explodes; Resting At Dallas

Miller Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Mitchell of Colorado, is resting well at Saint Paul's Hospital, Dallas, and is expected to be discharged from the hospital within the next few days, information received here Thursday morning disclosed.

Miller sustained painful burns to his hands, arms, face and chest on Thursday of last week when a gas line in his place of business at Dallas exploded. He operates a motor car brake testing station there.

Mrs. O. M. Mitchell is with her son at the hospital. She left Colorado Tuesday afternoon for Dallas.

COUNTY AGENTS LEAVE FOR COLLEGE STATION

W. S. Foster, county farm agent, and Miss Abbie Sevier, home demonstrator, left last week for College Station, where they are attending annual Farmers' Short Course, opening at A. & M. Monday.

REVIVAL AT NEW HOPE CHURCH CLOSED TUES.

Revival meeting at the New Hope Methodist church, conducted by Rev. J. I. Kelley of Colorado, pastor, was closed Tuesday night. Rev. Mr. Kelley reports that five additions to the church resulted from the meeting.

WEDDING ANNOUNCED

Herbert S. Brown and Miss Edith Simpson, formerly of Colorado, will leave San Francisco, Calif., August 2nd for Reno, Nevada, where they will be married August 3rd, it is announced here.

Both these young people have been employed with the California Pure Food Stores for about four years. They were transferred from San Francisco to San Jose, California, where Mr. Brown will be manager of the Pure Food Store at that place. They will first spend two weeks in the mountains on their honeymoon, before taking up their new position.

Miss Simpson graduated from the Colorado high school in spring of 1925, later working as office girl in offices of Drs. Ratliff & Hubbard. She left here January 3, 1926, for San Francisco to make her home with her brother, G. C. Simpson. She completed her schooling there. The bride-to-be has three brothers in Colorado—C. A. S. E., and O. L. Simpson—and many friends who wish she and Mr. Brown a long, happy married life.—Contributed.

Teachers Are Entertained

Mr. and Mrs. J. DeWitt Wilkes entertained Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Powers and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Railback and their daughter, Anna Jo, with an informal luncheon and radio party at their apartment, 1000 Fifth avenue, Canyon, Texas, on Sunday, July 26. In the afternoon the party enjoyed radio programs from stations WDAG and KGRS of Amarillo. After the radio program, iced watermelon was served. Worries about lessons and school were forgotten. The Wilkes', Powers' and Railbacks will be remembered as Mitchell county teachers. They are studying in West Texas State Teachers' College this summer.

Mrs. M. Carter is seriously ill Mrs. M. Carter, who has been in failing health for some time, is critically ill at her home on Oak street. Her son, Champ, from Silver City, New Mexico, and her brother, Tol Ware of Amarillo, arrived Wednesday, and her many friends in Colorado are anxiously waiting reports of her condition. Colorado has no better loved citizen than Mrs. Carter.

West Side Prayer Circle

An excellent meeting was had by the West Side Prayer circle Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Noonan Rogers. The circle is non-denominational and is well attended. Mrs. Bushke of Dallas, mother-of Mrs. Ed Grubbs, led the meeting. There were fifteen present.

Presbyterian Bible Study

The Presbyterian Auxiliary met Monday in their Bible study with Mrs. Hall as leader. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Hall and the fourth lesson in James was studied. The meeting closed with prayer.

Bridgettes

Thursday morning Mrs. L. G. Mackey entertained with a beautiful bridge party, having her Bridgettes club and a number of other friends, in honor of Mrs. Frank Mackey.

The house was attractively decorated in roses and petunias and the porch where two of the eight tables were placed was a bower of sunflowers. Mrs. Louis Collier had the highest score and was given a linen guest towel. Mrs. Hattie Smith was low score winner and received a glass of jelly. Mrs. Mackey received a chiffon handkerchief.

Home-made ice cream and cake were served. The meeting this week is with Mrs. Tidwell Thursday morning at 9 o'clock.

Bridge Supper

Tuesday evening at 7:30 Miss Martha Earnest, assisted by her brother, Joe, very delightfully entertained a group of her friends with a bridge supper. The guests were given tallies as they arrived, and thus found their partners at seven tables. When all had arrived they were invited into the dining room where delicious fried chicken, potatoes, tomatoes and hot biscuit were served cafeteria style. There were glasses of iced-tea on the tables, and at conclusion of the main course, a dessert of neapolitan cream and cake was served.

The tables were cleared and six games of bridge were played. Those making highest scores were Mrs. Joe Mills and Thomas R. Smith, each of whom was given a pretty deck of cards. Mrs. Merritt and Judge Looney were consoling with a fan and a ball as the low score winners.

Goodnights were said after an evening most pleasantly spent.

Honoring Mrs. John Geer

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Bob Tompson very delightfully entertained in honor of her friend, Mrs. John Geer, with five tables of bridge. Her house was beautifully decorated with daisies, gladioli and roses.

The honor guest was given a silhouette picture. High score was made by Mrs. Dewey Tidwell, who received a vase; low by Mrs. Ed Jones, Jr., whose consolation was a deck of cards.

At the refreshment hour fresh peach ice cream and chocolate cake were served, the plate favors being rosebuds.

Returns From California

Mrs. Quinney, who has just returned from California, reports many old friends met and visited. On Tuesday, July 21, she attended a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Collins, the meeting of Mrs. Andrew Cooksey's 500 Club. Here she met many former Colorado friends, and the next day attended a Texas party, where all were old friends.

Pla-Mor Club

The Pla-Mor club met last week with Mrs. Bill Scott, who had only club members. It was voted to give a cut prize for high score. Mrs. Sadler came in as a new member.

Prizes were given for high cut at both tables. Mrs. J. B. Pritchett and Mrs. D. H. Lewis were lucky ones and received an apron and a flower bowl. Peach ice cream and angel cake were served. Mrs. Summers is next hostess.

Miss Smith Entertains With Series Of Parties

Miss Mabel Smith very delightfully entertained Thursday morning, Thursday night and Friday morning, honoring groups of her friends. The house was attractively decorated with zinnias and other garden flowers, for the occasion.

Thursday morning there were four tables of bridge. In a cut favors went to Mrs. Ed Jones and Mrs. Lois Prude Bennett, they receiving a deck of cards and a handkerchief, respectively. The party lasted from 9:30 until 12, when a luncheon of chicken salad, potato chips, wafers, olives and iced tea was served.

Thursday evening Miss Smith complimented the Business and Professional Women's club and included some other friends. There were four tables of bridge players and three of 42. At conclusion of the games, telegraph blanks with "Business and Professional Women's Club" written on them were passed and each asked to write a telegram, beginning each word with a letter of the line on the blank. These were read and the three best cut for the prize, which was a pretty vase and went to Miss Kirkpatrick.

A refreshment plate of ice cream, cake and green mints was served, carrying out the club colors.

Friday morning Miss Smith again had a group, there being four tables of players who for two hours enjoyed an interesting bridge game. In the cut favors were given Mrs. Lupton (a deck of cards) and Mrs. Hattie Smith (a handkerchief).

At noon a luncheon plate was served. All of these parties were very pleasant occasions to friends of Miss Smith.

Missionary Meeting

The Methodist Missionary Society met Monday at the church. The spiritual cultivation and meditation was conducted by Mrs. Garrett, the devotional by Mrs. Merritt. Living Waters, with a study from the Voice, Mrs. Arnett led in prayer.

The treasurer reported $39 sent on pledge, $36 on dues and $7 on special for missionaries, and $5 for Scarritt student.

The vice president reported thirteen prayer circles during the meeting, ten conversions at McCall Mission, and eight babies baptized Sunday morning. Much individual work was reported on social service. Each member had given some special help.

It was voted to send Mrs. D. H. Lewis a vote of thanks for her gift to the missionary work. Also voted to write Mrs. Maggie Wert in Dallas, telling her that her church would care for her. Dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Hall.

Birthday Party

Saturday was Mrs. Sherwin's 89th birthday and her friends remembered it and remembered her in a very lovely way. She had expected callers in the afternoon, so had prepared lemonade and wafers, but a real reception actually occurred.

First came members of Standard Club, of which she has been a member for forty years. They brought a beautifully decorated birthday cake and twelve different kinds of preserves and jellies, one for each month of the year.

Next came her Auxiliary women with a huge basket of fruit, covered with lovely flowers and many little personal gifts. Mrs. Sherwin was asked for a speech, and her reply was "You scarce would expect one of my age to speak in public on the stage."

Messages and greetings from friends far away and from friends in Colorado made the day a happy one for the wonderful young, spirited, brilliant, ninety (lacking one year) old lady.

Family Reunion

Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Armstrong, near Westbrook, a family reunion was enjoyed by near relatives.

Lunch was spread at the noon hour in picnic style under the shade trees, where fried chicken, fresh corn, pie, iced tea and other delicious eats that go to make a fine lunch were enjoyed.

After lunch the old folks enjoyed a real get-together meeting while the young folks enjoyed swimming in the Foster tank.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Hart and daughter, Jaunie, of Lorraine; Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Armstrong and family; Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Hart and family; Mrs. C. C. Hart and family; Mr. and Mrs. Olen Hart; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Webb; Mr. and Mrs. Myron Fairchild, and Clyde Hart, of Lorraine.

Contract Bridge Builders

Miss Beatrice Logan entertained the Contract Bridge club with a Bowers bridge party Tuesday. An improvised bar was fixed up at one end of the living room, while among the bottles reposed a large keg with grape-juice on tap for refreshment of the guests.

The room was illuminated by candles in beer bottles, casting a soft "speak-easy" glow, while clever and appropriate notices and illustrations lined the wall. Sandwiches and steins of grape fruit juice frappe was served on the checked gingham covered tables at the refreshment hour.

High score with its award of a deck of cards was won by Mrs. Robt.

Scott, with a bridge score of 5125. The guests included Mrs. Frank Mackey, Miss Janice Wilks, Miss Laundry Smith and Miss Laura Louise Pearson.

Mrs. John Summers Entertains Wednesday morning Mrs. John Summers entertained a group of friends with a bridge party. The house was gay and beautiful with garden flowers. A first and second prize was given. High score, a pair of hose, went to Miss Laundry Smith, and second, a pretty vase, to Mrs. Tom Holmsley.

At the luncheon hour a salad plate with iced tea and other accompaniments, was served.

Birthday Party

Last Thursday was L. G. Mackey's birthday and his wife entertained 20 of the younger group that evening in his honor with a bridge party.

High score was made by Dr. and Mrs. Bridgford, who were rewarded with a beautiful fruit bowl. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dorn had the lowest score and received a glass of jelly. The honor guest was appropriately remembered by his friends.

A refreshment plate of ice cream and cake was served.

Mrs. Austin Bush Has Picture Show Party

Monday afternoon Mrs. Austin Bush entertained thirty-five of her friends with a picture show party. They saw Norma Shearer in "A Free Soul," then went to the Key-book, where fresh fruit sundae and cake was served. This was indeed a pleasant and different party.

Texas Club Meets in Long Beach

Mrs. Quinney, who has just returned from California, reports a Texas Club meeting held Wednesday, July 22, on the lawn of Mrs. Hammond, Alma Kate Phillips, at which every person was a former citizen of Colorado or Lorraine.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Phillips and Miss Jewell Phillips, Mrs. Smith (Thelma Phillips) and child, Mrs. Leigh (Addie Coughran) and daughter, Miss Maxine Avery, Mrs. Lindcott (Jessie Coughran) and two children, Mrs. Suiz (Etha Coughran) and child, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Andrew Cooksey, Mrs. Collins (Carrie Mae Cooksey) and child, Mrs. Ogle (Melba Cooksey) and two children, Mrs. Frazier (Winnie Spalding), Mrs. Smith (Annie Scott), Mrs. Earl Jackson and son, Armsted Spalding, Mrs. Quinney and Nina Katherine Quinney. This affair took the form of a luncheon and was a most enjoyed occasion, and the group asked that it be mentioned in their "home" paper.

Birthday Remembered

Wednesday was Mrs. W. W. Watson's seventy-first birthday and her son, J. W. Watson, surprised her with a birthday dinner at noon.

There was a lovely birthday cake with 71 candles. Fried chicken and all the accompaniments of a good dinner were served. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hale, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Griffin and son Jimmie of Goldsborough (Mrs. Griffin is Mrs. Watson's daughter; Mrs. Nail (a friend), M. L. Watson and the Jim Watson family.

The surprise for Mrs. Watson was a very pleasant one, indeed, and a very happy occasion for those privileged to attend.

Miss Earnest Entertains

Saturday afternoon Miss Martha Earnest entertained a group of friends, there being six tables of players who spent a most enjoyable afternoon. High score prize, a deck of cards, was won by Mrs. Dewey Tidwell.

At the refreshment hour a salad plate with iced tea was served.

Forty-Two Party

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Jeanette Porter entertained with three tables of forty-two, her friends enjoying very much the pleasant party.

Mrs. Vivian Shropshire made high score and was given a candy jar. A refreshment plate of ice cream and cake was served.

Mrs. Lamb Entertains for Niece Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Lige Lamb entertained twelve little people in honor of her niece, Dorothy Dillingham of Ardmore, Oklahoma.

The children played games. A circus parade on the dining table afforded an amusing contest in identifying the animals, the prize for this being won by Doris Flo Doss.

A circus refreshment course was served to Francis Rose Ratliff, Virginia Rose and Betty Whipkey, Sue Teas, Helen Snyder, Doris Flo Doss, Tommy Ratliff, Alfred Edgar Madden, Kirk Ervin, Jr., Ernest and Craig Porter, with balloons as favors.

Mrs. Lamb was assisted in entertaining by Miss Katherine Rose and Miss Elizabeth Scarborough of Midland.

Texas has passed an anti-twisting bill. This is a bill making it illegal for an insurance agent to get the insured person to cancel his present policy and take up another. Insurance policies increase in value, and the State believes it is criminal to persuade any person to cancel any policy to take up a cheaper one.

FEWER MARRIAGES AND DIVORCES FOR TEXAS

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 30.—The Bureau of Census announces that, according to the returns received, there were 45,158 marriages performed in Texas during the year 1930, as compared with 63,173 in 1929, representing a decrease of 18,015, or 28.5 per cent. This decrease is due in part to a change in the marriage laws, effective June 12, 1929, requiring three days' notice to be given before the issuance of a marriage license. In 1922, there were 61,730 marriages performed.

During the year 1930 there were 16,682 divorces granted in the State as compared with 18,383 in 1929, representing a decrease of 1,701 or 9.3 per cent. In 1922, there were 12,527 divorces granted. There were 110 marriages annulled in 1930, as compared with 167 in 1929.

The estimated population of the State of Texas on July 1, 1930, was 5,853,000, and on July 1, 1929, was 5,739,728. On the basis of these estimates, the number of marriages per 1,000 of the population was 7.7 in 1930, as against 11.0 in 1929; and the number of divorces per 1,000 of the population was 2.85 in 1930, as against 3.20 in 1929.

In Mitchell county there were 142 marriages in 1930, compared with 222 in 1929; there were 20 divorces in 1930, compared with 21 in 1929. There were no annulments in either 1930 or 1929.

Scurry county reports 64 marriages for 1930, compared with 101 during 1929. There were 11 divorces granted there in 1930, compared with 18 the year before.

Nolan county marriages fell off almost 50 per cent, there being 136 marriages in 1930, compared with 267 the previous year.

Howard county issued only 177 marriage licenses during 1930, compared with 340 for 1929.

Receipts of Texas Hotels More Than $33,000,000.00

Total receipts of hotels in Texas including those establishments having twenty-five guest rooms or more amounted to $33,177,000 during the year 1929, results of which were released last week. The hotel census was included in the census of distribution and was the first ever attempted by the United States Department of Commerce. The average number of full-time employees in Texas hotels in this class was 11,063 of which 6,074 were male and 4,989 were female. The total amount paid in salaries and wages was $7,594,000. The hotels reported a total of 47,373 guest rooms and a dining-room seating capacity of 19,483.

There were 590 hotels operating on the European plan, that is, making separate charges for rooms and meals. There were only 32 American plan hotels, while 51 hotels were operated on a mixed plan basis, giving the guest optional service. There were 240 hotels reporting more than 75 per cent of guests as transients, and 48 establishments reporting more than 75 per cent of the guests as permanent. The remaining 355 hotels reported ratio of transient to permanent guests as being between these extremes. There were 113 hotels owned by corporations, and 560 owned by individuals or partnerships.

The final figures on Texas hotels will be somewhat above those given above, since some hotels, largely small institutions, had not reported when the preliminary figures were compiled. Apartment houses, boarding houses, clubs, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.'s were not included in the census.

The history of asphalt, as a road material, is an interesting one. In recent years it has come into steadily increasing use—and most persons would be surprised to learn that the first asphalt roads were built some 2400 years ago in Babylon. The asphalt of that time was natural, taken out of the ground and used raw without any refining, while that of today is produced as a petroleum by-product as very little expense.

A dollar a barrel for crude oil by Saturday night or no more production in Oklahoma, was the ultimatum delivered to petroleum purchasers in that State Tuesday by Governor Bill Murray, more generally known as "Alfalfa Bill."

Counting on the strength of his National Guard, as he did in his celebrated tactics to open Red River free bridges, Murray said that unless oil reaches the price he has set, he will order all but "stripper" wells shut down this week-end.

"If necessary, we will use the military to enforce the order," he said. Thus Oklahoma's Governor answered the repeated plea of producers and royalty owners, who recently saw the market structure drop to the lowest level in history. In recent days, with voluntary shutdowns in force in the great Oklahoma City field and elsewhere, crude oil has climbed from a top price of 22 cents a barrel to 50 cents—the flat rate posted Monday by the Sinclair Co.

Observers saw tonight a possibility that Federal Court procedure may be sought to prevent the threatened executive order—the plan followed by toll bridge owners in the river controversy when the Governor blocked off their span.

"Economic waste," said Murray, results from sale of oil at present prices. He said $1 a barrel really wasn't enough, but "we'll simply shut them down and if their storage is depleted in six or eight months, and prices go to $2 a barrel, that's just a result we hope will be obtained."

With crude oil bringing little return, revenue for the State and schools—there are many school land leases—become negligible, the Governor declared.

"We can't let this go on—depleting our national resources and getting no taxes from them," he told newspaper men.

"We'll ruin our school lands and the State won't get any taxes and the school children won't benefit."

Mrs. Green DeLaney's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Morris of El Paso, were through Colorado last week and took Mrs. DeLaney with them on a trip to Dallas. While away Mrs. DeLaney visited the Woodman Circle home at Sherman. The party returned Saturday.

FEEDING METHODS ARE AS IMPORTANT AS THE FEED

COLLEGE STATION, July 28.—Feeding methods are just as important as proper feeds when it comes to profit from hogs, Fred Hale, chief, division of swine husbandry, Texas Agricultural Experiment station, told members of the livestock group at the Farmers' Short Course here Tuesday. When feeding hogs twice daily by hand, it will pay to grind kafir and milo maize before feeding to fattening hogs, but when these grains are fed in self-feeders, free choice, it is neither necessary nor profitable to grind them, Mr. Hale said. Gains are also as fast on whole kafir and whole milo when fed in self-feeders, free choice, as are the gains when these feeds are ground before feeding, he added. "Our experiments to date, although incomplete," he said, "indicate that wheat and barley may just as well be fed whole and that grinding these grains may not be necessary when they are fed in self-feeders, free choice."

The practice of throwing grain (whole kafir or milo) out on ground for the fattening hogs is exceedingly wasteful, the speaker said. Actual tests, he explained, show that 97 pounds more kafir was required to the 100 pounds of gain when the kafir was fed on the ground than in feeding the grain in self-feeders, free choice. The pigs fed in self-feeders also gained 40 per cent faster than did the pigs fed on the dirt floor, he added.

REVIVAL AT LANDERS REPORTED SUCCESSFUL

C. W. Cybert, pastor of Church of Christ at Merkel, closed a series of meetings at Landers Sunday night, which he had been conducting for the past week. Five additions to the church were reported, four being baptized and one reclaimed. A large crowd composed of a number of visitors from adjoining communities and Loraine, were present last Sunday. Dinner was served on the ground.

EDWARDS' GUESTS OF HONOR AT PICNIC MONDAY

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Edwards and Charles, of Thurber, former residents of Loraine, were guests of honor at a picnic and swimming party Monday afternoon on Champion creek.

Basket lunch was spread, with plenty of good eats to dispel the hungry pangs caused by an hour of swimming and merry maying. There were about 35 present.

LEAGUE AND B. Y. P. U. ENJOY JOINT SESSION

Sunday evening at 7:30, the Epworth League and B. Y. P. U. met together at the Methodist church. There were 71 present, and the B. Y. P. U. furnished an interesting and helpful program on "Faith of Abraham."

These young people's organizations will meet together again next Sunday evening and the Epworth League will have charge of the program. An effort will be made to have one hundred young people present. The League is very glad to have the B. Y. P. U. meet with them, and many compliments have been heard on the program and cordial relations existing between these fine young citizens. All the young people of town are cordially invited to attend our services. Come! You are needed. Remember, 7:30 p. m.

METHODIST CHURCH HAS GOOD ATTENDANCE

Our interest and attendance continues fine through the summer. Last Sunday we had 224 present for Sunday school.

The Epworth League is increasing in interest. A union service with the B. Y. P. U. last Sunday brought out 71 young people, and the Baptist organization gave a fine program. They meet together again next Sunday at 7:30 p. m. We are not having preaching services for a month on account of the revivals being held at our tabernacle, which many of our members are enjoying.

Sunday, August 9, we begin the revival for our church. We know the Lord will bless us if we are true to our duty. Come and help us in this great work. J. M. COCHRAN, Pastor.

"LAUGHING SINNERS" GIVES JOAN CRAWFORD BEST ROLE

Information is Joan Crawford has been given her greatest opportunity at a straight acting role in "Laughing Sinners," her newest M-G-M starring vehicle, which will head the bill at Palace Theatre Sunday and Monday, August 2-3.

The picture is a screen version of the Kenyon Nicholson play, "The Torch Song," one of New York's biggest dramatic hits of last season.

An imposing supporting cast includes Neil Hamilton, Clark Gable, Marjorie Rameau, Guy Kibbee, Cliff Edwards, Rascoe Karns, Gertrude Short, George Cooper, George F. Marion and Bert Woodruff.

Miss Crawford is seen as a cabaret singer who attempts to end her life when the traveling salesman whom she has loved wholeheartedly deserts her in order to marry his boss' daughter.

Members of a Salvation Army troupe come to her rescue and she attempts to start life anew in the charitable work of that organization.

LAND OWNERS COULD MAKE MONEY CHARGING PERMITS FOR ALL GAME HUNTERS

COLLEGE STATION, July 29.—Through the provisions of a law enacted in 1925, permitting land owners to make a charge for hunting privileges on their premises, farmers and ranchers of Texas are in a position to make game an auxiliary crop of considerable importance.

William J. Tucker, executive secretary of the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, pointed out in a talk on "Game as an Auxiliary Farm and Ranch Crop," at the Farmers' Short Course, Texas A. & M. College, Wednesday.

While charge for hunting privileges has been made prior to passage of the law of 1925, it was not until legal status was given the procedure that land-owners awakened to a true value of their game crop, speaker went on to say. Whereas game, he continued, is the property of the people in their sovereign capacity, a qualified right in such game is held by the land owner whose premises it occupies, and therefore the lawmakers reasoned that the land owner has the right of profit in the game resources of his land as long as he takes this profit from the privilege of hunting. There is, of course, Mr. Tucker pointed out, a vast difference in the sale of hunting privileges and sale of the game itself.

Sale of hunting privileges has been most extensive in Central West Texas, known as the "Hill Country," where an abundance of deer and turkey attract the hunter and prove a source of considerable revenue to the rancher. Game is regarded no longer as an accidental crop but as an auxiliary crop of considerable importance to increase the potential harvest, the speaker said.

VETERAN RAIL MEN DIE IN FORT WORTH

Two veteran Texas & Pacific railroad employees were buried Monday in Fort Worth by the railroad brotherhoods in which they held membership for many years.

G. S. Tinsley, 66, retired July 1 from active service as locomotive engineer for the road, died Sunday, as did John A. Ford, 61, retired T. & P. conductor.

Mr. Tinsley had long cherished the hope of returning to Pennsylvania, the State where he began railroad work, before he died, but an illness kept him from making the journey. He came to Texas in 1888 and started as a fireman on a run out of Longview on the newly established T. & P. He served as freight engineer for 17 years and as a passenger engineer for 22 years prior to his retirement.

GAME WARDEN RULING IS AGAINST RABBITS IN FARMER WARFARE

The jack rabbit lost additional prestige Wednesday afternoon when the State Game, Fish and Oyster Department issued a decree branding the long-eared predatory animal as a public enemy to the farmer and ruled that citizens in shooting them at night with the aid of a spotlight or from a moving motor car at any time, day or night, were not acting in violation of the law.

"The law prohibiting the use of spotlights in hunting, or from firing at game from a moving motor car applies to game animals and birds only, and certainly the jack rabbit is not entitled to be classed as a game animal," was statement of E. Barber, deputy warden, who was in Colorado Wednesday afternoon from his home at Spade.

Barber stated that several farmers and other citizens had recently discussed this matter with him. Since the pest responsible for much damage among crops every year is nothing more than a depredating enemy of the public, he is entitled to no protection under the law, the official explained.

This does not mean that any citizen will have the right to hunt other animals—or birds of any kind—by the above methods, Barber said. Those violating the law as to these will be prosecuted.

CREATING LAWLESSNESS

The Texas Legislature in its haste to pass a law curbing planting of cotton, should remember that human nature—one of whose fundamental characteristics is the urge toward freedom—cannot be changed by legislation.

Age-old customs cannot be erased overnight by a law. Here are truths that should be called to the attention of every lawmaker. An important reason for the prevalence of crime in America is that we have harassed the good citizen with a tremendous volume of hasty, unenforceable and ill-considered legislation. It will usually be found that law-abiding nations are those where the laws are designed to protect the rights of citizens, rather than to restrict them on the dubious theory that crime will thus be lessened.

Most cotton farmers would resent restrictive legislation and the State of Texas would have to maintain an army of men to enforce such a law. The cost of enforcement would no doubt come from a tax on the cotton, and the farmer feels that he is already taxed to death.

MANY MOTORISTS FAIL TO CHECK WIRING ON CAR

"While many motorists will keep a close eye on the condition of their spark plugs, they overlook the necessity for having the wiring of their cars checked from time to time until trouble arises," commented G. A. Cole, the local Exide Battery dealer. "Failure to start may be due entirely to a poor connection between the battery and the starting motor or even the ignition circuit. A poor connection may not necessarily mean a loose connection. It has been found by actual test that as much as 25 per cent or one quarter of the starting power of the battery can be lost because of dirt or corrosion between the battery post and the terminal of the cable, which connects it to the starting motor."

"Engineers in big power plants would not tolerate for one moment a poor connection for they know that the efficiency of the entire electrical system could be seriously reduced by an improper contact due to dirt, grease, or looseness. It is just as important to the car-owner as it is to the power plant to avoid such easily preventable trouble. An inspection by a competent battery man obviously is the sensible thing to do as forethought is far better than handthought."

MRS. J. EDMUND KIRBY IS HONOR STUDENT AT S. M. U.

DALLAS, July 28.—Mrs. J. E. Kirby holds the distinction of being one of the 342 students listed on the honor roll of Southern Methodist University, according to statement issued by Dr. Chas. C. Seecman, president.

Mrs. Kirby is a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences. "On the average, only one student out of six maintains grades that will place them on the honor roll," Dr. Seecman said. "I feel that your city, as well as S. M. U., is honored to have produced such a scholar and I wish to take this opportunity of congratulating your efficient preparatory school system as well as the splendid home training that she has received there."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deep appreciation to the many people who were so thoughtful of us in our recent sorrow. Your kindness toward us and the honor you paid to one dear to us could never be forgotten. J. K. MANHON and CHILDREN.

Goodnight Herd of Buffalo, Last Of "Plains Monarchs," To Be Slaughtered

WICHITA FALLS, Texas.—The last great herd of the "Monarchs of the Plains" is soon to disappear unless public sentiment causes intervention. The famous Goodnight herd of buffalo is to be sold and slaughtered.

The late Colonel and Mrs. Charles Goodnight established the Goodnight Ranch in 1876. At that time there were only a few buffalo roaming the great plains and through persuasion of Mrs. Goodnight her pioneering husband gathered the progenitors of the present herd.

For many years it has been the practice to slaughter the surplus members of the herd. The herd now numbers 186 old animals and the calf crop of the summer is between 16 and 20 head.

If present plans are carried out a big hunt will be staged over the 12,000 acres of grazing lands frequented by the Goodnight herd in November. Expert cowboys will act as guides to big game hunters to whom the buffalo will be sold and who will be permitted to have the meat, head and hide of the animals.

In addition, the cowboys familiar with the ways of the buffalo, will act as bodyguards to the hunters in the event their lives are endangered by wounded animals.

Many of the young animals are to be sold to zoos, parks and oldtime ranchmen. It is planned also to have a number of Indian braves of the Kiowa tribe attend the hunt.

One of the aged chiefs of the Kiowas will be permitted to kill one of the old bulls of the herd during the hunt.

The hunt will be in charge of Fred L. Haskett, newspaper editor of Childress, a close friend of the late Colonel Goodnight.

Science Fighting Grasshopper Hordes That Are Stripping Northwest Fields

HOOVER MORATORIUM MERELY STEP TOWARD CANCELLATION

As a member of the Texas division of our great American slavery I am hereby registering my protest to the support given by the press of Dallas to the recent Hoover moratorium proposal.

The action of our internationally minded chief executive is the most far-reaching gesture to date in behalf of ultimate cancellation of all war debts owed the United States. No silk-topped diplomats nor high-sounding presidential pronouncements can hide this fact.

If debt postponement is good for the economic sores of Europe it is good for the economic ills of Texas. I challenge the press of Dallas or any person of importance in financial circles within the State to go on record publicly endorsing the postponement for one year all personal or corporate debts of our merchants and citizens to local banks or to each other!

When the press of Dallas indorses the Hoover proposal to postpone payment, it must by the same token and in the interest of our hard-pressed citizens indorse this principle as it applies to local private and corporate debts. Its failure to do so will be an admission of its conspiracy, intentional or through ignorance, with the powerful banking interests of New York and the diplomatic puppets and internationalists of Washington, to compel the American people to pay the cost of the World War.

President Hoover has not shown his people wherein they will be remotely benefited by such a course. His course demonstrates now, as other acts have demonstrated in the past, that the man has no "human interest" in the welfare of American people and it is no wonder that his party has retained certain news writers of importance whose function it is to build up this "human interest" in our super-President. This is indeed a sorry spectacle!

Our loans to the allied powers constitute an honest debt. Those powers are under a solemn obligation to pay the United States every dollar we loaned them. Our people suffered a great burden as a result of the conflict. Only a few profited excessively. It is disgraceful that a chief executive should insult the intelligence of the mass mind of our national citizenry by insisting upon such a course. The millions he would postpone payment on belong to our people, who bought millions of dollars of Liberty bonds "until it hurt," and who gave their heroic sons in our senseless participation in that war.

If the economic stability of the world is to suffer for a season by reason of this obligation and its fulfillment by the allied powers, it should be made to suffer. Such is the price of war. If it be argued that we may lose more than the amount involved by the loss of foreign trade over a period of years, let us insist upon the inviolability of the principle that honest debts shall be paid in full.

If necessary, let the rank and file of the workmen and women of this State set aside a certain date for local meetings of protest. Let every community in Texas insist upon a hearing on this question.—Thomas Hudson McKee, in the Dallas News.

Judge and Mrs. C. H. Earnest returned Wednesday from Mineral Wells after spending a few days resting at one of the popular hotels at this Texas resort. Enroute home Judge and Mrs. Earnest spent a short visit in home of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Don Sivals at Cisco.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 28

—Science, apparently with its back to the wall, was fighting today to stem the tide of hordes of creeping, hopping and flying grasshoppers, which are playing havoc with the crops of Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, North and South Dakota.

At Des Moines, the Iowa capital, plans were being made for a meeting of entomologists and agricultural leaders to devise means of combatting the hordes of insects which have moved relentlessly across the Missouri river eastward. At the same time Iowa State officials sought an appropriation of $50,000 to fight the plague.

Meanwhile, militant farmers, armed with poison mixtures, returned to the fight. In some Minnesota counties the situation was so bad that other farm activities were suspended to leave the farmers free to war against the pests which have penetrated fields, pastures and orchards, leaving them virtually bare of green vegetation and harvestable crops.

More than 150,000 acres in Kittson and Marshall counties in northwest Minnesota have been nearly erased from the harvest picture. Polk county is estimated to have suffered a 50 per cent loss in grain crops. In a dozen adjacent counties the defense fight goes on with local infestations reported in more than half of the counties in the State. These include corn, potato, onions, as well as grain growing areas.

A. G. Ruggles, State entomologist, who is directing State efforts to assist the farmers, said that unless weather conditions shift from hot and dry, that destruction will continue for many weeks and extend into a far wider zone. Just now the weather conditions for the "hoppers" are ideal, he said.

Bran, molasses and poisons are combined to form the ammunition of the defense. All sorts of farm machines have been equipped hurriedly with improvised fittings to scatter the mixture in fields. Grasshoppers, tempted by the molasses, die within 24 hours after sampling the bran. Their fellows, who follow an instinct to feed upon the first unfortunates, reap their reward much quicker.

Millions are killed, Ruggles said, but millions arise to take their place advancing to the green fields ahead. Some areas regarded free of pests at sundown have been swarming with them the following noon.

Motorists in infested areas find it necessary to place clothes over radiators to prevent the hoppers from stopping air circulation.

"Where the grasshopper comes from on one knows," said A. B. Funk, Iowa industrial commissioner at Des Moines, who recalled the extensive damage done by a grasshopper invasion in 1874 to 1877.

"When they had done their work of depredation, they disappeared, no one knows where or why," he said.

Methodist Church Notes

Last Sunday we reorganized our Sunday school, which is the beginning of our efforts to standardize the school. There were 119 in attendance, a gain of 44 over the Sunday before. We now have a nursery with an enrollment of 12 for the first Sunday. Mrs. Fowler and Claire Patterson have charge of this. Mrs. Bill Hague is teacher of the beginners, Mrs. Leroy Gressett and Mrs. Van-Boston have charge of the Junior department, with Mrs. Gressett as superintendent. Mrs. Hohn is teacher of the Intermediate class and Mr. F. H. Patterson is teacher of the Senior class. Mr. Chambers and Mr. Boston each teach an adult class.

Mr. Cline and Mr. Boston made three more tables for our smaller children, which we are very proud of! We believe that with the reorganization of our Sunday school we can do much better work for our Master.

There were quite a number of our good Baptist people in our Sunday school and we cordially invite them to come again.

Rev. Whately preached at the 11 o'clock hour and all who heard him were lifted to higher ground. On account of the revival at Cuthbert we had no evening services.

The Epworth League has been reorganized and the young folks are doing some fine work. Some of the Baptist young folks were at League Sunday evening. They will receive a hearty welcome each time they come.

Last Tuesday evening the boys and girls of Mrs. Hohn's Sunday school class gathered at the church, and from there went to Ruddle Park in Colorado on a picnic, they being winners in a contest that the entire Sunday school took part in. The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hague, and Mr. Van Boston.

Mrs. Skelton led in prayer meeting last Wednesday evening. There was a large crowd and a fine service. We will study the 9th chapter of St. John at this week's service.

THE QUESTION MARK

"Well you see that I have brought Ross and Alfalfa Bill to an agreement and we now have that Oklahoma-Texas bridge row settled, at least for the present," said Allen Connell as he stood on a street corner Saturday afternoon and related how he had been hurriedly called to Austin by Governor Sterling to discuss with him some of the problems confronting the chief executive.

"Ross sent for me to come down to Austin to get him out of a jam," Connell continued, unbuttoning his belt another notch to allow expansion of his chest.

"When I arrived in the State capital Ross had me to come direct to the governor's mansion, where I was royally entertained. After talking business for an hour or so, he showed me about the town and we wound up with a little theatre party."

Connell stated that on this trip to Austin he mingled pleasure with business. Enroute home he and family spent a short visit with relatives in their former home at Gatesville.

Former Colorado Youth Spends Vacation Touring Interesting Places in Europe

By JOE EARNEST

Raymond Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Jones, is spending his summer vacation touring Europe. During the past few winters he has been in charge of music at North High school, Des Moines, Iowa, and for the past two summers has attended a handmasters' camp at Interlaken, Michigan. Four boys, all of them present or past students at Oklahoma University, are making the tour in a private car taken abroad with them. Meeting two of the Oklahoma students at St. Louis, Raymond then accompanied them in the car to Washington, where they visited several days. At New York City they were joined by Albert Culp, of Norman, Oklahoma, at present a student in Harvard Law school. Although they had only a day in New York City, they were able to see the lights of Broadway, visit Fifth Avenue and the Wall Street district, ascend to the top of the 102-story Empire State building, attend a show, and run about the city to get their passports visaed for the half dozen or more European countries they expect to visit. Inasmuch as their boat sailed at midnight, they were able to get an excellent view of New York City and the harbor.

The trip across the Atlantic was made on the S. S. Volendam of the Holland-American line, which caters especially to college crowds. During the nine days on the Atlantic, Raymond writes that there were the usual games of deck tennis, shuffleboard, and other amusements—and the usual amount of seasickness at the beginning of the trip. An especially interesting sight was the U. S. battleship Wyoming towing the Hubert Wilkins' submarine, "Nautilus." Although the boat stopped at Plymouth, England, and at Boulogne, France, the boys stayed on until it reached its home port of Rotterdam, Holland, where they landed June 22.

The travelers spent four days in Holland, and while there visited The Hague. Their itinerary next led them through Belgium and the former war zone section about the cathedral city of Amiens, north of Paris. On the northern coast of France they visited the resort of Trouville, and the famous tourist excursion place, Monte St. Michel. This is a solid granite island, topped by a cathedral and monastery of centuries ago, surrounded by houses, and formerly when the tide was in, the place was entirely cut off from land. Now it is joined to the mainland by a causeway.

After leaving the northern coast they toured through the Loire Valley and the well known chateau country, visiting Tours, and then reached the western coast of France after seeing Bordeaux, one of the great wine centers of France. Here they visited a wine cellar which contained wine made in 1849! Biarritz, the fashionable bathing place on the west coast, a short distance from Spain, was the travelers' next stop, after which they started for the Pyrenees mountains. Here they visited the famous shrine at Lourdes, where thousands of afflicted pilgrims gather each year in hope that they may be cured of sickness. Carcassonne, the walled city; Nimes, the old Roman city in which is located an excellently preserved Roman arena, and Avignon, another old walled city, once the home of popes, were the next places visited. After Monte Carlo, on the Mediterranean, they journeyed to Milan, Italy, where a comparatively lengthy stay was made with relatives of one of the boys. From Milan they drove to Switzerland, visited the Jungfrau, a peak of the Alps near Interlaken, and on the 13th of July they sent home postals of the ice and snow they were encountering. This was the last word received from the travelers. They have plans of returning to Milan, visiting Southern Italy, Austria, Czechoslovakia, and Germany. Inasmuch as they are traveling unescorted, they may change their itinerary at a moment's notice. Raymond will return early in September on the S. S. Statendam, and will go immediately to his work at Des Moines.

FUNERAL RITES FOR MRS. MAHON ARE ATTENDED BY OVER A THOUSAND PEOPLE

West Texans Pay Tribute To Lorraine Woman Who Died Last Week

More than one thousand people coming from several West Texas communities and some from without the State, assembled at the Methodist tabernacle, Lorraine, Thursday afternoon of last week to pay tribute to Mrs. J. K. Mahon, whose life had been taken in tragedy the day before when she took poison through mistake.

Funeral services were in charge of the Rev. J. M. Cochran, pastor of Lorraine Methodist church. He was assisted by the Rev. L. A. Webb, pastor of First Methodist church, Colorado; the Rev. Mr. Hardin, pastor of the Lorraine Baptist church, and the Rev. W. M. Elliott, pastor of First Presbyterian church, Colorado.

Pastor of the deceased paid high tribute to the life of Mrs. Mahon, describing her as a Christian who ever continued faithful in the line of duty and a mother whose first concern had always been centered about the welfare of her children.

Judge Fritz R. Smith, of the 32nd judicial district and members of the bar at Snyder, together with members of every bar in the district, attended the rites, out of respect to George Mahon, one of the sons and who is State's attorney for the district. Other close friends of the family in large number attended from Colorado and many other West Texas communities.

The floral offering was most beautiful, reflecting the esteem in which deceased was held by the people of this section.

POST AND GATTY USE GOODYEAR TIRES ON ROUND-WORLD FLIGHT

"Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, who completed their round-the-world flight in eight and a half days, were assured safe landings no matter what kind of airport they selected in their thirteen intermediate stops," declared Allen Connell, local Goodyear dealer, "because their red and white monoplane, Winnie Mae, was equipped with Goodyear Airwheels—those big, rubber pillow-like tires that are the last word in safety and comfort in happy landings and speedy takeoffs."

"In this field of tires for aircraft, as in other tire fields—of equipment for trucks and buses, Goodyear has done the pioneering," continued Mr. Connell. "For instance, we owe to Goodyear the ear-ly development of the straight-side tire, the pneumatic cord truck tire, and of course Supertwist Cord which is in the sturdy carcass of every Goodyear tire made."

"The Goodyear Airwheel permits the pilot of the plane to set down in a rough field cushioning otherwise unpleasant jars and jolts, not to mention possibility of damage to his craft. The Airwheel practically eliminates the danger of ground-looping and also enables him to take off from a muddy, sandy or soft field which would mire in a plane equipped with high-pressure tires," Allen Connell and Ralph Beal, of

COUNTY FEDERATION WILL DIRECT CONTEST TO NAME HER MAJESTY, THE QUEEN

Court Attendants Expected Wear Cotton Dresses At Social Functions

The Mitchell County Federation of Women's Clubs is to be sponsor of campaign being inaugurated to elect her majesty, the queen, young lady who will reign over the second annual Live-at-Home Fair at Colorado in October. Announcement that the federated clubs would handle this contest was made Wednesday afternoon from the chamber of commerce.

It is the desire of fair association officials that every community in the county place at least one young lady in nomination for this honor. No charge is to be made for nominations and each candidate will be given 5,000 votes free. After that the votes will be sold at a penny each.

The contest is to open Saturday, August 1, and will be closed on October 15. Judges will then canvass the ballots and young lady receiving the firm of Connell & Beal, report a very nice business being done on Goodyear tires and tubes and Texaco products.

the largest number of votes will be declared the queen.

Rules of the contest provide that all candidates must agree to wear cotton dress at both the coronation rites and the queen's ball. Her maids of honor and other court attendants, too, will be required to attire themselves in cotton material clothing.

Mrs. Jeff Dobbs, president of the County Federation, will personally supervise the contest. She expects to name special committees to work with her in popularizing the contest in different communities of the county.

Booths for reception of ballots are to be maintained in all drug stores of Colorado. In the meantime nominations and voting ballots may be filed at the chamber of commerce.

Oldest "Old Timer" Record Claimed By Judge R. H. Looney, Colorado Attorney

Judge R. H. Looney, dean of Colorado attorneys and bankers, claims to hold the record when it comes to actual "old timers" here, and has predicated the challenge to all comers to disprove that claim. "I do not believe there is anyone who can claim the continuous resident citizen record that is mine," Judge Looney declared Tuesday morning as he discussed with interested citizens the first annual Old-Timers reunion to open here August 21. "I came to Colorado in March, 1881, and have made my home here every day since that time."

Judge Looney stated that his first visit to what later became Colorado

March, 1882, just one year after Judge Looney came here, among other things says:

"When everything has been learned of Texas, the citizens of the East and North will be more than astonished at the progress exhibited by such a new country. In this brief article we cannot dwell upon the beauties of the landscape, the fine climate, soil and timber of the State generally, nor can we state the statistics in regard to the progress of towns, cities, and the astonishing progress of agriculture. Leaving this aside we will invite the reader to take a trip on the Texas and Pacific to Colorado, in Mitchell county, Texas, and we have him then in a country surrounded by railway lands belonging to the Texas & Pacific, which are sold at extremely low rates. This company has lands extending from Fort Worth to Colorado and on to the extreme frontier of Western Texas. The Colorado Courant, Jan. 1, 1882, speaks authoritatively of Mitchell county, and its words will be taken as true.

Mitchell county is situated in what is known as Northwestern Texas. It is 30 miles square, and contains about 900,000 acres. It is the last organized county going west on the Texas & Pacific railroad. The land in this county has been sectioned, one-half belongs to the railroad companies, the other half is school land, the title to this land is perfect. It is for sale at low prices, and on long credits.

Search for Collis Wells, 2-year-old son of Dock Wells, cook at the R-R ranch 20 miles west of Snyder, who wandered away from the ranchhouse at 9 o'clock Tuesday-morning, was joined this afternoon by Don Teel, flying instructor at the airport here, who hopped off at 1:40 p. m. in his American Eagle biplane for the scene. Nathan Reynolds, owner of the ranch, telephoned for the ship.

The child walked away from the house with two dogs. His parents traced him to Bull Creek, where tracks indicated he had taken a drink of water. Help was summoned and the searchers tracked the baby to a point seven miles from the house, where the trail was lost.

Early this afternoon approximately 250 men, on horses, in automobiles and afoot were taking part in the search.

In a short telephone conversation from the ranch house, the child's father between sobs thanked white folks for their help. He said his baby was two years old in February and that he just walked away with the two dogs, and that his mammy, suddenly missing him, received no response to her calls and spread the alarm.

Al G. Barnes, Builder of Gigantic Circus, Died Sunday at California Ranch Home

Al G. Barnes, remembered by hundreds of youngsters of other days here and throughout the country as the great American showman, died Sunday at Indio, California, where several months ago he had retired to quietness of a ranch to rest and recuperate.

Some weeks ago he suffered an attack of pneumonia and physicians despaired of his life but he gradually recovered until it was believed he had passed danger. A relapse made his condition precarious and after lingering for days a sinking spell occurred during the night and he failed to respond to treatment.

The famous showman was 69 years old.

Life brought to Al G. Barnes an unusual success as a master showman and then, in his most prosperous years, it led him to the courts in a series of domestic troubles that kept his name in sensational cases for nearly 16 years.

Although the public knew him as the owner of the Al G. Barnes circus for 35 years, he was christened at his birth in Lobo, Ont., Canada, Sept. 1, 1862. "Alpheus George Barnes Stonehouse." His early life was spent on a farm but the spirit of the showman lived in all his youthful play, leading him in the following years to circus life.

With Dollie Barlow, whom he later married and who figured with him in many bitter court battles, he started a humble wagon show in Glenwood Springs, Colo., in 1895. The show was a squeaky phonograph with a pony and a picture machine, now common to the penny galleries in metropolitan cities.

Success came to them from the outset. In 1900, they married and consolidated the wagon show and several small road acts to form the nucleus for the Al G. Barnes circus. This later became one of the largest shows and was sold by him in 1929 for $1,000,000. Its start was financed by the sale of a 120-acre farm for $2,700.

The fourteen years after the coming of the century were filled with hard work that built the circus from a straggling outfit to a show requiring 24 railroad cars for transportation. But success brought with it failure for their domestic life.

In 1914, Fred A. Barlow, brother of Mrs. Barnes, sued the showman for $100,000, alleging alienation of his wife's affections. Barlow lost the suit but it was followed by a divorce action by Mrs. Barnes, charging immoral relations. This was a far different show for Barnes and it began for him nearly 16 years as the central figure in many court-room scenes.

The divorce was denied but it was the forerunner of five similar suits filed at different periods by either the husband or wife, ending in 1921 at Las Vegas, Nev., where Barnes obtained a divorce on grounds of desertion. The next day he married Jane Hartigan, named by Mrs. Barnes as co-respondent.

This second marriage brought a renewal of domestic troubles. In 1923 Barnes obtained a divorce in Las Vegas again, claiming the second Mrs. Barnes had horsewhipped him. Six years of court action followed by her in an effort to set aside the decree, ending in 1929 as a Los Angeles court denied her contest.

With the ending of this suit, Barnes retired to a secluded life in Santa Monica, Calif.

Throughout his life in the circus, even in most trying days of court battles, Barnes was always in the midst of the race of performances under the big tent, a vigorous character who never rested while the show was on.

Reporters, as they sought to interview him on each new outburst of court actions, took their stories on the run as Barnes ran from tent to tent, shouting answers to their questions and bellowing directions to move the turbulent show life smoothly.

At its apex, his circus consisted of 1,000 persons and hundreds of animals, all transported in forty railroad cars. Among the animals were 100 dancing horses and Tusko, an elephant claimed to be the largest in the world, whose ferocity several times caused trouble. The show visited every city of size in the U. S. and went abroad on several occasions.

Barnes sold the property in 1929 to a syndicate which consolidated it with several other well known shows. Six months afterward, the Barnes circus was wrecked in Canada, four men killed and numerous persons and animals hurt.

Throughout his court battles with his first wife, Barnes laid her actions to a desire to control the circus. When they were finally divorced he was understood to have paid her $100,000 and this brought a suit by A. L. Sands, a stockholder, who claimed he had used circus money. It was settled out of court.

As a result of the numerous actions by his first wife, he was charged with perjury and violations of the Mann act. These complaints were later dropped when he married Miss Hartigan, who had provided the testimony which caused them.

Plane Aids Search For Missing Negro Baby Lost Tuesday

BIG SPRING, July 29.—More than 200 West Texas men left their work Wednesday and joined in a desperate effort to find a little negro pickaninny, lost on a ranch 30 hours.

Search for Collis Wells, 2-year-old son of Dock Wells, cook at the R-R ranch 20 miles west of Snyder, who wandered away from the ranchhouse at 9 o'clock Tuesday-morning, was joined this afternoon by Don Teel, flying instructor at the airport here, who hopped off at 1:40 p. m. in his American Eagle biplane for the scene. Nathan Reynolds, owner of the ranch, telephoned for the ship.

The child walked away from the house with two dogs. His parents traced him to Bull Creek, where tracks indicated he had taken a drink of water. Help was summoned and the searchers tracked the baby to a point seven miles from the house, where the trail was lost.

Early this afternoon approximately 250 men, on horses, in automobiles and afoot were taking part in the search.

In a short telephone conversation from the ranch house, the child's father between sobs thanked white folks for their help. He said his baby was two years old in February and that he just walked away with the two dogs, and that his mammy, suddenly missing him, received no response to her calls and spread the alarm.

SHEEP BRINGING IN MONEY FOR TEXAS

AUSTIN, Texas.—Sheep provided the biggest share of live stock shipments from Texas during the first six months of 1931, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Forwarding of all classes of livestock in Texas during June amounted to 34 per cent more than during June of last year.

"Large shipments occurred among all classes of livestock, with sheep increasing 92 per cent, cattle 37 per cent, calves 13 per cent, and hogs 13 per cent," the Bureau's report said.

"For the first six months of the year, however, total shipments were 8.5 per cent less than for the like period of 1930. During the first half of the year, hog shipments declined 48 per cent, cattle 16 per cent and calves 1.4 per cent. On the other hand, shipments of sheep amounted to 197 per cent more during the period than during corresponding six months of last year.

Compared with May, June shipments of sheep declined 66 per cent, cattle 37 per cent, calves 31 per cent, and hogs 6.4 per cent.

Shipments for June totaled 4,048 cars of all classes of live stock, compared to 3,031 cars in June, 1930.

LIVING ROOM CONTEST WINNERS ANNOUNCED

COLLEGE STATION, July 28.—Miss Bertha L. Page, of LaWard, Jackson county, and Mrs. C. F. Peete, Harleton, Harrison county, placed first in Classes 1 and 2, respectively, in the fourth State living room contest, held by the Extension Service in cooperation with the Semi-Weekly Farm News, Dallas, it was announced Tuesday at the home makers meeting at the farmers' short course at Texas A. & M. College.

Mrs. Bernice Claytor, extension home improvement specialist, presided at the meeting and presented DeWitt McMurray, editor of the farm paper, who made awards.

Winners of second, third and fourth places in both classes were also announced as follows: Class 1—Second, Mrs. Bob Adrain, Longview, Gregg county; third, Mrs. W. L. Landry, Grit, Mason county; 4th, Mrs. D. P. Hughes, of Whitesboro, Cooke county. Class 2—Second, Mrs. J. H. Adkins, Lamesa, Dawson county; third, Mrs. Vera Howard, Bonita, Montague county; fourth, Mrs. W. P. Toland, Georgetown, Williamson county.

Press Convention Program Announced From Lubbock, Host for August Meeting

LUBBOCK, Texas, July 30.—Program for the 5th annual West Texas Press Association convention to be held in Lubbock Friday and Saturday, August 14 and 15, includes a number of addresses and discussions of particular interest to West Texas newspaper men.

Registration will begin at 9 a. m. Friday morning, to be followed by the first business session beginning at ten. The address of welcome will be made by Mayor J. J. Clements, and "Dick" McCarty of Albany will make the response.

The president's report, the report of the secretary and preliminary announcements are on the morning program to be followed by a round table discussion on "Job Printing," led by Luther Watson, publisher of the Nolan County News.

The Lubbock chamber of commerce will give the newspaper men a luncheon at noon that day.

Gene Howe, known as "Old Tack" at Amarillo, editor and publisher of the Amarillo Globe News, will speak Friday afternoon on "Reader Interest and the Value of Promotional Features." A round table discussion on "National Advertising" will be led by E. B. Miller, advertising manager of the Plainview Evening Herald. Hickman Price of Kress, largest wheat farmer in Texas, will speak on the "Agricultural Trend in the West."

Following the afternoon session a short automobile tour will be made over the City of Lubbock with a brief visit at the Textile Engineering building at the Texas Technological College.

Friday evening the annual banquet with the usual fun and frolic will be held with the Lubbock chamber of commerce playing host.

The banquet will be followed by a dance.

Final business session will be held Saturday morning beginning at ten o'clock. "Local Advertising" will be discussed in a round table discussion, led by Ralph Shuffler of Odessa, A.

ABILENE AND SAN ANGELO TRY 50 YEARS TO BUILD LINE

SAN ANGELO, Texas.—The current year marks a half century of effort to build a railroad from Abilene to San Angelo. The effort now lies in the hands of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which has held hearings to determine the wisdom of granting an application for the construction of the extension of the Abilene and Southern Railroad from Ballinger to San Angelo.

The first attempt was made in 1881 just after the construction of the Texas and Pacific into West Texas. In 1885, however, the Texas and Pacific was in the hands of a receiver who said that if the road was built the citizens of the towns of San Angelo and Abilene would have to put up the money.

In March, 1886, there was current a rumor that a group of wealthy Dallas men were planning to build the road. Two men from Dallas came out to this section and collected sums for making a preliminary survey. The surveys were made, but that was all.

In June, 1890, Abilene's chamber of commerce determined to raise $100,000 as Abilene's contribution to the extension.

Then in October, 1890, a group of men determined to build a railroad, met in Abilene, formed a company and sold some stock. But big money failed to become interested and the scheme was abandoned and the plan again died.

San Angelo and Abilene today are hoping this latest attempt does not follow the ways of its predecessors.

SAYS FARMERS SHOULD RAISE THEIR OWN MEAT

COLLEGE TATION, Texas, July 27.—Just four pigs, dressing 170 pounds each, will give a farm family 680 pounds of bacon, ham, pork loin, spare ribs, sausage, and lard worth approximately $190, a total amount of food that it would require 4 1/2 bales of 8-cent cotton to buy, A. L. Ward, Dallas, educational director, National Cottongseed Products Association, told the livestock group at the Farmers' Short Course, A. & M. College, in speaking on "Opportunities of Hog Production."

Every farmer should produce meat enough for his home use at least, Mr. Ward said, adding that on most farms enough kitchen waste together with feed-lot waste to raise a litter of pigs will be found. If a farmer produces feedstuffs, he will, of necessity, have to market them in some form of livestock. Due to their high efficiency in converting feedstuffs into meat, and to the quick turnover that they offer—it being possible to reach the finished market in six to eight months—hogs offer one of the best means of marketing such feeds, the speaker said.

Development of the dairy industry will, in many cases, be the governing factor in the matter of number of hogs on any particular farm, Mr. Ward continued, pointing out that in those districts removed from the centers of population where cream is sold, pigs are in demand as means of using the skimmed milk and other dairy by-products.

Dr. Atticus Webb Frowns on Roosevelt As Being Too Wet for Standard Bearer

The Rev. Atticus Webb, president of the Texas Anti-Saloon League, Tuesday rejected the nomination of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt for President, claiming that the New York Governor is too wet to meet approval of Southern dries.

At the same time the Anti-Saloon League head outlined a strategy by extreme dries to aid the Republican nominee in the event the Democratic National convention chooses Roosevelt or any one else failing to meet the approval of Dr. Webb and his followers.

"I note that the wet Democrats are arranging to organize a Roosevelt-for-President club," said Dr. Webb, referring to the call issued on Monday by former Lieut. Gov. T. Whit Davidson, a dry Democrat. "I see they are going to endeavor to swing Texas behind Roosevelt for the nomination."

"Also I noted recently in the press that Governor Roosevelt has been O. K.'d by the wets as wet enough for any of them. His record sustains that O. K., so the dry Democrats will have to look elsewhere for a candidate."

"Some of the wet Democrats will denounce the dries for objecting to their candidate on the ground that he is too wet, so a clear statement should be made of the position that the dry Democrats are forced to take."

"If there was no fight being made to repeal the 13th Amendment or to defeat the enforcement of our dry laws, the dries would pay very little attention to the position of candidates on this question."

"But since the outlawed liquor traffic under leadership of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment is spending millions to secure the repeal of the law and in the meantime to defeat enforcement of the law; since they have proved powerful enough to place their vice president, John J. Raskob, a Republican, in charge of the Democratic party; and since he holds a mortgage on the party for money loaned, and has announced that America would repeal her prohibition laws in 1932; the writing of a wet plank or the nomination of a wet candidate is a direct challenge on the liquor question that forces the issue with the dries. They must either accept the gage of battle, or surrender. They will not surrender to the outlawed liquor traffic."

"So the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt must force the dry Democrats to a showdown. They must first be true to their convictions, otherwise they could not be good Democrats. The South must always be depended upon to furnish the bulk of the electoral vote to elect a Democrat. The South has its convictions on liquor question, which the whole country knows. To force a wet nominee or a wet-plank is a direct slap at the South and will be taken as such by the dries.

"The prohibition forces are asking for no dry plank in either party. They do not want prohibition to become a political issue between the parties. They ask only that each party be true and loyal to the Constitution of our Nation and to show that loyalty by a promise in their platform honestly to enforce the law and make good that promise by nominating a man whom the dries can have confidence that he, if elected, will carry out the promise.

"The dries can not have any confidence in any nominee sponsored by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment or by Tammany Hall or by the wet contingents of the party. If the Democrats want to win, they should respect the dry convictions of the Democratic party enough to nominate some one who is not sponsored by that bunch. This is the least they should ask of the dries."

SAND BELT GOLF LEAD IS HELD BY COLORADO AFTER TEXON'S LOSS AT LAMESA

Local Linksmen Spurt Ahead With Total of 214 Points For the Season

Colorado went into undisputed lead, well ahead of all competitors, in Sand Belt Golf Associational tournament when Texon, formerly tied with the Mitchell county outfit, suffered a decisive defeat at hands of Lamesa Sunday. Lamesa drubbed the West Texas oil camp golfers 27 to 17.

Heavy scoring by the Lamesa team served to place Colorado 13 points in lead over the Texon aggregation. Prior to the Lamesa-Texon bout, played Sunday afternoon, the locals and Texon were tied with 184 points each. During early stages of the tournament Texon was favored to easily push her way through to the district finals for championship pennant, but later winnings posted by Colorado discredited those early plans.

While Lamesa was routing Texon, Colorado gave Midland one of the most decisive defeats chalked up during the season's tourney. The locals took victory from the touted Midland county Bobby Jones to the ratio of 30 to 14. One of three of the eight Midland players won their matches. Colorado won every one of the low ball matches.

Standing of the member teams to date is as follows:

Colorado	214
Texon	201
Lamesa	135
Midland	171
Big Spring	148
Snyder	83

All County Units Must File Reports With County Clerk

Every division of the county government is required under the law to file statement with the county clerk showing an exhibit of all taxes collected and taxes reported delinquent, Benton Templeton, clerk, stated Monday.

The new law was enacted by the last legislature and according to Templeton effects every division of government in the county, including the city and all school districts.

Reports thus compiled by the county clerk are made to the State auditor at Austin. Templeton stated that the annual statement must be filed in Austin by September 15.

Blank forms to be used in making out the report and such information as may be desired may be obtained upon application at county clerk's office.

Sons Pay Tribute To Mother in Last Rites at Loraine

A tribute that did not fail to carry strong impressions to reflect the love and esteem held by them for their mother was paid the late Mrs. J. K. Mahon during funeral rites at Loraine Thursday afternoon when her five sons acted as pall bearers.

Silently and with broken hearts, the sons, every one of whom is that type of citizen in whom their mother had prided, lifted the casket from funeral carriage at the church for the services, replaced it after these rites were concluded and again removed the remains of their mother from the carriage at the graveside.

The sons are John B. Mahon, Marion Mahon, George Mahon, Elmer Mahon and Durwood Mahon.

Nothing Young But The Bees, Is Plan For Reunion Menu

There will be no aged oxen nor decrepit bulls supplying carcasses for the barbecue pits when ranch cooks of other days busy themselves with the task of preparing menu for the many old timers expected to attend Colorado's first annual homecoming here in August.

Animals to be barbecued, donated by Mitchell county cattlemen, are to be the very choice selections, the arrangements committee announced. "In announcing that this is to be strictly an old-timers' affair, we do not wish that our visitors get the idea that barbecue to be served will meet that qualification," Jim Greene chamber of commerce secretary, stated Monday. "Bees to be barbecued will be quite young and certainly enjoyed by the men who chased the Texas longhorn, forerunner of our modern pedigreed animals, over these Western Plains in years of the past."

Greene stated that it was probable the barbecue, to be given one day of the reunion, might be arranged at Ronderbrook Ranch, among the first cattle ranches to be established in this county.

PROPERTY VALUES IN CITY DOWN $670,651 UNDER 1930 TOTALS

Property values within the corporate limits of Colorado registered a precipitated fall-off to come down $670,651.00 below totals for a year ago. Total values as accepted for taxation for the current year were announced Monday night during a session of the council.

In 1930 property values in Colorado totaled $4,274,650. Today the aggregate is given as $3,604,999.

Mayor Hutchinson stated Tuesday morning that while no definite time had been fixed for setting tax rate for this year it was probable this matter would be given attention at meeting to be convened Monday, August 10. The present rate of $1.50 is the limit under the law and taxpayers may rest assured there is to be no hike there.

DUNN REVIVAE MAKING PROGRESS, IS REPORT

Good progress is being noted in revival campaign opened Sunday morning at the Dunn Methodist church. The Rev. R. T. Breedlove, pastor of the Paducah Methodist church, is doing the preaching. The Rev. Ray Lee, Methodist pastor at Blackwell, is in charge of the music.

"We anticipate a great revival and cordially invite our friends at Colorado and other communities to join with us in the services," the Rev. J. B. Farmer, pastor, said.

BUSINESS GOOD WITH THE TEXAS & PACIFIC

Business is good with the Texas & Pacific railway, said E. A. Pistole of Big Spring, superintendent of the Rio Grande division, in Colorado Saturday afternoon on a brief business visit.

The rail official was referring to freight tonnage. Passenger traffic over the lines is described as being unusually low.

LEAF WORMS ATTACK HOWARD CO. COTTON

Leaf worms are reported in a number of cotton fields in Howard county, reports the Big Spring Weekly News. "Farmers are going to be compelled to do some fighting before they can count on a cotton crop," the paper predicts.

"ENTIRE TRUCK LOAD" OF TROPHIES WON BY FUTURE FARMERS AT TEXAS MEET

Local Boys Take Winnings At Cisco Encampment Held Last Week

"We won an entire truck load of trophies at the Cisco Future Farmers encampment last week, and made that commendable record in competition with some of the strongest teams of the State," reported Doyle Williams, director of the vocational agriculture department in the local schools, upon return from annual encampment at Cisco.

Williams reported that members of his team won for first place in five divisions and "won so many second places that I lost count of the number."

"It is commendable that our boys won over such teams as those entered by Cisco in the water carnival events," Williams continued. "Those Cisco lads almost live in the 'Big Dam' lake, but we took them out for defeat in every contest."

Colorado won first in water polo, indoor baseball, 400-yard swimming relay, 20-foot fancy diving, and 50-yard swimming.

Among the trophies won by Colorado were 30 big watermelons, 30 hats, and other prizes offered by the host city.

"This is not the first time Colorado Future Farmers have carried off a commendable list of first awards at the annual encampment at Lake Cisco," Williams explained. "We were there last year and demonstrated to all comers that our boys were qualified to offer the strongest contender some real competition."

Williams stated that 23 Texas schools were represented. More than 150 youths were entered in the events.

Insect Attack On Grain Sorghums Is Believed Near End

Damage to maize and other grain sorghums that a few days ago promised to reach destructive proportions, is believed to be near an end now, reports received here during the week from farmers indicate. The small green bugs that have wrought such havoc in the crops are said to be disappearing.

Farmers were considerably alarmed when it was realized there was no means of control to check the insects. Owing to the fact they work in center of the grain heads they could not be reached with poison.

Working from interior of the grain head, the insects would destroy the maturing grains. Attack was usually made when the maize and other grains were beginning to fill out.

BLACKARD HARDWARE INTO NEW QUARTERS

The Blackard Hardware Company, located for the past few years at 157 East Second street, was moved this week into the Lasky Block on Oak street.

Building vacated by the company is owned by Dr. B. F. Dulaney, Colorado dental surgeon.

NEW LUNCH ROOM IS OPENED ON WALNUT

Mrs. Lou Ella East announces the opening of a lunch room and sandwich shop at 234 Walnut street, in building recently vacated by the Postal Telegraph Company.

The latter has moved its Colorado office to lobby of Hotel Colorado, where regular 24-hour service is to be offered the public.

NEWSPAPER OFFICIAL ON VISIT WITH REV. REID

R. H. Lloyd, assistant circulation manager of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, accompanied by his wife and daughter, was in Colorado Sunday to visit in home of Rev. and Mrs. Oren C. Reid. Lloyd is superintendent of the Riverside Baptist church, Fort Worth, of which Rev. Mr. Reid was pastor before coming to Colorado a few months ago.

COLORADO BUSINESS MAN FINDS IT HOT IN DALLAS

Ed Womack, Colorado business man, returned last week from a business trip to Dallas. The weather there was considerably hotter than in Colorado, he said, when someone remarked Friday morning that "It is certainly getting hot here about now."

BAPTIST SPEAKER

REV. SAM MORRIS
Rev. Mr. Morris will speak at Union Tabernacle Thursday evening and Friday morning and evening of next week.

Sam Morris Coming To Colorado For Series of Addresses

Rev. Sam Morris of Stamford will deliver three addresses in Colorado next week, according to announcement made here Friday. He is to speak at Union Tabernacle Thursday evening, Friday morning and again Friday evening.

Thursday evening Rev. Mr. Morris will speak from the subject, "The Bible, Its Production, Its Purpose, Its Aims, Its Permanence."

Friday morning his subject is to be, "The Jew, Blessed, Cursed, and To Be Blessed Again." Friday evening he will speak on the "Christian's Fond Anticipation."

Rev. Mr. Morris began his career as a minister in this county. He was ordained at Cuthbert in 1921 and later called to pastorate of the Baptist church at Spade. He served those two churches as pastor in 1921 and 1922.

Page Ralph Lee, owner and manager of the Colorado Laundry, a Colorado surgeon returned home Friday to declare that the display of attractive photographs about entrance of a laundry will serve to attract customers, whether they be in need of having the family wash attended to or are on another mission.

While in Houston last week attending a convention of the Christian church, Dr. C. L. Root, member of local delegation, noticed that entrance to a certain building was conspicuous with a display of photos. Impressed with this display of the photographer's art, he suggested to other members of his party that they have a group picture made.

"I know where there is a photo gallery," he remarked. "I noticed one around the corner a minute ago. What say, we go and have our pictures made?" The others agreed.

Entering the building a courteous employee approached and inquired whether they had bundles for the laundry or merely wished to be shown through the plant. They were in the middle of an uptown laundry.

Others accompanying Dr. Root were the Rev. George F. Reeves, R. P. Price and J. H. Carlock.

NEW PUBLIC SCHOOL LAWS BE EXPLAINED

New laws effecting the public schools of Texas are to be the subject for discussion at mass meeting called to convene here Thursday, August 6, when an official of State Department of Public Education will be in Colorado to confer with school trustees and other interested citizens.

The meeting will be convened at the court house at 10 o'clock a. m.

COLORADO BAPTISTS TO ATTEND MEETING

Several Colorado Baptists plan attending the annual encampment at Christoval, scheduled to open Friday, August 7. J. N. Barnette, associate secretary of Sunday School Administration, Nashville, Tenn., is to be the encampment speaker. The Rev. E. D. Dunlap is chairman of the program committee.

RESEARCH AT UNIVERSITY

AUSTIN, Texas.—Methods of research will be taught in the sociology department at the University of Texas for the first time in 1931-32. This course, designed to aid graduate students, will be conducted on the seminar plan. At present there are about 15 graduate students majoring in sociology, five or six of whom expect to secure the master's degree in August.

BETTER CITIZENSHIP WILL COME FROM PRINCIPLES OF LIONISM, THOMPSON SAYS

Delegates Make Report Friday Touching Recent Toronto Meeting

The more the world comes to know the tenets of Lionism, the better will be citizens of these countries that go to make up the republics of the earth, was the declaration of Charlie Thompson, president of the Colorado club, in address delivered Friday noon.

Thompson was making report of some of the observations that were his during visit to International convention in Toronto, Canada, a few days ago.

He described how that the programs, given in large convention hall in the Canadian city, were colored to blend more uniformly the already most friendly relations that exist among the peoples of different nations today.

"I have returned home inspired by the inspirations that found lodgment in my being at Toronto, to ask your support in making of this Lions Club the agency through which the children—of—Mitchell county—may come to know more about the traditions of their homeland and hold an even deeper regard for the ideals about which those traditions have been preserved," he said.

Jim Greene, the other delegate attending the International meeting, spoke in an interesting manner as he described some of the high-point attractions and experiences enjoyed enroute to the Canadian city.

Aboard the Texas Special train were 118 registered delegates, he said, and it was but the matter of a few hours after the train pulled out from Union Station, Dallas, until the Texas Lions had become united into one great family.

Greene spoke of entertainment features and side trips made by the delegation in St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit and other cities enroute.

Both of the men expressed sincere appreciation for having been permitted to attend the convention as delegates from the Colorado club.

Ex-Rangers Honor Daughter of Their First Commander

Members of the Texas Ex-Rangers association, in annual convention at Christoval last week, moved to honor Mrs. Ruby Green Smith of Odessa, daughter of their former chief, by electing her secretary for life.

Mrs. Smith had acted as secretary of the association since its inception several years ago. She worked untiringly with her father, the late Major Green, commander of the association, to build up every interest of the organization.

A. B. Coffee of Austin was elected head of the association, succeeding Major Green, who died at his Colorado residence last December.

J. M. NEW STATIONED AT PORT LAVACA

J. M. New, manager of the Colorado office, Texas Cooperative Cotton Association last season, writes that he has been stationed at Port Lavaca for this season.

Cotton has begun to move in that territory, New writes. He and Landon Dorn, the latter stationed at Ballinger last season, left Colorado last month to work in the Corpus Christi office of the Co-op.

CHINA GROVE BAPTIST CHURCH IN CAMPAIGN

China Grove Baptist church is sponsor of a special evangelistic campaign begun Friday night of last week. The church is centering its goal toward attainment of an old-fashioned pentecostal awakening, the pastor, Rev. A. A. Watson of Colorado, has stated.

Rev. W. A. Watson of Indianola, Okla., father of the pastor, is doing the preaching.

WATSON TAKES COUNT IN MELEE WITH CALF

W. W. Watson will vouch for the fact that a calf can render an effective knockout.

Watson, 77, is recovering from effects of an encounter with a calf Thursday of last week, when the infuriated animal charged him, knocking him down and fracturing a rib.

The calf was being led across a field when suddenly it lunged, snapping the rope by which it was being led and charged its owner.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Watson left Tuesday for their home in Alpine after a visit with Mrs. R. H. Brennan and Mrs. Henry Doss.

Mrs. Max Adams, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Tom Johnson, left Saturday for her home in Wynnewood, Okla.

GEORGE WASHINGTON Reminiscences of His Life and Heroic Exploits

STORY OF THE GREAT SEAL OF UNITED STATES

The almost unbelievable scope of George Washington's activities begins to stand out more sharply than ever on the approach of his 200th birthday anniversary in 1932. Quickens popular interest in the long and intensely active life he lived. We know that he designed the first flag for his army at the siege of Boston, and had a part in planning the Star-Spangled Banner. During the siege of Boston he instituted the first attempt at a United States Navy. West Point owes its being to him. Indeed he seems to have thought of everything, in his zeal to see the United States firmly established in security and independence.

Only one thing closely identified with our government appears to have escaped his attention, perhaps because at the time he was already away from the Continental Congress and engaged in fighting for independence on the battlefield. In any event, as the Division of Information and Publication of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission points out, the famous "great seal" of the United States was designed and executed without his participation. As the Division of Information says, perhaps this accounts for the curiously twisted and backward history of that indispensable adjunct of National sovereignty.

It is an historic fact, perhaps lost to sight, that hardly was the signing of the Declaration of Independence out of the way, than the Continental Congress, on July 4, 1776, appointed a committee to design an arms and seal for the United Colonies. In spite of the fact that this committee consisted of Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, and Thomas Jefferson, all men of judgment and distinguished taste, the design they submitted to Congress was discarded and the matter of a seal for the United States was dropped for four full years.

In 1780 Congress appointed another committee to reconsider the discarded design, only to discard it again. Finally, in 1782, a third committee was appointed to settle the matter of a seal, and William Barton, A. M., of Philadelphia and Lancaster, an expert in heraldry, was employed to draw up a new design. Charles Thomson, secretary of Congress, suggested a few improvements and from these Barton designed the "arms of the United States," adopted on July 20, 1782.

Such is the story of the "Great Seal of the United States," so called because a "lesser" seal was also authorized but never executed. Then, on the adoption of the Constitution and the establishment of the United States of America, the great seal was placed in the custody of the Secretary of State, and ever since has been under his guardianship. On application, Americans on sight-seeing visits to the National Capitol, may see this symbol of the mighty authority of their government, now among the exhibits in Department of State.

Three times in our history it has been necessary to replace the great seal, as the result of wear. The first replacement occurred in 1841, when Daniel Webster was the secretary of State. On this occasion the engraver was guilty of a curious blunder. In place of the thirteen arrows that belong in one of the eagle's talons, he engraved only six. In 1884 when again it was necessary to engrave a new seal, this error was corrected and the seal became a slight enlargement and sharpening of the original design of the Continental Congress. In 1903 the seal was again renewed, in close adherence to the original Barton design, the authorities having decided that any change would break the historic continuity of this emblem of our sovereignty.

SCOTLAND FOR A BEVERAGE

Whatever may be wrong or right in America, when the tourist arrives in Scotland, the home of the famous "Scotch" beverage, a new code of morals seems to be in order. To see the Scotch whisky business to advantage, the tourist should go to the old city of Loth, or to Edinburgh. Whisky distilling in Scotland is really a science of whisky blending, for the national beverage has attained its reputation chiefly by the successful blending together of several whiskies of different characters, so as to add to or take from the peculiar flavor of each and produce one harmonious whole. In Edinburgh and Leith they claim this has been raised to a science.

Americans who claim to know, say many bootleggers in this country call the stuff they sell "Scotch" because only a scientific brain could get some of the ingredients they put into the bottle to mix, and that most of it would kill even a Scotchman.

Log Rolling Convention Important Coming Event Here in July, 1907

Looming as the most important event in the near future for Colorado on July 26, 1907, was the West Texas Log Rolling Association which was to meet here on August 8th, according to the Colorado Record for July 20, 1907.

The Association took in nearly all of West Texas, and delegates were expected from more than 200 camps. There were to be plenty of amusements with "red lemonade and free ice water" on every corner. Those who were expected to be speakers on the program were Hon. Morris Sheppard, O. S. Lattimore, Senator J. W. Bailey, and Congressman W. R. Smith. There was probably to be a grand balloon ascension, with a free ride for anyone who would go up and make the parachute jump.

The Record carried a two-column story on the farm of T. J. Davis in the Lone Wolf Valley, which was being put on sale because all Mr. Davis' children (all girls) were then grown, and he, being the only "farm hand" on the place, was not physically able to work the place. The farm included 320 acres, offered for $30 per acre. Pictures of the berry field and orchard, in which stood men and women dressed in fashion of a quarter of a century ago, illustrated the story.

A survey of advertisements in the Record occasionally, successfully conjures up a mental picture of the business of Colorado of twenty-five years ago. Among the advertisements in this issue of The Record were: Colorado Drug Co., A. J. Payne, dry goods; Hubbards, dry goods; Burns & Bell, dry goods, groceries and hardware; Colorado Pressed Stone Co., J. E. Pond, manager; Colorado National Bank, with A. B. Robertson as president, F. M. Burns as vice president, H. E. Smoot cashier, W. J. Hatch assistant cashier, and Chas. Adams, C. A. O'Keefe and Gus Bertner as directors; Homan & Smith, physicians and surgeons; T. J. Ratliff, physician; A. F. Jones, physician; Dr. N. J. Phenix, physician; Dr. W. C. Neal, dentist; C. H. Earnest, attorney-at-law; A. J. Roe lumber yard; C. A. Arbuthnot, drug store; Colorado Cold Storage Market, H. D. Gilbert proprietor; W. J. Pritchett & Son, grain, hay, hides, coal, farming implements; Jas. L. Shepherd and J. F. Marrs, general land agents; J. W. Shepherd, groceries; McLane, Basden & Co., furniture; Western Windmill Co., Chas. G. Birdwell, groceries and hardware; W. H. Mosser, hardware, tinning and plumbing; Homer Hutchinson, furniture; Sale Stable, W. A. Coggin; A. S. Henry & Co., huggies; Palace Meat Market, C. L. Grable, Prop.; City National Bank, with J. L. Doss as president, F. E. McKenzie vice president, and J. E. Hooper as cashier; Samuel Gustine, saddles, harness, etc.; Colorado Steam Laundry, T. J. Newton, proprietor; Alamo Hotel, Mrs. J. R. Graves, proprietor; C. W. Crawford, tin and sheet metal work; Edwin Few Brown & Co., racket store; Frank Greene, livery stable; C. M. Adams, druggist; Colorado Mercantile Co., and other small ads, showing that Colorado was not such a small town at that time.

The Record contained the following local items:

"On Friday night the L. O. O. F. lodge, No. 280, installed officers for the ensuing term as follows: C. M. Sparks, N. G.; J. W. White, V. G.; Logan Spalding, warden; Geo. Dunn, O. G.; J. D. Shervin, conductor; Jas. Fulkerson, I. G.; W. M. Whittenton, R. S. to N. G.; W. C. Campbell, L. S. to N. G.; W. M. Cooper to R. S. S.; Hardy Henderson, L. S. S.; E. W. Pool, chaplain. The officers were installed by District Deputy Grand Master J. P. Majors.

"Mrs. Joe Stokes and children left last Saturday to spend the summer at Corpus Christi, and left Joe in care of Brooks Bell while she is away.

"Miss Claudia Rogers of El Paso is here this week on a visit to her sister, Mrs. J. W. Smith. Miss Rogers formerly lived here.

"Prof. F. W. Chatfield, who lives at Dallas, spent Sunday here visiting his daughter, Mrs. M. K. Jackson.

"Mrs. Cora Roden, whose home is at West, is here visiting Mrs. F. B. Whippley.

"Andrew Courtney of Dallas is the guest of Dr. Henthorn at Lo-taine.

"Miss Ada Leigh Martin of Shreveport La., is here visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Pickens.

"About one hundred Coloradans left on Tuesday morning for the Slaughter township opening. The Shyders came down and went out with the Crows.

"Mrs. C. A. Pearce is expected home about August 1.

"It is understood that some improvements will be made in the near future at the St. James Hotel, and it is safe to say that this does not come before it is needed.

"J. E. Pond returned home this week from St. Louis, where he went to look after sand and gravel hoisting machinery.

"C. M. Adams offered his resignation from the school board here last week, and J. P. Majors was elected to fill his place.

"Miss Jessie Smith and her friend Miss Annie Walling, left on Sunday night for a week's visit at Stamford.

"Will Steele, after a visit here with Walter Whippley, paid Snyder a visit to see his fair enamoria, and returned to his McLennan county home last Sunday night, he being vice president of a bank at West.

"Miss Cora Hamilton, who lives at Chickasha, Indian territory, is here on a visit this week to her friend, Miss Jennie Knott. Miss Hamilton is a niece of ex-Governor Hamilton, who was governor of Texas way back in the 60's.

"The big, round, full moon last Wednesday night resembled a big pie after some hungry person had bitten out about one-quarter of it. All this was caused by an eclipse, and no doubt foretells the coming of the end of the world. (The editor did not say what he had been drinking.)

"Mrs. F. E. McKenzie is reported sick this week.

"Mrs. Geo. M. McDaniel and Mrs. Wm. R. Harty of Georgetown, Texas, are here this week on a visit to their sister, Mrs. Burt Wulfjen.

"A fire alarm and two runaway teams on Wednesday kept the street corner denizens guessing some.

"Mrs. W. R. Warren left Thursday morning on a few days visit to Snyder.

"The young people have been very pleasantly entertained the past week. On Friday evening a party was given them at the beautiful home in South Colorado by Miss Elsie Hooper. On Friday night at the home of Ben S. VanTuyl, where the time was spent in music, dancing and games. And these moonlight nights select parties go out to Seven Wells and enjoy the evening. Most of these events are honoring Walter Whippley's guest, Will Steele, of West, Texas.

"Miss Mary Arnett returned this week from a visit to her sister at Caldwell.

"Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Roe spent the week in Fort Worth and Mineral Wells on a recreation trip.

"Dr. T. A. Martin, a prominent and successful physician of Grand Saline, paid this office a pleasant visit last Saturday, and informed us that he had decided to locate at Lo-raine. Dr. Martin is a high-toned gentleman, and a splendid physician. Ben Van Tuyl got up a fishing crowd this week down on Silver Creek in Coke county, and J. E. Hooper went along to chaperone the crowd."

EL PASO-CAVERN ROAD SURFACING IS FINISHED

The $1,000,000 road improvement program on the Carlsbad Cavern highway leading east from El Paso to vicinity of Guadalupe Peak, was completed last week, assuring local motorists that they may easily visit the Cavern enroute to the border city.

South of the Cavern the new highway connects with highway heading north from Van Horn.

LONE STAR

GAS SYSTEM

Even during summer months, when the domestic consumer requires very little fuel, Lone Star Gas Company is maintaining its facilities to combat weather hazards of the bleak months of winter.

LONE STAR GAS COMPANY

Supplying Gas Wholesale to

Community Natural Gas Company

WHILE shopping for some household supply, you have often been advised, "Sorry, Madam, but we won't have any 'til next week." Perhaps you thought little about this incident, but there are many reasons why you were not supplied the article you wanted—when you wanted it. Someone may have forgotten to replenish the supply; or neglected to provide enough to meet the demand; or inadequate transportation facilities delayed the delivery. Any one of these reasons may have caused you inconvenience.

Imagine your gas company telling you in the middle of a "blue norther"—"Sorry, Madam, but we won't have any gas until next week." Sounds absurd, doesn't it? Yet there are definite reasons why LONE STAR SERVICE is uninterrupted. It is there when and as you want it, because a quarter of a century has been spent in building a faithful gas service . . . the lowest priced dependable fuel service obtainable.

"TWICE

Hyman Happenings

John W. Cram of the Continental Oil Co. motored up to Hyman last Monday to see Mr. Hyman.

Rev. A. D. Leach closed the Baptist revival which he had been holding for a week, on last Friday night. Good crowds attended and some fine services were held. The meeting has been an uplift to the community. Special music was had by Miss Mary Dalton of San Antonio at the piano, and John P. Scott of Shreveport, La., on the violin, both of whom played for the entire meeting. Mrs. Hyman furnished flowers for the pulpit.

John Lane of Sterling was in Hyman last Saturday on a business trip to see Mr. Hyman.

Mrs. A. J. Roach with her daughter, Miss Marjorie, and young son, A. J., left last week to visit her parents Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Espy of Eldorado. Later she went to Christoval Springs to place Miss Marjorie under medical care, she having recently been quite ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyman went into Colorado early last Saturday on a business trip. Later in the day Mrs. Heusinger and her son, and Miss Mary Dalton motored in to do some shopping and take in a movie.

Last Saturday morning John Smallwood and wife, their six children with their wives and four grand children, rolled in from Ira, Texas—three car loads—to spend the day and night with I. Smallwood and family, bringing with them big hampers loaded with good things to eat. They all returned Sunday afternoon after a happy visit here.

Otis Chalk of the Chalk community came over last Sunday to visit in the home of his sister, Mrs. Hyman. He returned that afternoon, taking with him his niece, Miss Mary Dalton, who will spend several days visiting before coming back to Hyman. She is very popular with the young people here, and they hope she will return soon.

Harry Hyman and Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Black returned last Thursday from Annarose of Kentuck Ranch of South Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Black have bought a farm there and will later move. Hyman regrets to lose this young couple, but wish them good luck in their new home.

SEVEN WELLS NEWS NOTES

R. P. ADAMS, Reporter
The weather never gets too warm for entertaining, particularly in the inspiration for the entertainment is the celebration of a birthday.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Otis Homer honored Mrs. Smith, mother of Mrs. Homer, with a birthday dinner in their home. There were some 25 friends present to enjoy the dinner, and the fine hospitality of the home. Each guest reported a delightful time and all enjoyed the celebration of Mrs. Smith's birthday.

If any information is needed on just how to change casings on fix flat tires, just ask Messrs Houston, Buddy and Billie Lenzy, and Homer and Johnnie Tiller and Fred Smith, Clyde Buckalew, then Misses Pearl Venus, Ina Mae Lenzy, Loraine Grissam, Fannie and Cecil Brown and Ruth Smith could perhaps give instructions. Anyway these fine young people could say that so much car trouble is quite a contrast to a good birthday dinner they had just enjoyed, or perhaps they could say it almost spoiled a good sermon that was in store for them. However, they enjoyed the good sermon Bro. Morris brought to us at Seven Wells last Sunday afternoon.

The Rev. R. F. Bryan, who with Mrs. Bryan is visiting their daughter, Mrs. T. Dossey and Mr. Dossey, had a very serious case of heart trouble last Tuesday. Mrs. Dossey just entered the room in time to revive him. Mr. Bryan also mashed one of his fingers very badly while working on his car.

P. C. Hale and Miss Beckie had as their guest over the week-end Mr. Henry Hale of Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Lanier Bassham visited Rev. and Mrs. Morris' parents of Mrs. Bassham, Sunday and Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Venus have as their guest Mrs. Smith, who is spending several days of this week with them.

The Rev. Clarence Dossey, Mrs. Dossey and boys spent the week-end with Mr. Dossey's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Tiller and daughter little Miss Irene, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Adams and boys.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Dossey and son, T. Jr., is planning a visit with relatives in East Texas.

The Misses Holbert are visiting in Alpine this week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Click visited with Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Elliott last Sunday afternoon.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Williams received a very badly mashed finger while playing with a churn one day last week.

Douglas Buckalew spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Buckalew, and grandmother, Mrs. Williams.

Mrs. Brown spent Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Elliott.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer announce the arrival of a new daughter at their home.

Mrs. Kelley is recovering from an attack of acute indigestion.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Venus, Mrs. Arthur Smith, Mrs. Florence Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Black, Miss Tiller and Homer Tiller are a group from our community attending the revival meeting at Loraine.

Mrs. Florence Morgan and daughter, Miss Florence Juanita, of Oklahoma City, are visiting her mother, Grandma S. E. Venus.

Mrs. Tiller and sons, Messrs. Homer and Johnnie Tiller, and little Miss Irene, and Mr. Lenzy, Mrs. Durham, and Houston, Buddy and Billie Lenzy and Miss Ina Mae Lenzy visited E. R. Venus and family Tuesday evening and enjoyed singing sacred songs.

At our regular Friday evening services Bro. Bryan will deliver a special message of interest.

Remember our Bible school at 3 p. m. Sunday, after which Rev. L. A. Webb, pastor of the Methodist church at Colorado, will preach for us. Everyone invited.

Marvin Wallace of Midland is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lanier Bassham.

We are glad to announce that Wesley Hayes is greatly improved after a few days of illness.

New Hope Tidings

By FLORENCE FIELDS
New Hope people are now surely enough in good hope and spirits.

The Methodist meeting is still in progress. There have been five conversions so far, and five additions to the church. Bro. Kelley has the pastor from Coahoma here doing the preaching, and he is good.

Miss Marie Ellette and Mrs. Ida Gregory are visiting in Lubbock.

Mrs. Eva Garrett and family spent a few days with her mother here this week.

Rev. J. F. Fields closed his meeting at Pleasant Hill last Sunday night. He reported a good revival. There were 18 conversions and 29 additions to the church. He came home Monday night, then Tuesday went back on his work to be gone two weeks.

Jefferson.—Harvest of pea crop, which may bring above $30,000, will begin soon in this county.

Wolfe City.—K. B. Milling Company may rebuild mill and elevator destroyed recently by fire.

LONE STAR TWINKLINGS

By MISS ETTA LEE MARTIN
Sunday school and singing were well attended Sunday morning and afternoon. Several visitors were present from Loraine and South Champion and other communities.

There was singing at the church last Wednesday night, and Rev. Mr. Howell of Roscoe was appointed to hold the revival which will begin the second Sunday in August, and on each Friday night the singing class will meet at the church to practice singing for the contest to be held at the Community Fair at Loraine in October. This class won the song books last year and hope to win them again this year.

Several people of this community have been attending the revival at Loraine.

China Grove baseball team met the Lone Star nine on the Lone Star diamond Monday afternoon, and won a victory of 2 to 1. The game was real interesting. Several visitors were present from other communities.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Prescott entertained the young people with a party Saturday night. Everyone reported a nice time.

Mrs. Mae Martin returned Sunday from a two-weeks' visit with relatives at Tyler and Stamford. Ethel Martin remained at Stamford with her sister, Mrs. W. C. Bullard.

Opal Nix spent Saturday night with Buster Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Black and Mr. and Mrs. H. Preston spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harris.

A forty-two party was enjoyed by the people of this community at Mr. and Mrs. James Bennett's last Monday night.

Etta Lee Martin spent Sunday night with her aunt, Mrs. Mae Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Lane McCollum spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clint McCollum.

Mrs. Clifton Hodges spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Long.

Oleta Swafford spent Saturday night with Alva Hall.

Mrs. C. W. Groom was carried back to the hospital at Abilene last week, where she underwent another serious operation. We are hoping Mrs. Grooms will soon recover, as she has been confined to the bed since the first of May.

Berry Davis and Miss Mollie Davis spent Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bennett.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Bennett of Baird spent a few days visiting Mr. and Mrs. Moody Richardson.

Spade Spuddings

Sunday was regular preaching day here for Bro. Kelly, but as he could not be here, he sent another preacher. There were quite a number in attendance.

The Baptist revival meeting will begin the first Sunday in August, which will be next Sunday. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Falkner and Mrs. Woodruff and children spent the week-end with their son and brother, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Falkner and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Laura Brown spent Sunday with Laura's mother, Mrs. A. P. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Bolin and family and Velma Barber were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Thompson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hargrove and C. E. Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hargrove and Doris Nell, Mildred Falkner, Ennis Rogers, Charles Oliver and Mr. and Mrs. C. O. White were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Palmer and family.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Palmer and children, Willie Grace and O. C., will leave Friday for Brownwood, where they will spend a number of days visiting relatives. Mr. Palmer's mother will come back with them.

There will be prayer meeting at the Methodist church every Wednesday night. Everyone is invited to come and help make this an interesting prayer meeting.

RESTFUL HOLLAND

The few Americans who went abroad this summer are especially loud in their praise of Holland. Other lands have their ancient palaces, lakes, rivers and mountains to offer, but Holland lies largely below level of the sea and was rescued from its ancient and powerful enemy by its sturdy and heroic sons through the construction of great dikes. The green fields or polders are surrounded by canals, the picturesque windmills, the numberless spotted cattle peacefully grazing beneath their curious blankets, the farmer still wearing his wooden shoes rowing or pushing his boat through and around his fields, gladden the eye and rest the nerves of tourists who have become weary of the rush to "see things" in other lands.

YOUTH CADDIES FOR TEACHER

DALHART, Texas.—Here's the best story of the year so far in Dalhart: "My son wasn't at Sunday school this morning," said a woman to a friend. "I have been perplexed about it and wondering what to tell his teacher. Then my problem was solved. I found he was on the golf links caddying for the teacher."

UNCLE FRED The Big Boss

While in New York I went down to the Riverside Drive, Harry Emerson Fosdick's Baptist Modernistic church to hear a sermon (lecture) by the noted Rev. Dr. Harold C. Phillips of Cleveland. Having a slight connection with the New York Times, the lecture was stenographically reported and published in The Times, and here is what he said:

The Rev. Dr. Harold C. Phillips of Cleveland, speaking in Harry Emerson Fosdick's New York City church, declared the present age to be "morally spineless." We are, he says, "strong on the origins and weak on the destinies of things."

The doctor is right on the latter point. Uncertainty about the future is one of penalties which we have paid or getting enlightened. A century or two ago we were very certain about both origins and destinies. The physical universe, the earth, and all forms of life thereon, had been created some 4,000 years before Christ. Our primitive parents lived for a while in Paradise, then were expelled. Cain and Abel started the agricultural and pastoral industries, and Tubal-Cain invented metal-making. At the Tower of Babel man acquired the power of speaking in different tongues and the various languages of the world arose. The sons of Noah founded the existing races of mankind.

The destiny of the race was almost as exact in the mental picture of older days. At no very distant date—perhaps 4,000 A. D.—witnesses of the end, Enoch and Elijah, would appear. These would be slain by the anti-Christ. Whereupon, the devil would be cast into hell and chained for a thousand years. At the end of this millennium the devil would be loosed and would gather all the powers of evil to do battle against the hosts of good. In this great final conflict—Armageddon—the devil and the wicked ones would be worsted.

Then would come the awful day of judgment, the wicked would be cast into hell and the saved would pass on to eternal bliss. The old earth and heavens would give way before the New Jerusalem in all its matchless splendor and permanence. This old picture of the drama of man crumbled with the rise of modern science—Astronomy, geology, biology, anthropology and biblical criticism wiped away the old views of special creation and biblical legends. Biblical scholarship and cultural history indicated the way in which early and unlettered people had evolved the traditional notions of the soul, immortality, heaven and hell. These sifted down through India and Persia to the later Jews and to the Christians. Likewise, modern physiological chemistry and psychology have undermined the old belief in the soul and a literal immortality.

The results of modern scholarship have admittedly taught us more about origins than about destinies. The evolution of life has been explained. We know that man appeared 1,000,000 or more years ago and gradually built up his culture thru the long stone ages to the conquest of metal and civilization. Scientific historical writing has given us a very reliable account of man's dramatic experiences since the beginning of civilization. There is no longer any reason why any ambitious man cannot inform himself as to "how we got this way."

It must be admitted, however, that we are by no means as clear about "where we go from here." We may rejoice that we no longer have to face the prospect of the old heaven and hell. But just where and how the race will end up, no one can say with any certainty whatever. We know that at some enormously distant date the sun will have so cooled that the earth can no longer support life.

Such an ultimate presents little practical interest, however. We would like to know how the race will be faring in, say 2,000 A. D.—just a little way in the future. But even here we gaze as in a glass darkly. History can furnish us with little talent for prophecy. The past was so different from our complex scientific, industrial and urban civilization that it furnishes no valid comparisons or lessons. What can a Phoenician galley tell us about the Bremen; the Tower of Babel, about the Empire State building; ancient Rome, with its annual income of $25,000,000; about New York with its annual budget of $650,000,000; Solomon about the Wickersham commission?

There is just one consolation—a very important one. History can free us from the paralyzing influence in the dead hand, as Herbert Spencer used to call the customs and superstitions of the past. We can boldly plan our own future. The sciences of life, man and society now enable us, if we will, to build a human Utopia on this earth. Where we go from here need no longer be a myth or a legend. It is a challenge to human imagination and to social engineering. And it cannot be long ignored. If we drift without

THE APPEAL TO HISTORY

(From Rocky Mountain News of Denver, Colorado.)

Is our present economic depression a temporary knockout from which we shall stagger to our feet quickly, or is it a paralysis from which we shall suffer for years? Does it resemble the crisis of 1921 or that which followed 1873? This is a crucial question.

W. J. Eiteman in The New Republic presents five basic points of resemblance between the present and 1873: 1: A major war (1861-64, and 1914-18). 2: A trade depression resulting from readjustment of industry to peacetime demands (1865, 1921).

3: A period of industrial boom characterized by expansion, inventions, optimism, speculation and talk of "new eras" (1867-73, 1923-29). 4: A stock market crash believed in each period to be a technical reaction (September, 1873; October, 1929).

5: A long period of depression (1873-77, 1929-?). In both periods, the great crash was followed by hope, optimism, assurance of the short duration of the depression, minor ups and downs in stock prices and business activity, and utter incapacity of those in authority to lay out decisive plans to cope with the large issues involved. The country slowly muddled through to a gradual return of prosperity after 1877, following colossal and in part unnecessary losses and suffering.

President Hoover now assures us that the American people must be left free to find their way back to better days without aid of social and economic blue prints from the White House. Analogies are always interesting, and this one is not only interesting but of immense practical significance to Americans. We cannot be sure that the years following 1929 need resemble to any marked degree those after 1873, but we may be certain that they are likely to do so just in the degree that we avoid responsible planning for relief and go on drifting as they did back in Grant's day. This is the great historic lesson that 1873-1877 has to teach us and the true nature of any historic parallel which may exist. There was no reason why things should have gone to pieces as badly as they did after 1873. Political rhetoric and industrial and financial bluff and futility then were allowed to take the place of a realistic effort to get at the root of the trouble and apply remedies. The greatest appeal today is not to history but to human imagination.

constructive social engineering. The chief lesson of history with reference not only to 1873 but to all periods is that incompetence, blindness, evasion and inadequacy have invariably been fatal in every human emergency.

There is less excuse for us in 1931. Back in 1873 there was little experience with capitalistic industry and finance to draw upon for guidance. It was a new toy. Today we have more than half a century of the most varied and cogent experience to make use of.

SILVER IN INDUSTRY

Despite the fact that Mexico is trying to force a silver standard for that country, there is little demand for the metal, even for coinage purposes. The future of silver, according to Charles White, Merrill of the Bureau of Mines, will depend on industry. He points out that silver, except for photography, has found no important industrial use in recent times, and the photographic industry does not take five per cent of the available silver supply.

The United States is the leading consumer of silver for arts and industries, using about 42,000,000 ounces a year. Use of silver in other countries is small, and three-fourths of the current supply goes for coinage. If the metal is to be brought back to its former standing, it must find new markets and new uses.

Effort is now being given to studying fields in which silver might profitably be used. The world, generally, has gone to the gold standard of money, and the next logical development is to make silver, like copper and lead, an important industrial metal.

Dispatches Tuesday told of fluctuations in prices of exchange at all Texas-Mexican border points following the Mexican decree making that metal the government standard, but financial experts express belief this will not cause it to rise in value to any great extent. Paper money has taken the place of silver dollars, and all countries recognize gold as the standard of security for the paper money issued. It seems that silver is like the negro's syrup when a big steaming 'possum was set on the table in front of him: "Go way, 'lasses, you don't lost yo' taste." Silver has "don't lost its taste" beside gold.

WORK FOR PUBLIC SAFETY

The State papers carry on their front pages each day reports of motor car accidents which is, without doubt, the greatest known since the invention of the automobile. Many of these accidents are, of course, due to carelessness, wild driving and a desire to beat the train over the crossing, but a great percentage of them are caused from improper inspection of brakes and other mechanism of the car.

A good driver always keeps his car under control, but good drivers often fail to inspect the steering apparatus of their autos, and sometimes run without efficient braking power.

Only organized effort can make progress against the increasing danger of our highways. The incompetent and the reckless have become genuine menaces to the lives and property of all. The sad toll of injuries and deaths the past few weeks mounts day by day, in spite of modernization of traffic laws in many States. Texas needs to take drastic steps to prevent such waste of human lives—many of these should be classed as cold-blooded murder. Automobiles cost more lives than wars. At a time when all the enlightened nations of the world are working for peace, it might likewise be well for them to concentrate on peacetime public safety.

TRAVEL LETTERS "UNCLE FRED" "THE BIG BOSS" And Whose Legal Title Is F. B. WHIPKEY

My last letter left us at Mt. Sterling, Ky., county seat of McGoffin county. This is the birthplace of "Aunt Rose." Her maiden name was Salyer. Her father was sheriff or some kind of officer here for a number of years. We drove out to the old Salyer home, six miles from Mt. Sterling, but could only find two persons here of that name—Claude Salyer (postmaster) and Edwin Salyer (in the grocery business). These were of the younger set and knew nothing of the older ones. The older folks wagon trained to Texas in the late '70s, "Aunt Rose" being only about 70 years old.

From Mt. Sterling we continued on west, spending several days in old Kentucky, visiting in Lexington, Frankfort, Covington, Bardonia, Owensboro and Louisville. Five miles east of Louisville we visited President Zachary Taylor's tomb. At the Taylor home his daughter married Jefferson Davis who became president of the Confederacy. Zachary Taylor is buried here. At Hodgenville we visited Lincoln's birthplace.

On the Lincoln Farm, in a handsome Memorial building, is the original one-room log cabin where Lincoln was born. Lincoln wrote of his birthplace and early homes as follows:

"I was born February 12, 1809. My mother, who died in my tenth year, was of a family of the name of Hanks. My father, at the death of his father, was but six years old, and he grew up, literally, without education. It was a wild region, with many bears and other wild animals. There were some schools, so called. There was absolutely nothing to excite ambition for education. Of course, when I came of age, I did not know much. Still, somehow, I could read, write and cipher to the rule of three, but that was all. The little advance I now have upon this store of education I have picked up from time to time, under the pressure of necessity."

Here is also located the famous Lincoln Spring. A short distance from the Lincoln farm is Fairview, Ky., where Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy, was born. Just outside Bardonia is where Stephen Collins Foster wrote his immortal song, "My Old Kentucky Home." Here is a wonderful old Southern home, with its original furniture and many relics of early days in it.

The Mammoth Cave, 10 1/2 miles west of Cave City, has never been fully explored, but the known portions cover about 150 miles. Enormous vaulted chambers and domes, its underground Echo River where sound is magnified a hundred times, its bottomless pits and rocky crevices, all combine to make a never-to-be-forgotten trip.

At Louisville, Ky., we visited and inspected the great Louisville Courier-Journal office, at whose head the famous Henry Watterson presided so long. For more than a century the Courier-Journal has been Kentucky's leading paper and has a most wonderful plant, from which it is issued.

Louisville, "The Gateway of the South," and host yearly to tens of thousands of tourists visiting the numerous points of interest in the vicinity, has a population of 355,148 and is the largest city in the State. In 1779 General George Rogers Clark established a supply base here, for his expedition which won the Great Northwest, and the city was settled by immigrants who accompanied him. Located on a high table land above the Ohio River, it is in the heart of a country that abounds in scenic and historical interest. It is the only inland city having a U. S. Coast Guard station. It is maintained because of the Falls of the Ohio River at this point. The falls are now being developed by a hydro-electric plant costing ten million dollars. Louisville is noted for its excellent hotels and its many restaurants and cafeterias, where really good and appetizing food is served. It was quite a relief to our digestive apparatus to feed it a little Southern food once more, after eating so long in automats and delicatessens. The traveler finds this a splendid town for headquarters while making many of the short trips to nearby points. Louisville should not be regarded as merely a tourist or racing center, for here are many manufacturing plants, nineteen of which are largest in the world and six the largest in the United States.

From Louisville we motored on west into Illinois and crossed the Mississippi river at Cairo, over a most wonderful bridge, and made a straight shoot west, clear across the southern part of Missouri, to Joplin. Here we turned southwest to Tulsa, Okla., and on through Oklahoma City and then to El Reno, where we visited for a short while with Bro. Holmes Nichols, who was former Baptist pastor at Colorado. Martha Nichols, his youngest daughter (who was four or five years old when in Colorado) is now a teacher in the Denton public school and is attending State University at Boulder, Colorado. While here we clipped the following from one of the El Reno papers:

"Rev. Holmes Nichols, one of El Reno's best known and most respected citizens, will be an applicant for the position of chaplain for the new Southwest Reformatory that will soon be erected west of the city. We feel we are expressing the sentiment of thousands of Canadian county citizens when we say that Rev. Nichols should have the position."

"He is splendidly qualified for the position, both by personality and experience. That he would make a successful reformatory chaplain and aid materially in building men no one will deny."

"Holmes Nichols is known all over Oklahoma. He has served as a minister of the gospel in many cities. During the past year he was secretary of the El Reno chamber of commerce. We sincerely hope that he will be given the appointment when the time for selection arrives."

On west to Geary, we visited the cemetery and the graves of parents of "Aunt Rose," on into Texas, entering the State at Shamrock. Soon as we got into Texas we were caught in a rainstorm and forced to stop for the night at McLean, a town about the size of Loraine. Next morning, we pulled out for Amarillo and on up to Dalhart. Here we turned the people loose that we had with us from New York, and picked up Mr. and Mrs. Pascal Buckner on their way from Georgetown to the State University at Boulder, Colorado. The New York people went south to visit parents at Georgetown, and we turned north, coming up through the Raton Pass to Trinidad, Pueblo, Colorado Springs, Denver, and on up to Boulder, and here we are.

"30"-ON, TRAVEL LETTERS

Two years ago when I was up here I wrote so much about the mountains and canyons, exhausting all the descriptive adjectives in Webster that I could only repeat now, this may be my last "Travel Letter," but not the last of my travels.

In my former letters I think I used the words "Colorful Colorado." Colorful is too tame a word in describing the glories of Colorado. "Iridescent" or "aromatic" would be more adequately expressive of this State. In describing the wonders, one must use such words as "translucent," "vividly" and "aureate." Colorful is the adjective that many choose to apply as appropriate to their State, but for Colorado the word seems weak and insufficient. Over a recent road that wound between hills of pleasant outline, I saw it at a time when summer clouds flecked the heights, thick clustered pines clad the hillsides and the evening sky was rose-flushed and golden streaked. Certainly the word "colorful" was not enough.

The word failed again when I saw a mountain that had been naked and vivid, change in the changing light to a magic of translucence; the word failed when I looked at the rose-colored Garden of the Gods and when I saw the white glitter of snow capped peaks, and when I wondered at silver sand-dunes, flanked by purple hills, and when I beheld the vista of thousands of fields, and when I saw rich meadows threaded by rivers of water, and when at sunrise mountains that had been smoky purple flushed with rose, shaded, as I looked from aureate to topaz as the light crept down them. To call the State Iridescent Colorado would be nearer the mark, even though by use of the word the slogan would lose alliteration's artful aid.

Hard by Showman's Lake in Holy Cross Park, I became aware of the aromatic glory that came from a growth of wild flowers. In Cheyenne Canyon there was the delightful smell of crushed mint. Somewhere in the Grand Junction region there floated in the air the aroma of honey locust, intermingled with the timidity of lilac and the boldness of rose. I thought then, the slogan, "Aromatic Colorado" would not be far amiss.

I stood at evening where two ways meet And watched the crowd go by, Watched the hundreds of hurrying feet

As the darkened hours drew nigh; On they came and were gone again And hundreds were yet to come— A strange melody raced my brain, "Hurrying, Hurrying Home!"

Home to whatever the word implies, They sped at the close of day, To some 'twas an earthly paradise, TO ME, a place to stay! One will find there a waiting smile, Glimpse poverty waits for some, But ever they go, labor done awhile, Hurrying, Hurrying Home! F. B. W.

FRIED CHICKEN PRAISED BY TENNESSEE GOVERNOR

The following was written by Governor M. R. Patterson of Tennessee for the Memphis Commercial Appeal:

I never knew a man who habitually ate fried chicken who was not a good citizen and an upholder of the laws, both human and divine.

I never knew such a man to beat his wife, "disown his children or do anything downright mean" and dishonest. I never knew a woman who could fry a chicken successfully that was not a good wife and mother, or who would refuse to sit up with a sick neighbor, stand by her religion or ask for alimony. I never knew a family who had fried chicken on the table two or three times a week that was not contented and harmonious—the girls growing into a beautiful womanhood and the boys into useful manhood.

A people who eat enough fried chicken will never perish from the earth. They put within themselves that which resists the blandishments of vice, that which saves them from the fingers of decay.

As long as fried chicken was a generally accepted Southern dish we produced statesmen of high order and other men who wrote their names high on the scroll of fame.

We then lived in houses, believed in God, didn't bother about evolution and had time to ask people how they were and talk about the crops and weather.

The women in those days rode on side-saddles, wore clothes, had children, left politics to the men and were queens without crowns of their realm.

There may have been other causes for the glory which was ours, but to fried chicken must be attributed the chief reason for our supremacy.

Andrew Jackson was a lover of fried chicken, so was James K. Polk and Andrew Jackson.

These are Tennessee's immortal trio of presidents whose memories thrill the hearts of the children of the Volunteer State.

The great men of Mississippi, Arkansas and those other Southern States and the sons of Dixie who rode with Morgan and Forrest and fought with Lee, all derived their courage and inspiration from women of the South and fried chicken. This enabled them to withstand for four years the Northern hordes who literally swarmed over the South.

We must do something to restore this old-time renown. I know nothing so certain as to bring back the good old days of fried chicken. Factories and smokestacks are all right, so are good roads and viaducts, so are automobiles, picture shows and all the rest, but none of all these combined can equal the virtue of a properly disjointed chicken fried to a turn.

OLD TUNNEL ESCAPE FOUND AT SAN ANTONIO

SAN ANTONIO, Texas.—Discovery of an old tunnel leading from an adobe house being razed in San Antonio to a nearby drainage ditch has brought to light the plans of a Texas pioneer to ward off attacks of raiding Indians in the early days of the State.

The house, now almost in heart of the city, at one time was an isolated goat ranch. The tunnel, running underground about 50 feet from the cellar of the house, intersected an old irrigation ditch dug by the Franciscan friars centuries ago.

It is supposed that residents of the ranch house, when besieged by Indians, slipped through the tunnel to the irrigation ditch to replenish their water supply. The tunnel also formed a means of escape under the cover of darkness.

TAKE that Padlock off your Purse!

You may think in sealing up your purse you are protecting your individual prosperity in hoarding a reserve that will keep you until real good times come around again. Don't you realize that within that locked purse you are actually imprisoning prosperity and the scarcer will be the dollars that will come to you to store away in that purse.

Whether you are a wage-earner, a merchant or a manufacturer your income must come from what some else is spending or consuming. People must buy the things you sell or produce or business becomes stagnant . . . the wage-earner is discharged, the merchant fails and the manufacturer ceases production for lack of replacement orders.

Where is your income coming from if every one keeps a padlock on his purse? Spending is the only media of prosperity money kept in circulation is the motive power that keeps business going; keeps employment active and guarantees your prosperity.

All America is coming to a realization of that fact now . . . awakening to the real source of depression and is entering upon a relief program of Buying so that the merchant has an outlet for his goods . . . so he can order from the manufacturer . . . so the manufacturer can employ more help to produce those goods . . . so the worker can earn more money to spend. There is no relief from depression; no return to prosperity; no solution to unemployment until buying becomes general.

The manufacturers and merchants are doing their part now to make buying an inducement and a profit to the consumers because prices now on all important commodities are down to the lowest possible levels.

MITCHELL COUNTY FARM NOTES

Four years ago Raymond and Homer Witt of China Grove received some pure line maize seed from the chamber of commerce. Today you can go in Mr. Witt's field (which was planted with seed grown from this maize) and you cannot find a tall stalk in it. Mr. Witt cuts out all tall stalks if there are any, thereby preventing crossing. This way maize does not "run out." Mr. Witt formerly worked at the Lubbock Experiment station.

H. T. Coles of Valley View finds that sidelines pay even at present prices. He has about three hundred White Leghorn hens and is milking ten cows. He sold 60 pounds of butter last week. He feeds his skim milk to his chickens to balance the grain ration. He has used registered Jersey bulls for years and has some unusually good Jerseys. A number of his heifers are from Circle bulls.

For the third successive season, E. B. Hale of Valley View has started his meat hogs on a self-feeder containing ground threshed maize and a mixture of equal parts cottonseed meal and tankage. He is feeding three pigs and they were started on the feeder at five weeks of age and are now eight weeks old. They will be plenty large to kill by time cold weather comes.

J. S. Dunlap has started a demonstration in growing pure line black-hull kaffir and red kaffir. The seed was obtained from the Lubbock Experiment station.

Sam Savage of McKenzie is another Mitchell county farmer who is growing his own best seed. Last year's beets were left in the field and seeded this summer. Mr. Savage is planning to put his maize which was ruined by soldier bugs, into a trench silo.

A. R. Northcutt of Spade is considering building a trench silo. "I helped fill the pit silos on Latham Ranch years ago and also helped feed it, and it is fine feed," he said.

There is a round pit-silo on the old Stoneham place at Hyman that is thirty-feet deep and about twenty feet across. The silage was used in wintering cattle.

C. L. Boyd of Hyman has four two-year-old sheep that were raised on a bottle. They were orphan lambs from the John Lane flock.

T. C. Smith of Hyman has some corn that is nine feet tall.

COME TO OLD-TIMERS REUNION AT COLORADO

Out on a West Texas prairie
Beneath the late summer haze,
Colorado beckons old timers
To return for a few joyous days.

Ties seem a wee bit stronger
When old friendships we recall,
Other days seem to us brighter
And old friends the best of all.

The pleasant memories of yesterday
Will help broken hearts to mend,
And a burden will be made lighter
By the handclasp of an old friend.

Many a head may be bowed with care,
And perhaps a trifle more gray,
But the heart of man should never grow old—
It should always be young and gay.

Come back to Colorado, Old Timer,
Lay all your burdens down;
Enjoy the "Old Timers' Reunion"
Back in the old home town.

TOM MEIGHAN QUALIFIES AS TRAINER IN NEW FOX MOVIE "YOUNG SINNERS"

As an athletic trainer, Thomas Meighan is a success. Take Hardie Albright's word for it. Meighan who signals his return to the films as the hardbodied but efficient trainer in "Young Sinners," Fox dramatic drama coming to the Palace Theatre Thursday and Friday of this week, July 30 and 31, kneaded the stomach and ribs of Albright for several days during the production of this picture and at the finish of the sequences calling for athletic training, Albright discovered he had lost close to four pounds.

Albright, who enacts the role of the millionaire's profligate son who is brought back to health and happiness by Meighan, played the same role on the stage for six weeks in Boston without losing an ounce, but manhandled by Meighan he shed weight steadily during the six days spent in the trainer's Adirondack cabin.

While Albright was losing weight, Meighan too, took a two-hole reef in his belt. He found the work of massaging his charge of much physical benefit, as he had temporarily grown soft from lack of exercise.

Dorothy Jordan, who divides the romantic honors with Albright in "Young Sinners," is also interested in athletics and exercise. She is an expert swimmer and an accomplished horsewoman.

LOCAL FORD DEALER ANNOUNCES TRUCK DISPLAY

Announcement is made today by the Colorado Motor company, local Ford dealers, that a special display of Ford commercial units will be had at their place of business on August 4th. This display will be conducted in co-operation with Dallas branch of the Ford Motor Company, who will bring twenty different body types to add to the units on hand.

"The expansion of the Ford Commercial line from a few body types to more than fifty in recent months is unprecedented in commercial car history," Mr. Mackey said. "The present effort is to acquaint the public with the various body types, color combinations, tire equipment and springs for a specific load to the end that the lowest ton-mile costs may be enjoyed by the users," said Mr. Mackey further.

In addition to the truck units to be displayed there will be special mechanical displays, cut-away axles and many other things of interest to the operator of a commercial unit.

The units on display will be utilized to demonstrate to interested parties during the showing and immediate deliveries will be made.

One of the most interesting features of the display will be the ambulance and funeral coach equipment recently added to the Ford line.

ATTORNEY LOSER IN FUSS WITH HIS WOMAN NEIGHBOR

AMARILLO, July 28.—R. C. Myers, 180-pound Potter county attorney, tonight was massaging a mashed nose, and Mrs. Hazel Sullivan, 108-pound, red-haired neighbor of the county attorney was nursing some sore knuckles on her right hand.

It all started because somebody's children threw rocks. Mrs. Sullivan came to Mr. Myers' door to protest against rock hurling on the part of his children, and Mr. Myers countered with a rock charge against Mrs. Sullivan's children.

One thing led to another until in the words of the county attorney, Mrs. Sullivan "tore into me." Myers grabbed her arm and his small son, Junior, joined the argument, belaboring Mrs. Sullivan from behind with a board.

Then Mrs. Sullivan cut loose with her trusty right and connected with the attorney's nose. She also slapped Junior for good measure.

Tonight Mrs. Sullivan had made bond in two charges, one for disturbing the peace and the other for aggravated assault.

BUICK TO TAKE INVENTORY

Mr. E. T. Strong, president and general manager of the Buick Motor company, announces that the annual inventory of the Buick plant will be taken in September of this year instead of in December, as has been usual in past years.

This change in the inventory period is made in accordance with the previous announcement by Buick that the customary midsummer model change would be deferred to conform with the suggestion of the National Automobile chamber of commerce for a uniform new model policy in the industry.

The production of the 1931 Buick straight eights will be continued throughout the summer months. Mr. Strong says no new Buick models will be available prior to December, if then. He points out that the current Buick has met with such widespread acceptance and satisfaction by the motoring public that the advancement it embodies will continue to be made available to buyers down to the time of the new announcement period.

"Production of the Buick straight eight will be continued on a scale to meet the usual demands of buyers throughout the summer and autumn," Mr. Strong says. "This means that the regular summer production rate will be maintained."

PICNIC ENJOYED BY SPADE CLUB MEMBERS

Women of the Spade Home Demonstration club were hosts last Wednesday afternoon and evening to their husbands and children and other guests at annual club picnic.

Miss Abbie Sevier, home demonstration agent; Miss Catherine Vavra of Abilene, State health department nurse, and E. D. Hopkins, State sanitary engineer, were among the special guests.

Just as the sun was sinking behind a western horizon the women spread a bountiful supper of good things to eat. Large containers filled with delicious lemonade supplied plenty to drink. This repast was much enjoyed by the more than 100 people who attended.

The Spade Home Demonstration club is now in its second year and has a membership of fourteen.

OATS PLANTED IN ROWS IS BETTER THAN BROADCAST

PADUCAH, Texas.—Oats planted in rows make a better grade of grain and a bigger yield of either oats or hay than oats sowed broadcast, the farmers of Cottle county believe after watching, and many of them trying, this system first demonstrated three years ago by Charley Melton of Coleville community. In last year's drought five demonstration fields with oats planted in rows from 36 to 40 inches apart came through with a fair yield, H. M. Cantrell, county agent, reports. This year farmers in nine communities used the system.
