300-GALLON STILL TAKEN BY AUTHORITIES IN RAID SOUTHWEST OF COLORADO

Thirty Gallons Liquor And 5,000 Gallons of Mash Are Confiscated

One of the largest and most elaborately equipped stills ever found by local authorities was destroyed Saturday on a ranch in southwest Mitchell county. 30 gallons of corn whiskey, 5,000 gallons of mash and other contraband was confiscated by the raiding officials.

Sheriff Dick Gregory, H. A. Cook, deputy, Dick Hickman, chief of police and Jack Delaney, constable, swooped down on the still after receiving a tip of its location. The plant was hidden underneath a ledge on Dugout Creek about twelve or fifteen miles southwest from laton.

Sheriff Gregory reported Monday that no arrests in connection with the case had been made. Two men found in vicinity of the still were questioned by the officers. Their alibi was that they were merely hunting. One of them carried a shot gun.

The contraband booze and still equipment were hauled to Colorado in a truck. The liquor was stored in the sheriff's locker while the still equipment was taken to the county barn.

"It was one of the best stills I have ever seen and evidently had been in use for some time," Deputy Cook stated Monday. The officers fired the plant up and ran off a few gallons of the contraband to determine whether it was in operating condition.

Operators of the still employed the use of burros to transport whiskey from the still to motor car parking rendezvous, a distance of about two miles. Two of the lowly animals, tethered to convenient trees at the still site, gave no heed to the raiders as the work of breaking up the plant was in progress.

The mash, found in large steel and wooden vats, was dumped into the adjoining stream. Delaney recalled Monday that a short time after the task of pouring the stuff into the water had been begun a cat fish about a foot in length came to top of the water and to the merriment of the officers maneuvered very close to the water. The fish was calculated to do when under the spell of strong drink.

The Big Spring Steers, athlete outfit from Howard county going down to defeat before the Sweetwater Mustangs in football finals a few weeks ago, came back to enjoy the sweet morsels of revenge when cagers representing Big Spring in the Colorado invitation basket ball tournament defeated Sweetwater to claim championship of the meet.

They were eliminated by Sweetwater in one of the best games played during the meet, after having eliminated Hamlin by the close margin of 28 to 26.

Lorraine won in the consolation semi-finals, defeating Goodman 31 to 30. Coaches and other school officials attending the meet pronounced it successful throughout. Aided by the efficiency of Jim Cantrill, who officiated at every game, the directing officials were enabled to play the contests with but little delay. As one contest was closed, opposing quintets featuring in the next bout were moving onto the gym floor.

The school boys were entertained in private homes of Colorado. The public rendered every assistance to the Chamber of Commerce and public schools in making the meet a success, according to statement of John E. Watson, superintendent of the latter.

IMAGINE A NEWSPAPER OFFICE WITH $5,000! EVIDENTLY A MISTAKE

Sunday's papers carried a story of an unique robbery at Little Rock, Arkansas. A newspaper office in that town was represented as having been robbed of $5,000 in cash.

Imagine a newspaper office with that amount of cash! However, the United Press represented that a lone bandit entered offices of Arkansas Gazette, shot the auditor, grabbed up $5,000 in cash and escaped.

There are exceptions to all rules, it is said. Perhaps the Arkansas newspaper office having that much cash in possession is the one exception to the usual run of things.

Thugs are given notice that they will meet disappointment in the case of an attempted haul at The Record office—that is, if they planned to stage a hold-up here with the expectation of getting away with any money.

ALEX B. HANSON
400 IN SUNDAY SCHOOL

Four hundred in Sunday school next Sunday morning is the goal to which George H. Mahon, superintendent, is leading forces of the First Methodist church. He expects to reach that goal and maintain it.

We had two wonderful services last Sunday. At 11 o'clock Rev. Mr. Mortan, of Abilene, conference evangelist, preached. The pastor delivered the evening sermon. We appreciated presence of the visitors very much and trust they will come again.

The pastor hopes to lead this church into a great service during 1932. It is the duty of every local Methodist to support him.

THE COMMITTEE

FIRST BAPTIST NOTES
Beautiful day last Sunday and there were 520 in the classes at Sunday school. Fine crowds for preaching service and had three additions to the church.

One of most encouraging things about our work is the fine attendance upon the Wednesday night services. There were 36 teachers present for teachers meeting and 95 present for our prayer service. We are planning for 125 in these services tonight. Let us begin right now to plan for revival this early summer in church auditorium, then mid-summer revival in the City Terrace. We have set our goal for 1,900 to be in Sunday school in First Baptist before the year ends. Let us push hard and set back not at all. Let's give our very best for the progress of the program of Jesus Christ this year. Only as we do that will we have the joy of seeing our church grow in influence and numbers and only as we thus work can we expect God's blessings upon our work. For His glory we go on.

OREN C. REID, Pastor.

Y. W. A. BUSINESS MEETING

The Y. W. A. held a very successful business meeting on Monday night. Miss Billy Wyatt asked to be allowed to resign her office as president and Miss Clifton Morrow was elected by acclamation to take her place. The Y. W. A. regretted to lose its old president, but we believe the new one will be able to fill her office well.

There were 15 members present and we received three new members, Miss Patsy Ballard, Miss Lois Key, and Miss Hattie Ballard. We are very proud of these new members and also of a visitor Miss Vera Coles.

The next meeting will be Monday night, January 18 and a very interesting program is to be given, so all members should be present.

BAPTIST CIRCLE MEETINGS

The Alice Bagby Smith Circle met in the home of Mrs. Bennett Scott with six members and one visitor present. Mrs. Sadler led the devotional and had charge of the meeting. The first chapter of the new study "Glimpses of Missionary Life" was studied. Mrs. Scott served lovely refreshments to the following: Mesdames Sadler, Thomson, Spaulding and Misses Hattie McKell, Violet Moeser and Mabel Smith.

Circle three met in the home of Mrs. A. L. Whipkey with seven present. Mrs. Alexander led the devotional. The study book was completed and the next study will be "Our Lord and Ours." Next meeting will be a social, from 3 to 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Whipkey and all members are urged to attend.

The club was entertained last Friday by The Ace of Spade Dramatic Club of Spade. The players were presented under direction of Robert Northcutt. A one-act comedy-drama was given.

Doris Mildred Hines

Little Doris Mildred Hines, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hines, passed away Wednesday morning at 8:20 at the home of her parents, fifteen miles south of Westbrook. Doris had been ill for two years with chronic intestinal indigestion.

Up to the time of this illness the little one had been the picture of health, and in this long illness little Doris was patient and sweet, fighting a heroic battle for her life, never refusing her medicine and reminding her mother of it, should she forget to give it to her.

Doris was under the care of Dr. Root at the beginning of her illness. She was then taken to Lubbock Sanitarium, where she stayed for three weeks, being treated by Dr. Overton. Just one year from the time she was laid to rest, she was carried to Fort Worth, where she stayed four months in the Baby Hospital, under Dr. Girdley's care.

Dr. Girdley consulted the best specialists in the United States and he went through the best clinics in Ft. Worth. She was given every treatment known, but did not respond. As a last resort blood transfusions were given by Dr. Girdley. She was brought home in April and Dr. Root continued to give the blood transfusions every ten days. The baby's father giving the blood twenty-seven times.

Though her body was very frail and weak, her mind was unusually clear and alert. She talked of things about her, was interested in all the family affairs, and liked to sing, "Praise Him, All Ye Little Children."

Funeral services were held at the Baptist church in Westbrook Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. Oren C. Reid, officiating.

Besides her mother and father, the deceased leaves three little brothers; Charles Eas, seven years old; Ralph Truett, five years old; and Don, one year old. A grandmother, Mrs. C. P. Conaway; and a grandfather, A. B. Hines; a number of uncles and aunts and cousins, all of whom loved her and are saddened at her death.

Friends and loved ones sympathize with the bereaved parents, but they commend them to Christ, who said "Suffer the little children to come unto Me and forbid them not, for such is the kingdom of Heaven."

Mrs. D. A. Bedman and Mr. and Mrs. Cartwright of Sweetwater are visiting Mrs. H. H. Herrington and Mrs. Houston Hill.

IS WAR IMPENDING

The danger of war greater now than in 1914?

Newton J. Baker, secretary of war in the Woodrow Wilson cabinet, declared in an address delivered at Cleveland Monday that such was his view. He was impressed to make a conclusion by announcement from Germany that no more reparations were to be paid.

We people out here in West Texas are going to be slow to accept dejection that another world wide conflict is in the offing. We cling to the hope that martial difficulties in the Far East and the crash of Germany's economic fibre are soon to be mended.

However, we quote Mr. Baker in a Cleveland address: "I am inclined to believe that if Herr Bruening's statement had been made a year ago instead of now, the trench army would have marched to the Rhine as far as Dusseldorf, taken over the left bank of the Rhine and seized German ports in order to deflect the customs, and taken over the German railroads, which produce considerable revenue."

"Fortunately, Germany didn't say a year ago. And France has earned something, but not much in her last year."

Baker said he was not surprised Bruening's announcement on reparations. "The surprising thing is that she (Germany) paid any," he said. The reparations question, he said, the only one "out of which anything can happen" for the danger of war is greater now than in 1914.

"Up to 1918," Baker said, "Europe as organized on the basis of economics. Now, under the treaty of Versailles, it is organized on the basis of nationalities."

"It is difficult to reconcile economic and nationalism in Europe, but when that is done will the danger of war be removed. The world will provide machinery for removing that danger."

All delinquent school taxes, no matter how long delinquent, may be paid this month without interest or penalty added, under provisions of new State law. The same is true to municipal, county, state and her tax accounts. Delinquent property taxpayers are being urged to take advantage of this ruling.

AD-MIXTURE

A Mr. Cummings from Vernon writes in criticizing this writer on his many grammatical errors. It may be that we sometimes split an infinitive or double-cross a negative, but it should not be remembered against us as we were not born a grammarian.

Several months ago this columnist had a sequel to the Sue sequence and ended it up: A sequel there is to this story. Sue soon became lonely in glory. So she came back to earth to find a new berth.

When this Perihelion of Persiflage appeared the Peripatetic gambling reporter of the Buffalo (N. Y.) News spoiled the whole thing by adding: Sue never went to glory at all. She simply gave a "cero" a call. He put new kinks in her spine. Drove the flu out of line. She went back the pride of the ball.

We met a good friend of ours down on the street, who was greatly worried over the depression and we consoled him with this logic: "If you are going to die, there are only two things to worry about, you are either going to Heaven or you are not going to Heaven. If you are going to Heaven, there is nothing to worry about. If you are going to the other place, you will be so busy shaking hands with old friends and acquaintances that you won't have anything to worry about."

A lady reader of this column, who lives in North Colorado, takes us to task about what we wrote not long since about necking parties. This lady should remember that the neckers have arms which are usually employed in a less revengeful mood than suggested by her. Let us go back a few years when the young man stopped a shining rubber-tired buggy in front of his sweetie's porch, tied his well-brushed nag to the handy hitching post, sauntered in to the strains of an imaginary wedding march, made his bow and asked if her parents were willing that they should take a short drive together in an H. M. T. with room for only two, and how they drove down through the country road, where blending trees overlapped their blending hearts, and rippling waters and singing birds were the only intruders.

It was not called "necking" then, but soft eyes spoke love to eyes that spoke again, and the heart beats were close together and dreams of a home and chickens and Jersey cows, grazing the nearby meadow, where the sweet perfume should come to them born by breezes never breathed by hi-jackers or low-jokers. Then everybody knew how to play hands, just before the wedding time, but few knew how to play bridge and shoot pistols.

A reminiscence may have been in this good lady's mind when she divined the thought for a time away from the subject of cotton and brought it down to modern courtship. How glad the writer is, that when he went courting, and he did go, that he did not have to fill the six-shooter with new shells, put on his breastplate and hold the heads of his companions in his lap to avert the danger of the hijacker's cartridge. The old way is undoubtedly the best, but my advice to the "neckers" now is to leave your gun off, park your car where traffic is so thick that every fellow has to watch his driving and not to smoke cigarettes until on the return from the party. No, my good lady friend, the lover who undertakes to shoot it out with the hijacker usually loses his life and his liver to the hijacker. Don't shoot, but shift.

Bill Kellis, down at Sterling City, and this writer hunted possums together down at old "Bald Springs" in 1886, when Tom West, Tom Bennett and Bill Kellis, constituted the citizenship of what is now the town of West. Kellis is now 82 and still going good. A few weeks ago "Uncle Fred" in his paper, said:

"Uncle Fred Bows Up

and here is what "Uncle" Fred had to say about it.

Here he reproduced our column and then added: "We dare that one-of-a-gun to try that trick on us as he did on dear old "Uncle" Fred. If he were to do it, instead of shooting him with Gough, Seneca and the Scriptures as well as sending it back to the donor; like Mr. Hoover, we would have tried a "noble experiment" by trying some of it to see of that fellow was lying about it. If we had caught him in a lie, we would have poured the rest of it out on the weed patch on the court house lawn where the grand jury would have tramped the weeds into the ground and destroyed them trying to smell up the stuff."

"These wintry days and the near approach of the egg-hog season makes a fellow feel the need of much fortitude to resist the temptation of such degenerates of whom "Uncle" Fred speaks. If he were to dare approach us with such a temptation, we would say unto him: 'Get thee behind me Satan, while I go to the garage and make a few noble experiments, because U. I. flesh is yet weak and we are still human.'"

Dick McCarty, over at Albany and this writer chased wolves over those Shaskellford hills in 1885, and he has this to say about my good friend, Kellis:

"But anyhow, Uncle Bill, you've been here a long time; hope you will just keep a-slaying, but sometime, it is the law of nature, human demise, and when the last song has been sung at the open grave, the last word spoken by pastor, the last shout of dirt thrown in, then everyone of us hop in, step on the gas, and everybody runs a race back to Main street, back to bank, mercantile establishment, back to law courts. O durn yes, life is just a thrill after another. Here we go, helter skelter, not worrying about eternal perdition, brimstone and fire of mad gods and devils has lost its driving power. We just go along the even tenor of our way, and some morning, Uncle Bill, we will come back down to the office and we will be gone on that long journey. So why worry about mind and matter, mad gods, spirits and devils. No, let's have a good time, see sunshine and shadow, plant some flowers by the roadside, speak a kind word, do a kind act—do the very best you can and don't worry too much about what's going to happen on the other side—immortality, etc.—Selah."

Bill Kellis, Sterling City; Dick McCarty, Albany; J. C. Son, Palo Pinto; and this writer, Colorado; are the four oldest editors in continuous service in all the West. The late W. E. Gilliland at Baird, 43 year editor, has left us and soon this quartette will follow.

To these friends we dedicate these lines: Friends, friends: Oh! shall we meet in a land of purer day. Where lovely things and sweet Pass not away.

Shall we know each other's eyes, The thoughts that in them lay When we mingled sympathies Passing away. Oh! If this may be so, Speed, speed, the closing day! How blest from earth's vain show To pass away.

ALEXANDER HAMILTON'S ANNIVERSARY

Jan. 11, brings around the 175th return of the birthday of Alexander Hamilton, whom Chief Justice Marshall ranked next to Washington himself in greatness and importance in the critical days of our earlier history.

Certainly Hamilton was one of the most brilliant of all Washington's aides and advisors. His dramatic career has lent itself to fiction and drama, and no critic or historian of our rise as a nation can cover that period without the most elaborate attention to Hamilton.

Alexander Hamilton, we are told by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, was born, a British subject, on the Island of Nevis, in the West Indies, on January 11, 1757. Left poor in his boyhood, like Washington himself, Hamilton was thrown upon the care of relatives who placed him in the employ of one Nicholas Cruzar. In this man's business the youngster showed at once the astonishing qualities of his mind, and good-friends sent him to New York, where he might acquire education and find the true field for his abilities. Two years later, Hamilton entered what was then King's College and is now Columbia University, but the Revolution interrupted his studies and opened to him his real career.

As long as he lived, and in spite of his genius in other directions, Hamilton thirsted for military glory; and he lost no time in adopting the patriot cause. A company of artillery having been authorized by the New York convention in 1776, Hamilton applied for the command. Though he was only twenty years old, the examination he passed quickly dispelled any doubts as to his fitness for the post. His skill and bravery in action

Latest Fiction Among New Books At Local Library

Other books added to the library recently include: "Sunset Pass," by Jane Grey; "The Silver Star," by Zane Grey; "Make-Up," by Alma Sioux Scarborough; "Found Treasure," by Grace Livingston Hill; "Foot's Goal," by B. M. Bower; "Destiny Rides Again," by Max Brand.

Rogers Ramblings

The Rogers Community welcomed the Sweatt children into the school last week. Mr. and Mrs. Sweatt and family come from the Carr community. We are glad to have them in this district.

The school was entertained by a school chapel program Friday morning by the primary pupils. Next Friday morning Rev. J. D. Harvey of Colorado will be out here to conduct a devotional exercise. Patrons are invited to be present.

The high school will present a 3-act comedy-drama, "A Worthy Vagabond," at the school house on Friday night, January 22. A small admission will be charged. This is a good play with plenty of fun and it has a good plot. It is a Cowboy Play of the West. Don't miss it. The cast of characters is as follows: Judith, Jewel Bassinger; Sadie during the campaign of that year in New York won him the attention of General Washington. In the actions at Trenton and Princeton the brilliant youth so impressed Washington that he made the boy an aide-de-camp with the rank of lieutenant-colonel. Desk duties, though he was eminently fitted for them, soon palled on Hamilton, however, and he sought what has now become the historic occasion of his argument with his chief to resign and seek a command in the field. Washington, hurt as he was by Hamilton's behavior, magnanimously put him back on the firing line and gave him the final honor of leading the closing assault on the British works at Yorktown.

The part Hamilton played in shaping our Constitution and having it adopted, has become one of the important pages in American history. Disapproving of many of the features of the Constitution, he nevertheless threw himself heart and soul into the fight for its adoption, writing his brilliant articles which helped considerably in winning over doubtful states.

Yet even this was but the preliminary to his great contribution to the founding of the Government. Remarkable before, Hamilton then became great as a statesman, administrator, and financial genius. Made first Secretary of the Treasury by President Washington, Hamilton developed those policies which placed the new and struggling nation on a firm foundation of credit and made its life secure. It was Hamilton who chiefly established, for one thing, our theory and practice of the tariff. In response to queries and demands from Congress, Hamilton, as Secretary of the Treasury, wrote a series of reports that are as firmly fixed in our national life as the Constitution itself. Americans who have never read these papers, nevertheless benefit by the principals which they contain and which we have never ceased to maintain in operation.

Yet it was fated that the man who contributed such solid material to our national existence, should put a tragic close to a career as brief as it was brilliant. Born a romantic figure, his death itself is the last chapter in what destiny determined should end like a story. No matter how or when Hamilton died, his loss would have been taken as a calamity by his countrymen. It seemed a double calamity, coming as it did while Hamilton still was young and in the form of the out-moded duel; but destiny had so willed. Still, Aron Burr but snuffed out a life and laid low a body; Hamilton's fame and name he could not remove from America's roll of honor.

Snapp, Miss Smith; Queenie Winton, Mrs. C. O. McCreight; Fred, John Wood; Sandy Lane, Jack Wood; Horatio Algernon Hagood, Jr. (Biology Professor), Frank Carpenter; Dan Allen, (the Worthy Vagabond), Marley Green; Boot Thurman, (the villain), Roy Green; Rachel, (the negro cook), Jack Carpenter.

You can't afford to miss this play as it is one of the best of the new plays written by Miss Eelsey, whose plays made hits in this county last year. There will be plenty of interesting numbers, including good male quartette from Colorado, and funny monologues including "Si and P" and "The Base Ball Game." There will be two hours and a half of excellent entertainment and don't forget the date, Friday night, January 22 and the place, Rogers School House—"Kum" to see it.

The Rogers Wildcats lost their game in the Colorado Tournament to the strong Roby Lions Thursday afternoon. The Wildcats play the Colorado Wolves Thursday of this week. They also play Hyman at Colorado Saturday, January 16 in a league championship game. The game will begin at 4 p. m. Rogers fans are urged to be there and yell for the home team.

Rev. J. D. Harvey will preach at the Rogers School auditorium on Sunday afternoon, January 17 at 3 p. m. Everybody is urged to come out and hear him. If a large crowd hears him at that time he will continue to hold a service each third Sunday at the Rogers School House.

Dr. Coleman, Mitchell county's Health Officer, came out to the school and immunized large number of the smaller children against diphtheria. ### Fire Losses of Twenty-Four Years Ago Were Source of Concern in Colorado

The year 1907, recently coming to a close, did not mark the first period in Colorado's history in which considerable concern was expressed due to losses by fire. Three big fires, taking losses running into the thousands of dollars, are recalled here during the Winter of 1907-08. One of these is recalled in edition of The Colorado Record for January 17, 1908.

Hubbard's, The McCord-Collins company and other Colorado business concerns located in the Snyder building, corner Oak and Second streets, sustained heavy losses in a fire that had gutted both floors of the building on Sunday night, January 12 of that year. The aggregate loss was estimated at $25,000.00.

Hubbard's loss was given at $21,000, with $15,000 insurance. McCord-Collins lost $1,000, largely through smoke and water damage. Fred Myer and A. Hoffman, operating a shoe shop, sustained a total loss. Offices of Congressman W. R. Smith, Ed Smith, Royal A. Smith R. A. Jeffress and Dr. M. A. Mer-will, located on second floor of the building were damaged.

Snyder was rejoicing that week in prospect of soon becoming a railroad town, according to an article in The Record. Construction of the Roscoe, Snyder & Pacific railway had been completed from Roscoe to Hermleigh and it was believed that trains would be running into Snyder within the next few weeks. Passenger service into Hermleigh was to be inaugurated the next week.

Among the social news items reported that week was the announcement of the marriage of L. W. Sandusky, youthful Colorado attorney, to Miss Sallie Geers at Denton. The wedding was solemnized at high noon on Wednesday at the home of the bride's parents.

District court, convened December 30, last, was still in busy session when The Record for January 17, 1908, went to press. It is of interest to note that many of the civil cases being heard were suits instituted by local ranchers and cattle shippers against the rail carriers. As a rule the jury found for the plaintiff. Damage to livestock in transit to Fort Worth market and failure of the defendant railway company to furnish cars for use in transporting the cattle, usually formed the basis of the suit.

The Record again this week gave considerable space to candidacy of Congressman William R. Smith for re-election. The Colorado man was being opposed by Jim Cunningham of Abilene. "The congressional race in this district will attract more interest than any similar contest in Texas this year, but Smith is going to win," the paper concluded.

Among the personal news items published in The Record that week were the following:

TAX COLLECTOR HOLT TO SEEK ELECTION FOR 2ND TERM IN JULY PRIMARIES

Buel Bradford, delegate representing Mitchell county at Farmer's Union meeting in Memphis, Tenn., has returned and reports a splendid meeting.

"Chas. Strain and wife left yesterday morning for Baird where they will live in the future. Mr. Strain has been in Colorado but a short time. He is a professional band director.

"Mrs. C. A. Goodwin and children came in this week from Kent and expect to spend several weeks visiting with friends and relatives.

"Bob Crawford is back in the restaurant business again.

"Miss Isla Bess Looney left last week for an extended visit with friends at San Antonio.

"A. S. Henry returned home last week from an extended trip to Clearmont and reports that country in fine shape.

"We noticed Charlie Taylor walking down the street Sunday morning as if he owned the earth and was going to give an order to have it 'posted'. Upon inquiry as to his stilted air, he replied: 'You are a Bible scholar; you'll find my trouble recorded in Isaiah 9:6.' And, so it was. An eight pound baby.

"J. E. Hooper and Douglas Burns are both on the sick list this week.

"Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Shipman of Sweetwater, who are both well known in Colorado, came over Tuesday to assist in conferring the Good Samaritan degree on a number of local victims.

"R. H. Landers, who with his family, has recently moved here from Connecticut, called at The Record office to have some cards printed announcing that he is a painter, paper hanger and cabinet maker. He is a brother of H. C. Landers.

"The West Texas Press Association met in Abilene Wednesday and F. B. Whippley, editor of The Record and member of the associational executive staff, attended."

Incumbent Has Several Years Successful Experience As Public Official

J. E. Holt, tax collector, announced Monday his candidacy for re-election to the second term, subject to action of the Democratic primary election in July.

Holt has to his credit several years of successful experience as a public official in this county. He has been connected with the tax collector's office and the sheriff's office for some time. His record in those capacities remains yet to be challenged.

Successful in campaign for election to the office of tax collector in 1930, Mr. Holt has given of his very best to the office. He is seeking election to the second term purely on his merits and qualifications.

Auditors have found his records in A-1 condition. This sustains claims of the official that efficiency is required in the handling of every item coming through the collector's office.

The candidate is known as one of the most courteous public officials at the court house. He is never too busy to give detailed information regarding any problems tax payers and other citizens might carry to him.

John will appreciate due consideration of his claims for re-election. If he has made good—and his many friends assert that he has—it is claimed that he is entitled to a second administration as collector of taxes for the county, state and school funds.

Prolific Candidate 'Crop' Expected As Election Comes On

The chorus: "If You'll Only Vote For Me," is going to be sung by a goodly number of political aspirants during the Democratic campaign coming up in 1932. At any rate such is being forecast by those who claim to be able to read signs now beginning to appear on the political horizon.

There may be as many as a half dozen candidates in the field to contest some of the prized county and precinct offices, these prognosticators would have us believe. Leap year and depression, somehow, combine to make office seeking more attractive.

Mitchell county mothers had just as well begin now to acquaint their babies with the ordeal of being kissed. The affable candidate who caters to the suffrage from among the ranks of the feminists is going to have much baby kissing ahead. The annual vital statistics record for Mitchell county in 1931 was up to standard.

Announcements up to date have been few. Several citizens, inspired by the intuition to "save the country" and at the same time become domiciled within the case of a public office, have their eye on the coveted democratic gift. Few weeks will pass, it is believed, until a score or more will be campaigning actively.

BILIOUS

"I have used Black-Draught... and have not found anything that could take its place. I take Black-Draught for biliousness. When I get bilious, I have a nervous headache and a nervous, trembling feeling that unfit me for my work. After I take a few doses of Black-Draught, I get all right. When I begin to get bilious, I feel tired and run-down, and then the headache and trembling. But Black-Draught relieves all this."—H. O. Hendrix, Homerville, Ga.

PROTECTION OF SCHOOL PROPERTY

The Colorado high school maintains a modern convenient library for both entertainment and education of every person of the school. A number of students have failed to take enough interest in this convenience for they fail to hand in their books when due, because of carelessness and forgetfulness. As a result many valuable books have been lost and fines imposed for the overdue books.

In order to have a better, more practical library, let us all cooperate with the librarians by watching the bulletin board to see when our books are due. By doing this, we will have a smaller amount of names on the blackboard, which gives a list of the persons owing fines or payments for lost books.

The library is gradually growing, and with cooperation of each student of Colorado high school we will have in our "Land and Travel Experiences" fewer fines and lost books.

Help protect our library!

ASSEMBLY NEWS

Wednesday morning, January 6th, Minister Harvey addressed the Assembly at the regular period.

His text was taken from the command of God to Moses, "Take thy rod in thy hand and use it with all thy might." From this one can learn the true meaning of the talents given to each one. If only energy, such as strength, is present, it is a waste of time. The strength of this factor decreases gradually until his power and use is entirely destroyed.

A person who neglects his talents is like the locomotive that started out on a trip and stopped. It lost its own power, blocked traffic, and also took the time of another locomotive to get it out of the way. Thus a person who stops the use of his gifts is an obstacle in the life of others.

By using one's physical, mental, and spiritual powers to an advantage, he increases their value and also influences the life of another.

ARRIVAL OF SENIOR RINGS

The class rings of the "Seniors of '32" arrived Saturday, January 2. Many of the Seniors rushed for their rings on the moment of arrival, and others received theirs the following Monday.

Many compliments have been received by the Seniors on the selection of pattern and design, and a contented atmosphere is to be noted in the Senior class once more.

The material for the debate was secured from the Extension Loan Library. The debaters are preparing for the preliminary contest, which is to be held among the members of the club, before the Inter-school League meet in March.

Miss Whitmore, the sponsor, expects to have a better and more successful club than ever before.

HOME ECONOMICS REPORT

The Vocational Home Economics Club met last Tuesday night. There was a program given by some of the members on "Garnishes for Salads." Then followed a demonstration of the preparation of fruit salad, vegetable salad, and lobster salad.

After the demonstration, the members were served hot tea and wafers.

BALLARD ANNOUNCES FOR SECOND TERM IN OFFICE AS 32ND DISTRICT CLERK

'Courtesy, Service and Law Enforcement,' Cited As His Platform

District Clerk J. H. Ballard announced Tuesday afternoon that his "hat was in the ring" for re-election to the second term. He is offering his name as a candidate subject to the Democratic primary election, July 23.

"There are no issues involved in campaign for the office to which I aspire, and it is accepted that as a candidate for District Clerk I would announce no platform," Ballard said. "However, I do have a platform, and it is couched in these words—'Courtesy, Service and Law Enforcement.'"

Mr. Ballard holds the distinction of being the first person to hold the office of District Clerk in Mitchell county after separation of that office from county clerk. Prior to 1820 the two offices had been filled continuously since organization of the county by one person.

The official stated that he sought endorsement at the ballot box next July 23 solely upon his record as a private citizen and public official. He believes that he has faithfully discharged the responsible duties imposed by the office and should, therefore, be entitled to election for a second term.

The candidate expects to see as many voters as may be possible before the primary election date. He would have voters remember that in the event he should fail to personally solicit support of any citizen it would not be due to non-interest upon his part.

"Investigate my record as your District Clerk and vote strictly on merit and I will be satisfied," he stated.

JUSTICE STONEHAM JOINS MUSTACHE GROWERS CLUB

Peace Justice W. S. Stoneham came into his office in the court house Monday morning with a short ornamental growth on his upper lip. The court denied that he was growing the hirsute protruberance in quest of any social or court dignity. Justice Stoneham further denied that he had been influenced by the example set by Roy Hester, Jim Ferguson and other local citizens who have for some time held ownership of similar ornaments.

OLD HOME TOWN BOY ON VISIT AMONG HIS FRIENDS
LAMESA, TEXAS—Jan. 9—A. L. McSpadden, a former Lamesa citizen but now associated with The Texas Electric Service company at Colorado during the past few years, was greeting friends in Lamesa Saturday night. He was here on private business mission.

Back in the "good old days," McSpadden was a familiar character on the S. Ranch south from Lamesa. Coming to town he obtained a job as driver of an ice delivery wagon and from that worked his way into the office. He has since been associated with The Texas Electric Service company here, in Big Spring, Sweetwater and Colorado.

Big Spring beat Anson and were ready for their third game in the match.
Hamlin Loses to Dunn—27 to 26
Hamlin won their first game over Hyman by 42 to 15 and then defeated Ira by a large margin. Then Hamlin met Dunn, who beat them by only one point. This was an even game and both teams put up a hard fight.

Sweetwater Beats Dunn
After Sweetwater had defeated, they played Dunn to see which one went to the final. Dunn played better than Sweetwater in the first half. At the end of the first half the score was 12 to 6; then the winning changed to Sweetwater and at the end of the game the score was 14 to 26 in Sweetwater's favor.

Sweetwater Loses Final to Big Spring
Big Spring upon winning their fourth game after a hard fight with Roby, went into the finals against Sweetwater. The game started out in favor of Big Spring and they remained ahead through the first half. Sweetwater came back stronger in the second half and began to go in on Big Spring, but the game ended with Big Spring seven points in the lead, the score being 32 to 25.

Trophies Awarded
Following this game the trophies were given: Big Spring winning 1st place; and Sweetwater winning the "Runner-Up" trophy. Lorraine won the Consolation and Dowell was the Consolation "Runner-Up."

Hopper from Big Spring won for high point man and also for best sportsmanship.

Two of the gold basket balls were given to Big Spring, one to Sweetwater, one to Lomax, and one to Dunn.

LONE STAR TWINKLINGS

By ETTA LEE MARTIN

There were several new pupils to enter school this week. Lone Star school has a larger enrollment than ever before.

Lone Star ball teams are now in great progress. The Senior boys returned the game with Valley View but was defeated by a small margin.

On Friday afternoon the girls and boys met South Champion, this being girls first game and was indeed thrilled when the game ended, the victory was for Lone Star at a score of 20-11. The line-up consisted of forwards, Marie Barron and Tennie Mae Charles; center Cerna Nix and Etta Lee Martin; guards Nell Whitley and Oleta Swafford. The Lone Star boys also won a victory by a score of 19-10. The teams will meet again in the near future.

The Senior boys will meet Conaway at the Colorado gym, Saturday, Jan. 16, for the first conference game.

The wedding which occurred January 9, of Miss Oleta Swafford and Mr. Robert Horton was a surprise to their many friends. They were married at Lorraine at 6:00 P. M. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Swafford. She attended school at Lone Star and was captain of the ball team. The groom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Horton south of Lorraine. They were a popular young couple of this community, and we regret very much of losing Miss Swafford as a student from school and also as a ball player. They will make their home south of Lorraine. Mr. Horton is a prosperous young farmer. They have many friends who wish them much happiness throughout life.

Miss Abbie Sevier met with the girls of this community and also the women Monday afternoon for the purpose of organizing a 4-H and Home Demonstration club. Officers of the girls club were elected as follows: President, Etta Lee Martin; vice president, Ethel Prescott; secretary, Tennie Mae Charles.

Mrs. James Bennett was elected president; Mrs. Moody Richardson, vice president; Mrs. W. L. Barron, secretary; and Mrs. Clyde Linam, reporter of the Home Demonstration club. There were several women present and all seemed to be interested in organizing the club. The clubs hope to make a success the remainder of the year.

Opal Narel has been on the sick list and has been absent from school several days.

Mrs. J. H. Charles and Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Charles attended the funeral of their little niece and cousin, little Ailene Cowthorn, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cowthorn, who recently moved near Wastella from Plano, Texas. The child died from burns inflicted when her clothing was ignited by the fire from a heating stove. Interment was made in the Lorraine cemetery Friday afternoon at 6 o'clock. Rev. Harrell of Lorraine, officiating.

EVERY HOME SHOULD HAVE

I am forty-one years of age and have had asthma for twenty-five years. Since beginning to take Crazy Crystals I have been entirely free from asthma attacks. I discovered that this trouble was caused by colitis. I also had a bladder trouble for the past year or so and this condition has been corrected to my complete satisfaction. My whole family is taking Crazy Crystals and I cannot pay too much for them. Crazy Crystals are more than you claim for them and I believe that every one in ill health should at least try them regardless of what their trouble is.

"OVER THE HILL" GLORIFIES LOVE

A drama that takes love from the cradle to old age and deals with many of its most important manifestations, "Over the Hill," Fox drama, marking the second screen appearance of that delightful pair of lovers, James Dunn and Sally Eilers and the return of the silent-day favorite, Mae Marsh, comes to the Palace Theatre next Sunday and Monday.

Connally Has Made Good in the Senate

He Votes and Drinks Dry; Able Leader

Two weeks ago The Record published the first of a series of articles on men representing this State in the National Congress. First we reviewed the life and characteristics of Congressman Kleberg, recently elected from the 11th district. Last week the paper had quite a bit to say about Ewing Thomason, our own representative. This week we are to deal with Tom Connally of Marlin, Junior Senator from Texas.

Connally was born on a large farm in McLennan county, Texas, August 19, 1877, the son of a well-to-do, politically minded planter who had fought for the Confederacy.

He grew up on his father's plentiful acres ("right sharp of land") went to the little red schoolhouse near Eddy. Baylor University knew him next (1896). He had just won his law degree in the University of Texas when the Spanish-American war occurred and he went trooping off with the 2nd Texas Infantry to Mobile, Miami, Tampa, Jacksonville, but missed Porto Rico. Moving to Marlin, he hung out his shingle. The law was slack. He drifted into politics, served four years in the Texas house of representatives. In 1916 he ran for Congress in the 11th district, handshook and baby-kissed his way over six counties, surprised everybody by being nominated and elected. He reached the U. S. Capitol just in time to vote for war and then, without resigning his seat, joined the army, served as a captain and adjutant with the 22nd Infantry of the 11th Division, but again failed to get overseas. Later the house voted him his full Congressional salary during his absence. He refused to take it. Thereafter he served continuously in the house until 1928 when he defeated Senator Earle Bradford ("Ku Klux") Mayfield for the Democratic nomination and was elected to the U. S. Senate.

In Congress: Mostly regular in his Democratic votes, he leans away from his conservative Southern colleagues and toward the Western bloc of his party which frequently combines with Republican insurgency to settle major issues. An able and frequent debater, he speaks with a syrupy southern accent. Humorous without being personal or sarcastic, he embroiders his speeches with a flowery rhetoric. An example: "The president... is greater than any monarch on earth. The King of Spain is but a shadowy phantom of power... The King of Italy is but an almost inaudible echo of the royal power that once walked the streets of Rome... The King of England with all his castles, all his titles, all his stately pomp and ceremony... is little more than a painted king upon a painted throne. He is merely the husk, the shell, the gilded crust of power..."

Connally has a persuasive if not always accurate way of simplifying knotty legal questions before the senate. Once his colleague, Senator Sheppard, asking him to vote for Charles Evans Hughes for chief justice, declared: "He's out of the biggest Baptists in the country." Retorted Senator Connally: "I didn't know we were voting for a moderator."

In house or senate he voted for: Soldier bonus (1924), export duty (1929), 15-cruiser bill (1929), restrictive immigration (1924), the Boulder dam (1928), Jones "6 & 10" law (1929), Government operation of Muscle Shoals (1931). He voted against: Tariff (1922), 1930, Reapportionment (1929), nomination of Charles Evans Hughes for chief justice (1930).

He votes dry, drinks dry, does not agitate prohibition.

In foreign affairs he favors the World court, supported the London Naval Treaty.

Legislative hobbies: Farm relief, with special emphasis on cotton. As a minority member of the senate finance committee, he also gives much time and attention to farm legislation.

In appearance he personifies the southwestern statesman in a past era. Full-bodied, he has slender legs and phenomenally small feet. His face is round and soft, yet handsome. On his way back hair, worn longish, he pulls down an old-fashioned broad brimmed black felt hat. His clothes are dark and a trifle tight. Black bow ties cover his collar button. An instinctive politician he has a ready smile, a friendly chuckle, hosts of one-man friends. He is a Knight of Pythias, Son of the American Revolution, Methodist Episcopalian (South), all in good standing. He smokes cigars, chews gum and tobacco.

Outside Congress: He lives with his wife, Louise Clarkon Connally, in an old-fashioned apartment house on Connecticut avenue. He sidesteps Washington society, chums principally with Texans and Democrats from the west. He plays no golf, but shoots duck, hunts deer, and fishes. He drives a 1929 Dodge sedan which takes him back to Marlin, Texas, between Senate sessions. Impartial Senate observers rate him thus: A pleasant, picturesque, smart-minded legislator, progressive in his votes and above the Democratic average in industry and accom-

COL-TEX BASKETEERS

The refinery club lost the other count to Roby Independent in a hard fought melee played Tuesday night. Score 28-19.

"THE POCATELLO KID" DEALS WITH BRANB-BLOTCHIN ART

"The Pocatello Kid," Ken Maynard's latest Tiffany Productions western feature, is a drama of the days of the early west before the law had established its hold upon the wide ranges and cattle rustling and "brand-blotching" were current criminal activities.

Ken Maynard, the star of the picture, which will be at the Palace Theatre next Saturday, tells what "brand blotching" was and how it was accomplished.

The Baptist General Convention of Texas authorized the launching of this campaign for $750,000 to pay the debts and increase the endowment at the annual convention in Waco in November. Of this amount only $150,000, above gifts to endowment and annuities will be raised this year. The remainder is to be raised the following year.

Meetings similar to the one in Big Spring will be held in all of the seven districts of the Baptist organization. The Baptist General Convention authorized the use of the organization which was recently set up to put over the Stewardship Revival and Every-Member Canvass among Texas Baptists. Few changes are being made in these committee heads.

PONTIAC'S NEW CAR IS EASY TO HANDLE

Pontiac's success in combining all the advantages of synero-mesh transmission, of quiet, constant-mesh second gear and of controlled free-wheeling render the new cars—both the Six and the V-Eight—extremely easy to handle.

The synero-mesh always functions, regardless of whether the car is in free-wheeling—the latter being optional with the driver who may lock it "in" or "out" merely by moving a convenient control button. Matching speeds of the gears, one to the other, the synero-mesh transmission prevents clashing and insures quick positive engagement.

But Pontiac's controlled free-wheeling provides still another driving advantage. The engineers describe Pontiac's free-wheeling as "an additional over-running clutch that disengages whenever the accelerator is released and road speed exceeds engine speed." The conventional clutch pedal, of course, must be used to place the gears "in low" and start the car forward. But after that the driver may forget the clutch pedal entirely. As long as the car is moving, the over-running free-wheeling clutch remains at its service. Merely by releasing pressure on the accelerator, he automatically disengages the free-wheeling clutch and may shift into second and high or down through all the forward gears without touching the clutch pedal.

Responsive steering wheels and big, self-energizing Bendix brakes with exceptionally powerful pedal leverage make the new Pontiacs easy to steer and stop.

CALL THE 'LAW' WHEN OTHER FELLOW TALKS OVER YOUR TELEPHONE

Once in a while some Colorado business man, who happens to have telephone located in a convenient place inside the store or office, finds that an unknown customer has used the phone to talk a long distance message. This usually brings on an argument with somebody.

But, things should be different now. The 42nd legislature enacted a law making it illegal for a person to use a telephone in possession of another, without the owner's permission. A fine of from $1.00 to $100.00 is authorized.

A woman in Fort Worth is believed to be the first Texas phone owner to take advantage of the law. A few days ago she filed complaint against a man, charging him with the offense of having talked to El Paso from her telephone. The toll charge was $5.45.

When the other fellow assumes to use your telephone in making long distance calls and does not pay off, call the police.

THICKER RIBS AND BLOCKS MARK STAR TIRE TREAD

More rubber in contact with the road than ever before is a goal that Star tire engineers have achieved, according to R. B. Lovejoy, of the Hicks Rubber company.

"The tread of the Star tire has prompted favorable comment from everyone who has inspected this tire," said Mr. Lovejoy, who points to the tread design as having thicker ribs and blocks. "Two years ago, with the remarkable mileage record of Stars to go on, I felt that making any improvement on that tire would be like giving the fly, but the Star of 1931 demonstrated that, no matter how good anything gets, there is always room for improvement."

Mr. Lovejoy emphasized that there has never been any radical change in the design of the tread, but the rubber volume has been increased. He would venture no flat prediction as to how many more miles one could expect as a result of the increased amount of rubber in the tread. The Hicks-Star policy, he pointed out, is to let actual performance of the tire precede any predictions. "We know it will give more miles; just how many more, nobody knows for sure. The tire itself will tell how much better the improvements have made it."

FARMER OFFERS RECEIPT FOR MAKING HOME CHILI

A. C. Gist, farmer living a few miles north from Colorado, brought to The Record office Monday morning a receipt for making chili. He has found the receipt so desirable that he wishes to pass it on to others. It is given as follows:

To each one pound of meat add 1 small garlic button, 1/2 teaspoon cominos seed, and two pods of chili pepper. Grind the garlic and pepper with the meat. Use a coarse plate on the mill to grind. Cook until meat is tender. Put into No. 2 cans. Process 45 minutes at a pressure of 15 pounds. Seal. Fifty pounds of meat will fill approximately 24 No. 2 Cans.
