Popular Youth Succumbs At Ninth Street Home On Monday Morning

Funeral services for Don Ham, 24, late member of the Colorado high school teaching faculty, were conducted Wednesday afternoon from the First Methodist church in Mount Vernon, with the pastor, Rev. C. B. Garrett, officiating. Burial was in a Mount Vernon cemetery beside the grave of his father, J. B. Ham, who died four months ago.

Mr. Ham died at the family residence, 128 East Ninth street, Monday morning at 8 o'clock, following a brief illness. He became ill some ten days before while busy with classroom duties, but his condition was not considered seriously until Monday night of last week, when he developed pneumonia. He gradually sank until the end came.

His wife, a bride of three years and who had been a constant attendant at his bedside during the fatal illness, was present when death came. Other immediate members of the family present included his mother, Mrs. J. B. Ham, a brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ham, and Lewis Bennett, father of Mrs. Don Ham, all of Mount Vernon. Another brother, J. B. Ham, Jr., was unable to come to Colorado due to illness.

Mrs. J. B. Ham arrived from Mount Vernon Wednesday of last week after receiving information that her son was seriously ill. The other relatives arrived Monday morning some two hours before his death. Walter Ham and wife drove all night by motor car to reach here from Mount Vernon. Mr. Bennett arrived here at 6 o'clock Monday by train.

Estem in which deceased was held by the people of Colorado was demonstrated Monday afternoon when religious rites in respect to his memory were observed at First Methodist church. More than 1,000 people, many of them students from the schools, filled the auditorium to overflowing several minutes before time for the services to begin. There were few dry eyes as the long lines of friends filled from the building after adjournment of the brief service.

Mr. Ham had been an active member of the First Methodist church. For some time he had been musical director and since coming here, three years ago, had ever demonstrated his devotion to religious affairs. His pastor, Rev. L. A. Webb,

CARS STOLEN DURING SATURDAY NIGHT ARE RETURNED TO OWNERS

Motor car thieves continue to deplete in Colorado. During Saturday night two machines were taken here. Both were recovered the next day slightly damaged.

The automobile belonging to Burk Crozier of the Jones, Russell Company, was stolen from the street in front of the store between 7:30 and 8 o'clock Saturday night. Crozier came to the store at 7:30 and when he came out 30 minutes later his car was gone. The car, with battery gone, was found Sunday on the Robert Lee highway, nineteen miles southeast.

A Night prowler took car of W. S. Cooper from garage in rear of his home at 417 East Ninth street Saturday night. The machine was rolled less than two blocks down an alley, where thieves attempted to wire the ignition around the timer. Failing in attempt to get motor to run, they took a few gallons of gasoline and left it there. The damage amounted to only a few dollars.

Officers had reported no arrests in connection with either up to Tuesday afternoon.

SMALL RURAL SCHOOL IN MITCHELL COUNTY GIVEN 100 PERCENT IN RATING

McKenzie, Though Among State's Smallest, Ranks High In Merit

Miss Catherine Vavra, public health nurse for the Abilene district, has recently found that the McKenzie rural school, among the smallest in her district as to pupils enrolled, ranks 100 per cent in sanitary standards and is a model after which any public school in the State might profitably pattern. The twenty-one pupils attending are taught by Miss Beattie Mae Bilbo.

Concluding final sanitary inspection of the school grounds and equipment and looking the children over in a final attempt to find some defect somewhere, as prescribed by the State department, a certificate of special award from the department has been issued the school. Summing up some of the major

Before going to press score card reports showing that the Cuthbert, Fairview and Rogers schools, too, have been awarded similar credits by the State department. These three schools have made commendable progress in sanitation. Miss Vavra states, and are entitled to the same recognition given the McKenzie school.

achievements of this small school in its unchallenged march to leadership in the district, Miss Vavra said:

"The school scored one hundred per cent in sanitary conditions and drinking facilities and they are now engaged in a hand-washing program and they own and know how to use a first-aid kit. Students have had all physical and dental defects corrected and have been immunized against small pox and diphtheria. All students practice satisfactory health habits at home. Both teacher and students have had physical examinations by a physician during the year. Hot lunches are served at the school at noon."

Miss Vavra has done splendid work in several other schools of Mitchell county. A few weeks ago she stated, that as a rule, rural schools were eager to benefit from opportunities extended by the department. Colorado, she outlined, had extended less cooperation in this work than any other school in the county.

CHARITY BENEFIT PLAY TO BE WELL RECEIVED HERE THURSDAY NIGHT

Presentation of the 3-act comedy-drama, "A Poor Married Man," at the high school auditorium Thursday evening of this week, is expected to attract several hundred local patrons, a check of ticket sales would indicate. The play is being directed by Roy Hester and Miss Elizabeth Terrell.

"One of the most grippingly interesting dramas ever presented by Colorado's best talent," summarizes statement by the sponsors. "Not a dull moment throughout the three scenes. The promise that those attending will more than receive their money's worth."

The play is to be given as a United Charities benefit. Those directing the most call attention of the public to the fact that no general appeal has yet been made for contributions to aid the United Charities in its work here. The small admission price of 25 and 15 cents will materially assist in meeting pressing appeals, should Colorado support the show in a liberal manner.

Such well-known Colorado artists as Jimmy Logan, Burk Crozier, Joe Pond, Wm. Scott, Mrs. E. A. Dierdorff, Dimples Way and Nina Lee Rogers, are listed in the cast of characters.

Advance ticket sales indicate that the auditorium will be filled. The performance will begin at 8 o'clock.

Organized Band Of Counterfeit Money Makers Are Taken

Arrest in Dallas recently of an engraver by secret service agents brought the number of Texas men held on charges of counterfeiting up to eight. The ten dollar spurious notes placed in circulation here a few weeks ago are believed to have been manufactured by the gang.

The eighth man, employe of a Dallas engraving company, was taken by a secret service operative just as he was placing finishing touches on a $5.00 bill plate. Officials of the company with whom the man was employed aided the authorities in investigations leading to arrest of the engraver.

Three other men, Ben Quinn, Ben Love, and E. Dewey Miller, are held in jail at Dallas, in connection with the investigation. Johnnie Long and W. L. Stephens are being held at Tyler, L. W. (Shorty) Bynum is in jail at Abilene and another member of the gang is held at San Antonio. Three members of the gang formerly lived in Big Spring.

Secret service operators have been actively working on the case since information about spurious bills was given the department by Colorado and other West Texas bankers.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE URGES PEDIGREED SEED FOR NEXT COTTON CROP

Farm Committee Chairman To Direct Project During Ensuing Weeks

The Chamber of Commerce, through activities of its agricultural committee, is visualizing marked strides in the recently inaugurated campaign to improve quality of staple cotton in the Colorado territory. Under the slogan: "Only the best cotton will pay dividends this fall," the organization plans to carry campaign into every farming community of the county.

Announcement of the farmer program was made Monday by Jim Greene, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Greene stated that purchase of the seed by planters on deferred payment contracts would be available, within certain limits.

W. S. Foster, Mitchell county farm agent and chairman of the chamber's agricultural committee, has been drafted by that organization to direct the campaign. Statistical data, showing conclusively that only the best type of pedigreed cotton possible to obtain should be considered, is to support representations of the committee in urging farmers to prescribe a better day for the cotton industry in Mitchell county.

"We believe that every farmer owes it to himself to produce the best cotton possible during 1932," the committee chairman is quoted as having declared. "Such is essential if the guarantee with any degree of certainty that a profit will be realized the planters is to be held out. We urge every planter to keep this in mind."

Greene stated Monday that any interested farmer was cordially invited to visit the Chamber of Commerce office and discuss the plan. "Our organization is tendering its utmost, sincere cooperation to this campaign, and we trust that our farmer friends will make use of the Chamber of Commerce in this and all other public questions," he said.

PLOWING FOR ANOTHER CROP IS ORDER AMONG FARMERS OF COUNTY

Farmers of Mitchell county have taken advantage of ideal weather conditions prevailing recently to prepare their fields for planting. A drive into the country recently by a member of The Record staff disclosed that hundreds of acres had been turned.

Few of the farmers were flabberging their land, it was noted. As a rule the farms were being bedded with deep-set listers. Occasional small plots of wheat and other winter small grain were to be seen from the road. It was interesting to find that pasturage lands were covered with green vegetation, especially in low lying places.

SEVEN WELLS SCHOOL IS BURNED SATURDAY NIGHT ENTAILING $5,000 LOSS

Work Resumed Wednesday In An Improvised Building Near School Site

The Seven Wells school building, located seven miles south from Colorado, burned to the ground Saturday night. All equipment, including library and furniture, burned with the two-room frame structure. The loss is placed at $5,000.00, with $2,500 insurance.

Trustees state that origin of the fire, originating on inside of one of the classrooms at 11 o'clock, is unknown. There had been no fires in the classroom heaters since the Friday morning before.

School was resumed Wednesday morning in an improvised building across the highway from site of the burned school. U. D. Walfjen, member of the school board there, announced that work would be continued there for the present.

Miss Ruby McGill, county superintendent, stated Tuesday afternoon that no plans had been launched to replace the building. At that time the insurance adjuster had not arrived and pending settlement of this item, the trustees are advancing no definite objective.

Rumor has it that trustees and other citizens of the community consider effecting consolidation with the Colorado Independent school district. This report, however, has not been confirmed.

Two teachers are employed in the school. Mrs. R. A. Clements of Colorado is principal and Mrs. J. V. Robinson is grade teacher.

GOLD FOUND IN COKE COUNTY, CLAIM MADE BY ANGELO OPERATOR

An extensive mining industry within fifty miles of Colorado is in the offing, it claims of a San Angelo operator develop to be founded on fact. Rich Lynn of that city announces that an assay of the sand shows $18.00 per ton.

The find was made when a party of San Angelo operators interested themselves in sand taken from slush pit of an abandoned oil test two miles from Robert Lee. Specimens were sent to Washington and the favorable report soon came back. Just what plans are being formulated for development of the find had not been announced from San Angelo Thursday.

There will probably be no "gold rush" of the old time proportions to the locality, according to announcement from San Angelo. Lynn and associates have leased 1,800 acres surrounding the find.

'TAIL TWISTER' SETS EXAMPLE FOR OTHER MEMBERS TO EMULATE

Roy Farmer, among the most beloved citizens of Colorado and "Tail Twister" at the Lions Club, set an example Friday that other members of the service club might emulate.

Appreciating merit of the club's blind fund, this aggressive Lion fined himself twenty fines of a dime each for being absent without reasonable excuse. The $2.00 went into the club's benevolent fund.

On motion of Lion Jim Harvey it was accepted that the club members are today to dine on pie and milk alone. The balance that would go to meet expense of the regular 75 cent luncheon service will be diverted into the blind fund.

Joe Pond, vice-president, presided. Lions Oren C. Reid, L. C. McCloud, W. A. Rose and Jim Greene were among the speakers.

COLORADO OPERATOR WILL RESUME ACTIVITIES SOON IN AREA SOUTH OF IATAN

Wallace Makes Location For Test To Be Drilled On A. M. Bell Land

Location for the R. J. Wallace A. M. Bell No. 1, was made Wednesday by the Colorado operator in section 12, block 24, T. & E. Ry. Co. surveys, southwest Mitchell county. The location is 1980 feet from the east line and 1320 feet from the north line of the section.

This new test, located about five miles south of Iatan, is being considered with interest here. Local oil men and other citizens see in this step a revival of drilling operations in the Mitchell county area.

"We plan moving in and spud the test without delay," Mr. Wallace stated Wednesday. Wallace has been associated with the development end of the oil industry in West Texas for several years.

Farmer School Is Opened At Loraine By Doyle Williams

The third of a series of "farmer schools" to be conducted by Doyle Williams, director of the vocational agriculture department, Colorado high school, was opened at Loraine high school building Tuesday night with an initial enrollment of 18 citizens. "What shall I grow in the place of cotton," was the general subject considered.

The courses of study are to be given once each week, the classes convening at the school building on Monday nights. Williams stated Tuesday that he expected several score farmers and other interested citizens of Loraine and the Loraine vicinity to enroll.

The farmer school opened by Williams at Carr school several weeks ago, continues to progress, he reports. Approximately fifty citizens of that community have enrolled for the course of study.

A few weeks ago Williams conducted a successful poultry school at Buford.

He plans carrying this educational work into other communities. Citizens interested should confer with Mr. Williams at the high school.

BOY SCOUTS HONORED IN SPECIAL SERVICE GIVEN AT 1ST BAPTIST CHURCH

Ideals Built On Honor, Success, Rev. Oren Reid Tells Auditors

The Scout oath is a life precept of such strong merit that any subscribing to the tenets of the organization is going to merge in manhood to take up his place in the affairs of humanity as an ever worthy citizen.

Rev. Oren C. Reid, pastor of First Baptist church, delivering address at services honoring Boy Scouts Sunday evening, couched the principles of Scoutcraft in those terms. "Making the terms of that oath the pathway over which your feet are to walk in life will make a better boy out of any boy, anywhere, anytime," he declared.

The speaker built his address about the story of Absalom, favored son of King David. The lack of sincerity, as this son sought to set himself up as king in his father's place, regardless of consideration for his father and other friends, were outlined as a danger signal to be ever reckoned with by the youth of today.

"Is the young man, Absalom, safe?" Rev. Reid quoted from the anxious interrogation of David as the great King of Israel sought information about his son from messengers that had just returned from the battle front. And the minister carried that challenge on to the fathers and mothers, who were present at the services. "Is your boy safe tonight? If you do not know that he is, it is about time that you home to the safe, unselfish welfare in him as did David in the long ago."

"Absalom got off into the wrong environment and took up with the wrong crowd," the speaker continued. "Such an influence will always destroy. Along with you determined policy in life to be honorable, be thrifty, too, and learn while in your youth the advantages of saving money. "The spendthrift never get anywhere."

Every Protestant church in Colorado extended cooperation to the See BOY SCOUTS Page Eight

The McCleary annex, built last year by ladies taught by Mrs. J. E. McCleary, has been moved to extreme northwest corner of church lot to give room for the new building.

Hill began work on the project Wednesday. The building is to contain seven class rooms, five of which will be on the second floor. The building is to be 28x54 feet in size. Committee of church officials awarding the construction contract state the building is to be occupied by Sunday school classes as soon as it is completed and furnished.

AMERICA'S WORLD RESPONSIBILITIES

By H. J. HAAS
President American Bankers Association

WE are in a changing world, with many new financial problems for which we have no precedents, and many old problems which have so changed as to be unrecognizable.

H. J. HAAS

American bankers have been called into world affairs to blaze new trails of unknown finance. We may expect these calls to be more numerous in the future than they have in the past. We are the world's financial leader and we must accept the responsibility which goes with it.

Let us look to the future with confidence. Every one has experienced a great sorrow some time, perhaps so great we felt we could never overcome it, but time is the great healer and eventually we have come out of it. As it is with individuals, so it is with nations. Our nation has had much sorrow in the 155 years of its existence. In that time we have passed through the major depressions of 1857-1858-1873 to 1879-1884-1893-1896-1907-1914-1921 and the present.

I venture to state that in each of these periods, there were those who had doubts of the future just as we have them today, but what happened after each depression? Our country recovered, to be better and stronger than ever. Its people were introduced to modes of living they never dreamed of, until today, notwithstanding our depression, we live on the highest plane of any nation in the world. Should we not judge the future by past experience?

Surely our people are better prepared, financially and intellectually, to cope with even greater problems than they have been in the past, so why not look to the future confident that fundamental social and economic problems will be adjusted satisfactorily? Confidence is not established by any one thing but by an accumulation of things. If we can get confidence started on its way, gathering a little here and there, it will accelerate its speed as it goes along. This is not the work of any one man to perform but it is the cumulative effort of each and every one of us. What we are in the future is not the result of what we have done on any one day but the result of all that we have done for all time. The American Bankers Association is endeavoring to do its part, individually our efforts may not count for much, but they are part of the whole plan and taken in the aggregate they amount to the sum total of all our efforts.

PUBLIC INJURED BY BANK GOSSIP

National Association Declares Community Interests Demand Protection Against Idle Rumors

BOTH in their advertising and in their direct contacts with customers and others, bankers should "consciously and persistently devote more time and thought to keeping people mindful of the fact that while the bank has many obligations toward its customers, equally it is true that the depositor also has certain obligations to the bank to enable it to properly maintain its position in the community," a recent statement of the American Bankers Association declares.

"A bank admittedly is a semi-public institution and there is a mutuality of obligation resting upon both the banker and his customers to maintain the effective functioning of that institution that is superior to the personal interests of either," it says.

Bankers might well consciously devote greater effort to building up the public viewpoint in their communities that due to their public obligations and burden of public interest, the banks are entitled to protection against ill-informed or malicious gossip and rumors, the statement says.

"As to banks in some states, bank slander laws afford this protection," it points out. "We recommend that this protection be availed of by definite action wherever practical both as a matter of immediate expediency and also to awaken public opinion as to the dangers of idle gossip about a community's banking institutions."

What Can Be Done

Farmers should rid themselves of any false hope of outside aid from legislation. The only recourse left for the producer on a reduced price level is to produce his goods at reduced costs, and nearly every farmer can likely put into force a few economies in production. Farmers must produce as largely as possible the materials they use, and get away from cash purchases until prices come down proportionately on the things they buy. The cheapest way in the farming business is to raise your own feed and not let the other man get your dollars.

The average attendance for last year was only 295. There are 21 members of the graduating class, 40 per cent of whom are transfers from out of town schools.

Benefit Program
The P. T. A. benefit program "went over the top" in full swing. We had a nice crowd of appreciative listeners, who were loud in complimentary cheering. The sequel of the program showed much skill and patient training on the part of the instructor, Mrs. W. R. Martin, and the meritorious efforts of the characters deserve worthy mention.

Baptist Notes
The special service last Sunday morning for the Boy Scouts was well attended. Mr. Ferguson, Scoutmaster of the Lorainé troop, first gave us a brief history of the Scout work. Rev. Hardin preached an appealing sermon on the subject of "Being Prepared." Rev. Hardin announced that our study course would be postponed. It will be announced later just when the course will be given.

Superintendent J. E. Watson, who aspires to be a columnist, asked us to explain in detail how a columnist writes a column so that in reading it to the class each student will understand.

All ready Professor:—About 8 a. m. the wife tiptoes into the bedroom and with a meat chopper swats me smack on the clabella—that's the smooth part of the forehead—right between the eyebrows.

After a shower, shaving and my trapeze work, I go to breakfast. Incidentally, around the house I always walk on all fours. One of the most important contributions to a columnist's well-being is his food how eaten.

A columnist's breakfast should be prepared by an expert dietician. Fresh salmon, chopped up with bird seed is a good combination, but never water. Water is likely to make him brachycephalic or fat-headed.

Mr. Watson, a columnist is just what he thinks, and nothing more. He speaks what he thinks, he does what he thinks, and he writes what he thinks.

It is not likely that any other faculty is so abused by man as that of speech, and certainly the effect of no other discovery or invention is as terrible when perverted to sin.

There are obscure columnists, who are chin-cuppers. That is, instead of concentration the dwindle in an aura of mind wandering with chins cupped in their hands.

There are no flowery beds of ease. The best known columnists, like this writer, must exercise his independence of thought, speech and spoken word and go into rapport with a totally extraneous stream of thought.

There is a widespread belief that conducting a column is both easy and pleasant. The average reader has a notion that the columnist is fabulously paid for his work, grabbing a pencil and dashing off a few hundred words on some idea.

with mud up to the hubs of the chariot wheels. Members from the far South came by steamer.

No, Mr. Watson, it's not easy. If you try it, first make an index expurgatorius, this will help you to expurgate then this line of irrational ratiocination conduces to your de-vitalization for a while, then you'll see why newspaper men and other insectivora are in the game.

Then look at the letters one gets, all criticisms when you let loose a blast that riles nobody, you can make up your mind that what you have written is very much like a bladeless jack-knife, without any handle.

I am not what you would call callous, but only this week, I received a letter where the fellow seized his pen with a fervor of a Patrick Henry or a Nathan Hale, to tell me what an idiotic, bigoted, unscrupulous, biased, unethical, mal-observer of facts in the stuff turned out.

Men and women come seeking my aid for all sorts of enterprises. I was run almost ragged for a time by an estimable lady, whose mission in life was to found a home for stray cats.

One man took at least two hours of my time outlining in great detail a plan whereby all the unclean sandwiches at picnics should be salvaged and distributed to the poor.

No, my dear Alfonso, if you are columnistic inclined, may advice to you is to lay off, especially if you have anything else to do.

OPENING OF THE FIRST CONGRESS The convening of the Seventy-second Congress on December 8 in the National Capital brings forth some interesting facts from the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission about the meeting, in Federal Hall, New York City, of the First United States Congress.

Day after day, week after week, the members present met in Federal Hall, which had been done over for their accommodation. But it was not until the first day of April that any business could be transacted because quorum was lacking.

The Senate did not get together until April 5, when a quorum was finally mustered. A temporary presiding officer whose sole duty was to open and count the electoral vote, was elected. George Washington had the vote of every elector, which was generally known, and was therefore, President.

It is difficult to realize in this day, when Senators and Representatives arrive by airplane, train and motor, what an achievement a journey was in the days of the first United States Congress. It took a day and a half to make the trip from Philadelphia to New York.

with mud up to the hubs of the chariot wheels. Members from the far South came by steamer. Taverns were indifferent in service and often so crowded that it was impossible to secure comfortable accommodations, so it was small wonder that the members of Congress were loathe to leave their homes and firesides for the uncertain comfort of the long highway to the seat of the National government.

Worthy New York citizens had contributed the sum of $32,000 for the purpose of remodeling the old City Hall, repainting and renovating the building, which when completed, received the new name of Federal Hall, and was placed by the City Council at the disposal of Congress.

The appearance of the hall was impressive for those days, the basement story in Tuscan style with seven openings and four massive pillars in the center, supported by four heavy arches, above which rose four Doric columns.

The entrance on Broad street opened into a large plainly furnished room, to which every one had free access, and beyond this was the vestibule, which led in front to the Hall of Representatives, and thence to the Senate chamber.

The Hall of Representatives was somewhat octagonal in shape, with niches for statues at intervals. The windows were about 16 feet above the floor, the fine wainscoting below, interrupted by four great fireplaces. In the panels between the windows were trophies carved, and the letters U. S. in cipher surrounded with laurel.

The Speaker's chair was on an elevated platform, opposite the principal entrance. Each member had a separate chair and desk. Guests of the members were seated in two galleries in front of the Speaker's dais. The general public was admitted only to an area on the floor outside the bar. In this room the windows were hung in light blue damask, the chairs covered with same material.

The Senate chamber was if anything more elegant than the Hall of Representatives. It was approached by stairs on the east side of the vestibule, through an antechamber, communicating with an iron gallery as well as with the Hall of Representatives. There were three windows at each end, those toward Wall street opening into an out-door gallery 12 feet deep and guarded by an iron railing.

COLORADO BOY IN CAST OF UNIVERSITY COMEDY FORT WORTH—Jimmie Beal of Colorado, student in Texas Christian University, played one of the leading roles in a short comedy skit presented at a meeting of Los Hidalgos Thursday evening, Feb. 4.

ABILENE VISITOR NOT OUT AFTER THE VOTES "No, I am not running for office. Just trying to be sociable among some of my old-time friends," explained "Big Boy" Kyle, owner and manager of the American Cafe, Abilene, as he dispensed cigars of extraordinary length here Tuesday afternoon.

I CANNOT DO WITHOUT CRAZY CRYSTALS I cannot do without Crazy Crystals. Should they never cure me of this terrible kidney and bladder trouble I would not take hundreds of dollars for the relief that I have obtained from them in the last six months.

ATTRACTIVENESS BIG DEVELOPMENT FACTOR FOR ANY COMMUNITY

"People usually select the location for their home or business for some material reason. Some are attracted to a given locality because they believe they can make money. Others are attracted because of the attractiveness of the place."

Thus, R. C. Morrison, landscape engineer with the Fort Worth City park board, outlined, in brief, the reasons that should prompt Colorado to give definite attention to plans for improving its parks, streets and private home grounds, through landscaping and platting of gardens.

Mr. Morrison lectured to a representative group of men and women at the Hotel Colorado Tuesday afternoon. He is on a tour of West Texas through courtesy of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the city of Fort Worth.

His lecture was profusely illustrated with stereopticon views, showing what transformations may be realized in most any neglected spot through platting and the making of flower gardens and lawns.

CARD OF THANKS I wish to express my sincerest thanks for every expression of sympathy and help rendered during the illness and death of my dear wife, Mrs. Bessie Hovis, also for the beautiful floral offerings, and I assure you that each and every one will always be remembered.

Is Your Gasoline Tax Money BUILDING GOOD ROADS OR ENRICHING RACKETEERS? You pay a tax on every gallon of gasoline you buy. Your state levies this tax to pay for building good roads. But your state is not getting all the money paid as a gasoline tax. RACKETEERS ARE TAKING AN ALARMING AMOUNT OF IT! They are selling bootlegged gasoline on which they pay the state no tax—but they make motorists pay all or a part of the tax. The racketeer keeps this tax money himself! You get your tax back in the form of good roads when the state collects the tax. You get nothing when racketeers get your money. And remember—if your state got all the money paid as tax, it could well afford to lower its gasoline tax! If you want your money to go into road building instead of into the racketeer's pockets, make sure the gasoline you buy is not bootlegged. Buy gasoline made by a reliable, law-abiding company and sold under a dependable, well-known brand name, and be certain that your tax money goes to your state and not to the racketeers. That's the only way to beat the racketeers. CONOCO Gasoline is a branded gasoline you can buy with safety at the sign of the CONOCO Red Triangle. CONTINENTAL OIL COMPANY CONOCO

Is your boy and girls in Sunday school? If not, why not? We feel that our boys and girls deserve the very best and that is just what we are trying to give them in Sunday school. Last Sunday our attendance numbered 100. We are expecting far above that this Sunday. Do your part!

Rev. Allen brought an inspirational message Sunday at both the 11 o'clock and the evening hour. There was good attendance, and the singing seemed unusually good. We were glad to welcome so many of our people, and feel the hand of God in the work. We were glad so many of the Methodist people worshiped with us. The Senior B. Y. P. U. from Spade rendered a program of much value at the church Sunday afternoon. Much interest was manifested in all the unions last Sunday night and all are greatly encouraged in the work. There was fellowship at the quiet hour of prayer Wednesday night. There will be choir practice also, at each prayer service.

Did you know our Workers' meeting is next Monday, February 15, at Snyder, and that we are going over there and bring away some of those blessings?

We missed you at the Teachers and officers meeting last Friday night. You surely missed a wonderful service. If you are interested in the work, and can possibly come, we urge you to attend these meetings.

CORRECT INFLATIONS

Correct inflations and maximum carrying capacities for all sizes of balloon and high pressure truck and bus tires, just released by Goodyear factory engineers have been received in a table posted at Connell & Beal's, Goodyear dealers on Second street. This revised chart, according to this popular firm, clearly emphasizes the difference between the high pressure and balloon types in which there is considerable misunderstanding in a great many sections, and the new chart shows the load capacity in a clear, concise way that will be a big help to operators of truck fleets.

"It is interesting to note some of the changes in tires, both with reference to tire sizes, capacities and inflations," said Allen Connell. "For instance, the chart shows the 13-50-24 balloon truck or bus tire with a carrying capacity of 9,100 pounds per tire, as against the greatest high pressure carrying capacity of a 44x 10 high pressure type tire of 6,000 pounds."

You are invited to make use of this chart at any time.

EDITORIAL

St. Valentine's Day
Sunday, February 14, will be St. Valentine's Day throughout the nation. This day was originally observed particularly in England, but to a certain extent upon the continent, too.

It is a day more famous as a lovers' festival, and on this day affectionate greetings in the way of valentines and candy are exchanged.

The custom originated from the manner the people of earlier and more remote times celebrated St. Valentine. The custom was to place the names of young men and women in a box, and draw them out in pairs on St. Valentine's eve. Those whose names were drawn together had to exchange presents and be each other's valentines throughout the ensuing year. Later only the men made presents.

Today St. Valentine's Day is observed in a less formal fashion, but the custom is yet observed by all couples. It is observed now solely for its unique and customary observance.

The days of Cupid are not over; send valentines!

IN MEMORIAM

In the hearts of every member of the student body and faculty is a deep, sincere regret at the loss of one of its dearest friends, Mr. W. D. Ham.

There are few words which can express our feelings for this occasion, and only poets of old can express our true sentiments for this faithful, happy, and loyal teacher and friend. His life of happiness and good-will is pictured in the following poem:

THE CHARACTER OF A HAPPY LIFE

(Sir Henry Wotton)

How happy is he born and taught,
That serveth not another's will;
Whose armor is his honest thought,
And simple truth his utmost skill!

Whose passions not his master are;
Whose soul is still prepared for death,
United unto the world by care,
Of public fame or private breath;

Who envies none that chance doth raise;
Nor vice hath ever understood,
(How deepest wounds are given by praise!)
Nor rules of State, but rules of good;

Who hath his life from rumors freed;
Whose conscience is his strong retreat;
Whose state can neither flatterers feed,
Nor ruin make oppressors great;

Who God doth late and early pray,
More of his grace, than gifts, to lend,
And entertains the harmless day
With a religious book or friend!

This man is freed from servile bands
Of hope to raise or fear to fall!
Lord of himself, though not of lands;
And having nothing, yet hath all!

And thus one can visualize the life of this Christian man. At the door of our hearts shall ever be a candle of love burning, which time can never snuff out for the friend now departed.

From Shakespeare's Sonnets comes a thought we wish to express:

When to the sessions of sweet silent thought
I summon up remembrance of things past,
I sigh the lack of many a thing I sought,
And with old woes new wail my dear time's waste;

Then can I drown an eye, unused to flow,
For precious friends hid in death's dateless night,
And weep afresh love's long-since-concealed woe,
And moan the expense of many a vanished sight.

Then can I grieve at grievances foregone,
And heavily from woe to woe tell o'er
The sad account of fore-bemoaned moan,
Which I now pay as if not paid before.

But if the while I think on thee,
Dear friend,
All losses are restored, and sorrows end.

KING IS CANDIDATE FOR SECOND ELECTIVE TERM AS MITCHELL CO. JUDGE

Pledges Continuation of His Policy of Strict Regard Of Duties Involved

A. F. King, Mitchell county judge, last week announced his candidacy for the second elective term, offering as his platform the promise to maintain a well defined policy of giving the most strict attention to the duties of his office.

He stated that it was his ambition to personally discuss his candidacy with every voter in the county. The candidate expects to inaugurate his campaign at an early date. He stated that it was his ambition to personally discuss his candidacy with every voter in the county.

There is to be no change in policies of conducting the responsible office of county judge, if you, the voters, elect to retain me in that place of public service," King stated. "My record as your public servant is well known and it is upon that record that I am seeking the honor of election to the second term."

Judge King has, since his induction into office a little more than a year ago, demanded the most rigid economy in every department of the county government. His leadership as presiding officer of the commissioners court has not failed in making definite strides along these lines. He is for the people of his

Restless, could not sleep

"THERE were days when I felt like I could not get my work done. I would get so nervous and 'trembly' I would have to lie down. I was very restless, and could not sleep at night. My mother advised me to take Cardui, and I certainly am glad she did. It is the first thing that seemed to give me any strength. I felt better after the first bottle. I kept it up and am now feeling fine."—Mrs. T. R. Gibson, Fort Payne, Ala.

Dunn Doings

By WILSON ROSS

Rev. J. D. Farmer, daughter and son, of Roaring Springs, visited here last Thursday and Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Scott visited in Big Spring last Sunday.

Mr. J. Arthur Edwards of Hart, spent the week-end here with his family.

Rev. J. E. McDermitt of Colorado preached at the Baptist church here last Sunday.

Mrs. W. E. Strong spent the week-end with her parents in Post.

Rev. J. P. Magee was in Sweetwater on business Monday.

A party in honor of Miss Dorothy Bolding's, J. P. Ellis' and Charlie Johnston's fifteenth birthday, was given at the home of J. P. Ellis last Thursday night. Refreshments of hot chocolate and cake were served to many boys and girls, after many delightful games were played. A good time was reported by all present.

The Dunn basket ball teams received high honors at the county (Scurry) basket ball tournament last Friday and Saturday. The girls team was beaten by Byron with a score of 12-14 in their first game.

The boys won the tournament easily, beating all their opponents by large scores. In the boys first game Bison was beaten 47-4. Next, in the semi-finals, Fluvanna was beaten 27-9. The Dunn-Snyder game offered more surprises to the spectators because it was expected to be a close one. The Snyder boys were easily beaten by Dunn, the score being 25-5. These boys have won high honors in two other tournaments, rising to the semi-finals in both. The first was at Colorado and the next at McCamey. Now, they are expected to place in District meet at Big-Spring next Friday and Saturday. The main players of the girls' team are: Edith and Edna Murphy, Johnnie McFarland, Audie Crabtree, Mildred Warner, Evelyn Grimes, Pansy Moon, and Modine Ashley. These girls played a great game, and a large part of the credit is due to the coach, Miss Beola Kirby. The boys' team was composed of Alvis Gary, captain and guard; Hugh Brown, guard; Ernest Lester, center; Morris Ashley, forward; Royce Johnson, forward; and Ray Sherrod and Paul Johnson, substitutes. Coach Stark has spent much time training these boys and should receive quite a bit of the honor bestowed upon the team. Even though the team may be beaten at Big Spring, the winning team will certainly know they played a game of basket ball.

LAUGHS, TEARS, MARIE DRESSLER GETS BOTH IN 'EMMA' AT THE PALACE

Marie Dressler, who alternates successfully between comedy and stirring character portrayals, has brought a blend of both to the screen in "Emma," which opens Sunday at the Palace theatre and will continue through to Monday.

Although there plenty of laughs in her latest story "Emma" stands out as a picture which gives Miss Dressler the greatest acting opportunities of her career. There were very few dry eyes in the theatre when Miss Dressler finished her pathetic scene in which she is placed on trial for murder. Incidentally, this is the star's first straight character portrayal since her work in "Min and Bill," the picture which won her the Academy award for the best performance of any actress in 1931.

"Emma" is an original story of American family life, by Frances Marion, who wrote "Min and Bill," "The Champ," and "The Big House." Miss Dressler is seen as a servant in a rich man's home, who works all her life slaving for his children to whom she is a second mother. When she ultimately becomes the wife of the millionaire, the children turn against her, refusing to accept her as a stepmother, because it impairs their social ambitions. The death of the millionaire results in a notorious will contest which involves Miss Dressler in an accusation of murder. The story is then brought to a surprising but logical conclusion.

Miss Dressler gives a flawless performance and again proves that she is in a class of her own, whether she is getting laughs by means of her riotous facial contortions or tears by her natural and sympathetic acting. Be sure to see this wonderful picture at the Palace theatre Sunday and Monday.

WOLVES OUTPLAY HYMAN TO COP COUNTY BANNER AS CAGE TOURNEY ENDS

Boys Go To Big Spring Next For Sectional Bouts Opening Friday

While Colorado girls were being eliminated by Loraine feminine cagers for coveted county pennant in finals played here Saturday, the Wolves were more successful in that they emerged from last game of the tournament to claim supremacy over Hyman. The score was 26-20.

Hyman boys, however, saw to it that the locals paid for that honor. It was one of the most stubbornly fought basket ball games played on the Colorado gym floor this season.

Colorado was held to low scoring record, as the total points indicate and only nosed out the boys from Southwest Mitchell county by the small margin of six figures.

Friday the Wolves are to go to Big Spring for play in annual sectional tournament, out of which champion title for western end of District No. 4 is to be determined. Here the locals are to engage the Big Spring Steers, doped as among the strong quintets of the district. Dunn boys, too, winner in Scurry county, is expected to give strong accounting of themselves in the Big Spring arena.

In winning Scurry county pennant, those boys from the Dunn school did not fail to upset the dope bucket. The haughty Tigers, heralded in their own den with loud acclaim as being formidable in athletic contests, were given a severe drubbing at hands of these lads. Dunn, in games played here recently, demonstrated strong technique and a brand of basket ball that is calculated to run up high scoring records.

Winner in the Big Spring meet will be pitted against victorious team at similar contest being held in Abilene at the same time. The district is divided into two sections for play until the finals are scheduled.
