COURT PLEADS WITH BOYS WHO STAND CONVICTED IN CRIME TO BE 'REAL MEN'

'Every Good Citizen Will Be Your Friend,' Brooks Says In Address

"About the lowest thing a boy can do is to sell his principle and honor in exchange for a bottle of bootleg booze and a few hours of diversion that he terms having a good time, when in having that make-believe good time he follows the path that leads into crime," Judge Jim Brooks of special 32nd district court said to two headless youths arraigned in his court Tuesday morning to be sentenced after juries trying their cases had returned verdicts of guilty.

One of the boys, Ralph Basham, stated to the court he was only 18 years of age. He stood convicted on the charge of burglary. The other youth, too a mere boy, was Homer Wyatt, who a short time before had heard a verdict of guilty returned against him. He was charged with car theft.

"The jury trying your case have seen fit to give you a chance to make a man out of yourself," Judge Brooks stated after reciting that the five-year pen sentence given both had been suspended. "Are you boys proud of that sentence? Did you go home to your parents last night and boastfully announce that you had been given one of those wonderful suspended sentences in exchange of your debt to the State for the crime you committed?"

"Every good citizen in this county will extend you his aid in becoming real men. To the contrary if you elect to go back into crime, every person who has no regard for law and order will embrace you into his friendship. I hope that you boys will get out from this court room determined that you are to take advantage of the opportunity to develop into honorable citizens."

Two other youths were convicted and given pen sentences during the first two days of court this week. They were Dean Shumaker, charged with burglary of the Gulf Refining Company station in West Colorado on the night of December 21. He was given two years in the penitentiary, the jury declining to recommend the suspended sentence feature.

Other member of the quartet, Herschel Hays of Tahoka, convicted on the charge of forgery. Charges against him developed from a worthless check given the Pick and Pay store here a few weeks ago.

LUBBOCK COURT HOUSE MATERIAL HAULED OUT OF COLORADO IN 1892

The Lubbock Morning Avalanche for Thursday prints photographic reproduction of the first court house in that Plains town, erected in 1892. Materials for construction of the building, a two-story frame structure were hauled out of Colorado by freight wagons, the article recalls. The building was moved from its original site on the public square in 1915.

In those days and for a decade before Colorado City, as it was then known, enjoyed an extensive trade territory in West Texas. Supplies were transported by wagon trains into the West and Northwest for distances as far out as 150 miles. With the building of railway lines into the area, however, the once extensive trade territory gradually diminished.

PENITENTIARY TERMS FOR TWO MEN CHARGED AFTER BURGLARY AT WESTBROOK

Corp Hipp, Albert McKinney Given Speedy Trials In District Court

Machinery of special 32nd district court was speeded up during at least two days of court here this week following development of clues as to identity of thieves who broke into the Frank Oglesby grocery at Westbrook Friday night.

The grand jury, recessed by Judge Brooks on Wednesday, March 2, was called back Tuesday morning and within a short time indictments had been returned against Corp Hipp of Colorado and Albert McKinney of Westbrook charging them with burglary of the Oglesby store. The men were brought to trial Wednesday and upon conviction received pen sentences.

Hipp received two years in the penitentiary. Due to fact he was under a suspended sentence, given him here last year upon conviction on the charge of theft of a motor car belonging to Carey Prude, he was not eligible to claim benefit of the suspended sentence law in the more recent offense. In pronouncing sentence the court permitted the two terms, both for two years, to run concurrently.

McKinney was assessed a 5-year suspended sentence, after it had been shown the court he had never been convicted on a felony charge. In addition to indictments returned against Hipp and McKinney, the grand jury, in its final report filed with the court Wednesday morning shortly before noon, reported a bill of indictment against John Grafford of Westbrook on the charge of selling intoxicating liquors. Grafford will be tried on a day yet to be named during next week, the district attorney stated late Wednesday.

The three bills reported by the grand jury Wednesday morning placed total felonies for the term at 17. Fourteen of those indictments were included in list of bills reported when the twelve men recessed March 2.

DRIVE TO CURTAIL PUBLIC TAX BURDEN TAKEN UP AT COLORADO BY C-C GROUP

Rail Official Confers With Local Committee Tuesday As To Objectives

Insistence of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce that effective measures to curtail the ever mounting burden of taxation must be checked found response in Colorado Tuesday afternoon, when W. R. Lence, Abilene rail executive, met with executive officials of the Chamber of Commerce to discuss the tax retrenchment objective as sponsored by the regional organization.

Members of the local public expenditure committee, composed of Mayor Hutchinson, County Judge A. F. King, J. W. Watson, J. Riordan and P. K. Mackey, with other Chamber of Commerce executives met with Mr. Lence to discuss the plan.

"Taxes are becoming too high in Texas and we are facing the imperative duty of demanding that a halt be made in the ever increasing trend to pile additional burdens upon the shoulders of our people," Lence declared. "The only effective way to reduce taxes is to curtail public expenses."

Lence, in outlining objective of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to meet this condition effectively, suggested that Colorado join with other communities of the State in supporting needed changes in laws regulating the expenditures of public monies. Among these it is suggested that all administrative governments, including the school district, municipal and county divisions of the State's tax assessing and collecting set-up be required to budget every item of expense and give to the taxpayer in advance an itemized statement showing just where his money is to go.

"Taxation and navigation of the Trinity river are two matters I have heard discussed ever since I can remember, but nothing has ever been done about either. I sincerely hope that Texans will be able to realize some relief from the former in this instance," said Lon Geer, district manager of the Texas Electric Service Company, who was in Colorado at the time.

APPEAL TAKEN IN ROTNER CASE AFTER NEW TRIAL IS DENIED BY JUDGE BROOKS

Jury Returns Verdict Tuesday Giving Local Merchant 2 Years In Pen

Attorneys for defense in the H. Rotner attempted arson case filed notice of appeal in special 32nd district court late Wednesday immediately after motion for a new trial had been overruled by Judge Brooks. The afternoon before a jury trying his case had returned a verdict of guilty, assessing his punishment at two years in the State penitentiary.

The Rotner case was called for trial when Judge Brooks convened court Tuesday morning. Both State and defense announced ready for trial. Selection of the jury and introduction of evidence consumed much of the day. Arguments in the case were completed shortly before six o'clock that afternoon and the jury retired. Within a few minutes they reported finding a verdict of guilty.

The defendant is owner and manager of a general store on Oak street. He was placed under arrest on the night of December 23, last year by Police Chief Dick Hickman, after fire had been discovered inside the store. Six days later Rotner was released from custody of the sheriff under bond of $2,000. Indictment charging him with attempted arson was returned by the grand jury March 2.

The defense was represented by Thompson and Barber. District Attorney Mahon was assisted in prosecution of the case by W. H. Garrett, county attorney.

Soon after the case had been called Tuesday morning defense counsel moved to quash the indictment. This was overruled by the court. Later, after evidence had been introduced, the defense moved for an instructed verdict of acquittal on the grounds the indictment was irregular. This, too, was overruled.

"Cotton" Shelton was tried Wednesday on the charge of driving a motor car while intoxicated and given a $25 fine and sixty days in jail. He was also barred from driving a motor vehicle of any kind, anywhere, for a period of two years.

Miss Broadus is a student of public speaking in the university and is also a private instructor of the subject.

CHURCHES

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

We were much pleased to have such a large number of visitors from other churches worship with us Sunday morning. There were no preaching services at two of our sister churches and many of those good people joined with us. The Methodist church always appreciates visitors.

Remember that our Wednesday evening services begin at 7:45 now. All other services at the usual hours. We hope to occupy the new Sunday school annex in another one or two weeks. That should mean increased interest in the Sunday school.

JACKIE COOPER IN "SNOOKY"

AT PALACE THURSDAY-FRIDAY
Jackie Cooper, the phenomenal two-headed boy who teamed so effectively with wistful and brunette Robert Coogan in the first Percy Crosby to reach the screen, "Skippy," co-stars again with Coogan in a new shantytown adventure for the Crosby successor, "Snooky," which will be shown at the Palace Theatre Thursday and Friday, March 24 and 25.

Paramount, which produced the first Crosby hit, in its successor wisely has maintained as much of the original cast and technical staff as possible.

In addition to Cooper as "Skip" and Coogan as "Snooky" five other members of the "Skippy" cast carry on in roles which they created. They are Jackie Searle as "Sidney," Wilford Robertson as "Dr. Skinner," Enid Bennett as "Mrs. Skinner," Helen Jerome Eddy as "Mrs. Wayne," and Guy Oliver as "Mr. Moggs."

Norman Taurog again directs. Sam Mintz and Don Marquis contribute to the adaptation and dialogue, the same capacities they occupied for "Skippy," and all in all, "Snooky" should prove quite satisfying and entertaining.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE PEOPLE OF MITCHELL COUNTY

Feeling the need for an organization that will render aid for the family of the bereaved, and desiring to be able to go into homes at that time and lift a burden instead of having to leave one; therefore

I will begin next week the organization of the Mitchell County Burial Association.

This Association is for the benefit and protection of Mitchell county citizens, and will be made possible only by and through your assistance and cooperation.

This will enable me to give burial benefits paid to you in CASH, upon the death of any member.

I have taken this plan for our mutual benefit and protection, and my next week will briefly explain the plan.

Your assistance and cooperation will enable me through our association, to relieve the burden and embarrassment that fall heaviest with bereavement.

I will need others to assist me that I may be prepared to render this much needed relief to the people of this county.

Be prepared before you are forced to face this heart-rendering necessity by becoming a member.

"Quit-Rents" in Britain

Survivals of Old Days

The number of properties in England and Scotland still held for "quit-rents" is as surprising as the character of some of the rents themselves. From the duke of Wellington the king receives each year a small silken banner on the anniversary of the battle of Waterloo. This banner, a French Tricolor, is sent for Stratfieldsaye, the estate voted the duke's great ancestor by parliament. The duke of Marlborough holds his estate by presentation to the king of another tiny silken banner on the anniversary of the battle of Blenheim, which his famous forebear won.

The Scottish duke of Atholl must furnish the king of Great Britain with a white rose in respect of his estate. Blair Atholl, on the occasion of every royal visit thereto, and the marquis of Aylesbury is similarly bound to present his sovereign with an ivory cup whenever the latter goes hunting in Savernake forest.

Kidwelly castle, one of the oldest and strongest ones in Wales, is held on condition that the king, when visiting the vicinity, is furnished with the services of a knight in full armor—Exchange.

Recalling the Delights of Community Singing

Music, after all, is the finest sort of sport, of personal recreation. Looking back to the days of a century ago, when art was closer to the people, perhaps, than it is now, we find that music belonged to everybody, not as a mark of social or intellectual superiority, but as a common heritage of beauty.

Families grouped themselves into small orchestras or ensemble units. Mendelssohn got his first taste of music directing the orchestra that was formed by his family members and their friends who met in his father's house. Communities took their pleasure by singing in societies. People went visiting for an evening's fun with their flutes or their fiddles under their arms in green balze bags.

Those people of the Eighteenth century were happier for their music and have handed on to us an enviable tradition of musical participation. That is the sort of thing we need to recultivate today if music is to occupy the place it merits in our personal lives and our national development.—Harold Bauer in the Etude.

Not Serious Error

A preacher and a lawyer who were traveling together fell to discussing mistakes in speaking.

"What do you do," asked the preacher, "if you have a slip of the tongue and say something you didn't intend to say?"

"That depends," replied the lawyer. "If it is a serious mistake I go back and correct it; if only a slight mistake I pass on and do not notice it. What do you do?"

"I follow the same rule," responded the preacher. "For instance, last Sunday in the course of my sermon I intended to say that the devil was the father of liars but by a slip of the tongue I said that the devil was the father of lawyers."

"What did you do?" asked the lawyer.

"It was such a slight mistake that I went on without noticing it."

Ain't Nature Grand?

They were seeing America first in the family automobile. Thanks to the wonderful variety of billboards in traveling from Detroit to Ann Arbor, they were able to see Niagara falls, the Grand canyon, the Eiffel tower, the Mediterranean, the Golden gate, three camels and a de luxe steamship crossing the marshes, Pike's peak, and the headliners in a three-ring circus. Hungering for a bit of natural scenery, little sister looked to the sky.

"Oh! See the pretty clouds," she cried.

"Them's not clouds," Bobby scoffed. "That's a sky writer an' them clouds would spell dad's favorite shirts if it wasn't so windy."—Detroit Motor News.

Of the Citrus Family

The calamondin is a variety of citrus fruit (Citrus mids) which is unique among citrus fruits in being the hardest of the acid species now being grown in America. Its dense head with bright green leaves, upright habit and small fruits resembling tangerines in shape and color make it one of the most ornamental of the citrus allies. The fruits are bright orange-red, 1 to 1½ inches in diameter, with deep orange flesh. The juice is well flavored and very acid. It is a valuable garden fruit adaptable to those sections where the autumn and kumquat are grown and is unsurpassed among seed-making fruits.

Evolution of the Quilt

The history of quilts is involved in a tradition of long centuries of slow but certain progress; in fact, the origin of all domestic arts is shrouded in mystery. No positive reference to patchwork or quilting is found in western Europe prior to the time of the Crusades, but from the Eleventh century these arts become more and more conspicuous in the needlecraft of nearly every country in western Europe. Noticeable progress was made in the design of quilts during the Middle Ages in Spain. Some of the finest specimens of quilts of this period have been preserved in Persia.

CLYDE SMITH CANDIDATE FOR NOMINATION AS TAX COLLECTOR, MITCHELL CO.

Loraine Citizen Serving 3rd Term As Commissioner; Citizen 20 Years

Clyde Smith, county commissioner from the Loraine precinct, announced Wednesday that he had entered his candidacy for nomination to the office of county collector of taxes. He is inaugurating his campaign subject to the Democratic primary election in July.

Mr. Smith is now serving his third term as a member of commissioners' court. He has been a resident citizen of Loraine for twenty years. As a public official he merits the distinction of maintaining a most commendable record and the same is to be said as to his private life.

There is not a better qualified citizen in the county for the important office, to quote statement made Wednesday by a strong admirer of the Loraine man. Voters would make no mistake in intrusting that office into his charge as it was further declared.

Smith holds a unique record of service during the World War. He was a member of the famous 6th Machine Gun battalion, U. S. Marine corps, that saw much of the actual fighting in France. He was decorated with the croix de guerre by the French government for distinguished bravery in action and later given a divisional citation by his own command. Another honor in which he prided came when his battalion colors were decorated for distinction.

"I am in this campaign to win and certainly am pledging the voters of this county the very best that I possess in the way of courteous, prompt and honorable service," Smith stated. "I will appreciate an investigation by any citizen of my merits for the office I am seeking."

Baptist Church Notes—

Services were richly blessed Sunday, and God is truly having his way in the hearts of all attending our services.

At the morning service, a young lady was saved and asked baptism and membership in our church.

The evening service was blessed with an "old-time revival" and the salvation of three souls and the reclamation of another.

Sunday school was well attended, considering bad weather, and good lessons were enjoyed in all departments. The officials and teachers of this Sunday school are urged to be present at the meeting at 7:30 Friday night at the church. We plan to discuss our Easter plans and also plans for the mission program.

Several of our people were visitors in the Big Spring association workers conference last Tuesday. Bro. W. R. White of Fort Worth was among the speakers, and all were greatly inspired by his message. Those attending from here were the pastor, Rev. C. A. Allen, Supt. S. J. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clifton, Mrs. J. J. Moore, Misses Gussie Bledsoe and Ruby Hines.

The W. M. S. had a wonderful service at the church Monday afternoon and a great program of work is being planned.

Methodist Church News—

Last Sunday our attendance in Sunday school was very good. We hope to have many more next Sunday.

day. Preaching services were well attended Sunday evening and the pastor brought an inspirational message.

The Ladies' Missionary Society had a fine meeting Monday afternoon. The prayer service was led by Mrs. Lee, then we had our last lesson in our Mission Study book, which was followed by a short business meeting. Most everyone was on time. Let's keep this up. We will begin our meeting each Monday afternoon strictly at 2:45 o'clock. You be on time if you want to get the benefit of all the meetings.

We had a good prayer service last Wednesday evening, even though our crowd was small.

The children's work is still going on good.

Those who attended the "spiritual meeting" which was held on Friday of this week at First Methodist church in Sweetwater were Rev. and Mrs. Kay Lee, Mrs. Van Boston and son, Lynn Doyle, and Mrs. Bill Hague.

SEVEN WELLS SCHOOL NEWS

By ALLINE LINDLEY

We just have flu so bad in this school we can't think of another thing when we begin to give you a list of the sick. This week there wasn't a well one in the school to give you the list.

We have been interested in many things this school year. When Edison died, we had many English lessons on his life and work. Then we got interested in the war. We followed the Japs and studied China and Japan and our position in the fracas and half wanted to whip Japan. From that we began to study the Washington bicentennial. We learned songs and readings and reviewed history and looked up articles and stories in magazines about him.

The most interesting thing then happened to us, but more tragic than the Japanese war. Our school burned. There was hardly a Seven Wells boy or girl that did not cry over it, if he wasn't too big to cry. We all want to say to those who are asking if any of us kids burned this house "NO!" We are not that kind. People keep asking us and we are tired of it. Now, we are terribly interested in the Lindbergh baby. We keep up with the radio news every day, and are going to write an account of where, in our opinion, he is, and tell how he will be returned home.

Roy Bassham shipped his calves to Fort Worth today.

We have two new pupils, Labama and Preston Muckey, this week. We bid the children welcome to our school, and the family welcome to our community.

Pearl Venus and Cecil Browne spent the day with us at school Friday and took dinner with Mrs. Clements. We enjoyed the visit.

We enjoy The Record every Friday, when we can read our school news in it, but we are disappointed when you cut our piece square in to and don't print it at all.

DORN'S CHAPEL

Rev. W. M. Whitley, former pastor of the Methodist church at Westbrook, will preach next Sunday morning, March 20, at Dorn's Chapel. All in the community are cordially invited to be present.

J. I. KELLEY, Pastor.

THE MACHINE AGE SPOILS A PROPHECY

By H. L. RUSSELL

Advisory Council, Agricultural Commission, American Bankers Association.

H. L. RUSSELL

A NOTED British scientist forecast thirty years ago that by 1931 all available wheat land in the world would be under cultivation, and the yields per acre could not be increased beyond that which then prevailed there would be a world shortage. The average yield then was 12.7 bushels per acre. During the past seven years, the world over, it has been 14.1. On the 320,000,000 acres in cultivation this increase would amount to almost a half billion bushels more production than the world standards of thirty years ago. In place of dire distress due to shortage, we have had dire distress due to surplus.

What farmers have shown no great inclination to curtail materially their output; perhaps a 10% decline compared with 70% reduction in steel. This unwillingness, or perhaps inability, to adjust production to current needs makes the problem all the harder to solve.

Not only are we now growing more wheat per unit of land, but acreage has been very greatly extended. In twenty years Canada has increased acreage 250%, Australia almost as much. Another significant fact is the materially lessened use of wheat. A much more diversified diet has developed. More vegetables and fruits are used than formerly. The reduction of 1.2 bushels consumed per person per annum since the last generation necessitates nearly 150,000,000 bushels less wheat than was formerly required.

Machines Increase Supply
The factor that has exerted the most potent influence in this rising world flood of grain has been the rapid development of the machine. The old days of the cradle required from thirty to forty hours of hand labor to harvest an acre of grain. Then came the binder, which reduced the process to four or five hours per acre. Now the combine does the work in forty-five minutes per acre.

Where it used to cost ten cents a bushel merely to thresh the grain, the modern combine cuts and threshes at a cost ranging from 2 to 5 cents a bushel. With this reduced cost of production, the possibility of acreage expansion is tremendous. Lands heretofore regarded as worthless except for grazing have recently come into competition with the older wheat belts.

The Russian Effort
Within the past two or three years another disturbing element has come into the picture. Soviet Russia is attempting a comeback fraught with possibility that cannot yet be fully evaluated. Russia is eagerly utilizing the very latest of scientific knowledge to enlarge her agricultural possibilities. With feverish anxiety she is literally pouring millions into the expansion of her university research institutes, experimental stations and breeding farms. Her scientists are combing the earth for new crops and new methods. No country in Europe is manifesting more interest and activity in laying hold of the best science, wherever it may be found.

It is of more than passing interest that the wheat yields reported on the huge trust farm known as the "Giant" ran last year as much as 18 bushels to the acre. On this single farm the crop harvested is reported to have been 3,865,000 bushels. A single farm of 427,000 acres under government control and mechanized as fast as human energy can be applied is a new factor in the world's picture.

There can be but little doubt that the Russian situation may yet assume quite a different attitude from what obtained even in pre-war days.

Bankers Hold Farm Conference
A "feeders' conference" was held in a state bank at Presho, South Dakota, attended by fifty farmers. The conference stressed the feeding of low price wheat and barley, and marketing through livestock. Later, booklets in the feeding of wheat were distributed among the farmers, and a feeders column was carried in the local paper each week.

"We have had more success with the conference and with the feeders column in the local paper, than with any other undertaking we have tried," the bankers said. "As a result there is about three times as much livestock being fed out in our territory than ever before. We plan to hold other similar conferences the coming year."

The benefits of civilization exist because of the capital accumulated by those who have gone before. Through accumulation of capital our great railroads have been constructed, our public utilities have been built and our mills, office buildings and homes have arisen.

Texas Woman Wins Automobile

MRS. MABEL G. WATSON, 1011 N. Main, Houston, has won the automobile in the daily national game contest announced last Wednesday night over the Columbia network. Mrs. Watson was born in Texas (she has lived in Houston for many years) but has been in Houston for all her life. She has a car of a Ford, Chevrolet or Plymouth automobile as a reward for winning the contest.

Colorful Tomatoes

RED is the Christmas color, and one of the most beautiful reds of the palette is "tomato red." Enliven your holiday menus with plentiful dishes of this gay shade about which artists and decorators are doing as much talking today as are health and home economics writers about the "newly discovered" health-giving qualities of the tomato.

A Bit of History

It seems they are not so newly discovered after all. While for many years European and North American mothers were saying "Children, keep your hands off that naughty vegetable—it's pretty, I know, but it's poisonous!" other countries seem to have had a better opinion of it. The Aztecs had discovered that it was healthful to eat tomatoes, and the Indians of Central America baked it and found it good for sore throats. It has even been suggested that the vegetable was named after Saint Thomas who, it is claimed, taught in Mexico and urged the Mexicans to cultivate it and drink tomato juice. Be all this as it may—those who are best informed today urge us to eat more tomatoes. The United States Bureau of Home Economics recommends them in the diet at all times, fresh or canned, as the best single food for supplying four of the most important vitamins, as a preventative of a number of diseases, and as an important article of nutrition. Canned tomatoes are especially recommended for economy menus, because of the low prices prevailing today, though shortages indicate that prices will soon be higher.

'STARS AND STRIPES EVER EMBLEMATIC OF INTEGRITY AND HONOR'--JIM BROOKS

District Judge In Eulogy Of Flag's Traditions At The Lions Club

Traditions of the American flag and the ideals for which it is the symbol were portrayed in an interesting patriotic address before the Lions Club Friday by District Judge Jim Brooks.

"It remains for the Stars and Stripes yet to be unfurled at the head of a marching army bent upon oppression," the speaker said as he recalled that the American government had ever assumed leadership in support of aims prompted by honor and integrity.

"We do not think of war when we see the flag, but rather we are reminded of the honor, integrity and power of the nation which those colors are the insignia," he declared as he pointed toward an American flag draped from wall of the banquet hall.

Japan came in for rebuke at hands of the jurist. "Wars have taught us of America many valuable lessons," he said. "We citizens of this republic learned much during the recent World War. Only recently we have learned there is at least one power who has no respect for its peace treaties and pledges given with other powers in the solemn obligation to perpetuate peace among the nations of the earth. I refer to Japan."

Judge Brooks outlined proper usages of the flag—how the emblem should be draped in a hall, in church, from masts, about the casket of a deceased American soldier and how and when it should be given salute.

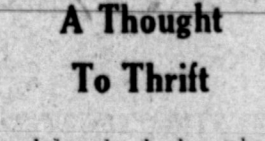

"Among the saddest experiences I have ever had came into my life during the time our forces were detailed as the army of occupation in Coblenz, Germany," he said. "It was during the flu epidemic. One could not go into the streets without witnessing a funeral procession passing through the streets, the casket draped with the flag of our country and the band playing a funeral dirge. Let us hope that never again shall we witness the casket of an American soldier enclosed with those colors when it remains for that deceased soldier to have to be called in death due to war."

Y. N. Buffington, of Memphis, Tenn., popular radio artist often heard from studios of stations XER, KOB and KOY, was a guest of the club and gave a selection of his favorite cowboy songs. Mr. Buffington is known as the "Lonesome Cowboy." Recently one of his phonograph records was heard at the club as a part of entertainment arranged by the program committee.

S. M. Atwood of San Antonio, inspector for the Federal Land Bank at Houston, and A. M. Cooper of Sweetwater, district supervisor in charge of Federal crop loans, were among the other guests introduced.

Closing Big Spring Schools Seen Soon Unless Taxes Paid

Big Spring has come face to face with a crisis that threatens to close her system of public schools, announced the Big Spring Daily Herald for Sunday morning. This condition has come into being due to fact tax payments into the district school fund have been most lax recently.

Teachers had received no salary checks for February and none had been paid for March, according to the Herald. Another extra month of salary payments was coming due, in keeping with policy of the school board to retain ten per cent of all salaries until the end of school. With a salary account of approximately $10,000 per month, the district is about $25,000 in arrears now.

The board has appealed to the public to settle their school tax accounts in that some 2,000 boys and girls be permitted to continue their school work. Only $781.96 was reported paid into the school fund during the two weeks prior to Sunday.

All electors participating in the elections shall be qualified to vote under those laws. In independent district, having 500 or more scholars, the election returns are to be canvassed by commissioners' court.

COLORADO GIRLS WIN IN SPITE OF INJURIES FROM MOTOR MISHAP

BIG SPRING, MCH. 13.—Ruby Lee Smith and Melba Slaton of Colorado junior high school are real West Texas girls—hardships do not daunt them.

Saturday morning snow was falling and it was very cold but, with several teachers and other pupils, they set out for Big Spring to take part in declamation contests at an invitational meet at the high school.

As the car in which they were riding took the curve after crossing the Texas & Pacific track at Rattlesnake Gap it got out of control and overturned.

Ruby Lee suffered painful cuts about the back and Melba was pretty badly shaken up.

But, after treatment in Big Spring hospital they went right ahead and entered the junior girls' declamation event.

Ruby Lee won first place and Melba second.

Colorado Became 'Chesty' When Teddy Roosevelt Stopped Special Train Here

Colorado was all agog during the week of March 13, 1911, due to the fact that President Theodore Roosevelt, travelling by special train for the West, made a stop here and addressed the populace, including school children at the Texas & Pacific passenger station.

The ex-president was travelling from his home at Oyster Bay, New York, to Arizona in his private car attached onto regular passenger trains. His route, as originally planned, was via San Antonio and the Southern Pacific to El Paso.

Texas cattlemen were in convention in Fort Worth at the time, however, and made strong request that Mr. Roosevelt stop there for a visit at the convention. Ranchers from Colorado and this immediate section of West Texas, were prominently identified among cattlemen who urged him to make the Fort Worth stop. They promised to furnish him a special train from Fort Worth to El Paso over the Texas & Pacific in order that he reach his destination in Arizona on time.

The result was that Mr. Roosevelt stopped in Fort Worth and the special train, made up of the best equipment the Texas & Pacific could assemble, left Fort Worth for El Paso with no scheduled stops. Robert M. Webb was given credit for having caused Mr. Roosevelt to stop his train here. The Record for March 17, 1911, recited Colorado was the only stop made between Fort Worth and El Paso.

Characteristic of his policy to encourage large families and always smile when in the presence of children, President Roosevelt is quoted as having referred to the Colorado students crowded about rear platform of his train here. "I especially admire the crop of children you have here," he said. "It is a great one, both in quality and quantity."

The Record was elated over another achievement for the old home town that week. The proposed West Texas normal school bill, after having a rider attached specifying the school should be located at Abilene, had been defeated by the legislature at Austin, due to efforts of Colorado and Brownwood in opposition to the bill. Tactics of Abilene in lobbying for the measure were flayed editorially in the paper.

Col. A. B. Robertson had returned from Fort Worth where he had attended the cattlemen's convention. Robertson was among Texas ranchers responsible for Teddy Roosevelt stopping at Fort Worth and was listed among prominent Texans who had breakfast with the ex-president there.

Ripley, the "Believe It or Not," paragrapher, could have found interesting facts for his daily strips back in those days. "Jay Bird," Garza county rancher, was visiting in Colorado. He was described as a Jay, all right, but not of the feathered blue Jay species commonly known in the South.

J. L. Dimmitt, recently of Waco, and Miss Lola C. Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Vaughan, were married during that week.

Some excitement was elicited during the week after three solid trains of soldiers with full equipment had passed through Colorado for the West. The contingent was being moved from Fort Monroe to El Paso. Mexican bandits were warned to be less active in degrading on American property.

RURAL PROSPERITY SEEN ONLY TO EXTENT FARMERS ADOPT BUSINESS METHODS

Canyon School Authority In Comparative Address At Carr School House

Rural citizens of Denmark and some of the other advanced nations of Europe are prospering on the farm because they have learned that organized business principles pay, whether they have to do with directing a small truck farm or a large financial corporation, Frank R. Phillips, head of the department of agriculture in West Texas State Normal school at Canyon, told a group of Carr citizens Friday night.

The educator, accompanied by his wife and daughter, had driven from Canyon to deliver principal address at a community gathering of farmers and ranchers of that section. He recently made an extensive tour of France, Germany, Denmark and other European countries to study farm conditions. His comparisons as between methods employed by farmers in some of those nations with the average West Texan were interesting and strongly educational.

"The Danes have succeeded as farmers because they have learned through the lesson of experience that the application of business methods to the industry of farming pays," Phillips said. "These people attribute their success to the school and the church. There is not an illiterate in the Empire and every one of them reveres the tenets of his religion."

"These farmers own their farms—and land values run from $850 to $1,000 per acre. They control their dairies, packing plants and marketing organizations. Profits, that under our system of doing business, find their way into the bank accounts of go-betweens, come back to the producer there."

In making comparisons of the net returns received by farmers in Denmark and Texas, Phillips declared that 85 per cent of the ultimate retail value of all butter produced finds its way back to farmer. The producer receives as his share 75 per cent of the retail monies realized on foreign markets by his pork products. In this country the farmer only receives 35 per cent of that figure.

A member of The Record staff was another speaker to address the meeting. He reviewed history of the paper over a period of many years as having ever cooperated with rural citizens of Mitchell county, in developing their educational facilities, farm problems and other public questions. That such a policy would be continued was assured.

The meeting was sponsored by the school to raise funds to provide needed playground equipment and make additions to the school library. Articles of merchandise were donated by Colorado and Westbrook merchants and these were sold at auction, with T. B. Coker, manager of the Westbrook Red and White store, and Rev. J. F. Fields of Carr alternating as criers from the block.

A total of $31.42 is reported by H. F. Railsback, principal of the school, to have been realized from the sale.

Mr. Railsback, in announcement made at the meeting, expressed appreciation to all business men who had given the school assistance. Names of each was called and the article or articles of merchandise donated described.

James Herrington, accompanied by Mrs. Herrington at the piano, gave a selection of violin solos.

Mr. Railsback was in Colorado Saturday afternoon and requested that he be quoted as being profoundly grateful to every person who assisted in any way to make the program a success. He was especially interested in letting Colorado and Westbrook business men know that the school appreciated the merchandise donated for the auction sale.

ABSENT WITNESSES TO BE FINED BY DISTRICT JUDGE JAMES BROOKS

Witnesses summoned by either State or defense in criminal cases to be heard during this term of court who fail to put in appearance had better be looking for an effective alibi.

District Judge Jim Brooks made it clear Monday morning, after noting the absence of several important witnesses that such practice would not be encouraged.

"The court is going to assess a fine against every one of these absent witnesses and if any one present knows where they are we suggest that you get this word to them," Judge Brooks announced. Leniency will, of course, obtain in all instances wherein the witness had sufficient cause for not appearing in court.

REAL CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT VISITS AT THIS OFFICE TUESDAY

Imagine a real candidate for president of the United States coming to Colorado and making a social visit at the home town newspaper office! Well, that is exactly what happened Tuesday morning.

A green Buick sedan carrying an Oregon license plate and a big banner on which were stenciled the words "The Whip Party," pulled into the curb across from The Record office about noon. Out of the machine emerged an ordinary looking man, who, after obtaining his bearings, made a bee line for the newspaper office.

"My name is George Edward Stewart and I am a candidate for president," was his greeting. "I am a small business man from Butte Falls, Oregon, and so far as I know am the only member of the Whip Party, sponsor of my candidacy."

Stewart explained that he was forty years of age and had never done anything to brag about, but believed he could alleviate family troubles of the average American if elected as chief executive.

"Our trouble today is an overload of big business brains which settled to the feet and caused chills," he declared. "I am a Whip and the emblem of that party is a small American flag."

The visitor was here for only a short time. He was gone as quickly as he arrived. The green sedan was soon moving over Walnut street and headed out over the Broadway of America for the east. George Edward Stewart must continue to prosecute his candidacy for president.

Rev. W. M. Elliott, pastor of First Presbyterian church, has returned from Odessa where he recently concluded a revival meeting at the Odessa Presbyterian church.

COLDEST BLIZZARD OF WINTER GIVES WAY TO WARMER TEMPERATURE

The most severe blizzard experienced in this territory during the Winter came to an end Sunday after nine days of continuous biting cold in which temperature reading consistently remained at and below freezing almost without interruption. Snow flurries fell during Friday night and again Saturday morning.

Vegetable gardens, orchards and flower gardens, along with small grain and livestock all suffered to some degree from the blizzard. Most of the fruit is reported as having been killed.

Livestock men report small losses, although cattle lost considerable weight during the continued cold.

The sun was shining Sunday, but a brisk southerly wind contributed to make the weather cold and disagreeable out of doors. Monday witnessed the first pleasant weather conditions experienced here since the first of the month.

W. W. Whipkey and family were in Big Spring Sunday to visit in the home of relatives.

OLD WEST RECREATED FOR BUCK JONES' FILM

The old west in all its colorful picturesqueness was reconstructed by Director Louis King for "Border Law," Buck Jones' newest Columbia western, which will be shown at the Palace Theatre for one day only, Saturday, March 19th. Louis King is a veteran director of outdoor films and he knows the old west. The points he is unfamiliar with he finds out from those old remaining old timers who still abound in Holly-wood.

Many of the scenes in the picture were shot in the Pecos Valley country near the old town of Langtry. Many of those who appear with Buck in this picture are real old timers, not merely actors. They are a part of the country in which the scenes are laid. Bob Smith, who plays the part of Captain Milkes of the rangers, is in reality a veteran of this famous body of men.

Many Colorado people will be interested in seeing this picture, as the scenes will be familiar to most.

Marvelyn Martin has been on the sick list this week.

Healthy As Well As Sick Should Use

I have used Crazy Crystals only a short period, but have come to the conclusion that the healthy as well as the sick should use CRAZY CRYSTALS. Not only the sick and run down system should have it; but also the healthy ones who are interested in saving their health. I noticed the first few days I started the treatment that it refreshed my kidneys. Second, I noticed it took effect on the bladder. Third, it works the bowels gently and freely. I also find that it clears a person's complexion.

The best reason for having a telephone, as one telephone user says, is not having one. Here are some incidents that prove the point:

Little Bobby fell downstairs. He was hurt and mother was frightened. But she wasn't too frightened to know what to do. She called up the doctor... and he was there in a few minutes.

It was only a stray cat in the basement, the policeman said. Mrs. Clark laughed... a little nervously. But what a comfort it was to know the telephone would bring help so quickly!

Jim Mulvaney's back at work again... after two months. Last night the Boss telephoned: "Jim, we landed a big contract. Be on hand first thing in the morning."

What else can you buy that every member of the family can use... that will be a source of safety in case of fire, sickness, emergency... that will be a convenience always?

Buford 4-H Club Girls Write of Their Visit To Demonstration Train Last Week

The Buford 4-H Club girls, with Miss Burnice Ramsey, the local sponsor, went to Sweetwater Friday, March 11, and saw the Demonstration Train from A. & M. College.

The trip was quite interesting and profitable in many respects. A number of the members had never been inside a train; one had never before seen any goats and the majority had never ridden on an elevator.

Principal J. V. Glover and Mr. H. F. Feaster furnished cars in which the girls made the trip. The girls are truly grateful to them and to Mardell Feaster who drove one of the cars.

The following are two of the most interesting written reports that the girls gave to their sponsor Monday.

OUR TRIP TO SWEETWATER

By Vernon Feaster

The Agricultural and Mechanical College sent out train last week exhibiting things grown and made in Texas. We, the Buford 4-H Club girls, decided that we would like to go, so we borrowed two cars and went.

The exhibit was at Sweetwater Friday morning beginning at 9 o'clock and closing at 11 o'clock.

We left the teacherage about 8 o'clock and arrived at Sweetwater about 9:30. Since the exhibit was in a train we parked near the depot. And our sponsor asked someone when we could get in and they told her "right now". We went to the train where a man was standing to show us the entrance and caution us about the "speed limit" up the steps.

The first car was filled with live stock. There were milch cows, beef cattle, hogs, sheep and other interesting animals. There was a butcher-hog in one booth showing the variety of products that could be made from a 250 pound hog.

The gardening was shown next. There were charts telling how far apart the plants should be placed, how deep to cover the seed, the best kinds of fertilizers to use. The terraces were illustrated as helping orchards and fields.

In the next booth there were the incorrect and correct chicken yards, horse and cow pens, and the turkey yard. There was a "stolen nest" in the turkey yard; we all finally found it. The farm house came next with a flat rock walk and the plants around it were all evergreens except one. This was a good plan for the evergreens are as pretty in the winter time as in the summer. The plants were placed so that the harsh curves of the house were less noticeable.

Next came the canned products. There were all kinds of vegetables and fruits. It was estimated that about $160 could be saved in a year by a family of five who raise a garden.

The next car contained the clothing demonstration. In the first booth there was a man's suit, a baby's dress, two house dresses, a hat, purse, hose, a rug and some bedding all of which were made from cotton. Then there were some beautiful hooked and plaited rugs made from old cotton, silk and woolen clothes. There were some small mats made from old silk stockings.

There was a demonstration of the different grades of cotton materials in beautiful colors and designs.

The next exhibit was of electrical appliances. There was a sewing machine, radio, sun lamp, clock, fan, cook stove, fruit squeezer and egg beater, iron, curlers, waffle iron, toaster, and brooder. They were all running except the fan.

To me the most interesting of the electrical devices was the egg beater and fruit squeezer combined.

MODERN INVENTIONS REDUCE NIGHT ACCIDENTS

Changing a tire on the highway is a hazardous job for the motorist and a menace to passing cars. The Boy Scout light solves the problem for, set up on end, it throws a steady beam of light on the parked car and the tolling autoist and at the same time warns approaching drivers.

When baby cries at night mother must answer, but toys and chairs and carts are strewn about the floor; and, she doesn't want to flood the room with the glare of the electric lights nor risk barked shins. The little electric candle which automatically lights when picked up and goes out when set down, makes entry into the nursery quiet and safe.

The house cat usually selects the most precarious spot on the cellar stairs to curl up for a nap. The wary woman never undertakes to descend those steps without a light and where wired electric outlets are not available, the handy wall light, which operates on batteries provides real safety at this danger spot.

Mud puddles, fallen trees and other obstacles are not among the joys of the commuter's life but he is bound to run into them sometimes when he is late getting home from the office. One of the small pocket lights, which fits neatly even into a vest pocket, is all he needs to make walking safe and to avoid any and all sidewalk pitfalls.

MY FIRST TRIP AWAY FROM HOME

By Geraldine Hunt

Our County Demonstration Agent planned Monday morning for us a trip to Sweetwater, Friday morning, March 11, for the purpose of visiting the Demonstration train for 4-H club work.

We were so anxious for Friday morning to come that we could hardly wait. I fixed my lunch Thursday night in order that I would not be the least bit late Friday morning. I could scarcely sleep for thinking of that wonderful trip.

We met at the teacherage and went in cars furnished by Mr. Glover and Mr. H. F. Feaster. We appreciated very much their kindness in making possible the trip.

The first thing we saw was two Jersey cows, one weighed 1250 pounds and the other 1450 pounds. We saw three pretty little goats whose curly hair hung down in their eyes. Next we saw seven fine red and black hogs.

We saw a cotton room in which all articles were made from cotton. We saw an electric sewing machine which was the first I had ever seen. In the same room was an electric fan and radio as well as an electric churn. I had never before seen an electric churn. There was an electric stove and washing machine.

In another car we saw prints and silk goods. The next car was a pantry demonstration containing every thing that is good to eat.

We saw a modern farm in miniature size. The yard about the house was very beautiful. The barnyards were large and contained many cattle. There was also a windmill and grazing pasture for the stock.

The garden was terraced with pecan trees and vegetables in it. The last thing we saw was two sheep, but before that, we saw some wool that came from an unclean farm and some from a clean farm. When we left the train a man gave us an almanac.

We went to the Wooldorth Store next where three of us girls purchased some jewelry.

Miss Ramsey, our sponsor, was very nice to us to take four of us up in an elevator. It surely did scare us at first and we all clung to her. Of course this amused her. When we came down we were more frightened than ever.

We found that only one or two of the eleven had ever ridden an elevator, so we all rode it again.

It was now time to return to Buford but we hated to start back for we were seeing so many interesting things and having such a good time.

We all thank our sponsor for being willing to leave her school room, and take us to Sweetwater. We also thank Mardell Feaster for leaving his school work and driving one car.

The cold weather got our gardens and fruit, but everybody seems to be smiling with the sunshine, and will carry out the old slogan—"If you don't at first succeed, try, try again."

There were no preaching services here Saturday evening, due to the cold weather, but had two good inspirational sermons by the pastor, Bro. Horace Bloodworth, Sunday. You miss something every time you miss one of these services. We would like to urge everyone in the community, that doesn't attend Sunday school somewhere else, to come out and be with us every Sunday.

It was decided Sunday that the church here would have a "Home Coming" the Fifth Sunday in May. We expect this to be a big day, as everyone will welcome all of the former pastors back at that time. The deacons are to have charge of the program.

Mrs. Goodlet is seriously ill this week with the flu. Walter Wiggins and Drew Givens made a business trip to Colorado Wednesday.

J. K. Mahon and sister visited with his daughter and family Sunday, Mrs. S. E. Meadows.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Collins and family spent Sunday visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor.

Lester Webb is reported sick with the flu this week. Miss Veo Roberts of Looney visited Miss Tinette Lee last Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week.

Mrs. Nelson and daughters of Lorraine, accompanied by Mrs. Floyd Richie, spent the week-end in San Angelo, visiting Mrs. Nelson's brother.

OIL LINE Broken...

He Drove His Loaded Truck 45 miles with a DRY CRANKCASE

When Jack Edmondson halted his 2 1/2-ton Chevrolet truck in a Conoco station in Des Moines, New Mexico, the attendant discovered a broken oil line and an empty crankcase!

But inspection of the motor revealed that no damage had been done!

When Edmondson returned home, he discovered, from oil spilled on the road, that he had driven about 45 miles after the oil line broke on the "Hidden Quart" of Conoco Germ Processed Oil.

You may never break your oil line and drive with an empty crankcase. But remember that if you use oils not Germ Processed, which drain away during idle periods, you are running your motor under "dry crankcase" conditions every time you start. Only Germ Processed Oil actually penetrates and combines with metal surfaces. And only Germ Processed Oil gives you the protection of a "Hidden Quart" that stays up in your motor and never drains away.

The "Hidden Quart" cuts down starting wear, saves gas and gives your motor longer life, with fewer repair bills. It assures safe lubrication at all times.

Change to Conoco Germ Processed Oil at the sign of Conoco Red Triangle.

We neither encourage "dry crankcase" experiments nor guarantee success under all conditions. But unsolicited letters from motorists, now in our files, tell of this and hundreds of other runs with empty crankcases but without damage.

LET THEM WALK

Let the hitch-hiker continue his walking unless you are positive as to his identity and know that the person whose benefactor you become is worthy of the consideration accorded him.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Phillips of Los Angeles, California, will think several times now before they bring their machine to a stop in response to the thumbed request of some itinerant for a ride.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips had ended a pleasant visit with relatives at Tyler and were returning home. Wednesday afternoon, while driving through Sweetwater, they were impressed by a youth who stood beside the highway, pleading with regulation gestures for a ride.

The Phillips machine was stopped and the man climbed inside. They drove through Colorado and to Big Spring where a stop was made for the night.

As the California man and his wife were sleeping in a tourist camp the man who had been given the ride stole into their bed chamber and attacked them with a hatchet.

Phillips managed to switch on the lights and wrest the menacing implement from hands of the antagonist of him and his wife.

The fiend, in lieu of $6,000 bond, is meditating in the Howard county jail while his victims continue their journey home, their heads swathed in bandages.

Moral—let them walk.

THE PITY OF IT

Jury verdicts of guilt stamping the mark of crime upon the lives of an organized group of local youths are accepted by the authorities as a solution to the series of burglaries and motor car thefts that for months baffled the police and sheriff's departments. In addition to the convictions already obtained in district court this week additional investigation was being directed by the district attorney and it was hinted that still other boys would be brought to trial.

Solution of the theft and burglary problem, if conviction of these boys has afforded that end, will be accepted with satisfaction by the public. But the pity of it is that those defendants are, as a rule, mere boys.

Somewhere in this community the social fabric that has been woven about the lives of these lads was evidently faulty. The Record does not know just where the blame for their wrong doing may be found, but to some degree at least the responsibility carries to the shoulder of every citizen. Good citizenship requires the preservation of principle and honor. There is no better field in which the ambitious leader in character building may operate than among the boys of this city and county.

ENROLL YOUR CHILD

Every parent of a child within scholastic age faces an imperative duty right now, and a duty that should be attended to without delay.

The department of education, in causing the annual scholastic census to be enumerated and every boy and girl entitled to have his or her name written on that roster must be enrolled if our schools are to benefit to the fullest in State apportionment and other ways.

If the census enumerator has not enrolled your children, why not attend to that important duty today? To put attention to this duty off may mean trouble and expense ahead. Enroll your child today.

The Sermo

"In the fust place, I may say to you, my brethren, that I am not an educated man, and I am not one of them that believe that education is necessary for a minister of the gospel. For I b'lieve the Lawd edicates His preachers just as he wants 'em edicated. And although I say, and maybe I oughten to say it, yet I do say that in my town, whar I lives and has my bein' there is no man, white or black, that has bigger congregations than what I has at True Vine church.

"There may be some here as don't know what persuasion I is, so I want to say to you that I is a Baptist. I has been a minister of the gospel for 20 years and I has been de means in de nunds of de Lawd in leasin' many ob de sons of Ham out ob darkness into de light; out of de neighbors chicken house into de big road dat runs trate to de meetin' house; has helped to pull der feet outin de clay of sin and sot em on de asfalt street 'at leads to de pearly gates.

"You'll fine my text somewhar between Generations and the last book of Revolutions. And my text when you does find it will read thus: "An he played on a harp of a thousand strings and the spirits of jus' men made perfick."

"Now de text leads us to speak of spirits, dere is a great many kinds of spirits in de world. Dere is the spirits as some folks calls GHOSTS, den dere is spirits of Turpentine and de spirits as some folks call liquor; den dere are a great many other kinds of spirits in de world for de text says:

"An he played on a harp of a thousand strings and the spirits of jus' men made perfick."

"But I tell you de kind of spirits as is meant in de text. Its fire and dere is many kinds of fire in de world. Dere is de common kind of fire you light your pine wid; den dere is camp-fire and fire before you is ready and fall back and many more kinds of fire for de text says:

"An he played on a harp of a thousand strings and the spirits of jus' men made perfick."

"But I'll tell you de kind of fire as is meant in my text. It is hell-fire and dats de kind of fire as some of you is commit to if you don't quits steeling chickens and dese ole East Texas razor back hogs for—

"He played on a harp of a thousand strings and the spirits of jus' men made perfick."

"Now the different kinds of fire in de world may be likened to de different persuasions of Christians. In de fust place dere is de Pis-copians. They are a high-sounding and high-falutin set and da may be likened to an eagle dat sails up in de air, til he looks no bigger dan your finger nail and den he starts down and down and sails roon and roon and de fust thing you know he pounces on some antidecluvary doctrine not printed in de prayer book, for—

"He played on a harp of a thousand strings and the spirits of jus' men made perfick."

"Den dere is de Methodists, da puts me in mind of a squirrel running up a dead hickory tree, and he goes up and up jus' like a Methodist gain from one degree of grace to another and finally on to perfection. But he never gets to perfection, cause he goes on up jumping from branch to branch and from lim to lim, and from twig to twig, and de fust thing you know he done missed his footing and down he comes ker-flumix, done fell from grace, for—

"He played on a harp of a thousand strings and the spirits of jus' men made perfick."

"Den in de last place dere is de Baptis. They might be likened to a possum up in a simon tree. He looks over the hill and he sees ole Satan comin' and his eyes looks like two blacker leafs, and his nose a smokin' like a tar kil, and he has a pitchfork in each han and a log chain in de udder. But dat Baptis possum jus' look ole Satan in de face and jes' nackerly grin, cause he knows once in a simon tree, always in a simon tree, for—

"He played on a harp of a thousand strings and the spirits of jus' men made perfick."

"An den ole Satan got mad and he pull one of dat possum's feet loose from de jim and he hold on with three, den he pull two feet loose and he hold on wid two; pull three feet loose and he hold on wid one; den ole Satan pull his las' foot loose and dat ole Baptis possum jes rap his tail aroun a lim and trusted in de perser- variance of de saints, for—

"He played on a harp with a thousand strings and the spirits of jus' men made perfick."

Den ole Satan turned his fire-works loose on him, and de thunder roared, and de lightning flashed, and de sun hid his face in darkness, the moon bathed his face in blood, and the ole earth reeled and staggered like a drunken man, de stars rained on de earth like a hailstorm, de yearth quaked and trembled, and de Heavens rolled to gether like a scoll, de ole possum grinned—once saved always saved—and yet dat ole Baptis possum is safe, for—

"He played on a harp of a thousand strings and the spirits of jus' men made perfick."

Hog raising has pretty well gone out of fashion on most West Texas farms and that is one of the things that helps the depression. Too many smoke-houses have been made into garages in these late years. I remember back in East Texas, in them old days, we all had hogs, all we knew about breeds was the razor back and hand spoke breeds. When you killed one of them piney-woods rooters you would get about a quart of lard and three quarts of turpentine out of him. In those days the hogs all ran at large and we had to have the sct that could whip a bear and outrun a nigger.

Remember, you cannot swap cotton for northern grown meat.

'Tis the wink of an eye, the draught of a breath From the blossom of health to the paleness of death, From the gilded salon to the bier and the shroud Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?

The above is one stanza of an old poem which was written to keep men and women from ever being proud. Ministers, professors, and even politicians, quote it frequently, lest people should occasionally forget their fears, their troubles and the brevity of life for a season and feel real proud. The stanza itself is the answer to the question it asks. Men and women ought to feel good and be proud of their existence, their opportunities and their achievements when they can. They can't do this if in time of health they keep constant in memory the sad truth that its only a draught of the breath that to the paleness of death. They can't be happy a little bit if, when basking in their best clothes, with the aroma of a square meal gladdening their factories, they turn their thoughts to the bier and the shroud. No matter how strong one's faith, how bright his hope, or how strong his trust, he can't feel as peaceful as a May morning when an earth-quake is unking or a windstorm threatens to bury him beneath tons of debris. Be glad, be happy while you can, and keep your mind away from dreams of evil and trouble that will come in due time. Above all, when you run across poems like the above, poems that hold sickness and shrouds and death and other things unpleasant and frightful before you, burn them and read the almanac or dictionary.

When Government Aids Agriculture

Demand for relief, agricultural or otherwise, comes naturally from those who feel most keenly the impact of economic pressure. Those most affected fly quickly to government for aid. But too frequently agencies set in operation by governments simply postpone inevitable readjustments. The basic laws of supply and demand have never been permanently and successfully set aside. So in general governmental intervention that artificially stimulates prices or even maintains them when the prevailing economic situation obviously shows that readjustments are inevitable are expedients that yield only temporary relief rather than permanent cure. Porous plasters may relieve pain for the moment but they rarely get at the seat of the real trouble.—H. L. Russell.

When army worms threatened the crops of Marshall County, Tennessee, information concerning the pests was made available by the College of Agriculture, and bankers immediately took steps to organize a war against the common enemy, calling mass meetings in their communities where complete facts and helpful recommendations for eradication could be put before the greatest number of people possible. This timely action saved the destruction of many fields of crops.

GIVES NATIONAL ECONOMIC PLAN

By ROME C. STEPHENSON

Former President American Bankers Association.

WE hear much of future economic planning to save the nation from a repetition of depression and promote more stable business activity. I know no better plan to suggest to insure future better times than that every wage earner, every family and every business throughout the country lay down as soon as they are able a program of proper savings as the foundation of their financial policy.

I know of no better plan than this to build for the nation as a whole a stronger economic situation—that is, through a common structure of individual working, earning and saving. And I know of no better plan to revive activity in a depression than to spend a proper volume of past savings to keep the momentum of business going. But unless there are savings in prosperity there cannot be spending during depression.

Those who practiced this plan during the past period of prosperity have a security and a protection against present adversity that could be provided in no other way. Those who did not are the ones who are now most dependent upon others. If there had been more preaching of this doctrine when it was more feasible to put it into effect than it is now, there would be less depression and less financial insecurity today.

However, while there should have been more emphasis on savings during prosperity, a measure of the emphasis today might properly be the other way,—at least to the extent that those who can safely do so may well increase their spending instead of overdoing their saving. While many have seen their earnings fall, there are millions who have not suffered so seriously in respect to the real purchasing power of their incomes. If we listened to all the scare stories of the day, one might get the impression that everybody was out of a job and nobody's business was earning anything. Many of our people who are able to continue a normal program of prudent buying are curtailing their expenditures beyond reason.

A Business Stimulus

The sum total of this unreasonable curtailment of spending is an economic influence contributing to the stagnation of trade. By the opposite token, I believe the resumption of normal spending on the part of those who are able to do so would be an important tonic toward the stimulation of trade. I do not mean by this that we should have indiscriminate spending merely for the sake of spending, but the very motive power of our economic life is the interchange of goods, and unless we have that we cannot have prosperity.

I strongly believe that we are at that point in the depression stage of the business cycle that any sound stimulating influence will start a real movement in the direction of a return toward prosperity. So much of the weakness of the old state of affairs has been liquidated, so many maladjustments corrected and such large volumes of our consumers' goods have been used up or worn out that the pressure of necessities purchases must sooner or later be felt. When that time definitely comes we may consider it the first impulse of a new era of normal business.

When army worms threatened the crops of Marshall County, Tennessee, information concerning the pests was made available by the College of Agriculture, and bankers immediately took steps to organize a war against the common enemy, calling mass meetings in their communities where complete facts and helpful recommendations for eradication could be put before the greatest number of people possible. This timely action saved the destruction of many fields of crops.

NEW DEVELOPMENT IN FEEDING BABY CHICKS

ST. LOUIS, MO.—"Cluck, cluck. Have you had your Ingredient X today?" Such will be the daily interrogation of mother hen to baby chicks as the result of an announcement today of the development of Ingredient X in the research laboratories and on the experimental farm of the Purina Mills.

"Ingredient X", explains Dr. H. J. Smith, in charge of the research work which developed this growth factor, "is simply the blending together of the proteins in a ration in such a way as to make them work together perfectly, much like the gear wheels of an automobile. In other words, Ingredient X is proteins synchronized or properly meshed together."

Not all proteins, Dr. Smith says, will work together. The protein combination that will make milk will not necessarily produce growth in chickens economically.

In beginning this far reaching protein study some six years ago, many sources of proteins—all that can be obtained in commercial quantities—were used in many and various combinations and fitted with what is known as a basal ration made up of the carbohydrates, fats, vitamins, and minerals known to be essential to growth.

Proteins were studied singly and finally in many combinations in order to get the right combination that would work together and produce in chicks good feathering, rapid growth, high livability, palatability and still not be prohibitive in cost. The right combinations of proteins was finally found.

The experiment involved the studying of some 52,000 chicks in battery broods and on the Purina experimental farm. They were weighed 308,502 times in order that everything be checked to the minutest detail.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Berman and daughter, Phyllis Berman, and Mrs. H. P. Ragan were in Sweetwater Tuesday night to attend style show given by Levy Brothers. Phyllis Berman and Mrs. Bill Martin of Lorraine were presented on the entertainment program.

Excerpt from a letter to the Citizens Reconstruction Organization:

"February 27, 1932 . . .

"The right thing to do is to put money to work. The people can do this if they want it done. If they will not save themselves, no one can save them. The time has come for the people to take charge of their own affairs. They should use their own money for their own benefit by putting it into circulation."—Signed CALVIN COOLIDGE

foolish KING TUT

KING TUT figured everything would be safe. All his diamonds and jewels (including his wife) he stipulated in his will, should be sealed up in his tomb; and nobody was ever to know where the stuff was buried. And they wouldn't have, if some curious archeologists hadn't got to pecking around—and let the cat out of the bag.

Foolish King Tut! BUT remember that King Tut was king. It was HIS property . . . and even in those days the king could do no wrong.

* * *

Today every American is king in his own home . . . at least he's supposed to be; and if we want to bury our money—that's our business. But, after all, IS it? Let's look at Tut's own land of Egypt. Tut hid his money—instead of spending it on irrigation and waterways—instead of investing it in his country's future. And look at Egypt now.

* * *

Scattered throughout America today are thousands of modern King Tuts. Folks who don't realize that hidden, IDLE money can cripple the progress of a great nation—can, if carried on long enough, destroy the very safety they are seeking!

At the same time millions are awakening to this fact—and have ACTED. They are pouring their hidden money back into circulation at the rate of millions of dollars a day!

Behind this new wave of confidence stands the might of the United States Government. Through legislative and executive action, the government has helped us to help ourselves. And we'll be helping ourselves and neighbors too, whether we put our dollars back into the banks, into sound securities, or buy with them the needed things we've been hankering for so long.

No matter how your money gets back into circulation, it will stimulate credit, turn business wheels, speed Prosperity.

As for the King Tuts, who haven't yet seen the new light . . . poor, timid souls! Even they can do their bit toward better times and also know that their money is even safer than it was in hiding. For they can now buy U. S. Reconstruction Bonds, issued by Uncle Sam. While these bonds only yield 2% interest, they're every bit as safe as the United States Government itself.

... for Stubborn Dollars—these new U. S. Reconstruction Bonds—in small denominations, $50, $100 and $500—short term, maturing in one year—yielding 2% interest—readily redeemable in cash at par, upon 60 days notice by the holder—non-taxable—for sale at your home town bank—and the money from the sale of these bonds will stay right in your own community. Remember—it is not helping the situation to disturb any sound investments or to take money out of a bank to buy these bonds. They are for only one purpose—to put idle dollars, reachable in no other way, back to work.

EDITORIAL

In the program of everyday life every individual should be allowed a period of seclusion and solitude. In this allotted time one should commune with himself, with nature, and with God.

Solitude is one of the most beautiful of the gifts the fairies bestow upon man. It speaks within itself calmness, quiet and serenity. In solitude, away from the busy working-day world, one visualizes his future hopes and plans. Air castles originate, and with them, a better determination for the realization of his dreams.

Henry David Thoreau, in conclusion to an article, said:

"If one advances confidently in the direction of his dreams, and endeavors to live the life which he has imagined, he will meet with success unexpected in common hours. He will put some things behind, will pass an invisible boundary; new, universal, and more liberal laws will begin to establish themselves around and within him; or the old laws will be expanded, and interpreted in his favor in a more liberal sense, and he will live with the license of a higher order of beings. In proportion as he simplifies his life, the laws of the universe will appear less complex, and solitude will not be solitude, nor poverty poverty, nor weakness weakness. If you have built castles in the air, your work need not be lost; that is where they should be. Now put the foundations under them."

Assembly News—
 March 10th, Mr. J. H. Greene and Mrs. A. L. Whipple, spoke to the student body on "Value of Trade at Home."

Mr. Greene urged the students to sell Colorado to themselves and to know more about their city. He asked the students some of the following questions: "How Many Gins are There in Colorado?" "What is the Present Population?" "What is the Altitude?"

Mrs. Whipple stressed the value of trading at home, and gave some very good advice for every person to put in practice early in life, and that was: that one should spend what little money he has for his necessities, but spend it in his home town. If he does this, a merchant, when called upon to help out over a project, will be willing and able to cooperate.

Debaters Win—

The debating team, LaVada Base and Princess Martin, accompanied by their coach, Miss Whitmore, went to Big Spring Saturday, March 12. They won over the Big Spring team. Margaret Wade, extemporaneous speaker, also went to Big Spring and won second place.

In Assembly—

In the assembly period, March 15, Mr. Foster presented Mrs. Bill Martin of Lorraine, and Mrs. Latham. Mrs. Martin sang "The Naughty Little Clock," and "At the Movies." Mrs. Latham played "Rondo Brilliant."

On March 11, Mr. McCloud of the Col-Tex Refinery, spoke to the students of the Economics and Commercial Geography classes on the "Col-Tex Refinery and oil industry."

Mr. McCloud gave the history of the oil industry, how it ranks with other industries in size, and some very interesting facts in regard to the Col-Tex Refinery in Colorado.

Home Economics News—

The third year girls of the vocational Home Economics club served a banquet last Friday night for the business Woman's club. About 40 guests were present.

Max Berman has asked the Home Economics department to display some of the club's work in his windows. This will be a splendid opportunity to show the people what the girls are studying.

The Home Economics girls have started their second class projects. The third year groups will make drapes and other furnishings for the department. The second year girls are making a layette, and each of the first year girls is making a dress.

The faculty of the schools of Colorado are presenting a play on Friday night, March 18, called "Tony, the Convict." The play is to be well worth the time spent in seeing it.

Typewriting Contest—

Colorado's first team made an average of 44.13. Those typing on it were: Mildred Whitaker, Pauline Jones and Mary Frances Majers. Big Spring won second place with a team average of 41.62. Abilene came third with a team average of 40.45.

Colorado's second team also won first place with an average of 37.26. Those on this team were Elizabeth Hutchinson, Charles E. Root and Hubert Moore.

The individual winners of the entire contest ranked as follows:

Grant, Abilene	46.66
Bradbury, Abilene	45.60
Mildred Whitaker, Colorado	46.53
Josephine Dabney, Big Spring	45.33
Pauline Jones, Colorado	45.26
De Spain, Abilene	44.96
Charles Edwin Root of Colorado	made the least number of mistakes of anyone in the contest. There were 22 contestants. Charles Edwin wrote for 15 minutes and made only 6 errors. He made an average of 44.66.

The teams are planning to go to Big Spring next Saturday to enter another practice contest there.

The 14th district typewriting tournament will be held in the Colorado high school on April 9, 1932. There are five high schools that will enter this district this year that did not enter last year. Some of these schools come from below San Angelo.

 "Ugh! Ugh! B. O.," muttered the Indian as the skunk passed by.

Freddie (Calling father at office): Hello, who is this?

Mr. Watson (Recognizing her voice): The smartest man in the world.

Freddie: Pardon me, I have the wrong number.

Old Gentleman: Better look out for the worms in that apple, son. It has some dark places on it.

Everett Tiner: Yes, sir, I know, it, but when I eat an apple the worms have to look out for themselves.

MITCHELL COUNTY FARM NOTES

C. N. Adams or Carr has received 350 grape cuttings from California and is planting them on his farm.

S. H. Hart is running additional terrace lines this week.

Bill Dorn has killed out the pocket gophers that were damaging flowers and shrubs around his home by setting gopher traps in the tunnels. Anyone interested in controlling gophers should get in touch with the county farm agent who will be glad to arrange a demonstration in gopher control.

Formwalt Brothers of Dorn community report they are well pleased with the small trench silo they built last fall. The feed was put in the silo in bundles without cutting.

J. S. Barnes of Westbrook and I. Smallwood of Hyman report that cutworms are damaging crops. They may be controlled by use of poison bran mash.

Mitchell county can get a soil survey made of the entire county without cost to the county if interested persons will petition the State Experiment Station. These surveys are valuable to farmers, as it gives the extent of alkali; tells what crops are best adapted to certain kinds of soil, etc. Persons buying farms can know what kind of soil they are buying. Anyone interested in securing a soil survey should see the county agent, who has the information and petitions.

J. F. Bodine has been killing his hogs the "A. & M. way" recently. With this method of sticking practically all the blood drains out and insures the meat keeping better.

VIVID DRAMA OF POLITICAL VICE COMES TO THE PALACE

A sensational expose of the "inside" of politics and its relation to the underworld of a big city and an intimate glimpse into the lives of the police form the dramatic plot of

"The Beasts of the City," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's saga of city life, which will be at the Palace Theatre Sunday and Monday, March 20 and 21.

The picture bares conditions that exist in the average American city; most of its thrills are based on actual happenings taken from police records and newspapers; and its startling story brings to life facts which have heretofore been considered too "close to home" to be told. It does for the police what "The Big Parade" did for the American dough-boy.

Walter Huston has the principal role, as the fighting police chief pitted against politics.

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN'S CLUB NATIONAL WEEK MARCH 6 TO 12

It's TIME To PIONEER Again

The present period of recovery calls upon thinking business men in all fields, large and small, to exert new effort, to try new methods, to look for new channels of business. To the pioneers will come success. At such a time as this a strong and reliable banking connection is needed.

City National Bank

What could be simpler?

GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator

When the General Electric engineers worked over this refrigerator for fifteen years, they surely knew what they were about. They wanted something simple but efficient—and they got it. This refrigerator hasn't a pipe or a fan or a belt. It hasn't a bit of machinery hiding under it—or nestling in the basement. It never needs a drop of oil. All its mechanism is sealed away from the pitfalls of this world in a casing of steel, air-tight.

You can't get at the machinery, Junior can't either—and no one else will have to. For it's all assembled in the factory, where it is tested any number of times. Then it's hermetically sealed. When we deliver it to you, we don't have to solder a single joint, or connect a single pipe or twist a single screw. We just lower it into the top of the cabinet—built to receive it. All you have to do is to plug it into any convenience outlet.

Why not drop in and see the many models? And, by the way, you can buy on time, if you prefer.
