FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF FIRST METHODIST CHURCH BE CELEBRATED APRIL 24

Organized In 1882 By Rev. R. F. Dunn, Sweetwater 'Circuit Rider'

Fiftieth anniversary of the First Methodist church is to be celebrated on Sunday, April 24, with fitting rites commemorating progress of the church during its half-century's identity with this community and county. Detailed program has not been announced.

"Centenary M. E. Church, South," as the church was known then, was organized on the last Sunday in April, 1882, by Rev. R. F. Dunn, a pioneer Methodist circuit rider, who had come west and located in the town of Sweetwater. This preacher had visited "Colorado City," the booming cattle metropolis on other occasions and finding several Methodists living here, determined to organize a church.

Among the charter members Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Clayton, Mrs. A. S. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Griffin and Miss Sallie Wilson. Complete roster of the initial membership has become lost.

Rev. Mr. Dunn continued to preach for the small congregation until convening of the next annual conference, in November, 1882, when the Colorado church was assigned its first regular pastor. He was Rev. Bascom Thomas. The following year Rev. Mr. Thomas was succeeded by Rev. John R. Wallace, who remained until 1885.

It was during the pastorate of the Rev. Mr. Wallace that the congregation erected its first church building. The structure was built of brick manufactured in Colorado and a part of the auditorium still stands today. The basement and south wings were added several years later during pastorate of Rev. R. A. Clements.

Reminiscences of those days recall that Rev. Mr. Dunn spent his first night at Colorado in a saloon. He rode his pony into town and among those whom he met was the proprietor of a popular corner saloon. The saloon keeper, being informed that the minister was here to organize a church, but had no funds to pay expenses at the Central hotel, invited him to occupy a bunk in rear of the saloon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Nunn was the first couple to be married in the church after the building had been finished and dedicated in October, 1884. Mr. Nunn, among the pioneer cattlemen here, remained active in the church until his death a few years ago. He was among the leading pioneer cattlemen of this section in those early days.

The first presiding elder assigned to this district after organization of the Colorado church was Rev. J. T. L. Annis, appointed by the annual conference in November, 1883. Rev. Mr. Wallace, a former pastor, succeeded him as presiding elder in 1887.

The Texas Electric Service Company will gladly send out trained men who understand the dangers of high voltage electric current to remove the kite."

"Kites with metal frames and the use of a fine wire instead of cotton string are two other great hazards, for if the metal frame or the wire string comes in contact with electric wires, serious injuries may result and electric service to a large part of town may be interrupted."

SIGNIFICANCE OF EASTER BE PROTRAYED IN RITES AT COLORADO CHURCHES

Pastors Announce Observance To Feature Worship At Sunday Services

Significance of Easter and the solemnity in which Christian people throughout the world should commemorate that Sabbath morning two thousand years ago, when Christ was acclaimed victor over the grave, is the theme about which Colorado pastors are to build their sermon addresses Sunday. Every church in the city announces special observance of the day has been planned.

Not only are parishioners attending these churches to hear their pastors tell again the story of a risen Lord, but in the Sunday school and other religious devotions, Easter is to receive prominence in both oral expression and pageantry portrayal.

Colorado will begin its annual religious rite at 8:30 a. m., in a special Easter sunrise prayer service at the First Christian church. This congregation has for many years held devotion just as the sun came over the eastern horizon to declare dawn of Easter morning.

Some of the Sunday schools announce special Easter programs during the hour usually devoted to lesson study. Then, at 11 o'clock, the ministers are to speak of the resurrection. During the young people's meeting that afternoon and again from the pulpit Sunday evening thoughts of the people will be directed to the scene enacted that first Easter morning when the women coming to where their Lord had been buried found that he had risen.

The churches and Sunday schools are launching special drives to get the public out to these services. Goals have been announced by some of the Sunday school superintendents and committees are working now to interest folk in the importance of attending.

The gang of burglars operating in Colorado Saturday night were still at liberty Thursday afternoon with the authorities still baffled as to identity of the thieves. W. H. Garrett, county attorney reported to The Record. Several clues had been run down during the week to no avail.

The Continental Oil Company Station, Vaught One-Stop Service Station and Colorado Motor Company, all located in the same neighborhood on East Second street, were broken into Saturday night.

Officers are of the opinion all three burglaries were committed by the same gang. It is known that the prowlers responsible for breaking into the Continental station later entered the building occupied by Henry Vaught and the May Motor Company, as a tire tool taken from inside the former was found Sunday morning at the other building.

A rear window was crashed with brick bats at the Continental station, Sam J. Smith, owner and manager, reported. Two of the telltale missiles were found by him inside the broken window next morning.

Here the thieves obtained nothing. They removed the cash register from its stand and opened it only to find no cash. They then set their attention to the office safe and after failing to work the combination and knocking the knob, tried to chisel through steel wall of the strong box from the side. Cash and other valuables left in the safe at closing time Saturday night were all intact when Smith opened it Sunday morning.

A window was broken in rear of the building occupied by May and Vaught. Here the robbers were more successful in that $8.70 left in the cash register as change was taken. No merchandise was missing. Mr. Vaught stated to The Record Monday morning.

P. K. Mackey of the Colorado Motor Company, third place entered during the night, states that no merchandise nor cash was missed. Entrance was effected through a window on side of the building in the alley. After breaking out one of the small panes in the large metal frame window inside lock was easily worked by reaching a hand through. Here the burglars tried to force the office safe with no success. Mackey stated this was the third time his place of business had been broken into by burglars.

Inspired by the great success we enjoyed last Sunday, let every Baptist determine to build this church into greater and greater stages of service in this community.

A New Seasoner for Steak

By Jane Rogers

THE next time you want to serve a particularly delicious steak, try using a small amount of sugar as one of the seasoners. Without sweetening, the sugar seals the juices behind a crisp, brown crust, and thus preserves every bit of the flavor. Select a thick steak and rub into it a mixture of one tea-spoon each of salt and sugar and one-fourth teaspoon pepper. Brush a hot skillet or broiler with fat and place the steak to cook. Turn now and then until done to your taste, and then serve on a hot platter, dotting butter over the meat before serving.

CULINARY TRIBUTES TO GEORGE WASHINGTON

THIS year of celebration in honor of Washington brings to mind the cherry tree story so familiar to every American school child. So that cherry recipes might almost seem to be an essential part of any patriotic celebration in 1832.

Fortunately we need not be patriotic at the expense of enjoyment, for the cherry is one of the most delicious and refreshing fruits. And still more fortunately, cherries lose little if any of their deliciousness in canning.

The deep red of these cherry dishes will lead a festive note to your table. They are amply nourishing, tempting to the appetite and yet their cost is in harmony with the economy we are all practicing nowadays.

Masquerade Pudding
1/2 cup quick cooking tapioca slightly beaten
1/2 cup sugar 1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 1/2 cups milk 1 egg white, scalded

Add tapioca, sugar, and salt to milk, and cook in double boiler 15 minutes, or until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Pour small amount of tapioca mixture over egg yolk, stirring vigorously. Return to double boiler and cook until thickened, stirring occasionally. Remove from fire and add flavoring. Fold in egg whites. Turn into molds. Chill. Unmold. Serve with Cherry Red Sauce, or with sauce of apricots or prunes. Serves 10.

Cherry Red Sauce for Masquerade Pudding
1 1/2 cups canned red cherries 1 cup sugar
(Juice and fruit) 1 tablespoon flour
Dash of salt and cook until slightly thickened, stirring well. Chill. Makes 1 1/2 cups sauce.

Deep Dish Cherry Tapioca
1/2 cup quick cooking tapioca
1 teaspoon salt
4 cups hot water and cherry juice
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed

Add tapioca and salt to water and cherry juice and cook in double boiler 15 minutes, or until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Add lemon juice, sugar mixed with spices, butter, and cherries. Pour into greased baking dish and bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 45 minutes. Serve plain or with cream. Serves 8.

In this cherry pie none of the refreshing juice is lost by boiling over in the oven. The small quantity of tapioca used is just sufficient to bind in the juices and yet in no way is the cherry flavor altered.

Red Cherry Pie
1 can seeded red cherries, drained (1 1/2 cups)
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup cherry juice
1 1/2 tablespoons quick cooking tapioca
1 recipe Pie Crust

Combine cherries, sugar, cherry juice, and tapioca and let stand about 15 minutes, or while pastry is being made. Line a 9-inch pie plate with pastry rolled to 1/4-inch thickness. Moisten edges of pastry with cold water. Fill pie shell with cherries. Adjust top crust. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 20 minutes, then decrease heat to moderate (350° F.) and bake 20 minutes longer, or until filling is cooked.

"Flying High" At Palace Theatre Big Comedy Hit

A queer new kind of airplane, a dumb inventor and a waitress who has a "yen" to marry an aviator, are hilariously tossed together in "Flying High" which opens Sunday March 27 at the Palace Theatre to make one of the funniest talkies Colorado has seen in months.

"Flying High" is, of course, a taltic adaption of the enormously successful Broadway stage musical comedy. The principal role of Rusty Krause is played by the same star who made such a hit in New York, the rubber-faced Bert Lahr, America's most imitated comedian.

He is ably supported in a long succession of funny rags by long and lanky Charlotte Greenwood as the amorous waitress. Miss Greenwood's continual pursuit of Lahr, and their final struggle in the queer aeroplane, far above the earth, have been handled by the adept comedy director, Charles Riesner.

Auto Camp Filmed As Background Of New Quillan Picture

Comedy and tragedy pitched against a background of an auto camp, which is brought to the screen for the first time, form the highlights of "The Big Shot," an RKO Pathé production starring Eddie Quillan playing at the Palace Theatre March 31 and April 1.

It is the story of an ambitious youngster in a small town who fights for success and the respect of the girl he loves in spite of terrific hard luck and the unscrupulous methods of his enemies.

Chock full of pathos and yet with plenty of good clean, sparkling comedy, "The Big Shot" gives Quillan one of the greatest opportunities of his career again to prove his versatility as an all-around star.

Ralph Murphy directed.

"Heaven On Earth" At Palace Theatre

"A Lily in the mud." This is the description that is being applied to Anita Louise in her role in "Heaven on Earth," the Universal drama in which she is appearing opposite Lew Ayres at the Palace Theatre, March 29 and 30.

A frail blonde beauty, almost ethereal in her loveliness, the youthful Anita is seen throughout the picture as a "white trash" child of the South, living among the shiftless "shanty-busters" of the Mississippi River, and clad in a tattered dress rudely fashioned from gunny sack.

Her greatest treasure is a necklace formed of several safety pins looped together.

Just the same this slip of a girl who is playing her first "grown up" role is the screen's successor to Lillian Gish. She has been on the screen in kid parts for ten years.

Ayres' supporting cast in "Heaven on Earth," in addition to Miss Louise, includes Harry Beresford, Elizabeth Patterson, Charles Grapewin, Lew Kelly, Alf P. James, Harlan Knight, Robert Burns and many others. Russell Mack directed.

Green Thanks All Who Aided In Radio Program Last Week

We desire to express our appreciation to all who in any way participated in making our broadcast over WBAP the success it was, and especially those who took their cars and assisted in taking the band and other musicians to Fort Worth.

Those taking cars were W. A. Rose, J. A. Sadler, Claud Womack, W. S. Cooper, Henry Vaught, Dr. C. L. Root, J. E. Watson, Frank Mackey, C. A. Wilkins, S. O. Wulfsen and Roy Hester. In addition thereto Max Berman, J. C. Penney Co., and R. H. Cantrill also participated in the expense.

Especially do we thank the Star Telegram for the free use of their WBAP broadcasting station and the employees of this station for their courtesies while broadcasting. We also wish to thank the Lions Club for special courtesies extended.

We received telegrams either to the party as a whole or to individual members of the party from San Diego, California, to Washington D. C., totaling 80 telegrams and 47 telephone calls, all of which complimented some or all of the musicians.

There were too many telegrams to quote but a few were as follows: "Congratulations to Jimmy Greene and his Broadway of America official band. The program is a winner all the way through. Our Colorado friends are certainly doing themselves proud. F. O. Mackey, President Broadway of America Association."

"Congratulations on your wonderful program rendered by the official band of the Broadway of America. Our slogan for 1932 is for bigger, better and faster Broadway and Colorado, Texas, is doing more than its share on this program. L. E. Saunders, President, El Paso Chamber of Commerce."

"Congratulations, reception good. Broadway of America Quartette." "Congratulations to you. The Colorado, Texas, Broadway of America Band program coming in fine. Nothing equals Broadway of America McMinville Quartette 100 per cent good. J. J. Walker, Director of the Broadway of America."

"Congratulations to the splendid Broadway of America official band and members of the Colorado program. Enjoying your entertainment and program coming in fine. B. L. Russell, Baird, Texas."

"Greatly enjoying your program, you are boosting the greatest little city in Texas. R. B. Homan, El Paso, Texas."

We also received letters from distant places, one from San Diego, California.

Scores of telegrams from local citizens of Colorado and Lovaine, which were appreciated as much as the ones from out of town friends.

For the benefit of the parents and our youngsters, several people expressed delight at the good behavior of the entire party.

Colorado Chamber of Commerce.

Here is another great kid picture and the answer to the hue and cry of exhibitors for more child patronage. Adapted from the book "Dear Sooky," now playing at the Palace Theatre.

Veterans Foreign Wars To Organize Post In Colorado

Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, Post No. 2010, will be instituted next Thursday night, March 31st, in the Legion Hall. The meeting opens at 7:30 p. m., for the purpose of investigating discharges and other proof of Foreign service. At 8:15 p. m. the meeting will be called to order, O. T. Mahaney, National Deputy Chief-of-Staff, who was in Colorado last week completing arrangements for the formation of the local post, will be the installing officer.

In telling of the activities of the VFW, Mr. Mahaney stated that the organization was now growing at the rate of two posts daily, and an average of over 450 members were being obligated every day. This rapid gain can be attributed to the VFW's stand for the full payment of the adjusted service certificates, in the opinion of Mr. Mahaney. Millions of names have been secured on petitions for presentation to the present session of Congress by the VFW. The VFW has always played the game fair and square with its members. Never once has the trust placed in their National leaders been violated. Always fighting for what was honest and fair to all concerned.

The VFW is the oldest active Veterans organization in existence. Having been organized 35 years ago at Columbus, Ohio. Its eligibility law is not limited to any particular war. The eligibility briefly is: Any man with an honorable discharge from the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps of the United States, who has a record of Foreign service on Foreign soil or in hostile waters, in time of any war or expedition for which the government of the United States has authorized the issuance of a campaign medal and for the victory medal a clasp is eligible to join. This eligibility dates back to the Mexican War of 1847-48 and up to and including the expedition to Nicaragua in 1927.

The VFW is non-partisan, non-sectarian and takes no part in labor disputes. It is always ready to help both active and former service men. It is the only veterans organization maintaining a National home for widows and orphans.

It believes in "One Flag, One Country, and One Language."

It believes in practical patriotism by the example rather than by preaching.

It "Honors the Dead by helping the Living."
It does not discriminate, but glories in being distinctive.
It has never tolerated abuse by politically ambitious individuals.
It is composed of ordinary men with extraordinary service.

Visitors are cordially invited and can remain until the officers are elected and installed. Then Mr. Mahaney will instruct the local veterans in the fraternal work of the organization. It is expected that a degree team from one of the older posts will be here at the Charter closing date, which will be some time in April, says Mr. Mahaney.

with the CRANKCASE DRY to prove the PENETRATION of Germ Processed Oil and Value of the "Hidden Quart"

"Hoey!" jeered one of the bystanders in a Muskogee, Oklahoma, filling station when F. J. Morgan told how the "Hidden Quart" of Conoco Germ Processed Oil had protected many cars from harm when run with the crankcase empty.

To prove his point, Mr. Morgan had the Germ Processed Oil drained from his crankcase and, accompanied by the doubter, started for Checotah, 27 miles away.

A crowd met the car at Checotah, but Mr. Morgan drove on to Eufaula, 14 miles farther, 41.6 miles from Muskogee. Chevrolet mechanics tore down the motor and pronounced it undamaged. The doubters became believers!

The oil that protects a motor under such conditions will give you better, safer lubrication in every-day driving! Conoco Germ Processed Oil is the only oil that actually penetrates and combines with metal surfaces. That's why a "Hidden Quart" stays up in your motor and never drains away. It cuts down costly starting wear, saves gas, gives your motor longer life, with fewer repair bills.

Change to Conoco Germ Processed Oil for safer, surer lubrication.

We neither encourage "dry crankcase" experiments nor guarantee success under all conditions. But unsolicited letters from motorists, now in our files, tell of this and hundreds of other runs with empty crankcases but without damage.

WORLD WAR

BY YARNS
LIEUT. FRANK E. HAGAN

"The Most Surprising Thing"

Ask ex-members of the A. E. F. what was the most surprising thing they found in the war and the most surprising thing about their answers will be their great variety. Somebody asked a marine who had fought at Chateau Thierry that question and with the memory of some of the terrible scenes he had witnessed there he replied "That a man can be so terribly wounded and recover all right." Then he thought for a moment and added "No, I reckon the most surprising thing I found out was that there were so many different kinds of beans in the world."

But former members of the Eighty-ninth division, composed mainly of Coloradans and Kansans, will probably tell you that the thing which most surprised them was in the words of one of them, "how little these frogs knowed about farmin' after being at it for a thousand years."

Lieut. Jack Barrow, a Denver newspaper man who served in an artillery outfit in the Eighty-ninth, tells how a brother officer came to a wheatfield in which half a dozen Americans were working hard, while a French farmer sat nearby calmly smoking and watching their labors. He stopped, filled with curiosity at the sight, and asked what they were doing. Looking very much embarrassed, the man came to attention and one of them spoke up: "Well, you see, Lieutenant, this old fellow don't know a thing about harvesting wheat." Evidently considering that a sufficient explanation they resumed their work, finished up the field in approved Kansas style and left, uttering contemptuous, and somewhat profane, expressions of their opinion of agriculture as practiced by the French.

When "the kid" went West
Sergt. James J. Washa of the One Hundred and Thirty-first Infantry captured and killed enough enemy machine gunners in the fighting of August 9, 1918, to merit a Distinguished Service cross.

On October 8 the sergeant and his company crossed the Meuse and advanced through the mud toward Convoye. A group of stretcher bearers approached. The collar ornament of one of them identified him as a soldier of "Company D, One Hundred and Thirty-second Infantry," the company to which Sergeant Washa's "kid" brother, Michael, was assigned.

"How's my brother, Mike Washa, getting along?" the sergeant shouted. "Just saw him a mile down the road," the stretcher bearer replied. "Looked like he was badly shot up."

American soldiers, dead and wounded, there, everywhere, it seemed along the road. Finally he came upon the body of his brother. "The kid" was dead.

The sergeant stooped down. He removed a diary and a Bible from the youngster's inside pocket. A tiny paper marker was in the Bible. He turned to it. It was marked in the Book of Matthew, at the story of the death of Jesus.

Swank
When you think of swank you remember the British. Their officers excelled in immaculate dress, disregard of personal danger and the sort of nonchalance that reached for a far in the hottest moments.

Sing hol then for the tiny but epic-and-span Guards officer assigned to a company of Australians, back of the lines south of Amiens.

His dress was complete and satisfactory, even to swaggar stick and monocle the day he fell the soldiers in for inspection for the first time. Even the Aussies, hard-boiled as they were, gulped a moment over such sartorial perfection.

The soldiers were properly impressed. When the swanky one appeared next day he found each Aussie wearing a monocle, staring blandly through it at strict attention.

"Ha!" exclaimed our immaculate "lieutenant" after the first shock passed. He plucked from his eye his own monocle, flipped it high in air and caught it in the socket as it came down again.

"By that, you lighters!" chortled the little officer triumphantly. And he turned proudly on heel and walked away.

A Narrow Squeak—Rather!
On August 12, 1918, Maj. Reed G. Landis of Chicago, then a lieutenant and on the way to becoming America's second ace, hopped off with his fellow war birds in search of the enemy squadron.

They found twenty hostile flyers high above the lines of advancing Allied infantry. For twenty minutes the opposing groups played a game of aerial hide-and-seek, each trying to outmaneuver the other.

Then Landis and his companions cornered some of the enemy planes, twelve miles behind their own lines. The fighting began.

Suddenly Landis, who was separated from his mates, saw a German plane swooping down for him, point blank. He swerved his own plane toward the enemy and "gave 'er the gas."

Neither hesitated. Both planes were meeting as though held to an invisible track. The faces of the pilots were almost together when, suddenly—

The German plane rocked sharply, spun dizzily, and whirling like a top, crashed to the forest directly below, a tangled wreckage of pilot and ship.

"And that," Lieutenant (now Major) Landis admits, "was rather a narrow squeak; what?"

WORLD WAR BY * & YARNS LIEUT. FRANK E. HAGAN

The Roast Pig They Didn't Eat
Just before the American Third Army marched toward Germany, after the Armistice, a mess sergeant of the Second division stopped long enough in Bar-le-Duc to bargain with a farmer.

The outcome of the negotiations was that the battalion owned a pig, for which the sergeant had swapped a sack of sugar, when it pulled freight for the Rhine.

A Thanksgiving dinner, with the pig as the chief tidbit on the table, was planned immediately. Meanwhile, nothing would be too good, it was decided, for the animal. It must be cherry ripe and bursting fat before the last Thursday of November.

The Second did considerable hiking north of Bar-le-Duc. But the sergeant continued to feed delicacies to his pig. He watched its growth jealously, and boasted of its increasing size and sleekness.

Members of the company became intensely interested in the pig. "It pays to have been a farmer," they said admiringly to the mess sergeant. "You sure know how to take care of a pig. Look how it's fattened already!" And the sergeant smiled complacently.

Two days before Thanksgiving the outfit camped on the banks of the Moselle. The time had come to butcher the pig and prepare the feast. Orders were given the first cook to "bring in the meat."

After a short absence, the cook returned.

It doesn't matter in what meal there is a shortcoming, the adroit housewife can make it up with some canned pears. They are delicious with breakfast cereal, an adjunct to many meat dishes, and numberless delicious desserts may be made with them. To lay in a supply of these is a wise move before rumored advances in prices become a fact.

PROMINENT BAPTISTS WILL ADDRESS ANNUAL MEETING AT SNYDER MARCH 29-30

500 Expected To Attend Meet Of Sunday School And Other Leaders

After the Snyder church plays host at an entertainment, in the church basement, guests will be furnished bed and breakfast without cost.

The Wednesday morning devotional and song service, beginning at 9 o'clock, will be conducted by Mr. Balch of Big Spring. Miss Daisy Lewis of San Angelo will then conduct a general B. T. S. conference, followed by a general Sunday school conference under direction of O. C. Taylor of Lamesa.

Texas' Greatest Cowboy Song Collector And Folklore Dramatist Here April 2 nd.

John A. Lomax of Dallas, the most popular collector of cowboy songs and other frontier ballads Texas has ever known, is coming to Colorado under auspices of the vocational home economics club of the high school.

"Colorado should not be unmindful of the distinction extended our schools by this great Texan in giving us an engagement," John E. Watson, superintendent of the schools, recently declared. "Lomax will bring to Colorado one of the most highly entertaining programs our people have been privileged to enjoy in a long while."

"Lomax is doing for the balladry of America what Percy did for the ballad literature of Britain," wrote one observer a number of years ago. "And as Percy remains the ballad curator of Britain, so does Lomax maintain his pre-eminence as preserver of American folk poetry."

"It has been twenty-one years now since John A. Lomax brought out his collection of 'Cowboy Songs and other Frontier Ballads,'" recalls J. Frank Dobie in the last issue of the Southwest Review. "Since

TRIBUTE TO COLORADO SCHOOL BAND IS PAID BY PROMINENT TEXAN

Jewel P. Lightfoot, Fort Worth, numbered among the outstanding citizens of Texas, paid tribute in a radio address Friday night to the boys and girls going to make up membership in the school band. He was speaking from studio of WBAP, Fort Worth.

Judge Lightfoot had previously accepted invitation to formally introduce the band as the musicians came on the air in broadcast program arranged by the Chamber of Commerce.

"It is indeed a distinct pleasure for me to have the honor of presenting this splendid band to you, and I esteem it an honor to Fort Worth to have these talented musicians broadcast from the city," he said.

"These boys and girls have rightfully won for themselves the distinction of being one of the best bands in the Southland and the added privilege of being chosen for the second consecutive time as official band of the Broadway of America Association for its culture and in which the citizenship has always striven for the better things in life, especially the cultivation of music and other arts."

"This band is not only an asset to Texas, but to other States as well, especially those commonwealths through which the Broadway of America passes in connecting New York City and San Diego, Calif. They will be in San Diego in May for annual convention of the highway association, because this is the best

Demand For Park And Playground Felt By Civic Leaders Here 21 Years Ago

Acquisition of Rudick Park and equipping the grounds especially as a public playground for children of the community, while only realized during recent years, came into being after several years of public demand that such be done. Twenty-one years ago this week civic leaders of Colorado busied themselves in plans looking to realization of such a goal.

A meeting was held at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Ratliff on Saturday of that week to effect organization of a park committee. Rev. Mr. Elliott was named chairman and T. L. Hamilton, secretary.

Misses Virginia Knott and Isla Bess Looney were in Fort Worth that week to attend a "big society wedding" in capacity of bridesmaids. The Record failed to identify the bride and groom.

The placing of a farm exhibit at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas the coming Fall was strongly urged in that edition of The Record. Mitchell county was in need of hundreds of new farmers and one of the best means of attracting them would be through the showing of products grown on the farms.

Suggestion in The Record the week before that the Commercial Club interest itself in finding a buyer for road bonds recently voted and approved, drew fire from A. J. Coe, then county judge. The judge, according to The Record, accepted the statement as a reflection on the com-

SUNDAY WAS 'RED LETTER' DAY OF CHURCH PROGRESS AMONG COLORADO BAPTIST

Church Building Fund Deficit of Over $1,000 Paid As Loyalty Move

Sunday is to be remembered as among the "red letter" days witnessing material progress in strides of the First Baptist church. During that day members of the congregation subscribed $1,000 in cash to wipe out deficit in fund to liquidate note and interest falling due on the imposing $60,000 church home at East Third and Chestnut streets.

"This has been one of the great demonstrations of loyalty to God and church that I have ever witnessed," Rev. Oren C. Reid of Ft. Worth, until recently pastor of the church, declared Sunday evening, after Joe H. Smoot, chairman of the finance committee, announced that every dollar of the amount asked for had been pledged.

"Members of this church have given to this fund, even in the face of the fact they are depressed financially," he continued, "and every dollar given to this fund has come voluntarily and in the spirit of Christ. Such loyalty can never fail and I know that this great church is to continue its effective work for righteousness in this community."

"Sunday was the greatest day Colorado Baptists have ever had," W. R. Morgan, chairman of the board of deacons, declared Monday morning. "We might have concluded more pretentious drives during the past within the space of one day, but never before was such a spirit of loyalty demonstrated among the membership. I am confident that the day marked the beginning of a new era of spiritual progress to be reflected in the life of every Colorado Baptist."

Rev. Mr. Reid came to Colorado Friday night in acceptance of invitation of the church to preach Sunday morning and evening. Both services were well attended, as were the Sunday school, B. Y. P. U. and other departments. The Sunday school alone registered an increase of 94 over the Sunday before.

The former pastor urged members of the church to get a pastor without undue delay. "Continue your regular services every Sunday, but do so with your own pastor occupying this pulpit," he suggested. "There are good leaders to be found. God will lead you to the man that this church should have."

T. C. Gardner of Dallas, State executive for the Baptist training service, is to occupy the pulpit Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and at 7:45 p. m. Rev. Mr. Reid described this young people's leader as one of the outstanding speakers identified with Baptist work in the State.

THIS 'OLD TIMER' HAS NO THOUGHT OF EVER FORGETTING COLORADO

A. J. Payne, secretary of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce now, but for many years associated with the commercial life of Colorado, is numbered among the "old timers" who have no thought of ever forgetting the old home town. In a letter to The Record, written from Slaton Saturday, Mr. Payne says:

"The article, 'Colorado became chesty' when Teddy Roosevelt stepped his special train there March 13, 1911. You know I well remember that day, as I was there to see Teddy, as I was always a great admirer of him, and how he looked and talked to the children there that day, and I also remember the three train loads of soldiers that passed through Colorado that same week. You know I always watch The Record to see what is coming next in days gone by, and about the old timers that were in Colorado then, but gone now."

"I also want to say that to tell Dr. Root, Jim Greene and those who broadcasted over WBAP, that I was listening in and enjoyed the program very much. I did not know Dr. Root could sing so well, he was not known as a song bird while I was there, but I like his voice very much; also heard Roy Hester's name called over the radio this morning while I was at breakfast."

FARMERS GIN COMPANY TO HOLD ANNUAL MEET

Annual stockholders meeting of the Farmers Gin Company is to be convened Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Mitchell county court house. W. Dorn, executive business manager of the corporation, states that there are 170 shareholders in the company.

Every member of the corporation is urged to attend the meeting here Saturday, as business of importance is pending.

Lamb County Seat Remains At Olton Following Election

In an election which drew an unofficial total of 5,101 votes, Olton retained the Lamb County seat Saturday although it mustered only 935 ballots. Despite intense interest in the outcome and large crowds in all three towns interested, no disturbances were reported. Saturday's election is the second to be held in the past three years to change the site of the county capital.

Littlefield, polling 2,925 votes, fell about 470 short of the required two-thirds majority to win the coveted county seat.

Amherst, drawing 1,240 ballots, missed victory by about 1,300. Amherst could have secured the election with a majority because it is within the five-mile radius of the county center.

Lamb county's voting strength, not including exemptions, is reported to be 4,754 votes.

Both members of the law firm of Thompson and Barber were absent from their offices in City National Bank building Tuesday due to illness. The lawyers were overtaken last week-end with an attack of influenza.

missioners' court. The editor explained that no such motives had prompted the statement.

Construction of a twenty-two story office building in Waco was looked upon as one of the marvels of the age. It was the tallest structure in the South and a project to which all Texans should look with pride, the editor suggested.

Mesquite trees were reported as bursting forth with new foliage, a sure sign that Spring had arrived at last.

Sandy Taylor Edwards, 68, had died at his home at Cuthbert that week. He was described as a typical pioneer of the West and among the good substantial citizens of Mitchell county.

A called meeting of the Mitchell County Cattle Raisers' association had been convened Saturday before in the Colorado National bank building. F. E. McKenzie, president, was unable to reach Colorado from his ranch to attend the meeting, due to automobile trouble. Brooks Bell, secretary, too, could not be present on account of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Prude had arrived from a trip to Fort Stockton. After a short time here they expected to return to the Davis Mountains for the summer.

E. M. McCreeless, president of the Mitchell county unit, Farmers' Union, issued call in that number of The Record for meeting of members here on April 1.

NEWSPAPER MAN GOES INTO EGG BUSINESS

When F. B. Whipkey, "The Big Boss and Columnist of The Colorado Record," returns to his home town he will likely put an "egg editorial" in the Colorado, Texas, paper. At his life he has eaten eggs and liked them—has bought them in small quantities—eaten 'em soft-boiled for breakfast—hard-boiled for dinner, scrambled for supper, but enroute to Mineral Wells for his regular visit last Saturday he purchased 240 eggs, shells and all and this is how.

He and his wife were in their car coming to this city when near Albany in order to avoid meeting a heavy truck, he turned his car abruptly into a wagon driven by a man and who woman were taking load of eggs to market. The result was, the driver of the wagon took a pose dive into the huge can of eggs—but the newspaper man did not stop there—he gave the wagon another push just as the poor farmer was emerging from the egg can and into it, he went again. This time he came out resembling a much scrambled egg himself. Yolks and whites were streaming from his face and hands and from his head to his feet. Much embarrassed and at a loss to know what to do, Whipkey offered to buy the eggs that he had broken. Consequently he paid for 20 dozen eggs without getting the benefit of one of them.

They arrived in this city Saturday night in time to have ham and eggs at the Crazy Hotel where they are guests.—Mineral Wells Index.

KITHAS SETS POPLAR TREES AT CLUB LAKE

Twenty-five Lombardi Poplar trees, furnished complimentary by Harry Kithas, have been set out at the country club. The trees were set along the lake shore and other places on the property. They were shipped from Mr. Kithas's farm near Fort Worth.

Kithas stated Monday that he and other members of the country club planned to purchase a pair of swans for the lake. The birds, according to quotations here, will cost about $100.00.

Mrs. Hill Watson and little daughter, Mildred, are ill this week. They are suffering from an attack of flu.

EDITORIAL

It is said that everything has its ending, and included in this can be Life, Laughter and Tears. The beauty of the sunset lingers only an instant; the end of today is but the beginning of tomorrow.

It has been said that "Life is a lonely business, and most human achievement springs from an effort to relieve the solitude."

Most of our authors find relief from solitude in either nature or friendships—but these, too, have their endings.

Below is a poem, "Endings," by Daniel Whitehead Hickey: Always an ending. Shall I ever see Some glory hidden from the slow sure blade

Beneath whose sharpened edge all things are laid, All beautiful and all love. Can there not be

Some rose that blooms beyond its farthest reach. A sun that will not leave the blue bright day,

A meadow flower that will not shatter away— Some wave that is not lost upon the beach? I fill my eyes with dawn; I drink it deep.

And day is lost to dusk and dusk to night; I watch the moon; it blinds me and I weep

To see it waning like a weary light. Oh earth, oh sky, oh sea! Tell me these lies: Beauty lives always—and love never dies!

Assembly News— Last Wednesday morning, in our regular devotional period, Bro. Harvey spoke to the student body and faculty on the subject of "Dirt Cheap." Bro. Harvey brought to mind four items that are "dirt cheap," and no effort has to be put forth to obtain them.

The four items are: poverty, ignorance, dirty character, and hell. Poverty does not mean the sense of being poor, but means one has no talent or does not wish for anything better.

No one has to put forth any effort to obtain ignorance. Dirty character is easy to obtain, but it takes effort and will power to keep a clean, upright character. Hell is the easiest thing to obtain and some people, because it is so "dirt cheap", just turn themselves loose and go there.

Senior One-Act Play Tournament The English IV classes are sponsoring a play tournament of dramatized stories and original one-act plays in assembly every Tuesday and Thursday for six programs. A prize will be given to the play winning first place among the nine plays that are being presented.

Last Thursday morning, "Make a Note of It," a dramatized story, written by Mary Veneable, was given. The characters were Thelma Chivers, Nell Daugherty, Maurine Jackson, Bernice King and Lillian Bean.

On March 22, two plays were given. The first was "You Can't Get Blood Out of a Turnip," an original play by Thelma Havens. The characters were James Lupton, Loyse Jenkins, Edwin Bridgford, Ruby Lee Gann.

The second play was "Time to Act," an original play by Pauline Jones. The characters were Mariam Jackson, Hunt Guitay, Jack Cox, Charles Garrett, Bruce McCloud, and Frances Elaine Price.

On the following dates more plays will be presented by members of the Senior class: Thursday, March 24, a play by LaVada Baze; on Tuesday, March 29, Ann Beal and Camille Johnson will have charge of the program; and on Thursday, April 5th, Nina Lee Rogers and Don Taylor, will present their plays.

A small admission price of two people for an nickel is being charged for all students, except the Seniors.

Declamation Try-Out— Last week the second elimination contest took place among the twelve declaimers. Cecil Byrd won the place as declaimer for boys, and Dora Paul Snively was chosen as the girls' declaimer.

Colorado Future Farmers— The Colorado Future Farmers visited the Fat Stock Show on the weekend of March 5th. Friday the boys went through the stock yards and observed the marketing of livestock; they also made a tour of the Armour's packing plant. That afternoon the boys enjoyed a show at the Palace. Saturday, March 5th, was vocational agriculture day at the show.

A detailed study of all livestock, especially sheep, hogs and baby heaves was made. These were studied to help the livestock judging team in their contest, which they have entered at Texas Tech, John Tarlton and Texas A. & M.

After a day of intensive study of the livestock, the boys enjoyed the thrill of one of the best rodeos in history of the show. Then the long journey home ended another annual visit of the Future Farmers to the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show.

Those making the trip were Homer and Lynn Bodine, Jewel Daugherty and Woodrow Viles.

Tennis— The tennis tournament started Friday afternoon with latan doubles playing Lorraine doubles. Latan won over Lorraine. The second match was between Colorado and Westbrook doubles. Colorado won this match.

The next match was between Colorado and Lorraine singles. Lorraine won this game. Then, Latan and Westbrook played. Westbrook won over latan.

Lorraine and Colorado junior high then played singles, won by Lorraine. Latan and Colorado doubles were played Saturday morning and won by latan. Latan lost to Valley View, winners of the tournament.

Lorraine and Westbrook postponed the singles for a later date, with Lorraine leading by one set.

Home Economics News— Last Friday night, March 18th, "Tony, the Convict," was presented by several members of the faculty to the home economics department. The play was sponsored by Miss Jennings and Miss Cooper. The proceeds of the play, which amounted to $50.00, were given to the home economics department for equipment.

Several of the dresses made by the students of this department were sent to Lubbock for the approval of some of the teachers there.

Max Berman is allowing the home economics girls to display garments in his east window. Another phase of work will be shown this week.

Grade School Declaimers— It was the pleasure of the high school students on March 21, in assembly, to hear six declaimers from the Hutchinson and Junior high schools. Melba Slaton gave "Things That Never Die," Ruby Lee Smith, "Washington's Birthday," Howard Lewis also said "Washington's Birthday," and Walter Grubbs, "Little Boy Blue." The Tiny Tot Story Telling Contest was represented by Walter Grubbs, who told "Mary and the Coater," and Freddie Watson, "Miss Mocking Bird's Children."

Typing Contest— The Colorado high school typing team entered a Practice Typing contest at Big Spring last Saturday. They were handicapped on account of sickness of some of the members and others went with the Colorado band to Fort Worth. The first team was supplemented with a third team member. Only Midland won over Colorado as a team, but Colorado won over Abilene and Big Spring.

Camille Johnson, the new member, did remarkably well since this was the first contest that she ever entered. The other first team members brought their averages up 4 points from the last contest. They are Mildred Whitaker and Mary Frances Majors. Mildred made an average of 48.33; Mary Frances made an average of 45.46. This is the best that they have ever made on any contest.

THE FIRST MOTOR CAR BROUGHT TO TEXAS This story of the first "horseless carriage" ever brought to Texas is told in the Dallas Evening Journal by Oskin K. King, as follows:

"Over in the corner of a junk pile in Dallas, almost hidden from sight by a large pile of scrap metal, lies a rotting oak box. There are a few iron scraps still screwed on it, but a blow with a hammer would reduce the whole thing to fragments. It is absolutely worthless, even to the junk yard, but it is all that is left of the first automobile brought to Texas. There had been other 'horseless carriages,' but this was the first real automobile.

"Only a short time before—fifteen years to be exact—this piece of machinery was gazed upon in wonderment by thousands at the St. Louis World's Fair. It was considered a marvel in 'horseless carriages.' The makers, who had been manufacturing sewing machines for many years, were proud of their product, and their exhibit was one of the big drawing cards of the fair.

"Yes, sir, she would run without a horse, and had pneumatic tires. All you had to do was to strike a match to an oil burner and wait around for a half hour or so until some steam had been generated, and she was ready to hit the road. No bother with a lot of harness, and you don't have to buy a lot of oats and hay; and boys, you can pass those rubber-tired buggies on the road Sunday afternoon with her going fifteen miles an hour and your best girl will never leave you.

"Such were the 'talking points' of the 1904 automobile.

"E. H. R. Green, who was then living at Terrell was visiting the fair. He marveled at this example of mechanical art. He just had to have it to take down to Texas and show it to those friends of his. Expense was no object, so he bought the automobile, loaded it on a special car, and brought it down to Terrell, along with a man who knew how to run it.

"It was a big day in Terrell when this wonder was unloaded at the Midland depot. Hundreds gathered to witness the marvel in action, and when the first puff of steam shot out of the exhaust a near riot ensued. Horses that had been hitched too close became frightened and some of the spectators themselves 'took to cover.' But Mr. Green assured the audience that there was no danger, and after a half hour or so the mechanic had 'got up steam,' and when the old boat started up the main thoroughfare of the Kaufman county metropolis a mighty cheer arose from the throats of the throngs that lined the streets. Proof positive was before their eyes that the thing would run and go at least twenty miles an hour.

"The triumph at Terrell was such a success that Mr. Green decided to take his wonder to Dallas and 'drive her all the way.' It was a hazardous undertaking in those days and the success of the first automobile trip from Terrell to Dallas was the cause of as much speculation and argument as United States Navy's air flight across the Atlantic ocean.

"So the next day Mr. Green set out on what is believed to be the most expensive automobile trip in history. It cost him about $5,000 to come from Terrell to Dallas.

No sooner had he got out of Terrell than the news of runaways of horses hitched to buggies and wagons began to come back to the people at Terrell. And that evening when he reached Dallas a trail of devastation had been left behind that still lingers in the minds of farmers along the road.

"More than $85,000 worth of suits were filed against Mr. Green as the result of the trip. More than $5,000 has been paid out in settlement and there are still two or three suits pending in the courts.

"It was a source of much trouble and worry to Mr. Green while he had it in Terrell. People who desired to go buggy riding in the evening would call the railroad magnate up in the morning and inquire as to whether he intended taking the automobile out that evening. If he did they would stay at home, because they did not want to take a chance of getting hurt in a runaway."

CONNELL ATTENDS TIRE AGENCY DEALER PARLEY Allen Connell returned Wednesday night from Dallas where he had gone to attend conference of Good-year Tire & Rubber Company agency dealers. That the Colorado man made the trip all the way to Dallas was noted Wednesday morning when his presence was announced by "The Early Birds," breakfast time entertainers from WFAA, Dallas.

The W. M. S. met at the church Monday afternoon for their regular business meeting, with the president, Mrs. C. B. Reeder, presiding.

On next Sunday we will have our services as usual. Let us remember Sunday is set aside for home and foreign mission offering. We hope to have a full attendance. No one can fill your place, so we are expecting you.

All visitors in our town are invited to come out and worship with us. If you are here for just one Sunday, don't stay away from Sunday school and church services. We extend a hearty welcome to one and all.

PAINS QUIT COMING

"When I was a girl, I suffered periodically with terrible pains in my back and sides. Often I would bend almost double with the intense pain. This would last for hours and I could get no relief.

"I tried almost everything that was recommended to me, but found nothing that would help until I began taking Cardui. My mother thought it would be good for me, so she got a bottle of Cardui and started me taking it. I soon improved. The bad spells quit coming. I was soon in normal health."

EMERGING ON TOP

While many Mitchell county farmers and ranchers were pondering how they were to support their families on five-cent cotton and livestock stocker stuff that was quoted at less than a dime last year, their wives were engaged in canning every bit of surplus fruits, vegetables and meat they could find.

They lived out of cans last winter—not brought home from the store, but from the family pantry or cellar—and plan on doing the same thing next winter, because they have found from the lesson of experience that the program of living at home after all is the only sure cure for the ills of low prices.

Mitchell county housewives canned more than a quarter million containers of these food products during last year. In Texas these women, assisted by their husbands, put up fifty million containers of food stuffs, in addition to thousands of pounds of meats and vegetables that were either cured or stored dry.

The recent cold spell should prove a warning to farmers who are not planning on canning this year. Many gardens were killed, and there is always a likelihood that something will happen to cut off the supply of fresh vegetables, so a well filled pantry is the one safeguard.

It was explained that prior to the enactment of the law March 3, 1927 governing Indian War pensions, the House committee considering special bills would accept the affidavits of two comrades of the veteran as proof of service.

McADOO'S PLAN

(From The Dallas News) "It sure sounds good," so every wheat and cotton grower in the United States would say. Cotton stabilized at about 22 1/2¢ a pound; wheat at $1.25 a bushel, thereby adding $750,000,000 to the income of American farmers, would cause them to vote en masse for McAdoo as President if only he were a candidate, or for John Garner if by chance he is another Eliza wearing the mantle of Elijah. McAdoo's scheme would give enormous power to the Secretary of Agriculture, who, with the consent of the President, would annually determine in advance the amounts of cotton and wheat that should be raised the following year in the United States.

CONTINENTAL ANNOUNCE RADIO PROGRAM FOR 27TH

Yellowstone Park, that scenic wonderland whose beauties are so fantastic that for years newspapers refused to print descriptions of the scenery because they were regarded as unbelievable lies, is the scene of Carveth Wells' radio tour for Sunday, March 27th.

Wells gives a graphic description of three phases of Yellowstone—the geysers and boiling springs; the petrified standing forests; and the marvelous wild animal and plant life. He describes the four entrances to the park, one at each point of the compass, and then gives a rapid fire view of such marvels as the Terraces of Mammoth Hot Springs, with their fantastic colors and beautiful waterfalls.

Wells confessing his inability to more than touch the high spots of Yellowstone in a 15 minute broadcast, has announced a second Yellowstone, traveltalk to come later during the spring season.

Colorado listeners may secure this broadcast at 10 a. m. Sunday over either of the following stations, usually easily obtainable here at that hour: WEAP, Fort Worth, or WOAI, San Antonio.

THOMASON FIGHTS FOR MORE LIBERAL PENSION ATTITUDE

WASHINGTON, MARCH 23.—A more liberal interpretation of the law regarding pensions for old Indian fighters is expected here now following the appearance of General Frank T. Hines, veterans administrator, before the pensions committee of the House when a number of Texas congressmen, including R. E. Thomason of the Sixteenth district, spoke in behalf of the aged veterans.

It was explained that prior to the enactment of the law March 3, 1927 governing Indian War pensions, the House committee considering special bills would accept the affidavits of two comrades of the veteran as proof of service.

"It was evidently the intention of Congress to liberalize the Indian War pension act," said Congressman Thomason in his address to the committee, "and to permit bona fide Indian War veterans who could not show complete records of service except to the testimony of comrades to come under the law and receive its benefits. The records show these claims have been denied.

PHAROAH'S DAUGHTER

Rube Morgan, teacher of the men's Bible class at the First Baptist church and a Bible student, asked us to write an exegesis on Pharaoh's daughter, found in the book of Moses. Mr. Morgan expressed himself as having no delusions about the Promethean might of the printed word so we elucidate.

Come with me back to the good old days when Comeback, Shatterback and Lettergo walked through the fiery furnace without a smell on their garments and when the lions were cast into Daniel's den and when Jonah swallowed the Prince of Whales, you come to these sublime words, "And Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness."

Pharaoh was king of Egypt, he had a daughter called Miss Pharaoh, and from all accounts she was a high stepper, high brow, Egyptian Princess, her father being king she never appeared alone in public, lived in a small palace and always dressed in the finest silks and satins.

Early one morning, while sitting on the front porch in a late model rocker, she suddenly announced to her maid, who was fanning her with a peacock feather, that she had decided to adopt a child, so dressed in her peach-bloom dress, coiffured hair, bedecked with diamonds, emeralds and rubies and Huys's perfume, she went to the king.

Dr. T. J. Rathiff asked me to write out for his Sunday school class an exegesis on the Prodigal Son. In leading up to the text, will say after the flood they buried Able and Adam and Eve took Cain and they joined the children of Israel, who followed Moses to Mt. Sinai.

So, this leads us to the text in these sublime and beautiful words, "A certain rich man had two sons."

One of these sons was no account, so he became the Prodigal Son, and the first state of that man was worse than the last. So, one day he asked the old man to give him what was coming to him, which he did and the son left for a far country, where he wasted his substance on pretty women, fast horses, oil stock, and bootleg whiskey, until he came to dire necessity.

MOHAIR IS CLOTH OF KINGS, PRINCES

King Solomon's Temple Was Hung With Veils Made from Hair of Goats.

IMAGINE your surprise if you walked into a shop today and asked for a purple dress, hat or tie and were told that it was a color exclusively reserved for the President and his Cabinet!

In the same way, mohair, a material made from the fleece of the angora goat, was once the privilege of royalty and quite unknown to the commoner. Back in 1031 B. C., King Solomon made use of this luxurious material for his royal robes and ordered the veils of the famous Temple to be hung "with cloth from the hair of the goat."

turned to blood, stars fell, lightning splashed, thunders roared, the earth rocked, the heavens rolled together like a scroll, the windows of heaven were opened and it rained forty days and nights. He built a raft 40 cubits long and pitched it with tar and feathers and floated around six weeks finally landing on Mt. Ararat with an olive branch in his mouth.

His father saw him afar off and ran to him exclaiming, "Oh, Absolom, Absolom, my son Absolom, once dead, but now alive, how often would I have gathered thee under my wing, but ye would not" and told his other son to get out and kill that short-horn roan calf "you've been fattening for the fair and make a great feast, and then go out and invite the rich neighbors into the feast," but they would not come, one had some new oxen to break, another was in a law suit over some land he had bought, and another had just married a new wife, and of course, couldn't come.

Then the old man was vexed and told his servants to go out into the highways and byways and compel them to come in order that his table might be filled and they went out and fetched in the poor, the weak, the blind, the deaf, the halt, the lame, the bandy-shanked, the hair-lipped, and forced them to come in the master's table and set them down, and they had a great feast, and after they had ate everything up, they gathered up the fragments of 12 big baskets full and two little fishes.

every private citizen. The business man commutes to his office in a railway coach whose seats are upholstered in the familiar red or green mohair velvet. At night, he throws himself into an easy chair or davenport finished with his lustrous pile fabric. He takes his family driving in a car lined in the same material and throws a lap-rug of luxurious mohair velvet over their knees, taking his right to the best as a matter of course, in true American fashion.

The mohair of long ago, however, prized as it was by kings and potentates, was not the rich, pile fabric that is available today. Science has perfected the means of taking out most of the kemp from the fleece and weaving the silky hair into a fabric whose luster and beauty vie with its durability and comfort.

While the chief application of mohair is for furniture, automobile and railway coach upholstery, it is also used for clothing, draperies, theatre curtains, miniature golf courses, stuffed animals, trimmings and a variety of other uses.
