COL-TEX WINS A WARM-UP GAME

By I. C. EURFAULTZ

Westbrook and Col-Tex played a fair game Sunday afternoon. There was no special effort to stage a mid-season affair. However, the spectators and players also seemed to have a good time.

Col-Tex moved out with a two-run lead in the first inning, through an error, a Texas leaguer and Scarborough's double.

Nothing exciting happened until in the fourth inning, when Fields hit one plenty far, but was caught at the plate, scoring Gentry.

In the fifth inning, Hutchinson found the bases loaded and lifted one of T. Henderson's hot ones over the left fielder. Hutchinson lost no time in circling the path; Brown barely crossing the plate first by a narrow margin.

In the seventh, Scarborough connected for a homer, scoring Hutchinson.

Westbrook marked up two runs in the ninth, when Garner walked, Railsback doubled and stole third, then scored while T. Gressett was being put out at first.

Brown and Fields were outstanding performers for Col-Tex. McKinney and J. Gressett made snappy plays for Westbrook.

Batteries—For Westbrook: B. Gressett, T. Henderson, P. Swatt, Black.

Col-Tex: Dorn, O'Neil, Spigner; Fields and Scarborough.

Final score: Col-Tex 9; Westbrook 2.

Another game is scheduled for next Sunday at the cotton yard diamond, when Col-Tex will play the pick of the Chalk Field.

'OLD TIME REVIVAL IN PROGRESS AT WESTBROOK

Methodist District Headquarters Remain In Colorado After Debate Here in 1911

By the close marginal vote of 29 to 28, Colorado won in a spirited fight to move headquarters of the Methodist district to Sweetwater. The Record for May 5, 1911, recorded. Annual district conference was in session here and movement originating in Sweetwater to change district headquarters from Colorado to the Nolan county city had been contested for some time. Judge Kirk of Sweetwater led in the battle of words to effect the change. Judge W. P. Leslie and other local Methodist leaders opposed the move.

Colorado did not have long, however, to retain the district headquarters that since the organization of a church here had been held by the local church. Sweetwater at a subsequent conference, was successful in capturing the prize. The Rev. Simeon Shaw was elder of the district twenty-one years ago.

Baccalaureate sermon to the high school class of 1911 had been delivered the Sunday before by Rev. W. E. Lyon, pastor of First Methodist church. The Record did not list the names of graduates.

"The greatest sensation of the motor car industry," was vividly described in a display advertisement carried in that number of the paper by A. J. Herrington, distributor for Rambler automobiles. It was the Rambler 54, that would actually develop 54 H. P., and was fully equipped with magneto, lamps, presto-lite tank and tools.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION OF THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Mitchell County—GREETING: You are hereby commanded, That you summon, by making Publication of this Citation in some newspaper published in the County of Mitchell if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in a newspaper published in the nearest County to said Mitchell County, for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, Ruth Moeser, whose residence is unknown, to be and appear before the Hon. District Court, at the next regular term thereof, to be held in the County of Mitchell at the Court House thereof, in Colorado, Texas on the thirteenth Monday after the first Monday in January, A. D. 1932, same being the 23rd day of May, 1932, then and there to answer a Petition filed in said Court, on the 20th day of April, A. D. 1932, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 5281, wherein W. W. Moeser is plaintiff and Ruth Moeser is defendant.

The nature of the plaintiff's demand being as follows, to-wit: Being a suit for divorce. That plaintiff and defendant were married on or about September 26th, 1926 in Scurry County, Texas and continued to live together as man and wife until about December 20th, 1926 at Colorado, Texas, when the defendant without any provocation on the part of the plaintiff left his bed and board and voluntarily abandoned him, with intention to finally separate and live apart from him and has continued so to do to the present time; plaintiff further alleges that he has lived in Texas for a period of twelve months and in Mitchell County for a period of six months next preceding the filing of this petition. That while married to this defendant he conducted himself with propriety, and has at all times treated this defendant with kindness and forbearance and that defendant's actions and conduct toward him generally are of such a nature as to render their living together as husband and wife insupportable.

Herein fail not, and have you before said Court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at Office in Colorado, Texas this, the 20th day of April, A. D. 1932.

Former Chef to Royalty Discloses His Secret of Subtle Seasoning

Broadway's own George Rector, whose dishes delighted the palates of royalty, and whose eating place on the Great White Way was the rendezvous of New York's leaders of fashion and the stage.

By Mabel Love

THE best foods in the world become flat and tasteless unless the proper amount of salt and pepper and sugar are added at the "right moment." Thus George Rector, who cooked for kings and served the celebrities of the day in the famous Broadway dining place which bore his name, emphasizes the high importance of correct seasoning.

Though she may not have the time and ingredients to prepare the elaborate dishes which this genial master of the culinary art set before his guests, any housewife can attain that perfection of seasoning on which he insists—for it consists in adding a bit of sugar to dishes which are ordinarily considered sufficiently flavored by salt and pepper.

This is particularly true of vegetable cookery. The dash of sugar vastly improves the natural flavor of green vegetables, while it restores the freshness to canned vegetables, which are such a convenience to the modern cook. According to Mr. Rector, the proper method of serving canned peas is to heat them in their own liquid and add a teaspoonful of sugar, as well as salt and pepper. A tablespoon of sugar, with salt, pepper and an onion, heated with a can of tomatoes, will result in a deliciously flavored dish.

WEST TEXAS OIL ACTIVITY GAINS FIFTY PER CENT IN RECENT PAST, IS CLAIMED

Industry Looking Better As Wildcatting Expands In Scattered Sectors

BIG SPRING—Figures on oil activity in West Texas for the first four months of the year show that drilling increased fifty per cent compared with the same period of 1931, according to a survey by a well informed agency.

Wildcatting increased more than 15 per cent as compared with the previous year.

Two more wildcats soon will be started in Ector county, according to reports of Saturday. Locations, however, have not been announced.

In Gaines county operations soon will begin on a 5,000-foot test in the northeast corner of section 397 CSD & RGN survey, by McCreath and Suggett.

The test is to be drilled in a 2,500-foot block at the center of a four-section spread in which Texas & Pacific Coal and Oil, Skelly Oil Oil Company, I. T. I. O. Company, Armerada, Gulf and others have acreage. Amerada, Republic, Shell and others hold acreage in the block, but a mile or more from the location.

Shell is reported to have bought the northwest quarter of section 398 from McCreath and Suggett late last week.

New potential production tests will be taken from all wells in the Hobbs, N. M. pool, as result of a meeting in Dallas last week of producers and petroleum engineers. New production schedules will be issued following the tests. Nominations by pipe lines taking Hobbs production now total only 30,500 while the potential is set at 1,158,950 barrels per day. Sixteen Hobbs wells are reported making some water.

Penn et al No. 1 Habenstret, western Glasscock county wildcat, was reported drilling below 1,556 feet in salt late last week. Salt was topped at 1,485, 1,240 feet above sea level.

The well is 2,427 feet from the west and 2,645 feet from the south lines (but in the southwest quarter) of section 47, block 38, township 3 south, T. & P. Survey.

Sinclair-Prairie No. 2 Dodge, east offset to Lee Harrison's No. 1 Denman in the pool southeast of Coahoma, was spudded in Saturday afternoon.

Bauman school, reported to close May 6th, will not close until May 20. The trustees met on Wednesday night of last week and voted to extend the length of the school two more weeks. This extension of time was greatly appreciated, as our term would have only been six and one-half months. This is the first in three years that our school has failed to go eight months. We are hoping for better times in the future and will again have a full eight months school.

TURNING THE SPOTLIGHT ON MEMBERS COLORADO'S PRIZE WINNING H. S. BAND

Hello, West Texans! You are now tuned in with station BAM, operating on our unassigned frequency through facilities of The Colorado Record. In this broadcast, we wish to present members of the Broadway of America's official band. Following weekly broadcasts will report daily events in connection with the BAM motorcade to San Diego.

Mr. Roy Hester is the efficient and popular director of the Colorado Municipal Band. In personal interview, he said the following: "My weaknesses are golf and music. Since it is so easy to fall for gifted musicians, we advise the fair sex now that this dark-haired, blue-eyed, model of self-confidence is happily married.

John Franklin Elliott, a brown-haired, cheerful young man of not too many summers, is a trumpet-playing expert. His hobby is stamp-collecting. He has said, "If I have a weakness is either music or pretty girls." As a pal, this young man has a Dad with such pleasing personality as few men can possess.

Sidney Thomas, a beautiful brunette, will play a clarinet. She remarked, "My disposition is cat-like. I am related to Cleopatra and Napoleon. My hobby is giggling."

Clifton Charley Blackard is a happy-go-lucky, "peck-horn" tooter of much experience. He confessed, "On this trip, I intend to flirt with the married women. But you tell them for me that I want to remain single for a short ninety-nine years."

Marie Girvin, another brunette of unusual beauty and sweet disposition, also plays a "peck-horn." She says, "My weakness is handsome boys. I am distinctly related to My-Hat-Ma's-Gander and Mah-Mah Furhuguen."

Robert Earl Wulfjen, cow-hand member of the band, is not to be sneezed at, whether it be displaying his musical talent or riding a bronc. Yes, he is interested in the women, too.

Don Reginald Taylor blends the notes on his clarinet to agree with a disposition which he admits as being "rather heavenly." He has said, "My hobby is yo-yoing. I am related to the Taylors, the Taylors and the Taylors."

Helen Hester plays the snaredrum, and in addition to being a talented musician, she is also a charming blonde. She has confided, "My disposition is a secret, and I am kin to Ella Cinder, Olive Oyl and Popeye."

Porter Atwood Richardson plays a helican. When asked about his marital status, he replied, "I wish there were no depressions. I am related to the Hot-Foot Indians. My hobby is souvenir collecting, and my weakness is pushing baby ducks into the water."

Julia Hortense Root plays a saxophone in manner similar to her ancelic temperament. "During the Motorcade," she said in fun, "I'm going to be devilish. I might even make faces at the motor-cops."

Bunky Girvin admits, "My weakness is an unquenchable thirst for more saxophone music. I even like to hear my own sax."

George Otis Witten is a brown-eyed, friendly, fellow who knows how to get harmony out of a haritone. He said, "I am related to Barney Google, Buffalo Bull, and Harold Teen. My weaknesses are stick candy and toy balloons."

Billie Henderson Berry, another blonde, (thank the stars for blondes) plays a saxophone. She has confessed, "My hobby is ice cream eating. In West Texas I am related to all the Berry's, Dew, Razz, Black and Straw."

August George Armstrong "spans the leather" (base drum). He says, "I am related to Daniel Q. Boone. (not the Boone). My hobby is boot-legging Coca Cola and playing twiddle-de-winks."

Elverie Maggie Sorrells says, "On this trip I will play a baritone saxophone and look for (?). My weaknesses are good looking men and money."

Everett Wallace Tiner is another happy-go-lucky, trombone tooter. He said, "I am single, but wish I were double. My hobby is pretty girls."

Hubert Moore, of brown hair and eyes, with a sweet-sour disposition plays a clarinet. Without mentioning any particular name, he states that he is related to a prominent West Texas merchant.

John Bull Sorrells is another trumpeter. He casually remarked, "I have a sweet disposition, and I enjoy music. I am related to Tom Mix and Slim Jim."

S. A. (Sap) Pickens is another saxophone melodist. His hobby is thumb-breaking. He has confided, "My weaknesses are women, women, women, and more women."

Gillian Hart plays a helican. Of himself, he said, "My disposition is 'Ferry Bull. I am related to Mutt and Jeff. My hobby is wishing for return of the good old days."

Billy Hagler manipulates a melophone. He has said, "I am kin to Andy Gump, Bull Durham and R. U. Blue. My marital status is single, and I am not requesting a double by any of the other players. Going set is not much fun."

Harold Hester gets plenty of music from his baritone. For your information, he has remarked, "On this Motorcade I will play a zither. My marital status is single. I wish it were a harem."

Joe Bob Spalding handles another baritone in a musical manner. He says, "My weakness is listening to other horn-blowers. As a hobby, I like to boot-leg refreshing ice-water on the morning after."

Eugene Hoston is an easy-going, sandy-haired, trombonist of much ability. Most of his answers are in the negative, so there is not much more except to say that he is a darn good fellow.

Max A. Martin is a dark-haired, blue-eyed, oboe-player, with a wonderful disposition. He says, "My oldest relative here is my Dad. My weakness is enjoying life and everything that goes with it."

James Logan will play masterfully his choice of several instruments. The fair sex are hereby warned to not even listen to his line of chatter. It is worse than what you are reading.

Billy Henderson is the midget of the band, and he plays a saxophone just like a giant. He has said, "My hobby is fishing. I am related to Shakespeere and Rip Van Rinkle."

HONOR YOUR MOTHER

Next Sunday is Mother's Day and throughout this republic and many foreign countries fitting rites honoring motherhood will be observed in the church, home and elsewhere.

Every day should be "Mother's Day," in so far as honoring and affectionally revering mother is concerned. Since Sunday is a day set apart for special reference to mother, The Record trusts that every citizen still blessed with a living mother will do to her and place his arms about her neck and renew the pledge to be the kind of offspring that the average mother ever hopes for her children.

If mother is in some place too far away for you to visit her on that day, send her a message of love. She will appreciate that remembrance more than you may believe.

And, if she be among the dead, remember again the never ending attention she gave you and pledge within your heart that the influences of Mother shall be reflected in your own life.

MORE TABLOID THOUGHTS FOR OUR GRADUATING CLASS

Last week we wrote in this column what we thought a very fine essay to the graduating class, but they criticised us quite severely and called it stereotyped bunk. It may be the thoughts we intended to convey will follow the Dodo and the diplococcus into aeverland, but be that as it may, I'll try again.

You can't play hooky from the school of experience. Study to choose the vocation most suitable to your talents and temperament. Misfits are always miserable. How the world has suffered from them. It has had kings and emperors, autocrats and despots, princes and potentates, who were unfit to reign over a herd of swine. They were such, not only because of lack of ability, but because of innate cruelty and cultivated vices. Some of them, like some men of genius today, had intellect, scholarship, and were eloquent and sagacious, but were feeble in their viciousness. Such a one was Thierius, of whom Victor Hugo says "He was gaunt, bald, crooked, eaten up with leprosy, covered with suppurations, masked with pustules, crowned with laurel." Some of his successors were much like Thierius. Caligula made his horse a pontiff, and Nero made his monkey God. Of course the horse was superior to Caligula, while Nero suffered, when compared with the monkey. Authority, like wealth, is the acid test of real manhood. The reason authority and power test to the limit man's manhood is that they give him means by which he can manifest the egotism that is so often the ruin of men.

You have heard much about the ostrich sticking his head into the sand when in danger. There are lots of people who do the same thing, not necessarily in the presence of danger, but of duty. You've often heard of men being "Masters" of certain things. He, who comes nearest being master of himself is the greatest of all masters. No one masters himself fully. Your tongue and your temper lack much of being all there is to you, but when you conquer your tongue and temper, you've conquered about all you have to conquer. The poet sang:

"It matters not how straight the gate, How charged with punishment the scroll; I am the master of my fate, I am the captain of my soul."

Extreme egotism is in its last analysis self worship. There are many fool kinds of idolatry, but that's about the worst of all. We read that on a certain occasion the rabble yelled in flattery of Herod "It is the voice of God." Also later we read "And immediately the angel of the Lord smote him because he gave not God the Glory, and he was eaten of worms, and gave up the ghost."

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

(Notice to readers—"Letters from the people" express the opinion of the writer only, and while The Record is glad to publish all authentic letters that contain no libelous statements, we must know the name of the writer. The Record management will be the sole judge of libelous matter, as the State and Federal laws apply to newspaper owners as well as the writer. Sign your communication to this column, or it positively will not be published. Frank discussion of public affairs is good for all, but confine your remarks within the bounds of reason and judgment.

THE CHAIN BAKERY

It is surprising to find so many supposedly loyal citizens of Colorado who are buying bread made out of town, when they have two bakeries owned by brother citizens. The citizen who draws his income from Colorado resources and then spends it with out of town firms is not loyal in any sense of the word. He takes all it has to offer and gives nothing in return. It is citizens like these that will help turn your thriving little city into a suburb of the nearby larger city.

Did you ever notice how quick the small town near the large city is ruined when its citizenship begins to drive over to the larger town for their purchases. Regardless of where your money is spent, if not at home, it has the same effect on your town. You never have another chance to possess your dollar again after it has been spent with outsiders. You can't empty a tub of water with a bucket if you pour each bucketful back into the tub, but if you pour it into another tub it won't be long until you have an empty tub. Don't make Colorado an empty tub. Everytime that you spend 8 cents for a loaf of bread made out of town, six cents of it is leaving never to return, while if spent with your home bakery, the larger portion of it stays in Colorado where you will have an opportunity to get it again. For any town to thrive there must be more coming in than going out.

When you need a hundred dollars for your church, do you go to the out of town officials for it? No, because you know what their answer will be. To them Colorado is only so much feed for their giant octopus, with headquarters on Wall Street.

If you would have a better town, spend your money with business firms of your town. When you buy a loaf of bread specify Colorado bread and help the home baker. "INTERESTED"

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE WHAT IS EDUCATION?

Editor Colorado Record: I note your quotation from Vernon Record and your comments thereon, regretting the disparagement between the education of the city and rural children, as noted in contests between pupils of city and rural schools, in interscholastic league exercises. The trouble with our "leaders" is their failure to recognize the distinctive difference in the needs of the people of the city and the rural section. In other words we try to direct the education of rural children by that offered children in towns and cities. As Mr. Richardson of Farm and Ranch pointed out some time ago, "Eye tries to ape Merkel, Merkel apes Abilene, Abilene tries to follow Dallas, etc., he not mentioning specifically those towns, but I offer them as illustrations. If children of rural sections are to be the future farmers, as most of them should be, offer them an education that alienates them from the rural sections? You may deny from the rural sections that, but how many boys and girls who spend even a few months in town attending school ever wish to return to the country? Take our business colleges, which draw perhaps 60 per cent of their students from small towns and rural communities. Not over 5 per cent want to return to their homes and will not unless forced to do so by failure to get positions in town, and they are seldom contented and happy when they do return home. The same thing applies to all other colleges, unless industrial colleges, and even in them, only students who attend for the definite purpose of better preparing themselves for agricultural or ranching pursuits wish to resume a rural existence. Why is that? Because the courses offered and conveniences alienate them from rural life.

Due to new "labor-saving devices" of this mechanical age, to consolidation and coordination in all pursuits found in cities, positions have been diminished the past ten years 50 per cent, and even residents of cities fail to find employment, let alone those who flock in. Our best thinkers recognize this is true, and are deciding that the only solution is to affect a farmward flow of population. Then it is imperative that those who are already on farms and ranches remain, for not one per cent will find employment again. Then why should our public schools be urbanized, why should rural children be alienated

Editorial—Self-Reliance is treated in a very interesting manner by Emerson. Nothing can bring you peace but yourself. Nothing can bring you peace but the triumph of principles. Self-reliance is as essential for the material background of a person's character as food is essential for the life of man.

What I must do is all that concerns me, not what the people think. This rule, equally arduous in actual and intellectual life may serve for the whole distinction between greatness and meanness. It is the harder because you will always find those who think they know what is your duty better than you know it: It is easy in the world to live after the world's opinion; it is easy in solitude to live after your own; but the great man is he who in the midst of a crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude.

Thus solitude and self-reliance go hand in hand. For the foundation of self-reliance, solitude is one of the most important elements to be considered.

Make the most of your solitude. Find your guiding star, self-reliance, and let it carry you safely into the harbor of Safe Assurance, near the town of Achievement. "Man is his own star; and the soul that can Render an honest and perfect man Commands all light, all influence, all fate; Nothing to him falls early or too late. Our acts our angels are, or good or ill, Our fatal shadows that walk by us still."

from their environments and a distaste for rural life cultivated?

Then what is offered in city schools superior to what rural children may have or should have? Is it more cultural to study forgotten nations or fallen governments of the dim past than it is to study the phenomenon of bees and birds? Or geography of distant parts of our globe more important than the hills and dales around them? Or the music of man-made instruments more beautiful than of birds and breezes in the treetops? Or the building comparable to the gorgeous sunsets? Is it not high time that we revealed the truth, that the opportunities today for independence and happiness are to be found almost entirely in rural sections? Isn't the boy who can doctor a sick chicken or cow, or terrace a field or hive a swarm of bees just as well educated and infinitely more useful than a boy who can ring the rafters with Patrick Henry's freedom-death oration? Or a girl who can bake a biscuit that will melt in your mouth, plan and cultivate a garden or a flock of poultry or preserve vegetables and fruits, just as accomplished and infinitely more useful than the town damsel who can play the piano or sing a solo? No wonder a noted eastern professor said 50 per cent of all money spent for education is pure waste. As a man who has given 34 years to school affairs, I give it as my candid opinion that 50 per cent of education is all hokey, and have the data to prove it to any person open to proof. As the superintendent of New York City schools well said, we better be thinking of putting food into many people's stomachs than education (?) in their heads.

Home Economics News

Three Home Economics girls, Maxine Dorn, Velma Rogers and Nan Roberts, accompanied by Miss Evelyn Jennings, left Colorado at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, April 27, to attend a State Home Making Rally, held at Mineral Wells.

They arrived late the same evening and after claiming their reservations at the Baker Hotel, they spent the rest of the evening listening to the hotel orchestra and meeting other contestants.

Thursday morning they attended the Home Economics club meeting, held on the roof of the hotel, and learned the ways in which the different clubs progressed. Thursday afternoon cars were provided and all of the girls took a sight-seeing trip, a swimming party was planned the same afternoon, but due to a sudden change in weather, it was postponed until the following day. The same night a play party was planned on the hotel roof, and all the girls enjoyed the event very much, and became better acquainted with other guests.

Friday all the contests were scheduled from 9:00 o'clock in the morning until 4:00 o'clock that afternoon.

Maxine Dorn represented Colorado in the selection of toys and flower arrangement. Velma Rogers in the judging of family dietaries and the selection of linens; and Nan Roberts in the selection of child clothing and the judgment of meal service. After the contests were finished, the girls had a swimming party in the hotel pool. That night a banquet was given on the roof, the entertainment being furnished by the hotel orchestra and talks given by local men.

Saturday morning all of the four hundred girls assembled on the roof for the announcement of prizes. A very interesting program was presented by some local men, some of the local dancing pupils and the hotel orchestra.

Miss Bernice Mallory presided and the girls entering dresses had a style show. When the winners were announced Maxine Dorn's name was the first to be called with a first place. Later Velma Roger's name was called with a first and third prize.

With each individual first place was given five dollars. With two first places and one third place, Colorado won 3rd place in the State, thus receiving $10-$20 in all.

ANNUAL PLAY TOURNAMENT BE CONCLUDED AS 'FISH' PRESENT DRAMA FRIDAY

With leaders in each of the four competing classes claiming victory and patrons perplexed as to which drama will be awarded first place in annual class play tournament, speculation along those lines continued to be varied Thursday afternoon.

The tournament, opening Tuesday evening of last week as seniors prepared the drama, "The Toastmaster," has held strong interest among both the students and patrons.

Second dramatization, originally planned for Friday evening of last week, was postponed to Saturday night, and like the opening play, was well patronized and reflected strong talent upon the part of students carrying parts in the cast.

Then, on Tuesday evening was presented another drama in which equally as good characterization was portrayed. The sophomores, in their drama, "Kid Colby," did not fail to impress that they definitely intended to give somebody "a run for his money."

"I Will—I Won't," is title of drama to be given Friday night at concluding entry in the tournament.

Maybe the others have been good, but we are going to show them up good and proper and win the tournament," was the exultant promise of a class leader from the fish camp Thursday.

The attendance record that has featured each of the three preceding plays is expected to be maintained for the final number. Due to fact the judges are to announce winners Friday night, an even larger number of patrons than have attended the other plays is expected.

TEXAS ELECTRIC SERVICE COMPANY LINEMAN DIES IN BIG SPRING ACCIDENT

Herman Wilson, 24, lineman for the Texas Electric Service Company, was electrocuted at 8:45 Tuesday morning while at work on sub-station at the Great West Refining Company plant, four miles east of Big Spring. Wilson, after having climbed to top of the sub-station structure, lost his footing and fell, contacting live wires carrying 12,000 volts. He was dead when rescued by fellow-workmen.

This was the first casualty to occur among employees of the utility corporation in sixteen months. A. L. McSpadden of the Colorado office, stated Wednesday morning. Strict precautionary measures under which employees work for the company has reduced accidents to the minimum.

"There was not an accidental death among employees of the company during the year 1931, and we were making progress toward maintaining such a commendable record for this year when the Big Spring tragedy came," McSpadden said.

After rescuing Wilson from the high voltage lines, fellow-workmen attempted to resuscitate the stricken man. He never breathed, however, after being rushed to a Big Spring hospital.

Wilson was a native of Taylor county. He had been in employ of the company for several years. His widow, baby son, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and other relatives, all of Big Spring, survive.

He stated that he had disposed of fifty cases during this term of the Big Spring court and hoped to clear the docket before May 21, when the term is to be concluded.

"In looking over the papers it is apparent that I have a heavy docket facing me during the session of Mitchell county district court, to open May 23," Judge Mauzey stated. The jurist stated that attention to court matters left little time to be devoted to politics. He is a candidate to succeed himself in office.
