

JOE MIZE LOSES VERDICT IN $50,000 DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST BANK PRESIDENT

C. H. Lasky Is Vindicated Of Blame in Motor Crash Here in 1925

A verdict in favor of the defendant was returned by a jury in 32nd district court Friday afternoon in the $50,000 damage suit filed by Joe Mize against C. H. Lasky, president of the City National bank. Filing of the suit grew out of a motor car crash at East Third and Walnut streets in October, 1925, in which Melba Lois Mize, small daughter of the plaintiff, was claimed to have been permanently injured.

The plaintiff filed suit in January of this year, seeking to recover damages in the sum of $46,600 and hospital and doctor's costs totaling $2,580, making a total of $49,180. The case was called Thursday morning and went to the jury late Friday. A verdict was reported within a few minutes.

The plaintiff was represented by Gleason, Butler & Montgomery, Ft. Worth law firm. The defendant was represented by Thos. R. Smith and M. Carter of Colorado. Several witnesses were called to testify in the case, including physicians here and at Fort Worth.

Lasky denied any responsibility for the accident. This was contested by the plaintiff.

Mize stated to The Record Saturday afternoon that he had filed notice of appeal and would carry the case to the higher courts.

"Dr. Clingman is one of the strongest preachers in our connection. His coming to Colorado has done much in the strengthening of fellowship and Christian devotion in our church."

"We feel that the boys and girls of this community are entitled to the best facilities for obtaining an education that it is practical for our citizens to offer," Hood stated.

"Such a goal has been my ambition since accepting to become associated with this splendid school and the citizenship of that community. The advance step should result in our building at Spade one of the leading rural high schools in this section of the State."

REED MURDER CASE TO BE CONTINUED, JUDGE A. S. MAUZEY INFORMS

The King Reed murder case, pending on 32nd district court criminal docket, is not to be tried at this term of court, Judge A. S. Mauzey stated Tuesday. Reason assigned for continuing the case was that it would be difficult for the court to complete business originating within the county now pending on the criminal and civil dockets.

Reed is under indictment in connection with the slaying of a night watchman at Midland some time ago. The defendant was chief of police at Midland at the time. After two mistrials, the case was transferred to Mitchell county on a change of venue. Reed was convicted and given a penitentiary sentence here last October.

SMALL PROTECTION FOR MAYORS IN THIS TOWN, VISITING OFFICIAL SAYS

There are at least some citizens in this town who do not seem to have proper regard for visiting mayors, charged the Hon. J. C. Beakley, mayor of Dunn, as he turned his motor car into Walnut street Monday and hurriedly drove from the business district to "escape further displeasure at the hands of rough-necks."

Soon after arriving in Colorado Monday morning, Mayor Beakley was subjected to a most displeasing experience at offices of the Colorado Insurance agency. In disgust he left and going to his motor car climbed in to leave town. As the motor was started there was a loud explosion and the subsequent issuing of smoke in large volume from underneath the hood. Again the mayor had been made the object of practical jokes.

While Mayor Beakley was being "entertained" in the insurance office, someone planted bomb under hood of his motor car. As soon as the first explosion broke the silence prevailing the awaiting crowd of "friends" Mayor Beakley lost no time in turning the ignition switch and leaving his seat behind the steering wheel.

VERDICT OF GUILTY GIVEN BILL AINSWORTH IN JAKE HAZELWOOD SLAYING CASE

Five Years in Penitentiary Is Meted Mitchell Farmer In 32nd District Court

Jury trying the Bill Ainsworth murder case in 32nd district court returned a verdict of guilty at 7 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and assessed punishment of the defendant at five years in the State penitentiary. The jury arrived at a verdict after two hours of deliberation.

Ainsworth, a farmer of five miles northwest from Lorraine, was charged with the slaying of Jake Hazelwood, neighbor, on the night of November 28, last year. There were no eye witnesses to the killing. Hazelwood was stabbed to death with a knife and his body left by the roadside near a motor car in which it was claimed he and Ainsworth had been driving together.

The State used ten witnesses and the defense fourteen. Several of the latter were character witnesses and among the number were citizens of Limestone county, former home of the defendant.

Ainsworth took the stand to disclaim any knowledge of the stabbing. He stated that he and Hazelwood had been out driving and drinking together. Widow of the slain man was among witnesses called by the State.

Introduction of evidence was completed Wednesday afternoon. The case went to the jury at 5 o'clock.

The case was called Monday morning but no progress was made in trying the case due to absence of a defense witness. Action by defense council that the trial be continued on grounds that a material witness was not present was overruled. Court recessed at 4 o'clock until 9 Tuesday morning.

During the forenoon Monday considerable time was given to roll call and questioning of the jury panel summoned for the third week of court and the 108 men called in the special venire to try the murder case.

Selection of a jury was taken up at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. When court was recessed for lunch eleven of the twelve men had been selected and sworn in. W. W. Porter, last member of the jury to be accepted by the State and defense, was sworn in soon after court was taken up Tuesday afternoon. Introduction of evidence was then taken up. Other members of the jury were W. D. Jamison, I. K. Galey, C. N. Stuberfield, W. Dorn, E. B. Smith, O. Bolin, Jack Smith, Howard Lindsey, W. D. Govan, Keith Miles and A. C. Connell.

The state was represented by District Attorney George H. Mahon and W. H. Garvett, county attorney. The law firm of Thompson & Barber were counsel for defense.

'First Citizen Of Colorado' Honored As School building Dedicated To His Name

Dr. P. C. Coleman, outstanding religious, civic and educational leader in his adopted city and section since 1882, was given praise by speakers who addressed Coloradans at rites dedicating one of the school buildings to his name Friday night. Due to illness the honoree was unable to attend the program but other members of his family, including a son, Dr. Reaves Coleman and wife of Washington, D. C., were present.

"We have come to pay just tribute to the first citizen of Colorado and it is fitting that such be done," the Rev. W. M. Elliott, pastor of First Presbyterian church and master of ceremonies, stated after calling the assembly to order.

"In every community of West Texas that I know anything about there is one outstanding citizen, but there are few of them having a Dr. Coleman," the minister declared after having referred to the pioneer physician as a man who for so many years had ever given his influence, his talent and his means to further the cause of righteous, education and all the other requisites of good citizenship.

J. W. Watson, president of the school board pictured the efficient public school plants in this city as the reward of sincere effort exercised by Dr. Coleman during the past many years. The contribution made by him to advance interests of the boy and girl, in both a social and religious way, would continue to expand as the years come and pass on into history, he said.

"I recall distinctly when this building was erected," Watson said, "It was thirty five years ago and Dr. Coleman was president of the school board. There are those of us who cherish this old building and hold sacred the memories that its environs brings, due to the fact we received our public school education within its walls, but above it all there is sustained the name of Dr. Coleman."

"It was fitting that the school board should dedicate this building to his name. We are not only proud of having been honored by the prestige this man has given the community, but his admirable family has ever been revered by the citizenship of this city and area. I wish for all of them many more years of useful and happy living."

"The greatness of Dr. Coleman has not been confined to the corporate limits of his home city, but the man whom you have come here to honor tonight is loved wherever Dr. Coleman is known among men," District Judge A. S. Mauzey, of Sweetwater, another speaker, declared. "My home city of Sweetwater along with you, esteems it an honor to recognize the greatness of your beloved citizen."

"I see that his name has already been placed upon the building, call attention of those passing by that Dr. Coleman is appreciated by his fellowcitizens. But the name of Dr. Coleman, as written in the hearts of the people who now know him and shall in after years come to learn of him, will survive long after the brick and mortar entering into these cold walls have fallen into decay."

Mayor H. L. Hutchinson, in addition to paying tribute to Dr. Coleman, spoke of Mrs. Coleman as mother and co-worker who had ever lent inspiration to her husband in whatever service he might have rendered to the public. "I thank God for such Christian mothers, who have rocked the cradle and protected the purity of American homes all down through the history of this republic," he said.

J. E. Watson, superintendent of the schools, Miss Ruby McGill, county superintendent and W. S. Cooper were others to deliver addresses.

Dr. Reaves Coleman, spoke feelingly as he represented his father in accepting the honor. "The doctor cannot be here tonight to enjoy this honor and I wish that you know that he considers this the greatest honor ever conferred upon him," his son stated.

Music was furnished by the school band, Dr. C. L. Root and Mrs. C. A. Wilkins sang solo selections. Tommy Daves led the gathering in singing "America." The program was held on grounds of the building, with a truck used as a speaker's platform.

Just another week and then we are to enter into our revival services. A greater opportunity for exemplary Christian leadership was never offered members of this church. May we enter into this revival with nothing to mar the success that we may be able to claim, with God as our captain in forces against sin.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

International Sunday School Lesson
For June 12

JUDAH THE TRUE BROTHER
Genesis 44:18-34

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D.D.

Children's Day observance will interfere with the lesson study on this particular day, but the general facts of this portion of the life of Joseph should be taken up either Sunday or in connection with the Review two weeks hence.

The Egyptians were being supplied from the stored up granaries. Many grave questions relating to social service are involved in the problems that arose at the time. When all these matters are adjusted between man and man it will be only as the principles enunciated by Jesus Christ are worked out in all human relationships. Every injustice is solvable when the Gospel-declared order is really put into practice.

Joseph assigned grain could be given to the brothers, who had received authority from Pharaoh over the famine stricken country. Before him stood the brothers who had ridiculed him, who were now in his power. His direct question always sought all valuable family information which he appeared to be talking about general events.

One of the ten finds that his money has been returned in the several bags of grain. Then a condition of receiving any further sustenance is that Benjamin must be in the party next time. We notice the length people will go in search for food to avoid starvation.

Joseph appreciated the return of the purchase price for the first lot of grain, enjoying to the full the amazement of the eleven (Gen. 43:3).

The brothers are told, "I am Joseph." Fear takes hold of them but Joseph said (Genesis 45: 4, 5), "God sent me. Leave is making; its expression today. Compare the Golden Text with (Romans 8: 29).

Baptist Church Notes

We had a fine crowd at Sunday school last Sunday, but we have not as yet, reached our goal of 200 or more. So let's continue to be faithful. Come regular and bring some one with you.

At the close of the Sunday school we enjoyed a fine talk from our pastor, he explained some of the work of the church and gave an encouraging financial report. We feel very thankful that the Lord has made it possible for us to keep up our budget and we are practically out of debt at this time. Diplomas were presented to 14 of our teachers who passed their examination on the Sunday school course of study. Several others intend taking this course in the near future.

B. Y. P. U. met at their regular hour. The preaching service Sunday evening was not so well attended on account of the threatening weather. Mother Norman entertained the W. M. S. Monday afternoon.

REPORTER

At the First Methodist Church

There was a good attendance at both services and Sunday school last Sunday. Rev. J. E. Harrell, pastor, preached Sunday morning on "Christ at the Feast," and Sunday night on "The Unpardonable Sin." Communion service was held at the close of the morning hour. Bro. Lester Jarratt sang a very fitting and inspiring solo.

Next Sunday is Layman's Day. Bro. J. B. Mahon is charge Lay Leader and will direct the following program: Song: The Apostle's Creed; Prayer, R. A. Edwards; scripture reading, Acts 6:1-8; 7:54-60, Ed E. Williams; announcements and offering; male quartette, Kirk Taylor, Lester Jarratt, Clyde Smith and Otis Munn; "Some Bible Laymen, O. E. Stephenson; "Why Men Should Study the Bible," C. W. Palmer; "The Ideal Layman," J. M. Bruce; benediction, H. J. Askins.

Layman's Day comes but once each year, the second Sunday in June, so lets make it a great occasion. Every man and woman has a special invitation to Layman's Day. This is your day. Don't fail to be there next Sunday.

Rev. Harrell will preach at the evening service. Let's begin promptly at 8:15. Be sure to attend Sunday school and church next Sunday. We are always glad to have visitors.

 "My work is confining, and often I eat hurriedly, causing me to have indigestion. Gas will form and I will smother and have pains in my chest. Now when I feel the least smothering or uncomfortable bloating, I take a pinch of Black-Draught and get relief."

To Extremes Noted In Comparison Total
Rainfall For May This Year And In 1911

The Record for last week stated that May, 1932, with a total rainfall of 7.13 inches, had set a new high record for that month, in so far as available information was obtainable. The Record for June 2, 1911, twenty one years ago, noted that May of that year had been the driest ever known during the past eleven years, with "not a drop of rainfall falling."

"The government gauge at Colorado shows that fairly good rains have fallen during the month of May during the past eleven years," the article said. "But during the last month not a drop was recorded."

The Record for that week recalls passing of a prominent West Texas cattleman, well known at Colorado and throughout this section of the State. Boley Brown, associate of Pete Scoggins, also a familiar character here for many years, had died near Claremont, Kent county at an early hour Wednesday morning. Burial was at Snyder the following day.

Colorado was interested in baseball then as now. The Colorado Sluggers were claiming prominence in the sports world of that day, with several creditable winnings already posted on their side of the score board. A game with the Seven Wells Champions was scheduled for Saturday afternoon at the South Colorado ball park.

Forces supporting the open saloon and those opposing the liquor traffic were tightening their lines of defense as the question of prohibition became nearer and nearer to the polls. Meetings were being held at Colorado, Loraine and other communities of the county and considerable space was given in the paper to discussion of the issue.

Mrs. P. C. Coleman and daughter, Miss Elenor, had sailed the Saturday before for an extensive tour of Europe. Italy, France, England, and other countries were to be visited.

Sweetwater was in controversy with the Orient railway at that time, as to whether or not the rail shops were to be moved from that town to San Angelo. Judge Sheppard holding district court here that week had granted an injunction restraining the defendant rail corporation from moving the shops. In later years, however, the railroad won this fight and the shops have for some time been maintained at San Angelo.

Money evidently was plentiful during those times. Display advertisements carried in the Record by local brokers appealed for borrowers to take any amount "from $1,000 up". Realty loans were preferred.

Importance Terrace Outlets Recited By Okla. A & M Official

In as much as several Mitchell county farmers and landowners have recently experienced losses through soil erosion and overflows, as the result of broken terraces, it should be of interest to consider suggestions as to how terrace outlets should be constructed. C. V. Phagan, extension agriculture engineer at Oklahoma A. & M. College, offers these in a recent communication to The Record.

"Two important things to consider in attempting the problem of terrace outlets for the removal of runoff water at the end of terraces are the proper location of the outlets and the construction and maintenance of the outlets," says Mr. Phagan.

"The big question is 'Should the terraces empty into the roadside ditch, into a hillside ditch, into a natural draw, or into a pasture or woodlot?'"

In answering this, Mr. Phagan says that terraces are permanent improvements and that any necessary changes are expensive. Future plans should be kept in mind so that the number of outlet ditches may be reduced or else the water carried to the side of the field where outlet be least expensive over a period of years.

with stalks or other trash that may flow down the terrace channel. "The bottom of the outlet of a terrace should be on the same level as the terrace water channel. If the outlet is turned down hill, there is danger of getting too much fall which results in excessive washing back into the field. Even with careful construction, there is sure to be a certain amount of washing, especially where there is a drop from the terrace level down to the bottom of the outlet ditch."

The placing of rocks in the outlets is one satisfactory way of controlling outlet washing. Mr. Phagan believes. In placing these rocks, a vertical or slanting wall should be built from the bottom of the ditch to the level of the terrace water channel. Rocks should be placed at the foot of the spill to prevent the falling water from eating out a stump hole. If there is as much as eight inches or two feet drop at the outlet, concrete masonry should be used to hold the rock in place.

Baffles should be placed about two or two and a half feet down outlet ditch in order to keep the ditch from washing deeper. These baffles may be rock or concrete or perhaps lumber or poles.

Where terraces empty into an outlet ditch in the middle of the field, it is sometimes advisable to make the ditch fifteen to twenty feet wide and keep it sodded with native grass or a cover crop such as cane or sudan. Where terraces empty into this kind of ditch it may be advisable not to cultivate the last twenty feet to fifty feet of the terrace channel, but to seed them to grass for protection against erosion.

SOUTHLAND GREYHOUND

TURNING THE SPOTLIGHT ON MEMBERS COLORADO'S PRIZE WINNING H. S. BAND

By I. C. EURFAULTZ
(By special correspondent and not to be reprinted without special permission of the author.)

Hello, West Texans! It is now 3:05 a. m., May 11th, and we are ready to leave Douglas for Lower Bisbee, Tombstone, Benson, Vail, Tuscon, Florence, Mesa, Tempe and Phoenix. All aboard!

Beautiful, rolling scenery lies along the Broadway from Douglas toward Bisbee. The limits of Lowell and Bisbee are close, and we fail to determine just when we leave the former to reach the latter. Bisbee is a mining center, and has a population of 18,000. Its main street follows the course of a ravine between two ranges of low mountains, and apparently few business houses are not on this one long street. Residences are in terrace formation, and seem to have only entrances from the Broadway through many series of plank steps extending up the hillside. Our observation is only casual and we do not say that there are no streets running parallel with the main highway. Mr. Scott Hamilton thanks the Bisbee Girls' Drum Corps for their musical reception given the Motorcade. And now he adds: "The girls here are unusual. I find that Bisbee has both blondes and brunettes. Now, ain't that queer?" We understand that there is a railroad here, but so far we have failed to see it, and there is some question as to whether it is on top of the mountains or is tunneled through. And too, one motorist has recently noticed that Bisbee has a good baseball club, but there is some worry about where the ball diamond could be located along the mountainside. Anyhow, you and I have not time for a ball game, so we shift gears and climb over the mountains to descend in second gear for safety. For some time we wonder about how long it takes people to accustom themselves to the hillside homes of Bisbee. Its citizens are of the Western mining type and beneath their smiles we have seen the evidence of vigor, health and happiness.

One motorist stops at the front of the motorcade. His car is over to one side of the road, and he alights. After walking around his car, he stoops, and with a stick prods something near the rear wheel. Now the stick is replaced with a longer and stronger one. Again the prodding continues. We stop and find that a gila monster has entangled itself in the wire spokes of the wheel. As soon as the motorist pries the front legs of that gila monster away from the rim, its hind legs have gained a stronger hold, and when they are released, the front legs have again wound themselves grippingly to the other spokes. This is the game for some time, and now another motorist applies the stick in a different position and with a quick side jerk tosses the animal into the highway. All spectators flee in haste, and now two former Boy Scouts return and do their good daily turn by massacring the large, poisonous lizard.

Tombstone receives the Motorcade with cannon blast and all the glory of '49. Ladies and gentlemen are arrayed in costumes of the frontier times. The mayor says only a few words in his greeting and now he announces that for our special entertainers they have just hanged a man with his boots on.

LETTERS from Our Readers

That the government is squandering the taxpayer's money and going further and further into this orgy every year, is charged in communication received from a reader of The Record. The letter follows:

During the past ten years, business managers have constantly stressed the fact that expenditures of federal, state and local governments, were increasing faster than national growth, national wealth and national prosperity.

Thoughtful citizens who dared to protest against continuously increasing governmental extravagance, were classed as alarmists or as obstructors of good government.

In the meantime, expenditure of public tax-funds increased by leaps and bounds. Governmental bureaus and activities expanded in every possible direction. Bonds were issued freely for all manner of public improvements. As a result, we now face a staggering public debt and a back-breaking tax burden.

The cost of government now consumes about 14 billion dollars annually, or more than one-fifth of the national income. Every citizen, whether he knows it or not, now labors one day each week for the support of the government.

It is no longer necessary to point out that the cost of government is beyond the ability of the people to pay. A business depression has brought that fact home with brutal force. The question is: What do we intend to do about it? The time has come when every citizen must act for the protection of his home and his livelihood. Home owners and wage earners must demand that government cease looking for new places to levy more taxes. They must insist that government voluntarily practice the same thrift and economy which has been forced upon its people.

Merle Thorpe, Editor, Nations' Business, recently directed attention to the enormous increase in the cost of maintaining various activities of federal government. Some of Mr. Thorpe's comparisons are shown conclusively and the figures speak for themselves. Similar conditions probably exist in many state and local governments. If the people really desire economy in government with permanently reduced taxes, they can have it. But, only if they evidence a determined interest; and if they demand the real facts from their Senators, Congressmen, and their representatives in state and local governments. Taxpayers are entitled to know how their money is being spent. What are all these departments of government? How many bureaus in each department? What service does each bureau or commission render and is that service actually necessary? How many employees does each bureau carry on the payroll and how much does it cost? When citizens take the time to secure full and complete answers to these questions, there will be a tax-paying revolt which even politicians will be compelled to heed.

COST OF GOVERNMENT

We have always felt that taxpayers do not object to paying reasonable taxes, provided they get something for their money.

Almost all our governmental units have been taxing, borrowing and spending beyond the means of the people to pay. Taxes are remaining unpaid, a condition forcing sales of property and depreciating property values.

As a nation we are dedicated to the principles of individualism and the minimum of governmental meddling in private affairs.

If the editor of this newspaper understood the perfect answer to all those perplexing problems of government and finance, he would, no doubt, be engaged in the application of those remedial tonics to the shattered fabric out of which the Nation's financial structure is made.

THE EDITOR

W. S. (Bill) Cooper, editor The Colorado Record, asked us to fill this column this week by saying something about him.

Bill was among the unemployed and put this ad in the classified column of the Dallas News, we answered it and employed him:

"I want a job—I drink occasionally and I smoke all the time. I have my lazy streaks, but mostly am a glutton for work."

Who's told about the stork that flies Who's informed first when someone dies.

Who has to sit through sermons long And praise some poor singer's song.

Who'll pluck his harp as the choir sings, Who'll know the heavenly hosts by name.

THE EDITOR

The doctor, if he would, and sometimes does, practice imposture on his patients, but an editor cannot use imposture on his readers, his work ever stares him in the face, the record is made, he must tell the truth.

I see a man pushing his way through the lives Of cops where the work of the fire-friends shines.

I see a man walk through the door of a show, Where great throngs are blocked by the "S. R. O."

Some day I'll pass by the great gates of Gold, And see a man pass through unquestioned and bold.

He is not as wise as we wise-crackers think we are, but back to the subject. Bill Cooper can be classed as one of the old-time newspaper men.

News Of The 4-H CLUBS

Thirty-three club members are feeding pigs this year. Most of them will be killed and cured the A. & M. way and consumed at home.

Joe Leonard Blackard of Buford started feeding a pig last month. Two years ago Joe fed out a club pig and won a trip to the Dallas fair club encampment.

James Barnes of Bauman is using Chiltex for his grain sorghum demonstration this year. This is a relatively new grain sorghum which is being tried out in Mitchell county for the first time this year.

J. W. VanZandt of Hyman is planning to give the other boys a "ran for their money" with his cross-bred pig. He started feeding him last week.

Spade and Buford are tied up for the honor of having the largest club in the county. Each has nineteen members.

The first annual encampment of 4-H club boys (which takes the place of the annual rally day) will be held July 8th and 9th.

J. W. Dunlap of Payne reports that his club pig gained 39 pounds the first month on feed. He is feeding maize and skim milk, but will strat threshing his maize right away.

There is no influence that exceeds the power of the press when the press is worth respecting.

There is no individuality, no personality that appeals to the public like the power of a well conducted newspaper; people are looking to it for guidance.

Commercially this confidence, this esteem for the paper, is what constitutes that intangible quality called "good will," which oftentimes is the most valuable asset that a paper has.

Then the editor should be free and untrammelled and unafraid. He should speak the truth and fear not. His constituencies should rather honor his independence and never hold a grudge against the editor, if perchance their views should clash.

The editor should be fearless, but he also should be conservative. He should weigh well his remarks. He should never impulsively write about anything.

Bill Cooper comes, to a greater degree, filling the above qualifications set out for an editor and does it with a smile.

Cooper makes a fair reporter, at the approach of a candidate he grabs for a Thesaurus and allows himself the tonic of humorous exaggeration.

In the art of English construction he is no plus ultra or the apogee limit.

MITCHELL COUNTY FARM NOTES

M. C. Holt of Buford says, "We had a few terraces break during the heavy rains this spring, but if we didn't have them we would have been washed away."

David Drake, V. R. Drake and Raymond Burleson captioned about 35 cockerels at demonstrations last week. E. E. Harrington captioned about 20 more birds. R. R. Hargrove of Spade says he is planning to try some capons again this year.

A captioning demonstration was held at C. B. Epler's north of Westbrook Wednesday.

S. O. and U. D. Wulfjen have dehorned their calves this Spring instead of waiting till Fall. The "but-toms" are cut off with a knife and the place sealed. When the calves are rounded up this Fall they will be ready for the feed lot and will not suffer the usual shrink from late dehorning.

J. H. Carlock says he finds a 250 pound hog the right size for home use.

A man from Buford: "That ration sure did do the work with our hens. They are averaging around 52 eggs per day as compared to about 20 before we started feeding this ration."

Heard the past week: "I'm not going to put my kids in the field to raise three-cent cotton, I'm going to put them in the garden or let them look after the hogs and chickens."

Another lady when asked if she was discouraged over five cent eggs, answered, "Goodness no, why I made more off my chickens and cows than my husband did off the whole farm."

The schedule:

 Monday, June 13—Masons vs. Baptists.
 Tuesday, June 14—Methodists vs. Fire Boys.

Standing of Teams

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Baptists	6	1	.857
Fire Boys	4	3	.572
Methodists	3	4	.429
Masons	1	6	.143

Executive officials of the City League, in regular monthly session last Thursday night, determined to close the season in two sittings. The first or pre-season playing is to end July 4th when a double header is to be played at Eastside Park. An admission charge of 25 cents for adults will be levied for this feature. Children under 12 years of age to be admitted free. Details of the anniversary day games are to be worked out at a later date.

The Baptists have held their unbroken march to top first half pennant in the city league, with not a game lost during the week. Their standing is 857 percent, with six games won and only one lost. The losing credit was chalked up to their account during early stages of the series.

The Methodists, for a time holding an even rating with the Baptists and later coming in second place in the league, have been pushed aside for that position by the Fire Boys. This week we find the Fire Boys with four games won and three lost. The Methodists, taking up third position have won three and lost four of the seven games played to date. And the Masons, well they are in the bottom deck in the cellar, with only one game won during the series.

The mound battle staged between the Masons and Baptists Thursday afternoon of last week was one of the fastest yet witnessed at the Westside ball park. The score 2-0, with the Baptist annexing another victory to their almost unbroken series of winnings since opening of the series. The game was especially interesting in that the Baptists won without getting a single safe hit, and the Masons, with three hits, were completely shut out. The Baptist played a game of fewer errors than may be said of any previous league contest. Such cannot be said of the fraternalists.

Another fast game was played Friday afternoon, even the score totals would not indicate such to be true. The Fire Boys submerged their Methodist opponents to the ratio of 10-6. The seven innings were played within less than an hour—55 minutes to be exact.

In encounter between Methodists and Baptists Monday afternoon it was anybody's game through most of the playing. The M. E.'s made a run in the first inning. The Baptists tied the score in their half of the inning and at the end of the seventh both teams were tied up with one score credited to each. In playing off the match, the Baptists were successful in scoring in the last of the eighth, winning still another count in their march toward coveted first-half pennant.

The Fire Boys, more and more menacing the place of leadership held by the Baptists, drubbed the Masonic aggregation again Tuesday afternoon, scoring 19 runs to only a half dozen accounted for by their opponents.

Coahoma fans were privileged to witness an unusually interesting game at Coahoma last Sunday afternoon when twirlers deflouring that Howard county town engaged the Col-Tex Oilers of Colorado. The score was 6-7 in favor of Coahoma, but it required twelve innings for the latter to win. Dorn, a former star on the Wolf grid eleven and meriting distinction in his latest athletic roll, was pitching air tight ball for the Colorado team. The game was lost on errors.

Next Sunday afternoon Chalk Oil Field team is to play Col-Tex at the Westside ball park. The public is invited. The Coahoma game and the one to be played next Sunday are non-league attractions.

Fans attending the games played at Westside ball park should give three cheers to members of Bill Brookover's Col-Tex Oilers and other Refinery employees, for the seats recently installed.

CHILTON OPENS VETS' MEET AT SWEETWATER
 Annual convention of the Spanish American War Veterans was opened at Sweetwater Thursday for a session of three days. Thos Chilton, official court reporter for Judge A. S. Mauzey, left Colorado Wednesday night to convene the convention. Chilton is commander of the host veterans organizations.

EXTENSIVE FOOD CANNING PROGRAM IS OBJECTIVE IN MANY RURAL COMMUNITIES

High Record of 1931 May Be Excelled, Club Leaders Of County Believe

The record of 1931, when more than a quarter million containers of home grown food products were preserved for the home pantry, is to be surpassed during the 1932 season, should expectations of some of the most enthusiastic club leaders of the county be realized. Excellent gardens and field crops are in prospect everywhere and scores of farm families not heretofore joining in this campaign to live at home announce that in 1932 vegetables, fruits and meats are to be canned for future use.

Miss Abbie Sevier, home demonstration agent, stated recently that every indication suggested that rural families throughout the county would join in such a program in large numbers. Those who last year filled their pantry with home grown foods are not going to lose this season through procrastination. Many of their neighbors, impressed now with practicability of such a plan of safeguarding against the future, are to join them.

Large shipments of cans were received by Colorado dealers during this week and additional consignments are to follow as demanded. Local merchants announce they are to continue every cooperation with the county agents and other citizens in furthering this program in the county. The cans are bought in solid car lots for cash and the saving thus realized by the dealer is to be passed on to the purchaser.

Rural Housewives interested in this program are invited to confer with the demonstration club chairman in her community or with Miss Sevier or W. S. Foster, county farm agent. Either will be pleased to extend full cooperation.

Precautions To Be Used When Canning Vegetables Given

Miss Abbie Sevier, home demonstration agent, offers the following suggestions for canning foods:

All non-acid products should be canned in tin and under steam pressure. All other products may be canned in tin if care is used to place them in the right kind of cans.

Green beans, peas, all kinds of greens, mixed vegetables, hominy, meats and fruits except the ones named below should be put in plain cans.

Beets, squash, pumpkin, sauerkraut, mincemeat, cherries, and berries should be placed in sanitary enamel cans.

The attention of the Home Demonstration agent has been called to greens and green peas and beans turning dark, or having a dark substance on top. This is largely due to the products being put into the can quite a while before being processed.

The products should be placed in the can while boiling hot, sealed and processed immediately. If more cans are filled than can be processed at once, set cans in hot water.

Palace Theatre Has Interesting Program Billed During Week

For Thursday and Friday, June 9 and 10, the Palace showing "When a Fellow Needs a Friend," co-starring Jackie Cooper and Charles (Chic) Sales. The pathos of a boy's struggle to conquer fear and thus overcome a physical handicap, provides the dramatic appeal.

The popular child star is said to have his most effective role in this picture in which he is seen as a boy who longs to play a share in the "back lot" activities of his friends, but who is scorned by the other kids because of his leg brace.

It is the effort of Uncle Jonas, aged friend of the family, to help the boy regain his self-respect which provides the basis for the story's action. This role is played by "Chic" Sales and is said to be one of the most poignant and stirring characterizations yet offered the screen.

For Saturday—one day only—June 11, the Palace is showing Buck Jones in "Branded," an exciting western picture.

And it is an exciting stage coach robbery that starts things rolling in "Branded," Columbia's latest western. It leads up to a series of events that involve the active Buck in many whirlwind maneuvers. He and his wonder horse "Silver" are said to be provided with opportunities that call for feats of super dexterity.

For Sunday matinee and Monday night, June 12 and 13, plenty of punch and smashing action make "Huddle" the most virile story in which Ramon Navarro has ever appeared. This fast moving picture of modern American university life is all that it is advertised and more.

From the minute he has his terrific fight with a laborer in the steel mill until he wins a big Varsity football game for Yale, Navarro is in action constantly. The football scenes show such famous All-American and noted gridiron stars as Ernie Pinckert, Marger Aspit, Jess Hibbs, Gene Clark, Dale Van Sickle and Don Hill in action. Plays used by leading American universities in big games were filmed with a special "telescopic lens" which enables observers to follow the action closely.

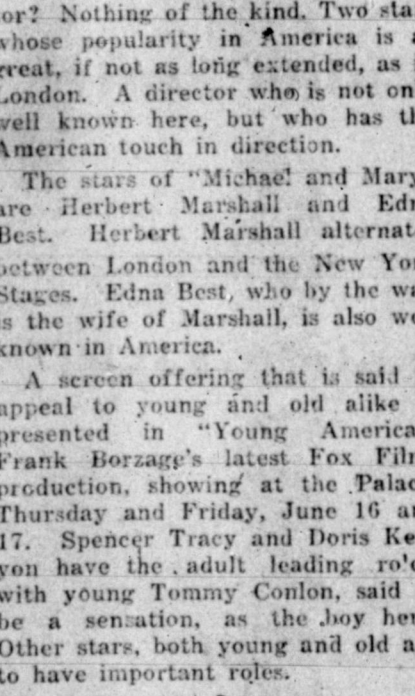

It is remarkable how internationally-minded we are. Here a British made picture, "Michael and Mary," is coming to the Palace Tuesday and Wednesday, June 14 and 15, and what do we find? A lot of people that we don't know, a play by an unknown author, an unknown director? Nothing of the kind. Two stars whose popularity in America is as great, if not as long extended, as in London. A director who is not only well known here, but who has the American touch in direction.

The stars of "Michael and Mary" are Herbert Marshall and Edna Best. Herbert Marshall alternates between London and the New York Stages. Edna Best, who by the way is the wife of Marshall, is also well known in America.

A screen offering that is said to appeal to young and old alike is presented in "Young America," Frank Borzage's latest Fox Films production, showing at the Palace, Thursday and Friday, June 16 and 17. Spencer Tracy and Doris Kenyon have the adult leading roles, with young Tommy Conlon, said to be a sensation, as the joy here. Other stars, both young and old are to have important roles.

The City National bank was closed Friday in commemoration of the anniversary of Jefferson Davis. That was the second holiday observed by the bank during the week.
